IS pleasantly situated at the head of ST. PAUL STREET, amongst the largest wholesale houses in the city. It has (with business men generally, and especially with the best Merchants of both Provinces) become so great a favorite, that it is now acknowledged to be THE Business Hotel of Montreal. To meet the extensive increase, during the last year in the business of the house, the proprietor has built a large addition. The Dining Room has been extended and made more commodious; there have been completed in the new wing, a great number of well-ventilated sleeping rooms, and the House throughout has been refitted, and now contains many improvements and conveniences hitherto unknown to its guests. The whole of the beds have, at a great expence, been furnished with NEW SPRING MATTRESSES. The Proprietor expects that by continuing his personal management of the concern, THE ALBION (to say the least of it) will continue to be, as it now is, the best Dollar and a half Hotel in Canada.

VALUABLE FARM
FOR SALE.

THE subscriber is desirous of disposing of his Farm, south west part of Lot 23, in the 11th Con. Otonabee, only 3 miles from the town of Peterboro' gh, and on the main road leading to Keene, comprising 100 Acres.

60 Acres are Cleared, and in a good state of cultivation: 14 Acres of Fall Wheat are sown and part Fall ploughing is done. A good Frame Rough-cast House, 40 x 30, a Barn, 45 x 30, and a good spring water stream convenient to the house, and is easy of access. A good

YOUNG ORCHARD OF 85 TREES,

in good condition, and of the choicest fruits, is on the property.

The Farm is one of the best in the Township, and the situation is very convenient, no better chance for the purchase of a good farm could be offered, and it will be sold at a liberal price.

Title Indisputable.

Apply to the proprietor on the premises,
Otonabee, Nov. 7 1860. JAS. WEIR. 34

NOTICE

THE next meeting of the Senior Board of Instruction for the County of Peterboro' will be held on the

First Tuesday of Dec. next,

IN THE COURT HOUSE, AT 10 A.M

Teachers holding third class certificates issued a year or upwards ago, are required to have them renewed.

By order,
J. EDWARDS,
Peterboro' May 14, 1861 Secretary. 20

THE LATEST IMPROVED
COAL OIL,
AND COAL OIL LAMPS,
AT REDUCED PRICES.
JOHN McDONELL,
Jan. 2, 1861. GEORGE STREET. 1.

PORT HOPE & PETERBORO
RAILWAY.

ON and after the 1th January, 1861, and until further notice, Trains will run as follows—

GOING NORTH.

Leave Port Hope at	10.00 a. m.
" Millbrook "	11.25 a. m.
" Peterboro' "	41.58 a. m.
Arrive at Peterboro' at	12.10 a. m.

GOING SOUTH.

Leave Peterboro' at	3.30 p. m.
" Peterboro' "	3.15 p. m.
" Millbrook "	3.50 p. m.
Arrive at Port Hope at	5.05 p. m.

JOHN FOWLER,
Lessee.

Peterboro' January, 18

CARRIAGE! BUGGIES;
&c., &c., &c.

E. G. HILL would call the attention to intending purchasers to the fact that he has a large stock of Carriages & Buggies of good manufacture, and the best material, which he can warrant to be ready and solicits a call as he wishes to sell Cheap, for Cash, or short approved credit, to make room for a large stock the coming year. Repairing neatly done, and with dispatch, opposite Lawson's Hotel, Brock Street. Give him a call.
Peterboro. May 3, 1861.

INFORMATION WANTED.

A DAUGHTER wishes to learn the present whereabouts of her mother, whom she has not seen for the last thirty-five years. Her maiden name was Polly Houk; her first husband's name was Warren Stone. It is said she married in 1840, a person named De Puy, who was at that time engaged in some way in the manufacture of salt, in the west part of Upper Canada. Any information respecting her will be gratefully received by addressing the subscriber, at 55 Frank Street, Rochester, N. Y. Canadian papers will confer a favor upon one who has long been deprived of a mother's affections, by giving the above an insertion, entire or in part.
Miss SEMANTHA JENKINSON.
Rochester, N. Y., 24th May, 1861.

For the Examiner.

YE FRIENDS OF FLINT, ARISE!

Reformers shoulders to the wheel,
There is heavy seas a-head,
Do prove again your compass steel,
The breakers never dread!

Both candidates were tried before,
Their past proceedings scan,
Say which of them will you ignore.
Is FLINT or SMITH the man?

The Ministerial billows dark,
In quick succession roll;
Choose BILLA FLINT to steer your bark,
O'er sand-bank, rock or shoal!

Yes, Cartier's trumpet loud may blow,
John A.— may sound his drum,
To every note, decisive—No,
From you his lips will come!

Let white-washed SIDNEY pace the deck,
As he has done before,
All true reform must lie a wreck,
On a Ministerial shore!

In truth FALSE SIDNEY has been weighed,
And found immensely light
His principles died in the shade
On his election night!

His secret secure, he bade good bye
To pledges of the past,
The loaves and fishes caught his eye,
Reform stood aghast!

Disdaining honor or good name,
He strewed them to the wind,
Self-aggrandizement was his aim,
He sought and did it find!

How nice he plays the Traitors part,
"O yes" to every thing
If placed in power, that venemous heart
Will turn around and sting!

His pledges they are but a trap,
He soon would them erase,
Elect him, he would turn and snap
His fingers in your face!

When rulers held back what you want,
He never, never did them check,
He went with those who strived to plant
Their heel upon your neck!

O spurn his service with a frown,
Reject his proffered claim,
Return him—yes—to Cobourg town,
To raise his shattered fame
1861.

Vote for Billa Flint,

And against the insulting Rebel M. Cartier.

THE AMERICAN WAR.

From the London Daily Mail.

The Americans, we are told, are exceedingly anxious to know what is thought in England of their war and their policy, now that the campaign has been opened by a pitched battle. In one particular, but perhaps in one only, they will be thoroughly satisfied with our opinions. Never was there a war in which the people of this country took a greater interest. We watch with the utmost solicitude all the proceedings of the belligerents, and observe not only the operations of their armies, but the manifestations of popular feeling, with sentiments which no other struggle could excite. We can say no more. Though it is impossible to avoid reflecting that the division of the Union into two great States may relieve us from many of the troubles with which we were menaced by the overbearing policy of the old Federal Government, we can safely assert that Englishmen desire nothing more than to see the quarrel terminate & the strife appeased. We wish no harm to either party, and would far rather see America strong, united, and prosperous, than speculate on the advantages which its premature disruption might possibly bring to its neighbours. But when we have said this we have said all that the Americans are likely to hear with much satisfaction. For the rest, our conclusions are certainly not favourable to those institutions under which this great catastrophe has been matured. What the Americans call freedom, but what we call democracy, does not show to advantage at this critical time. The theories attributing immeasureable superiority to Republican forms of government have all been falsified in the plainest and most striking manner, and the last six months have proved beyond all question that the preponderance of popular will without check or limit is at least as likely to hurry a nation into war and debt as the caprice of the most absolute despot or the intrigues of the most selfish of aristocracies.

We are not finding fault with the Northern States for going to war. We have repeatedly admitted that the Federal party could not be expected to view the dismemberment of the Union without an effort to avert the loss. But, though civil war is the most frightful of all wars, the Americans plunge into it with less concern than would have been shown by any European State in adopting a diplomatic quarrel. Though the people of the South were of the same flesh and blood with the people of the North, and connected with them by a thousand links of interest and feeling the Northerners instantly heaped every conceivable opprobrium on the heads of the Southerners. A Muscovite Minister would speak more moderately of insurgent Poles than the citizens of Massachusetts spoke of the citizens of Carolina; and certainly Lord NORTH never used such language or such threats as the New York journals have been incessantly hurling at the rebels of 1861. Any suggestion of arbitration has been fiercely rejected, and even before the blood of the people was fairly up a proffered mediation was received as a deadly insult. Nothing but war, conquest, and triumph would satify the States whose alliance had been repudiated. The old French cry of "Fraternity or death" was interpreted to mean "Be my brother or I will kill you," and that cry was the sentiment of the North. The people would listen to nothing but plans for an immediate campaign. Their statesmen seized the opportunity of establishing a "gigantic system of outdoor relief" for themselves in the shape of a Protective Tariff, and, having catered in this manner for class interests, they provided for the war in the most extravagant and improvident manner. They have just proposed to raise, not by taxation, but by loan, a sum greater than the whole expenditure of this country in the most costly year of the Crimean war. Five years of such borrowing as they have now begun would saddle them, at the proposed rate of interest, with a charge greater than that of our whole national debt. Of course, a standing army becomes an incidental necessity, and with it approaches another and more alarming apparition. Our correspondent speaks ominously of "some coming man "whose face no one can see yet, "but his footsteps are audible, "and the ground shakes beneath his tread." Perhaps before twelve months are over we may see how a military dictator will deal with universal suffrage and other popular institutions.

If the Americans should conceive, however, that we, forming these opinions, are attributing to them any special faults, or any peculiar incapacity for self-government, they would be greatly in error. We consider that the course of events in the Union has been perfectly natural, and that Americans have only done what Englishmen or any other people under the same conditions would have done also. What has so quickened our feelings and made our observations so acute is not so much the policy of America itself as the prominence which has lately been given to that policy by a certain party in this country. For the last ten years we have been told, with every circumstance of emphasis and adjuration, that American institutions were the institutions on which every friend of economy, peace and good government should fix his eyes. War was distinctly represented as the work of an interested aristocracy anxious only for its own advancement. We are assured that with an unrestricted suffrage, and with electoral laws under which plain working citizens could make their voices heard, the old extravagance of a class Government would rapidly disappear. Debts were contracted and wars were fought to gratify an aristocracy subsisting on the taxation of the people. America was the model of a better system. There the wisdom and moderation of citizens managing their own affairs showed itself in peace, thrift, and contentment. Such were the points kept obtrusively before us. If the reader will refer to any speech of any Manchester orator he will find the Government of the United States extravagantly eulogized for the very qualities of which it is now proved to be utterly destitute, and the Americans exalted beyond all other people on account of gifts which it is plain that they never possessed. It is this, if the Americans wish to know the truth, which points the remarks of Englishmen on their civil war its incidents:—It is not that they are any worse, or more foolish, or more intemperate than was to be expected under the trials to which they have been exposed, but that they have been held up to our admiration by a certain party among us as a people in whose counsels no intemperance or folly would ever be likely to prevail. They suffer from the panegyries of their friends. Our extreme Liberals would have shaped the course of all British legislation exclusively by the American [illegible] and they did actually succeed in imparting now and then a Transatlantic smack to the policy of the Government. When we look, therefore, at the operation of American institutions, we are contemplating the results of principles which it was sought to force upon ourselves. Such a lesson we cannot afford to lose. Our criticisms are suggested not by any joy over American troubles but by feelings of the deepest and most immediate self-interest. When we see that unlimited democracy conveys not the slightest security against the worst of wars and the most reckless extravagance, we may apply the moral at home, and congratulate ourselves that the old British Constitution has not been precipitately remodelled after a Manchester design.

Vote for Billa Flint,

And Justice to Upper Canada.

THE CORN CROP IN THE FAR WEST.

We glean the following from the Chicago Tribune, of the 7th instant:—Owing to a late and wet Spring this year, the ground in many parts of Illinois broke up lumpy and ungenial. The growth of Corn has been slow, the ears are very short, and the crop will be two or three weeks later than usual. If there is an early frost, it is believed by good judges that one-half the crop in the Northern part of the State will be lost. In Central Illinois the promise of a large yield is unusually good; but it is not safe from frost, and the breadth planted was not so great as last year. In the prairie-lands of Southern Illinois the crop is very thin, the army worm having cut down the first planting by the hands of acres, while the later planted has suffered severely from drought. Corn was a failure last year in part of this region; but the crops on the timbered lands this year will probably be a medium one. In Iowa, Corn is reported to be healthy, with a promise of a large yield; although in the northern half of the State, the risk from early frost is great. In the Southern part drought and the army-worm have somewhat damaged the prospects. Should frost set in as early as in 1857, disastrous consequences are apprehended. On 12th Sept. of that year, a severe frost destroyed the corn from the northern line of Illinois down to Bloomington; while on 18th Sept., 1859, the crop in Northern Illinois and Wisconsin was so generally damaged that corn was shipped from Chicago to Wisconsin to supply the local demand.

A Western editor encourages his barnyard cocks, "The crisis we have about us have arrowed."

A tunnel is in process of construction under the bed of the River Indus at India, 60 by 7 1/2 feet long and lighted by gas. The cost will not be less than $500,000.

VOTE FOR BILLA FLINT,
And Representation by Population!

Vote for Billa Flint,

And Against the most Corrupt Ministry that ever held Office.

SHOCKING AFFAIR.

ELEVEN PERSONS POISONED BY A NEGRO.

From the (Michigan) Traveller.

The citizens of Northern Berrien were thrilled with horror, the early part of last week, by the intelligence that Mr John Sutherland and his entire family, residing in Pipestone township, some 14 miles from this village, with Dr. Fowler and one or two others, had been poisoned by some malignant person, and were lying in so dangerous and critical a condition that deep fears were entertained that they would not recover.

It appears that Mr. Sutherland and his family were absent from home on the Sunday previous, and did not return until Monday morning. Directly after eating breakfast upon arriving, the whole family were taken ill, and so violently did the malady assail them, that they were unable to communicate with their neighbors, but were forced to seek their beds, from which they were unable to move. Fortunately about eleven o'clock in the forenoon, one of their neighbors happened to pass that way, and observing no stir about the house, called in and learned the critical condition of the family, instantly gave the alarm. Mr. Sutherland felt certain from the first that the misfortune to himself and to his family was attributable to some fat I drug, in which his neighbor coincided. Dr. Fowler, who resided a short distance away in Cass county, was speedily sent for, and their worst suspicions were at once confirmed by his declaring that the sufferers were poisoned.

For some reason Mr. Sutherland seemed to think that the water was only infected, and upon the Doctor's arrival, without further investigation, a young lady residing near by, who had come to render comfort and assistance to the afflicted family, proceeded to prepare supper for him. The Doctor ate heartily, and she partook of a small quantity of the food herself, which resulted in making both sick. It was then discovered that not only the well, and a spring near by, had been poisoned, but that the flour, lard and butter in the house had been filled with arsenic. The young lady threw up the contents of her stomach, and thereby saved her life, but the Doctor lingered in a critical condition for many days. In the meantime Mr. Sutherland's infant child died, and it is said the next youngest child will prob bly not survive. The entire family nine persons in all were poisoned, besides the young lady alluded to above.

As soon as it was ascertained that the illness of the family was the work of some malignant person, steps were instituted to discover who the wretch could be. Suspicion for reasons hereafter named at once attached itself to a negro living near by, named Shoemaker, and the next day he was arrested. Tracks made by a peculiar foot were discovered round the house, and were traced to a corn-field towards his dwelling. Between the negro's house and Mr. Sutherland's, are two cornfields, separated by a plat of green-sward; and it seems that upon this plat all traces of the large naked foottracks were lost, but just on the other side boot tracks of corresponding dimensions were found, and these were distinct all the way to the black man's house. The supposed guilty wretch has a foot fourteen inches in length, the exact length of the tracks discovered. He doubtless pulled off his boots on the grass and proceeded to Mr. Sutherland's barefoot, and having performed his fiendish work, returned and put them on again, thinking such caution would prevent his discovery. It has been shown that about ten days previous to the transaction, he purchased half a pound of arsenic, at the drug store of C. H. Crane & Co., in this village, which he informed Mr. Crane he wished to give to a diseased horse. Rumour says that he also purchased a similar amount at Dowagiac.

The negro had long threatened violence to Mr. Sutherland and family, and all for no reason; unless the fact that Mr. S. wholly discarded him in a social point of view, be considered a reason. While some others of the people round about countenanced a kind of social equality with the family of Shoemaker, Mr. S. nor his house would have nothing to do with them. This excited the malignant nature of the negro, and his threatenings finally culminated in the awful, damning crime which we chronicle. A short time since "a raising" came off on Mr. S.'s premises to which Shoemaker was not invited, and it is said this slight, as he considered it, made him inordinately angry, and stimulated him to an earlier commission of the deed which he meditated.

The greatest excitement prevailed upon the arrest of the negro; and at his preliminary examination, when the facts we have related became gradually known, lynching was freely talked off by the enraged populace. In fact, a crowd with a rope lay in wait for him by the road-side along which it was supposed he would be taken, upon his leaving the Justice's office, with the determination of stretching him upon the nearest tree, but the officers conveyed him away by another route; so conclusive and obvious was the testimony against him that he was taken forthwith to jail. However, the more people thought the matter over the more incensed they were; and on Saturday night a large crowd from the end of the county went up to Berrien, for the avowed purpose of taking the culprit forcibly from the jail, and immediately wreaking their vengeance upon him. But finally it was thought best to let Justice take its course and he was not disturbed. Our County Court sat last Monday, and the trial of the wretch at this writing (Tuesday) is going forward. The excitement at the County seat is great and should the prisoner not be convicted, public opinion is so strong against him that he would be compelled to flee from the county, if indeed he should be so fortunate as to get out of it alive.

Mr. Sutherland is a thriving farmer, and is universally esteemed in common with his excellent family. The terrible calamity which has visited him is a matter of the most painful regret on the part of the entire region, and it is hoped that the remainder of his family may recover, and be once more restored to the enjoyment of perfect health.

Dr. Fowler, who met an untimely death by this affair, was a man of fine abilities, of great moral worth, and a skillful physician. He was about sixty years of age, and had long been a resident of the neighborhood in which he lived at the time of his death. His excellence, integrity, and noble qualities of heart had endeared him to a large circle of friends and acquaintances, who are weighed down by the painful bereavement which has fallen upon them. If indeed this negro has been the cause of all this agony and suffering may he receive the punishment which his crime deserves.

It is said that the latter is worth some property, not the least of which is 120 acres of land, and is an industrious man, of 45 or 50 years of age. He has a wife and several children.

The poison was mixed in the flour in such quantities, that several biscuits made from it were thrown to chickens, which they ate, and then fell down and died. A cat died from the same cause, and a stump was found in corn, on the top of which the perpetrator of the deed had scraped from his hand some lard as he passed by, and a mouse having crawled out and eaten of it, died before it could quit the place.

At last accounts Mr. Sutherland's family were doing well, and it is thought will all recover, excepting, perhaps, the youngest child.

Vote for Billa Flint,

AND BRITISH RIGHTS.

"Britons Never Shall be Slaves"

AN APPEAL.

SMITH—Voters of the Trent Division,
Quickly come to a decision;
I want to be your M. P. P.,
Flint can't read his A B C.

FLINT—Voters of the Trent Division
Spurn Smith's falsehoods with derision,
For I can read and tell tales true,
A thing that Tories seldom do.

S.—You know I came to Peterborough,
From Cobourg in a desperate hurry,
And spoke for three hours on the hill,
Showing my claims to your votes still.

F.—I'll throw your foul speech to the winds,
It was a meeting of my friends;
And you had no righ to be there,
Far less to act like a wild bear.

S.—In the Examiner and Globe,
'Tis said I did the nation rob;
Believe not what these Clear Grits print,
They are as vile as Billa Flint.

F.—As vile! O, fie! 'Tis all humbug,
We want Reform,—no places snug;
This comes with a bad grace from you,
And all your Ministerial crew.

S.—O, wicked elf! away from me,
You wish to be an M. P. P.
And then made Master of the Mint,
I'm shocked by your pride Billa Flint.

F.—My pride's all for my native land,
To do all good, I'll nobly stand;
Your faithful servant Billa Flint,
Shall purge the corrupt Government.

S.—Being the Postmaster General,
I've benefitted one and all;
To make the good Post Office pay,
I've given to rich and poor fair play.

F.—Such nonsense! Tell that to your betters,
We're double-taxed for news and letters;
The nations debt, with burden, groans,
Increas'd each year by these "dry bones."

S.—Electors! then make me your choice,
Against them I will lift my voice,
And try to get your wrongs redress'd,
At least I'll strive to do my best.

F.—Electors! O, be wide awake,
Your principles are now at stake;
Put out the corrupt Government,
Vote for your true friend Billa Flint,

Now good men of the Trent Division,
Do your duty with decision,
And choose good Flint with all your pith,
And scout the trickster, Sidney Smith.

A working man was standing by,
Who laughed, and looking roadrosy-ly,
Said, "I say I of good work s'y be stint,
If I don't vote for Billa Flint."

A gent, with optics somewhat bloated,
Like a young calf left benighted,
Cried out, "Aw, damme, what is Flint,
But a common man, a tint."

A farmer hearing the Appeal,
Cried, "I am cazed to milk and meal,
And flocks and herds, and grain and flint,
And I will vote for Billa Flint."

A publican approached the crowd,
Speaking, but I'm afraid, long and loud;
Shouting for Smith and mountain-dew,
"S. Smith I will vote for you."

A Temperance man cried, "Down with drink,
And all from the pilot shrink,
Late the Temperance champion Flint,
Who'll pass good laws in Parliament."

A tailor, looking rather serene,
At Smith, the ill-clad cobler,

"Come boys," he cried with a sly squint,
"We all must vote for Billa Flint."

Three cheers for the voters of Trent
Three hearty cheers for Billa Flint,
And lastly, let all take this hint,
And vote for upright Billa Flint.

Sept. 16, 1861. SPECTATOR.

VOT FOR
BILLA FLINT,
THE FARMERS' FRIEND.

TRENT DIVISION—THE CANDIDATES.

Fellow Farmers and Electors:

I will not detain you by a preamble to this appeal but proceed at once to consider the important principle at stake in the coming election. We justly complain of being now, and for many years past, unfairly dealt with by our present corrupt government, who, in order to keep their places and power suffer themselves to be dictated to by French members who themselves are under the guidance of their hierarcy. We cannot expect justice from such hands, and must remain in bondage for many years to come unless we elect such members to represent us as will imperatively insist on justice, fair play, a clear stage, and no favor, for both sections of the province; we ask no more and will take no less. The way to release ourselves from the disgraceful thraldom we be under is now the main question for our consideration. Will we accomplish this by giving our support and confidence to a prominent member of that administration that inflicted the wrong we complain of? I think I hear you all answer No. That just and most universally called for measure, a representation proportioned to our population, and wealth would go far if it would not altogether remedy the evil we complain of, it would entitle Upper Canada to sixteen or twenty members more than we have at present. In former sessions of Parliament when the opposition agitated the question in the House, the government voted it down, alleging that it was not certain we outnumbered the lower province in population; their cry then was wait till the census is taken That excuse no longer avails them, and it is now ascertained beyond dispute that we outnumber the lower section by 300,000. Surely after this we might reasonably expect legislation on it. Alas, such a procedure would not be palatable to their French supporters, and to please them our Attorney General has given it a ten years hoist. In his opinion we are not yet long enough under the French yoke, but must remain ten years longer in our present degrading position. Another leading member of government says he has no more regard for our 300,000 majority than he has for so many fish swimming at the bottom of the ocean, and the honorable gentleman now before us seeking our suffrages echoes the opinion of his leader. In his address he advises us to continue to agitate it temperately, which means that it must be agitated long before it is ripe for legislation. Why it has been agitated since 1851, and surely that is long enough to have it under the consideration of the public to enable every man to form a calm judgment on it. Its justice is too apparent not to be seen by any man who is not determined to shut his eyes, and any ministry which does not announce their determination to make it a Cabinet measure in the next session of Parliament, and stand or fall by the result, is wholly unworthy of our confidence. After considering who this honorable Sidney Smith is, who is asking our votes, we come to the conclusion that he is the broken down, cast off politician of Cobourg. He got himself elected in Cobourg by denouncing the government and giving solemn promises and assurances that if elected he would enter the House of Assembly as an oppositionist, and continue to oppose the Government until he voted them down or wrung justice from their reluctant hands. But lo, and behold, John A. McDonald, a wily, cunning man, saw an indication of pliability in him and thought it would be better to have it ranged on his side than against him, and in order to bring Mr. Smith from the opposition benches, threw out a bait; a pretty rich one too, no less than the Postmaster Generalship, with a salary affixed to it of £1,250 per annum, which Sidney swallowed and was hooked by the Attorney General, and remains so still, thus making a wholesale surrender of principle at one jump. For this sale of his principles his own constituency—amongst whom he was born and bred, and who knew his principles—cast him off. He now has the hardihood to come to us with broken pledges and violated principles on his back, to ask our confidence and support. Truly he must think all gentlemen of all manly spirit, and feeling who he thinks us capable of reversing the just sentence passed on him by those who knew him so well, and rendering to him the last honours, and this to heap him in the enjoyment of his £1,250, which is the main object he has in view. To effect this every means will be resorted to, fair and foul. Powerful influences are at work, government promises and government money. Every official in the Division, with all the office seekers, and every hireling that can be scraped up are all hard at work and arrayed against us.—The honorable Siddop Smith, being an Augerman, at least in name, but whether true or false I leave you to judge from the fact that he has the interest of the Catholic Hierarchy at heartland, and will get their undivided votes. If he could add to them the Orange vote, or a majority of them, it would contribute to his chance of success. To accomplish this he has Orangemen of his own stamp from Port Hope, Cobourg, and even Toronto, going through the country endeavoring to corrupt their brethren.—But, if I am not greatly mistaken the maority of that body are men who claim and exercise the indisputable right of men, to think and act for themselves in politics as well as in religion, who will not vote for a man merely because he has the name of Orangeman, if his politics are unsound. Men of the Hopkins and Scott stamp who will never consent to stain the orange by a mixture with the green. Enough of Sidney and his adherents; let us now turn to the other candidate Mr Billa Flint. The office seekers of Peterboro, of course are trying hard to blacken him, to do this they have ransacked the journals of the House to pick out a word he spoke, or a vote he gave ten or fifteen years ago, which they think objectionable, to build his general character on, a course not noticing the good he did. Such a mode of procedure is truly contemptible, in the same way they might easily blacken the character of the greatest statesman that ever existed in this or any other country. Take for example Sir Robert Peel of England, during his long public career he gave many bad votes, honest enough no doubt when given, but which in after you think of the hired defamer who would leave his merits untold, select his bad votes and lay them as the foundation on which to build his whole political character. Yet such is the way Billa Flint is treated. In spite of what his traducers can say, his political career is marked with one undeviating, unflinching, consistent course. He is no office seeker, never sold his principles, never broke faith with his electors, or bartered his honor for gold. He now stands before us with Representation by Population as his motto, and with a fixed determination to oppose that government which, backed by their French supporters refuse to do us justice. Two courses are now before us, and the eyes of the whole province are on us expecting we will do our duty to our country. We are no office seekers, have no selfish object in view, let us then rally round the standard of freedom, having as our motto, justice and fair play for our country. If we vote for Smith we vote to postpone representation by population for ten years more, we vote against our country, to maintain in office and give our confidence to our present oppressors. If we vote for Mr Flint we vote for immediate representation by population, we vote to stamp with our disapprobation the acts of an unprincipled ministry, and above all we vote for our country against French domination. Hurrah then for Flint, and down with the renegades.

AN OTONABEE FARMER.

VOTE FOR

BILLA FLINT,

THE FARMERS' FRIEND.

ELECTORS REMEMBER

That Sidney Smith is a member of the Rebel Cartier's Ministry.

REMEMBER

that by the direction of Mons. Cartier, His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales was dragged through every nunnery and monkery in Lower Canada, and that when the Prince came to Kingston, because it was not M. Cartier's wish he was not allowed to land there because the Orange brethren wished to meet their future Sovereign in their true colors. And that although Mr. J. A. Macdonald made a show of indignation at the treatment, he had to submit to his master, M. Cartier, and kiss the rod.

REMEMBER

REMEMBER

REMEMBER

that M. Cartier has declared we shall never get representation by population, nor will he even consider it for 10 years to come.

REMEMBER

that we have 30,000 unrepresented fellow-subjects in our midst, and M. Cartier has had the audacity to insult them, and compare them to as many cod-fish in the Bay of Gaspe.

REMEMBER

That Galt and Rose who signed the Annexationist Manifesto, are members of Cartier's ministry.

REMEMBER

that in West Northumberland, where Mr. Smith was best known, he was defeated by a man unknown in Legislative circles.

REMEMBER

that Sidney Smith voted to consider the claim of the rebel Montgomery, from whose house the gallant Col. Moodie was shot.

REMEMBER

that it was Sidney Smith who put the tax on newspapers, and on magazines and books, thereby checking the diffusion of knowledge.

REMEMBER

that Mr. Smith voted against the Grand Junction Railroad extending from Belleville to Peterboro, and on to Georgian Bay. And that Mr. Flint voted for the Grand Junction Railroad.

REMEMBER

REMEMBER

that Mr. Smith voted for the expending of $3,000,000 on the Riviere du Loupe line in Lower Canada, a road which has not paid half the running expenses.

REMEMBER

that all Mr. Smith's property is in Cobourg, and all his interests are there too.

REMEMBER

that Mr. Flint is one of the largest property-holders in the Trent Division, and through his manufacturies, stores, farms and lumbering operations, gives employment to 200 or 300 men and he bears the reputation of being an honest, upright man of business.

REMEMBER

that Sidney Smith is one of the famous Double-Shufflers.

REMEMBER

that Sidney Smith was one of a deputation from Cobourg, who presented an address to the Governor General approving of and thanking him for signing the Rebellion Losses Bill.

Vote for Billa Flint.

And Against the most Corrupt Ministry that ever held Office.

THE TRENT ELECTION.

From the Canadian Statesman.

The coalition ministry has been styled the ministry of humbug—henceforth it may be denominated the ministry of rowdyism. The conduct of Smith at Peterboro' lately at one of the public meetings called by Mr. Flint's friends, was the most disgraceful that we have heard of in connection with legislative candidature for a long time. He cursed and swore, and called his rowdies to clear the platform, after he had shaken his fist in the face of Dr. Conner, and cursed him for a liar, because he was exposing the bon. Sid.'s conduct as a member of the precious cabinet now cursing the country.

We have lately been reading Macaulay's third volume of the History of England, and we could not help remarking the very different purposes to which the order of Orangeism is now put from what it was originally employed in. We are frequently told by Orangemen that the origin and laws of the Orange Society are good, but that some of its members disgrace the Society. We believe this, as far as we are able to judge of the merits of the case, to be correct. Surely the founders of the Orange system never intended that a man like Sidney Smith should employ the institution to forward the ends of Popery, and to use its members for the ruffianly purpose of breaking up a Protestant meeting, in order that he might be returned to Parliament to back up the Papal Hierarchy which now rules Canada. We know that there are many Orangemen who are true to their origin, but there are a number who disgrace the very name, and we are sure that were the rules of the Order carefully enforced, that such men could not enter the Order, or, if entering it, would not be able to remain in it. Unless something is done to purge the Order it will only be known as the tail of Popery, and all respectable Protestants will leave its ranks. We would ask men of character and intelligence in the Orange Society, if their laws permit their members to disturb a public meeting in a manner contrary to the laws of the land? If not, why do they not bring the laws to bear on those rowdies, who, in the name and on behalf of the Order, do the bidding of such men as Sidney Smith, at Peterborough and Cobourg? It is really time that decent Orangemen would do something to correct this evil, or, failing to do so, come out from among them, and give loyalty and order the benefit of their example.—Would the prentice boys of Londonderry have been found in the ranks of Cartier and Sidney Smith? Would they have sustained the members of a Cabinet which stands by a Governor General who succumbed to Popery and snubbed the Orangemen, as was done during the visit of the Prince of Wales? Out upon such toadyism; that was not the stuff the 'Prentice boys were made of, nor the Prince of Orange either; we honor their memory, but we detest from our inmost soul any Orangeman, or Protestant of any stripe, who will descend so low as to become the political scavangers of such men as Sidney Smith and Etienne Cartier.

THE TRENT ELECTION.

(From the Cobourg Sun.)

The accounts we have from this Division betoken success to the Opposition. Surely the electors of Trent have now received sufficient acquaintance with the character and intentions of the men who now rule the country. If any honest elector doubts, we wish he could have seen without danger, the demoniac scene of Wednesday night at our Town Hall, and then reflect on the legitimate results of Ministerialism in our strongly Ministerial Town. He would then know what are legitimate fruits of the system pursued by the men in power. The row in Peterborough on Tuesday gives but a faint idea of the height of ruffianism which is attained in Cobourg. But only let the Trent elect the Postmaster General—let the chosen seat of Ministerial favour be transferred from Cobourg to Peterboro'—and our word for it, a very short period will work out as strong a force of Ministerial rowdyism in Peterborough as exists here.

If the electors of Trent will only follow in the wake of West Northumberland, they will save their division from the withering curse of Ministerial rule, they will occupy a proud position in the eyes of their countrymen, and very probably put the last straw on the camel's back—put a final end to seven long years of misrule and corruption.

VOTE FOR BILLA FLINT,

And Representation by Population!

PAYING REBELS.

Every one has heard of Montgomery the noted Rebel of 1837, and one of the heroes of Gallows Hill, at whose house the gallant COLONEL MOODIE, WAS MURDERED. Will it be believed that MR. SIDNEY SMITH voted this Rebel's claims to a Committee of Parliament with a view to their being paid.

Mr. McKenzie moved, seconded by Mr. Aikens, and the question being put, that the petition of John Montgomery of the township of York, Hotel Keeper, alleging that the Queen's forces took possession of his extensive Hotel and offices in the 7th Dec., 1837, and burned them to the ground, after the Rebels were defeated and had retired, and praying for remuneration of losses thereby sustained, be referred to a committee of seven members, to examine the contents thereof, and report thereon with all convenient speed; with power to send for persons, papers and records.

On this Sidney Smith voted YEA!! and Billa Flint NAY

Rebellion Losses Bill of 1849.

Extracts from the Commissioners' Report.

EARL GREY'S DESPATCH TO LORD ELGIN.

"The Commissioners comprehend the true intent and meaning of the Act," which your Lordships fiat gave force to, in the sense as conveyed in the instructions above, and in the despatch of Earl Grey; in effect that persons who, by their examination, or the testimony of others, shall be proved as guilty as those in the excluded classes, shall be no more entitled to the indemnification than they are. They have in every case made this their rule of action.

That it was so interpreted by Her Majesty and Her Majesty's Ministers, they have the assurance of Earl Grey in the despatch of the 13th June, 1850, in reply to your Lordship's despatch cited above. His Lordship observes, "we certainly should not have decided on adopting this course, had we regarded the Act as one, under which persons guilty of the heinous crime of Rebellion could be relieved from losses brought on them by their own offences.

If the act had appeared to us to be either intended to provide compensation for losses of this description, or even to have been drawn up so loosely as to afford facilities for such an abuse, we should have felt it our duty to advise Her Majesty to avail Herself of Her power to disallow it, because a measure tending to palliate the crime of Rebellion, could not be sanctioned with o it injury to the safety and honor of the Crown.—One further question remains; will the execution of the Act be in conformity with the terms on which it is drawn? On this point, likewise, Her Majesty's Government are entirely satisfied. For as the appointment of the Commissioners for whom the law is to be carried out, is entrusted to the Governor. I cannot entertain the slightest doubt that persons will be selected, whose honest and firmness in applying the rule laid down for their guidance, may be implicitly relied on."

THE COMMISSIONERS' FURTHER REPORT.

"Rebellions are neither supported nor suppressed without violence and loss; they who commence or join them know the risks they incur, on the one side forfeiture, on the other indemnity—a liability and distinction it would be morally and politically unwise as well as unsafe for any government to remove. Did the Commissioners entertain any doubt of the correctness of this interpretation, a reference to your Excellency's instructions to them of the 25th June, 1849 for their guidance on entering on their duties, would satisfy them that your Excellency in Council agreed with them."

AGAIN THEY STATE IN THEIR REPORT.

"The Commissioners submit that these awards were to claimants of unimpeachable loyalty, the subterfuge of neutrality even not being admitted to indemnity,—that most rigorous, as well as expats investigation, was employed, not to separate those who were neutral, from those who were active, or aiding or abetting the rebel cause, but to confine the possibility of the indemnity to those only who were actively in arms in support of the Queen's Government."

The Commissioners in their Report give a long list of claims disallowed by them.—Number 169 states, "Joseph Picott, L'Acadia,—"This claim is for house building and effects burnt by the troops. The amount of actual loss suffered has been assessed at £58. 11s., but the part taken by the claimant during the Rebellion, in the opinion of the Commissioners, deprive him of the right to indemnity under the Act."

In the Report in reference to the claims against Dr. Wolfred Nelson, Furman Perrin's claim was assigned to Francoies Perien amounting to £829. 9s. 2d. Two judgments, one for £194 2s 5d, dated 11th of April, 1838, the other for £429 1s 9d, dated 20th October, 1838.

These, with interest, make up the whole claim of Perrin. The Commissioners did not allow the claim, and Mr. Perrin petitioned the Governor General against that Report, and asks His Excellency that his claim may not "be lost sight of."

Mr. Benjamin's statement to day at the Hustings "that 73 Rebels were paid," is contradicted by the report of the Commissioners, and he stands condemned by that Report of uttering a deliberate untruth.

The Postmaster General's case must be desperate, when he has to bring up a supporter of his Government who received over and above his salary as Member of the House, the sum of $2000.00, in one year.

MY QUALIFICATION.

Mr. Smith stated from the Hustings, that I could not qualify. That is incorrect; my qualification is perfectly good, and he must have been thinking of his own, which I am told is doubtful. I can spare enough over, making mine good, to make his certain.

MY DEBT TO THE GOVERNMENT.

Mr. Smith stated that I owed the government $9000.00, he was again mistaken, it is $11,000; but, the government or any member of that government, who suppose, because they have a claim against me, which in the depressed state of the lumbering operations with the United States, I have had to ask for time to meet, that I must therefore support that Government, miss their man in me; and, the very fact of that indebtedness to the Government of the day, and therefore, to a certain extent in their power, speaks volumes in my favor, in daring to presume to oppose Mr. Smith as a member of that government, and entitles me more fully to that generous confidence, which the noble minded Electors of the Trent Division are now giving me. The very fact of my determined opposition to the Cartier-Macdonald Administration under such circumstances, speaks with Trumpet tones in my favor of my manly independence.

THE UNIVERSITY QUESTION.

Mr. Smith in his first address to the people of Peterboro', see report in Leader of 23rd August, says, "I contend that it is a wrong policy to keep the Wesleyans coming year after year to Parliament for aid to Victoria College, and that their clergymen should be kept connected with the political squabbles of the hour, and that a quid pro quo should be given for political services. To obtain this yearly grant they have been compelled to lend their assistance at elections, and, indeed, other demonstrations do the same thing.

I had not time to-day to give my views on University Reform, and Mr. Smith endeavored to take advantage of it, after the insult given to the Wesleyans and other denominations in his first speech at Peterboro'. I might well ask was it necessary to take up time.

The Coalition Government knew 7 years ago of the abuses, and having been cognizant of their continuation, should have grappled with the evil and have found a remedy. But what have they done? When a strong pressure is brought to bear on them, they keep back the Reform needed, in order to use it as a hobby to catch votes at the late general election, and what they have done once may be done again.

The funds of the University should not be wasted, every reasonable facility should be given to other Colleges and Halls of Learning, but only for the purpose of giving the higher branches of a sound liberal education to the youth of our noble Province, not merely to the cities and towns, but to the bright eyed boy of the poor man in the back woods of Canada. Not to teach theology or sectarianism. Could I have my wish carried out, I would prefer that every denominational college or seminary should be liberally endowed by the free, voluntary contributions of the members of the various churches, and the Wesleyan ministers who know me are aware that my mite will not be wanting, nor has it been withheld when asked for on any occasion.

I trust some means may be found to prevent Mr. Smith from again grossly insulting the Gospel Ministry, and through the Ministers the members of the Churches as he has done on this occasion.

My war cry in this contest is, onward and upward, against untruth and corruption. Let us push the battle to the gates of the citadel, and in 10 days the victory will be ours!

Yours, truly,
BILLA FLINT.
Peterborough, 14th Sept. 1861.

Vote for Billa Flint,

AND BRITISH RIGHTS.

"Britons Never Shall be Slaves"

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Return of Convictions—C. A. Weller.
Lands for Sale—Walter Sheridan.
Auction—T. A. Hudspeth.
New Goods—G. W. Robinson.
Steam Communication—G. & D. Shaw.
For Sale—Jos. Kelso.
Wood Turning—W. F. Manley.
Dead Shot—A. W. Kempt.
Wanted—Wm. Clurton.

VOTE FOR

BILLA FLINT

AND THE CONSTITUTION!

The Examiner.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 1861

THE ELECTION.

VOTE EARLY AND VOTE FOR MR. FLINT.

The more we see of Mr. Sidney Smith the less we think of the temperate and orderly electors of this county. How could it be otherwise? Every new phase of development through which the honorable gentleman passes shews us some other new and uglier trait in his character. To the philosophically curious he exhibits himself as an extraordinary fact in creation—a multum in parvo of eccentricities and absurdities. To the politician he appears to be a political mountebank, omnipotent in nostrums for the cure of the body politic. The zoologist regards him as a new species of man-monkey—a gorilla, not brought from Central Africa, but hunted from the woods of West Northumberland. The law-abiding look upon him as a rowdy; the temperate regard him as a tippler; and the moral man as a beacon to avoid.

And we are not a whit more severe on Mr. Smith than facts patent to the public warrant. So soon as the Postmaster General commenced his canvass here whiskey became forthwith as plenty as water; and as the dead and dying mark the line of retreat of a routed army, so do the staggering and fallen mark Sidney's route through this county. With a temperance plank in his platform, as a bid for the votes of temperate men, he adopted a new method of teaching, never dreamt of by Father Mathew. Himself and disciples in the new total abstinence school, inculcate the doctrines of temperance by exemplifying, in their own persons, the practical results of intoxication. We have our doubts as to the success of the system, and are inclined to think that the temperance cause is as much in danger in Mr. Sidney Smith's hands, as is the question of representation by population.

But, joking aside, Mr. Sidney Smith was placed in an awkward and humiliating position on the Nomination day. Only eleven days previously, on the same platform, he had roared like the lion of Judah; looked fondly on his candal extremity before him; boasted that he, Sidney Smith, was Alpha and Omega and every thing; and that Mr. Flint was afraid to face so formidable a champion of corruption; that he was afraid to face the music which this Goliath of Cobourg would grind for him. On Saturday last so completely were the tables turned—so low had the mighty fallen—that Sidney feared to face the music, and dared not venture to speak first, so that Mr. Flint could not have an opportunity of speaking in reply. So overawed was the 'learned' man of Cobourg, by him against whom the Review got up a cry that he was uneducated and ignorant, that only the necessity of the occasion, indeed him to speak at all. And what a contrast between the two men! While Mr. Flint was manly, straightforward, honest, and eloquent, the man of mail bags quibbled, and prevaricated; and as unfit del he find himself to grapple with Mr. Flint that he endeavored to reply by silly attempts to be witty; by desperately insane attempts at punning; and by attacks on men who were absent—this last being a favourite system with the honorable gentleman, as the parties attacked can never reply. Mr. Flint very emphatically, and completely demolished all the frivolous and false charges that Sidney Smith and his friends had brought against him; and Mr. Smith stated nothing that we had not heard him state frequently before, with one exception, and that a somewhat important one. We refer to the question of representation by population.

Previously to nomination day Mr. Smith professed to be in favour of representation by population pure and simple. But on that day Mr. Flint brought him to bay, and made him defend the votes he had given against the principle. And what was his defence? Exactly what we have always maintained: that the government being opposed to it, he, being a member of the government, could not vote for it if it was likely to damage the Government. Mr. Smith said that when it came up as a vote of want of confidence he could not vote for it, as he would thereby vote want of confidence in himself; and to shew his independence he boasted that he was the only member of the Government favorable to the question. What was this but saying as plainly as could be said that the present Government were opposed to Representation by Population, and that consequently they would vote against it. And if Sidney Smith could not vote want of confidence in himself, how could he commit the absurdity of giving a vote to defeat himself?

Mr. Smith committed himself here, and we have now his own authority for saying that his professed views on this, the main question before the country at this moment, are merely paraded for the purpose of gaining votes; and, were he elected, would be thrown aside the day after the Declaration, if not sooner. Like the residence dodge, it is simply thrown out as a bait to catch the credulous.

The show of hands being declared in favor of Mr. Smith, (thanks to about 400 of his friends from Cobourg, who fortunately for the good name of our County, have no votes here) it now remains for the electors to declare by their votes on Monday and Tuesday next whether they prefer Mr. Flint or the rejected of Cobourg. The electors should carefully consider:

1st. Whether they can consistently support the man who disgraced the dignity of a Minister of the Crown by his acts and conduct on the Court House Green on the 3rd of this month? And who, moreover, (as if anxious to give a proof of our assertion that if resident here he would introduce rowdyism) so freely distributed intoxicating liquors, on last Monday night, to all comers, that the streets of our town throughout that night were more like the valley of Tophet than the abode of civilized men.

2ndly. Whether they can so stultify themselves as to vote the one day for Colonel Haultain because he pledges himself to oppose the present ministry; and the next day turn round and vote for the most corrupt and unscrupulous man in that ministry. Such a course would be too inconsistent for men of independence and principle to follow, and we can scarcely believe that any of Col. Haultain's supporters will vote for Mr. Smith. If any such there be, let their names be recorded in the list of political black sheep so that the honest, independent man may know them and avoid them.

3rdly. In so far as the merits of the man are concerned, let the electors consider whether they and their country are most benefitted by men like Mr Flint or men like Mr. Smith.

The former from boyhood upwards has been extensively engaged in business, and for years past has circulated, in connection with his business not less than $250000 or $300,000 per annum throughout the country, by which the farmer, mechanic, and laboring man have benefitted largely. For the last 30 years, during which he has been promi- as a merchant and private citizen, Christianity, taking an active part in every work of benevolence. Mr. Smith's merits we are not yet aware of (though no doubt he has some, if they could only be discovered;) his demerits we have already given particular attention to. He may be a very good lawyer, but lawyers are already well represented in the Legislature, and the farming, manufacturing, and mercantile classes are not, but ought to be. One of themselves, as Mr. Flint is, he is therefore the man to represent them, and not Sidney Smith.

Lastly, be not deceived by the clap-trap cry of resident member. Mr. Smith has not taken up his residence here, and Heaven forbid that he should. But even should he do so, (and entirely overlooking evil effects) what good is it supposed he could do? We have lawyers enough already, and unless he should adopt a reduced scale of fees—say half price—the County would not be one whit the better of him. By his success in burking the Grand Junction Bill, he did the County of Peterborough more harm than it is possible to estimate; and one hundred years spent in the service of the County would not be sufficient atonement for that single act of selfishness. Remember that Mr. Flint, and Mr. Conger did all in their power to carry through that Bill; and had it been carried every bushel of wheat, pease, &c., raised in the County, would have been worth five cents more to-day than it is, and the value of the land would have been increased in proportion. Besides the road to Port Hope would not have been necessary, & would never have been built, and the debt of the Town of Peterboro' would at this day be £30,000 less than it is, and the taxes diminished accordingly.

This is what Mr. Smith has already done for us, and, as he told us on Saturday last, that we must judge a man by his past actions, we apply the rule to himself and can tell him that, judging him by it we see little hope for the future—from him at least.

We are satisfied that the electors of this county will come to a wise and just conclusion, and that on Monday and Tuesday next, they will shew it by the majority given to Mr. Flint. North Hastings and Lennox will each give him large majorities and this county owes it to itself not to be behind in the good work. To the polls therefore early and vote for Billa Flint; and remember that one vote early the first day, is worth two the next.

BRAG.

No one will be much frightened by the brag and bunkum talked and printed, about Mr. Smith's "great success in Hastings and Lennox." We think the Review, at any rate, should give up all claim to being a prophet, or even a truth-teller. That paper stated before the election in West Northumberland that Mr. Cockburn was put up by the Opposition merely to save appearances. Well, Mr. Cockburn was elected, and Sidney Smith was defeated. Conger, too, according to the Review, was to have been elected for Peterborough by 300 or 400 majority. The electors told a very different story at the polls, though, and Col. Haultain was elected.—That organ now tells us that Mr. Smith will be returned; again he will have the mortification of publishing the defeat of his candidate.

VOTE FOR

BILLA FLINT,

AND NO LOOKING TO FRANCE!

A Chapter of Canadian History

SUITED TO THE TIMES,

MORE ESPECIALLY TO THE ELECTORS OF TRENT.

A great hue and cry is being made by Hon. Sidney Smith and his hangers-on, of the Rebellion Losses, and great pains have been taken by Mr. Smith at the meeting on Fair day and others since, to draw odium upon Mr. Flint and the party to which he belonged, for the sanction given by him and them of the Bill to pay those claims. Our object just now is to give a short history of the Rebellion Losses, chiefly to shew how much can be depended upon a renegade such as Mr. Smith has proved himself from his own mouth.

The Canadian Rebellion broke out in November, 1837, and continued for about eighteen months. It commenced simultaneously in both Provinces. It was caused by the high handed measures of the Tory party, who were the rulers of the country at that time. Such in Upper Canada, as the proscription of the press, the refusal to allow Wm. Lyon McKenzie to take his seat in the Lower House after being duly elected, the utter contempt with which the Upper House treated the Lower House in refusing to sanction the bill for secularising the Clergy Reserves, or in fact any measure which that irresponsible oligarchy did not approve of. The wish or desire of the people, as expressed by their representatives were secondary only to their will, and it was galling in the extreme to have to put up with the supercilious manner of treating any and every matter however much pressed by the people if distasteful to them. No less than nine bills passed the Lower House different times for secularising the Reserves, and nine times was the measure rejected by the Upper. Shortly before the breaking out of the Rebellion, an effort was made by the despotic party in power to establish the Rectories as provided for by the Clergy Reserve Act—thinking thereby to defeat all further attempts at secularisation. The people remonstrated against the more and memoralised the Imperial Government not to permit so offensive a measure among a people strongly opposed to any thing resembling Church and State.

The answer received through the proper channels to the Memorial was that no such measure would be recommended by the Imperial authorities. But shortly after, as if to drive the people mad, a private despatch from Downing Street, to Sir John Colborne, authorising him to establish the very Rectories that a former despatch from the same office assured the people should not be recommended by the Home Government. And the night prior to his leaving York as Lieutenant Governor Sir John affixed his name, to 57 blank deeds for these very Rectories. This was the climax of the people's wrongs, and forthwith McKenzie and his confederates flew to arms. The result of the uprising in both sections of the province, was the total discomfiture of the insurgents; but, the rebellion aroused the attention of the Home Government to this long insulted colony, and, in 1839 Lord Durham was sent out to report on the and forthwith the measures were at once adopted; and Canada stands to-day in a far higher position, socially, commercially, and politically, in 20 years after the adoption of those measures than she possibly could in centuries of the proscriptive measures of the fossils who erewhile grasped all power and place in the country. To those intimate with the unfortunate period of the rebellion, it is well known that immense losses were sustained by unoffending parties, as well as to those engaged in suppressing it. Hence we find as early as in 1839, an Act was passed for the payment of those losses, and in the following year, Commissioners were appointed to investigate claims in Upper Canada. In 1841 their powers and period for sitting were extended. In 1845 an Act was passed providing means for paying the sums awarded by the Commissioners, by authorising the issue of Debentures to the amount of £40,000, and a further amount two years after of £3613,—making in all for Upper Canada £43,613. In 1846 an act was passed to issue Debentures to the amount of £9986 for losses sustained in Lower Canada agreeable to a report from five Commissioners appointed by Sir Chas. Metcalfe, the year before. It appeared however that the Commissioners wanted both time and power to enquire more fully into the claims of parties who claimed compensation for unjust, unnecessary, or wanton destruction of their buildings, dwellings and property, as well as from seizing and taken away their property and effects, that power was granted by the Act of 1849, where authority is given to appoint Commissioners and to issue Debentures to the amount of £100,000 less the former amount of £9,966, which was to form part of the larger sum. The Commissioners appointed under this Act were Tories. They received and tyled 2673 claims, 429 of these were abandoned, leaving 2244 claims upon which they adjudicated upon. The sum of £183,967. 14, 3, was claimed and the amount of £85,332. 6. 9. awarded. It may be well to note here that a majority of the Commissioners appointed by Sir Charles Metcalfe, were also appointed by Lord Elgin in 1849, and, that they then reported that the sum of £100,000 would be sufficient to meet all the claims. The majority of this Commission insisted that the intention of the Act, and the powers given to them under it, was to compensate for just losses incurred by unoffending, or loyal persons—a minority thought otherwise, and hence all the furor of paying rebels.

In a despatch from Lord Elgin to Lord Grey, of the 5th May, 1849, his Lordship observes, "That it is notorious that much property belonging to unoffending persons had been wantonly destroyed in cities section (L. C.) during the rebellion. That it was false to affirm that the measure was intended for the benefit of Rebels, that on the contrary, all convicted Rebels, as well as all who confessed their guilt, and were sent to Bermuda, were expressly excluded, and that for rest the Commissioners appointed under the Act would be bound under the sanction of an oath, precisely as the Commissioners in Upper Canada had been before them, to examine minutely into the justice of all claims preferred before them, and apportion the indemnity according to the true intent and meaning of the Act." In the letter of instructions given to the Commissioners, by Lord Elgin, through the Provincial Secretary, he says: "The object of the Act (12 Vic., Cap. 58,) was not to countenance rebellion or to compensate the losses of persons guilty of the heinous crime of treason. Its design as conveyed in the language of the Statute, was to secure indemnity for just losses sustained by the inhabitants of Lower Canada, during the rebellion of 1837 and 1838, so far only as they may have arisen from the total or partial, unjust, unnecessary, or wanton destruction of the buildings, property, and effects of the said inhabitants, and from the seizure, taking, and carrying away of their property and effects, claims which have been already recognised by the deliberative Acts of preceeding Parliaments and Governments." The Commissioners reply to his Excellency that they "comprehended the true intent and meaning of the Act which "his Lordship first gave to us, in the sense as conveyed in the instructions above, and in the despatch to Earl Grey, in effect that persons who by their examination or the testimony of others, shall be proved as guilty as those in the two excluded classes, shall be no more entitled to the indemnification than they are. They have in every case made this their rule of action." In the Commission by which they were appointed they were "to institute enquiry into the losses sustained by Her Majesty's loyal subjects.

It must be admitted that two out of the five Commissioners appointed by Lord Elgin were in favor of not having an individual preferring a claim before them to criminate himself, but the majority of the commissioners, namely Messrs. Moore, Viger and Simpson, would allow no claim if a party by any means could be found out as having any hand in the rebellion. These understood the act as Lord Elgin and Earl Grey understood it, and in good faith carried it out. They were appointed first by Lord Metcalfe, who surely could not be accused of paying rebels, and they reported to him the sum required for Lower Canada, and in 1849 the act was passed for the amount.

It was one of the measures of the Baldwin Lafontaine administration, and was one of simple justice to Lower Canada. Mr Billa Flint voted for the measure, and so did many good men and true, and Mr. Sidney Smith, if he had been in the House, would have voted as did Mr. Flint. It was so understood by the great Reform or Radical party, of which Mr Sidney Smith was then a member, and if the radical party did carry out what a former administration inaugurated and promised to carry out, why blame them for doing what they considered right. Mr Smith if he were honest, he would shoulder a share of the blame of that measure—if blame there be. Would he say in 1849 as he said the other day "I am a liberal conservative?" No! he then disliked the term of either Tory or Conservative. But "circumstances alter cases," by changing his reform for conservatism he has became Cabinet Minister, bartered a good name for place, and as a statesman comes before the electors and tells them he "follows British practice" in offering himself for a vacant constituency. Yet when he was a member of Parliament in 1858 he ignored British practice in accepting office, and refused to ask his constituents to endorse his conduct. A man so lost to honor and to propriety, as to part with his former principles and friends for the sake of gratifying his ambition, and who would so ruthlessly trample upon the people's rights as he has done should assuredly not receive the confidence of the electors of the Trent Division that he recently lost in a constituency that knew him thoroughly. If a man who has been a tory or a conservative becomes a reformer you say, and say justly, the man is making progress. But when a man who has been a reformer embraces toryism or conservatism, we say he is receding, going back. This is precisely Mr Smith's position, and he should be rejected here as well as in Northumberland.

THE GRAND JUNCTION RAILROAD.

We now come to the claims of their candidate on local grounds. Let us examine the conduct of Mr. Smith when he had an opportunity of benefiting this locality.

When the subject of the projected grand junction railroad, (extending from Belleville to Peterboro, and thence to Georgian Bay, opening up for us a direct route to the sea-board,) came before Parliament, see how much our local interests received at his hands.

Below will be found the votes of Mr. Smith against the Grand Junction, and the votes of Mr. Flint for it. Mr. Smith boasted in Cobourg that he had killed the Grand Junction—so he did. Mark this wolf in sheep's clothing.

At the third reading of the Grand Trunk Bill Mr. CONGER moved, seconded by Mr FLINT,—That all the words after "now" to the end of the question be left out, and the words recommitted to a committee of the whole house for the purpose of amending the 4th clause, by having the words "the Branch from Belleville to Peterborough," after the word "Bridge," inserted instead thereof.

In the YEAS we find FLINT, in the NAYS, SMITH!

AGAIN.

Mr. Conger moved in amendment to the Question, seconded by MR. FLINT That all the words after "Now" to the end of the Question be left out, and the words re-committed to a Committee of the whole House, for the purpose of amending the same, by inserting the words—Provided the said Grand Trunk Company shall have completed the whole of their contracts in this Province, after the word name, in the 22nd line of the fourth clause, inserted instead thereof.

Amongst the YEAS is the name of FLINT; amongst the NAYS is the name of SMITH!

AGAIN.

MR. A. A. DORION moved in amendment to the question, seconded by Mr. SANBORN —That all the words after "now" to the end of the question be left out, and the words "re-committed to a Committee of the whole House for the purpose of providing that in case of failure on the part of the Grand Trunk Company to complete the works and undertakings, and to fulfill its engagements mentioned in this Act, and in the Act of 1856, within the time therein specified, this Province may enforce its lien on the said Railway, and on all the works and property belonging to the said Company and to provide for a mode of disposing of the same, to satisfy the claims of the Province, and of the other creditors of the said Company; and further, to provide that nothing in this or in any previous Act shall be construed upon any person who may have made, or who may hereafter make, a loan to the said Company, the right of preventing the Province from enforcing its claims in the manner deemed most advantageous to protect the interests of the Province, and of the other creditors," inserted instead thereof.

Amongst the YEAS is the name of Billa FLINT; amongst the NAYS is the name of Sidney SMITH.

☞The above is a specimen of the man who seeks our votes on local grounds.

LATEST ARRIVAL.

The latest arrival of Mr. Smith's friends is Mr. Ralph Jones, the celebrated Parliament Bedding contractor. We are not informed whether he has brought any part of the $50,000 "emdrion" with him.

Vote for Billa Flint,

THE PEOPLE'S CANDIDATE.

ONE OF Mr. SMITH'S MEETINGS.

Handbills were put up on Monday calling a meeting for that night at Niblock's Hotel, "for a full, free and fair discussion of the respective candidates." At eight o'clock about 25 persons crowded the small apartment off the bar-room of the hotel, and at the head of the room sat Mr. Sidney Smith, supported on the left by Mr. Ralph Francis and on the right by a gentleman from Cobourg, a Customs officer we believe. A crowd began to collect, and the meeting was adjourned to the street, where the Postmaster General of Canada addressed a few electors and a great many boys on the importance of returning him to Parliament. Feeling that his talents were not appreciated there, and that his "fine perception of British practice could not be understood, he soon gave way for his lacquey Tom White who spoke for about half-an-hour to the great injury of his master, and to the disgust of all sensible persons who heard him speak. A gentleman, prolific of words and beard, followed, but he seems to have made little impression, for at the conclusion of the meeting three cheers were given for the Queen and three for Mr. Billa Flint.

☞Mr. DUNCAN MCKELLAR, of Warsaw, writes us stating that the Review's assertion that 4 or 5 rolays of liquor were served up while Mr. Flint was forming his committee in that place is false, and that the editor of that paper must have known it to have been so when he wrote the paragraph, for he was present at the meeting in question. Mr. McK. further states that to his knowledge "no liquor was taken into the room where the committee was forming."

CAUTION.

The most deliberate falsehoods against Mr. Flint are being put forth and freely circulated. We must caution the electors against believing the stories and lip-shots which will be circulated to lead voters astray. We will give as a sample the "misquotation" falsehood circulated by hand-bill, and in the Review paper. It is made to appear that at the Dummer Town Hall meeting Mr. Flint deliberately misquoted the Journals, and proceeds to say Col. Haultain "was compelled to admit that Mr. Flint had been guilty of a deliberate misquotation, and stated that his conscientious feelings would not allow him to conceal the fact!"

Of course the best witness in the case is the gentleman whose name is brought so prominently into question here, viz: Col. Haultain, and to him we leave the contradiction:

Peterboro, Sept. 13, 1861.

The mistake made by Mr. Flint in the Dummer Town Hall, and remarked by me might have been made by anyone, and I quite exonerate Mr. Flint from any willful misrepresentation on the matter, the general character of his votes bearing me out in such an opinion.

Mr. Flint did not read the quotation incorrectly, but his definition of the amendment was different from my own.

F. W. HAULTAIN.

What will the electors believe, what can the electors think of men charged with it had to admit that he had it only from hearsay, and instead of retracting the malignant falsehood, now reiterates the statement over the signature of his hearsay friends. Again, we say to the electors, believe no circumstantial slander or falsehood, and be on your guard against imposition.

☞Our friend B. A., alias Bachelor of Arts spreads another of his elegant letters before the readers of the Review.—It must be a great acquisition to that journal in having such a learned contributor.—We confess our indebtedness to this able writer, this prodigy of learning, whose rich classic style throws our own entirely into the shade,—we are indebted we say to him for a new idea which is contained in the postscript of his last letter. He calls our strictures on his letters "skim-milk and water" articles. We always thought that milk and water was weak enough, but it is the first time we have heard of diluting the milk before mixing it with water. We shall store away so useful an idea for future use. He thus notices our humble self: "The Examiner's skim milk and water articles reflecting on my letters are not worth noticing." Now, really, are they not? Why then go into an explanation, and attempt to fasten the blunders of spelling and syntax on the poor printer? That is unfair,—it is pusillanimous. Better that you had not noticed our strictures at all, than unfairly charge an innocent person with your errors. Your manuscript was at fault, and probably your blunders would have escaped notice, had you not undertook to read to the Trent electors homilies on learning. These were at once fit subjects for criticism, and the expose has made you feel rather contemptuously towards us. However, we cannot let you go yet. Your last homily will not pipe master, as coming from a man of letters—a not-clean learned man. To say nothing of the clumsy style, the indecent introduction of the old saw of "stinking fish" in it correct, or is it in good taste to use "he'd" for he would, "who's" for who is, "im't" for is not, when writing press? And what about "MacDougall obtruding himself and his revolutionary sentiments in a place where neither are wanted?" Now we want our friend not to make so much display of his talents. Let him take lessons in grammar and composition before he undertakes to give lectures on education. If he really has a degree it must have been obtained for something else than his English education. If Billa Flint can rise to the position he now occupies with only six weeks education, how is it that learned (?) men such as B. A. remain just where they were when they left School?

CONUNDRUM.

Sambo—Say, Gumbo, dere you know who be de best painter of fast colours in dis 'ere Division

A NEW GOVERNOR for CANADA.

It will be a source of joy to many that the imbecile Sir Edmund Head is to retire from the Province to give place, we fondly hope to a better man. Never has a Governor of Canada had so fine an opportunity to earn for himself a reputation, and never has one retired having left behind him less to approve or admire. A man apparently desirous of keeping the peace with[out]ly one party in the Province, and who never appeared to stand up for the rights of the people he was deputed to rule over, or the honor and integrity of the Empire of which this colony forms a part. If he had sought these, he never could have acted as he did in the disgraceful drama of 1856. He like the corrupt advisers then around him saved his bacon, in allowing their disgraceful doings, but the majority of the people of this Province felt that the Queen's Representative at the period referred to, acted partial in the extreme. Never was a Governor more thoroughly encircled by the old Family Compact, than has Sir Edmund Head by the coalition of Jno. A McDonald. He has been ruled and controlled by them, never daunting from them on any important measure. His only act approaching to independence of action was his refusal to allow the Brown-Dorion Administration an appeal to the Country. Had such an advice been given by John A. & Co., under similar circumstances, no one doubts for a moment but that it would have been received, Let him retire and pursue his theories of will and shall, for which he was better out out for, than ruling a people. Since the Colonial Secretary has seen Canada, may we not reasonably hope the selection which has been made in Lord Monck is a good one.

A Doggerel Ditty for Election Times.

THE ORANGE AND GREEN MIXURE A FAILURE!

O, Sidney Smith was a roving blade,
And the handsomest bully that ever was made;
To Belgium, France and Flanders he went,
On Post Office business, and pleasure intent.

Only fifty dollars a day he spent,—
He went as he came, and he came as he went,—
Yet to hear him boast of the deeds he has done,
You would think that he and Munchausen were one.

In the City of Cobourg he carried on trade,
And kept wagging the tail that his honour had made;
But in June in the year Eighteen Sixty-one,
He found that his trade and his credit were done.

Like a passenger pigeon northward he fled,
And again tried to set up the Parliament trade,
And further gave forth to the world that he dyed

The most beautiful color that ever was seen,
Nothing less than a mixture of Orange and Green;
And to prove to the world that he was not a myth,
He took whiskey and christened the new color Smith.

The Green he procured through the sons of the Church,
He got a few grains, but too little, I ween,
To make anthing out of the mixture but Green!

So Sidney broke down, and the Sheriff took stock,
And sold out in slump to a man from Madoc
Or somewhere beyond. You may all take the hint
Who the purchaser was; he was named Billa Flint!

When Flint set up shop he disposed of the Green,
And dyes the best colours that mankind has seen;
True Protestant colors that never will fade,
No wonder he meets with success in his Trade!

THE FORLORN HOPE.

MR. EDITOR,—The Hon. Postmaster General having failed in every attempt to form a union of the Catholics and Orangemen of this County, has at length resolved to get the Grand Master of the Orange body to Peterborough to give a finishing touch to the undertaking. The hon. gentleman, I perceive, is announced as per placards on the walls to address the electors here on Saturday first. On that occasion it is presumed by Mr. Smith that the insinuating logic of Mr. Cameron will be sufficient to overcome the scruples of the most fastidious admirer of King William of Glorious Memory. Unfortunately for the success of this, the last resort and forlorn hope of the man of the mail bags, his enthusiasts have been too zealous in his cause; they have not failed to intimate on all possible occasions that the Catholic vote has been secured, and that that body dare not record a vote against Mr. Smith. Consequently, I am certain that the respectable portion of the Orange body—particularly those who have no axes to grind on the Public Grindstone—will not, sentiment, be influenced in political matters by even the Grand Master himself.—There is a new era in the history of Orangeism when our Chief has to come to direct us for whom to record our votes. Truly, the Most Worshipful Grand Master must have been sadly misinformed about his brethren in this County, if he has come to the conclusion that they are too ignorant to judge for themselves. I therefore hazard my opinion in stating that Mr. Cameron may as well attempt to change the course of the Otonabee River as alter the general views of the Orange body in this County, as they owe their allegiance and obligation to a higher power than his.

AN ORANGEMAN.

Peterboro', Sept. 18, 1861.

"BORN AND BRED A GENTLEMAN."

FELLOW ELECTORS,

Happening to pass a certain Hotel in Peterboro the other night I was attracted by the words at the head of this letter, spoken forcibly to a gent. who has a sprinkling of "gentle blood" in him, by one on stock and "finely got up" as the one he was speaking in favor of, viz; the P.M. General, Mr. Sidney Smith. And this argument is being used among that class extensively.—"What!" they say, "vote for Billa Flint? Why, he is no more than any ordinary commoner, in fact he is a working man. Don't so disgrace yourself, but vote for Mr. Smith who was born and bred a gentleman." Well, I am a working man, and one who owns his bread by the sweat of his brow/big leave to address myself to my fellow working man, in behalf of the working men's candidate, Mr. Billa Flint.

We have two candidates before us, and I will not enter into their political qualifications, although I am convinced that those of Mr. Flint are the right ones. But, I say, let us throw these things aside, and take up the question just in the shape in which Mr. Smith's friends put it: "Mr. Flint is a working man." Thank goodness, the day when labor was looked upon as dishonorable has passed away. Labor is dignifying, and every one should feel it his duty to dignify labor.

The sleek, well-fed, well-paid, well-dressed loungers, and office-holders, may very nicely swarm over our country like the locusts of Egypt, sporting on the public money, and trying to buy us with our own money, but may a curse come upon us, may we be compelled to work yet harder to support ourselves and families, if we vote to keep in office that tribe of "born and bred gentlemen!"

Take a look at the picture of the two candidates. There stands Mr. Smith, a lawyer, a man who has all his life borne the reputation of being a land-shark, of whom we have too many in our country, and a great number too many in Parliament. What interest has he here? Echo answers what! As every one knows, he is a political gambler; he has taken up quarters here for a few days to play his political cards.—If we take the knave the loss will be our own.

NEW GOODS.

THE Subscriber offers for sale one of the nicest lots of Goods ever offered in Peterborough.

FAMILY GROCERIES,

Teas,
Sugars,
Coffee,
Tobacco
Spice of all kinds,
Herring,
Dry Fish,
Mackeral,
Salmon,

A NEW VARIETY OF

BOOTS AND SHOES,

and the nicest assortment of

CROCKERY

ever offered in Peterborough. All of which will be sold

Very Low for Cash!

G. W. ROBINSON.

Peterboro', Sept. 18, 1861. 38

FOR SALE.

SOUTH half of Lot No. 9, in the 2nd Con. of Smith, containing 100 acres. This Farm is beautifully situated about three miles from Peterborough; there are eighty acres cleared, and on the premises there are a good Stone House, three Barns and other Outhouses.

The north half of Lot No. 15, in the 7th Con., Smith. This Farm has eighty acres cleared, and is situated about seven miles from Peterborough.

For particulars apply to

JOSEPH KELSO,
or Bobcaygeon.
WM. TULLY, Jr.,
Monaghan.

September 18, 1861. 36

DR. MCKENZIE'S

DEAD SHOT WORM CANDY STICK!

price only 15 cents a stick, for sale at the Drug Store of

A. W. KEMPT.

Peterboro', Sept. 1861. 19

RETURN OF CONVICTIONS,

Made by Her Majesty's Justice of the Peace within the United Counties of Peterborough and Victoria, from the June Sessions, 1861, to the September Sessions, 1861.

NAME OF PROSECUTOR	NAME OF DEFENDANT	NATURE OF CHARGE.	DATE.	NAME CONVICTING JUSTICE.	FINE, AND WHEN PAID.	REMARKS.
Duncan Carmichel	George Doig, David Wood, Alex. Doig	Trespassing	Aug 3	Alex. Campbell, H. McDonald. John Wiley, Neil Smith	0 5 0 each	Forthwith
James Lancaster	John Soice	Injury to property	Aug 16.	W. Scott, F. Birdsall, J. Fife,	1 6	6..Forthwith..
Robert Finegan	Thos. Ray	Non-payment of statute labor.	July 8.	Robert Irwin, W. Foster	1 0	0..Forthwith..Time extended.
" "	Anthony McGlum	" " "	July 8.	do.,	0 15	0..Forthwith..
" "	Timothy Collins	" " "	July 8.	do.,	1 5	0..Forthwith..
William Shine	Martin Kinney	Assault	July 11.	do.,	1 5	0..Forthwith..
James Thorndike	David Armstrong	Leaving employment	July 16.	do.,	1 5	0.. ..Sent to Lock-up.
Robert Barris	John Finegan	Assault	Aug 26.	do.,	0 10	0..Forthwith..Fine remitted.
" "	Thos. Hutton	"	Aug 26.	do.,		..Dismissed.
Robert Finegan	Anthony McGlum	Malicious injury to property	Aug 31.	do.,	3 0	0..Forthwith..Time extended.
" "	William May	" " "	Aug 31.	do.,	3 0	0..Forthwith..Time extended.
" "	William Shine	" " "	Aug 31.	do.,	1 5	0..Forthwith..Time extended.
" "	John Masterson	" " "	Aug 31.	do.,	1 5	0..Forthwith..Time extended.
" "	John Cuddy	" " "	Aug 31.	do.,	1 5	0..Forthwith..Time extended.
Alexander Dennistoun	Oliver Vandrin	Leaving employment	June 21.	A. S. Fraser	1 0	0..Forthwith..County Treasurer.
" "	John Lafountain	" "	June 21.	do.,	1 0	0..Forthwith..County Treasurer.
" "	Alex. Pelon	" "	June 21.	do.,	1 0	0..Forthwith..County Treasurer.
Jane Edmison	Patrick McGuire	Assault	June 25.	do.,		Sent to Gaol.
Alexander Dennistoun	William Huard	Leaving employment	July 6.	do.,		Sent to Gaol.
William Armstrong	James Irvin	Assault	July 18.	do.,	1 5	0..County Treasurer.
William Buck	John Doras	"	Aug 12.	do.,	0 2	6..County Treasurer.
Adam King	John Holland	Cruelty to animals	Aug 24.	do.,	0 10	0..County Treasurer.
" "	Michael Holland	"	Aug 24.	do.,	0 5	0..County Treasurer.
" "	Daniel Holland	"	Aug 24.	do.,	0 5	0..County Treasurer.
Michael Callahan	John Carnegy	Assault	Sep 2.	do.,	0 5	0..County Treasurer.
Anthony McGlum	Robert Finegan	Selling Liquor on Sunday	Aug 28.	P. McHugh	5 0	0..one month..½ Treas. of Ops, ½ to Infor.
Thomas Craig	F. Birdsall	Non-payment of Wages	June 24.	J. Coughlan, H. Fowlds	3 0	0..Forthwith..T. Craig.
Henry Crocker	J. B. Wilson, C. Hyke,	Assault and Battery	July 23.	do.,	2 9	6..Forthwith..
Michael Donovan	M. Minor	Non-payment of Wages	Aug 6.	do.,	0 12	9..Forthwith..M. Donovan.
James McKelvey	R. Welsh	Assault	July 29.	P. M. Grover, P. Pearce	0 10	0..30 days....Not paid.
Wm. Doherty	Thomas Miles	Non-payment of Wages	Aug 5.	do.,	1 19	3..10 days....Complainant.
George Bunker	James Sparrels	Leaving employment	Aug 30.	do.,	0 10	0..10 days....Not paid.
Town of Peterborough	Jas. Connors	Drunk and disorderly	June 11.	Charles Perry, Mayor	0 5	0..Forthwith..Not paid.
Jos. Bulger	Jas. Devlin	Non-payment of Wages	June 11.	do.,	3 15	0..21 days....Not paid.
Mrs. Simons	Jas. Simons	Drunk, disorderly, & abusive.	June 15.	do.,	1 0	0..Forthwith..Treasurer of Peterboro'.
The Town	Daniel Carrol	Drunk and disorderly	June 15.	do.,	0 5	0..Forthwith..Committed.
"	Ephm. Wilson	"	June 15.	do.,	0 5	0..Forthwith..Committed.
A. Dennistoun	Wolferd Theord	Leaving employment	June 15.	do.,	0 10	0..Forthwith..Committed.
The Town	James Ryan	Disorderly	June 15.	do.,	2 0	0..Forthwith..Committed.
Oliver Maguire	Thos. Higgins	Disorderly, & injury to property	June 17.	do.,	1 15	0..Forthwith..Treasurer of Peterboro'.
The Town	Thos. Priestly	Interfering with constable	June 18.	do.,	5 0	0..Forthwith..Not paid.
"	Andrew Kerr	"	June 18.	do.,	5 0	0..Forthwith..Not paid.
"	Alex. Pervorat	Fighting on the streets	June 21.	James Edwards, Esq	0 10	0..Forthwith..Treasurer of Peterboro'.
Mrs. Deny	William Deny	Drunk and disorderly	June 21.	Charles Perry, Mayor	0 5	0..Forthwith..Committed.
The Town	Francis Delair	"	June 26.	do.,	0 10	0..Forthwith..Committed.
Mary McIntyre	James Fitzgeral	Non-payment of wages	June 26.	do.,	3 16	0..21 days....The Plaintiff.
Jno. Benson	John McGregor	"	June 28.	do.,	3 0	0..21 days....The Plaintiff.
W. H. Benson	"	"	July 1.	do.,	6 10	0..21 days....The Plaintiff.
The Town	Jas. McEvelay	Drunk and disorderly	July 3.	James Edwards, Esq	0 5	0..Forthwith..Not paid.
Edward Cassiday	John McGregor	Non-payment of Wages	July 6.	Chas. Perry, Esq.	1 10	0..21 days....Not paid.
Mary Nicks	Isaac Miller	Assault	July 5.	do.,	0 5	0..Forthwith..Committed.
The Town	Michael Shehan	Drunk and Disorderly	July 10.	A S Fraser, Esq.	0 5	0..Forthwith..Not paid.
"	A. T. Brooks	Selling liquor without license.	July 15.	Chs Perry & J Edwards, Esq's	12 10	0..one week..Committed.
"	Parley J. Ayres	Erecting wooden Building	July 15.	Charles Perry, Esq.	12 10	0..two weeks..Not paid.
"	John Curtain	Selling liquor without license.	July 17.	Chs Perry & J Edwards, Esqs	12 10	0..one week..Not paid.
Michael Flannighan	Denis Brennin	Assault	July 17.	Chas Perry, Esq.	0 0	6..Forthwith..Treasurer of Peterboro'.
Elizabeth Potter	Madame Potvain	"	July 19.	"	0 10	0..Forthwith..Not paid.
The Town	Gabriel Chartrain	Selling liquor without license.	July 20.	Chs Perry & J Edwards, Esqs	12 10	0..3 days....Committed.
"	David Grady	Drunk and disorderly	July 20.	Charles Perry, Esq.	0 10	0..Forthwith..Treasurer of Peterboro'.
"	Michael O'Brian	Using obscene & profane lang.	July 20.	"	1 10	0..Forthwith..Treasurer of Peterboro'.
"	Jas. Simons	Drunk and disorderly	July 22.	"	2 10	0..Forthwith..Committed.
"	Justus Dunn	"	July 22.	"	2 10	0..Forthwith..Committed.
"	William Lilly	"	July 22.	"	2 10	0..Forthwith..Committed.
"	Martin Walsh	"	July 22.	"	2 10	0..Forthwith..Committed.
"	John Hodson	Selling liquors without license.	July 22.	Chs Perry & J Edward, Esqs	12 10	0..Forthwith..Appealed.
"	Dennis Brennin	Fighting in Police Office.	July 22.	Charles Perry, Esq.	2 0	0..Forthwith..Not paid.
A. Smith	Louis Laplante	Cruelty to animals	July 22.	"	1 5	0..Forthwith..Not paid.
The Town	Joseph Shaw	Fighting in Police Office.	July 22.	"	1 0	0..Forthwith..Not paid.
Baptiste Emonde	Moses Jackson & wife.	Assault	July 23.	"	0 15	0..Forthwith..Not paid.
The Town	Joseph Portrais	Selling liquor without license.	July 27.	Chs Perry & J Edwards, Esqs	12 10	0..Forthwith..Appealed.
Madame Reneau	Francis De Lean	Assault	Aug 8.	Charles Perry, Esq.	2 0	0..Forthwith..Treasurer of Peterboro'.
Wm. Croft	William Brown	Assault upon child	Aug 10.	do.,	0 5	0..Forthwith..Not paid.
The Town	Sarah Smith	Vagrant	Aug 15.	do.,		..Committed.
Mrs. Lasher	Mrs. O'Brian	Abusive & profane laugnage	Aug 15.	do.,	0 5	0..Forthwith..Treasurer of Peterboro'.
Martin McDonald	James Bauvai	Interfering with constable	Aug 24.	do.,	3 15	0..Forthwith..Not paid.
The Town	Alexis Cope	Disorderly about Town Hall	Sep 6.	do.,	0 2	6..Forthwith..Treasurer of Peterboro'.
"	Robt. Redhead	"

A true copy of the Minute Book, is a correct Return of the Convictions, filed in this office, between the June Sessions, 1861 and the September Sessions, 1861.

C. A. WELLER, Clerk of the Peace, U. C. of P. & V.

Office of the Clerk of the Peace for the U. C. of P. & V., Sept. 18, 1861.

200 ACRES

OF

LAND FOR SALE,

IN THE

VICINITY OF THE TOWN OF PETERBOROUGH.

THE Subscriber offers for sale, his Farm, being composed of Lot No. 26, in the 12th Concession of the Towaship of Otonabee, with a frontage of nearly a mile, along the main travelled road leading to Rice Lake, Keene, Allandale, Westwood, Norwood and Hastings, and bounded on the west by the Cobourg and Peterborough Railway.

There are about 100 Acres cleared and under cultivation; the land is well watered and well drained; there is a substantial board fence along the front and up the centre of the Lot, and a large Frame Barn and other buildings upon it. Also a suitable for respectable residences, in full view of the Town of Peterborough and the Village of Ashburnham.

YOUNG ORCHARD.

THERE ARE

SEVERAL BUILDING SITES!

A sufficient instalment will be required at the time of sale from purchasers taking the whole or large portions of the Lot, and the remainde as shall be agreed upon. A Deed will be given and a Mortgage taken.

If the above Lot, or any portion thereof, remain unsold

ON MONDAY, the 28th day of OCTOBER Next,

the subscriber will offer the same for sale on that day by

PUBLIC AUCTION,

on the premises, at 12 o'clock, noon, to the highest bidder,

IN LOTS OF TEN ACRES EACH

or in larger portions to suit purchasers, in the following order:

The East half of the Lot will be sold first, beginning with Park Lot No. 1, at the north east corner, and taking the Lots in consecutive order to the centre of the Concession, after which the West half will be offered for sale, commencing at the eastern limit of the Cobourg and Peterborough Railway, and numbering the Lots as described in the Map, eastward to the centre of the Concession. A Plan of the Lots may be seen and and other information obtained on application at my office in the Court House.

WALTER SHERIDAN.

Peterborough, 10th Sept., 1861. 38

AUCTION.

THE following valuable Farm known as the "McCormick Farm," being the West half of Lot No. 24, in the 6th Concession of Fenelon, will be offered for sale by Public Auction, if not previously disposed of by private sale, on Friday, the 20th day of September, inst., at Fournier's Hotel: in the town of Lindsay.

The above contains by admeasurement 100 Acres, be the same more or less, of which about 50 Acres are cleared and under cultivation.—There is a good and a well, with a never failing supply of spring water thereon. This property is in a very desirable situation, being only four miles from Fenelon Falls, and three from Balsam Lake; admirably situated for supplying farm produce of all kinds to the Lumberers who use head quarters are in the immediate vicinity.

LOG HOUSE AND BARN,

The terms will be liberal, and made known at the time of sale, or on application as under. For particulars in the meantime apply to

T. A. HUDSPETH, Esq.,
Barrister, &c., Lindsay.

or to the proprietor,

E. G. M. CONWAY, Esq.,
Peterborough

30

WOOD TURNING

CHEAP FOR CASH.

THE undersigned wishes to inform his numerous friends and the public in general that he is now prepared to do any description of Wood Turning for

BUILDINGS OR FURNITURE.

Also, Ripping Lumber to any width or thickness; Furniture made to order, at the lowest Cash prices. Fine Wash-boards of the very best quality always on hand.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

☞ Shop in Ashburnham, under D. Doran's Woolen Factory.

W. F. MANLEY.

Ashburnham, Sept. 18, 1861. 36

WANTED.

A GOOD STEADY PLOUGHMAN AND general Farm hand may find permanent employment on application to

GEO. BISON,
Lot 21, 6th Con., Otonabee.

Sept. 12, 1861. 37

WANTED!

100,000 BUSHELS

OF

WHEAT!

W. CLUXTON.

Peterboro, Sept. 19, 1861.

DIRECT STEAM COMMUNICATION WITH

GLASGOW.

Anchor Line of Steam Packet Ships, sailing regularly between

MONTREAL, QUEBEC, AND GLASGOW.

Steerage 25 Dollars — Steerage 25 Dollars

Steamers.	Tons.	H. Powers.	Com.
United Kingdom	1455	300	James Ray,
John Bell,	1102	300	Edward Scott

THE "UNITED KINGDOM"

will sail from Quebec for Glasgow, on

TUESDAY, 15th Oct., 1861.

Rates of passage from Quebec to Glasgow:

SALOON CABIN.....$60 00
INTERMEDIATE.....30 00
STEERAGE, (including an abundant supply of cooked provisions.....25 00
Children in proportion.

Return Tickets at reduced rates. Berths not secured till paid for. Each ship carries a duly qualified surgeon.

For freight and passage apply to

G. & D. SHAW,
16 Common Street,
MONTREAL

September 18th, 1861. 36

OTONABEE MILLS.

THE SUBSCRIBER has pleasure in informing his friends and the public that his MILLS are again in operation, and that he will be glad to attend to the calls of all old and new customers. Particular attention will as formerly be paid to Gristing and Custom Work, and good fresh ground will be kept on hand for retailing, which will be delivered at any place in Peterborough or Ashburnham, upon orders being left, with the money, at the Mills, or at his Store.

FAMILY FLOUR

R. D. ROGERS.

Ashburnham, Sept. 12, 1861.

BOARD.

A LADY RESIDING IN A CENTRAL PART of the Town will be happy to receive a few respectable Gentlemen, as Boarders. Every attention will be paid to make them comfortable. Terms moderate. For particulars apply at this office.

Peterborough, September, 1861.

Hurrah for Billa Flint!

OR ANY OTHER MAN

Who wants cheap Boots & Shoes.

J. T. STENSON

Is on hand again in the Building formerly occupied by the Toronto Bank,

One door west of Jeffrey & Co.'s Hardware Store, Hunter Street.

Peterborough, Aug. 20th, 1860. 35

CHEAP GOODS

AT

W. CLUXTON'S.

SELLING OFF

THE REMAINDER OF

SUMMER GOODS,

AND THE

GOODS SLIGHTLY DAMAGED,

AT THE LATE FIRE, AT

☞ Greatly Reduced Prices!

GREAT BARGAINS WILL BE GIVEN.

Peterboro, Aug. 21, 1861. 34

FOR MONTREAL ONLY

CASH OR Produce

CASH STORE,

ONE Price

ONLY. Hunter Street, Peterboro.

JOHN CAMPBELL

WOULD take this opportunity of thanking the inhabitants of Peterboro' and surrounding country for past favors, and would beg to intimate that he has received a large addition to his stock, on such favorable terms as enable him to offer goods at such

LOW PRICES

as to convince every one who examines them

☞ That he cannot be beat in the Town.

The following comprise a few of the articles generally in stock:

West of England Broad Cloth, Cassimeres, Tweeds, Sattinets, Drills, Denims, Stripped Cottons, Ginghams, Prints, Factory Cotton, Orleans, Cobourgs, Red and White Flannels, Cotton Warp, &c.

READY-MADE CLOTHING,

Boots and Shoes, Silk and Felt Hats, &c.

TEAS, TOBACCOES, SUGARS,

Soap, Candles, Raisins Currants, Coffee, Rice, and other articles too numerous to mention.

☞ Remember the Spot: Next door to McKellar & Cameron's, Hunter Street.

Peterboro, Aug. 21, 1861. 34

GLASGOW HOUSE!

GREAT CLEARANCE SALE AT

WILLIAMSONS

CHEAP CASH STORE.

Nearly Opposite Menzies' Book Store,

GEORGE STREET.

TREMENDOUS BARGAINS

IN

DRY GOODS,

READY MADE CLOTHING, BOOTS AND SHOES, GROCERIES AND CONFECTIONERIES.

JOHN WILLIAMSON

IN returning his sincere thanks to to his numerous friends and the public generally for the liberal patronage he has received, takes this method of calling their attention to the balance of his stock saved from the late fire, through the exertions of his well-wishers, and which he is determined to sell at a Great Sacrifice!

☞ Call and see, and be convinced.

Peterboro', Aug. 21, 1861. 33

TO RENT.

A GOOD WATER POWER

—WITH—

Building & Water-wheel,

within three hours drive of Peterboro'. For further particulars apply at the office of this paper

Peterboro, Aug. 30, 1861. 36

WHOLESALE & RETAIL

Grocery Establishment!

HENTHORN'S BUILDING.

THE undersigned offers for sale, at Reduced Prices, Refined Loaf Sugar, Broken Loaf Ground Loaf, Dutch Crushed, Crushed, Bright Porto Rico and Muscovado.

—ALSO,—

a choice lot of Family Flour, in barrels and small sacks, containing 50 and 25 lbs. each.

JAMES CAMPBELL.

INN-KEEPERS

Supplied with every description of WINES and SPIRITS from the choicest Champagne to Common Whiskey, in any quantities, and at the very cheapest rates by

JAMES CAMPBELL.

August 1, 1861. 31

STOLEN OR STRAYED.

ON Thursday night or Friday morning last, from a field belonging to Mr. Stewart, near Ashburnham, a about 14 hands high, with a heavy mane and tail, and a white stripe in the face. She is about 8 years old, partly French. Whoever will give such information that will lead to the recovery of the above mare to Mr. Hoskings, Tavern-keeper, or to John Vospe, at Allen's Hotel, will be suitably rewarded.

DARK BROWN MARE,

Aug. 14, 1861. 33

DR. S. DELLENBAUGH,

The Old German Physician,

OF BUFFALO, N. Y.,

Will be in the following places in September:

Bowmansville, 17th, Waverly House,
Port Hope, 18th, Church's Hotel.
Millbrook, 19th and 20th, Richardson's Hotel
Peterboro, 21st to 24th, Cassie's Hotel.
Lindsay, 25th and 26th, Jewett's Hotel,

Where he may be consulted upon all forms of CHRONIC Diseases.

Aug. 28, 1861. 35

MONTREAL

ASSURANCE COMPANY.

ESTABLISHED BY SPECIAL ORDINANCE IN 1840.

CAPITAL STOCK, $800,000.

PAID UP.....$80,000.

Head Office, No. 9, Great St. James St.
MONTREAL.

Wm. MURRAY...Manager.

THE undersigned begs to intimate his appointment as agent in Peterboro', for the above company, and is authorized to insure Buildings, Merchandize, Household Furniture, and Personal Property, against loss or damage by fire, at rates as low as those of any responsible office.

For further particulars, &c., &c., apply to

W. H. SCOTT,
Agent.

Office in Burnham's Block, opposite the Review Office.

Peterboro, Aug. 26, 1861. 35

Birth.

At Lindsay, on the 14th inst., the wife of Mr. J. M. Timpson, of a son.

Lightning! Lightning!

PROTECTION TO LIFE AND PROPERTY.

200,000 Feet

OF THE NEW PATENT ENGLISH ELECTRO-GALVANIZED, ANNEALED AND CARBONIZED

LIGHTNING RODS

JUST ARRIVED FROM ENGLAND, WITH

SPRATTS RENOWNED

PLATINA TIPPED POINT!!

AND ENLARGED

INSULATORS & ATTACHMENTS.

THIS ROD is prepared in England with especial reference to its great conducting powers; is highly approved and recommended by the best authorities. The white non-corroding surface prevents rust, and greatly increases its conducting power, completely obviating the great objections to the old rod. Professor Croft had a Spiral Copper Rod removed from the University Buildings, Toronto, and substituted this, on account of the perfect conducting power of the surface, and not being liable to rust. One real advantage gained by the fine conducting qualities of this rod, with Spratt's Joint, arises from the fact that it constantly receives and silently conducts to the earth, the positive electricity of the surrounding atmosphere generated by an approaching thunder cloud surcharged with this element of destruction and death, thereby drawing off, draining and lessening the fountain, easing the cloud of its constant accumulation, allowing it to pass over our heads in safety, which might otherwise have burst upon us in all its fury. But if it fail in this by reason of too great accumulation of electricity, and the discharge takes place, it conducts all safely to the ground, being a preventative in most cases and a cure in an emergency. We have erected them on the Crystal Palace, and Custom House, at Hamilton, as well as many of the best buildings in this city. By importing largely for cash, we are enabled to erect them at a trifling advance upon the Carbonized Rod. Common Iron Rods, such as are being offered by parties from the States we do not erect, as we consider them nearly useless. Good Rods, properly erected, proved 25 feet from the point.

$1,000 CHALLENGE!

to the world to produce as good a Rod, for the same price, as the Galvanized Rod, which we are now prepared to offer to the public through our authorized agents; allow no men to protect your buildings who has not our certificate of agency, with caution on the back against impositions. Orders sent to our address from the principal cities of C. W., will be attended to by O. R. Kendall in person, without extra charge. We submit two of our numerous references.

PIPER & KINDALL,
93 Young Street.

Toronto, Sept. 13, 1860.

I HEREBY CERTIFY THAT I HAVE SUPerintended the erection of Galvanized Iron Rods on the University Buildings, at Toronto, preferring the Galvanized Iron to ordinary Iron Rods, on account of the perfect conducting power of the surface, and from their not being liable to rust.

The advantage resulting from these qualities is more than commensurate with the increased cost.

(Signed) HENRY CROFT, D.C.L.
Prof. of Chemistry.

PETERBORO', July 29th, 1861.

The agents for the firm of Piper & Kendall, Toronto, have put up for me two of their Galvanized Lightning Rods so highly recommended by Professor Croft. I consider them preferable to all others. The improved Attachments and Insulators, with Spratt's Platina Tipped Point must give them great additional security.

J. BROWNE, M. D.

I entirely concur in Dr. Browne's observations,—Also have bought two of the same Rods for my two cottages on Brock Street.

A. NIBLOCK.

Toronto, June 29th, 1861. 31- 3m.

CORPORATION DEBENTURES! FOR SALE.

THE Commissioners of the Town Trust of the Town of Peterborough, are prepared to issue under the Authority of the Act of Provincial Parliament 24 Vic. cap. 61,

The sum of Fourteen Thousand Dollars payable in from one to ten years after date. The Debentures will be issued in amounts to suit parties desirous of investing, having coupons attached, bearing interest payable half yearly, at the rate of six per centum per annum.

Application to be made to

CHARLES PERRY,
Mayor.

Mayor's Office, Peterboro, Aug. 20, 1861.

IRON.

BAND, Hoop, and Bar, Round, Half-round, and Square Iron. A large stock on hand and for sale at

R. HAMILTON'S.

Peterboro, May, 1861. 22

INSPECTOR'S NOTICE.

THE undersigned hereby gives notice that he will make the tour of examination for the inspection of

WEIGHTS & MEASURES,

in the County of Peterboro' at the dates herein specified, when parties using Weights & Measures are required to present them for inspection. He will be at the following places on the days respectively:—

Norwood	Sept.	26 & 27
Hastings & Westwood	"	28
Allandale and Keene	"	30
Ashburnham.....On afternoon	Oct.	1 & all 2
Springville	"	3
Bridgenorth & Lakefield	"	4
Warsaw & South Dummer	"	5
Peterborough	"	7 to 19

N.B.—All parties not presenting their weights and measures will be prosecuted according to law.

WILLIAM SARGENT,
Inspector of Weights & Measures
For the County of Peterboro'.

Norwood, Aug 29, 1861.

NEW GROCERY,

Wine & Liquor Store.

JAMES STEWART respectfully informs the inhabitants of Lakefield and its vicinity that he has opened an establishment in the premises lately occupied by A. Morrow, and will constantly keep on hand a first-class assortment of consisting in part of

GROCERIES,

TEAS, SUGARS, WINES,

—TOBACCO.—

and every description of Family Groceries, the whole of which, together with a general assortment of Crockery, Glassware, &c, will be sold at a very small advance upon cost, and at prices far below anything hitherto known in Lakefield for Goods of the same quality. As the sales will be exclusively Cash, there will be no second price.

Lakefield, Aug. 12, 1861. 33

WAR WITH CANADA!

FOR SALE.

THE east half of lot No. 4, north side of Elizabeth Street, in Ashburnham. There is a Good Frame House, with good cellar, stable, sheds and well on the premises. For particulars apply to

PHILLIP SARGENT,
Proprietor.

Ashburnham, Aug. 1861. 32

WANTED.

A SITUATION as Coachman and Groom.—Has a good knowledge of gardening. Can furnish the most unexceptionable references.

Address,

X. Y. Z., drawer 17.
Peterboro P.O., C.W.

Aug. 27, 1861. 34

GROCERIES

AND LIQUORS.

THE subscribers beg leave to state to their customers that owing to late losses by fire, &c., that they will

After the first of October next,

conduct their business strictly on

THE CASH PRINCIPLE,

after which date all accounts will be closed. All parties due them by Note or Book Account will please call and make an early settlement as all debts due must be collected immediately. As by selling for cash they will incur no bad debts, and therefore be enabled to sell at

☞ LOWER PRICES! ☜

All parties who favor them with their custom may depend upon getting

GOOD GOODS

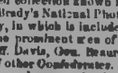
At Lower Rates than heretofore!

All kinds of Produce taken in exchange for goods, and on account.

GLOVER & ROBINSON,
BURNHAM'S BLOCK.

Peterboro, Sept, 1861. 37-tf.

THINGS TO BE REMEMBERED!



GEO. A COX,

IN returning his sincere thanks for the very liberal patronage he has received since commencing business, would respectfully intimate that he still continues to practice Photography in all its different branches, in a manner that cannot be surpassed. He would also have it remembered that it was him was awarded at the last Fall Show for the BEST SPECIMEN

THE DIPLOMA

Photography

which includes not only Ambrotypes, but all the different styles of Pictures taken by means of light, without regard to the chemical agency employed. And he is still determined to merit the decision of only of the judges, but of all who may favor him with a call that he is the place to go when you want

A FIRST-RATE PICTURE!

IN TO

Cox's Excelsior Sky Light

GALLERY,

in Burnham's Block, over Maloney's Store.—And last, though not least, if you want to get a picture that will stand the test of time, and one worthy of our flourishing town in this advanced age, you must go to Cox's Gallery and the only place in town they can be got. So all who wish to live with posterity go and get

☞ GET A GENUINE PHOTOGRAPH! ☜

A GOOD PICTURE & CASE

For 50 Cents and upwards!

A large assortment of cases always on hand. Entrance same as to the Montreal Telegraph Office. Peterboro, Aug. 8th, 1861. 32

FOR SALE.

THE subscriber offers for sale the east half of Lot No. 30, in the 9th Con. Otonabee, containing 106 ACRES, 60 of which are cleared and well fenced, and in a good state of cultivation. There are on the premises a good Dwelling House, and a new Log Barn with stables under.

For further particulars apply at the Examiner Office, or to the proprietor on the premises.

JOHN PENNECHY.

Aug. 21, 1861. 34

THE HEROES OF PEACE,

AND

The Heroes of War!

E. ANTHONY, No. 501, New York, is now publishing, in addition to other portraits the celebrated collection known in Europe and America as Brady's National Photographic Portrait Gallery, in which is included Portraits of nearly all the prominent men of America, not excepting Jeff. Davis, Gen. Beauregard, Floyd, and a host of other Confederates. Price of Portraits $3 00 per dozen. Can be sent by mail

SCENES OF THE WAR FOR THE UNION,

are published, card size, and in stereoscopic form. Also,—Stereoscopic Views of Scenes in Paris, London, and in other parts of England and France; in Scotland, Ireland, Wales, Holland, Switzerland, Spain, on the Rhine, Athens, Egypt, Turkey, the Holy Land, China, India Cuba, &c., &c., ad infinitum.

OUR INSTANTANEOUS STEREOSCOPIC VIEWS ARE THE GREATEST WONDER OF THE AGE.

These are taken in the fortieth part of a second, and the rushing of water, the moving of vehicles or the march of an army, does not in the slightest degree affect the taking of these views.—☞ They are sold for $3 00 per dozen.

We have also on hand and manufacture the largest assortment of Stereoscopes, Photographic Albums, and Photographic Materials in the United States, and perhaps in the world.

Catalogues, containing a list of all our Portraits, Views, Stereoscopic, &c., sent free by mail on receipt of a stamp.

E. ANTHONY, 501 Broadway,
near St. Nicholas Hotel, N. Y.

Sept., 1

Vote for Bills Flint,

THE PEOPLE'S CANDIDATE.

A HAVRE PACKET SHIP BURNED.

LOSS $150,000—THE CREW ARRESTED—SUSPECTED INCENDIARISM.

(From the N. Y. Evening Post.)

The ship William Tell, Captain Bonney, belonging to the line of Havre packets, while lying off pier 8 North River, outward bound, having a full cargo of cotton, grain, &c., took fire at about two o'clock this a.m. near the forward hatch, and was burned to the water's edge.

Upon the discovery of the fire the Union ferry boat, Montague, Captain James Benner, immediately proceeded to the assistance of the burning ship, and succeeded in taking off the crew and passengers, with most of their baggage together with the captain's instruments. Subsequently the steamer Pacific, of the same line, towed the burning ship ashore to the south side of Governor's Island, where she now lies with a heavy list to starboard. All her spars and rigging are gone, and the hull is burned through to her lower deck.

The Harbor Police boats, commanded by Coxswains Nesbitt and Hodge, also boarded the burning ship, and succeeded in rescuing the passengers, baggage, and a portion of the cargo. They also arrested the crew, 22 in number, and conveyed them to the office of Marshal Murray.

The William Tell had shipped her crew on Saturday. Most of them came on board in an intoxicated condition, usual to such occasions, and one of them made so much disturbance that the second mate caused him to be placed in irons. He was relieved some hours afterwards. Two others complained of having been "shanghaied"—defrauded of their advance money by the individuals who had caused them to be placed on board the ship. Several others had sailed with the vessel before, and the captain praises them warmly.

When the fire broke out, the men were in the forepart of the ship, and the passengers, seven in number, in the cabin at the stern. At six o'clock they were dismissed. The fire originated in the forepeak, in a quantity of hay which lay there. No one had any business at that spot for five hours prior to the bursting out of the fire, and there is no ground for supposing it to have occured by accident or carelessness.

The number of persons on board was thirty-two—the second mate, third mate, boatswain, twenty two seamen and seven passengers. The suspicion of the officers implicates no one specially, and, therefore, it is probable they will be set at liberty, unless some disclosures take place or some new facts come to light.

The William Tell was built in 1850, and is now eleven years old. She was in good condition, and her value was estimated at $45,000. She was partially insured. The value of her cargo was about $100 000. What portion of it was burned has not yet been ascertained; nor the amount of the insurance. The manifest of the vessel was as follows:—

101 bushels corn, 33,012 bushels wheat, 137,594 lbs. tallow, 84,530 do lard, 2,151 bbls. flour, 50 bbls hops, 85 bags mustard seed, 28 bbls potash, 921 bags Quercitron bark, 7,018 bills whalebone, 761 bbls oil, 3,800 staves, 1,092 bills slating, 14 cases sewing machines 4 cases books, 7 do merchandize 2 cases tencers, 1 do furs, 5 bales cotton, 1 case of watches, 3 cases containing a carriage, 1 case cigars.

The origin of the fire will be thoroughly investigated by the proper authorities.

RECOGNITION OF THE SOUTH.

From the New York Tribune.

Advices from our Minister in London indicate a certain, if not speedy, recognition of the Confederate States, as an independent Power by the British Government.—But there is in this nothing to surprise or discourage.

The tendencies of the British Government have not been a secret. The success or failure of the Jeff. Davis rebellion depends on its power at home, not on the favour with which it may be regarded abroad.

A recognition by Great Britain would doubtless give it a certain degree of moral support, but would neither feed nor clothe its armies. Wait a little, and we may have news to send abroad that will neutralize the influence of that on which the British Ministery is now disposed to act. We expect no favour from Europe, and have sought none.

Other American journals write in the same strain, and some even go further, and consider the recognition on the part of European powers as an event which would confirm no cause of complaint on the part of the United States, much less of war.—How very different is the conduct of these writers now from what it was at the commencement of the struggle, when they boasted that in a few weeks, or months at least, the rebels would be completely crushed! They were then ready to fight all creation, and spoke most insultingly of Spain, France, and England in particular. The Americans now feel that a war with one belligerent at a time is quite enough for them to manage; and that more than a million of dollars a day for such expenses will be an inconvenient sum to furnish for any great length of time, especially as an American Loan in England would be anything but popular.

SOLD AGAIN!—A traveller called at the Windmill tavern, in Hampshire, England, and told them to get him a dinner worth his money. The landlord thinking this would be a profitable customer, set before him an excellent repast, consisting of all the delicacies of the season, to which the traveller did ample justice. When he had finished, the landlord presented his "little bill," and the traveller presented him a sixpence. "How is this?" replied the host; "your dinner comes to 15s. 9d." "No," answered the other, "I expressly ordered a dinner worth my money, and I assure this sixpence is all the money I have in the world." The landlord finding that was victimized, thought it was useless to argue the matter further, and consented to be the loser, on his condition, viz., that the guest should go and cheat the landlord of the Red (lion enemy) of a dinner likewise. "I cheated him of a breakfast this morning, and he gave me five shillings to pay you a visit," replied the traveller.

ROOM PAPER AND Paper Window Blinds.

THE subscriber begs leave to call the attention of the public to his stock of new Room Papers for 1861. Also, a large lot of Plain and Fancy Window Blinds. Also, all the papers for this town.

THOS MENZIES.

Peterboro', June, 1861.

DIRECT STEAM COMMUNICATION WITH GLASGOW.

Another line of Steam Packet Ships, sailing regularly between MONTREAL, QUEBEC, AND GLASGOW

Steerage 25 Dollars. Steerage 25 Dollars.

Ships.	Tons.	H. Powers.	Cos.
United Kingdom	1856	200	James Ray,
John Bull,	1491	350	Edward Scott

THE "JOHN BELL"

will sail from Quebec for Glasgow on TUESDAY, 17th Sept., 1861.

Rates of passage from Quebec to Glasgow:
SALOON CABIN $60 00
INTERMEDIATE 30 00
STEERAGE, (including an abundant supply of cooked provisions) 25 00
Children in proportion.

Return Tickets at reduced rates. Berths not secured till paid for. Each ship carries a duly qualified surgeon.

For freight and passage apply to
G. & D. SHAW,
16 Common Street,
MONTREAL

Aug. 28th, 1861.

EMPLOYMENT.

$40 A MONTH!

AGENTS WANTED!

WE want an active Agent in every County in the United States and Canada, to sell the Franklin Sewing Machine. To a limited number of travelling agents we will pay a salary of Forty Dollars a month and all expenses.

To local agents a commission of 20 per cent, in all sales.

Every machine is warranted to give universal satisfaction, and kept in repair six months.—Recent improvements renders this machine the cheapest and most popular in the market. For full particulars and a permanent business, address, with stamp for return letter,

HARRIS BROTHERS,
Sole agents Franklin Sewing Machine Co.
Box 186 Boston, Mass.

July, 1863. 28

NO YANKEE HUMBUG!

PROSPECTUS

OF A NEW AND ACCURATE, ILLUSTRATED TOPOGRAPHICAL AND STATISTICAL

Map of Upper Canada,

TOGETHER WITH A DESCRIPTIVE MAP AND DIRECTORY OF THE TOWNSHIPS OF

N'H & S'H MONAGHAN & OTONABEE.

CONLIN, BONNEY & Co., of Toronto, propose to publish the above work, drawn on a large scale from the most recent and accurate surveys, exhibiting all Post Offices, Money Order Offices, and Telegraph Stations throughout the Province, corrected from the latest official authority; also, the various lines of Railway, Railway Stations, with the correct distance between each, Canals, Plank and Macadamized Roads, the Main Travelled Roads between Townships, Villages, Distance and named each County and Township, the great Lakes, Rivers, and principal Mountains. To be covering the Province of Upper Canada from the Ottawa River to Lake Ontario. Toronto the Population of each City, Town, County and Township will shortly be given, with other items pertaining to local statistics, as fully compiled from the Census Returns of the present year. The Map will be illustrated with Views of the most public buildings in the Province, executed in the best style of the art.

The Map will also be given in the form of a Book. A correct Map and description of the respective merits of the above Townships, showing concessions, lots, and side-lines, with the names of the proprietors now engraved thereon; also, Sound Harbours, Chemical Schoolhouses, Mills, Manufactories, Stores, Inns, &c., together with numerous travel, book and other Routs open to travel the true course of rivers and mail stages; also, enlarged Plans of Towns and Villages in the Townships.

The names of all the resident owners of farms, will be engraved specially prominent on their respective lots, and the position of their residence indicated. Also, the name of the Church and the Township and Village will be published. With the help of the Township Plans which, when completed, will show containing a complete Road, Post-master and Mercantile Business Directory.

The publishers being practical engravers, draftsmen, &c., can confidently assure the public that the execution of the above work, in every department, will be superior to anything of the kind yet published in Canada. The size of the Map will be about 48 by 72 inches; it will be handsomely coloured, varnished, and mounted on canvass, with rollers, and furnished to subscribers only, for the low price of Four dollars and a half ($4 50) payable on delivery.

Other Townships in the County will be canvassed in due time.

☞ Our Agents exhibit a REAL SPECIMEN of the above work, with our name engraved thereon

CAUTION.—This enterprise is in no way connected with that projected by Messrs. Tremaine, of Jefferson County, State of New York.

New Establishment.

A choice assortment carefully selected by a gentleman of many years experience.

GROCERIES, WINES, &C.,

with a large variety of

Fancy Goods,

at very low prices.

Port Wine, (Per Gallon) at 1s, 1s 6d, 2s
Old Sherry, 3s, 3s 6d, 4s, 4s 6d, 5s. Finest old Sherry, 5s, 6s 6d, 10s, 15s. 20s. Finest old Brandy, Brown, do., Fine Hollands, Gin in Wood, do. in Red and Green Cases. Isla Scotch Whiskey (very old) do. in 1 doz. Cases.

Teas, Sugars, Coffees, Fruits, Spices, Pickles & Sauces, Fish, Oils, Flavoring extracts, Starch, Soap, Candles, Tobaccos, Brushes, Brooms, Glass, Crockery, and Wooden-ware, &c.

JOHN McDONELL,

In the (now blue front) premises, lately occupied by Jas. Stevens, Esq.,

GEORGE ST., PETERBORO.

Jan. 1 1861.

TO RENT.

THAT delightful residence and property at present occupied by Thos. Faucett, Esq., in Otonabee (on the Keene Road, and about six miles from Peterboro'). The House is of brick, and will be let if required all ready furnished. 4 acres of land, or seven acres if required, with the house if required. The property is well fenced; there is

A GOOD SPRING WELL

and a good rain-water Cistern, and

A Pleasure Garden

on the premises. To a good tenant the term will be moderate. Apply at the Examiner Office, or to the proprietor, THOS. FAUCETT.

Otonabee, May 1861. 42

FARM FOR SALE.

175 ACRES

SITUATED in the County of Victoria, Township of Fenelon, being lot No 26, in the 4th Con., of which 50 acres are cleared and under cultivation. For particulars apply to Archibald McArthur, on the premises, or to

E. DENNISTOUN,
Peterboro.

June, 1861. 26

SAVE YOUR FURS

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL!!

WM. LECH,

FURRIER, MONTREAL,

WILL OPEN BUSINESS in the above line about the end of June, in the premises now occupied by Mr. Temple as Brown, corner Scott's Building, Peterboro'. Raw furs will be manufactured to order; also dressed and plucked, and

ONE OF THE LARGEST STOCKS IN THE

FUR TRADE

in Canada, will be offered for sale at prices much lower than ever known in this part of the country before. Hats and caps of the latest styles. The highest price will be paid for raw furs.

May 2, 1861.

WANTED IMMEDIATELY.

TWO OR THREE good farm hands for the harvest season or longer. Apply to GEORGE ERSON,
21st lot, 4th Con., Otonabee.

July 17, 1861.

ATTENTION

Is respectfully solicited to my new stock of

FASHIONABLE DRESS AND SUMMER

BOOTS & SHOES,

Gaiters, Buskin Ties,

OPERA BOOTS,

&c., &c., comprising the LATEST STYLES!

in every department.

To commend cash I have reduced prices, and am therefore prepared to offer goods

Still Lower than heretofore!

☞ Mens' White Canvass Shoes $1 usually sold for 10s, can be had for 6s. 3d., Cash!

T. G. HAZLITT.

Peterboro June 20, 1861. 3in.

GENERAL INSURANCE OFFICE.

W. CLUXTON, AGENT, PETERBORO'.

LIVERPOOL & LONDON
FIRE AND LIFE
Insurance Company.
CAPITAL.....£2,000,000STG.

BRITISH AMERICA
ASSURANCE COMPY
CAPITAL, $4,000,000.

WESTERN
INSURANCE COMPANY
CAPITAL, $2,000'000.

BRITANNIA LIFE
Assurance Company.
CAPITAL, £1,000,000, STERLING.
Peterborough, April 26th, 1859. 16

WESTERN
Insurance Company
CAPITAL £500,000
Head Office, Toronto,

FOR EVERY DESCIPTION OF
FIRE & MARINE ASSURANCE
BUSINESS.

AGENT FOR PETERBORO',
W. CLUXTON.
Peterboro, Sept 14th, 1857.

THE CANADA LIFE
Assurance Company.
Capital, $1,000,000.
W. CLUXTON,
Agent.
THOS HOLYWELL
Medical Referee.
Peterborough, 1st August, 1859. 31

THE LIVERPOOL LONDON
FIRE AND LIFE
ASSURANCE COMPANY.
CAPITAL.....£2,000,000 STG.

Empowered by Act of the Imperial Parliament.

Responsibility of Stockholders unlimited.

Head Office for Canada, Montreal.

THE UNDERSIGNED CONTINUES to accept Risks in the above

First Class Company,

on almost every description of property, at as REASONABLE RATES as any other responsible office.

LOSSES PAID

without reference to the Old Country.
W. CLUXTON,
Agent for Peterboro'
Peterboro.' April 20th, 1859. 16.

F. G. CALLENDER,

RETURNS his grateful acknowledgments to the inhabitants of Peterboro' and vicinity, for their liberal support during the past fourteen years, and on account of his increase of business, and with a view to the better accommodation of his patrons, will continue his visits the present and every MONDAYS, TUESDAYS & WEDNESDAYS, this season, with assistance of one of the first MODISTES formerly employed to perform all operations of the profession, with superior neatness and durability. AND AS REASONABLE AS ANY EXPERIENCED DENTIST. His Teeth are his own selection, of the newest style, being made expressly for the Vulcanized base, now altogether used, being free from taste, much cheaper than Gold, and equal in neatness and durability, and much more agreeable in the mouth, being less weighty.

Rooms in Scott's Building, Market Block, Peterboro', and over the Post Office, Cobourg.

RELIEF IN TEN MINUTES.

BRYAN'S

PULMONIC WAFERS.

THIS most certain and speedy remedy ever discovered for the relief of all diseases of the Chest and Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Consumption, Bronchitis, Influenza, Hoarseness, Difficult Breathing, Sore Throat, &c.

These Wafers give the most instantaneous and perfect relief, and when persevered with according to directions, never fail to effect a rapid and lasting cure. Thousands have been restored to perfect health, who have tried other means in vain. To all classes and all constitutions they are a blessing and a cure—none need despair, no matter how long the disease may have existed, or however severe it may be, provided the organic structure of the vital organ is not hopelessly decayed. Every one afflicted should give them an impartial trial.

TO VOCALISTS AND PUBLIC SPEAKERS these Wafers are peculiarly valuable; they will in one day remove the most severe occasional hoarseness; and their regular use for a few days will, at all times, increase the power and flexibility of the voice, greatly improving its tone, compass and clearness, for which purpose they are regularly used by many professional Vocalists.

JOB MOSES, Sole Proprietor, Rochester, N.Y.

Price 25 cents per box.

Vocalists and Public Speakers
Vocalists and Public Speakers
Vocalists and Public Speakers
Will find Bryan's Wafers
Will find Bryan's Wafers
Will find Bryan's Wafers
Invaluable to remove
Invaluable to remove
Invaluable to remove
Hoarseness and Sore Throat,
Hoarseness and Sore Throat,
Hoarseness and Sore Throat,
And gives clearness to the Voice.
And gives clearness to the Voice.
And gives clearness to the Voice.
They relieve in ten minutes,
They relieve in ten minutes,
They relieve in ten minutes,
Coughs, Colds, and all diseases
Coughs, Colds, and all diseases
Coughs, Colds, and all diseases
Of the Chest and Lungs.
Of the Chest and Lungs.
Of the Chest and Lungs.

Sold by all Druggists
Sold by all Druggists
Sold by all Druggists

At 25 cents a box.
At 25 cents a box
At 25 cents a box.

SEVEN YEARS.

THE seven years of unrivalled success attending the

"COSMOPOLITAN ART ASSOCIATION,"

have made it a household word throughout every quarter of the country.

Under the auspices of this popular institution over three hundred thousand homes have learned to appreciate—by beautiful works of art on their walls, and choice literature on their tables—the great benefits derived from becoming a subscriber.

Subscriptions are now being received in a ratio unparalleled with that of any previous year

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

Any person can become a member by subscribing three dollars, for which sum they will receive

1st.—The large and superb steel engraving, 30x48 inches, entitled,

"FILLMORE MUSTERING HIS RECRUITS!"

Do you know observing the sunny actions of your children, consider that it may be more than a mere look that affects them? In nine cases out of ten, the cause of the little darling's anguish is WORMS, and should be at once looked to.

HEADS OF FAMILIES

Do not let your children suffer, when we present you with

JUDSON'S WORM TEA

A SAFE AND PLEASANT CURE FOR WORMS

How much better and safer would it be to have it always in the house. A little delay when a child is taken ill may often be the cause of its death, while acting without delay, and by giving the MOUNTAIN HERB TEA immediately, you will not only save the child a long and tedious illness, and your self much expense, but also feel happier in knowing that you have done your duty, and perchance saved its life.

This medicine is combined purely of

HERBS AND ROOTS

NOT A PARTICLE OF

Calomel or Mineral

IS USED IN IT.

No more Sticky Vermifuge will be used by those who once use this Tea. The only active principle of all other Vermifuges and Worm Killers is MERCURY.

GIVE NO

POISON

TO

YOUR CHILDREN.

Use this Simple, Safe, Vegetable Medicine.

This Worm Tea was discovered in an unusual way among the Wilds of Northern Mexico—a full account of it you will find in our Almanacs for the year Natur of Pain Almanac," of the Agent, and when you have read it, send it to your neighbors, that they may also know and be cured by this GREAT HUMBUG!

JUDSON'S WORM TEA
KILLS WORMS,
Never Harms—is Pleasant to Take.

GET A PACKAGE—PRICE 25 CTS.

OBSERVE—Always find the Name and Signature of B. L. JUDSON & CO., and the portrait of Judson on each package of the Worm Tea.

B. L. JUDSON & CO.,
SOLE PROPRIETORS,
50 Leonard St., New York.

Judson's Worm Tea is sold by one Agent in every Village, and by all Druggists.

JUDSON'S MOUNTAIN HERB WORM TEA.

Herbs, Barks and Roots
VERSUS
Poisonous Minerals and Drugs.

MOTHERS TAKE HEED!

Do you know observing the sunny actions of your children, consider that it may be more than a mere look that affects them? In nine cases out of ten, the cause of the little darling's anguish is WORMS, and should be at once looked to.

HEADS OF FAMILIES

Do not let your children suffer, when we present you with

JUDSON'S WORM TEA

A SAFE AND PLEASANT CURE FOR WORMS

How much better and safer would it be to have it always in the house. A little delay when a child is taken ill may often be the cause of its death, while acting without delay, and by giving the MOUNTAIN HERB TEA immediately, you will not only save the child a long and tedious illness, and your self much expense, but also feel happier in knowing that you have done your duty, and perchance saved its life.

This medicine is combined purely of

HERBS AND ROOTS

NOT A PARTICLE OF

Calomel or Mineral

IS USED IN IT.

No more Sticky Vermifuge will be used by those who once use this Tea. The only active principle of all other Vermifuges and Worm Killers is MERCURY.

GIVE NO

POISON

TO

YOUR CHILDREN.

Use this Simple, Safe, Vegetable Medicine.

This Worm Tea was discovered in an unusual way among the Wilds of Northern Mexico—a full account of it you will find in our Almanacs for the year Nature of Pain Almanac," of the Agent, and when you have read it, send it to your neighbors, that they may also know and be cured by this GREAT HUMBUG!

JUDSON'S WORM TEA
KILLS WORMS,
Never Harms—is Pleasant to Take.

GET A PACKAGE—PRICE 25 CTS.

OBSERVE—Always find the Name and Signature of B. L. JUDSON & CO., and the portrait of Judson on each package of the Worm Tea.

B. L. JUDSON & CO.,
SOLE PROPRIETORS,
50 Leonard St., New York.

Judson's Worm Tea is sold by one Agent in every Village, and by all Druggists.

WILL BE SOLD AT A SACRIFICE.

THE subscriber is compelled by circumstances to sell his Houses and Lot on Albert Street, on the Court House Hill, adjoining the property of Mr. Wm. Dumble. The above is one of the most delightful situations in Town, and will be sold for the

LOW PRICE OF $800!

one half to be paid down, and the remainder in two years from time of sale. Title Perfect

JOHN RITCHIE.

Peterborough, Aug. 20, 1861. 34

MARBLE WORKS.

H. T. EVANS,

RESPECTFULLY invites attention to the fact that he is prepared to execute on short notice

TOMB-STONES,
MONUMENTS,
TABLE-TOPS,
MANTLE-PIECES,
&c., &c., &c.

of as good workmanship as can be done in any part of Canada. Terms very low for Cash.

☞ House and Workshop, corner of London and Bethune Streets, foot of Smithtown Hill.

H. T. EVANS.

Peterboro, Nov. 8, 1860 45

SADDLERY & HARNESS WARE-HOUSE.

Opposite A. McNabb's Auction Rooms, George Street, Peterboro'.

HOPKINS & DONNELLY

WILL keep constantly on hand, and make to order all sorts of

SADDLES, HARNESS, WHIPS, Valises, &c.,

which they intend to sell CHEAP FOR CASH, or on approved credit.

☞ All work warranted, as it is made by superior workmen.

Peterborough, Sept. 5, 1860. 36

ROOM PAPER.

R. STEVENSON,

PAINTER & PAPER-HANGER,

HAS Received direct from England, a large and well-selected assortment of Room Paper, Borders, Decorations, Window-blinds, &c.

which will be sold at Prices to suit the Times.

Brock Street,
Opposite Lawson's Hotel, 17

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

A compound remedy, in which we have labored to produce the most effectual alterative that can be made. It is a concentrated extract of Para Sarsaparilla, so combined with other substances of still greater alterative power as to afford an effective antidote for the diseases Sarsaparilla is reputed to cure. It is believed that such a remedy is wanted by those who suffer from Strumous complaints, and that one which will accomplish their cure must prove of immense service to this large class of our afflicted fellow-citizens. How completely this compound will do it has been proven by experiment on many of the worst cases to be found of the following complaints:—

SCROFULA AND SCROFULOUS COMPLAINTS, ERUPTIONS AND ERUPTIVE DISEASES, ULCERS, PIMPLES, BLOTCHES, TUMORS, SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, SYPHILIS AND SYPHILITIC AFFECTIONS, MERCURIAL DISEASE, DROPSY, NEURALGIA OR TIC DOULOUREUX, DEBILITY, DYSPEPSIA AND INDIGESTION, CHVSTELLAS, RED OR ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD.

This compound will we found a great promoter of health, when taken in the spring, to expel the foul humors which fester in the blood at that season of the year. By the timely expulsion of them many rankling disorders are nipped in the bud. Multitudes can, by the aid of this remedy, spare themselves from the endurance of foul eruptions and ulcerous sores, through which the system will strive to rid itself of corruptions if not assisted to do this through the natural channels of the body by an alterative medicine. Cleanse out the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, eruptions, or sores; cleanse it when you find it is obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it whenever it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Even where no particular disorder is felt, people enjoy better health, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. Keep the blood healthy, and all is well; but with this pabulum of life dispraved, there can be no lasting health. Sooner or later something must go wrong, and the great machinery of life is deranged or overthrown.

Sarsaparilla has, and deserves much, the reputation of accomplishing these ends. But the world has been egregiously deceived by preparations of it, partly because the drug alone has not all the virtue that is claimed for it, but others because many preparations, pretending to be concentrated extracts of it, contain but little of the virtue of Sarsaparilla, or any thing else.

During late years the public have been misled by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one dollar. Most of these have been frauds upon the sick, for they not only contain little, if any, Sarsaparilla, but often no curative properties whatever. Hence, bitter and painful disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market, until the name itself is justly despised, and has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound Sarsaparilla, and intend to supply such a remedy as shall rescue the name from the load of obloquy which rests upon it. And we think we have ground for believing it has virtues which are irresistible by the ordinary run of the diseases it is intended to cure. In order to secure their complete eradication from the system, the remedy should be judiciously taken according to directions on the bottle.

PREPARED BY

DR. J. C. AYER & CO.,
LOWELL, MASS.

Price, $1 per Bottle; Six Bottles for $5.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

has won for itself such a renown for the cure of every variety of Throat and Lung Complaint, that it is entirely unnecessary for us to recount the evidence of its virtues, wherever it has been employed. It has long been in constant use throughout this section, we need not do more than assure the people its quality is kept up to the best it ever has been, and that it may be relied on to do for their relief all it has ever been found to do.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

FOR THE CURE OF

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Dyspepsias, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Erysipelas and Skin Diseases, Liver Complaints, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and for Purifying the Blood.

They are sugar-coated, so that the most sensitive can take them pleasantly, and they are the best aperient in the world for all the purposes of a family physic.

Price 25 cents per Box; Five boxes for $1.00.

Great numbers of Clergymen, Physicians, Statesmen, and eminent personages, have lent their names to certify the unparalleled excellence of these pills, but our space here will not permit the insertion of them. The Agents below named furnish gratis our AMERICAN ALMANAC in which they are given; with also full descriptions of the above complaints, and the treatment that should be followed for their cure.

Do not be put off by unprincipled dealers with other preparations they make more profit on. Demand AYER'S, and take no other. The sick want the best aid there is for them, and they should have it.

All our Remedies are for sale by Thompson & Chisholm at Mr. Coulter, and W. A. Kempt, Peterboro'. C. Britton, Lindsay; E. Gregory, Millbrook; A. Goodfellow, Springville, and all medicine dealers. Northrop & Lyman, General Agents for the Canadas.

THE TRAVELLERS REST.

THE above named House has been enlarged refitted and refurnished, and in every convenience for the accomodation of the travelling public. It is directly opposite the Post Office, on Main Street, and within sight of the steamboat landing.

HIS TABLE

is always supplied with the best the market affords, and always supplied with the choicest of Liquors and Cigars.

THE BAR

Old friends and customers, as well as the travelling public are respectfully requested to give him a call.

☞ A careful ostler on hand at all times.

WILLIAM CRESWELL,
Proprietor.

Bobcaygeon, April 4, 1861. 14-6m.

PETERBORO'

Soap and Candle Works,

A large stock of very superior

CANDLES AND SOAP

now on hand and for sale at the lowest whole sale prices.

☞ Orders are respectfully solicited

Cash for Lard, Tallow and Soap Grease.

GILLEY & HOOD.

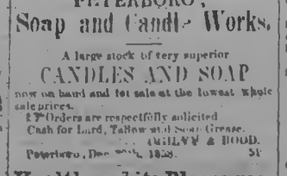
Peterboro, Dec. 20th, 1858. 51

Health and its Pleasures,

OR

DISEASE WITH ITS AGONIES:

CHOOSE BETWEEN THEM.



HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.

NERVOUS DISORDERS.

What is more fearful than the breaking down of the nervous system? To be excitable or nervous in a small degree is most distressing, for where can a remedy be found? There is one—drink but little wine, beer, or spirits, or far better none; take no coffee, green tea being preferable; get all the fresh air you can; take three or four Pills every night; eat plenty of solids, avoid the use of slops; and if these golden rules are followed you will be happy in mind and a song in body, and forget you have any nerves.

MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS.

If there is one thing more than another for which these Pills are so famous it is their purifying properties, especially the power of cleansing the blood from all impurities, and remedying dangerous and suspended secretions. Universally adopted as the one grand remedy for female complaints, they never fail, never weaken the system, and always bring about what is required.

SICK HEADACHE AND WANT OF A PETITE.

These feelings which so sadden us, most frequently arise from and organ derangement, from obstructed perspiration, or from eating and drinking what is not for us. Holloway's Pills, by acting upon the liver and stomach, correcting the liver and stomach. These organs must be regulated if you wish to be well. The Pills if taken according to the printed instructions, will quickly restore a healthy action to both liver and stomach, whereas follow as a natural consequence, a good appetite and a clear head. In the East and West Indies, where any other medicine is ever used for these disorders.

DISORDERS OF THE KIDNEYS.

In all diseases affecting these organs, whether they secrete too much or too little water, or whether they be affected with stone or gravel, or with aches or pains seated in the loins or in the region of the kidneys, these Pills should be taken according to the printed directions, and the Ointment should be well rubbed into the small of the back at bed time. This treatment will give direct and immediate relief when all other means have failed.

FOR ST MACHN OUT OF ORDER

none of these complaints can possibly exist, for all a little attention will set them right. They reach the liver and stomach, and by their gentle action they are wonderfully effective in cases of spasms, which last they never fail in curing all disorders of the liver and Stomach.

Holloway's Pills are the best remedy in the world for the following diseases.

Ague,	Inflammation,
Asthma,	Jaundice
Bilious Complaints,	Liver Complaints,
Blotches on the Skin,	Lumbago,
Bowel Complaints,	Piles,
Colics,	Rheumatism,
Constipation of the Bowels,	Retention of Urine,
Consumption,	Scrofula, or King's Evil
Debility,	Sore Throats,
Dropsy,	Stone and Gravel,
Dysentery,	Secondary Symptoms,
Erysipelas,	Tic-Douloureux,
Fevers,	Tumours,
Female Irregularities,	Ulcers,
Fevers of all kinds,	Venereal Affections,
Fits,	Worms of all kinds,
Gout,	Weakness from what-ever cause,
Head-ache,	&c.,
Indigestion,	&c.

☞ Caution!—None are genuine unless the words "Holloway, New York and London," are discernible as a Watermark in every leaf of the book of directions around each pot or box; the same may be plainly seen by holding the leaf to the light. A handsome reward will be given to any one rendering such information as may lead to the detection of any party or parties counterfeiting the medicines or vending the same, knowing them to be spurious

☞ Sold at the Manufactory of Professor Holloway, 80 Maiden Lane, New York, and by all respectable Druggists and Dealers in Medicine throughout the civilized world, in boxes at 25 cents, 62 cents and $1 each.

☞ There is considerable saving by taking the larger sizes.

N. B.—Directions for the guidance of patients in every disorder are affixed to each box.

VISIT OF

DR. LA'MERT

OF LONDON,

TO THE NORTH AMERICAN PROVINCES.

DR LA'MERT of Bedford Square, London, Member of the Royal College of Surgeons of England; Licentiate of the Royal College of Physicians of Edinburgh, &c., finding of "self-preservation," the "Source of Life and Physical Life," begs to intimate to his Patients and the Public that he proposes in August, making a Professional visit to the British North American Possessions, commencing with Halifax, N. S.; and that he will afterwards visit St. John, N B., and Lower and Upper Canada.

Due notice will be given in future advertisements of Dr. La'Mert's arrival and of his place of residence in the several towns in which he may be consulted, either personally or by correspondence. In making this announcement Dr. La'Mert wishes to point out to the inhabitants of the Provinces that self-preservation should be the first consideration with every one, and the true guide to that will be assisted in those who have the advantage of having their cases under his immediate superintendence. Dr. La'Mert, moreover, cannot too strongly urge on those who have already been under his care, or who have applied to correspondence with him, the absolute necessity for the expression of their opinion and advice of cleansing of any doubts that may have existed in regard to their cases, and would particularly impress upon the importance of communicating with him as quickly as possible, this personal communication with him being no necessary limitation, which under no circumstances can be prolonged beyond the date necessary to be announced.

In order that no inconvenience be occasioned to the completion of the treatment of those cases Dr. La'Mert will be provided with the correspondence of those connected with such as have left or may be about to leave home under the impression that whatever shall be deemed necessary to be done will be done by the gentleman who remains awaiting the arrival of Dr. La'Mert's services are recommended, in the interim, to procure from one of the undermentioned local agents his work on a Medical Treatise on Nervous Debility and Premature Weakness, more particularly in reference to the following and Disorders of the Reproductive System, with numerous Engravings and Descriptive Cases.

Self-Preservation;

The object of the work is not to maintain any particular hypothesis, but to enable every man to understand for himself the structure and functions of the organs concerned in the fulfilment of the Physical Destination of the Human Race; to acquaint him with the means by which he is enabled from excesses to prevent unnecessary exhaustion from unfounded fears, and to indicate, when the fears are unnecessary, the means of speedy relief. The work is illustrated with the testimonials of ordinary professional books, nor does it press at the end those which characterizes the so-called "popular works" on the subject.

"Self-Preservation" may be had in a sealed envelope, before Our Holiday Stock of Books at Chubbard Co., St John, N. B.; R. G. Fuller, Express Agent, Halifax, N.S.; or the Author will forward it, post free, on receipt of Colonial postage stamps to the amount of 12 pence sterling.

Dr. M'KEON'S WORM POWDER,

SOLD ONLY BY

W. COULTER, DRUGGIST,

PETERBOROUGH.

MAN MISSING.

JOHN ABRAM, left Wm. Mocock's Axe Factory, in Peterboro', where he was employed, on Tuesday, 28th May last, since which time nothing has been heard from him. As it is supposed he was getting drunk he stated he engagement at the time fours are entered signed by his self. He is an Irishman by birth, about 28 years of age, about 5 feet 7 inches in height, and had when he left a small under chin brown whisker; his hair is black. He wore when he left a black coat, black satin vest, speckled tweed pants and black cloth cap.

Any information respecting him will be thankfully received by his brother, Thomas Abram, care of Mr. Wm. Mocock, Box 47, P. O., Peterboro', C. W.

Papers copying the above will confer a great favor on the friends of the missing man.

Peterboro, June 13th, 1861. 34

JOHN O'DONNELL, Jr.,

Dentist.

OFFICE—Burnham's Block, George Street, over Mr. Maloney's Store.

In Peterboro' from the 15th to the last of every month.

Artificial Teeth

mounted on Gold, Silver and Vulcanized Rubber—and warranted to give satisfaction to the wearer.

By the aid of a (late) very important discovery in Chemistry, I am prepared to perform an effectual cure on any aching tooth, provided it has not ached long enough to cause the death of the nerve, in that case inflammation reches and cannot be cured without a great deal of pain and trouble.

Children's teeth attended to as usual.

Particular attention paid to diseases of the Antrum, Maxilary, (Jaw) bones, gums, tongue, dislocation of the Jaw, and all diseases emanating from a diseased state of the teeth.

Peterboro, Jan 3rd, 1861. 2

COBOURG & PETERBORO'

RAILWAY.

ON and after Wednesday, 15th May, 1861, & until further notice, trains will run as follows:

GOING NORTH.

Leave Cobourg	4.00 P.M.
" Baltimore	4.30 "
Arrive at Harwood	5.15 "
Leave Harwood	5.30 "
" " Indian Village	6.00 "
" " Keene Station	6.15 "
Arrive at Peterboro'	6.45 "

GOING SOUTH.

Leave Peterboro'	9.00 A.
" " Keene Station	9.30 "
" " Indian Village	9.45 "
Arrive at Harwood	10.15 "
Leave Harwood	10.40 "
" Baltimore	11.20 "
Arrive at Cobourg	11.45 "

COVERT & FOWLER, Lessees.

Scrofula, or King's Evil,

is a constitutional disease, a corruption of the blood, by which this fluid becomes vitiated, weak, and poor. Being in the circulation, it pervades all the whole body, and may burst out in disease on any part of it. No organ is free from its attacks, nor is there one which it may not destroy. The scrofulous taint is variously caused by mercurial disease, low living, deficient or unhealthy food, impure air, filth and filthy habits, the depressing vices, and, above all, by the venereal infection. However it origin, it is hereditary in the constitution, descending from parents to children unto the third and fourth generation; indeed, it will even run through the whole family, their children.

Its effects commence by deposition from the blood of corrupt or ulcerous matter, which, in the lungs, liver, and internal organs, is termed tubercles; in the glands, swellings; and on the surface, eruptions or sores. This foul corruption, which genders in the blood, depresses the energies of life, so that scrofulous constitutions not only suffer from scrofulous complaints, but they have far less power to withstand the attacks of other diseases; consequently, vast numbers perish by disorders which, although not scrofulous in their nature, are still clothed in the taint in the system. Most of the consumption which decimates the human family has its origin directly in this scrofulous contamination; and many destructive diseases of the liver, kidne

BOOK AND JOB PRINTING ESTABLISHMENT.

EVERY description of Book and Job Printing executed at this Office, in superior style, at low rates.

Pamphlets, Circulars,
Handbills, Funeral Cards,
Invitations, Bill Headings,
Horse Bills, Show Bills,
Concert Bills, Programmes,
Posters, Stage Bills,
Business Cards, Blanks, &c.,

with every variety of Coloring and Bronzing.

☞ Lawyers Blanks of every description, kept constantly on hand.

All orders for Job Printing forwarded to this office will be punctually and strictly attended to.

The Examiner.

PETERBOROUGH, CANADA WEST, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1861.

Volume VI.] "THE PEOPLE." [Number 39.

THE "EXAMINER"

Is published every Thursday morning at the office of the undersigned, in

BURNHAM'S BLOCK, GEORGE STREET.

Terms of Subscription—$1.50 per annum payable strictly in advance, $2 when not so paid.

Rates of Advertising.

Six Lines, and under, first insertion	$0 37
Each subsequent insertion	13
Six to ten lines, first insertion	50
Each subsequent insertion	25
Over ten lines, first insertion (per line)	7
Each subsequent insertion	3
Business Cards as per agreement.

☞ Advertisements without written instructions will be inserted until forbid. Orders to discontinue must be given in writing.

All communications to the Publisher must be post-paid; otherwise such notice will be taken of them.

JAMES RENFREW,
Publisher and Proprietor.

Business Directory.

JAMES HALL,
SHERIFF. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

Mr. TOOLE,
MANUFACTURER of Sash Blinds, Doors and Mouldings. Every description of Joiner Work done to order. Next door to Martin's Mills, Peterboro', C. W. 9

MESSRS. FITZGERALD & BRENNAN
PROVINCIAL LAND SURVEYORS, CIVIL ENGINEERS AND LAND AGENTS. Office in Scott's Chambers, corner of George and [illegible] Streets.
MESSRS. F. & B. having lately surveyed the outlines of eight new Townships now located in this County will be happy to give any information to intending settlers. 24

J. B. BISBEE,
DEALER in Boots, Shoes & Leather, George Street, Peterborough, C. W. 16

W. CRAWFORD,
GOVERNMENT Land Agent. Office at his residence, Brock Street.

EDMUND S. VINDIN,
COMMISSION, Shipping, Forwarding, and General Agent, Lumber Merchant, &c.—OFFICE—Corner of Walton and Ontario Streets. 13

MR. DENNISTOUN,
BARRISTER at Law, Master Extraordinary in Chancery, Notary Public, &c., Peterborough

Mr. A. T. BAATRFIELD.
PIANIST AND TEACHER OF MUSIC.
COMMUNICATION THROUGH THE POST OFFICE, Peterborough.

JOHNSON'S
FASHIONABLE Hair Dressing and Shaving Saloon in the Building formerly occupied by the Post Office, east of the bridge.
Port Hope, Sept. 29, 1857.

GEORGE MITCHELL,
DEALER in Groceries and Provisions, &c. Cash paid for all kinds of country produce, George Street Peterborough. 15

T. G. HAZLITT,
DEALER in Provisions, Groceries, Crockery and Glass ware, Hunter Street Peterboro.

W. SHERIDAN,
COUNTY Treasurer and Clerk. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

R. STEVENSON,
PAINTER, Paper hanger, &c., &c., Brock Street, Peterborough. 15

GEORGE H. HUGHES,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
SOLICITOR IN CHANCERY
Conveyancer, &c.
OFFICE in Harvey's Building, next door (north) to Thomson's Store, George St., Peterborough. 12

GENERAL FIRE AND LIFE INSURANCE OFFICE.
W. CLUXTON, Agent.

W. COULTER, PETERBORO',
DEALER in Genuine Drugs, Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Spices, Culinary Essences, Fancy Soaps, &c., &c. 16

THOMAS MENZIES,
BOOKSELLER, Stationer, &c., &c., &c. Dixon's Exchange Block, George Street, Peterborough. 20

A. HARVEY, M. D., CORONER.
RESIDENCE:—Aylmer Street, opposite the Railway Depot, Peterboro.
April 3rd. 1861.

H. W. SCOTT,
BARRISTER AT LAW, Solicitor in Chancery, Notary Public, Conveyancer, &c.
OFFICE:—In Burnham's Block, opposite the Review Office, Peterborough.
April 11, 1861. 15

A. M'CREA,
PROVINCIAL Licentiate. Physician, Surgeon, &c. Keene.

GEORGE PRINGLE, M. D.
PHYSICIAN, Surgeon, &c., &c., graduate of McGill College, Montreal, having also studied in the hospitals of London and Dublin
OFFICE AND RESIDENCE:—Brock Street, opposite McGregor's Livery Stable, Peterboro.
April 23, 1861. 17

ALEX. McNEIL,
AUCTIONEER, Valuator, &c., &c. Licensed for the United Counties of Peterborough and Victoria. George St., Peterboro'.

JAMES BEST,
DEALER in Dry Goods, Groceries, Crockery, Boots and Shoes, &c., &c., Bowe's Block George Street, Peterborough. 18

AUCTION SALES.

T. F. NICHOLL,
Auctioneer,
CIVIL ENGINEER AND SURVEYOR, LAND AGENT, AND GENERAL COMMISSION MERCHANT.
Terms moderate, things punctual, and payments prompt.

MR. DUNN,
PRINCIPAL of the Grammar and Union School, will devote a short time each day to private tuition.
Peterboro', Jan. 10th, 1861. 3

A. FOWLIS & Co.
HARDWARE Merchants, George Street Peterborough. 18

PRIVATE BOARD.
A NUMBER of respectable boarders may find good Board and comfortable accommodation in the handsome and well-fitted brick cottage, near the Peterboro Station of the P. H. & P. R. Apply on the premises.
JOSEPH PORTERS.
June4, 1861. 26

CABINET-MAKING.
E. POOLE, Cabinet-maker, Upholsterer & Undertaker, Ryan's Block, George Street Peterborough. 15

D. PENTLAND,
Surgical & Mechanical Dentist,
OFFICE, OVER COULTER'S DRUG STORE, George Street, Peterboro'.
TEETH Extracted by the aid of Electricity, with the least possible pain. Teeth inserted upon fine Gold, Silver, or
VULCANIZED RUBBER.
Teeth and material warranted to be of the very best quality.
D. P. particularly wishes the public to understand that [illegible]
WARRANTS HIS WORK TO GIVE GOOD SATISFACTION,
and parties who are not perfectly satisfied with their plates have the privilege of returning them before paying for them.
Particular attention paid to the treatment of all diseases of the mouth, and also the regulating of children's teeth.
Peterboro', April 10th, 1861. 15

ALBION HOTEL,
MONTREAL.
L. W. DECKER, Proprietor.
IS pleasantly situated at the head of ST. PAUL STREET, amongst the largest wholesale houses in the city. It has (with business men generally, and especially with the best Merchants of both Provinces) become so great a favorite, that it is now acknowledged to be THE Business Hotel of Montreal. To meet the extensive increase, during the last year in the business of the house, the proprietor has built a large addition. The Dining Room has been extended and made more commodious; there have been completed in the new wing, a great number of well-ventilated sleeping rooms, and the House throughout has been refitted, and now contains many improvements and conveniences hitherto unknown to its guests. The whole of the beds have, at a great expence, been furnished with NEW SPRING MATTRASSES. The Proprietor expects that by continuing his personal management of the concern, THE ALBION, to say the least of it, will continue to be, as it now is, the best Dollar and a half Hotel in Canada

VALUABLE FARM
FOR SALE.
THE subscriber is desirous of disposing of his Farm, south west part of Lot 32, in the 11th Con. Otonabee, only 3 miles from the town of Peterborough, and on the main road leading to Keene, comprising 100 Acres.
60 Acres are Cleared,
and in a good state of cultivation; 14 Acres of Fall Wheat are sown, and part of Fall ploughing is done. A good Frame Rough-cast House, 26 x 30, a Barn, 45 x 26, and a good stable and other out-houses are on the premises.
A GOOD WELL
of spring water stands within a rod of the house, and is easy of access. A good YOUNG ORCHARD OF SO TREES,
in good condition, and of the choicest fruits, is on the property.
The Farm is one of the best in the Township, and the situation is very convenient, no better chance for the purchase of a good farm could be offered, and it will be sold at a liberal price.
Title Indisputable.
Apply to the proprietor on the premises,
JAS. WEIR.
Otonabee, Nov. 7 1860. 54

NOTICE
THE next meeting of the Senior Board of Instruction for the County of Peterboro' will be held on the
First Tuesday of Dec. next,
IN THE COURT HOUSE, AT 10 A.M.
Teachers holding third class certificates issued a year or upwards ago, are required to have them renewed.
By order,
J. EDWARDS,
Secretary.
Peterboro' May 14, 1861. 20

THE LATEST IMPROVED
COAL OIL,
AND COAL OIL LAMPS;
AT REDUCED PRICES.
JOHN McDONELL,
GEORGE STREET.
Jan. 2, 1861. 1.

PORT HOPE & PETERBORO
RAILWAY.
ON and after the 1th January, 1861, and until further notice, Trains will run as follows:—
GOING NORTH.
Leave Port Hope at.....10.00 a. m.
" Millbrook ".....11.25 a. m.
" Fraserville ".....11.50 a. m.
Arrive at Peterboro' at.....12.10 a. m.
GOING SOUTH.
Leave Peterboro' at.....2.30 p. m.
" Fraserville ".....3.15 p. m.
" Millbrook ".....3.30 p. m.
Arrive at Port Hope at.....4.05. p. m.
JOHN FOWLER,
Lessee.
Peterboro' January, 18

CARRIAGE! BUGGIES &c., &c., &c.
E. G. HILL would call the attention to intending purchasers to the fact that he has a large stock of Carriages & Buggies of good manufacture, and the best material, which he can warrant to be good and solicits a call as he wishes to sell Cheap for Cash, or short approved credit, to make room for a large stock the coming year. Repairing neatly done, and with dispatch, opposite Lawson's Hotel, Royal Street. Give him a call.
Peterboro. May 2, 1861.

INFORMATION WANTED.

A DAUGHTER wishes to learn the present whereabouts of her mother, whom she has not seen for the last thirty-five years. Her maiden name was Polly Cook; her first husband's name was Warren Stone. It is said she married in 1840, a person named Ed Long, who was at that time engaged in some way in the manufacture of silk, in some part of Upper Canada. Any information respecting her will be gratefully received by addressing the subscriber, at 55 Frank Street, Rochester, N. Y.—Canadian papers will confer a favour upon one who has long been deprived of a mother's affections, by giving the above an insertion, entire or in part.
MRS. SAMANTHA JENKINSON.

Poetry.

BEAUTIFUL THOUGHT.

Chisel in hand stood a sculptor boy,
With his marble block before him,
And his face lit up with a smile of joy,
As an angel dream passed o'er him.

He carved the dream on the shapeless stone,
With many a sharp incision;
With heaven's own light the sculptor shone,
He had caught that angel's vision.

Sculptors of life are we, as we stand
With our soul uncarved before us;
Waiting each hour when at God's command,
Our life-dream passes o'er us.

If we carve it then on the yielding stone,
With many a sharp incision,
Its heavenly beauty shall be our own,
Our lives that angel's vision.

EXECUTION OF MARTIN DOYLE AT CHESTER.

From the Liverpool Courier, Aug. 28th.

It is many years since there has been an execution in this country for "attempted murder." More frequently of late years, when a conviction has taken place and when sentence of death has been passed in the usual term for a murder actually effected, the severity of the laws has been slackened, and the condemned culprit has been reprieved, often to the marked approbation of that numerous class who believe that shocking crimes are best checked by certain, swift, and shocking punishments.—But mercy appears to have been misplaced, and the sad frequency of great crimes appears likely to lead to an entirely opposite course. The execution of young Martin Doyle at Chester, yesterday, was an illustration of this. At the Chester Assizes, on the 8th instant, Doyle, a married man, separated from his wife, was convicted of attempting to murder his paramour, Jane Brogine, a married woman, separated from her husband. Contrary to usual custom, Justice Crompton passed sentence of death in terms which left no prospect of reprieval and the atrocity of the case seems to demand this course. The crime was reported in the Courier soon after its committal, and the trial also appeared at length, but the leading circumstance of the affair showed such determined brutality on the part of the man who has now suffered his just punishment, that they will bear repetition here:—

"It appeared from the evidence at the trial, that the unfortunate prosecutrix was a married woman, but had been about a year co-habiting with the prisoner. They were both tramping on the 20th of March on the road from Holmes Chapel, intending to proceed to Newcastle in Staffordshire.—Soon after passing through the Linley-lane toll-gate, they sat down to rest, and the prosecutrix complained of a headache. The prisoner drew her head on his lap, and there she went to sleep. According to her statement she slept about an hour, and then she woke and found the prisoner's hand on which his head was lying pressing against her head.—She told him to take his hand off, as it made her head ache with the weight of it, and moreover, her bonnet would be broken to pieces. He then got up, and said he would go and see whether it had left off raining. In about three minutes the prisoner returned, and threw a great stone at the right side of the unhappy woman's head, and knocking her quite senseless. He then jumped on her breast, and tried to strangle her round the neck, and forced her tongue out of her head. She implored him to spare her life for God's sake, or to give her a different death. While she was praying for mercy the ruffian was battering her head with a stone, and she said she felt the stone cutting into her head and face like an oyster shell. She cried out, 'Oh dear me, my eyes are out of my head.' He then replied that he neither cared for her eyes nor for herself. He then got off her chest and said, 'Now you ——— you are done.' He then perceived that she still breathed, and he came back, got on her as before and said, 'You b———, what, are you not done yet?' He then hammered away on her head, until she was suffocated in her blood. The prisoner said that he would not spare her life—and added, 'Jane say no more, I intend to have your life; I came for it, and I will have it.' He then again hammered her head, and when she appeared dead, he said, 'Now ——— you, you are done right.' He then got off her chest and went away, and the woman fainted. When she came to again, the poor creature listened, to try and hear whether the ruffian was anywhere about, but she heard nothing of him. She heard a cart coming by, and she shouted 'Man!' as loud as she could. The man did not hear her, but she crawled up to the bank on her hands and knees, and the man in the cart took her up.

"At the termination of the examination in chief of the prosecutrix, who fainted frequently, and whose moans of pain were perfectly heart-rending, the prisoner, who displayed the most callous indifference, cross-examined her at great length as to the origin of their acquaintance, as to her leaving her husband, as to her having a certain disease, and communicating it to her husband, but not one word as to any relevant matter. His Lordship, who displayed the greatest patience, several times tried to keep the prisoner within order, but he went on in the most reckless manner, showing the greatest levity, and insulting the unhappy woman, until at last she fainted dead away, and had to be taken out of the court room.

"It appeared from the evidence of the policeman who took the prisoner into custody that he said, 'You have no need to take hold of me; it was I that done it. The reason I did it was that she said if I did not get work at Newcastle she should turn again. We came from Holmes Chapel, this morning, and in a hollow near a toll-bar, under a tree, we sheltered from the rain. We had a sleep, and when we awoke I went into the road to see if it had done raining. I went back again, and took a stone with me. I sat down. She laid her head upon my knee to go to sleep. I commenced hurling her head with a stone as long as I could, and left her for dead.—I then went to a brook to wash the blood off my hands. I then looked for a pond of water to drown myself.' The policeman went to the place where the prisoner had done the deed, and found the place very bloody, a woman's hair-comb, and three stones which were covered with blood.—[They were produced in Court, and were great, sharp-edged, jagged stones, fit to fell an ox with.] He took the stones to where to prisoner was in custody. The prisoner asked what he had there, and asked to look at them. He picked a flattish sharp one out of the three, and said that was the stone he did it with, for while he was battering her on the head, he cut his hand with the sharp edge of it."

After his condemnation, Doyle remained in Chester Castle Gaol, and being of the Roman Catholic persuasion, he was attended by the Rev. Canon Carberry, of that city, whose ministrations appeared to have such an effect that the culprit yesterday morning, declared that he was about to die "quite happy." Canon Carberry got up a memorial to the Home Secretary, which was signed by 400 of Doyle's co-religionists praying for a remission of the sentence upon him, but an answer was returned that the law must take its course, and a telegraph sent upon the last day met with no better success. Doyle's victim, whose "twenty-one awful wounds," to use the words of the judge, rendered her such a pitiable object in court was taken to Mold after the trial, and thence removed last week to Chester Infirmary, in such a weak state that it was currently reported the next day that she had died. We understand that this is not correct, though there are small hopes that she can survive long or even retain her reason. Her husband, hearing of her deplorable plight, set off to tramp to Mold from a distant part of Lancashire, but when he arrived at Mold, after his fifty-four miles march, he found that the poor woman had been sent away. He started back, footsore, famished, and penniless, but at Chester, on Thursday, some charitable ladies, to whom he related his hard case, relieved his immediate necessities.

Martin Doyle though only twenty-six, had a wife aged forty, who, with the compassion and fidelity, which are the sweetest characteristics of the sex, went to visit him in Chester Castle after his condemnation. We believe he had no parents alive, but on Monday, a brother visited him, and during the interview cried bitterly. It is related of the criminal—with a redundancy of detail often supplied to reporters on such occasions for a purpose—that he put his hands on the brother's shoulders, and said calmly, "Patrick, Patrick, don't put yourself out of the way. I am very happy. Indeed, it's all for the best!" At 4 o'clock on Monday afternoon, Calcraft, the executioner, arrived at Chester. At 12 o'clock on that night, James Rowe, Esq., the Sheriff for the city of Chester, proceeded to Chester Castle, the county gaol, to officially demand the body of Doyle to be given up for execution. Doyle at the time was "engaged in prayer with Canon Carberry." The Sheriff soon after had an interview with Doyle, who expressed his readiness to go with him, and they proceed in a coach to the city gaol, on the Chester walls, near the Watergate. He was beseeched by the sheriff to pay attention to the efforts of the spiritual advisers, as there was no hope of his being reprieved, or his sentence being commuted. It is related of the culprit that when he arrived at the city gaol he "alighted from the cab, passed through the entrance, walked up the stairs inside with a light step and a cheerful countenance, asked "some brandy and water," and was then "engaged for an hour and a half after in prayer." He did not sleep during the night but wished himself in the yard of the gaol at 5 o'clock, and as the time for execution drew nigh, instead of the service in the gaol chapel, with the usual horrible accompaniment of the still living man's coffin paraded before his eyes, he repeated in his cell the Roman Catholic Litany, accompanied by Canon Carberry, who remained with him all night, and who, with a young priest, attended him to the scaffold.

Just as the city clocks had done striking 8, Doyle appeared on the scaffold, attended by the sheriff, the gaol officials, the attending priests, and, oh, degrading sight! a bevy of reporters, notebook and pencil in hand, to catch the last words that might drop from the lips of the unhappy wretch. But blame not the reporters. They were probably only carrying out their instructions to feed the morbid appetite of a certain section of the public to its utmost extent. The authorities are mostly to blame for permitting such practices, and if we print the information thus obtained, it is with a protest against its uselessness in a moral point of view, and in order to promote a reformation of the spectacles which usually cause at public executions.

The scaffold at Chester is erected over the great gateway of the gaol, and, as at Kirkdale, commands a most beautiful prospect, in this instance, of the Welsh mountains, glowing in the golden light of the morning. It was as if in mockery, the man about to the justly put to death was regaled with a charming view of life, and more than a glimpse of the fair green fields and the everlasting hills. This was the spectacle for the men on the gallows; the crowd below had come to see a man hung and they had eyes for nothing else until "the job" was completed. At Chester, yesterday, the crowd assembled on the causeway in front of the gaol garden and in the fields, difficult of accessibility or sixty feet below, numbered scarcely two thousands, for there was a general expectation that as the woman Brogue was still alive, and lying next door, at the Infirmary, the sentence of death would not be carried out. Doyle was a long time on the scaffold. It seems that he was in such a "peculiar" frame of mind that he said he was "quite happy, quite ready to die, and that if any one was to tell him there was a reprieve at that moment he would not feel obliged to him for it." He also wanted to address the crowd below, but was persuaded by his spiritual advisers not to do so. All this had taken some time, and Calcraft now hurried the fatal arrangements. The white cap was drawn over the pale, thin face of the deemed, the rope adjusted round his neck and hooked to the chains above, the bolt shot, and with very little noise, and scarcely an exclamation on the part of the quiet crowd—the great majority of whom were young men and boys—the body of Martin Doyle was swinging in the air, a corpse almost immediately. Subsequent inquiries in the gaol yield more particulars. Canon Carberay seemed ready, almost desirous to give information. In answer to an inquiry "Did Doyle display any penitence?" the reply was, "He was quite happy; he prayed a good deal, and he adhered to statement he made at the the trial, that when he got hold of the stone in the road "something" came over him, and he could not help striking the woman in the way he did." Mr. Rowe, the sheriff, seemed particularly desirous that the reporters should notice that "everything passed off very successfully," that Calcraft had done his duty very efficiently, and that the man had died "very comfortably." "Indeed," added Mr. Sheriff Rowe, while signing the book, certifying that he, too, had done his duty officially, "I never saw a man so comfortable in my life" (!) And so the comfortable execution concluded. It was stated that mass was to be celebrated "for the repose of the soul of the deceased" in all the Roman Catholic chapels in Chester yesterday.

Martin Doyle's father settled at Ormskirk many years ago. Young Martin was put to the plough, and eventually he learnt the art of glazing, frequented farm houses, and gradually became a travelling glazier. He never went to school, but was self-taught, and could read very well.

THE LATE WILLIAM LYON MACKENZIE.

From the Toronto Correspondence of the Ottawa Citizen.

Toronto, Aug. 31, 1861.

It is unfortunate that a man's death must precede a general appreciation of his character and services. William Lyon Mackenzie, whose body, whilst I write, is being borne to its last resting place, is but another illustration of the tendency of people to defer an estimate of individual career until the individual has been removed from the sphere of their influence. Living, the old man was little cared for. Being dead, all parties praise him, and his funeral cortege would do honor to the memory of a king. In the sad procession now in motion, all classes of our citizens are amply represented. The Mayor and corporation are there to dignify the ashes of the first chief magistrate ever elected to preside over the affairs of this city. Radical and Tory walk and ride together, the more pointedly to prove the sincerity of their conviction that the dead man's errors were on the side of his country. It is a funeral which demonstrates that in the long-run honesty is cherished; that blunders and even crimes are forgiven by the people if their authors have but acted under the pressure of disinterested impulses. The pity—I say again—is, that the generous verdict is postponed until the being most concerned is placed beyond the jurisdiction of earthly tribunals.

The published biographies, however, omit all reference to the last moments of their subject; and as I was the first to communicate the fact of his illness, so I may be pardoned for telling somewhat of his dying hours.

The tenacity with which Mr. Mckenzie clung to existence was wonderful. For months past his decay has been visible to his friends, but his own stern will knew no yielding. He complained of giddiness when walking, but he would not consent to abstain from exercise. His conversation was frequently incoherent, and his speech sometimes unintelligible. Still he refused to admit the fact of failure. And when some weeks ago he was seized with a fit of dizziness in the street, and was unable to walk home, his high spirit groaned the entire distance at the idea of coming death. From then until Wednesday night, he lingered in his chamber; the doctors unitedly pronouncing recovery impossible — himself insisting upon his power to struggle into health again. He refused to take medicine, and only by strategy was an occasional dose passed into his system. He ate nothing but ripe fruit and preserves, and only at long intervals was induced to sip the stimulants, which his advisers prescribed for his temporary relief. Oftimes his speech was unintelligible—the Gaelic of his childhood recurring more frequently to his tongue than intelligible English. Even during these periods his mind was sometimes clear; the gentle pressure of the hand told of recognitions of which the lips failed to speak; the motion of his finger indicated wants for which he had no words; and the expression of his eye gave assurances of grateful pleasure when other organs were beyond control. Now and then, with all his faculties against him, he insisted upon rising and being dressed, only to lie down again dispirited and weaker than ever. Some of the more important functions of nature appeared to be suspended during the last month of his existence, and for days together he was unconscious.

On Sunday, his once vigorous frame made its last great effort. He knew the members of his household. He received the visits of one or two long attached friends. He listened intelligently to the consolations of religion, and in reply to one who spoke of death as a certainty, and of preparation for it as the prelude to happiness, he said, "it is necessary." These were his last words or nearly. Throughout Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday he was for the most part unconscious, as well of suffering as the loved ones who watched around his bed. As death approached his struggles became severe. His heavy breathing was audible in the remotest corner of the house. His conflict with "the last enemy" was painful; and his spirit took its flight with the sun that shone upon his last hours on earth.

I saw the old man in his grave clothes, stretched upon the bed on which he died. All the marks of the struggle had vanished. His countenance was placid and even cheerful. The vast volume of his brain was rendered more prominent by contrast with the shrunken features beneath it.

William Howitt somewhere expressed the opinion that the best test of a man's goodness is the nature of his feelings toward children, and of their feelings toward him. The hypothesis, that a man who loves children and is loved by them, must in the main be a good man. Mr Mackenzie might have submitted to this test without fear of the result. In health and in sickness, in his labors, in his death-bed, his affection for children knew no limit. Almost his last moments of consciousness were consumed in play with his tiny grand daughter. And throughout his chequered life, these feelings were reciprocated by his family. Of the devotion of his wife, the journalists have spoken. With equal truth they might have chronicled the ardent affection of his children. None was ever more loved by those who knew him best.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT AT A PHILADELPHIA THEATRE.

FOURTEEN BALLET GIRLS BURNED—SIX DEAD.

(From the Philadelphia Press.)

An accident of frightful fatality occurred at the Continental Theatre, in Walnut st., on Saturday night. A few weeks ago Mr. William Wheatley, an old and favorite actor and manager, leased and refitted the stage edition of Shakespeare's "Tempest" and devoted unusual means to perfecting the scenic and mechanical arrangements. The ballet corps was numerous. All at once, those accustomed to witnessing show pieces saw an unnecessary light glaring over the top of the rear scene. Before they had time to speculate upon it a number of men in shirt-sleeves (stage carpenters) made their appearance, and, while the confusion grew momentary, a sharp scream rang upon the ears of the people, and a woman in ballet costume, with her dress on fire, emerged from the side scenes waving her arms above her head. In a moment she fell into the abyss where the ship was riding. At the same time a succession of screams ensued. Trinculo suddenly ceased to joke, and dropped into the waters, while Stephano forgot to be drunk, and became sober as a judge. The girls were dressing for the ballet. The dressing-rooms adjoin Sansom-street, and in one at the north-west corner of the building the Misses Gale were adjusting themselves for the ballet for Act II. Miss Zelia Gale, one of the sisters, stood upon a settee to reach her dress, and when in the act of handing it down, the flame of gas from an adjacent tube set it on fire, the flame communicating to her under clothes, and she was all ablaze in an instant. Her sisters rushed up to extinguish the fire, and they too were ignited. The fire mounted to their arms and breasts, inflicting terrible burns. Panic stricken, they ran from the room, through a narrow passage-way, into the next dressing-room filled with ballet ladies. The gauze dresses of these blazed up directly, and screaming, struggling, wrestling, the poor creatures either turned and leaped from the windows into Sansom street or ran hither and thither calling for assistance. Miss Zelia Gale, with her clothing on fire and uttering loud screams, ran down stairs and upon the stage, behind the scenes, falling below the stage level, where she was caught in the arms of Mr Thomas Bayard, the carpenter of the theatre. Mr. Bayard in attempting to extinguish the fire with a "asbestos cloth," was himself burned about the hands and arms. Miss Clara Clifton was caught in the arms of the bystanders, having leaped down and escaped unhurt, her clothing not having taken fire. Miss Hannah Gale did not jump from the window until she was badly burned, and when she leaped she fell to the ground upon her back and sustained severe injuries from the fall as well as from her burns. She was carried into Greer's tavern, near by, where she lay in an almost hopeless condition at a late hour. On Sunday, at 10 o'clock, she expired in the hospital in great agony. Miss Anna Nicholls, in her fright, jumped from a platform to the stage, a distance of about ten feet. She will not recover. Miss Abby Carr was burned about the breast and waist. Phebe Forbes died in the morning at nine o'clock. Miss Anna McBride died at 6 o'clock in the morning. Misses Adaline and Ruth Gale are badly burned. Their cases are not hopeless. Mrs. Mary E. Harmon will not live. Her husband watched her up to a late hour last night. Mrs. Anna Phillipps died during Sunday afternoon. Kate Harris burnt slightly. The Misses Gale were young ladies of prepossessing appearance. They were excellent dancers. They were English by birth, and they first appeared professionally in Philadelphia in the Resmi troupe at the time "Faust" was brought out as a ballet at the Academy of Music. Six of these burned women had died up to midnight last night, and four more are not expected to survive the next twenty-four hours. All of them suffered terribly, calling for water most piteously, and maintaining their senses unimpaired to the last.

Mr. and Mrs. Wheatley were in the hospital throughout, ministering to their necessities, and doing all in their power to make their last moments peaceful. The matter was purely accidental, and no stigma can in any way be cast upon the management.

The following additional particulars are from the Philadelphia North American:

Hannah Gale had lain at Greer's saloon. Soon after she was brought there her pain ceased—the result of inward mortification. She was entirely tranquil, and calmly acted those present to read the Bible to her. An intimate friend, Miss Annie Wilks, (late of Toronto,) spent some time with her reading the sacred book. For herself she had no apprehensions, but for her sisters and her mother she felt keen anxiety. Anna McBride died first. Her mind wandered shortly after her reception at the hospital, and at 6 o'clock death removed her to the land of spirits. Miss Phelps was the next to go. At one o'clock the messenger came and she expired, in the full possession of her faculties, glad to be released from sufferings which were utterly fell to give a description of. Hannah Gale died at three o'clock. A death-bed more solemn, yet less mournful in seldom seen. The Gale sisters have lived—as says everybody who knew them—a blameless life. Less noble men in a circle of sisters, perhaps, was never known. Hallowed during her last moments manifested a degree of resignation too sublime to result from anything but sustaining grace. She had lived a blameless life, and, dying, she declared that He who had been her strength in life was now supporting her as the veil between life and eternity grew thin. The dying girl [illegible]ed as few people would respect the [illegible] of conversing, and as the last [illegible] appeared upon her lips, the name of Saviour was pronounced with it.

THE DEAD DRUMMER BOY.

The correspondent of the New York Commercial writes from the camp of the 19th (N. Y.) Regiment, as follows:—

THE FIRST FUNERAL.

We had our first military funeral on Saturday afternoon.

The day before, one of our drummers, Joseph Winters, was drowned while bathing. He was a pleasant, good boy, and his sudden death made a deep impression in the encampment. His body was brought up from the creek and laid beneath a new tent pitched for to receive it, under the trees on the north side of parade ground. The men stood in silent rows in front of the tent till sundown, while a guard detailed for the purpose paced slowly back and forth. A letter was found in Joseph's pocket from "Cousin Laura," and as his comrades thought he had no parents, or brothers, or sisters living, his captain wrote to her.

A little barefooted fellow about eight years old stood on the land when Joseph's body was recovered by the divers, and when the surgeon, promptly on the spot, was vainly endeavouring to start the water clogged wheels of life, the little barefooted fellow walked in silence up the hill side with the men who carried the body, following close behind; and there he stood before the tent curtains in serious silence. At last he spoke, with respectful and clear, manly enunciation, to one of the officers:

"Will you be so kind as to tell me, sir, whether he was a good boy?"

"I believe he was, my little fellow, but I did not know him very well."

"Has he a father or mother?"

"Why do you ask, my boy?"

"Because, I hope that he did not have a mother, sir, or a father; they would feel so badly to hear that he was drowned." The officer cleared his throat, and the little boy went on. "And if, sir, he has no mother, or father, and he was a good boy, then I am glad."

"Why glad, my boy?"

"Because, sir, what the Lord does is always right." The funeral sermon was preached, unsurpassed in truth, comprehension, simplicity and beauty, and if you could have heard the utterance of the boy, its purity of wording, spoken in such unmarred accent, you would have felt that Christ's model, presented to his disciples, of a child brought to Him by believing parents, was the model for His ministers to the present day.

"At four o'clock, on Saturday afternoon, the Pennsylvania Band, of twenty-four pieces in front of the dead boy's tent, gently sounded forth one of the sad melodies which make military funerals peculiarly impressive; the company formed in marching order; the escort stood with muskets reversed; the remaining part of the regiment formed in the centre of the parade ground in face-to-face columns, and the procession moved to the slow beat of the muffled drums.

The boy was placed in a plain coffin, which was wrapped in the Stars and Stripes and upon it was laid a large wreath of green leaves and wild flowers, and so we carried him to an old burying ground not far distant, where the tomb-stones were all moss-covered, and inclined, where the grass was untrodden, and where the corn-shaped cedars stood in irregular and friendly groups.

When his body was lowered, the chaplain read selections from the Bible, and offered prayer, the escort fired the military salute, the soldiers formed again in line, and we left the sleeper till the resurrection.

THE JEALOUS DOG.

The following singular tough story is related by Judge Haliburton, in his recent work entitled "Nature and Human Nature":—

Last summer my duties sent me to George's Island. I take it for granted you know it. It is a small island situated in the centre of the harbor of Halifax, has a powerful battery on it, and barracks for the accommodation of troops.

There was a company of my regiment stationed there at the time. I had this Newfoundland and a small terrier called Tit, in the boat with me. The latter was a very active little fellow that the General had given me a few weeks before. He was such an amusing creature that he soon became a universal favorite, and was suffered to come into the house, a privilege that was never granted to the other gentlemen, who paid no regard to the appearance of his coat, which was often wet and dirty, and he was therefore excluded.

The consequence was, Thunder was a jealous dog, and would not associate with him, and if he ever took any liberty, he turned upon him and punished him severely. This, however, he did not do in my presence, as if he knew I would not suffer it; and therefore when the both accompanied me in my walks, the big dog contented himself by treating the other with perfect indifference and contempt. Upon this occasion Thunder lay down in the boat and composed himself to sleep, and the little fellow who was full of life and animation, and appeared as if he did not know what was to lay down and close his eyes, sat up, looked over the gunwale: and seemed to enjoy the thing uncommonly. He watched the motions of the men, as if he understood what was required of them, and was anxious they would acquit themselves properly.

After having made my inspection, I returned to the boat, for the purpose of returning to the town, when I missed the terrier. Thunder was close at my heels, and when I whistled for the other, wagged his tail and looked up in my face, as if he would say, never mind that foolish dog, I am here that is enough; or is there anything you want me to do?

After calling in vain I went back to the barracks, and inquired of the men for Tit; but no one appeared to have noted his movements.

After perambulating the little island in vain, I happened to ask the sentry if he knew where he was.

Yes, sir, he is buried on the beach.

"Buried in the beach" said I, with great anger. Who dared to kill him? Tell me sir, immediately.

The large dog did it, sir. He enticed him to the shore by playing with him, pretending to crouch and then run after him, and then retreating and coaxing him to run after him; and when he got him near the beach he throttled him to an instant, and then scratched a hole in the shore and buried him, covering him up with the gravel. After that he went into the water, and with his paws washed his face and head, shook himself and went into the barracks. You will find the terrier just down there, sir." And sure enough there was the poor little fellow, quite dead, and yet warm.

In the meantime, Thunder, who had watched our proceeding from a distance, as soon as he saw the body exhumed, felt as if there was a court martial holding over himself, plunged into the harbor, and swam across to the town, and hid himself for several days, until he thought the affair had blown over; and then he approached me cautiously and cautiously, lest he should be apprehended and condemned. As I was unwilling to lose both my dogs I was obliged to overlook it, and take him back to my confidence.

A MATRIMONIAL HOAX.

The following advertisement recently appeared in a Manchester paper:

"A thriving young widower, of good character, with children, wishes to correspond with a suitable lady, about 30, of small means, with a view to matrimony and domestic happiness.—Address M. 87, at the printer's."

The above was answer by one of a party of young men in Macclesfield, who despatched the following letter, written in a lady's hand:

Shakespeare Inn, Duke Street,
Macclesfield, August 17, 1861.

DEAR SIR,—In reply to your advertisement, I shall have no objections to correspond with you with a view to matrimony. I am about the age you mention, have property in Buxton realising £2 5s. per week. I possess £300 in the bank, and have large expectations from a friend aged 70. I shall be glad to hear from you. Send your photograph, or arrange for an interview as soon as possible, as I shall leave town shortly. I could have my choice of say young men here, but should prefer a stranger, for reasons that I can satisfactorily explain on our first interview. Truly yours,

MARY GOULD.

The above letter elicited the following reply, which came to hand on Sunday morning:

Howe, Manchester, Aug. 24, 1861.

DEAR MARY,—I have only received your letter this morning; it must have been overlooked at the office. In reply, I think the best course to take in this matter is to have an interview at once. I will be over at Macclesfield to-morrow (Sunday) morning, by the train that arrives at 11.30 and if you do not wish to see me where you are staying, I will remain about the station until all the passengers are gone, and if I see you, will introduce myself, or, if I do not see you, I will go to where you are staying. I have stated confidence can be kept in either case, as none but ourselves will know the object of my visit. I remain your very obedient servant,

———.

This last letter having come unexpectedly, the conspirators were hardly prepared with a "suitable lady." The 11.30 train brought the young widower, a middle-aged pensive-looking, respectably-attired man, dressed in black. Not finding the object of his visit at the station, he forthwith made his way to her apartments at the Shakespeare, where he was invited to take a seat, and await the young lady's arrival at Buxton, whence she was expected every moment. He had not waited long before a fashionably-dressed, good-looking young woman drove up to the door in a cab, and on entering the house the visitor at once introduced himself. Tea was ordered, and whilst the two were discussing and arranging preliminaries, revealing to each other their family connections, social position, and worldly possessions, a conclave of young men were preparing the oven in which the "young widower" was to be cooked. Presently two of them entered the room where the couple were seated at tea, by apologising for the intrusion by remarking that the of persons. He sought refuge in the police office, and found his way to the railway station, where a large crowd awaited his arrival. He was subjected to a series of insults, which were only terminated by the train carrying him off to Manchester.

THE AMERICAN REPUBLIC A THING OF THE PAST.

From the London Times, September 4th

The crash of a new political world is an awful phenomenon. War has dashed like a comet upon the great American Republic, and all the institutions and destinies of that mighty Union seemed scattered in fragments around. It is impossible to predict the formations that may survive after the convulsion has passed away, but all that we now are tends irresistably to convince us that we shall never again behold that specimen of political organization which so emerged us with its growth and impressed us with its apparent vigor. The United States of North America have ceased to be. Whether their place will be taken by two Unions or twenty, whether the principles of confederation will be merely limited or absolutely discarded, nobody can venture to foretell, but we cannot so much as imagine any course of events which will leave the last state of things with much resemblance to the first. Enough has now been learnt to show that the subjugation of the South is next to impossible of His submission in the highest degree improbable. The territories of the old Union will be divided, nor will the partition be territorial only. Between the North & South there will be barriers of feelings, interests, and traditions. They will look long upon each other with jealousy and suspicion almost with still worse sentiments, and the "frontier" will require the same garrisons and observances as that between two Monarchies of the European continent. This however, presumes the maintenance of standing armies, warlike estimates, and oppressive taxation; while these burdens again will exercise an influence upon all social and political institutions. Never could a more wonderful problem be presented.

We need say little in a defence of an assumption that the conquest of the South by the armies North has now become a most improbable event. All the incidents of the war appear to have been in favor of the Confederate States. In the only engagements approaching to the character of a pitched battle, the Southern troops have been victorious, and, though we hear little operations, it is at least certain that they are aggressive, and that the Federal Government is alarmed for the safety of the capital. With affairs in such a state every day detracts from the chances of compromise, except on the basis of a recognized separation, and it will have been seen, indeed, from our New York correspondence that the staunchest Federalists have now brought themselves to contemplate this disruption of the Union as a possible result. Hitherto, the lapse of time, while it has evidently added to the confidence of the South, has brought little accession of strength to the North. The States adhering to the Union do indeed contribute men and munitions on a scale which does honor to their patriotism, but the battalions are undisciplined, ill equipped, and, what is worse than all, insubordinate. The rerses and privations of an unsuccessful war are very different from the glories of the brief campaign which was contemplated by the President's volunteers, and the jealousy which the Americans entertain of all authority finds its expression even in a camp. On the other hand, the Southerners has addicted to the institutions of democracy, thus imbued with ideas of social equality, and conscious pr bably of a more desperate position, have carried far greater energy to the work of war. We can see that in the South power is concentrated and obedience enforced, and we find the natural results in a clear military superiority.

These, however, are not the only points at which the action of the war is traceable. We observe its effects on the Federal Government itself, and all tend in one and the same direction. The power of the President has been enormously increased, and that weakness of the Executive which was regarded by Americans as an essential feature of their Constitution is rapidly giving place to a very despotic species of authority. Complaints were actually made in Congress about the tyrannical proceedings of Government officers, and the jurisdiction of Provost-Marshal is tolerated in Washington itself. The latest accounts inform us that the Habeas Corpus Act has been virtually suspended, that arrests for treason were frequent, and that Fort Lafayette was full of State prisoners. We seem in reading such reports to be carried away from Republican Washington to Milan under the Austrian, or Naples, under the Bourbon rule. To complete the picture we actually find in the land of political liberty and social freedom the abrupt establishment of a system which the old states of Europe seldom ventured to defend, and we have now begun to discard. Passports are ship used with over many parts of the continent, but they are rigorously insisted on in the United States. It is not merely on the frontier between the two armies that these documents are required. No person whatever can depart from any port of the United States, without a passport from the Federal Government. A traveller would find himself more at liberty in Venice than in New York.

We are not reflecting upon these edicts as matters of course. They jar strangely, it is true, with our ideas of America and its institutions, but they are the unavoidable incidents of all war. President Lincoln could do no less, and we are fully prepared, indeed, to find that he does a great deal more. War has brought in host of new exigencies in its train. If the President is no longer merely the Chief Magistrate of the people, but the head of the national forces, he must exercise something like military authority. The institutions of peace must give way to the necessities of war, and the people see this as well as the Government. A New York journal has actually called aloud for the censorship of the press, and any act calculated to give vigor to the Administration would probably meet with general approval. All such acts, however, must needs tend in one way—to the limitation of public liberties and the extension of a civil power. This result is inevitable, and the only point, indeed, admitting of question is the impression likely to be left hereafter on the institutions of the country. Will the Americans, when the war is concluded, return to their old form of government? We doubt it much.

As we cannot now contemplate the subjugation and reunion of the South as a probable event, we must assume that the two sections of the Union will be established independently of each other. To venture as little as possible upon political speculations, let us assume that the Union is carried no further, and that the United States of the North divide with the Confederate States of the South all the territory and population of the old American Republic. Each, then, of these two will powerful Unions will constitute an Administration for itself. What form will that Administration take in the South? True, the Secessionists proclaimed a Constitution on the old American model, but it is low enough that the authority actually exercised in those parts is that of a military dictator, and not of a Democratic President.

BUSINESS PROSPECTS.

From the New York World.

The fall trade is about to open, and with much more agreeable prospects than the most sanguine could have hoped for a month ago. New York will not do the enormous traffic of former years, but what there is of it will be profitable to those who have not succumbed to the times.

To such as are apt to take gloomy views of the future, we present the following considerations, which seem to us to indicate a much better state of affairs than we have had during the past months:

1. The country was never in a more healthy monetary condition than it is to-day. There is no speculation; trade—what there is of it—is profitable, and there is more coin in the banks and among the people than at any previous period of our country's history.

2. Notwithstanding the loss of the trade of the South (and we do not wish to overlook or belittle its importance,) there are still twenty million of industrious free people left who must eat and be clothed and, have their real and artificial wants ministered to. This is a large basis upon which to readjust the industrial and commercial systems.

3. The existence of war is itself a stimulus to certain branches of industry, and employs in the field and in the making of army materials, at least one third of the available labor of the North. As yet, we scarcely realize this fact, but as time progresses it will become more and more apparent.

4. Under the government demand for vessels, and the immense export of breadstuffs abroad, our shipping interest is tolerably prosperous. There is a demand for sailors, and good ships are in request.

5. Our crops of wheat, corn, pork, and provisions will be very large this year, and we can sell all we can ship. Our imports have been and will continue to be light, and there will be no demand for foreign goods; hence, not only will the balance of trade be in our favor, but our own manufactures will be employed to replace by domestic foreign fabrics heretofore used.

In additions to these considerations, it is well also to bear in mind that the irrespectable Yankee is not to be kept down by adverse circumstances. We may loose the South, and with it a vast trade, but in any event there is great deal of work, to do in this world, and we intend to have more than our share of such of it as is profitable. Since the dawn of time there has been no nation that will compare, in enterprise, ingenuity, capacity for work and business faculty, with the people who inhabit those Northern States. Such a people are never ruined under any circumstances, and as yet they know no such word as Fail.

CHASE AFTER A FRAUDULENT BANKRUPT.

The London Times narrates a most interesting story:—On Wednesday afternoon Michael Haydon, the well known city detective officer, returned to London, having for the last six weeks been engaged in one of the most exciting chases after a fraudulent bankrupt which probably ever occur ed. It may be in the recollection of our readers that a merchant named Ludisla Kise, who carried on business in Watling street (city) was a short time back adjudicated bankrupt, that he failed to surrender, absconding with, it is believed, as much as £40,000, the property of his creditors. A warrant was issued, and a reward of £100 offered for his apprehension; but these not having the effect of securing his person, the case was placed in the hands of Haydon, who, it is but fair to say, has evinced remarkable tact and judgment in all the movements he has taken, and has ultimately succeeded in stopping the career of so notorious a delinquent. The result of certain inquiries made in London induced Haydon (who was armed with the warrant and a photograph of the man he sought) to proceed in the first place to Malta. Here distinct traces were found of Kise, who had, however, already left for Naples. Thither the officer hastened, but arrived too late to secure his man, who had again decamped. Here for a time the trace seemed likely to be lost, but Hayden, after travelling so far was not to be outwitted. He therefore instituted very diligent inquiries, and made a fortunate discovery.—He ascertained that a Sardinian war steamer had a few days before left Naples for Genoa, and that a stranger dressed as an officer in the Hungarian army was on board. The description given answered that of Kise and believed that he had disguised himself as a soldier in order to escape from Naples without being questioned. To Genoa Haydon started without further delay. Here he found his impressions to have been correct in every particular; but after a short stay in Genoa the delinquent had continued his journey onwards, and had gone it was believed, to Turin.

Without the least loss of time the officer was on his road to Turin, and upon his arrival put himself in communication with the authorities, having reason to believe that Kise was still in the capital of Piedmont.—He was not long in doubt, for in a day or two afterwards Haydon met a well-dressed man walking in the principal streets. The practical ability in applying photography to assist the ends of justice was now proved in the most convincing manner. The photograph established the fact that the man coming down the street in a quiet unsuspecting manner was Kise; but an international difficulty presented itself. Although the delinquent had been traced he could not be arrested. Haydon followed him to a first-class hotel, where he was staying, and afterwards sought an interview with Sir James Hudson, the British minister, who expressed his regret that he could not move in the matter until he received instructions from home. He however, telegraphed immediately to Earl Russel, who saw Sir George Grey, the home Secretary, upon the matter, and Sir James received a reply that he was to render every assistance in his power. The British Minister now waited upon Baron Ricasoli, who expressed his doubt whether, as Kise was by birth an Austrian, he could order his apprehension. He certainly declined to do so on his own responsibility, but promised to consult the minister of justice as to what could be done under the circumstances. The conference took place, and it was ultimately decided that Kise should be given over to the English officer.

All these negotiations had taken considerable time, and when the warrant was issued to take him into custody, Kise was on his way to Milan. It is presumed that the absconding bankrupt had now become acquainted with what was going on, for he had told the hotel keeper that he intended to reside permanently in Turin, and that he was arranging for the occupancy of a house in another part of the city, which he indicated. He, however, left with great precipitation, and forgot some of his luggage. By some it is thought he was advised to leave Turin, his absence being the surest mode of escaping what might have resulted in a political difficulty. Haydon, however, continued the pursuit to Milan, but here again the trace seemed lost. No one under the name of Kise was known to have entered Milan, but Haydon, imagining that he might have assumed his wife's maiden name, made inquiries for a person calling himself Borlasse. He ascertained that a man who had given that name, and who answered Kiss' description, had left Milan for Desenzano. Once more on his track, the officer followed up the chase with remarkable energy, and nearly came up with him at Peschiera. He followed on to Venice, where he once more found Kise. He applied to the authorities for assistance, and upon inquiry it was discovered that Kise had been travelling as an American, and was described as an American in his passport. This occasioned another difficulty, for while the Austrian police stated they should offer no opposition to his arrest if he still announced himself as an American, they intimated they could not withhold from him the rights and privileges of a subject of Austria if he should demand them.

Haydon went to Kise, read the warrant to him, and intimated that he must make preparations for immediately going back to London. He declined to accompany the officer, refused to renounce his privileges as an Austrian, and at once claimed the protection of the authorities. But the admission that he was an Austrian by no means released Kise from his perilous position, for by the law of Austria, any subject being guilty of defrauding his creditors in the same manner that Kise had done, in any country with which friendly relations existed, rendered himself liable to fifteen years imprisonment. Kise therefore was at once seized by the Venetian police, and conveyed to gaol. Upon being searched, £200 in gold was found upon him, as well as a large quantity of jewellery and a packet of very valuable diamonds. Several boxes containing wearing appearl and miscellaneous property, were also secured, as well as some valuables found in possession of his wife, who it may be added, accompanied her husband in his flight from England, and has never left him since. Leaving Kise in a prison in Venice, Haydon proceeded to Vienna, where he saw Lord Bloomfield, the British minister, who evinced every desire to render assistance, but stated that he was afraid the authorities would decline to give their prisoner up. His lordship, however, had an interview with the foreign minister, who said he should not advise the giving-up of the prisoner unless Lord Bloomfield would undertake on the part of England that all Austrians in Great Britain should be given up when demanded. Of course Lord Bloomfield was unable to entertain the question for a moment, and Haydon was compelled to return to London, leaving the prisoner in the hands of the Venetian police.

A STRANGE STORY.

A correspondent of the Lockport Union narrates that Chauncey Coe, of Canandaigua, died about twenty years ago, leaving a widow, a son and a daughter with competence. The widow devoted to herself her children. The daughter grew up and married. The son, upon attaining his majority engaged in a manufacturing business, but in 1849 he left his business and went out to California. Soon after arriving, his factory was destroyed by fire and he found himself penniless in the streets of Sanfranchisco. He suddenly disappeared and for twelve years his fate was unknown. Meantime, some few years after his disappearance, a childless uncle (Belan Coe, of Buffallo,) died, and by will left to him and his sister ample property through life, with reversion to their children, but with a provision that in a case of their death, without issue, the reversion should go to some educational and charitable institutions. Under the will, the sister has enjoyed her share of the rents and profits, the share of the lost one meantime being under the direction of the court deposited in a savings bank, until after some seven years having elapsed, the two reversionary institutions instituted proceedings to secure his share of the property. The court upon a full hearing, decided that after this lapse of time, without his being discovered he must be judicially dead, and that one of the claimants should enter upon the enjoyment of his proportion of the rents and profits. As to its other its charter not permitting it to take real estate, it was thrown out altogether, and that share not being legally conveyed by the will, reverted to the heirs by law unconditionally, who are these same children. During all this time the sister's husband, with a zeal and pertinacity worthy of all commendation, has been unremitting in his endeavours to find the lost one. After all else had been compelled to believe him long dead, he has continued to spend time and money in his discovery. He has communicated with every American Consul of the Islands of the Pacific, and Australia. He has sent circulars, offering a large reward, to California and Oregon. He has advertised with a reward in the papers of the shipping and whaling ports. He has received many communications from sea captains and others professing to give information, which has always proved erroneous. Until at last every endeavour having proved fetile, and even a mother's hope discouraged, whose locks have become white in the long sleepless agony of waiting for the return of an only and beloved son, within the last month, suddenly, and without the least previous notice, the truant drives up to the mother's door. Alive and well, with face burned and bronzed to parchment, by exposure to sun and wind, he has come back at last to that mother, and that sister, who have so long mourned him as dead and lost to them for ever. And where upon this earth has the truant been hidden, that a mother's and sister's love could not find him? Why in about the only part of the globe which has not been searched for him. In South Africa, far from the Cape, for many years, and in China several times. He was employed in the Caffre war. He has hunted elephants and zebras. He has dealt in and drove cattle and traded with the natives. He has met with losses by wreck and fire. He has suffered fevers and the accidents of a wandering life, until at last in middle age, the yearning to once more see his native land and embrace his aged mother and his sister became too strong to be resisted. He sailed for Liverpool, thence to New York, and there for the first time heard things of his family and his fortune, and that, of all his letters home, not one had been received.

THE PERIL.

There is no disguising the fact that the army at Washington is on the eve of a general battle with the encroaching secessionists. Day after day since the battle of Manassas they have cautiously advanced, out-post after out-post, constructing rifle pits, barricades and batteries, preparing, according to their own accounts, for a blow upon Washington, or flank movement into Maryland. In this connection the New York World says:—

"We are not permitted to state the numbers or the disposition of our forces, but the country may be assured that an army larger than any which has hitherto been gathered in defence of the capital, better equipped, better officered, and better disciplined, and better disposed in relation to the enemy, will defend our holy cause.—The plans by which they were guided have been moulded by the greatest general and strategist of his age, they will be executed under the personal lead and direction of the young and gallant general in whom the trust of the nation is so confidently reposed.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

House and Lot for Sale—Alex. Graham.
Fall and Winter Goods—W. Cluxton.
Watson's Neuralgia King—A. J. Mathews.
Mathews' Chocolate Worm Drops.
The Great French Remedy.
To the Rescue—James Stewart.
Ready-made Clothing—J. Haffey.

The Examiner.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1861

TRENT ELECTION.

CLOSE OF THE POLLS.

	SMITH.	FLINT.
Peterboro,	325	225
Ashburnham,	74	47
Otonabee,	160	284
Ennismore,	107	3
Smith,	146	247
Monaghan,	46	85
Douro,	225	32
Dummer,	87	86
Asphodel,	180	118
Belmont,	36	54
Galway, &c.,	156 maj.
Total,	1542	1181
Majority in Peterboro,	361
" N. Hastings,		111
" Lennox,		70
	361	181

Majority for Smith, 180.

Tudor, not heard from—will give Flint a large majority.

The above is the state of the polls at the close, as nearly as we can ascertain. We confess our disappointment at the result, but when we consider the monstrous influences brought to bear in favor of the Postmaster General, and the additional fact that throughout the Division a numerous body of our co-religionists (probably no less than 1,200 voters) went undividedly to the polls for Mr. Smith, the majority for that gentleman is not at all to be wondered at.

Although Mr. Smith may take his seat in the Legislative Council as member for the Trent Division, the friends of Mr. Flint and the Reform cause have everything to be proud of, in that against influences the most corrupt, and means the most foul, and the united strength of a very numerous religious body, they have polled to within a few votes of the Ministerial candidate, in a Division containing over 8,000 voters.

Should the election be contested when Parliament meets—and we have no reason to doubt that it will be—it will be shown that far more votes than the number of Mr. Smith's majority were obtained by illegal and corrupt means. It is a hard thing to say, but that men were bought in this County like cattle in the market, on Monday and Tuesday last, is just as true as that we are in existence. Had the election been conducted on fair and honorable principles, the majority for Mr. Flint would to-day be many hundreds.

THE AMERICAN WAR.

This unhappy contest still drags its slow length along. Nothing decisive happening, nothing of moment, judging from the past, likely to take place just yet—one side being afraid to attack and the other not daring to do so. The clouds, however, grow blacker and blacker. Compromise appears to be now out of the question. There must be fighting and that not on the child's play scale ere the sword shall be sheathed in peace. The South seems determined not to yield, and the North is determined to prosecute the war with all the vigor in its power. In the mean time the border States are oscillating between the two parties.—Kentucky seems determined to maintain for the present its neutrality, whilst Maryland is making strong efforts to be fully identified with the South. Missouri remains in a most distracted state—no man having confidence in his neighbor. It must be admitted, however, that all three of these States have more sympathy with the South than with the North. The North appears determined to make the best of their fleet, and will do all they can to harrass the enemy on the sea coast. To do this, however, they require many additional troops to act in conjunction with the fleet. A difficulty is here presented, they cannot get men. Enlisting has almost ceased. The very large bounty which is offered does not tempt men at the North to go down South. Each Southern State will now more than ever, since the loss of Hatteras Point, have men on the alert to guard their own soil from invasion. In this state of affairs a single man cannot be spared from any division of the Northern army. All that can be spared from Washington are required in Missouri, Virginia Kentucky and Tennessee.

Indeed the war papers declare that one hundred thousand men are at this moment required, and that two hundred thousand would be better in addition to the Northern army. The peril at Washington is very great. A general battle is then hourly expected. Ever since the the Bull Run fight the Southerners have steadily advanced, cautiously and skilfully, protecting themselves with rifle pits, barricades, masked and open batteries, &c., and furnishing themselves according to the best accounts, with all the horrid appliances necessary for invasion. Despite this well-known danger men cannot be induced to come forward to fight for the Union. The New York Herald hesitates not to suggest that half of the bounty ($100) to which volunteers will be entitled at the end of the war be advanced at once, and declares that in no other way can the men absolutely required be obtained. This after all shows that much patriotism cannot be expected from the army yet to be raised, when only necessary inducements can bring it together.

☞ Our friend B. A. last week favored the electors with another advice to vote for Mr. Smith, and we have to congratulate him on his improvement in spelling and syntax. Our criticism has done him good. As for refuting his arguments there was no little to refute that we should not have noticed the gentleman at all, had he not made so much ado about "learning" and "education," displaying at the same time blunders unworthy of any one assuming to give lectures on education. Our object was to show this vaunted scholar that his writing was defective—not so much to controvert what he said about the electors voting one way or the other. This would have been easy enough, had we deemed what he advanced worthy of notice. He says in his last that we "do not like his letters"—that we used "absurd and false attempts to ridicule his style." This charge is rather serious, and we advise our friend to sit down calmly and review what we have said about him, and also to consult his dictionary whether he has chosen the correct terms in designating our "attempts" at ridicule. We contend that they are neither "absurd" nor "false," as B. A. must admit on reflection. We trust in future he will improve still more, and we shall be happy in having to chronicle the fact.

☞ We are in receipt of a copy of "Lloyd's Military Map and Gazetteer of the Southern States." The map is in size about three feet by five feet, and is engraved on steel, and coloured. At the present time, when an important war is going on within the Southern borders, this map should be before every reader; every mile of march of either army may be traced, and a correct idea obtained of the true state of things there. The price of the map is only $1 per copy, or ten copies for $5. Address J. T. Lloyd, publisher, New York City.

☞ Some ill-disposed person cut and defaced a carriage in which Mr. Smith was drawn home in on Tuesday night. Per contra a piece of black crape was pinned over the likeness of Mr. Flint at Cox's Daguerrian Gallery by some unknown person yesterday; and the bulletin board at the entrance to the office of this paper was wrenched from the wall, and carried off on Tuesday night. Such acts must meet the most decided condemnation of the respectable men of both parties, and we hope for the credit of our Town to hear of no more such occurrences.

☞ SACRED MUSIC.—Mr. R. Graham will open a class for the instruction of Sacred Vocal Music, in the basement of the First Presbyterian Church, on Wednesday next, 2nd October, at half-past 7 o'clock, p. m.

DISASTER AT QUEBEC.

QUEBEC, Sept. 21.

The Quebec Mercury says, that this morning as the tide arose a high sea was running directly into the St. Charles and beating with full force on the craft lying in the mud alongside the wharves on that stream; among these was a bateau lying on the other side of Orleans wharf east of the Gas works. This craft is one of the largest of its kind, belonging to Gilmour & Co, and was freighted with a thousand barrels of powder in the shape of lali-cartridges being the first portion she was about landing from the Transport Eliza Mary. When the storm arose about 3 o'clock this morning, the waves came right over the vessel before there was enough water to float her, and although the men of the War Department in charge gave notice, and a Company of soldiers were at once ordered down, the swamping of the cargo could not be prevented. The loss is estimated at nearly £5,000 currency, of which the hulls only will be available. About 11 o'clock this morning Captain Black, of the ship Mary Eliza was about proceeding to get some papers concerning the lost Government stores, when his boat shipped a quantity of water and sank off Gillespie's wharf. He and the seamen with him were picked up after being some 20 minutes in the water.

OUR NEW GOVERNOR.

The following paragraphs from papers received by the Africa, appear to leave no doubt that Sir Edmund Head is about to be superseded by Lord Monck as Governor General. One of them is from the London Post, a recognized organ of the British Government, and especially of the Premier, Lord Palmerston:

LORD MONCK'S APPOINTMENT AS GOVERNOR GENERAL.

From the London Globe.

"We understand that Viscount Monck is likely to succeed Sir Edmund Walker Head, as Governor General of Canada.—Although this appointment is somewhat exceptional in its character, from the fact of Lord Monck not having been previously in the Colonial service, it is one which we feel certain will be approved by the public generally and the community with whose interests it is more peculiarly connected. As a professional man, a member of Parliament for some years, and a member of the Government, Lord Monck evinced great business capacity and acquired general popularity. We have every reason to anticipate that his Canadian career will be attended with beneficial results to the public interests."

HIS LORDSHIP'S DUTY POINTED OUT BY THE PREMIER.

From the London Post:

"We do not anticipate that Viscount Monck will have a very difficult task. Even if by some accident peace should be restored in the United States, and the half a million men in arms should be let loose on Canada, the Province is quite ready and has full strength enough to hold its own. Viscount Monck, however, may accomplish great good by elevating the tone of public men in Canada. At present it is believed that the members of the Provincial Government (composed chiefly of lawyers) are not altogether innocent of complicity in those jobs which have made the Grand Trunk Railway a scandal and disgrace to the Province. In the present circumstances of the United States, he will not only have to maintain the dignity and neutrality of Canada, but he may foster manufactures and commerce, and, above all, attract to the Province, that vast stream of emigration which hitherto has so unaccountably proceeded to the States of the American Union."

News of the Week.

☞ The Nova Scotia gold fields are exciting attention, and the presence of the metal is supposed to extend over a large area.

☞ The Halifax papers state that the English and French fleets were to sail on the 15th of September for the Southern States, for the purpose of raising the blockade.

☞ The Memphis Avalanche says that one of the Louisiana companies in the battle at Manassas lost its captain. The company then unanimously elected the wife of the deceased to fill his place, and the lady, in uniform, passed through Memphis on the 11th inst., on her way to assume command of her company.

☞ Information has been received from Utah to the effect that the Mormons are declaring their design to seperate from the United States, and erect their territory into an independent Province. The Mormons further declare that no more government trains shall pass through their territory hereafter. The United States Government has taken measures to meet the difficulty.

☞ The Civil War in the United States has given a most remarkable and unexpected stimulus to the overland emigration to California and Oregon. The plains are swarming with caravans of emigrants from Missouri, Tennessee, and Kentucky, all destined for the Pacific coast. Should the war last a couple of years it would doubtless lead to very important transfers of population.

☞ The other day Mr. Moss of Lobo, threshed for Donald Sexton, Esq., Lobo, in twelve hours and a-half, 806 bushels of spring wheat. The wheat was measured by James Gibson, miller, Komoka.

☞ The Toronto Street Railway was opened on Tuesday, creating much interest in the City and Yorkville. This event was celebrated by a Dejeuner, Concert and Ball, all of which went off in the best style.

☞ At a recent meeting of Reformers in Simcoe, the Hon. Mr. Foley delivered a seasonable address on the duty of energetically laboring for the advancement of Reform principles. He dwelt on the value of organization, but contended that unless a local newspaper was vigorously supported, all other means of Reform triumph would be employed in vain.

☞ The crops of the South are suffering very severely from the heavy rains of August. The cotton crop in some quarters is in great danger from the army worm.

☞ It is reported that the Great Eastern has been chartered by the Imperial Government to convey troops to Halifax, Nova Scotia.

☞ Information is wanted respecting a man by the name of Thomas Mc Master, who was a school-teacher when heard of last; was about Kingston in 1853. There is a sum of money left to him by an uncle, and the executors are desirous of finding him out, if he is living. We hope all other Editors of papers will copy the above.

Nicholas Mane, and John Wilson, Executors, Dundas, C. W.

☞ The price of wheat is considerably higher in New York than in Montreal although both inland and ocean freights are equal to and from both ports. The rise in the New York market is attributed to large orders on French account, in consequence of the deficient harvest in France.

☞ A correspondent writes from Lachute, under date September 18th: "The shock of an earthquake was distinctly felt here, at about 10 p. m. It commenced with a low, rumbling noise, like the roll of a distant vehicle, which gradually became louder, and then sank away in a thousand feeble echoes. The wave of motion seemed to be from east to west. The agitation produced was of a throbbing character, and was not so violent as that of the earthquake of July. It lasted, perhaps, from 30 to 45 seconds."

☞ The Witness remarks that the 47th Regiment at present in Montreal seems to be one of the most efficient corps which have been stationed there for some time.—At the several reviews which have taken place since their arrival, the evolutions have been performed with the most admirable exactness. Prince Napoleon looked on at the whole performance, the day before yesterday, with the most critical eye; and we will doubtless, in time, have his opinion on the subject as his Highness acts as correspondent for French journals.

☞ The Lindsay Herald relates the following occurrence:—"Last spring a young girl residing in the township of Ops broke a large thick darning needle in the middle of her leg. For a few days it was very painful and she had it lanced to extract the needle. The medical gentleman, however, declared that the needle was not there, and the leg soon got better. Last week a small pimple formed below the ankle bone, and upon examination the broken needle was discovered there, and being drawn out was found to be quite black and nearly 2 inches long. It had not only worked half way down the leg, but it had passed from one side to the other.

☞ A Paris letter in the Independence, of Brussels, says:—"It is affirmed that the Princess Clotilde is in an interesting condition, and on that account her Imperial Highness will probably return to France before the Prince, in the event of the latter prolonging his excursions in America.

One day last week, as some persons were fishing at Hill's Wharf, on Lake Erie, a short distance below Morpeth, a man named Smith caught a splendid silver eel, measuring about 3 feet in length. Mr. Thomas Keating of Chatham, purchased the eel for 25 cents, and on the day following eleven persons made a meal of him. This was undoubtedly one from the stock of eels put into the Rond Eau, a few years since by Col. Prince, and is, we believe, the first that has been caught in Lake Erie.—Chatham Planet.

☞ A scheme is on foot for founding a colony in New Zealand to consist of dissenters from the Established Church of England. A pioneer party is to leave England in the autumn of the present year, and the main settlement party will leave about [illegible] months later.

☞ The aggregate [illegible]tion of the eleven seceded States amounts to 5,581,539. The total population of New York and Pennsylvania is 6,813,550—being 1,232,921 more than all Secessiondom. The fighting men of the rebellious States—or those between eighteen and forty-five years of age, number 1,116,000, while in New York and Pennsylvania they aggregate 1,359,000.

☞ The widow of Tom Spring, the renowned pugilist, is now an inmate of a London workhouse.

☞ Mount Vesuvius was threatening to emit something at last dates—being smoking and bellowing away uncommonly brisk.

☞ General McClellan is not yet 36; Gen. Fremont is under 48; General Lyons was about 44; General Butler is 43; Gen. Banks is 44; and General McDowell is about 40.

AWFUL RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

TWENTY-TWO PERSONS KILLED IN A TUNNEL ON THE BRIGHTON LINE.

(From a late English Paper.)

The most terrible accident which has occurred on this railway took place lately in the Clayton Tunnel, about five miles from the Terminus. There are three trains which leave Brigton on Sunday morning in dangerous proximity with each other, viz., a Portsmouth excursion train, which is due for departure from Brighton at 8.5, and an excursion train which departs from Brighton at 8.15, and the regular Parliamentary morning train, which leaves Brighton at 8.30. The Portsmouth train had entered the Clayton Tunnel, and immediately afterwards the 8.15 Brighton train came in sight. The signal man, remembering that the Portsmouth train had only gone by a short time previously, attempted to put on the stop signal, which, as he alleges would not act. He then showed the red flag. The driver, thinking that the train which had just preceded him had not got clear of the tunnel, reversed his engine as soon as he was able; but it had proceeded some distance in the tunnel before this could be accomplished. The signal man, supposing that the driver of the second train had not seen the danger signal, telegraphed to the other end of the tunnel to know whether the train had passed through, and received for answer that it had, not knowing that the driver of the second train had seen the signal and reversed his engine, and that the train was in backward motion towards Brighton end of the tunnel. At this moment the 8.30 train coming in sight, and the signal man having received the answer about referred to, gave the usual signal for the train to proceed, which it did at its ordinary speed. A fearful crash ensued, the second train, backing, having come into violent collision with the other train, which was rushing forward. The shrieks and cries were terrific and heart rending. Many persons put up prayers, thinking they would never more see daylight. At length lights from the first class carriages were hung against sides of the tunnel. The scene that revealed itself in the imperfect light was awful and horrible—the tunnel was blocked up with a mass in which were mingled dead and dying men, women and children, buried beneath and amid heaps of broken carriages. The engine and tender ran right over the top of the last carriage, pressing down the whole. Some were scalded to death. One unfortunate woman had both her legs cut off just above the knee. Another had her scalp torn completely off and both her arms broken. The injuries in other cases are too shocking for description. The number of persons killed is ascertained to be 22. Last night it was supposed that the number injured was 100. The passengers were detained in the tunnel an hour and ten minutes. The persons killed chiefly belonged to Brighton.

THE GREAT BATTLE ON THE POTOMAC NEAR AT HAND.

(Correspondence of the New York Times.)

Washington, Sept. 20.

An early attack upon this city by the rebel army concentrated in Virginia has been so often predicted, without coming to pass, that such reports have almost become the subjects of ridicule; but from information received to-day from a most reliable source, the entire rebel army had advanced in great force as far as Fairfax Court House, and made that place its head quarters, the left wing extending up the river as far as Great Falls, and the right wing resting in Front of Alexandria. The main body is near the left, indicating an intention of attacking to carry out the programme previously mentioned, to attempt to cross the river at some point above the city.

The information derived from the sources alluded to is, that the rebel generals have no intention of attacking our centre. They hope to cross the Potomac, overrun Maryland and obtain possession of Washington. It is very evident that if the information derived from this source is correct, a great battle will soon be fought, and from the very nature of things, it being for possession of the national capital, it will be a severe struggle, such as modern history has not yet recorded. Look out for the battle of the Potomac.

The enemy have ceased to rely upon the once boasted individual superiority of Southern men, and now resort to numbers, and hope by an overwhelming force, to secure the coveted success. That the strength of the rebel army has been greatly underrated by the people of the loyal States, and even by prominent public men here, there can now be little doubt. It was stated several days ago, that reliable information had been received from Richmond that their army of the Potomac was between 250,000 to 300,000 strong. This statement has been very recently corroborated by a number of gentlemen of high reputation in Kentucky, who have returned from visits to the seat of war in Virginia within a few days. They all agree in the information that the rebel army of the Potomac is over two hundred and fifty thousand in number.

That an attack is imminent is apparent from various corroborating circumstances. Among others is the sudden preparations for the departure of ladies of known rebel sympathies and associations, who have perhaps better opportunities than other people to obtain correct information of the intentions of the rebels, and who are getting ready to leave without delay, under apprehensions of an immediate attack upon the city, with such force and such prospects of success as to render it dangerous to remain here even twenty-four hours longer.

Three rebel prisoners were captured by our pickets to-day. They say that they never heard of the death of Jefferson Davis, that there is not much sickness in the rebel army; that they are very strong, have plenty of bread and meat, and confirm the report that the entire army has moved from Manassas to Fairfax Court House, and that Generals Johnson and Beauregard have established their head quarters there. They do not deny that it is the intention of the rebels to obtain possession of Washington by crossing the Potomac above this city at a day as early as practicable.

☞ The French nation is ecstatic about the hatching of eleven ostriches at Marseilles. One died; the others grew to be as large as turkeys, and promise to keep on growing.

☞ Those naughty boys, the Fire Zouaves, play mad pranks at the Battery in New York. The last pretty thing told of them is their tossing a newspaper reporter in a blanket until $45 were shaken out of him. They then had a free fight among themselves for the money.

☞ A crocodile escaped from a traveling menagerie in the grand Duchy of Baden, a short time ago, and he was afterwards seen in the Necker. Some fishermen succeeded in capturing him by means of very strong nets. His owner was sent for, and when he appeared the crocodile manifested great joy—how, it is not stated. Perhaps the beast shed a few crocodile tears.

THE QUEEN IN IRELAND.

From the Liverpool Courier.

The good people of Dublin have seen all the Queen's horses and all the Queen's men, but have seen very little of the Queen herself. After her entrance into Dublin, which was performed at a rapid trot, she twice drove hurridly through the streets of the Irish metropolis. In one of these drives, either by mistake or a design to escape the sight-seers, her Majesty was driven down one of the most break-neck and disreputable streets in the city. The people wonder, very much at her Majesty's seclusion.—They were quite willing to yield to her not merely honor but sympathy. Yet they cannot be were she is really unwell when she dashes hither and thither at a hurricane pace, nor can we suppose she dislikes a little shouting when Royal salutes are fired about her from Armstrong 100-p nders. The Irish people must find out a cause for everything, whether the cause be right or wrong, and so they say that certain parties about her Majesty keep her from her people least she should grow too fond of them. But the Dubliners have reason to complain.—They have a fine Arts Exhibition, and it was announced that Her Majesty would visit it. From 9 o'clock in the morning of Friday until 6 the building was crowded with anxious loyalists, but no Queen appeared. Her Majesty might have looked in upon Trinity College, were it only to efface the impression created by the Prince of Wales' visit to Maynooth. But as Trinity College is a Protestant institution, we suppose Paul Cullen would have been jealous. On the whole, the citizens of Dublin begin to think that it is far better for them to retain the Viceroyalty, than to be favoured by flyaway visits of retiring Majesty.

But if the people have seen little of her Majesty, her Majesty must have seen a good deal of the people. Since her last visit, 8 years ago, Dublin has thriven rapidly. There is hardly a street which has not been improved in some way, and there are many large mercantile establishments which would ornament London itself. Select any public institution, and it will be found that great advances have been made in architectural embellishment. The "New Buildings," Museum and Lecture hall, together with the Belfry—the Primate's munificent gift—have been erected since her last visit. The edifices of the Royal Dublin Society now cover twice the space of ground they then did. The Museum of Irish Industry did not then exist. St. Patrick's Cathedral was half in ruins. New churches, chapels, and public buildings have sprung up everywhere, and in them Her Majesty may have seen the progress of Her Irish people.

Our Irish neighbors must excuse themselves to the unpretended visits of royalty. As to the absence of state and ceremonial they are no worse off than Liverpool or Manchester. Out of London, Her Majesty avoids all state as far as she possibly can and very rare indeed are even flying visits to those great manufacturing circles which are the source of England's wealth. Nor should Ireland be jealous of Scotland.—Balmoral is a very retired corner, and jealously guarded. Whatever the court requires is brought from Edinburgh or London and no state is tolerated. Majesty, as well as the rest of us, must have some period of repose.

FROM MEXICO.

The Mexican Minister of Foreign Relations has addressed a letter to the Mexican Legation at Washington, announcing the President Juarez has cancelled the contract assigning certain lands in Chihuahua to Capt. Isham, of the United States army, because the time allowed for the exploration of such lands has expired, and second, because the assignment to Capt. Isham was made without the consent or approbation of the national government.

The permanent commission of Congress was to meet on the 30th August.

General Ortega had assumed the temporary presidency of the Supreme Court.

General Comonfort was at Monterey, and had published a letter announcing that he had no ambitious projects, but

LATEST from EUROPE,

ARRIVAL OF THE "SAXONIA."

Cape Race, Sept 21.

The steamship Saxonia from Hamburg via Southampton on the 11th, arrived here to-day. She was intercepted by the News Yacht, at six o'clock Saturday morning. Her advices are three days later.

The policy of sending reinforcements to Canada is questioned, and the arrangements suspended for the present.

It is expected that a combined Anglo-French military and naval expedition will be organized against Mexico to obtain redress for injuries to British and French interests.

Wheat advanced 2d to 3d.

Corn a trifle higher.

Provisions heavy.

SPAIN.

Spain was earnestly desirous of an adjustment that may end the prevailing horrors in Mexico, and foreign interference is prayed for by the whole Mexican population.

It is rumored that the Federal Cabinet at Washington will cordially co-operate, that it may permanently conciliate all national claims without further delay.

The end of settlement of the consols account on the 10th inst., was attended with much confusion. Eight operators in all were compelled to suspend; in one case for £25,000.

Canada closed buoyant on the 10th at 93¾ to 93¾ for money.

The applications at the bank for discount were moderate. £366,000 in gold has been sent into the bank since last return.

FRANCE.

The Pays announces that an increase in the Artillery and Marine will shortly take place.

The Patrie says that all the powers, without exception, acknowledge the truth of the allegations made by the Roman Government in protesting against Baron Ricasoli's assertions.

The Constitutionel says that the mission of the French authorities in the Papal States is to make the integrity of the Holy See respected and maintain neutrality by barring the frontier to the passage of any armed band.

Rentes were heavy at 68f 95c.

Spain, in conjunction with England and France will intervene with the affairs of Mexico, by sending troops from Cuba.

ITALY.

The national fete at Naples passed off splendidly. The King and Garibaldi were loudly cheered.

The Journal of Rome officially declares that the passage in Baron Ricasoli's note, relative to Rome, is calumnious, and that it would be unworthy of the dignity of the Holy See, to make a reply to it. The Journal at the same time demonstrates the falsity of the assertions contained therein.

Gen. Guyon has ordered an army invasion by the Piedmontese, of the localities occupied by the French, who shall be repulsed by force.

At a meeting of the Oleogenes at Palermo a resolution was adopted declaring the temporal power of the Pope incompatible with and contrary to the mission of the Catholic Church.

It was rumored that the Minister of the United States at Brussels, had addressed a proposal to Garibaldi to take an important command in the Federal army; and that Garibaldi had accepted it under certain reservations.

The Emperor of Brazil has recognized the Kingdom of Italy.

AUSTRIA.

The Emperor had received a deputation from the Lower House of Reistrath who bore an address to him. He thanked them for the loyal manifestation of their sentiments.

TURKEY.

The Montenegrans had evacuated Vienna and were accompanied by fifty Christian families.

Fresh detachments of Turkish troops had arrived at Lesteer.

Mahomed Pasha, with a considerable force, had marched against Realia and Fre-begare in Herzegovina.

It was thought that the Turkish troops had crossed the Montenegrin frontier.

Advices from Manchester unfavorable. Market very dull and prices declining.

BREADSTUFFS MARKET.

Flour not reported. Wheat firm at an advance of 2d to 3d. Corn quiet, but all qualities advanced to a trifling extent.—Peas easier. Lard firmer. Ashes firmer. Rye unchanged.

In the London market sugars were flat. Coffee firm. Tallow quiet.

ARRIVAL OF THE "PERSIA."

St. John's, Sept. 23.

The Persia, from Liverpool on the 14th via Queenstown on the 15th, passed Cape Race the morning and was boarded.

The report that the American Minister at Brussels had offered a command in the Federal army to Garibaldi is confirmed, but the result of the offer was not stated.

The London Times editorially ridicules the passport system in the United States, and says it will not achieve the desired end. The only complaint that England has to make in the matter is in regard to the discourtesy to Lord Lyons, in leaving him to learn of the new arrangement from the newspapers.

Movements were making of troops, preparatory to their embarkation for Canada.

Dr. Russell, in another letter to the London Times on American Affairs, says that General McClellan is rapidly becoming master of the situation, and that the movements of the Federalists by water, both on the seaboard and down the Mississippi river, must greatly embarrass the South.

It is stated that the City of New York took 30 tons of rifles for the Northern army, but the agents of the line denied all knowledge of any shipment of contraband of war.

FRANCE.

It is reported that the visit of the King of [illegible] is likely to be again postponed, [illegible] returns of the bank of France show an increase of 9,000,000 francs.

The Moniteur denies the [illegible] of extraordinary naval armaments by France.

The Bourse was flat at 68f 10c.

Affairs in Italy were without a change.

The news is confirmed that Spain is to join in the Anglo-French expedition to Mexico.

Robertson, Spence & Co., England, Allegre & Co., and Wakefield, Nash & Co. report provisions generally dull; beef steady; pork quiet, but steady; bacon still declining and holders pressing stocks on market. Cheese — Rates 52s a 53s. Lard firmer; sales at 43s. a 58s; refined qualities have improved most. Sugar steady; coffee firmer; rice slightly higher; Californian 23s a 25s.; linseed oil tends upward. Flour 20s a 23s; tub dozen — common Canada 11s.

Manchester Markets dull. Prices for goods tended downwards.

The Latest [illegible]

Kansas C[illegible]

1,500 men under Colonel [illegible] took 2,000 secessionists on the [illegible] ing the river at Blue Mills Le[illegible] 17th instant, completely routing [illegible] from 150 to 200, and took twel[illegible] ers.

The Federal loss was 50 killed [illegible] wounded.

Advices received by a private lette[illegible] Lexington to say that General Pri[illegible] ta had the Federals at 10 o'clock y[illegible] day morning with a force of 30,000.

The Federal force was estimated at f[illegible] 2,000 to 4,000.

The Federals fought them two hou[illegible] when the secessionists drove them back [illegible] to their intrenchments, carrying everyth[illegible] before them.

The Irish brigade then came out, [illegible] charged them at the point of the bayon[illegible] scattering the Confederates everywhere. Price was to attack them again this morning with 17 pieces of artillery. No estimate of the loss on either side is given.

REPORTED DEFEAT OF GEN. REYNOLDS.

From the second edition of the New York World.

The following in from the Baltimore Times of yesterday, a paper issued from the Exchange office, and doubtless animated by the same spirit. Its statements should be received with caution:

"To enable our readers to get a clearer view of the actual condition of affairs in western Virginia, we recapitulate the main points of the intelligence as received on the 12th inst. On that day three Tennessee regiments are said to have been defeated on the west side of Cheat Mountain, with a loss of eighty killed. On the same day it is also stated that the Confederates, supposed to number fifteen thousand men, in attempting to advance on Elkwater, "were driven back." It was further added that "a strong force of Arkansas, Tennessee, and Virginia troops threatened the east side of Cheat Mountain," but that there had been "no general engagement with them."

These various reports are all under date of the 12th instant, and so far as they indicate anything at all, are favorable to the federal cause. We now give, though without vouching for its authenticity, a statement which reaches us from the same quarter of Western Virginia a day later. We may add that it comes from a private source; that both of the informants are from that quarter of the state; that they reached here yesterday, and that one of them is a strong Union man. The intelligence they bring is to the effect that on the 13th General Lee attacked the position occupied by General Reynolds, and drove him back with great loss. It is further reported that Lee captured from Reynolds nearly all of his transportation equipments, including a number of wagons, and that Reynolds was making requisitions on the country people for their farm waggons to be used for army purposes.

It may be well to notice in connection with the above statement that the telegrams dated the 12th, and already referred to, show that Lee's forces were on that day actually operating from both sides of the Cheat Mountain, and that an attack from the eastern side on Reynold's position was then threatening.

With regard to the late affair at Carnifex Ferry on Gauley river, between the forces of Floyd and Rosencrans, and the subsequent falling back of Floyd across the river, it was not regarded in Virginia, even by Union men, as of much advantage to the Federal cause. Floyd's retreat was said to be strategetic.

The following from a recent number of the Chicago Tribune, gives some interesting information as to the disposition of our forces at Cheat Mountain:

"The position of General Reynolds, at Cheat Mountain, is imperiled by some 20,000 rebel troops under General Lee, and although our forces are well entrenched, and in a high state of efficiency, the governors of Ohio and Indiana have been called upon to forward more troops as rapidly as possible. Two Indiana regiments—the Seventh, Colonel Dumont, and the Ninth, Colonel Milroy, both re-or anized from the three months' service, are now on the way; and Ohio has three regiments that will be (if they have not been) sent forward. General Reynolds has 9,000 men under his command, and the present position of affairs in that quarter will render of interest any statement of the locality of the forces. At Beverly are the First Virginia and the Sixth Ohio, with companies of the latter at Leadville and other places along the road to Grafton, to keep open connection. Huttonsville is the next station South, and is the headquarters and the post office address of all the troops in this brigade. There are two regiments at Huttonsville—the thirteenth and Seventeenth Indiana. From this point (Huttonsville) roads lead towards Huntersville, following the Elkwater river, and also towards Staunton, across the mountains. At Elkwater on the road to Huntersville, are the Third Ohio and Seventeenth Indiana in a fortified camp, with serviceable artillery. Eighteen miles from Elkwater 6,000 rebel troops under Col. Lohring. On the other road from Huttonville, leading across Cheat Mountain to Stanton, and on the summit of the mountain is "Fort Gilbert," commanding the Cheat Mountain pass. The fort is named in honor of Colonel Gilbert, of the Twenty-fourth Ohio, its engineer, and is quite a formidable work. Its cannon command the approaches for over a mile. At the base of Cheat Mountain is another fortified camp, supplied with Parrot rifled guns. The garrison of Cheat Mountain is composed of the Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Ohio and the Fourteenth Indiana. Fifteen miles from Fort Gilbert are the head-quarters of Gen. Lee, whose command numbers 20,000 men. The fortified camps at Cheat Mountain and Elkwater are only seven miles distant, and the forces is arranged for the greatest strategetic effect."

SELECTIONS FOR A NEWSPAPER.

Most people think that the selections of suitable matter for a newspaper is an easy part of the business. How great an error. It is by all means the most difficult. To look over a hundred newspapers daily, from which to select enough for one, especially when the question is not what shall, but what shall not be released is no easy task. If every person who reads a newspaper had credit it, we would hear less complaint. Not unfrequently is it the case that an editor loses over his exchange papers for something interesting, and absolutely finds nothing. Every paper is better than a contribution box, yet something must be had—his paper must come out with something in it and he does the best he can.

To an editor who has the least care about what he selects, the writing he has to do is the easiest part of the labor. Every subscriber thinks the paper printed for his own benefit, and if there is nothing in it that suits him, it must be supplied, it is good for nothing. Just as many subscribers as an editor may have, so many tastes he has to cater to. One likes something short, another some-

☞ A dancing girl of New York so captivated one Mr. Thornton, that he left his lawful wife and eloped with the damsel. They led a life of unhallowed pleasure in Albany, which was only interrupted by the sudden appearance of Mrs. Thornton one day, who took her recreant lord, soundly chastised him, and brought him back to New York and duty—martial and secular.

☞ Two city gamblers fought a duel with broad-swords on Thursday, near New York. One was a faro bank keeper named Willis, the other a roper-in named Hyman. The troubles grew out of a dispute about returning the money "plucked" from "a green one" who had threatened to complain to the police unless reimbursed. Hyman was wounded in the arm and knee. Willis escaped unhurt. Two dozen gamblers witnessed the fight.

☞ A Madrid letter states that a ball, recently given by the Duchess of Medina Celi, is the subject of conversation in that city. On the occasion alluded to there was a special quadrille composed of all the characters in "Don Quixote," in the costumes copied from the engravings in the grand edition of that work published by the Spanish Academy. On the following day the Duke de Medina-Celi had photographs taken of the guests, to the number of two hundred, all colored with the utmost care, to be formed into an album. It is said that this caprice will cost the Duke some fifteen thousand francs.

☞ Not long ago in London while the fire was raging in Paternoster row, and all the fine old Longman editions were being consumed, an immense alarm was circulated through the newspaper offices of London by two individuals who went to each other excitedly asking if it was true that Lord Palmerston had died suddenly? In a moment the excitement spread through sub-editors and other minions of the moon.—Special messengers from several offices were at once sent out. They met upon the Treasury Building, and then off the whole squadron made for Cambridge House. Long hammering there brought down at last a sleepy functionary in a night shirt, who, on being questioned about Lord Palmerston's health, replied by threatening to kick the deputation out—The deputation, however, insisted on some fuller answer, and vowed to hold possession of the functionary's disrobed person until he gave a more satisfactory answer. He had to yield and answer civily.—The alarming story was a hoax.

Married.

On Wednesday, 25th inst., by the Rev. J. H. Rogers, and at his residence, JOHN HAGHAY, to MARGARET McGUIRE, both of the Town of Peterborough.

Peterboro' Markets.

Thursday, September 26th, 1861.

	s.	d.	s.	d.
Flour ₱ bbl.	4	00	4	10
Wheat ₱ bush. fall	0	90	0	93
Spring Wheat ₱ bush.	0	75	0	80
Barley ₱ bush.	0	30	0	35
Oats "	0	22	0	25
Peas "	0	40	0	45
Potatoes (new)	0	15	0	20
Pork ₱ bbl.	14	00	15	00
Beef ₱ cwt.	3	00	4	00
Butter ₱ lb.	0	10	0	12½
Hay ₱ ton	7	00	8	00

WM. CUMMING.
Market Clerk.

TORONTO MARKETS.

Wednesday, September 25th, 1861.

Fall Wheat 90c, a $1 3c.
Spring Wheat 80 a 83c.
Barley 40c.
Oats 18c a 20c.
Peas 40c a 42c.
Potatoes (per) 20c a 25c.

THE SUBSCRIBER OFFERS FOR SALE, HOUSE AND LOT FOR SALE.

THE LARGEST, CHEAPEST AND THE BEST PLACE TO PURCHASE READY-MADE CLOTHING IS AT

HAFFEY'S,

All the Clothing is made on the premises, and warranted!!

Peterborough, Sept. 26, 1861. 39

THIS FOUND WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING

A perfect Antidote, Specific and Cure for RHEUMATISM & NEURALGIA

has long been needed. After earnest and patient research, this has been triumphantly discovered. It is called

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING!

Watson's Neuralgia King reaches the source of the trouble, and banishes the disease from the system. Unlike the untold number of Liniments and Embrocations which merely stimulate the surface, are but temporary in their effects, and are, at best, of doubtful virtue, it STRIKES AT THE ROOT OF THE MISCHIEF, EXPELS IT, ERADICATES IT, and leaves no trace behind.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING

also cures GOUT AND DYSPEPSIA, in all their forms. It is now giving relief to thousands who have been suffering form these diseases, and who have tried all other remedies in vain.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING

has received the highest testimonials from the highest sources in regard to its wonderful efficacy. It operates with equal success in mild and chronic cases, never failing to work out a speedy and permanent cure.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING

costs but one dollar a bottle, and less than a bottle often effects the end desired.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING

is the only Specific and cure for Rheumatism and Neuralgia that has ever been discovered.

Prepared by

A. I. MATHEWS,
Buffalo, N. Y., and Fort Erie, C. W.
Sept. 26, 1861, 39

Matthews' Chocolate Worm Drops

NEVER fail to destroy and exterminate all kinds of Intestinal Worms. Are perfectly reliable in all cases, and far superior to any and all of the Fancy Worm Confections, and numerous Vermifuge in use. They may be taken at all times with perfect safety, as they contain no Mercury, or other deleterious Drug. Mothers should always purchase them and give their children no other.

(No Cathartic whatever, is necessary to be given.)

Each box contains 24 Drops or Lozenges.—Price 25 cts. For sale by all Druggists and Dealers in Medicines.

A. I. MATHEWS, General Agent,
Buffalo, N. Y., and Fort Erie, C. W.

The Great French Remedy!

MADAM DOUIN'S CELEBRATED SILVER COATED

FEMALE PILLS.

THE ONLY CERTAIN AND SAFE REMEDY for all Uterine Obstructions, Monthly Difficulties, Irregularities, and diseases to which the woman, Wife and Mother is peculiarly liable. These Pills contain no deleterious ingredients, but are safe and certain in their action.—They will be found to exert the happiest effect in all cases of Prolapsus Uteri, in Amenorrhœa, or the Whites; they will be found the easiest and most certain cure that can be found. It is on account of this certainty they should not be taken by Married Ladies at certain periods, but at other times their use is perfectly safe.

N. B.—21 enclosed to any authorized Agent will secure a package of Pills by return mail. (1. Cowley, General Agent, Fort Erie, C. W. Smith, N. Y.; Lyman, Elliot & Co., Wholesale Agents, Toronto.

Sept. 17, 1861. 39

FOR SALE.

SOUTH half of Lot No. 9, in the 2nd Con. of Smith, containing 100 acres. This Farm is beautifully situated about three miles from Peterborough; there are eighty acres cleared, and on the premises there are a good House, three Barns and other Outhouses.

The north half of Lot No. 18, in the 7th Con. Smith. This Farm has eighty acres cleared, and is situated about seven miles from Peterborough.

For particulars apply to

JOSEPH KENNY,
WM. THOMPSON.

September 20, 1861. 38

Return Tickets at reduced rates. Berths not secured till paid for. Each ship carries a duly qualified surgeon.

For freight and passage apply to

G. & D. SHAW,
16 Common Street,
MONTREAL

September 18th, 1861. 39

WANTED!

100,000 BUSHELS

OF

WHEAT!

W. CLUXTON.

Peterboro, Sept. 19, 1861.

OTONABEE MILLS.

THE SUBSCRIBER has pleasure in informing his friends and the public that his MILLS are again in operation, and that he will be glad to attend to the calls of all old and new customers. Particular attention will as formerly be paid to Grinding and Custom Work, and good fresh ground will be kept on hand for retailing, which will be delivered at any place in Peterborough or Ashburnham, upon orders being left, with the money, at the Mills, or at his Store.

FAMILY FLOUR

R. D. ROGERS.

Ashburnham, Sept 12, 1861.

BOARD.

A LADY RESIDING IN A CENTRAL PART of the Town will be happy to receive a few respectable Gentlemen, as Boarders. Every attention will be paid to make them comfortable. Terms moderate. For particulars apply at this office.

Peterborough, September, 1861

Hurrah for Billa Flint!

OR ANY OTHER MAN

Who wants cheap Boots & Shoes.

J. T. STENSON

IS on hand again in the Building formerly occupied by the Toronto Bank,

One door west of Jeffrey & Co.'s Hardware Store, Hunter Street.

Peterborough, Aug. 29th, 1860. 38

NEXT OF KIN WANTED!

Hundreds of Millions Pounds Sterling

IN CHANCERY, BANK OF ENGLAND, &c., awaits claimants. A Catalogue of the heirs and names of those to whom letters should be addressed in England, will be sent post free, on receipt of 60 cents in United States' stamps, or two for $1. Old claims must be presented at once. References:—A. K. Hill, Boston; J. Burnham, Chief of Police, Haverhill. Address

W. W. S. ORRETON & Co.,
Box 250, Post Office, Boston, Mass.
Sept., 1861. 37

PUBLIC NOTICE

IS hereby given that the Township Council of Otonabee intend at their meeting to be held on the

21st Day of October next, to pass a By-law to close up the Road established across Lot 15, in 5th Concession of Otonabee, on the 14th day of January, 1829.

GEO. READ,
Township Clerk.

Aug. 25, 1861.

FOR SALE.

A FIRST-RATE TAVERN STAND situated on Elizabeth Street, Ashburnham, front of Mr. Rogers' Mill. The building is at present used for a dwelling house and furniture rooms. It would make a good stand for a Grocery and Bakery. The lease of the above has eleven years to run, and will be sold very reasonable for money. For particulars apply to

R. BURLEY,
On the premises.

Aug. 28, 1861. 35

FLOUR, FLOUR!

FLOUR always on hand at Fenelon Falls Grist Mill in Bags which will be sold strictly for CASH.

PRICES.....REASONABLE.

Put on board Steamboat by sending cash and bags.

ROBT. FRANCIS.

July 23, 1861.

SAVE YOUR FURS

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL!!

WM. LECH,

FURRIER, MONTREAL,

WILL OPEN BUSINESS in the above line about the end of June, in the premises now occupied by Mr. Temple on Bronson, corner Scott's Building, Peterboro'. His furs will be manufactured to order; also dressed and dyed, and in Canada, will be offered for sale at prices much lower than ever known in this part of the country before. Hats and caps of the latest styles. The highest price will be paid for raw furs.

ONE OF THE LARGEST STOCKS IN THE FUR TRADE

May 8, 1861.

TO RENT.

A GOOD WATER POWER

—WITH—

Building & Water-wheel,

[illegible] Peterboro, Aug. 20, 1861. 36

GREAT CLEARANCE SALE AT

WILLIAMSONS

CHEAP CASH STORE.

Nearly Opposite Mowatt's Book Store,

GEORGE STREET.

TREMENDOUS BARGAINS IN

DRY GOODS,

READY MADE CLOTHING, BOOTS AND SHOES, GROCERIES AND CONFECTIONERIES.

JOHN WILLIAMSON

IN returning his sincere thanks to his numerous friends and the public generally for the liberal patronage he has received, takes this method of calling their attention to the balance of his stock saved from the late fire, through the exertions of his well wishers, and which he is determined to sell at a Great Sacrifice!

☞ Call and see, and be convinced.

Peterboro, Aug. 22nd, 1861. 35

NEW GOODS.

THE Subscriber offers for sale one of the nicest lots of Goods ever offered in Peterborough.

FAMILY GROCERIES,

Teas,
Sugars,
Coffee,
Tobacco
Spice of all kinds,
Herring,
Dry Fish,
Mackeral,
Salmon,

A RICH VARIETY OF

BOOTS AND SHOES,

and the nicest assortment of

CROCKERY

ever offered in Peterborough. All of which will be sold

Very Low for Cash!

G. W. ROBINSON.

Peterboro', Sept. 18, 1861. 38

WHOLESALE & RETAIL

Grocery Establishment!

HENTHORN'S BUILDING.

THE undersigned offers for sale, at Reduced Prices, Refined Loaf Sugar, Broken Loaf Ground Loaf, Dutch Crushed, Crushed, Bright Porto Rico and Muscovado.

ALSO,

a choice lot of Family Flour, in barrels and small sacks, containing 50 and 25 lbs. each.

JAMES CAMPBELL.

INN-KEEPERS

Supplied with every description of WINES and SPIRITS from the choicest Champagne to Common Whiskey, in any quantities, and at the very cheapest rates by

JAMES CAMPBELL.

August 1, 1861. 31

STOLEN OR STRAYED.

ON Thursday night or Friday morning last, from a field belonging to Mr. Stewart, near Ashburnham, a about 14 hands high, with a heavy mane and tail, and a white stripe in the face. She is about 9 years old, partly French. Whoever will give such information that will lead to the recovery of the above mare to Mr. Hoskings, Tavern-keeper, or to John Vesper, at Allen's Hotel, will be suitably rewarded.

DARK BROWN MARE,

Aug. 14, 1861. 33

MONTREAL

ASSURANCE COMPANY.

ESTABLISHED BY SPECIAL ORDINANCE IN 1840.

CAPITAL STOCK, $800,000.

PAID UP.....$80,000.

Head Office, No. 9, Great St. James St.
MONTREAL.

Wm. MURRAY...Manager.

THE undersigned begs to intimate his appointment as agent in Peterboro', for the above company, and is authorized to insure buildings, Merchandize, Household Furniture, and Personal Property, against loss or damage by fire, at rates as low as those of any responsible office.

For further particulars, notes, &c., apply to

W. U. SCOTT,
Agent.

Office in Scudamore's Block, opposite the Review Office.

Peterboro, Aug. 20, 1861. 35

WOOD TURNING

CHEAP FOR CASH.

THE undersigned wishes to inform his numerous friends and the public in general that he is now prepared to do any description of Wood Turning for

BUILDINGS OR FURNITURE.

Also, Ripping Lumber to any width or thickness; Furniture made to order, at the lowest Cash rates. Long Wash-boards of the very best quality always on hand.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

☞ Store in Ashburnham, under D. Dewart's Woolen Factory.

W. F. HANLEY.

Ashburnham, Sept. 18, 1861. 38

STRAYED.

FROM the pasture field of Mr. W. Yeton, Monaghan, on the 13th August,

TWO HORSES.

One was a dark bay horse, with [illegible] and fox ears; the other is a young brown colt. Both mare and colt were white faced.

Any person returning the aforementioned or any information regarding [illegible]

Sept. 4, 1861.

HOUSE!

Children in proportion. 25 00

Return Tickets at reduced rates. Berths not secured till paid for. Each ship carries a duly qualified surgeon.

For freight and passage apply to

G. & D. SHAW,
16 Common Street,
MONTREAL

September 18th, 1861. 39

WANTED!

100,000 BUSHELS

OF

WHEAT!

W. CLUXTON.

Peterboro, Sept. 19, 1861.

OTONABEE MILLS.

THE SUBSCRIBER has pleasure in informing his friends and the public that his MILLS are again in operation, and that he will be glad to attend to the calls of all old and new customers. Particular attention will as formerly be paid to Grinding and Custom Work, and good fresh ground will be kept on hand for retailing, which will be delivered at any place in Peterborough or Ashburnham, upon orders being left, with the money, at the Mills, or at his Store.

FAMILY FLOUR

R. D. ROGERS.

Ashburnham, Sept 12, 1861.

BOARD.

A LADY RESIDING IN A CENTRAL PART of the Town will be happy to receive a few respectable Gentlemen, as Boarders. Every attention will be paid to make them comfortable. Terms moderate. For particulars apply at this office.

Peterborough, September, 1861

Hurrah for Billa Flint!

OR ANY OTHER MAN

Who wants cheap Boots & Shoes.

J. T. STENSON

IS on hand again in the Building formerly occupied by the Toronto Bank,

One door west of Jeffrey & Co.'s Hardware Store, Hunter Street.

Peterborough, Aug. 29th, 1860. 38

NEXT OF KIN WANTED!

Hundreds of Millions Pounds Sterling

IN CHANCERY, BANK OF ENGLAND, &c., awaits claimants. A Catalogue of the heirs and names of those to whom letters should be addressed in England, will be sent post free, on receipt of 60 cents in United States' stamps, or two for $1. Old claims must be presented at once. References:—A. K. Hill, Boston; J. Burnham, Chief of Police, Haverhill. Address

W. W. S. ORRETON & Co.,
Box 250, Post Office, Boston, Mass.
Sept., 1861. 37

PUBLIC NOTICE

IS hereby given that the Township Council of Otonabee intend at their meeting to be held on the

21st Day of October next,

to pass a By-law to close up the Road established across Lot 15, in 5th Concession of Otonabee, on the 14th day of January, 1829.

GEO. READ,
Township Clerk.

Aug. 25, 1861.

FOR SALE.

A FIRST-RATE TAVERN STAND situated on Elizabeth Street, Ashburnham, front of Mr. Rogers' Mill. The building is at present used for a dwelling house and furniture rooms. It would make a good stand for a Grocery and Bakery. The lease of the above has eleven years to run, and will be sold very reasonable for money. For particulars apply to

R. BURLEY,
On the premises.

Aug. 28, 1861. 35

FLOUR, FLOUR!

FLOUR always on hand at Fenelon Falls Grist Mill in Bags which will be sold strictly for CASH.

PRICES.....REASONABLE.

Put on board Steamboat by sending cash and bags.

ROBT. FRANCIS.

July 23, 1861.

SAVE YOUR FURS

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL!!

WM. LECH,

FURRIER, MONTREAL,

WILL OPEN BUSINESS in the above line about the end of June, in the premises now occupied by Mr. Temple on Bronson, corner Scott's Building, Peterboro'. His furs will be manufactured to order; also dressed and dyed, and in Canada, will be offered for sale at prices much lower than ever known in this part of the country before. Hats and caps of the latest styles. The highest price will be paid for raw furs.

ONE OF THE LARGEST STOCKS IN THE FUR TRADE

May 8, 1861.

TO RENT.

A GOOD WATER POWER

—WITH—

Building & Water-wheel,

[illegible] Peterboro, Aug. 20, 1861. 36

GREAT CLEARANCE SALE AT

WILLIAMSONS

CHEAP CASH STORE.

Nearly Opposite Mowatt's Book Store,

GEORGE STREET.

TREMENDOUS BARGAINS IN

DRY GOODS,

READY MADE CLOTHING, BOOTS AND SHOES, GROCERIES AND CONFECTIONERIES.

JOHN WILLIAMSON

IN returning his sincere thanks to his numerous friends and the public generally for the liberal patronage he has received, takes this method of calling their attention to the balance of his stock saved from the late fire, through the exertions of his well wishers, and which he is determined to sell at a Great Sacrifice!

☞ Call and see, and be convinced.

Peterboro, Aug. 22nd, 1861. 35

NEW GOODS.

THE Subscriber offers for sale one of the nicest lots of Goods ever offered in Peterborough.

FAMILY GROCERIES,

Teas,
Sugars,
Coffee,
Tobacco
Spice of all kinds,
Herring,
Dry Fish,
Mackeral,
Salmon,

A RICH VARIETY OF

BOOTS AND SHOES,

and the nicest assortment of

CROCKERY

ever offered in Peterborough. All of which will be sold

Very Low for Cash!

G. W. ROBINSON.

Peterboro', Sept. 18, 1861. 38

WHOLESALE & RETAIL

Grocery Establishment!

HENTHORN'S BUILDING.

THE undersigned offers for sale, at Reduced Prices, Refined Loaf Sugar, Broken Loaf Ground Loaf, Dutch Crushed, Crushed, Bright Porto Rico and Muscovado.

ALSO,

a choice lot of Family Flour, in barrels and small sacks, containing 50 and 25 lbs. each.

JAMES CAMPBELL.

INN-KEEPERS

Supplied with every description of WINES and SPIRITS from the choicest Champagne to Common Whiskey, in any quantities, and at the very cheapest rates by

JAMES CAMPBELL.

August 1, 1861. 31

STOLEN OR STRAYED.

ON Thursday night or Friday morning last, from a field belonging to Mr. Stewart, near Ashburnham, a about 14 hands high, with a heavy mane and tail, and a white stripe in the face. She is about 9 years old, partly French. Whoever will give such information that will lead to the recovery of the above mare to Mr. Hoskings, Tavern-keeper, or to John Vesper, at Allen's Hotel, will be suitably rewarded.

DARK BROWN MARE,

Aug. 14, 1861. 33

MONTREAL

ASSURANCE COMPANY.

ESTABLISHED BY SPECIAL ORDINANCE IN 1840.

CAPITAL STOCK, $800,000.

PAID UP.....$80,000.

Head Office, No. 9, Great St. James St.
MONTREAL.

Wm. MURRAY...Manager.

THE undersigned begs to intimate his appointment as agent in Peterboro', for the above company, and is authorized to insure buildings, Merchandize, Household Furniture, and Personal Property, against loss or damage by fire, at rates as low as those of any responsible office.

For further particulars, notes, &c., apply to

W. U. SCOTT,
Agent.

Office in Scudamore's Block, opposite the Review Office.

Peterboro, Aug. 20, 1861. 35

WOOD TURNING

CHEAP FOR CASH.

THE undersigned wishes to inform his numerous friends and the public in general that he is now prepared to do any description of Wood Turning for

BUILDINGS OR FURNITURE.

Also, Ripping Lumber to any width or thickness; Furniture made to order, at the lowest Cash rates. Long Wash-boards of the very best quality always on hand.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

☞ Store in Ashburnham, under D. Dewart's Woolen Factory.

W. F. HANLEY.

Ashburnham, Sept. 18, 1861. 38

STRAYED.

FROM the pasture field of Mr. W. Yeton, Monaghan, on the 13th August,

TWO HORSES.

One was a dark bay horse, with [illegible] and fox ears; the other is a young brown colt. Both mare and colt were white faced.

Any person returning the aforementioned or any information regarding [illegible]

Sept. 4, 1861.

[illegible] sale from purchasers taking the [illegible] mortgage to them. If the above Lot, or any portion thereof, remain unsold

ON MONDAY, the 28th day of OCTOBER Next,

the subscriber will offer the same for sale on that day by

PUBLIC AUCTION,

on the premises, at 12 o'clock, noon, to the highest bidder,

IN LOTS OF TEN ACRES EACH,

or in larger portions to suit purchasers, in the following order:

The East half of the Lot will be sold first, beginning with Park Lot No. 1, at the north east corner, and taking the Lots in as numerical order to the centre of the Concession, after which the West half will be offered for sale, commencing at the southern limit of the Cobourg and Peterborough Railway, and numbering the Lots as described in the Map, eastward to the centre of the Concession. A Plan of the Lots may be seen and other information obtained on application at my office in the Court House.

WALTER SHERIDAN.

Peterborough, 10th Sept., 1861. 36

Lightning! Lightning!

PROTECTION TO LIFE AND PROPERTY.

200,000 Feet

OF THE NEW PATENT ENGLISH ELECTRO-GALVANIZED, ANNEALED AND CARBONIZED

LIGHTNING RODS

JUST ARRIVED FROM ENGLAND, WITH

SPRATTS' RENOWNED

PLATINA TIPPED POINT!!

AND ENLARGED

INSULATORS & ATTACHMENTS.

THIS ROD is prepared in England with especial reference to its great conducting powers; is highly approved and recommended by the best authorities. The white non-corroding surface prevents rust, and greatly increases its conducting power, completely obviating the great objections to the old rod. Professor Croft has a Spiral Copper Rod removed from the University Buildings, Toronto, and substituted this, on account of the perfect conducting power of the surface, and not being liable to rust. One real advantage gained by the free conducting qualities of this rod, with Spratt's point, arises from the fact that it constantly secretes and silently combines in the earth, the positive electricity of the surrounding atmosphere generated by an approaching thunder cloud surcharged with this element of destruction and death, thereby drawing off, draining and lessening the tension, easing the cloud of its constant accumulation, allowing it to pass over our heads in safety, which might otherwise have burst upon us in all its fury. But it is all in this by reason of too great accumulation of electricity, and the discharge, takes place, it conducts all passing to the ground, being a preventative in short cases and a cure in all emergency. We have erected them on the Crystal Palace, and Custom House, at Hamilton, as well as many of the best buildings in this city. By importing largely for cash, we are enabled to sell at a trifling advance upon the Carbonized Rod. Common Iron Rods, such as are being offered by parties from the States will do not erect, as we consider them nearly useless. Good Rods, properly erected, protect 25 feet from the point.

$2,000 CHALLENGE!

to the world to produce as good a Rod, for the same price, as the Galvanized Rod, which we are now prepared to offer to the public through our authorized agents; allow no man to protect your buildings who has not our certificate of agency, with caution on the back against impositions. Orders sent to our address from the principal cities of C. W., will be attended to by O. R. Kendall in person, without extra charge. We submit two of our numerous references.

PIPER & KINDALL,
89 Young Street.

TORONTO, Sept. 18, 1860.

I HEREBY CERTIFY THAT I HAVE SUPERINTENDED the erection of Galvanized Iron Rods on the University Buildings, at Toronto, preferring the Galvanized Iron to ordinary Iron Rods, on account of the perfect conducting power of the surface, and from their not being liable to rust.

The advantage resulting from these qualities is more than commensurate with the increased cost.

(Signed) HENRY CROFT, D.C.L.
Prof. of Chemistry.

PETERBORO', Sept. 19th, 1861.

The agents for the firm of Piper & Kendall, Toronto, have put up for me two of their Galvanized Lightning Rods so highly recommended by Professor Croft. I consider them pre-eminent to all others. The improved Attachments and Insulators, with Spratt's Platina Tipped Point must give them great additional security.

J. BROWNE, M. D.

I entirely concur in Dr. Browne's observations.—Also have bought two of the same Rods for my two cottages on Brock Street.

A. NIBLOCK.

Toronto, June 29th, 1861. 31-39.

IRON.

BAR, Hoop, and Bar, Round, Half-round and Square Iron. A large stock on hand and for sale at

R. HAMILTON'S.

Peterboro, May, 1861. 33

INSPECTOR'S NOTICE.

THE undersigned hereby gives notice that he will make his tour of examination for the inspection of

WEIGHTS & MEASURES,

in the County of Peterboro' at the dates herein specified, when parties using Weights & Measures are required to present them for inspection. He will be on the following places on the days respectively:—

Harwood.....Sept. 30 & 31
Hall's Bridge.....Oct. 1
All's Corners.....2
Asphodel.....On afternoon Oct. 2
Burleytown.....3
Wilmot's Corners.....4
Wooler & Smith Summer.....5
Percyborough.....7 to 10

N.B.—All parties not presenting their weights and measures as above will be dealt with according to law.

WILLIAM HARRIET,
Inspector of Weights & Measures for the County of Peterboro'.

Harwood, Aug 24, 1861.

GROCERIES AND LIQUORS.

THE subscribers beg leave to state to their customers that owing to late losses by fire, &c., that they will

After the first of October next,

conduct their business strictly on

THE CASH PRINCIPLE,

after which date all accounts will be closed. All parties due them by Note or Book Account will please call and make all early settlement as all debts due must be collected immediately. As by selling for cash they will hope no bad debts, and will therefore be enabled to sell at

☞ LOWER PRICES! ☜

All parties who favor them with their custom may depend upon getting

GOOD GOODS

At Lower Rates than heretofore!

All kinds of Produce taken in exchange for goods, and the highest

GLOVER & ROBINSON,
Burnham's Brick.

Peterboro, Sept., 1861. 38-47.

THINGS TO BE REMEMBERED!

GEO. A COX.

IN returning his sincere thanks to the [illegible] liberal patronage he has [illegible] for the last [illegible] years, begs to intimate that he still continues to [illegible] Photography in all its different branches, [ corner of the ...

addressed him:

"Patrick McMahon, I thought I told you at the last lecture, never to show yourself within the walls of this room."

"You never told me anything of the kind before sure. Och! murther, to say that to my mother's own son!"

"What! Do you mean to tell me that I did'nt order you never to come here again? Explain yourself!"

"Well, you must know, sir, at the last lecture, you said we were'nt the same people in the morning as we were at night, and shure I can't be the same person I was last week, can I, sir?" asked Pat with the utmost nonchalence.

"The Professor tried to look hard at Pat but, after looking at him for a few seconds, his countenance relaxed, he laughed long and loud, together with his pupils, the singular manner in which he was caught.

It is needless to add that Pat was allowed to visit the following lectures, and the professor often relates to his friends how he was punished.

A TRUE STORY.

In a certain parish in the county of Forfar, there lived, a few years ago, a peculiar individual of the name of Jamie Johnston. Jamie was a poor begger, who had no home of his own, but lived continually on the parish. As report went, he had at some remote period of his life, from some cause unknown, lost the use of his legs, and was, in consequence, dependent for sustenance on the charity of the people of the district. Gifted with the knack of making himself agreeable wherever he might be, Jamie had become a great and universal favorite among the farmer's wives, who always took care that he should be provided for in a comfortable way. Indeed they strove with each other who should treat him best, for they were well aware that Jamie had most praise for her who put most butter on his bread and most sugar in his teacup. He was welcome to stay at any farm as long as he pleased; and when he wished to remove to another place he was invariably transported thither either in a cart or if the distance was short, on the broad shoulders of one or two stout ploughmen. Never was a king or beggar half so happy and blythe hearted as Jamie Johnston. He had plenty to eat and nothing to do all the year round, and he was truly thankful. One day two strong ploughmen, Rab and Jock, took upon themselves the burden and responsibility of conveying Jamie from their own farm to another about a quarter of a mile distant. Hoisted on Rab's back Jamie was as proud as an Emperor, and he forthwith began to crow, and chuckle, and crack his jokes with the greatest good will in the world. The ploughmen being in haste, determined to take what they called a "near cut" through a certain park where a number of cattle were grazing. They were about half way through this park when the three were "struck all of heap" by seeing a large black, ferocious-looking bull coming up to them, lashing the air with his long tail, pawing and tearing the ground with his feet, moaning and roaring in a manner calculated to strike terror and dismay into the stoutest heart.

"Oh! for guidness sake, Rab, run wi' a' yer micht, and save me frae that brute," cried Jamie.

Rab ran accordingly as fast as he could, Jock helping him as best he might. Notwithstanding all their efforts, however, it was too evident the brute was fast gaining ground, and would soon overtake them. They were still a pretty long distance from the fence, and Rab was nigh falling to the ground exhausted with the weight of the unfortunate Jamie.

"Jock, my gude freen'," said the individual, "see, I ye not stop behind a bit, an' try an' keep the beast back? Better ane should risk himsel' than that the three o' us should be killed. Rin, Rab, rin, and save me at ony rate.

"Jock, instead of acting as Jamie desired, ran away and left his friends to their fate. The bull was within a few yards of them, when to the infinite astonishment of the exhausted Rab, the lame man on his back sprang off, and, making good use of the legs long supposed to be useless, soon left the bull and his two friends far behind, leapt the fence with the agility of a "mackin," and was out of danger and out of sight in the twinkling of an eye-lid. The astonishment of Rab and Jock it would be impossible to describe. Forgetful of their pursuer, they stood, rooted to the earth, and stared with dilated eyes and open mouths, alternately at each other and at rapidly retreating figure of Jamie Johnston. The infuriated beast was likewise taken by surprise, and, instead of following up its advantage, stood still all at once and "glowered," stared and "dumfoundered" at the scene before it. As soon as the ploughmen were able to apprehend how matters stood, they set up such a roar of laughter as startled the echoes of the distant hills, and frightened the crows on a field on a neighboring county. It is needless to relate that Jamie Johnston from that day was never again seen in the parish.

EMPANNELING A JURY.

We dropped into a Court of Sessions the other day, to "take a look round us," and while there, were witnesses of the mode of empannelling a jury.

The first name called was Simpson Dungstaver. He had heard of the case in dispute, formed an opinion—quite forgot what that opinion was—could easily form another though. Disliked the prisoner.—Was sworn on prisoners grounds. Challenged.

The next, De Drabbit Ruff, had never heard of the case. Formed no opinion.—Never had an opinion. Paid a lawyer five dollars some for an opinion. Couldn't read. Disliked reading. Could write a cross to his name. Always judged prisoners by their ed.

Sampson Stolid. Could ... Didn't care which way he went. If prisoner was acquitted, he's let off; if he is found guilty he's pardoned. Accepted.

We wanted no longer, having business elsewhere. We left the court under the impression that there's a little fun and good deal of farce about "empannelling a jury."

THE HEROES OF PEACE, AND The Heroes of War!

E. ANTHONY, No. 501, New York, is now publishing, in addition to other portraits of a celebrated collection known in Europe and America as Brady's National Photographic Portrait Gallery, in which is included Portraits of nearly all the prominent men of America, not excepting Jeff. Davis, Gen. Beauregard, Floyd, and a host of other Confederates. Price of Portraits $3.00 per dozen. Can be sent by mail.

SCENES OF THE WAR FOR THE UNION, are published, card size, and in stereoscopic form. Also,—Stereoscopic Views of Scenes in Paris, London, and in other parts of England and France; in Scotland, Ireland, Wales, Holland, Switzerland, Spain, on the Rhine, Athens, Egypt, Turkey, the Holy Land, China, Cuba Cuba, &c., &c., ad infinitum.

OUR INSTANTANEOUS STEREOSCOPIC VIEWS ARE THE GREATEST WONDER OF THE AGE.

These are taken in the fortieth part of a second, and the rushing of water, the moving of vehicles or the march of an army, does not in the slightest degree affect the taking of these views.—☞ They are sold for $3.00 per dozen.

We have also on hand and manufacture the largest assortment of Stereoscopes, Photographic Albums, and Photographic Materials in the United States, and perhaps in the world.

Catalogues, containing lists of all our Portraits, Views, Stereoscopic, &c., sent free by mail on receipt of a stamp.

E. ANTHONY, 501 Broadway, near St. Nicholas Hotel, N. Y.

Sept, 1861. 36

EMPLOYMENT.

$40 A MONTH!

AGENTS WANTED!

WE want an active Agent in every County in the United States and Canada, to sell the Franklin Sewing Machine. To a limited number of travelling agents we will pay a salary of Forty Dollars a month and all expenses.

To local agents a commission of 20 per cent, in all sales.

Every machine is warranted to give universal satisfaction, and kept in repair six months.—Recent improvements renders this machine the cheapest and most popular in the market. For full particulars and a permanent business, address, with stamp for return letter,

HARRIS BROTHERS,
Sole agents Franklin Sewing Machine Co.
Box 496 Boston, Mass.

July, 1863. 28

NO YANKEE HUMBUG!

PROSPECTUS
OF A NEW AND ACCURATE, ILLUSTRATED TOPOGRAPHICAL AND STATISTICAL

Map of Upper Canada,

TOGETHER WITH A
DESCRIPTIVE MAP AND DIRECTORY
OF THE TOWNSHIPS OF
N'H & S'H MONAGHAN & OTONABEE.

CONLIN, BONNEY & Co., of Toronto, propose to publish the above work, drawn on a large scale from the most recent and accurate surveys, exhibiting all Post Offices, Money Order Offices, and Telegraph Stations throughout the Province, corrected from the latest official authority; also, the various lines of Railway, Railway Stations, with the correct distance between each, Canals, Plank and Macadamized Roads, the Main Travelled Roads between Towns and Villages, the boundaries and names of each County and Township, the great Lakes, Rivers, and principal Mill Streams. Tables showing the Variation of Time between each County Seat in Upper Canada from the Magnetic Observatory, Toronto, the Population of each City, Town, County and Township will also be given, with other important and useful information, carefully compiled from the Census Returns of the present year. The Map will be Illustrated with Views of the principal Public Buildings in the Province, executed in the best style of the art.

There will also be given on the given Map an enlarged Plan, in the most minute detail, of the above Townships, showing concessions, lots, and sub-divisions, with the names of the proprietors neatly engraved thereon; also, School Sections, Churches, School-houses, Mills, Manufactories, Stores, Inns, &c., together with numerous gravel, plank and other Roads open to Travel, the true course of rivers and mill streams; also, enlarged Plans of Towns and Villages in the Townships.

The names of all Subscribers, resident owners of farms, will be engraved specially prominent on their respective lots, and the position of their residence indicated; also, the names of Subscribers in the Towns and Villages will be published, with the trade, profession, business, &c., of each, thus constituting a complete Rural, Professional, and Mercantile Business Directory.

The publishers being practical engravers, draftsmen, &c., can confidently assure the public that the execution of the above work, in every department, will be superior to anything of the kind yet published in Canada. The size of the Map will be about 48 by 72 inches; it will be handsomely coloured, varnished, and mounted on canvas, with rollers, and furnished to subscribers only, for the low price of Four dollars and a half ($4 50) payable on delivery.

Other Townships in the County will be canvassed in due time.

☞ The Agents exhibit a REAL specimen of the above work, with our name engraved thereon.

CAUTION.—This subscription is in no way connected with that projected by Messrs. Tremaine, of Jefferson County, State of New York.

New Establishment.

A choice assortment carefully selected by a gentleman of many years experience.

GROCERIES, WINES, &c.

with a large variety of

Fancy Goods.

at very low prices.

Port Wine, (Per Gallon) at 4s 6d, 5s, 6s, 7s 6d
Sherry, 5s, 7s 6d, 10s, 12s, 15s
Finest old Pale Brandy, (brown, &c., Fine Hollands Gin in Wood, do. in Red and Green Cases. Irish Scotch, Whiskey (very old) do. in 1 doz. Cases.
Teas, Sugars, Coffees, Fruits, Spices, Pickles & Sauces, Fish, Oils, Vinegar of all kinds, Starch, Soap, Candles, Tobaccos, Brushes, Brooms, Glass, Crockery, and Wooden-ware, &c.

JOHN McDONELL,

In the former three fronted premises, lately occupied by Jas. Stevenson, Esq.,
GEORGE ST., PETERBORO'

Peterboro', Jan. 3 1861.

Dr. M'KEON'S
THROAT AND LUNG CANDY STICK!
price only 12 cents a stick, for sale at the Drug Store of
A. W. ERMATT.
Peterboro', Sept. 1861. 18

Insurance Company.

CAPIT L.....£2,000,000 STG.

BRITISH AMERICA
ASSURANCE COMP'Y
CAPITAL, $4,000,000.

WESTERN
INSURANCE COMPANY
CAPITAL, $2,000'000.

BRITANNIA LIFE
Assurance Company.
CAPITAL, £1,000,000, STERLING.
Peterborough, April 20th, 1859. 16

WESTERN
Insurance Company
CAPITAL £500,000
Head Office, Toronto,
FOR EVERY DESCIPTION OF FIRE & M RINE ASSURANCE
BUSINESS.

AGENT FOR PETERBORO',
W. CLUXTON.
Peterboro, Sept 14th, 1857.

THE CANADA LIFE
Assurance Company.
Captal, $1,000 000.
W. CLUXTON, Agent.
THOS. HOLYWELL, Medical Referee.
Peterborough, 2st August, 1859. 31

THE LIVERPOOL LONDON
FIRE AND LIFE
ASSURANCE COMPANY.
CAPITAL.....£2,000,000 STG.
Empowered by Act of the Imperial Parliament
Responsibility of Stockholders unlimited.
Head Office for Canada, Montreal.

THE UNDERSIGNED CONTINUES to accept Risks in the above
First Class Company,
on almost every description of property, at as REASONABLE RATES as any other responsible office.
LOSSES PAID
without reference to the Old Country.
W. CLUXTON,
Agent for Peterboro'
Peterboro.' April 20th, 1859. 16.

F. G. CALLENDER.

RETURNS his grateful acknowledgments to the inhabitants of Peterboro' and vicinity, for their liberal support during the past fourteen years, and on account of his increase of business, and with a view to the better accommodation of Hospitrons, will continue his visits on FIRST and THIRD MONDAYS, TUESDAYS & WEDNESDAYS in each month, INSTEAD OF ONLY THE FIRST MONDAY, as formerly, prepared to perform all operations of the profession, with superior neatness and durability. AND AS REASONABLE AS ANY EXPERIENCED DENTIST. His Teeth are his own selection, of the newest style, being made expressly for the Vulcanized base, now altogether used, being free from taste, much cheaper than Gold, and equal in neatness and durability, and much more agreeable in the mouth, being less weighty.

Rooms in Scott's Building, Market Block, Peterboro', and over the Post Office, Cobourg.

RELIEF IN TEN MINUTES.

BRYAN'S
PULMONIC WAFERS.

THE most certain and speedy remedy ever discovered for the relief of all diseases of the Chest and Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Consumption, Bronchitis, Influenza, Hoarseness, Difficult Breathing, Sore Throat, &c.

These Wafers give the most instantaneous and perfect relief, and when persevered with according to directions, never fail to effect a rapid and lasting cure. Thousands have been restored to perfect health, who have tried other means in vain. To all classes and all constitutions they are a blessing and a cure—none need despair, no matter how long the disease may have existed, or however severe it may be, provided the organic structure of the vital organ is not hopelessly decayed. Every one afflicted should give them an impartial trial.

TO VOCALISTS AND PUBLIC SPEAKERS these Wafers are peculiarly valuable; they will in one day remove the most severe occasional hoarseness; and their regular use for a few days will, at all times, increase the power and flexibility of the voice, greatly improving its tone, compass and elegance, for which purpose they are regularly used by many professional Vocalists.

JOB MOSES, Sole Proprietor, Rochester, N.Y.
Price 25 cents per box.
Vocalists and Public Speakers
Vocalists and Public Speakers
Vocalists and Public Speakers
Will find Bryan's Wafers
Will find Bryan's Wafers
Will find Bryan's Wafers
Invaluable to travelers
Invaluable to remove
Invaluable to remove
Hoarseness and Sore Throat,
Hoarseness and Sore Throat,
Hoarseness and Sore Throat,
And gives clearness to the Voice.
And gives clearness to the Voice.
And gives clearness to the Voice.
They relieve in ten minutes,
They relieve in ten minutes,
They relieve in ten minutes,
Coughs, Colds, and all diseases
Coughs, Colds, and all diseases
Coughs, Colds, and all diseases
Of the Chest and Lungs.
Of the Chest and Lungs.
Of the Chest and Lungs.
Sold by all Druggists
Sold by all Druggists
Sold by all Druggists
At 25 cents a box.
At 25 cents a box.
At 25 cents a box.

"THE ART JOURNAL"
is too well known to the whole country to need commendation. It is a magnificently illustrated magazine of Art, containing Essays, Stories, Poems, Gossip, &c., by the very best writers in America.

The Engraving is sent to any part of the country by mail, with safety, being packed in a cylinder postage pre-paid.

Subscriptions will be received until the Evening of the 31st of January, 1861, at which time the books will close and the premiums be given to subscribers.

No person is restricted to a single subscriptions. Those remitting $15, are entitled to five memberships and to one extra Engraving for their trouble.

Subscriptions from California, the Canadas, and all Foreign Countries, must be $3 50 instead of $3, in order to defray extra postage, etc.

For further particulars send for a copy of the elegantly illustrated Art Journal, pronounced the handsomest magazine in America. It contains Catalogue of Premiums, and numerous superb engravings. Regular price 50 cents per number. Specimen copies, however, will be sent to those wishing to subscribe, in receipt of 18 cts, in stamps or coin.

Address,
C. L. DERBY, Actuary C.A.A.
546 Broadway, N.Y.

N. B.—Subscriptions received by R. S. Patterson, Hon'y Secretary for United Counties of Peterboro' & Victoria, where specimen Engravings and Art Journal can be seen.

No. 5, Market Block, Peterboro', Dec. 11.

The Great English Remedy!

SIR JAMES CLARKE'S
Celebrated Female Pills!
Prepared from a Prescription of Sir J. Clarke, M. D., Physician Extraordinary to the Queen.

THIS well known Medicine is no imposition, but a sure and safe remedy for Female Difficulties and Obstructions, from any cause whatever; and although a powerful remedy, it contains nothing hurtful to the constitution. To married ladies it is peculiarly suited. It will, in a short time, bring on the monthly period with regularity.

In all cases of Persons and Spinal Affections, pain in the back and limbs, Heaviness, Fatigue on Slight Exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Lowness of Spirits, Hysterics, Sick Headache, Whites, and all the painful diseases occasioned by a disordered system, these Pills will effect a cure where all other means have failed.

☞ These Pills have never been known fail where the directions on the 2nd page the pamphlet are well observed.

For full particulars, get a pamphlet free o the agent.

N. B.—$1 and six postage stamps enclosed to any authorised agent, will ensure a bottle containing over 50 pills, by return mail.

Sir James Clarke's Female Pills
Sir James Clarke's Female Pills
Sir James Clarke's Female Pills
Are a Scientific Preparation.
Are a Scientific Preparation.
Are a Scientific Preparation.
They are safe, and never fail
They are safe, and never fail
They are safe, and never fail
To remove all Obstructions,
To remove all Obstructions,
To remove all Obstructions,
And cure all Female Complaints,
And cure all Female Complaints,
And cure all Female Complaints,
When the directions are followed.
When the directions are followed,
When the directions are followed
They are a blessing and a cure.
They are a blessing and a cure.
They are a blessing and a cure.
And can be sent by mail
And can be sent by mail
And can be sent by mail
For one dollar and six postage stamps.
For one dollar and six postage stamps.
For one dollar and six postage stamps.

JOB MOSES, Rochester, N.Y., sole proprietor. Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, C. W., General Agents. For sale by Ormond & Gilmour, Wm. Coulter, A. W. Kempt, Peterboro' and all dealers in medicines.

EDEN GARDENS
PETERBOROUGH,
OPPOSITE WALKERFIELD NURSERY.

THE subscriber would respectfully inform the inhabitants of the Town of Peterborough and surrounding country that he has at his Gardens a constant supply (in their season) of all kinds of Garden Vegetables usually grown in this latitude. Seedling plants, such as

Cabbage, Cauliflower,

Tomato, Celery, Winter Cherry, &c. Also,—Small Fruits in their season.

Vegetables

fresh from Eden Gardens at the Market every week day; also at his Store on George Street, where all orders which may be left for anything in the above line will be promptly attended to.

PHILIP GILES.

May 1, 1861. 18

A STARTLING FACT!

THE subscriber has great pleasure in informing the public that he is manufacturing ever made in Canada, patented by J. Dennis. In order to prove the above, I can guarantee to put them on trial, for distance as wells 100 feet deep and less, until the 1st of June, 1861. If not then preferred before any other kind will take them back free of charge; if they suit, I will give them until the 1st of January, 1862; the payment, by giving a promissory note.
THE BEST PUMPS

These Pumps are

Warranted not to Freeze.

All orders addressed to the undersigned, stating depth of well, to Warkworth, Percy, up to the 1st of April, 1861, and after that date to the Subscriber, in Ashburnham, will receive prompt attention. All letters must be post-paid.

HENRY DENNIS,
Manufacturer.

Warkworth, Percy, Dec 1860.

Patented rights to manufacture and sell the above Pumps for sale by John Dennis, patentee and manufacturer, New Market, C. W. 50-1y.

L. M. SQUAIR,

Agent for Steamer "Maple Leaf," and Jacques, Tracy & Co's Line of Boats, the Alps, Ottawa, Colonist, Huron, & Bowmanville.

CONTRACTS for freight or passage to and from Montreal, Rochester, Boston, New York, and Chicago.

Offices in Gilbert's Block, and Purdom's Store, Port ... 18, 1860.

ELLERS REST.

... House has been enlarged ... refurnished, and as every con... accommodation of the travelling ... directly opposite the Post Office, ... and within sight of the steam...

STABLE

... with the best the market affords, and

... supplied with the choicest of Liquors. ... and customers, as well as the travelling public are respectfully requested to give a call.

A careful ostler on hand at all times.

WILLIAM CRESWELL,
Proprietor.

... Surgeon, April 4, 1861. 14-6m.

PETERBORO',
Soap and Candle Works.

A large stock of very superior
CANDLES AND SOAP
... on hand and for sale at the lowest wholesale prices.

☞ Orders are respectfully solicited.
Cash for Lard, Tallow and Soap Grease.

OGILVY & HOOD.
Peterboro, Dec ... 1858. 51

... TLE-PIECES, &c., &c., &c.
... ship as can be done in any Terms very low for Cash.
... and Workshop, corner of Loudon ... Streets, foot of Smithtown Hill.
H. T. EVANS.
Peterboro, Nov. 8, 1860 45

SADDLERY & HARNESS
WARE-HOUSE.
Opposite A. McNeil's Auction Rooms, George Street, Peterboro'.

HOPKINS & DONNELY
WILL keep constantly on hand, and make to order all sorts of
SADDLES, HARNESS, WHIPS, Valises, &c.,
which they intend to sell CHEAP FOR CASH, or on approved credit.

☞ All work warranted, as it is made by superior workmen.

Peterborough, Sept. 5, 1860. 36

ROOM PAPER.

R. STEVENSON,
PAINTER & PAPER-HANGER,
HAS Received direct from England, a large and well-selected assortment of Room Paper, Borders, Decorations, Window-blinds, &c. which will be sold at Prices to suit t... Times.
Bronk Street
Opposite Lawson's Hotel. 17

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

A compound remedy, in which we have laboured to produce the most effectual alterative that can be made. It is a concentrated extract of Para Sarsaparilla, so combined with other substances of still greater alterative power as to afford an effective antidote for the diseases Sarsaparilla is reputed to cure. It is believed that such a remedy is wanted by those who suffer from Strumous complaints, and that one which will accomplish their cure must prove of immense service to this large class of our afflicted fellow-citizens. How completely this compound will do it has been proven by experiment on many of the worst cases to be found of the following complaints:—

SCROFULA AND SCROFULOUS COMPLAINTS, ERUPTIONS AND ERUPTIVE DISEASES, ULCERS, PIMPLES, BLOTCHES, TUMORS, SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, SYPHILIS AND SYPHILITIC AFFECTIONS, MERCURIAL DISEASE, DROPSY, NEURALGIA OR TIC DOULOUREUX, DISEASES OF THE LIVER, DYSPEPSIA AND INDIGESTION, ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, ROSE OR ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD.

This compound will be found a great promoter of health, when taken in the spring, to expel the foul humors which fester in the blood at that season of the year. By the timely expulsion of them many rankling disorders are nipped in the bud. Multitudes can, by the aid of this remedy, spare themselves from the endurance of foul eruptions and ulcerous sores, through which the system will strive to rid itself of corruptions if not assisted to do this through the natural channels of the body by an alterative medicine. Cleanse out the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, eruptions, or sores; cleanse it when you find it is obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when you find it foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Even where no particular disorder is felt, people enjoy better health, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. Keep the blood healthy, and all is well; but with this pabulum of life disordered, there can be no lasting health. Sooner or later something must go wrong, and the great machinery of life is disordered or overthrown.

Sarsaparilla has, and deserves much, the reputation, of accomplishing these ends. But the world has been egregiously deceived by preparations of it, partly because the drug alone has not all the virtue that is claimed for it, but more because many preparations, pretending to be concentrated extracts of it, contain but little of the virtue of Sarsaparilla, or any thing else.

During late years the public have been misled by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one dollar. Most of these have been frothy upon the shelf, for they not only contain little, if any, Sarsaparilla, but often no curative properties whatever. Hence, bitter and painful disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market, until the name itself is justly despised, and has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound Sarsaparilla, and intend to supply such a remedy as shall restore the name from the load of obloquy which rests upon it. And we think we have ground for believing it has virtues which are irresistible by the ordinary run of the diseases it is intended to cure. In order to secure their complete eradication from the system, the remedy should be judiciously taken according to directions on the bottle.

PREPARED BY
DR. J. C. AYER & CO.
LOWELL, MASS.
Price, $1 per Bottle; Six Bottles for $5.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

has won for itself such a renown for the cure of every variety of Throat and Lung Complaint, that it is entirely unnecessary for us to recount the evidence of its virtues, wherever it has been employed. As it has long been in constant use throughout this section, we need but to mention its presence. Usually it kept up to the best it ever has been, and that it may be relied on to do the their relief all it has ever been found to do.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

FOR THE CURE OF
Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Bruptions and Skin Diseases, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and for Purifying the Blood.

They are safe to be administered, in that the most sensitive can take them pleasantly, and they are the best aperient in the world for all the purposes of a family physic.

Price 25 cents per box; Five boxes for $1.00.

Great numbers of Clergymen, Physicians, Statesmen, and eminent personages, have lent their names to certify the unparalleled excellence of these remedies, but our space here will not permit the insertion of them. The Agents below named furnish gratis our AMERICAN ALMANAC in which they are given; with also full descriptions of the above complaints, and the treatment that should be followed for their cure.

Do not be put off with ... Ayer's preparations, or pretend ... Demand AYER'S, and take ... want the best, and they should have it.

... our Remedies are for sale by Ormond & Gilmour; Wm. Coulter, and W. A. Kempt, Peterboro'. C. Beltos, Lindsay; R. Gregory, Millbrook; A. Goodfellow, Cayuga, and all medicine dealers. Northrop & Lyman, General Agents for the Canadas.

JUDSON'S
Mountain Herb Pills.

ABOVE, we present you with a perfect likeness of Tenuco, a chief of a tribe of the strange Aztec Nation, that once ruled Mexico. You will find a full account of him and his people in our Pamphlets and Almanacs—to be had gratis, from the Agents for these Pills.

The inventor and manufacturer of "Judson's Mountain Herb Pills," visited the greater part of his life in travelling, having visited nearly every country in the world. He spent over six years among the Indians of the Rocky Mountains and Mexico, and it was then that the "MOUNTAIN HERB PILLS" were discovered. A very interesting account of his adventures there, you will find in our Almanac and Pamphlet.

It is an established fact, that all diseases arise from

IMPURE BLOOD!

The blood is the life! and when any foreign or unhealthy matter gets mixed with it, it is at once distributed to every organ of the body. Every nerve feels the poison, and all the vital organs quickly complain. The stomach will not digest the food properly. The liver ceases to secrete a sufficiency of bile. The action of the heart is weakened, and so the circulation is feeble. The lungs become clogged with the poisonous matter; hence, a cough—and all from a slight disparity at the fountain-head of life—the Blood! As if food had thrown around earth, for instance, in a few minutes the whole course of the stream becomes disturbed and discolored. As quickly does impure blood fly to every part, and leave its sting behind. All the passages become obstructed, and unless the obstruction is removed, the lamp of life soon dies out.

These pills not only purify the blood, but regenerate all the secretions of the body; they are, therefore, entitled as a

CURE FOR BILIOUS DISEASES,

Liver Complaint, Fish Headache, &c. This Anti-Bilious Medicine expels from the blood the hidden seeds of disease, and restores all the solid and secretive parts and fluids, clearing and strengthening the vital organs.

Pleasant indeed, is it to us, that we are able to place within your reach, a medicine like the "MOUNTAIN HERB PILLS," that will pass directly to the diseased parts, through the blood and fluids of the body, and cause the sufferer to brighten with the flush of beauty and health.

Judson's Pills are the Best Remedy in existance for the following Complaints:

Bad Complexion, Debility, Impaired Weakness,
Coughs, Fever and Ague, Liver Complaints,
Colds, Female Complaints, Loss of Appetite,
Chest Diseases Headaches, Pills,
Consumption, Indigestion, Bowel and Gravel,
Dyspepsia, Inflammation, Kidney Diseases,
Diarrhœa, Jaundice,
Dropsy,

GREAT FEMALE MEDICINE

Females who value health, should never be without these Pills. They purify the blood, remove obstructions of all kinds, subdue the ebbs of all complaints and blotches, and bring the rich color of health to the pale cheek.

☞ The Plants and Herbs of which these Pills are made, were discovered in a very surprising way among the Mountains, a tribe of Aborigines in Mexico, and the Almanac of our Agent, and you will read with delight, the very interesting account of the "Great Discovery" of the Aztecs.

Observe.—The Mountain Herb Pills are put up in a Beautiful Wrapper. Each box contains 40 pills, and Retail at 25 cents per box. All genuine have the signature of B. L. Judson & Co., on each box.

B. L. JUDSON, & Co.
SOLE PROPRIETORS,
No. 50 Leonard Street,
NEW YORK
☞ BEWARE OF ALL MEDICINE DEALERS ☜

☞ The Canadian Pain Destroyer it a prompt and sure remedy for Cramp and pain in the Stomach, Painters' Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer Complaint, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, Scalds

Burns, as well as the stings of Insects, Scorpions, Centipedes, and the bites of Venomous Insects and venomous Reptiles.

DR. M'KEON'S
WORM POWDER,
SOLD ONLY BY
W. COULTER, DRUGGIST,
PETERBOROUGH.

MAN MISSING.

JOHN ABRAM, left Wm. Mocomb's Axe Factory, in Peterboro', where he was employed, on Tuesday, 29th May last, since which time nothing has been heard from him. As it is supposed he was suffering from mental derangement at the time fears are entertained for his safety. He is an Irishman by birth, about 30 years of age, about 5 feet 7 inches in height, and had when he left a small under chin brown whisker; his hair is black. He wore when he left a black coat, black satin vest, speckled ... cap.

... information respecting him will be thankfully received by his brother, THOMAS ABRAM, ... of Mr. Wm. Mocomb, Box 13, P. O., Peterboro'.

Papers copying the above will confer a great favor on the friends of the missing man.

Peterboro, June 12th, 1861. 24

JOHN O'DONNELL, Jr.,
Dentist.

OFFICE.—Burnham's Block, George Street, over Mr. Maloney's Store.

In Peterboro' from the 14th to the last of every month.

Artificial Teeth
mounted on Gold, Silver and Vulcanized Rubber—and warranted to give satisfaction to the wearer.

By the aid of a (late) very important discovery in Chemistry, I am prepared to perform an effectual cure on any aching tooth, provided it has not ached long enough to cause the death of the nerve, in that case inflammation of the jaw and cannot be cured without a great deal of pain and trouble.

Children's teeth attended to as usual.

Particular attention paid to diseases of the Antrum, Maxillary, [Jaw] bones, gums, tongue, dislocation of the Jaw, and all diseases emanating from a diseased state of the teeth.

Peterboro, Jan. 3rd, 1861. 1

Health and its Pleasures,
OR DISEASE WITH ITS AGONIES:
CHOOSE BETWEEN THEM.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.

NERVOUS DISORDERS.

What is more fearful than the breaking down of the nervous system? To be excitable or nervous in a small degree is most distressing, for where can a remedy be found? There is one:—drink but little wine, beer, or spirits, or for better none; take no coffee,—weak tea being preferable; eat all the fresh air you can; take three or four Pills every night; eat plenty of solids, avoid the use of slops; and if these golden rules are followed you will be happy in mind and strong in body, and forget you have any nerves.

MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS.

If there is one thing more than another for which these Pills are so famous it is their purifying properties, especially their power of cleansing the blood from all impurities, and removing dangerous and suspended secretions. Universally adopted as the one grand remedy for female complaints, they never fail, never weaken the system, and always bring about what is required.

SICK HEADACHES AND WANT OF A PETITE.

These feelings which so sadden us, most frequently arise from annoyances or trouble, from obstructed perspiration, or from eating and drinking what is not fit for us, thus deranging the liver and stomach. These organs must be regulated if you wish to be well. The Pills if taken according to the printed instructions, will quickly restore a healthy action to both liver and stomach, whence follow as a natural consequence, a good appetite and a clear head. In the East and West Indies scarcely any other medicine is ever used for these disorders.

DISORDERS OF THE KIDNEYS.

In all diseases affecting these organs, whether they secrete too much or too little water; or whether they be affected with stone or gravel, or with aches or pains settled in the loins over the regions of the kidneys, these Pills should be taken according to the printed directions, and the Ointment should be well rubbed into the small of the back at bed time. This treatment will give almost immediate relief when all other means have failed.

FOR STOMACHS OUT OF ORDER.

No medicine will so effectually improve the tone of the stomach as these Pills; they remove all acidity, occasioned either by intemperance or improper diet. They reach the liver and regulate it to a healthy action; they are wonderfully efficacious in cases of spasms.—In fact they never fail in curing all disorders of the liver and Stomach.

Holloway's Pills are the best remedy in the world for the following diseases.

Ague, Inflammation,
Asthma, Jaundice,
Bilious Complaints, Liver Complaints,
Blotches on the Skin, Lumbago,
Bowel Complaints, Piles,
Colics, Rheumatism,
Constipation of the Bowels, Retention of Urine,
Consumption, Scrofula, or King's Evil
Debility, Sore Throats,
Dropsy, Stone and Gravel,
Dysentery, Secondary Symptoms,
Erysipelas, Tic-Douloureux,
Female Irregularities, Tumours,
Fevers of all kinds, Ulcers,
Fits, Venereal Affections,
Gout, Worms of all kinds,
Head-ache, Weakness from whatever cause,
Indigestion, &c.,
&c.,

☞ Caution!—None are genuine unless the words "Holloway, New York and London," are discernible as a Water-mark in every leaf of the book of directions around each pot or box; the same may be plainly seen by holding the leaf to the light. A handsome reward will be given to any one rendering such information as may lead to the detection of any party or parties counterfeiting the medicines or vending the same, knowing them to be spurious.

. Sold at the Manufactory of Professor Holloway, 80 Maiden Lane, New York, and by all respectable Druggists and Dealers in Medicine throughout the civilized world, in boxes at 25 cents, 62 cents and $1 each.

☞ There is considerable saving by taking the larger sizes.

N. B.—Directions for the guidance of patients in every disorder are affixed to each box.

VISIT OF
DR. LA'MERT
OF LONDON,
TO THE NORTH AMERICAN PROVINCES.

DR. LA'MERT of Bedford Square, London, Member of the Royal College of Surgeons of England; Licentiate of the Royal College of Physicians of Edinburgh, &c; author of "Self-preservation," the "Science of Life," and "Second Life," begs to intimate to his Patients and the Public that he proposes in August, making a Professional visit to the British North American Possessions, commencing with Halifax, N. S.; and that he will afterwards visit St. John, N.B., and Lower and Upper Canada.

Due notice will be given in future advertisements of Dr. La'Mert's arrival and of his place of residence in the several towns in which he may be quartered, either personally, or by correspondence. In making this intimation, Dr. La'Mert wishes to guard, as against the advantageous terms only proposed from a personal interview, and the general facilities that will be afforded to those who are desirous of bringing their cases under his immediate supervision. Dr. La'Mert, moreover cannot too strongly urge on those who have already been under his care, or who may hereafter be in correspondence with him, the eligibility of the occasion that will present itself of visiting us any doubts that may have existed in regard to their cases, and would most clearly impress upon them the importance of making themselves personally acquainted with him, as correspondence with him during his necessarily limited visit, which under no circumstances can be prolonged beyond the dates hereafter to be announced.

In order that no obstacle may be presented to the completion of the treatment of Dr. La'Mert will be provided with such individual cases in the Colonies that he could render his aid during the past three years. Those who contemplate availing themselves of Dr. La'Mert's services are requested to state the intervals to prevent the numerous applications which would otherwise arise from unnecessary interval between the time of application and the period of the Doctor's arrival.

"Self-Preservation" may be had in a sealed envelope, price One Shilling sterling, of Messrs Chubb and Co., St John, N. B.; R. G. Fuller, Express Agent, Halifax, N.S.; or the Author will forward it, post free, on receipt of Colonial postage stamps to the amount of 18 pence sterling.

Scrofula, or King's Evil,
is a constitutional disease, a corruption of the blood, by which this fluid becomes vitiated, weak, and poor. Being in the circulation, it pervades the whole body, and may haunt out in disease on any part of it. No organ is free from its attacks, nor is there one which it may not destroy. The scrofulous taint is variously caused by mercurial disease, low living, disordered or unhealthy food, impure air, filth and filthy habits, the depressing vices, and, above all, by the venereal infection. Whatever be its origin, it is hereditary in the constitution, descending "from parents to children unto the third and fourth generation," indeed, it seems to be the zeal of Him who says, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children."

Its effects commence by deposition from the blood of corrupt or ulcerous matter, which, in the lungs, liver, and internal organs, is termed tubercles; in the glands, swellings; and on the surface, eruptions or sores. This foul corruption, which genders in the blood, depresses the energies of life, so that scrofulous constitutions not only suffer from scrofulous complaints, but they have far less power to withstand the attacks of other diseases; consequently, vast numbers perish by diseases which, although not scrofulous in their nature, are still rendered fatal by this taint in the system. Most of the consumption which decimates the human family has its origin directly in this scrofulous contamination; and many destructive diseases of the liver, kidneys, bones, and, indeed, of all the organs, arise from or are aggravated by the same cause.

One quarter of all

OCTOBER

1861

BOOK AND JOB PRINTING ESTABLISHMENT.

EVERY description of Book and Job Printing executed at this Office, in superior style, at low rates

Pamphlets, Circulars,
Handbills, Funeral Cards,
Invitations, Bill Headings,
Horse Bills, Show Bills,
General Bills, Programmes,
Posters, Bingo Bills,
Ball Cards, Blanks, &c.,

with every variety of Coloring and Bronzing. Fancy Paper Fronts of every description, kept constantly on hand.

All orders for Job Printing forwarded to this Office will be punctually and strictly attended to.

The Examiner.

PETERBOROUGH, CANADA WEST, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1861.

Volume VI.] "THE PEOPLE." [Number 40.

THE "EXAMINER"

Is published every Thursday morning at the office of the undersigned, in BURNHAM'S BLOCK, GEORGE STREET.

Terms of Subscription—$1.50 per annum payable strictly in advance, $2 when not so paid.

Rates of Advertising.

Six Lines, and under, first insertion	$0 75
Each subsequent insertion	12½
Six to ten lines, first insertion	75
Each subsequent insertion	12½
Over ten lines, first insertion (per line)	7
Each subsequent insertion, "	2
Business Cards as per agreement.

☞ Advertisements without written instructions will be inserted until forbid. Orders to discontinue must be given in writing.

All communications to the Publisher must be post-paid; otherwise no notice will be taken of them.

JAMES RENFREW, Jr., Proprietor.

Business Directory.

JAMES HALL,
SHERIFF. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

MR. TOOLE,
MANUFACTURER of Sash Blinds, Doors and Mouldings. Every description of Joiner Work done to order. Next door to Morton's Mills, Peterboro'. C. W. 9

MESSRS. FITZGERALD & BRENNAN
PROVINCIAL LAND SURVEYORS, CIVIL ENGINEERS AND LAND AGENTS. Office in Scott's Chambers, corner of George and Simcoe Streets.
Messrs. F. & B. having lately surveyed the outlines of eight new Townships now located in this County will be happy to give any information to intending settlers. 34

J. B. BISBEE,
DEALER in Boots, Shoes & Leather, George Street, Peterborough, C. W. 16

W. CRAWFORD,
GOVERNMENT Land Agent. Office at his residence, Brock Street.

EDMUND S. VINDIN,
COMMISSION, Shipping, Forwarding, and General Agent, Lumber Merchant, &c.—OFFICE—Corner of Walton and Ontario Streets. 13

MR. DENNISTOUN,
BARRISTER at Law Master Extraordinary in Chancery Notary Public, &c., Peterborough

Mr. A. T. HAATMFIELD.
PIANIST AND TEACHER OF MUSIC.
COMMUNICATION THROUGH THE POST OFFICE, Peterborough.

JOHNSON'S
FASHIONABLE Hair Dressing and Shaving Saloon in the Building formerly occupied by the Post Office, east of the bridge.
Port Hope, Sept. 29, 1857.

GEORGE MITCHELL,
DEALER in Groceries and Provisions, &c. Cash paid for all kinds of country produce, George Street Peterborough. 16

T. G. HAZLITT,
DEALER in Provisions, Groceries, Crockery and Glass ware, Hunter Street Peterboro.

W. SHERIDAN,
COUNTY Treasurer and Clerk. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

R. STEVENSON,
PAINTER, Paper hanger, &c., &c., Brock Street, Peterborough. 15

GEORGE H. HUGHES,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
SOLICITOR IN CHANCERY
Conveyancer, &c.
OFFICE in Harvey's Building, next door (South) to Thompson's Store, George St., Peterborough. 12

GENERAL FIRE AND LIFE INSURANCE OFFICE.
W. CLUXTON, Agent.

W. COULTER, PETERBORO',
DEALER in Genuine Drugs, Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Sash, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Spices, Cuttlery, Soaps, &c., &c. 16

THOMAS MENZIES,
BOOKSELLER, Stationer, &c., &c., &c. Dixon's Exchange Block, George Street Peterborough. 20

M. HARVEY, M. D., CORONER.
RESIDENCE:—Aylmer Street, opposite the G. T. Railway Depot, Peterboro.
April 2nd, 1861.

W. H. SCOTT,
BARRISTER AT LAW, Solicitor in Chancery, Notary Public, Conveyancer, &c.
OFFICE:—In Burnham's Block, opposite the Steam Office, Peterborough.
April 11, 1861. 15

A. M'CREA,
PROVINCIAL Licentiate, Physician, Surgeon, &c. Keene.

GEORGE PRINGLE, M. D.
PHYSICIAN, Surgeon, &c., &c., graduate of Queen's College, Montreal, having also studied in the hospitals of London and Dublin.
OFFICE AND RESIDENCE—Brock Street, opposite McGregor's Livery Stable, Peterboro.
April 25, 1861. 17

ALEX. McNEIL,
AUCTIONEER, Valuator, &c., &c. Licensed for the United Counties of Peterborough and Victoria. George St., Peterboro'.

JAMES BEST,
DEALER in Dry Goods, Groceries, Crockery, Boots and Shoes, &c., &c., &c. Rowe's Block George Street, Peterborough. 18

AUCTION SALES.
BY
T. F. NICHOLL,
Auctioneer,
CIVIL ENGINEER AND SURVEYOR, LAND AGENT, and GENERAL COMMISSION MERCHANT.
Peterborough.
Terms moderate, business punctual, and payments prompt.

MR. DUNN,
PRINCIPAL of the Grammar and Union School, will devote a short time each day to private tuition.
Peterboro', Jan. 16th, 1861. 3

A. POWLIS & Co.
HARDWARE Merchants, George Street Peterborough. 19

PRIVATE BOARD.
A NUMBER of respectable boarders may find good Board at "comfortable accommodation at Mr. Henderson's well-fitted brick cottage, near the Passenger Station of the P. S. & P. R. Apply on the premises.
Peterboro', 1861. JOSEPH POSTANS. 20

CABINET-MAKING.
[illegible] Cabinet-maker, Upholsterer & Undertaker, Queen Street, Cheapside Store Peterboro'.

D. PENTLAND,
Surgical & Mechanical Dentist,
OFFICE, OVER COULTER'S DRUG STORE, George Street, Peterboro'.

TEETH Extracted by the aid of Electricity, with the least possible pain. Teeth inserted upon fine Gold, Silver, or
VULCANIZED RUBBER,
Teeth and material warranted to be of the very best quality.
D. P. particularly wishes the public to understand that he
WARRANTS HIS WORK TO GIVE GOOD SATISFACTION,
and parties who are not perfectly satisfied with their plates have the privilege of returning them before paying for them.
Particular attention paid to the treatment of all diseases of the mouth, and also the regulating of children's teeth.
Peterboro', April 10th, 1861. 15

ALBION HOTEL,
MONTREAL.
L. W. BECKER, Proprietor.
IS pleasantly situated at the head of ST. PAUL STREET, amongst the largest wholesale houses in the city. It has (with business men generally, and especially with the best Merchants of both Provinces) become so great a favorite, that it is now acknowledged to be THE Business Hotel of Montreal. To meet the extensive increase, during the last year in the business of the house, the proprietor has built a large addition. The Dining Room has been extended and made more commodious; there have been completed in the new wing, a great number of well-ventilated sleeping rooms, and the House throughout has been refitted, and now contains many improvements and conveniences hitherto unknown to its guests. The whole of the beds have, at a great expence, been furnished with NEW SPRING MATTRASSES. The Proprietor expects that by continuing his personal management of the concern, THE ALBION to say the least of it, will continue to be, as it now is, the best Dollar and a half Hotel in Canada

VALUABLE FARM
FOR SALE.
THE subscriber is desirous of disposing of his Farm, south west part of Lot 23, in the 11th Con. Otonabee, only 3 miles from the town of Peterborough, and on the main road leading to Keene, comprising 100 Acres.
60 Acres are Cleared,
and in a good state of cultivation; 14 Acres of Fall Wheat are sown, and part of Fall ploughing is done. A good Frame Rough-cast House, 26 x 30, a Barn, 45 x 25, and a good stable and other out-houses are on the premises.
A GOOD WELL,
of spring water stands within a rod of the house, and is easy of access.
YOUNG ORCHARD OF 85 TREES,
in good condition, and of the choicest fruits, is on the property.
The Farm is one of the best in the Township, and the situation is very convenient, no better chance for the purchase of a good farm could be offered, and it will be sold at a liberal price.
Title Indisputable.
Apply to the proprietor on the premises,
JAS WEIR.
Otonabee, Nov. 7 1860. 54

NOTICE
THE next meeting of the Senior Board of Instruction for the County of Peterboro' will be held on the
First Tuesday of Dec. next,
IN THE COURT HOUSE, AT 10 A.M
Teachers holding third class certificates issued a year or upwards ago, are required to have them renewed.
By order,
J. EDWARDS,
Secretary.
Peterboro' May 14, 1861. 20

THE LATEST IMPROVED
COAL OIL,
AND COAL OIL LAMPS,
AT REDUCED PRICES.
JOHN McDONELL,
GEORGE STREET.
Jan. 2, 1861. 1.

PORT HOPE & PETERBORO RAILWAY.
ON and after th th January, 1861, and until further notice, Trains will run as follows:—
GOING NORTH.
Leave Port Hope at.....10.00 a. m.
" Millbrook ".....11.25 a. m.
" Fraserville ".....11.50 a. m.
Arrive at Peterboro' at.....12.10 a. m.
GOING SOUTH.
Leave Peterboro' at.....2.30 p. m.
" Fraserville ".....2.15 p. m.
" Millbrook ".....3.50 p. m.
Arrive at Port Hope at.....5.35. p. m.
JOHN FOWLER,
Lessee.
Peterboro' January, 18

CARRIAGES ! BUGGIES ! &c., &c., &c.
E. C. HILL would call the attention to intending purchasers to the fact that he has a large stock of Carriages & Buggies of good manufacture, and the best material, which is own warrant to be good, and solicits a call as he wishes to sell Cheap for Cash, or short approved credit, to make room for a large stock the coming year. Repairing neatly done, said with dispatch, opposite Lawson's Hotel, Brock Street. Give him a call.
Peterboro, May 2, 1861.

INFORMATION WANTED.
A DAUGHTER wishes to learn the present whereabouts of her mother, whom she has not seen for the last thirteen years. Her maiden name was Polly Cook; her first husband's name was Warren Slope. It is said she married in 1848, a person named De Lour, who was at that time engaged in some way in the manufacture of silk, in some part of Upper Canada. Any information, respecting her will be gratefully received by addressing the subscriber, at 58 Pickle Street, Rochester, N. Y. Canadian papers will confer a favor upon one who has long been deprived of a mother's affection, by giving the above an insertion, entire or in part.
Mrs. SEMANTHA JENKINSON.
Rochester, N. Y., 11th May, 1861.

Poetry.

NEPTUNE.

A TALE.

Close by a silent, dark, deep stream,
A peasant boy sits weeping;
He, tightly locked within his arms,
A little dog is keeping
The hot salt tears course quickly down
His chubby sun-burnt cheeks,
As softly-whispered loving words
Thus to his dog he speaks:
"Poor Neptune! poor, poor Neptune!" Then Come heavy, heavy sighing;
And then the sore heart's pain finds vent
In full, loud, boyish crying.
He knows he is alone, and so
His grief is unrestrained;
'Tis well, for now a passing ear
The boy's distress has gained.
The squire's young wife it is who hears,
And hastens to his side,
"What ails thee, lad?" she asks in tones
Which nothing have of pride
The tearful eyes are quick upturned
When he has language found;
His grief is told in these few words—
"M dog, ma'am, is not be drowned,"
"Who says so?" asks the lady fair,
Patting his dog the while;
"Indeed it is a pretty dog."
She adds with loving smile.
"He's first-rate," says the boy, "but then
The new land-steward we've got,
Gives orders that the cottage dogs
Must all be drowned or shot;
And so my mother won't let me
Keep Neptune—father's dead—
And to the steward my mother looks
For work to earn our bread.
We must not give offence, she says,
And so I have to do it—
The squire would not make me do't,
If his worship only knew it."
With tearful eyes the lady smiles,
And says the squire shall know;
For I with you, my little lad,
Shall to his squireship go."
The boy looks grave, and says: "I fear
That would offend the steward;"
The lady, laughing, says: "It won't."
The young heart thus assured,
In joy breaks forth—"You know the squire?
"You'll save my Neptune's life?"
In soft proud tones the lady says:
"I am his honor's wife!"
So Neptune's life was saved, and soon
A goodly dog he grew;
And far and near the cottage boys
The gallant Neptune knew.
But you shall hear; three years had passed,
A brave, proud, lovely boy
Was now the squire's—who saw him knew
He was his parent's joy.
Such speaking eyes—so grand his brow—
For bright his golden hair;
E'en fancy's self had ne'er a son
So manly and so fair;
We see him now, by nurse's side,
His prattling tree and loud;
The old dame eyes her charge the while
With looks both fond and proud.
Now says now o'er the closed award,
In childish glee he's racing;
And, now, a little huntsman, he
A bounding is chasing.
How nimbly little Hector runs;
How bright old nurse's glances;
As lightly o'er each grassy knoll,
Her little sportsman dances.
He goes too far, his nurse now says,
In tones of anxious fear;
"Stop, Hector, stop!" a distant calls,
But Hector do—not hear.
On, on! he runs—his nurse pursues—
That deep dark stream is nigh;
"Stop, Hector, stop!" she loudly calls,
Still Hector hears no cry.
He'll catch those lovely speckled wings,
So that proud boy doth think;
Oh, Heaven! preserve the darling child,
He's on the river's brink.
His nurse's heart now sinks in fear—
Her eyes with terror flash;
She screams—she falls—for she has heard
The death-foreboding splash.
That fearful scream has pierced two hearts—
The dear boy's parents', who,
From yon steep, high, opposing cliff,
The scene of terror view.
The mother sees her drowning child,
And sinks upon her knees;
She sees no more; the father's heart
Doth now with horror freeze.
He stands, as in a fearful swear,
He has no power to move;
He, floating out—and sinking—sees
The child of all his love.
He's going down! no help is near!
The father breathes no breath;
He's sinking! sinking!—sinking! Now
He struggles hard with death;
But he must go. What sound is that Which through the air now rings!
And who or what is that which now
Into the water springs?
It is a dog 'tis Neptune too—
Right for the child he's making;
Oh, mercy on that father's heart,
Its o'er-taxed strings are breaking!
The gallant dog strikes nobly out;
Oh, cruel, cruel, fate!
The father's heart doth sickening faint,
For Neptune is too late;
The waters have closed o'er the child;
The dog too sinks from sight;
The father, blind, now leans a-stand
Of triumph and delight.
'Tis Neptune's master's voice he hears
In ecstacy so wild;
His noble dog now swims for shore,
Bearing aloft the child.
The heir is safe; his mother now
Him to her heart hath pressed;
Then squire and lady both at once
"The brave good dog caressed.
"The dog you saved, ma'am," said the boy,
Then to the squire: "You see,
'Tis wrong to let the steward destroy
The dogs of such as me."
Both squire and lady smiled; and now
Their possession dogs are rife;
All honor to brave Neptune, who Saved little master's life!

A COMPASSIONATE JUDGE.

A compassionate Judge in Texas, on passing sentence on John Jones, who had been convicted of murder, concluded his remarks as follows: "The fact is, Jones, that the court did not order you to be executed before next Spring, but the weather is very cold; our jail, unfortunately, is in a very bad condition; much of the glass in the windows is broken; the chimneys are in such a dilapidated state that no fire can be made to render your apartments comfortable; besides, owing to the great number of prisoners, not more than one blanket can be allowed to each; to cramp round and comfortably, therefore, will be out of the question. In consideration of these circumstances, and wishing to lessen your sufferings as much as possible, the Court, in the exercise of its humanity and compassion, hereby orders you to be executed to-morrow morning, as soon after breakfast as may be convenient to the Sheriff and agreeable to you."

How truly does the Boston Post express the idea, when it says, at the moment of death—"dies a husband, leaving his wife a helpless mate, first to deplore his widowhood, then to look for another husband, and remember him whom she wants a button sewed on his shirt collar.

ROB ROY McGREGOR.

Of all the countless hosts of readers of Sir Walter Scott's fiction, few indeed are aware of the romantic truth of Rob Roy's history. So identified has the bold Highlander become with the character in Sir Walter's romance that few can imagine him in any other light than as a hero of story. Yet Rob had an actual existence beyond a doubt, as many a Lowland borderer knew to his cost in the last century. Whether ever had an existence, is one of those knotty problems which antiquarians and historians will never solve to their own entire satisfaction. William Tell even may be a myth, as the learned have endeavored to prove of late, and have been more successful probably than many of us would like to own. All the heroes of our youth the iconoclastic grubbers after incontestable facts may scatter into fragments. But thank fortune that cast Rob's days in these latter times, and enables us to get a clue to him before the dust of ages has buried up every trace of his history and thrown a veil of improbability over the oral traditions concerning his deeds.

"The famous outlaw, Robin Hood—
The English ballad singers joy"—

Turning over some volumes of old magazines, the other day, we came upon one containing a memoir of Rob Roy, in the compass of a score or so of pages. It was a long time since we had met with anything in the realms of fact so pleasantly like fiction; and in the hope that our readers may share our enjoyment, we venture to weave into a briefer narrative the history of the old magazinist. When the article appeared, in 1818, the world was anxiously expecting the publication of "Rob Roy."—The story of his actual life was written to inform the public concerning the hero of the tale. The anecdotes are traditional, and it was believed authentic.

The clan MacGregor, at the end of the seventeenth century, having been almost persecuted out of existence by its powerful neighbors, the Dukes of Montrose and Argyll, was reduced to very small numbers.—Robert MacGregor (Celtically named Roy or Rel, from his complexion and the colour of his hair, and as a distinctive appellation among his kindred) was the second son of Donald MacGregor of the family of Glengyle, a lieutenant-colonel in the royal service, by a daughter of Campbell of Glenlyon. Rob was consequently a gentleman born. His education was liberal for the times, his physical powers considerable and he was accomplished in many exercises, excelling especially in the use of the broad-sword. Bold and resolute in action, his manner was pleasing, and a considerable knowledge of human nature conduced to the success of his achievements.

When Rob Roy succeeded to his Highland estate, he entered readily upon all the practices usual with the chiefs of clans.—He made raids upon his neighbors, levied black-mail upon those whom it was thought proper to make tributary, protected those who chose to pay for his aid, and carried off the cattle of those who were at feud with him. All this, according to Highland custom, was strictly right and proper, and not only what a Highland gentleman might do, but what it would have been thought degenerate not to do. But Rob may was not quite in the position of other Highland chiefs. The MacGregors were under a ban and every where beyond the territory of the clan, and for all legal purposes, the name was indicted. The second Duke of Argyll for some reason, thought it desirable to secure the friendship of Rob Roy; and Rob by the Duke's permission, assumed his patron's name. By the name of Campbell, therefore, he was known to the [illegible] Robert Campbell of Inversnaid, [illegible] Loch Lomond." This [illegible] said, Rob had mortgaged to the [illegible] Montrose, but the Duke's factor [illegible] to pay the whole of the sum borrowed. By and by, the world used Rob well, and he wanted to redeem his estate. Under some pretence the Duke refused to receive the mortgage money or to restore the land, and by fore-closure he made good his title. Considering this transaction as unjust one, on the part of Montrose and his factor (Graham of Killearn,) Rob watched his opportunity to make reprisal. He waited until the factor made his collections abroad, and while the factor and some of the gentlemen of the neighborhood, including Mob, were at dinner, Rob determined to strike for what he held to be his own. He observed the factor's motions, and saw that he deposited the money in a portmanteau which lay in the room. Dinner was no sooner over than Rob gave a signal which brought twenty of his men round the house; six of them entered the room with drawn swords, and Rob, taking his own, desired the factor to deliver the amount of his collections. Resistance was useless, the factor resigned his cash, and Rob graciously gave him an acquittance. But as he conceived that the factor had been accessory to the wrong done him, he took him to an island near the west end of Loch Katrine, and confined him there for several weeks. He let him at liberty, he warned him to reflect any more cents in that [illegible] which he intended to appropriate to [illegible]

The Government, which had set [illegible] against the customs of the Highlanders, planted a garrison in the MacGregors' territory of Inversnaid, much to the annoyance of Rob and his followers. Rob determined to dislodge them. Unequal to the task of driving them out by al fresco [illegible] he resorted to stratagem. He supplied the [illegible] with whiskey through an old woman of the clan, who supplied the fort. While the sentry was happily oblivious, Rob Roy and his men rushed upon the sad-sacks, almost [illegible] about in all directions, set fire to them, and rapidly withdrew. The soldiers escaped with their lives with great difficulty. Rob left no trace of himself in this exploit, and though the [illegible] the dead could not be brought home as [illegible]

Rob Roy did a piece of good service to the Highland chiefs who met at Brechin [illegible] Dundee [illegible] in favor of the Stuarts, at Kil[illegible] They met ostensibly for a great hunt, but they pledged themselves to one another in writing to mutually support the Pretender's cause. The bond fell into the hands of Rob's relative, Cap. Campbell, Glenlyon, from whom (he being a Hanoverian and at personal enmity with the chiefs, besides being the commander of the party that perpetrated the massacre of Glencoe) little concealment was expected. Capt. Campbell was at Fort William, and thither went Rob in disguise and unattended. Here he found that the bond was already in the hands of the Governor of the fort, and was to be sent away on a certain day with an escort en route to the Privy Council. Rob went home, gathered his men, and with fifty of them met the escort in Glendochart, and ordering them to halt, demanded their despatches. Resistance was useless, the packet was given up, and having helped himself to the precious bond the rest were restored, and the escort suffered to go on its way. By this bold stroke many chieftains kept their head on their shoulders, and the forfeiture of many estates was prevented.

A droll story is told of an Edinburgh messenger who had undertaken to execute diligence against Rob Roy for a debt of considerable amount due by the chief to a Lowlander. The messenger set out with half-a-dozen well-armed men, to bring Rob to Stirling jail. They arrived at the public house at Balquhiddar, and inquired the way to Rob's house. The landlord, having first sent notice to Rob of their coming, and having learned their business, advised them not to go; but the advice was disregarded, and they went forward, the messenger going first to reconnoitre. Having announced himself as a stranger who had lost his way, he was politely shown by Rob into a large room. When the door was closed, the messenger found himself face to face with the stalwart clan of a man, and in not a little alarm, he asked Rob the meaning of the exhibition. Rob coolly answered, that it was the body of a rascal of a messenger who had come to the house the night before, and that he had had man killed, but had not time to bury him. The story bereft the poor messenger of his senses, he sank fainting to the floor, and was only revived by a sound ducking in a neighboring stream, out of which he scrambled as well as he could, and made the best of his way to Stirling, followed by his men, who had likewise received pretty rough handling.

But Rob's treatment of the emissary of the law, though not transcending the limits of a strong practical joke, was so greatly exaggerated by the messenger and his men that the commander of [illegible] was roused to vindicate the [illegible] of the King's writ. Rob, [illegible] of this intention, took refuge in the hills. After a fruitless search of many days, the soldiers, unaccustomed to the fatigue of climbing the mountains and scrambling over rocks and through woods, took shelter at night in an empty house, which they furnished with [illegible] for beds. But the Macgregors, unwilling that they should leave their country without some token of remembrance of them set fire to the house, greatly to the confusion and damage of the red-coats. Some were seriously hurt, a number lost their arms and one man was killed by the accidental discharge of a musket. This broke up the expedition, and the rest of the party were very glad to get back to more civilized quarters.

The tributary impost of black-mail had long prevailed in the Highlands, and though lawless and generally oppressive, the usage of many ages had sanctioned the practice of levying it, so that it was considered neither unjust nor dishonorable to exact it; and from its beneficial effects in securing the forbearance and protection of those to whom it was paid, it was usually submitted to as an indispensable measure. It consisted of money or cattle, according to agreement. Under Rob Roy's rule, the tribute of black-mail was extended to all classes of people, to inferior proprietors, and to every description of tenantry; but the more powerful chieftains, though they at times considered Rob as a useful auxiliary, and [illegible] their property was often subjected to [illegible] contribution, considered general submission to levies to be too degrading to the consequence which they were ambitious to maintain. Rob did certainly, on occasion required, exact what he conceived to be his due in this way, but he often received the tax as a voluntary oblation. Of this last description was an annual payment made to him by Campbell of Abruchil. This proprietor had, however, omitted to pay Rob for several years, and at last the chief went to the proprietor's castle to demand the arrears due to him. Leaving his men at some distance, he knocked at the gate, and desired an interview with the laird. But he was told that the laird was feasting; some great men

OUR NEW GOVERNOR GENERAL AND COLONIAL DEFENCES.

(From the London Daily News, Sep. 2.)

The appointment of Lord Monck as Governor General of Canada, and the despatch of an additional brigade of troops numbering some 2,500 men to that province, naturally challenge attention. What the peculiar qualifications of the Irish Viscount may be for the office to which he has been appointed it is impossible to say. According to the opinion of many, the first essential for a Colonial Governor is hereditary rank and high position in the mother country. An Irish Viscount is scarcely equal in rank to an English Baron with a seat in the House of Lords. But probably those who estimate the merits of the Governor General by their station will consider the present appointment by no means unsatisfactory. It may be that the new Governor General will prove himself as able in the management of Canada as his predecessors, Lord Elgin and Lord Metcalfe, though it would be most difficult for the most friendly critic to detect in his Parliamentary career any indications of extraordinary merit. It is true that the nobleman in question has scarcely been allowed the opportunity of exhibiting his statesmanlike qualities. Without unfairly depreciating the ability of a man who can vote steadily with his party, and can perform the duties of a Junior Lord of the Treasury, it can scarcely be assumed that the man who shows himself able to fill these duties should also be able to fill the office of Governor General of a Province. A Governor General is a great officer. He is, in fact, the constitutional monarch of 3,000,000 of men. And the whole history of Canada—particularly the transactions of last Autumn—is enough to show the difficulties which beset the path of an Imperial Viceroy.

Perhaps Lord Monck possesses a store of political sagacity equal to every emergency. Time must show. Or perhaps Lord Palmerston may have found it necessary, in order to keep his party together, to reward his staunch supporters with valuable appointments such as that in question. But most assuredly if able men are necessary for ruling our colonial empire, the great prizes of the service ought to be bestowed upon very different principles. In the colonial, as in other professions, there should be promotion. It cannot be supposed that men of real ability will submit to be exiled from home, and to spend some of their best years of their life in some dreary settlement without reasonable prospects of improving their position by being transferred to a higher sphere of duty. The history of Lord Metcalfe and of Lord Elgin show that success in one colonial government is no unfair test of probable success in another and the importance of advancing those who have achieved success can scarcely be exaggerated. It would be unjust to condemn a man before he is tried. The Duke of Newcastle may have means of knowing the merits of Lord Monck, which are certainly beyond the reach of the public. It is from no anticipation of failure that the appointment in question should meet with condemnation, but it is because it violates that principle of promotion which is essential to maintain the efficiency of the Colonial service.

If, indeed, the office of Governor General of Canada were a mere sinecure, the appointment of a man of influence, with no reference to his competence, would be in strict accordance with precedent. When General Elphinstone was sent out to Bombay, and when General Anson was made Commander-in-chief at Madras, no one believed either of them to be competent, but no danger seemed to be impending, and therefore the ability or incompetence was pronounced to be practically immaterial.—Even in the calmest season, however, it is dangerous to reckon upon continued tranquility, as the fate of these two officers unhappily proved. But in Canada such pleasant anticipations are out of the question Only the other day the Great Eastern carried out a brigade of troops to Quebec, and scarcely have they landed before the announcement is made that another brigade is to follow. When this second brigade arrives in the St. Lawrence there will be no fewer than 13,320 disciplined troops in Canada alone, reckoning the militia at 5,000 and the Canadian Rifles at 1,100.—Now it should be observed that according to the principles laid down by every Colonial Secretary for the last ten years, the peace establishment was never to exceed one ordinary regiment of the line besides the Canadian Rifles; and yet the very moment when a powerful army in England is declared to be of the most vital importance and when the war in New Zealand has necessitated the withdrawal to that distant dependency of several thousand soldiers, the garrison in Canada is increased by no less than six regiments of the line. This is a serious step. It implies that the government anticipates not only grave difficulties, but the possible necessity of maintaining the rights of the British rule by force of arms. Under such circumstances it is surely not much to demand that the man upon whose shoulders will rest the responsibility of protecting British interests and dealing with the Cabinet at Washington, should be able to bear with the burden. Lord Monck is the person who has been selected to fulfill these important functions, but it must be admitted that neither his colonial experience nor his experience furnish any guarantee to the public that he will fulfil them efficiently. Let us hope that the Colonial Secretary has taken a just measure of his Lordship's abilities.

It may, perhaps, turn out that no such difficulties as those anticipated may arise. The Government eloquently assure, indeed, in the usual style, instances and that the Government are in possession of information which renders the despatch of troops absolutely unavoidable. But it must be admitted that the causes for despatching them are quite as obscure to the public as are the merits of the new Governor General. The late Lord Herbert and Duke of Newcastle have told the Parliamentary Committee on Colonial Expenditure the reasons for sending the first brigade by the Great Eastern.—They said that in consequence of the war in the United States a large population would turn its attention to the use of arms, and that upon the termination of hostilities between the two contending powers there would be a large mass of military power not very well in hand, probably, and that therefore it was well to have some large force in Canada to prevent filibustering incursions, not on the part of the United States Government, but on the part of the population itself." Even according to this explanation the despatch of the first brigade was somewhat premature; but at all events, when the explanation was given, one brigade was considered enough for the purpose. For some reason or another, however, the addition to be made has been doubled, although it is said that the second brigade will start the Imperial Exchequer nothing. It is to be hoped that the best piece of information in question. But even in that case it is by no means easy to understand why so large a number of regular troops is required to meet the emergency, or why the Canadian Government should not organize a system of local defence.—It was admitted by the Duke of New Castle that, in case of danger, the force of Canadian militia might be vastly increased. No doubt, in case of a war, the Imperial Government would consider it a duty to pour into Canada whatever troops can be spared. But where the danger which is apprehended is merely that of isolated bands of armed men crossing the frontier for the purpose of plunder, such danger ought to be met, not by a large addition to the Imperial army in the colony, but by an addition to our local forces. If the spirit of self-defence in the British Colonies is ever to be developed it would be difficult to select a better opportunity than this for testing the correctness of that spirit. If complications in Europe should arise to render the presence of the six regiments transmitted to Canada essential to the safety of this country, they would no doubt, be at once withdrawn from the colony, and the Canadians would be compelled to supply their place by other troops. It is a grevious mistake to encourage the Canadian Government to look to the Imperial army as a protection in every emergency. It is teaching them to rely upon that which may fail them in their utmost need. The true English policy is to insist upon the Colonies protecting themselves.

THE ROMAN QUESTION.

Once more a pamphlet has appeared in France upon the Roman question. A very pretentious and authoritative pamphlet, saying what ought to be and what shall be, deciding controversies with oracular assertions, possessing an unmistakeable official tone, and claiming to be worthy the reading and worthy of the belief when read. Its author's name is not announced. Monsieur De la Guerronière, who, on previous occasions has been employed by the Emperor to forshadow his policy, has had no hand in the production of the present document. Napoleon, it is thought, has himself done the work without the intervention of a second party. Though bold in its language, and free in its criticisms, the people have not interfered with it. It has been circulated widely, and has produced a decided "sensation." What its exact value may be no one can tell. But that it speaks the sentiments of the Emperor there is little doubt. It is probably a "feeler" put out for the purpose of ascertaining whether French public opinion would support Napoleon in taking the steps advocated by it. And if correspondents are to be believed, the response given is of the most satisfactory kind.

We do not promise to analyse this pamphlet. Upon most of the questions discussed in it the vast majority of the Canadian people have long ago formed definate opinions. It is quite unnecessary for us to reiterate arguments proving that it would be for the benefit of Europe if the Pope were to loose the little temporal power remaining to him. Such arguments are only needed among a people, a large portion of whom believe that it would be little less than meritorious to deny His Holiness any pretensions he might make, no matter how absurd. But the proposals made, or it may be the Imperial policy foreshadowed, is of importance to all who take an interest in the consolidation of the new Italian kingdom. The pamphleteer sets forth that the Emperor has labored long and earnestly to place the Papal authority upon a basis which would render it independent of French bayonets. Before the late revolution broke out, most earnest efforts were made to induce the Pope to reform abuses, the perpetuation of which every one but the priests saw must lead to rebellion. But the well meant advice given was disregarded, and not unfrequently treated with contempt. And later, when the crash came, when it was thought that the sorry spectacle presented by Italian princelings must produce a salutary effect upon the court of Rome, further efforts were made to induce the Pope to bring his rule into greater conformity with the age. But His Holiness continued obstinate. We all know how public opinion has grown, and how the cause of liberty has gained one triumph after another, until it has become manifest that all Italian obstacles in its way must be finally overwhelmed; until it has become morally impossibility that the despotic status quo in Rome can be long preserved. Day by day the position of Napoleon is retaining troops in Rome has become more invidious, more glaringly opposed to the principle he advocates and to the cause for which he would have it believed he acts. Instead of attempting to lessen the anarchy, the priestly rulers appear to have done all they can to increase it. Instead of making concessions, they have assumed a defiant and aggressive attitude. Instead of accepting the "situation" and submitting to accomplished facts they have never ceased to plot the overthrow of all that has been done and gained. The reactionary movement they have taken under their especial and peculiar care. Rome is the centre from which emanate all efforts to re-establish Francis upon the throne of Naples. From thence money, arms and leaders are sent to the brigands in the Southern portion of the peninsula, causing a wicked and useless effusion of blood. Of the connivance of the Pontifical authorities in this there can be no doubt. To prove it, says the Paris correspondent of the London Times, the pamphleteer adduces three or four well authenticated cases:

"It mentions that the 30,000 stand of arms which were taken by the French from the fugitive Neapolitans, and confided to the Pontifical Government, which armed the Neapolitan bands with them. Then the will of King Ferdinand II. is alluded to, which leaves a twelfth of his private fortune to the poor of Naples and Sicily. The Pope has changed this will, allowing that portion to be employed for the emigrant, military, civil and clerical in Rome. The two reports of the Italian lieutenancy at Naples are quoted, in the first of which the participation of the Papal Zouaves and of artillery and the incursions of Chiavone are mentioned, and in the second the practice is set forth which the Pontifical authorities pursue on the frontier, of forcing the people arriving from the south with Italian passports to exchange them for others given to them by the ex-representatives of the kingdom of Naples. When they go back to the Neapolitan territory they don't receive back their own papers. The Italian maritime police, not wishing to throw obstacles in the way of intercourse, admit these papers, and thus reactionary agents are introduced into the kingdom."

"It is difficult to say why Louis Napoleon has so long supported His Holiness while thus endeavoring to undo the work for the accomplishment of which so much French blood has been shed. And what adds to the sin in the feet that the King of Italy and his ministers have over expressed themselves willing to give any possible guarantee that if admitted to Rome, they would maintain the spiritual independence of the Pope, and enter into engagements with the Catholic powers of Europe to the same end, giving him full leave and license to hurl his thunders at the head of whomsoever he might please. Says the pamphleteer:—"That there is no guarantee, material or moral, which has not been offered by the Italian ministry to secure the independence of the sovereign Pontiff, every one will be able to ascertain himself, as soon as the moment shall have come to publish these important documents."

The conclusion is that the French troops must be withdrawn from Rome and be replaced by those of Victor Emmanuel, the Pope being left to the mercy of the conquerors. If he will make no terms with them, they must dedicate their terms to him. "A commemoration most devoutly to be wished."

The threats which it is alleged have been made by Austria and Spain—to interfere by force of arms if this course is pursued—are of no importance. They are powerless for mischief. A large British fleet is in the Bay of Naples, and has recently rendered effective service to the Italian cause, and what is more than probable, be ready to render more, if Spain forces the necessity. Austria, not caring to lose Venetia or to see Hungary once more in armed rebellion, will not give to France any pretext for a second war.

THE PRINCE OF WALES IN CAMP.

The hut of the Prince of Wales at the Curragh was formerly occupied by General Ridley, who now resides in another small mansion of the same kind, but nearer to headquarters. The Prince Consort on Friday rode from the station across the Curragh direct to the temporary wooden ville, the hut of the Prince of Wales; but his Royal Highness had already left and was out with his regiment at drill, in the green sloping valley some mile or so across the plain. To this spot, therefore the Prince rode, and remained attentively watching the Guards while they were put through the most difficult manoeuvres which one regiment is capable of performing. Beyond one or two Irish peasants who happened to be passing, there was hardly a single spectator in the plain. Yet the sight was a suggestive one, though neither very grand nor very striking as a spectacle. Apparently it was only three mounted gentlemen looking on at regimental drill. Even the country people present did not know that the Prince Consort was one of these three, or that the fair young officer at the rear of the regiment, who was so quick in obeying Col. Percy's mentorian orders, and who stood at such rigid attention among the privates of his company till the words "officers at ease," gave him and others time to rest and wipe their brows, was the Prince of Wales, the future king of England. Yet there he was shoulder to shoulder with privates Smith and Brown, and looking after his company with as much care and eager activity as all the rest of the captains. He looked as he always does in uniform, remarkably well—perhaps a little browner—and certainly more robust and formed in figure, even, than he did on that eventful morning when the lauded from the Hero and won the heart of all the ladies of Halifax by standing under the arch of the dockyard while his photograph was taken. The drill of the regiment, and with it of the Prince, lasted continuously for some hour and a-half or so. When the drill was at last over, the Prince Consort rode by the side of the Prince of Wales as the corps marched back, and waited till the regiment was dismissed, when both went away to his royal highness' quarters. The rank of the Prince of Wales in the army is that off a staff-colonel unattached. Since his arrival at the Curragh he has been attached for drill to the first battalion of the grenadier guards in which splendid regiment he is now acting every day as captain of the 9th company.—In no one single respect is an iota of distinction as to drill or camp duties made between him and any other captain of a company. Wet or dry, hot or cold, he has to tramp along whenever he is ordered out, and take his share of the fatigue and roughing which a long day's drill so impartially accords to all in every regiment, whether guards or line, officers or men.—Special Correspondent of the Times.

SOUTHERN INSOLENCE.

The Paris Star gives the following account of the characteristic insolence of two Southern gentlemen not altogether unknown in Cobourg, towards a colored gentleman in that town who had become a subscriber to their singing class.

Some weeks ago two Southern gentlemen named Everett and Tatem gave a lecture on Church Music, with the intention of getting up a Singing School. The night being wet there were few that attended, and the lecture was repeated a few nights afterwards. At both lectures a paper was circulated in order to obtain the names of such as wished to join the class. Mr. W. H. Taylor attended and put his name down as a pupil at both the lectures. He was present also at a subsequent meeting at which rules for governing the class were read and approved of by the intending pupils. Two lessons were then given, which Mr Taylor, being from home did not attend. The third lesson was given on Monday night; as the pupils were leaving the hall Mr. Taylor was requested by Mr. Forsyth to remain, as the teachers wished to speak to him. Mr. Tatem then told Mr. Taylor that they made it a rule not to teach their coloured friends along with their white friends, and they hoped he would not come to the classes again. W. H. Taylor, who is a British subject by birth, although possessing a tinge of colored blood, was not pleased with such a summary dismissal from the class, and high words ensued between him and the two teachers, ending according to Mr. Taylor's statement, in Everett holding his stick in a threatening attitude towards him.

Everett was brought up before the Mayor, and H. Finlayson, and W. Patton, Esqrs., charged with an attempt to assault. The only persons in the hall at the time were W. H. Taylor, E. P. Forsyth, and the two teachers. Forsyth did not hear what passed between the parties, but says he was called to put Mr. Taylor out of the hall. Tatem said that there was no attempt at an assault, but admitted that they had expelled Mr. Taylor from the class on account of his color.

The magistrates discussed the case for want of sufficient evidence, and recommended them in future to bear in mind that in Canada there is no distinction in the eye of the law between colored and white subjects.

Mr. Everett made a little speech in which he professed his great respect for the negro, and boasted how much he had done for them, valuing his good deeds at the sum of three hundred dollars, but that they had made it a rule not to teach negroes. As for Mr. Taylor he admitted that he had conducted himself at the class with perfect propriety.

There can be no doubt that Mr. Taylor was grossly insulted. It is all very well for Southern Slaveholders and Northern dough faces to treat men as beasts because of the color of the skin, but it is not a British custom, and we hope that such partiality will never be tolerated in Paris.

☞ The Ladies in the South have adopted the practice of sending their spare crinoline to the stay-at-homes. The entire has its effect upon the reluctant male population.

DISTRESS IN NEW ORLEANS.

(From the Cincinnati Gazette.)

We had a long conversation yesterday with a very intelligent man, who has resided in New Orleans for a number of years, and left there only ten days since. For obvious reasons we do not publish his name, but his statements may be relied on.

He says there now about four thousand troops in the city. There is no drafting, except the illegal impressments carried on by the captains of volunteer organizations. The interference of the Consul some time since, by which about sixty of Queen Victoria's subjects were released, rendered kidnapping unpopular.

Thousands are out of employment, and a free market has been put in operation. It is open twice a week, and about four thousand people get their supplies from it. Beef, the flesh of the miserable Texas cattle, is the only meat for sale, and this is scarce and high. There are no hogs in the market. Nine barrels of pork were sold on Monday week for $40.50 each. Butter brings from 60 to 75 cents a pound. Other articles are as follows:—Powder, $2 to $2.75; lead, $1 to $1.40; tin, $20 to $25 per box. Sole leather is 70 to 85 cents per pound. Irish potatoes are scarce at $9 per bushel; sweet which are far from plenty, fetch $6.60. In the country, the state of affairs is no better. Owing to the excessive drought in the Gulf counties of Mississippi, not half a crop of corn was raised; while in the cotton districts of Northern Louisiana the terrible rains that have prevailed during the past two months have much damaged the crop. Our informant says that nearly all the cotton he saw on his passage North was not over a foot a half high. The negroes have, in some places, acted somewhat suspiciously—doubtless understanding the condition of political affairs; and several outbreaks that bade fair to be formidable have occurred, but had been suppressed. A planter only a few weeks since, wrote to his agent in New Orleans:—"For God's sake send me $400 worth of provisions (naming the articles wanted) for I have nothing to feed my people with." Our informant had a pass port from General Twiggs, and made his way up the river without molestation.

DEATH OF A CANADIAN HERO.

AIRD.—On the 11th ultimo, at Pine Grove Farm, Madawaska River, the residence of his nephew, Wm. B. Aird, Esq., ALEXANDER AIRD, ESQ., at the venerable age of 82 years, 6 months, and 21 days.

The deceased gentleman may well be classed amongst the heroes of the last century, of whom, unfortunately, but so few now remain to amuse and interest the present generation by "fighting their battles o'er again" around the cheerful fireside, and modestly recounting their hair-breadth escapes and perilous adventures in defending that brave old flag, the pride and glory of every Briton, which still floats so proudly over us. The following is a synopsis of his history:—

"Was born in Montreal, January 21, 1779. Went to sea in one of the North-west ships, named Beaver, Capt. Arnold Boyd, in 1795, and sailed to London; in 1797, again sailed from Quebec for London in the Ariadne, of London, a North-west ship, which vessel was taken at sea by two French privateers, and carried into Bordeaux. After being detained there for 15 months as a prisoner of war, was exchanged, and returned to London. Was in London at the declaration of peace in 1802. War being again declared with France, was "pressed" on board the British sloop of war, Sophia, in the port of Lisbon; was sent around to Gibraltar, and joined His Majesty's ship of war, Phœbe, 36 guns, Capt. the Hon.—Capel. After 2½ years servitude, left the service at the Island of Malta. Was at Portsmouth at the time of the mutiny in the navy at the Nore, and served under Lord Nelson at Toulon."

It will be seen from the foregoing that but few men have deserved better of their country, and yet he enjoyed no pension, but died in the backwoods of Canada undecorated even by a ribband. The consciousness of having done his duty was his only reward. For many years past he lived happily with his affectionate nephew and his family; and having preserved his faculties to the last remnant of his existence, he died in the humble but firm faith that in passing from time into eternity he was but making a happy exchange.—Commercial Advertiser.

A CASE OF SCANDAL.

A NEW YORKER IMPLICATED.

(From the Albany Argus.)

Yesterday morning a young, neatly-dressed and pretty appearing woman, Mrs. Frank J. Thornton arrived here from New York, in search of her husband, who had abandoned her for a dancing girl, named Sallie Mason. Thornton was married about two years ago. He was employed at a sewing-machine manufactory as shipping clerk, and earned a fair salary, sufficient his wife says, to support them and their child comfortably. But it seems that a quiet, pleasant and honorable life was not "fast" enough for him. One of his resorts was the Melodeon, in New York, where he soon became acquainted with the stage girls and among others Sallie Mason. Their intimacy ripened rapidly, but his salary was not enough to keep up two domestic establishments, and so he resorted to stealing. After a while he was detected, and about three months ago he was locked up in the Tombs, on a charge of stealing nearly $1000 worth of property from his employer. The evidence of his guilt was conclusive, but through the earnestness of his young wife he was permitted to turn states' evidence against the receiver of the goods, and thus escaped punishment. While in prison he was frequently visited by Miss Mason, who took upon herself to act the part of a sister. Since his release he has occupied his time in paying close attention to her, to the neglect of his family. Last Saturday he generously gave his wife a penny, but as if conscience-stricken he still more generously sought some sewing for her, and actually brought to her a dozen shirts to be made at the starvation price of six cents a piece! Having thus acquitted himself according to his views of duty to himself and child, he sought out the jig dancer, and the two came to this City, Miss Mason seeking an engagement at one of the Theatres, and he more than willing to live on her earnings. Justice Parsons issued a warrant for the arrest of both.—Miss Sallie was caught first, and upon after Mrs. Thornton met her husband on the street, and compelled him to accompany her to the police office, where the warrant was served upon him. Of course he had nothing to say in exculpation, and he and his companion were sent to jail. Among other things found upon his person was his wife's watch and chain, which he had borrowed from her the day before he abandoned his home.

☞ Late English papers mention that Lord and Lady Monck had arrived in London from Ireland.

☞ If your property is not Insured,

☞ call and have it it done by the un-

☞ dersigned who is agent for a number

☞ of the best, British and Canadian

☞ Companies, whose business cards will

☞ be found in another part of this

☞ paper.

J. R. WALTON,

Insurance Agent.

Peterborough, Oct. 3rd, 1861.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Gutta-Percha Roofing—Ready Roofing Co.

Mathew's Venetian Hair Dye—A. J. Mathews.

Dentistry—John O'Donnell, Jr.

Wood Wanted—Jas. Renfrew.

The Examiner.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 3rd, 1861.

THE LATE ELECTION.

From the best information we can obtain the following is the vote in the Division:

PETERBOROUGH.

	SMITH.	FLINT.
Peterboro'.....	325	225
Ashburnham.....	74	47
Otonabee.....	160	284
Ennismore.....	160	3
Smith.....	146	247
Monaghan.....	46	85
Douro.....	225	32
Dummer.....	87	86
Asphodel.....	180	118
Belmont.....	86	54
Galway, &c.....	169	23
Total.....	1,566	1,204

LENNOX.

Township Adolphustown	75	25
" S.Fredricksburg	132	63
" N.Fredricksburg	103	106
" Richmond	177	252
Village Napanee.....	91	107
	578	553

NORTH HASTINGS.

Township Rawdon....	179	232
" Stirling.....	29	38
" Huntingdon...	76	200
" Hungerford...	229	212
" Marmora & L.	52	38
" Madoc.....	201	107
" Tudor.....	19	6
" Elzevir.....	14	61
	799	894

It will be seen from the above that the Ministerial majority in Lennox was reduced since last election; Lennox gave Mr Robbins 60 majority at the general election.—North Hastings which gave Mr. Benjamin, the Ministerial candidate, a majority of 120 only a short time ago, gave Mr. Flint 97 majority, a difference of over 200 votes. In this County where the "local" cry was raised so highly and politics were in many quarters entirely ignored, there is a difference of about 390 votes in favor of the ministerial candidate. Mr. Flint polled to within 40 votes of the losing candidate in this county at last election, Mr. Cooger. The Reformers who were "sold" by the talk of no political issue being at stake in this election and that it was only a choice of men, will have time to repent of their folly in seeing the Ministerial party gloat over the victory as a political one. The following extract from the Belleville Independent shows that the lower Counties shared in the same kind of procedure that we experienced here:—

"To more firmly unite Orangemen, the services of the Hon. John Hillyard Cameron, M. P. P., were invoked, assisted by ex-M. P. P. Ogle R. Gowan, Mr. George Benjamin, Mr. MacKenzie Bowell, Mr. Shoemaker Alfred, Mr. Butcher Flanagan, of Kingston; Mr. Maxwell W. Strange, of Kingston; Mr. Butcher Somebody-else, of Kingston, and Mr. Shannon of the same place, with an inferior list, too numerous to mention, in Hastings and Lennox. To watch over the faithful in other respects, Kingston further lent her aid to the Government, in the persons of Mr Archibald John Macdonald, Mr. Draper, and Mr. James O'Reilly, a prominent gentleman from the Post Office, with some half-dozen others.—Father Rooney and several others of his class also entered the list as helpers. Nor was this scene of chosen aiders and abettors from these places thought to be competent to the task assigned them—Ottawa, Quebec, and Toronto, also entered the lists, and poured the sum of their influence in the Postmaster General's favour. Gentlemen from Toronto spent weeks in the Division, visiting its remotest recesses, and using every means in their power to damage the personal reputation of Mr. Flint to secure their end. From Ottawa, no less a person than Contractor Jones was conspicuous among the voters in Peterboro', where Mr. Smith's majority is unaccountable, only on the grounds that large extras be voted during the next Parliament to cover Mr Jones' disbursements. And these are but a fraction of the wires pulled in the desperate farce just enacted. Law was wantonly set aside by these minions of the Mail Bags in various ways. For instance, in Adolphustown, where Mr. Smith got almost the entire vote, a steamer from Kingston was employed to convey voters to the polls, in direct violation of statute, and the green flag of Erin was for the first time seen flaunting at the Hungerford poll."

THE ELECTION; AND HOW IT WAS WON.

Of all the Review's feats—and their name is legion—none is more hideously conspicuous than the almost fiendish ingenuity with which it attempts to fasten on political opponents the crimes which itself and party have committed. Feeling the present contest in this county we do not believe that Mephistopheles himself could have displayed more malignant cunning in this respect. No sooner was a vile slander fabricated against Mr. Flint by some unscrupulous Smithite, than the Review discovered in it an atrocious attack on Smith's character by some wicked Flintite, and the last issue of that paper furnishes proof of the truth of what we say.

Foremost amongst the charges brought against Mr. Flint and his supporters is that they attempted to make the contest a religious in place of a political one. Now it is only necessary to refer to Mr. Smith's address and the Review's lucubrations during the contest to show that the sinners in this respect were Mr Smith and his party. That address contained a glaring and insulting bait for the votes of Wesleyan Methodists; and every issue of the Review during the contest contained frantic appeals to the Orangemen to vote for Mr. Smith on high Protestant grounds, the editor all the while knowing and trying to hide the fact that an agreement had been come to with the Catholics for their support. In truth Mr. Smith and his friends were exerting every possible means to make the contest sectarian; and, without scruple or compunction, bolting out the most opposite indecements to all sects; not, we believe, with any view of granting them, but for the purpose of getting votes. Mr. Smith's unscrupulousness was exposed by us, and straightway the Review discovers that we are trying to make the contest a religious one.)

So with regard to attacks on character. Did not our cotemporary charge against Mr. Flint that he was a rebel, well knowing that the charge was false? Did he not charge him with ignorance, knowing that the charge was untrue? Did he not charge him with falsifying the journals, after he had been certified that the accusation was false? Did he not charge him with prostituting the sanctity of God's home to the purposes of an election canvass, knowing that the charge was a deliberate lie? And yet the vile scribbler has the audacity to allege that the most infamous attacks upon Mr. Smith's private character formed the staple argument of Mr. Flint and his friends, and that no story was too infamous, no slander too vile, for them to circulate.—Can the Review point out a single slander or infamous story so circulated? Mr. Smith's private character we leave to his conscience to scrutinize. Heaven forbid that we should expose it! His public conduct, when reprehensible, we took care to make known.

But it would be useless to give further specimens of this kind of conduct, the fact being that the public has already formed a just estimate of the Review, and that its influence for evil is thereby limited. Mr. Flint lost the election, we are well aware, not on account of anything that Mr. Smith, his organ, or party said or printed, but solely through the influence of hard cash.—Whiskey doubtless bought so me, but hard cash bought the many; and the same spent in the Division for the purpose of securing Sidney Smith's election, and for which the people will yet have to pay in one shape or other, is almost fabulous, and variously estimated at from £4,000 to £8,000. Mr. Sidney Smith may well deny that he bought votes; but they were bought nevertheless, and there is not a voter in the Division that is not cognizant of the fact. And the insult to the electors consists not in stating the truth, but in the fact that bribes were offered and accepted. Nine-tenths of the electors we believe would reject such offers with scorn, and in many cases where they were made they were so rejected; but unfortunately there are always in every community a small minority who are not proof against temptation, and that minority is often sufficient to turn an election. And were a commission appointed to investigate we are satisfied that it would prove that in this county alone there were more votes bought on Mr. Smith's behalf than his majority of 361.

THE ISSUES OF THE LATE CONTEST.

The organ of the Ministry in this Town came out last week with a new version of the election just over.

We have always been desirous of placing before the Electors that the conflict going on in the Trent Division was one between the Ministry and the Opposition, but the Review has invariably denied any such issue. It maintained that it was one in which the Ministry was in no way compromised, or cared much about, in fact was simply one which involved only the choice of either of the Candidates, apart from any party bias. The Ministerial organ in Toronto led off on the same strain, and it was very noticeable that all over the country the prints in favor of the administration would not accept the challenge thrown out by many of the Opposition journals, in making the election one of confidence or other wise in the administration. But no sooner is the conflict ended and the Postmaster General returned than the servile, unscrupulous Review comes out with a boast that the challenge had been accepted, and victory achieved upon the very terms proposed. Now we intend to convict the Review of an unblushing falsehood as ever it uttered, and expose the recklessness with which that print puts forth anything to suit the necessities of the hour. The proverb holds true in politics as in anything else "honesty is the best policy," and we confess we are somewhat at a loss to account for the unblushing contradiction of the Editor's own sentiments uttered a few weeks ago unless it be that he must have been writing the last article under the influence of champagne, or under a hallucination consequent upon success. Here is what he says under the caption of "the True Issue," on the 30th of August, three weeks prior to the election:

"We copy elsewhere some opinions of the Press on the Trent election, which it will be seen are taken from papers of every shade of Politics. The London Free Press, the most influential opposition Journal west of Hamilton, puts the issue fairly. While undoubtedly the Ministry are interested in Mr. Smith's election, as indeed all moderate men in the Country should be, the substance of the Government by no means depends upon the result. Mr. Smith has opposed himself, even by the testimony of opponents, one of the most efficient departmental officers that this Country has ever seen, he is an energetic and able debater, and his services therefore in the Legislature and the Government, the moderate party are very anxious to maintain. But beyond this the Government have really no interest in the election.

The issue is simply between the two men. Which in the opinion of the Electors is most likely to do honour to the position of Legislative Councillor and advance the real interests of the Country. Our correspondent B. A. puts this point very clearly and to his letter we direct attention. It is an issue between education and ignorance, openly avowed, publicly boasted of ignorance; between statesmanship and mere charlatanry. We are not electing a man for the mere object of either sustaining or defeating a Government; we are electing one who is expected to assist in the legislation of the Country and upon whose intelligence the character of that legislation greatly depends."

Compare the above with the following, under date of 27th September:

"The contest has been no ordinary one. This Country presents none where the party issue was more clearly defined, and where the party victory has been more complete. Mr. Smith and his friends accepted the issue presented by their opponents. They placed the contest fairly on one of confidence or no confidence in the Government. And upon that issue they have been successful. Had their opponents been equally fair in adhering to the real ground of dispute, the majority might have been greater, and we believe would have been. But they did not do so."

It was impossible for the editor of the Review to forget when he penned the last article what he had written a short month before. He was then particularly careful to show that the issue was not between the Government and the Opposition. He dared not then accept the challenge; but when over, he says, "Mr. Smith and his friends accepted the challenge presented by their opponents." This is false, and the writer knew it to be so when he stated it.

After this who will say that the Review cannot manufacture any thing to order. It is easy to get into a snarl, let us see how it will get out of it. Anent the base and cowardly attack upon Mr. Flint we need not say much, as that gentleman has defended himself, and we would hope that the devout wish of Mr. Flint may be realized. One would have supposed that a victorious journal could afford to be generous, and not have traduced an honest and well meaning man in the manner it has done Mr. Flint, to say nothing of its bitter and ironical allusion to that gentleman's defeat.

The impudence of the Review's allusion to Col. Haultain is unbearable. In the first place the Colonel is under no obligation to the supporters of the Ministry for his election; they did all they could to defeat him. He was elected by the Opposition, and when the party who elected him express their dissatisfaction it is time enough for him to resign. If the Review's argument, however, is good, it was equally applicable in 1856, when Mr. Conger stated that when a majority of the electors expressed a want of confidence in him he would resign. In the fall of that year the electors of the County of Peterborough gave the "Clear Grit" candidate for the Legislative Council, Mr. Short, a majority of over 1,100—a majority that throws the Postmaster General's in the three counties into the shade. There was no word of Mr. Conger's resignation then. Pray why?

The gallant Colonel is indeed an independent man her, but clearly one opposed to the Government of which Mr. Smith is a member, and if the contest between himself and Mr. Conger had to be fought over again, his majority in the County of Peterborough would equal or exceed that given the Postmaster General. It is a wise maxim for every one to mind his own business, and we advise the Review to mind the Hon. Sidney Smith and we shall take care of our worthy representative, Col. Haultain.

ANOTHER LIE!

In last week's Review, with reference to Father Kelly and election matters on the previous Sunday, we read:—"The "Priest of Peterborough gave no orders "from the altar, made no reference however "er remote to the election from the altar, "and neither from the altar nor in any other "place used the expression attributed to him." We should have taken no notice of this denial had it not been made with a legal circumlocution as if intended to give it the appearance of being made by authority; and we shall only now say that the reverend gentleman did make reference to the election from the altar, and then and there used the expression attributed to him. Before making a positive denial of such a matter it might have been supposed that the Review would enquire as to its truth, which might have been ascertained through any member of Mr. Kelly's congregation. Really our contemporary's case is hopeless!

FRAUDULENT VOTING.

The apparent unanimity of the vote in the Back Townships of this County will surprise outsiders who are ignorant of the manner in which it was secured. But it creates no surprise amongst those who have given the slightest attention to Ministerial doings in that quarter. To these doings we so recently called attention that we would not now have adverted to them but for a new phase they present, for which we confess, we were altogether unprepared. The election now closed has elicited the fact that a large part of Mr. Smith's majority in these Townships is composed of illegal votes; that is, of votes which have only a fictitious existence, and which have either been created for electioneering purposes, or have no right to be on the assessment roll at all. As is well known, the land in these Townships is being sold by Government on certain conditions, and if these conditions are not complied with by the purchaser he forfeits his claim. These conditions are: actual settlement on the lot, the erection of a house of a specified size, and the clearing of a certain number of acres, besides the payment of one-fifth of the purchase money within one year of the date of purchase. Failing to execute these conditions, the purchaser of a lot forfeits all, and cannot recover a cent. It must be self-evident that until these conditions are fulfilled the purchaser has no claim on the lot, and no right to be on the assessment roll. Whoever places him there, acts illegally; and his vote, if tendered, must be also illegal. Now, we are credibly informed that a large proportion of the votes recorded in these Townships are of this character. More than this, it is ascertained that many of the voters have neither settled on the lots on which they voted, nor have they erected a shanty, or as much as cut a stick of timber upon them. They have been brought from long distances, at great expense, to record their votes for the upright Sidney, all of which costs will be paid, we presume, out of that deep mine, the "Dundrins."—Whether these persons were placed on the assessment roll for electioneering purposes or not, there can be no doubt that their votes are illegal; and both they and those who placed them on the roll may yet get into a fix on the score of prison walls to reflect upon the folly of allowing themselves to become the dupes of a detestable faction. That these votes, and the manner in which they were manufactured, will be investigated at the call of the country, we feel certain. Nor can we imagine that the present Ministry even will allow one whose return to Parliament has apparently been secured by illegal votes, to have a voice in their deliberations. They should purge, without hinderance, an enquiry into the whole affair of making votes, the result of which must be to consign Mr. Smith to his writing desk at Cobourg, loaded with the infamy of having been the elected of fraudulent votes!

☞ In the list of prizes awarded at the Provincial Exhibition we find the following:—

Mode of Cavalry Drill and Calisthenics.—James Hamilton, Peterboro.

2nd best two Counterpanes—D. Ross, Belmont.

For the Best Canadian Amateur Band, consisting of not less than eight performers, of whom there shall be no more than three professional artists, Cobourg Band, $100; 2nd do, Guelph Band, $75; 3rd do, London Band $50.

☞ At a meeting of the Municipal Council of the Township of N. Monaghan, held at the Town Hall, on Wednesday, the 18th ult., the Council struck a rate of 2½ cents on the £, to meet the County and township expenses for the current year.

A By-law was passed to drain several Town lots bordering on Peterboro.

The balance of the Clergy Reserve Fund lying in the Treasurer's hands was at last disposed of by giving each Councillor $100 for roads in his Ward, and the remainder to be divided amongst the several school sections of the Municipality, according to the valuation of the property of each school section. X

A CANADIAN M. P. P. LOYAL TERRITER IN THE U. S. ARMY.

It has recently been ascertained that Col. Rankin, member for the county of Essex, has arranged with the Federal Government at Washington to raise a regiment of Lancers, and arm and equip them. The step is a most extraordinary one.—It seems that to evade the Queen's proclamation of neutrality which this country is bound to maintain, the recruiting depot is opened in Detroit, and Canadian volunteers are enticed to that place, where they are enrolled Communications.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

DEAR SIR,—Permit me through your columns to defend myself against one of the most unjust attacks ever perpetrated on the character of any individual.

The editor of the Peterboro Review in his issue of Friday, 27th inst., publishes the following:—"They First must needs parade his piety and claim upon the electors. With an utter want of good taste, with a positive indecency that we have never seen equalled in an election contest, this Holy Sabbath itself, and the sanctity of God's House, were prostituted by him for the purposes of his canvass."

The editor of the Review not content with vilifying my character in every possible manner before, now attacks my religious feelings, by attributing to me "an utter want of good taste," with "a positive indecency," but he does not state how he gained his information. Was he present watching with zealous care his master's cause? If so, why does he not give what I pressed "as a claim upon the electors" on that occasion?

If attending God's House on the Sabbath morning, visiting the Wesleyan Sunday School, and speaking with the teachers; —if addressing the teachers and scholars at the request of the Superintendent was wrong;—if attending evening service, and engaging in the after services at the request of Rev. John Carroll, an old friend and former pastor, can be called prostitution of "the sanctity of God's House" then I am guilty;—but that I did so "for the purposes of my canvass" I deny.

I felt a delicacy in saying anything at the time, fearing it might be laid hold of and used against me by wicked and designing men, but when called on to discharge a Christian duty I obeyed, and in the discharge of that duty I felt I was doing what my Divine Master required at my hands on that occasion, and I have yet to learn that I did wrong.

In the Sunday School I felt at home.—Being superintendent of the Wesleyan school at Belleville I took the invitation of the superintendent of the Peterboro School as an act of courtesy, and treated it accordingly.

At the prayer meeting had I not been invited by the Minister I should have taken no active part. I obeyed his request, and if in doing so, whether in prayer, or in speaking on the nature of faith, in explaining to those who were seeking for the salvation of their souls the necessity of exercising a simple act of faith, and not to rely on anything they could do of themselves, but to look directly to Christ as the Savior of sinners, I did any good, I am satisfied, and those who were present, and who understood the workings of the Spirit upon the heart, will not condemn me.

I felt thankful in entering on the contest for the election of Trent Division, I could do so without the sacrifice of one iota of religious principle. Were it necessary to have done so, I trust I would be the last man to throw aside my religion to gain all the honors that this world could bestow, and those who know me best would never impugn my motives in this respect.

Would it not be well for the editor of the Review to try the influences of the Holy Spirit, to seek by repentance and faith to become acquainted with the pure workings of Christianity. Should he do so, and get his heart warmed with the love of God, he will better know how to act a gentlemanly and Christian part towards a political opponent, and not for the sake of Government patronage, or from the love of party, malign the Christian character or motives of any man hereafter.

I can forgive him all the injury he may have inflicted on me during the election campaign, and assure him that had he published his vile slanders the week before the election instead of after it was over, it would have benefitted my cause with true-hearted Christians; but to hold back until the vote was polled, shows a depth of degradation unparralleled, and not often witnessed in any country.

The editor of the Review ought to make the amende honorable by transferring this communication to his columns; if he does so I shall take it for granted that he is seeking by repentance to become a better man; if not, I can well afford to leave him in the hands of his truly Christian community of the noble County of Peterborough, who, no doubt, will be able to set a true value on the slanders put forth by him through his murky sheet against me.

Yours, &c.,

BILLA FLINT.

Belleville, Sept. 30th, 1861.

MEAN AND DASTARDLY.

Ministerial hounds are ever on the alert for corrupt food. The Globe and George Brown it is their religion to hound down. The latest case of slander published in the Ministerial press is to the effect that the Globe is in the pay of the American Government. The Leader publishes the lie with great gusto, at the same time the editor of the Leader knows that the charge is false. In fact, there is not a Ministerial paper, from the highest to the lowest, who is not aware of the baseness and falsity of the charge, but dirty, filthy, dishonorable work has to be performed—they are paid for doing it, and it must be done. The Globe should pay no attention to the dirty curs ever found trotting and barking at its heels.—Brockville Recorder.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.

We learn with much pleasure that our talented fellow-citizen, Mr. Wm. McKay, Painter and Decorator, in the course of some professional experiments, has made a discovery of considerable importance to coal oil manufacturers and the public generally. It consists in the substitution of coal oil for turpentine, in the preparation of paint for immediate or future use. Most persons are aware that at present, throughout the civilized world, turpentine constitutes fully one half the fluid in thinning and preparing paints for the brush. Mr. McKay's latest experiments have resulted in proving that coal oil is equal, if not superior, to turpentine for this purpose. Pigments ground and mixed as it were found to dry as well, and without the slightest injury to the color; while wiped with it retained all its purity; and in the process known to house painters as "flatting," it not only worked easier and smoother than turpentine, but gave a superior finish, owing to its greater density and fixidity. Coal oil has already superseded many of the older artificial lighting mediums; it is beginning to enter the engine room as a lubricator; and we believe this discovery of Mr. McKay's will cause a revolution in the art of painting. At the present moment turpentine is $1.50 per gallon—coal oil from 70 to 90 cents—presenting commercial inducement. Mr. McKay, who has no desire to make a selfish use of his important discovery, promises to put us in possession of the results of his further experiments at the use of the finer and more delicate and fugitive pigments and bodies used in the higher branches of painting.—Quebec Mercantile.

News of the Week.

☞ Madame Goldschmidt will, it is said resume her professional engagements next season.

☞ A man in Sandwich, named Proctor cut off his wife's head with an axe, while under the influence of liquor.

☞ The Ogdensburg Journal says:—The water in the St. Lawrence is now at the lowest mark it has been for several years. Old land marks which have long been submerged begin to make their appearance again.

☞ The work of constructing the street railway in Montreal is progressing rapidly, there being upwards of a mile of track laid already. The number of men employed in making the railway is 250, and about 1000 feet of road is made daily.

☞ A magnificent meteor appeared to the eastward of St. John's, Newfoundland, on the 4th inst, at noon, and exploded with a noise equal to a heavy park of artillery. The report was so heavy as to cause a very sensible tremor throughout the whole town.

☞ The price of land in London may be reckoned at considerably more than £100,000 per acre. Thus, the Excise Office was sold at the rate of £89,000 an acre; the India House at the rate of £123,000 per acre; some land, as approaches to Westminster Bridge, at £170,000 per acre, giving an average of £127,000 per acre.

☞ The Coriolanus, an old Tyne ship, left Liverpool a few weeks since for Quebec, with a crew of about 30 men. The ship was subsequently stranded off the coast of Ireland; no her boats have been found floating with the keel upward, it is feared that every soul on board must have perished.

☞ Edinburgh papers announce the death on Thursday, the 15th ult., at the age of 20, of Honoria, second and youngest daughter of the late Sir Henry Havelock.—She was interred in the Dean Cemetery, Edinburgh, the melancholy duties of chief mourner being discharged by her brother, Lieut. Col. Sir Henry Havelock.

☞ Gaspe appears to be attracting considerable attention at present. Over 500 vessels during the year have visited Gaspe Basin; 44,676 acres of land have been sold; over 400 Norwegian emigrants have arrived this season and have settled in different localities, and more are expected.—Lead mines have been discovered, some traces of copper, and oil wells are being dug.

THE TRENT DIVISION.—The returns are not all in, but there is no doubt that the Post-master has been elected by a large majority. The causes that have attributed to this will ere long be made apparent.—We only hope that he will come back to his palatial residence near this Town, and sell the Peterboro ninnies —Colourg Sun.

☞ About 7 o'clock, P. M., on the 5th inst., says a Nova Scotia exchange, while Henry Hudson, of Annapolis, constable, was in the act of serving a process at the house of one Schanks, a mulatto, at the Bay Shore, Granville, a son of Schanks's, about 15 or 16 years of age, deliberately levelled a gun at Hudson, and melancholy to relate, shot him through the heart, killing him instantly. An inquest has been held on the body, and a verdict returned in accordance with the facts. The boy has been apprehended, and now lies in jail.

☞ A man was found on Thursday morning in Chicago crawling on his hand and knees in a railroad woodyard. An examination revealed the fact that he had been the victim of an attack for the purpose of robbery. His skull was driven in as if with a mallett or billet of wood, and his brain protruding from the ghastly, sickening wounds. He lived until ten o'clock, insensible and speechless, when death ended the tragedy. It is stated that he had a considerable sum of money on his person. A man and woman have been arrested as the perpetrators of the offence.

☞ The Prince of Wales, the Duke of Cambridge, Lord Clyde, and other distinguished notabilities, will attend the King of Prussia at a great military display now in preparation on the banks of the Rhine. The correspondent of the Morning Herald says there is a rumour circulating in all the Berlin papers of a contemplated betrothment of the Prince of Wales to the Princess Alexandra, daughter of Prince Christian of Holstein Glucksburg and that on the occasion of the fetes the Prince and Princess will be presented to each other as guests of the King of Prussia. The Princess was born December 1, 1844. On the authority of the same writer we are informed that there are but 5 marriageable Protestant princesses in Europe.

☞ Some of the papers, we notice, are so short-sighted as to exult over the prospect that Great Britain may be enabled to find new fields of cotton, and not be under the necessity hereafter of buying any from America. This would a tremendous blow to the interests of the North and West.—It is the cotton crop of the South, selling for $2-0,000,000, which in the past has rendered it able to buy such an immense amount of Northern and Western manufactures and breadstuffs. When the war shall be ended, we desire to see that state of things return. If the South had no foreign market for her cotton, she will be driven into the raising of breadstuffs and the encouragement of manufactures, to our detriment and injury. We greatly prefer that she should raise cotton, sell it to Great Britain for $200,000,000 and with the cash thus obtained come into our markets for breadstuffs and manufactures. Although cotton is shipped from the South, the industry and wealth of the whole country are immensely interested in its exportation, and that event is to be greatly deprecated that cuts it off.—Cincinnatis Inquirer.

☞ The Sherbrooke Gazette in a leading article notices the death of the Rev. James Robertson, "for twenty-five years the Minister of the United Congregational Church of Sherbrooke and Lennoxville, who departed this life, after a lingering illness at the residence of his son, J. G. Robertson, Esq., in Sherbrooke, on the 7th September inst." "He was," continues our contemporary, "born at Inchture, Perthshire, Scotland, June 1st, 1786. He studied theology under the late Dr. Greville Ewing, of Glasgow, and was licensed to preach, after having completed his theological studies, in the year 1800. He was a member of the first theological class under Mr. Ewing, and was the last surviving member thereof. In 1801, he was ordained pastor of the Independent Church, in Aberdeenshire, Scotland, where he resided, continuing this relation till 1833, when he emigrated to this country, and became pastor of the Congregational Church and Society at Derby, Vermont. In 1836 he came to Sherbrooke, upon the organization of the Congregational Church there, and was ordained as its pastor, where he remained until his decease, in the 86th year of his age, and 61st of his ministry." Our contemporary goes on to show that he was a man of high character and ability and earnest life—in fine, a pattern of his own sacred calling.

HOW A MAN FEELS UNDER FIRE.

How a man feels when in battle is a question that our volunteers have doubtless frequently asked themselves. We yesterday stumbled upon a volunteer on furlough, who first smelt powder at Bull's Run. During an hour's chat with him he gave us a very good general idea of the way in which a man feels when under an enemy's gun. Our friend don't claim to be especially courageous. He placed due value upon the integrity of the American eagle, but enlisted mainly because he had no other employment at the time. He did camp duty faithfully, and endured the hardships of long marches without any special grumbling. That he dreaded to confront the enemy he freely admits.—While willing at any time to kick a bigger man than himself under justifiable provocation, he disliked the idea of the sudden sensation imparted by a bayonet thrust in the abdomen, while only second to this was the horror of being cut down with a rifle ball like an unsuspecting squirrel.

When his regiment was drawn up in line he admits his teeth chattered and his knee pans rattled like a pot-closet in a hurricane. Many of his comrades were similarly affected, and some of these would have lain down had they dared to do so. When the first volley had been interchanged, our friend informs us, every trace of these feelings passed away from him. A reaction took place, and he became almost savage from excitement. Balls whistled all about him, and a cannon shot cut in halves a companion at his side. Another was struck by some explosive that spattered the brains over the clothes of our informant, but, so far from intimidation, all these things nerved up his resolution. The hitherto quaking civilian in half an hour became a veteran. His record shows that he bayonetted two of his rebel enemies and discharged eight rounds of his piece with as decisive an aim as though he had selected a turkey for his mark. Could the entire line of army cause at the same time into collision, he says there would be no running except after hopeless defeat.

The men who played the runaway at Bull's Run were men who had not participated in the action to any extent, and who became panic-stricken where, if once smelling powder in the manner above described, they would have been abundantly victorious. Amid the roar of musketry and the thundering discharge of artillery there is a music that banishes even innate cowardice. The sigh of men struggling together, the clash of sabres, the tramp of cavalry, the gore-stained grass of the battle field, and the coming charge of the enemy dimly through the battle-smoke—all these, says our intelligent informant, dispel every particle of fear, and the veriest coward in the ranks perhaps becomes the most tiger-like. At the battle of Bull's Run the chaplain of one of the regiments, a man of small stature and delicate frame, personally cut down two six feet grenadiers in single combat. If these things are so—and we incline to think they are—the best cure for cowardice is to crowd a man into a fight and keep him there. The fugitives from Bull's Run were men who imbibed panic before it could have reached them.

HOME INSTITUTIONS.

We are glad to find that while our Home Manufactures are becoming of importance in Canada, the public also see the justice and propriety of encouraging Home Institutions of other kinds—a most important branch of which is represented by Canadian Insurance Companies. We cannot too often or too strongly urge upon our readers the benefits they confer upon themselves and the country, by the adoption of this principle. It is a great thing for a country, or a province even, to be self-reliant; the more it depends upon its own resources, the stronger and more respected does it become. To-day we publish another card addressed to the Provincial Insurance Company of Canada, acknowledging payment of a loss sustained by John A. Converse at his Rope Factory in Montreal; this was a fire caused by lightning. We take pleasure in publishing such notices as these, because it proves to the public that our Native Companies are worthy of the highest confidence. The Provincial did, a few years ago, sustain some heavy losses by ocean risks, a business that the company has ever since discontinued) and advantage was taken of this fact by interested parties to run it down. Now, however, that it has succeeded, by its straight-forward and liberal dealing, in overcoming these unjust prejudices, the public is showing its love for British justice and fair-play by rapidly reinstating it in the position which it ought never to have lost. Business is increasing at an astonishing rate, and the Company have recently been obliged to appoint a Local Board at Montreal to superintend their business there; this Board consists of the following gentlemen:—Chas. S. Rodier, Esq., Mayor of Montreal; Alex. Morris, Esq., M. P. P.; W. Sache, Esq., Cashier of Molson's Bank; and Damase Mason, Esq., Merchant.—We again say, Encourage Home Institutions.—Hamilton Times.

Died.

At Peterboro, on 2nd inst., HENRY, infant son of Mr. Lucius Sherlocke, aged 2 months.

Peterboro' Markets.

Thursday, October 3rd, 1861.

	s.	c.	$	c.
Flour ₩ bbl.	4	80	5	00
Wheat ₩ bush. fall	0	92	1	00
Spring Wheat ₩ bush.	0	76	0	85
Barley ₩ bush.	0	35	0	45
Oats "	0	20	0	22
Peas "	0	40	0	45
Potatoes (new)	0	25	0	25
Pork ₩ bbl.	14	50	15	00
Beef ₩ cwt.	3	50	4	00
Butter ₩ lb.	0	10	0	12½
Hay ₩ ton	7	00	8	00

WM. CUMMING,
Market Clerk.

TORONTO MARKETS.

Wednesday, October 2nd, 1861.

Fall Wheat 95c, a $1 3c.
Spring Wheat 80 a 82c.
Barley 40c.
Oats 31c a 32c.
Peas 40c a 40c.
Potatoes, (new) 50c a 55c.

New Advertisements.

DENTISTRY!

John O'Donnell Jr., Dentist

WILL BE AT

DRUMMOND'S HOTEL, ENNIS,

On Tuesday, October 8th, 1861, for a few days.

☞ Please call early.

Oct. 2, 1861. 40

WOOD WANTED.

A FEW CORDS OF GOOD HARD-WOOD will be received by the subscriber in payment on subscriptions or account if delivered within one month from this date.

JAS. RENFREW.

Examiner Office, Oct. 2, 1861.

Gutta-Percha Roofing.

No article ever before introduced to the public has equalled the LIQUID GUTTA-PERCHA for coating tin or other roofs, new or old. One gallon, costing $1.50, will thoroughly coat from 200 to 300 feet of roof, and this coating will render the roof perfectly waterproof, and will last three times as long as white lead or other paint. For covering roofs, either new or old we repeat, it has no equal for durability and cheapness, and we offer it to the public fully confident of its intrinsic excellence, and with our warrantee that it will do all we claim for it. Sold in barrels of forty gallons each, at a liberal discount to dealers. Address all orders to

READY ROOFING CO.,
23 Cedar Street, New York.

October 3rd, 1861. 40-1y.

MATHEWS' VENETIAN LIQUID HAIR DYE.

THIS CELEBRATED DYE WAS FIRST prepared in 1845; since that time it has been used by thousands, and in no instance has it failed to give perfect satisfaction.

THE VENETIAN DYE.

is the cheapest in the world. Its price is only 50 cents, and each bottle contains double the quantity of dye contained in those usually sold for one dollar.

THE VENETIAN DYE

is the safest composition of its class. It is warranted not to injure the hair, or the scalp, in the slightest degree.

THE VENETIAN DYE

works with rapidity and certainty. It causes no annoyance or trouble to those who use it.

THE VENETIAN DYE

produces any shade that may be desired—one that will not fade, crock, nor wash out; one that is as permanent as the hair itself.

THE VENETIAN DYE

does not, in any manner, interfere with the natural softness of the hair; it neither scorches nor dries it.

THE VENETIAN DYE

is the best, cheapest safest, most convenient, most successful, and most permanent Dye ever used.

THE VENETIAN DYE

having gained an extended reputation, the public are cautioned against purchasing any prepared in the same style, under the same or different name, as they are mere imitations, and liable to do injury.

For sale by all agents. Prepared only by

A. I. MATHEWS
Buffalo, N. Y., and Fort Erie, C W

Oct 3, 1861. 40

FALL & WINTER GOODS!

THE subscriber is now receiving a very

LARGE SUPPLY

OF

☞ Fall and Winter Goods.

THE STOCK OF

FANCY & MILLINERY GOODS

IS NOW

VERY COMPLETE.

Good Value for Ready Money, as usual. No Second Price!

W. CLUXTON.

Sept. 25, 1861. 39

TO THE RESCUE.

NO SECESSION!

No Surrender!

THE SUBSCRIBER WISHES TO INFORM his numerous friends and customers that he has received a large supply of Groceries, Wines, Brandies, Gin, Old Tom, Whiskies, Porter and Ale, Coal Oil, Burning Fluid, &c. He also wishes to advise that being a friend of all Reforms—just in principle—he has made one grand reform in Lakefield, viz: Selling Goods at Peterborough prices for cash or trade.

The Groceries on examination will be found to comprise the best quality and value the very best market can afford in all things requisite and useful for families.

The Liquors will also be found to be carefully selected, and of

FIRST-CLASS QUALITY!

The stock of Crockery, Earthenware, Tin-ware have also been renewed, and will be kept constantly supplied, to properly work out the only just principle of business,

Cash, or its equivalent.

The whole stock will be sold at so small an advance on cost as must ensure success, as we had debts are to be provided for.

☞ Call and judge for yourselves, you will get the worth of your money and the right change back!

JAMES STEWART.

Lakefield, Sep. 16, 1861. 39

HOUSE AND LOT FOR SALE.

THE SUBSCRIBER OFFERS FOR SALE, Village Lot No. 2, east of Street and north of Elizabeth Street, containing half an acre of land, with Frame Dwelling House 20 x 30, a large well of water, and a splendid well of fruit trees recently planted. Apply to

ALEX. GRAHAM.

Ashburnham, Sept. 24th, 1861.

THE LARGEST, CHEAPEST AND THE BEST PLACE TO PURCHASE

READY-MADE CLOTHING

IS AT

HAFFEY'S,

All the Clothing is made on the premises, and warranted!!

Peterborough, Sept. 25, 1861 39

PUBLIC NOTICE

IS hereby given that the Township Council of Otonabee intend at their meeting to be held on the

21st Day of October next, to pass a By-law to close up the Road established across Lot 18, in 8th Concession of Otonabee, on the 14th day of January, 1858.

GEO. READ,
Township Clerk.

Aug. 26, 1861.

THE FOUND AT LAST! WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING

A perfect Antidote, Specific and Cure for

RHEUMATISM & NEURALGIA

has long been needed. After earnest and patient research, this has been triumphantly discovered. It is called

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING!

Watson's Neuralgia King reaches the source of the trouble, and banishes the disease from the system. Unlike the untold number of Liniments and Embrocations which merely stimulates the surface, are but temporary in their effects, and are, at best, of doubtful virtue, it STRIKES AT THE HEART OF THE ailment, ARRESTS IT, KILLS IT, ERADICATES IT, and leaves no trace behind.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING

also cures GOUT AND DYSPEPSIA, in all their forms. It is now giving relief to thousands who have been suffering from these diseases, and who have tried all other remedies in vain.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING

has received the highest testimonials from the highest sources in regard to its wonderful efficacy. It operates with equal success in mild and chronic cases, never failing to work out a speedy and permanent cure.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING

costs but one dollar a bottle, and less than a bottle often effects the end desired.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING

is the only Specific and cure for Rheumatism and Neuralgia that has ever been discovered.

Prepared by

A. I. MATHEWS,
Buffalo, N. Y., and Fort Erie, C. W.

Sept. 26, 1861, 39

Mathews' Chocolate Worm Drops

NEVER fail to destroy and exterminate all kinds of Intestinal Worms. Are perfectly reliable in all cases, and far superior to any and all of the Fancy Worm Confections, and nauseous Vermifuge in use. They may be taken at all times with perfect safety, as they contain no Mercury, or other deleterious Drug. Mothers should always purchase them and give their children no other.

(No Cathartic whatever, is necessary to be given.)

Each box contains 24 Drops or Lozenges.—Price 25 cts. For sale by all Druggist and Dealers in Medicines.

A. I. MATHEWS, General Agent,
Buffalo, N. Y., and Fort Erie, C. W.

The Great French Remedy!

MADAM BOYER'S CELEBRATED SILVER COATED

FEMALE PILLS.

THE ONLY CERTAIN AND SAFE REMEdy for all Uterine Obstructions, Monthly Difficulties, Irregularities, and diseases to which the Woman, Wife and Mother is peculiarly liable. These Pills contain no deleterious ingredients, but are safe and certain in their action.—They will be found to exert the happiest effect in all cases of Prolapsus Uteri, in Leucorrhea, or the Whites; they will be found the easiest and most certain cure that can be found. It is on account of this certainty they should not be taken by Married Ladies at certain periods, but at other times their use is perfectly safe.

N. B.—$1 enclosed to any authorised Agent will ensure a package of Pills by return mail.

C. Crosby, General Agent, Fort Erie, C. W., Buffalo, N. Y; Lyman, Elliot & Co, Wholesale Agents, Toronto.

Sept. 17, 1861. 39

FOR SALE

SOUTH half of Lot No. 9, in the 2nd Con. of Smith, containing 100 acres. This Farm is beautifully situated about three miles from Peterborough; there are eighty acres cleared, and on the premises there are a good Stone House, three Barns and other Outhouses.

The north half of Lot No. 15, in the 7th Con., Smith. This Farm has eighty acres cleared, and is situated about seven miles from Peterborough.

For particulars apply to

JOSEPH KELSO,
or Dobcaygeon.
WM. TULLY, Jr.,
Monaghan.

September 18, 1861. 38

REMOVAL.

R. D. BASKERVILLE,

HAIR-DRESSER AND PERFUMER, HAS fitted up with taste and convenience at considerable expense, a Saloon on George St., 2 doors south of Lawson's Hotel, where he will be in attendance on the public, during all business hours. Having visited some of the largest American cities this summer, he is thoroughly acquainted with the

LATEST FASHIONABLE IMPROVEMENTS

in his profession, and flatters himself that he will not be found second to any in the Canadas.

☞ Positively no business on Sundays.

Peterboro, Sept 9, 1861. 37

DIRECT STEAM COMMUNICATION WITH GLASGOW.

Another line of Steam Packet Ships, sailing regularly between

MONTREAL, QUEBEC, AND GLASGOW.

Steerage		Steerage
25 Dollars		25 Dollars

Ships.	Tons.	H. Power.	Com.
United Kingdom	1255	300	James Ray.
John Bell,	1103	300	Edward Scott

THE "UNITED KINGDOM"

will sail from Quebec for Glasgow, on

TUESDAY, 15th Oct., 1861.

Rates of passage from Quebec to Glasgow:

SALOON CABIN.....$60 00
INTERMEDIATE.....30 00
STEERAGE, (including an abundant supply of cooked provisions).....25 00
Children in proportion.

Return Tickets at reduced rates. Berths not secured till paid for. Each ship carries a duly qualified surgeon.

For freight and passage apply to

G. & D. SHAW,
16 Common Street,
MONTREAL

September 19th, 1861. 38

WANTED!

100,000 BUSHELS

OF

WHEAT!

W. CLUXTON.

Peterboro, Sept. 19, 1911.

OTONABEE MILLS.

THE SUBSCRIBER has pleasure in informing his friends and the public that his MILLS are again in operation, and that he will be glad to attend to the calls of all old and new customers. Particular attention will as formerly be paid to thirsting and Custom Work, and good fresh ground will be kept on hand for retailing, which will be delivered at any place in Peterborough or Ashburnham, upon orders being left, with the money, at the Mills, or at his Store.

FAMILY FLOUR

R. D. ROGERS.

Ashburnham, Sept 12, 1861.

BOARD.

A LADY RESIDING IN A CENTRAL PART of the Town will be happy to receive a few respectable Gentlemen, as Boarders. Every attention will be paid to make them comfortable. Terms moderate. For particulars apply at this office.

Peterborough, September, 1861.

FOR MONTREAL

CASH STORE, ONLY ONE Price ONLY.

Hunter Street, Peterboro.

JOHN CAMPBELL

WOULD take this opportunity of thanking the inhabitants of Peterboro' and surrounding country for past favors, and would beg to intimate that he has received a large addition to his stock, on such favorable terms as enable him to offer goods at such

LOW PRICES

as to convince every one who examines them

☞ That he cannot be beat in the Town.

The following comprises a few of the articles generally in stock:

West of England Broad Cloth, Cassimeres, Tweeds, Satinetts, Drills, Denims, Stripped Cottons, Ginghams, Prints, Factory Cotton, Orleans, Coburgs, Red and White Flannels, Cotton Warp, &c.

READY-MADE CLOTHING,

Boots and Shoes, Silk and Felt Hats, &c.

TEAS, TOBACCOES, SUGARS,

Soap, Candles, Raisins Currants, Coffee, Rice, and other articles too numerous to mention.

☞ Remember the Spot: Next door to McKellar & Cameron's, Hunter Street.

Peterboro, Aug. 24, 1861. 34

GLASGOW HOUSE!

GREAT CLEARANCE SALE AT

WILLIAMSONS

CHEAP CASH STORE.

Nearly Opposite Messrs' Book Store,
GEORGE STREET.

TREMENDOUS BARGAINS

IN

DRY GOODS,

READY MADE CLOTHING, BOOTS AND SHOES, GROCERIES AND CONFECTIONERIES.

JOHN WILLIAMSON

IN returning his sincere thanks to to his numerous friends and the public generally for the liberal patronage he has received, takes this method of calling their attention to the balance of his stock saved from the late fire, through the exertions of his well wishers, and which he is determined to sell at a Great Sacrifice!

☞ Call and see, and be convinced.

Peterboro, Aug. 22nd 1861. 35

NEW GOODS.

THE Subscriber offers for sale one of the nicest lots of Goods ever offered in Peterborough.

FAMILY GROCERIES,

Teas,
Sugars,
Coffee,
Tobacco
Spice of all kinds,
Herring,
Dry Fish,
Mackeral,
Salmon,

A NICE VARIETY OF

BOOTS AND SHOES,

and the nicest assortment of

CROCKERY

ever offered in Peterborough. All of which will be sold

Very Low for Cash!

G. W. ROBINSON.

Peterboro', Sept. 18, 1861. 38

INN-KEEPERS

Supplied with every description of WINES and SPIRITS from the choicest Champagne to Common Whiskey, in any quantities, and at the very cheapest rates by

JAMES CAMPBELL.

August 1, 1861. 31

WOOD TURNING

CHEAP FOR CASH.

THE undersigned wishes to inform his numerous friends and the public in general that he is now prepared to do any description of Wood Turning for

BUILDINGS OR FURNITURE,

Also, Ripping Lumber to any width or thickness; Furniture made to order, at the lowest Cash price. Zinc Wash-boards of the very best quality alway on hand.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

☞ Shop in Ashburnham, under D. Doran's Woolen Factory.

W. F. MANLEY.

Ashburnham, Sept. 18, 1861. 38

SAVE YOUR FURS

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL!!

WM. LECH,

FURRIER, MONTREAL,

WILL OPEN BUSINESS at the above line about the end of June, in the premises now occupied by Mr. Templeton Brown, corner store, Scott's Building Peterboro'. Raw furs will be manufactured to order; also dressed and cleaned, and in Canada, will be offered for sale at prices much lower than ever known in this part of the country before. Hats and caps of the latest styles. The highest price will be paid for raw furs.

ONE OF THE LARGEST STOCKS IN THE

FUR TRADE

May 8, 1861.

FLOUR, FLOUR!

FLOUR always on hand at Peterboro Falls Grist Mill in Bags which will be sold strictly for CASH.

PRICES.....REASONABLE.

Put on board Steamboat by sending cash and bags.

ROBT. FRANCE.

July 23, 1861.

TO RENT.

A GOOD WATER POWER

—WITH—

Building & Water-wheel,

within three hours drive of Peterboro.' For further particulars apply at the office of this paper.

Peterboro, Aug. 30, 1861. 36

FOR SALE.

A FIRST-RATE TAVERN STAND situated on Elizabeth Street, Ashburnham, front of Mr. Rogers' Mill. The building is at present used for a dwelling house and furniture rooms. It would make a good stand for a Grocery and Bakery. The house of the above has always yeen to rent, and will be sold very reasonable for money. For particulars apply to

R. BURLEY,
On the premises.

Aug. 28, 1861, 35

Hurrah for Billa Flint!

OR ANY OTHER MAN

Who wants cheap Boots & Shoes.

J. T. STENSON

IS on hand again in the Building formerly occupied by the Toronto Bank,

One door west of Jeffrey & Co's Hardware Store, Hunter Street.

Peterborough, Aug. 29th, 1860. 35

200 ACRES

OF

LAND FOR SALE,

IN THE

VICINITY OF THE TOWN OF PETERBOROUGH.

THE Subscriber offers for sale, his Farm, being composed of Lot No. 26, in the 12th Concession of the Township of Otonabee, with a frontage of nearly a mile, along the main travelled road leading to Rice Lake, Keene, Allandale, Westwood, Norwood and Hastings, and bounded on the west by the Cobourg and Peterborough Railway.

There are about 100 Acres cleared and under cultivation; the land is well watered and well drained; there is a substantial board fence along the front and up the centre of the Lot, and a large Frame Barn and other buildings upon it. Also a suitable for respectable residences, in full view of the Town of Peterborough and the Village of Ashburnham.

YOUNG ORCHARD.

THERE ARE

SEVERAL BUILDING SITES!

A sufficient instalment will be required at the time of sale from purchasers taking the whole or large portions of the Lot, and the remainder as shall be agreed upon. A Deed will be given and a Mortgage taken.

If the above Lot, or any portion thereof, remain unsold

ON MONDAY, the 28th day of OCTOBER Next,

the subscriber will offer the same for sale on that day by

PUBLIC AUCTION,

on the premises, at 12 o'clock, noon, to the highest bidder,

IN LOTS OF TEN ACRES EACH,

or in larger portions to suit purchasers, in the following order:

The East half of the Lot will be sold first, beginning with Park Lot No. 1, at the north east corner, and taking the Lots in consecutive order to the centre of the Concession, after which the West half will be offered for sale, commencing at the eastern limit of the Cobourg and Peterborough Railway, and numbering the Lots as described in the Map, eastward to the centre of the Concession. A Plan of the Lots may be seen and other information obtained on application at my office in the Court House.

WALTER SHERIDAN.

Peterborough, 10th Sept., 1861. 33

Lightning! Lightning!

PROTECTION TO LIFE AND PROPERTY.

300,000 Feet

OF THE NEW PATENT ENGLISH ELECTRO-GALVANIZED, ANNEALED AND CARBONIZED

LIGHTNING RODS

JUST ARRIVED FROM ENGLAND, WITH

SPRATTS RENOWNED

PLATINA TIPPED POINT!!

AND ENLARGED

INSULATORS & ATTACHMENTS.

THIS ROD is prepared in England with especial reference to its great conducting powers; is highly approved and recommended by the best authorities. The white non-corroding surface prevents rust, and greatly increases its conducting power, completely obviating the great objections to the old rod. Professor Croft has a Spiral Copper Rod removed from the University Buildings, Toronto, and substituted this, on account of the perfect conducting power of the surface, and not being liable to rust. One real advantage gained by the fine conducting qualities of this rod, with Spratt's point, arises from the fact that it constantly receives and silently conducts to the earth, the positive electricity of the surrounding atmosphere generated by an approaching thunder cloud surcharged with this element of destruction and death, thereby drawing off, draining and lessening the fountain, causing the cloud of its constant accumulation, allowing it to pass over our heads in safety, which might otherwise have burst upon us in all its fury. And it is for this by reason of too great accumulation of electricity, and the discharge takes place, it conducts all safely to the ground, being a preventative in most cases and a cure in an emergency. We have erected them on the Crystal Palace, and Custom House, at Hamilton, as well as many of the best buildings in this city. By importing largely for cash, we are enabled to erect them at a trifling advance upon the Carbonized Rod. Common Iron Rods, such as are being offered by parties from the States we do not erect, as we consider them nearly useless. Good Rods, properly erected, protect 20 feet from the point.

$1,000 CHALLENGE!

to the world to produce as good a Rod, for the same price, as the Galvanized Rod, which we are now prepared to offer to the public through our authorized agents; allow no man to protect your buildings who has not our certificate of agency, with caution on the look against impositions. Orders sent to our address from the principal cities of C. W., will be attended to by O. R. Kendall in person, without extra charge. We submit two of our numerous references.

PIPER & KINDALL,
55 Young Street.

TORONTO, Sept. 15, 1860.

I HEREBY CERTIFY THAT I HAVE SUPerintended the erection of Galvanized Iron Rods on the University Buildings, at Toronto, preferring the Galvanized Iron to ordinary Iron Rods, on account of the perfect conducting power of the surface, and from their not being liable to rust.

The advantage resulting from these qualities is more than commensurate with the increased cost.

(Signed) HENRY CROFT, D.C.L.
Prof. of Chemistry.

PETERBORO', July 29th, 1861.

The agents for the firm of Piper & Kendall, Toronto, have put up for me two of their Galvanized Lightning Rods so highly recommended by Professor Croft. I consider them preferable to all others. The improved Attachments and Insulators, with Spratt's Platina Tipped Point must give them great additional security.

J. BROWNE, M. D.

I entirely concur in Dr. Browne's observations,—Also have bought two of the same Rods for my two cottages on Brock Street.

A. MIBLOCK.

Toronto, June 29th, 1861. 31-3m.

WAR WITH CANADA!

FOR SALE.

THE east half of lot No. 4, north side of Elizabeth Street, in Ashburnham. There is a Good Frame House, with good cellar, stable, sheds and well on the premises. For particulars apply to

PHILLIP SARGENT,
Proprietor.

Ashburnham, Aug. 1861. 33

INSPECTOR'S NOTICE.

THE undersigned hereby gives notice that he will make his tour of examination for the inspection of

WEIGHTS & MEASURES,

in the County of Peterboro' at the dates herein specified, when parties using Weights & Measures are required to present them for inspection. He will be at the following places on the days respectively:—

Norwood	Sept. 26 & 27
Hastings & Westwood	"	28
All undue and Keene	"	30
Ashburnham	4 afternoon Oct.	1 & all 2
Springville	"	3
Bridgenorth & Lakefield	"	4
Warsaw & South Dummer	"	5
Peterborough	"	7 to 12

N.B.—All parties not presenting their weights and measures will be prosecuted according to law.

WILLIAM SARGENT,
Inspector of Weights & Measures for the County of Peterboro'.

Norwood, Aug 29, 1861.

GROCERIES AND LIQUORS.

THE subscribers beg leave to state to their customers that owing to late losses by fire, &c., that they will

After the first of October next,

conduct their business strictly on

THE CASH PRINCIPLE,

after which date all accounts will be closed. All parties due them by Note or Book Account will please call and make an early settlement as all debts due must be collected immediately. As by selling for cash they will incur no bad debts, and therefore be enabled to sell at

☞ LOWER PRICES! ☜

All parties who favor them with their custom may depend upon getting

GOOD GOODS

At Lower Rates than heretofore!

All kinds of Produce taken in exchange for goods, and on account.

GLOVER & ROBINSON,
BURNHAM'S BLOCK.

Peterboro, Sept, 1861. 37-tf.

THINGS TO BE REMEMBERED!

GEO. A. COX.

RETURNING his sincere thanks

Agricultural.

CLOVER BLOAT IN CATTLE.

I saw in a late Rural a sketch from the Michigan Farmer, on clover bloat in cattle. There is no difficulty in curing it, if it can be taken in season. Cattle will sometimes be found with it and die in the night. Tar will cure it. The best way to administer it is to put it in an egg shell, pull out the yeager, take a stick and crowd it into the throat. If the first dose does not stop the second in a few minutes.—I have assisted in dozens of cases, and never knew it to fail. I never had but one horse bloat on clover, and I cured that by giving one pint of fever ague bitters, but I would not recommend such medicine, because, if the biped should happen to like such doctor stuff better than the horse would, which is often the case, he might drink it and cheat the horse.

NEW GRAIN BINDER.

A New Grain Binder has been invented and patented by Mr. D. W. Ayres, of Iroquois Co., Ill., which promises to supply a long-sought desideratum. Our attention has been called to it by a friend who has no pecuniary interest in its success, but who believes it will prove of great benefit to grain growers. An Iroquois Co. paper gives a description of the improvement, and the result of a successful public trial—with the statement of some thirty farmers who certify that the binder is all that the inventor claims it to be, and that when properly attached and adapted, it is capable of binding in the most perfect manner, to the utmost capacity of any reaper now in use.—Wire is used for binding at a cost not exceeding twenty cents per acre. The invention is said to fulfill every requirement of a successful self-binder. Its operation is simple and easily understood, and it is incapable of being attached to any common Reaper.

PROFIT OF SHEEP FARMING.

A correspondent of the Ohio Field Notes who keeps an account with his sheep, says: —"The increase of my flock and the wool makes a profit of about three hundred dollars a year, from one hundred and twelve acres of land and about twenty acres of that is woods, besides keeping enough other stock for my own use, I consider sheep the most profitable stock I can raise; they give sure and quick returns."

HINTS ON BUILDING STABLES.

The American Agriculturist treats the subject in this wise:—"The recent improvements in American architecture have not reached the stable, to the extent that could be desired. Brown stone fronts, high ceilings, marble mantle-pieces, costly furnaces for warming and ventilating the dwelling, may please the eye and promote the health and comfort of the occupants, while the valuable horses of the proprietor are suffering from a poorly constructed and poorly ventilated stable.

The fault often lies in two directions.—The stable may be too tight, or too open. A horse needs light as well as air, and suitable warmth and food,—the vegetable structure hardly needs light more than he does. Pure air is essential. His blood cannot become purified while the air which inflates his lungs is full of foul gases from fermenting manures. Nor is it enough to keep the stalls clean, if they are so tight that the horse is obliged to breathe his own breath over again. Digestion is interfered with, and all the functions of life are impeded. Lazy grooms declare that a close, warm stable, helps to make a horse's coat fine and glossy in winter as well as in summer. But in winter such a coat is not to be desired. Nature provides the animal with longer hair and more of it, to defend him from the cold. If the horse is well groomed and blanketed, his hair will be smooth and glossy enough all the year round. The indolent groom ought himself to be shut up for twenty-four hours in the hot, steaming air in which he confines his master's horse, and see how he would like it. Open the doors of such a stable in the morning, where several horses are kept, and the hot air and the earthborn are almost sufficient to knock a man down. What wonder, then, that horses so used should suffer from inflamed eyes, cough, glanders, and other ailments! The wonder is that they bear the abuse so long and so well.

Now, the improvement is simply this: ventilate the stables. Ventilate, both in winter and summer. The outer air should be brought in at certain places near the floor but not in the immediate neighborhood of the horse, so as to cause hurtful drafts of wind immediately upon him. Impure air must be ejected, as well as pure air brought in. This can be done in summer very well by leaving several windows open in different part of the barns. But a better way is to insert ventilators into the highest parts of the building, into which ventiducts (square wooden tubes), which lead from the stalls, and which can be opened and closed at pleasure. These ventilators should be covered with a cap, to prevent downward currents and the beating in of rain. By this plan, the foul air is carried off directly from the stall without mixing with the hay in the loft."

CURE FOR POTATO DISEASE.

The London Times publishes a list of cures for the potatoe disease. The most efficacious is one discovered by C——, of Hornsey, which consists in pressing down the haulm thus:—"He set his potatoes in a double row instead of single, the two rows occupying a foot in width, with a foot of vacant space outside each row. They were planted on the level, and hoed up at the usual time. Now comes the important step. When the haulm had reached its full growth, about the first of July, he turned it over right and left towards the vacant spaces, by adding earth between the rows and pressing down the haulm, so as to drive it from the erect position, and allow the rain, instead of descending to the roots, to run off upon the vacant space." Not one in a hundred perished.

CANADIAN COTTON.

We have just been shown a bale of Canadian cotton at the store of Mr. T. Bog, of this place, manufactured at the Trent Valley Mills, C. W., better known as Cooke's Rapids, on the Trent River. We believe this is the first cotton manufactured in Canada, and almost in our own vicinity. We understand the mills have been erected since last fall, and have only been in operation some three or four weeks. The sample shown us is made of good material, round thread, and very heavy, weighing three yards to the pound, 39 inches wide, suitable for heavy work and farmers' use. We congratulate "Our Country"—the motto of the mill—on the production of so excellent a staple. We hope our merchants will encourage home manufactures, instead of looking to foreign countries for their supply. We wish the enterprising proprietors (Messrs. Ross, Neil & Co., of Montreal,) every success in their undertaking.—Picton Gazette.

EFFECTUAL CURE FOR EARACHE.

Take a small piece of cotton batting, or cotton wool, making a depression in the centre with the end of a finger, and fill it with as much ground pepper as will rest on a five cent piece, gather it into a ball and tie it up, dip the ball into sweet oil, and insert it into the ear, covering the latter with cotton wool, and use a bandage or cap to retain it in place. Almost instant relief will be experienced, and the application is so gentle that an infant will not be injured by it, but experience relief, as well as adults.—Boston Journal.

NOTICE.

THE Town Council of the Town of Peterborough having passed

A NEW MARKET BY-LAW,

the public are informed that

THE MARKET IS NOW FREE FROM TOLLS!

☞ No Fees are now charged but for Stands and Weighing. All Farm Produces and articles brought into the Town for sale are required to be brought to the Market place.

J. EDWARDS,
Town Clerk.

Peterborough, Sept., 1861. 36

WANTED.

A GOOD STEADY PLOUGHMAN AND general Farm hand may find permanent employment on application to

GEO. EASON,
Lot 21, 4th Con., Otonabee.

Sept. 12, 1861. 37

THE HEROES OF PEACE, AND The Heroes of War!

E. ANTHONY, No. 501, New York, is now publishing, in addition to other portraits the celebrated collection known in Europe and America as Brady's National Photographic Portrait Gallery, in which is included Portraits of nearly all the prominent men of America, not excepting Jeff. Davis, Gen. Beauregard, Floyd, and a host of other Confederates. Price of Portraits $3 00 per dozen. Can be sent by mail are published, card size, and in stereoscopic form. Also,—Stereoscopic Views of Scenes in Paris, London, and in other parts of England and France; in Scotland, Ireland, Wales, Holland, Switzerland, Spain, on the Rhine, Athens, Egypt, Turkey, the Holy Land, China, India Cuba, &c., &c., ad infinitum.

SCENES OF THE WAR FOR THE UNION,

OUR INSTANTANEOUS STEREOSCOPIC VIEWS ARE THE GREATEST WONDER OF THE AGE.

These are taken in the fortieth part of a second, and the rushing of water, the moving of vehicles or the march of an army, does not in the slightest degree affect the taking of these views.—☞ They are sold for $3 00 per dozen.

We have also on hand and manufacture the largest assortment of Stereoscopes, Photographic Albums, and Photographic Materials in the United States, and perhaps in the world.

Catalogues, containing lists of all our Portraits, Views, Stereoscopic, &c., sent free by mail on receipt of a stamp.

E. ANTHONY, 501 Broadway,
near St. Nicholas Hotel, N.Y.

Sept., 1861. 30

EMPLOYMENT.

$10 A MONTH!

AGENTS WANTED!

WE want an active Agent in every County in the United States and Canada, to sell the Franklin Sewing Machine. To a limited number of travelling agents we will pay a salary of Forty Dollars a month and all expenses.

To local agents a commission of 20 per cent, in all sales.

Every machine is warranted to give universal satisfaction, and kept in repair six months.—Recent improvements renders this machine the cheapest and most popular in the market. For full particulars and a permanent business, address, with stamp for return letter,

HARRIS BROTHERS,
Sole agents Franklin Sewing Machine Co.
Box 186 Boston, Mass.

July, 1863. 28

NO YANKEE HUMBUG!

PROSPECTUS
OF A NEW AND ACCURATE, ILLUSTRATED TOPOGRAPHICAL AND STATISTICAL

Map of Upper Canada,

TOGETHER WITH A
DESCRIPTIVE MAP AND DIRECTORY
OF THE TOWNSHIPS OF
N'H & S'H MONAGHAN & OTONABEE.

CONLIN, BONNEY & Co., of Toronto, propose to publish the above work, drawn on a large scale from the most recent and accurate surveys, exhibiting all Post Offices, Money Order Offices, and Telegraph Stations throughout the Province, corrected from the latest official authority; also, the various lines of Railway, Railway Stations, with the correct distance between each, Canals, Plank and Macadamized Roads, the Main Travelled Roads between Towns and Villages, the boundaries and names of each County and Township, the Lakes, Rivers, and principal Mill Streams. Tables showing the Variation of Time between each County and Upper Canada from the Magnetic Observatory, Toronto, the Population of each City, Town, County and Township will also be given, with other important and useful information, carefully compiled from the Census Returns of the present year. The Map will be illustrated with Views of the principal Public Buildings in the Province, executed in the best style of the art.

There will also be given on the above Map an enlarged Plan, in the most minute detail, of the above Townships showing concessions, lots, and subdivisions, with the names of the proprietors neatly engraved thereon; also, School Sections, Churches, School-houses, Mills, Manufactories, Stores, Inns, &c., together with macadamized gravel, plank and other Roads open to travel, the true course of rivers and mill streams; also, enlarged Plans of Towns and Villages in the Townships.

The names of all Subscribers, resident owners of farms, will be engraved specially prominent on their respective lots, and the position of their residence indicated; also, the names of Subscribers in the Towns and Villages will be published, with the title, profession, business, &c., of each, thus constituting a complete Rural, Professional, and Mercantile Business directory.

The publishers being practical engravers, draftsmen, &c., can confidently assure the public that the execution of the above work, in every department, will be superior to anything of the kind yet published in Canada. The size of the Map will be about 48 by 73 inches; it will be handsomely coloured, varnished, and mounted on canvass, with rollers, and furnished to subscribers only, for the low price of Four dollars and a half ($4 50) payable on delivery.

Other Townships in the County will be canvassed in due time.

☞ Our Agents exhibit a SEAL SPECIMEN of the above work, with our name engraved thereon.

CAUTION.—This enterprise is in no way connected with that projected by Messrs. Tremaine, of Jefferson County, State of New York.

New Establishment.

A choice assortment carefully selected by a gentleman of many years experience.

GROCERIES, WINES, &C.,

with a large variety of

Fancy Goods

at very low prices.

Port Wine, (Per Gallon) at 7s 6d, 10s, 12s, 15s 9d, Sherry, 5s, 7s 6d, 10s, 12s, 20s. Finest old Pale Brandy, Brown, do., Fine Hollands Gin in Wood, do. in Bed and Green Cases. Irish Scotch Whiskey (very old) do. in Cases. Cases. Teas, Sugars, Coffees, Fruits, Spices, Pickles & Sauces, Fish, Oils, Flavoring extracts, Starch, Soap, Candles, Tobaccos, Brushes, Brooms, Glass, Crockery, and Wooden-ware, &c.

JOHN McDONELL,

In the (now blue front) premises, lately occupied by Jas. Stevenson, Esq.,

GEORGE ST., PETERBORO.

Jan. 2 1861.

DR. McKENZIE'S

DEAD SHOT WORM CANDY STICK!

price only 15 cents a stick, for sale at the Drug Store of

A. W. KEMPT.

WANTED IMMEDIATELY.

TWO OR THREE good farm hands for the harvest season of longer. Apply to

GEORGE EASON,
21st lot, 4th Con., Otonabee.

July 17, 1861.

ROOM PAPER AND Paper Window Blinds.

THE subscriber begs leave to call the attention of the public to his stock of new Room Papers for 1861. ALSO, a large lot of Plain and Fancy Window Blinds. ALSO, all the papers for this week.

THOS MENZIES.

Peterboro', June, 1861.

ALE! ALE! ALE!

IN KEGS OR BOTTLES,

AT THE

Cellars under Robertsons Block

On Water Street.

PRIVATE FAMILIES SUPPLIED.

Peterboro', Sept. 12, 1861. E. A. WHYTE.

GENERAL INSURANCE OFFICE.

W. CLUXTON, AGENT, PETERBORO'.

LIVERPOOL & LONDON
FIRE AND LIFE
Insurance Company.
CAPIT L.....£2,000,000 STG.

BRITISH AMERICA
ASSURANCE COMPY
CAPITAL, $1,000,000.

WESTERN
INSURANCE COMPANY
CAPITAL, $2,000'000.

BRITANNIA LIFE
Assurance Company.
CAPITAL, £1,000,000, STERLING.
Peterborough, April 20th, 1859. 16

WESTERN
Insurance Company

CAPITAL £500,000

Head Office, Toronto,

FOR EVERY DESCIPTION OF FIRE & M RINE ASSURANCE
BUSINESS.

AGENT FOR PETERBORO',
W. CLUXTON.

Peterboro, Sept 14th, 1857.

THE CANADA LIFE
Assurance Company.

Captal, $1,000 000.

W. CLUXTON,
Agent.
THOS. HOLYWELL,
Medical Referee

Peterborough, 1st August, 1859. 31

THE LIVERPOOL LONDON
FIRE AND LIFE
ASSURANCE COMPANY.

CAPITAL.....£2,000,000 STG.

Empowered by Act of the Imperial Parliament

Responsibility of Stockholders unlimited.

Head Office for Canada, Montreal.

THE UNDERSIGNED CONTINUES to accept Risks in the above
First Class Company,
on almost every description of property, at as REASONABLE RATES
as any other responsible office.

LOSSES PAID
without reference to the Old Country.

W. CLUXTON,
Agent for Peterboro'

Peterboro.' April 20th, 1859. 16.

F. G. CALLENDER,

RETURNS his grateful acknowledgments to the Inhabitants of Peterboro' and vicinity, for their liberal support during the past fourteen years, and on account of his increase of business, and with a view to the better accommodation of his patrons, will continue his visits the FIRST and THIRD MONDAYS, TUESDAYS & WEDNESDAYS in each month, INSTEAD OF ONLY THE FIRST MONDAYS, as formerly, prepared to perform all operations of the profession, with superior neatness and durability, AND AS REASONABLE AS ANY EXPERIENCED DENTIST. His Teeth are his own selection, of the newest style, being made expressly for the Vulcanized base, now altogether used, being free from taste, much cheaper than Gold, and equal in neatness and durability, and much more agreeable in the mouth, being less weighty.

Rooms in Scott's Building, Market Block, Peterboro', and over the Post Office, Cobourg.

RELIEF IN TEN MINUTES.

BRYANS
PULMONIC WAFERS.

THE most certain and speedy remedy ever discovered for the relief of all diseases of the Chest and Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Consumption, Bronchitis, Influenza, Hoarseness, Difficult Breathing, Sore Throat, &c.

These Wafers give the most instantaneous and perfect relief, and when persevered with according to directions, never fail to effect a rapid and lasting cure. Thousands have been restored to perfect health, who have tried other means in vain. To all classes and all constitutions they are a blessing and a cure—none need despair, no matter how long the disease may have existed, or however severe it may be, provided the organic structure of the vital organ is not hopelessly decayed. Every one afflicted should give them an impartial trial.

TO VOCALISTS AND PUBLIC SPEAKERS these Wafers are peculiarly valuable; they will in one day remove the most severe occasional hoarseness; and their regular use for a few days will, at all times, increase the power and flexibility of the voice, greatly improving its tone, compass and clearness, for which purpose they are regularly used by many professional Vocalists.

JOB MOSES, Sole Proprietor, Rochester, N.Y.
Price 25 cents per box.

Vocalists and Public Speakers
Vocalists and Public Speakers
Vocalists and Public Speakers

Will find Bryan's Wafers
Will find Bryan's Wafers
Will find Bryan's Wafers

Invaluable to remove
Invaluable to remove
Invaluable to remove

Hoarseness and Sore Throat,
Hoarseness and Sore Throat,
Hoarseness and Sore Throat,

And gives clearness to the Voice.
And gives clearness to the Voice.
And gives clearness to the Voice.

They relieve in ten minutes,
They relieve in ten minutes,
They relieve in ten minutes,

Coughs, Colds, and all diseases
Coughs, Colds, and all diseases
Coughs, Colds, and all diseases

Of the Chest and Lungs.
Of the Chest and Lungs.
Of the Chest and Lungs.

Sold by all Druggists
Sold by all Druggists
Sold by all Druggists

At 25 cents a box.
At 25 cents a box.
At 25 cents a box.

SEVEN YEARS.

THE seven years of unrivalled success attending the

"COSMOPOLITAN ART ASSOCIATION,"

have made it a household word throughout every quarter of the Country.

Under the auspices of this popular Institution over three hundred thousand homes have learned to appreciate—by beautiful works of art on their walls, and choice literature on their tables the great benefits derived from becoming subscribers.

Subscriptions are now being received by a ratio unparalleled with that of any previous year

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

Any person can become a member by subscribing three dollars, for which sum they will receive

1st.—The large and superb steel engraving, 30x38 inches, entitled

"FALSTAFF MUSTERING HIS RECRUITS!"

2nd.—One copy, one year, of that elegantly illustrated magazine,

"The Cosmopolitan Art Journal,"

3rd.—Four admissions, during the season, to The Gallery of Paintings, 548 Broadway, N.Y.

In addition to the above benefits, there will be given to subscribers, as gratuitous premiums, over Five Hundred Beautiful Works of Art, comprising valuable paintings, marbles, parians, outlines, &c., forming a truly national benefit.

The superb Engraving, which every subscriber will receive, entitled "Falstaff Mustering his Recruits" is one of the most beautiful and popular engravings ever issued in this country. It is done on steel, in fine line and stipple, and is printed on heavy plate paper, 30 by 38 inches, making a most choice ornament, suitable for the walls of either the library, parlor or office. Its subject is the celebrated scene of Sir John Falstaff receiving in Justice Shallow's office, the recruits which have been gathered for his "ragged regiment." It could not be purchased by the trade for less than five dollars.

"THE ART JOURNAL"

is too well known to the whole country to need commendation. It is a magnificently illustrated magazine of Art, containing Essays, Stories, Poems, Gossip, &c., by the very best writers in America.

The Engraving is sent to any part of the country by mail, with safety, being packed in a cylinder, postage pre-paid.

Subscriptions will be received until the Evening of the 31st of January, 1861, at which time the books will close and the premiums be given to subscribers.

No person is restricted to a single subscriptions. Those remitting $15, are entitled to five memberships and to one extra Engraving for their trouble.

Subscriptions from California, the Canadas, and all Foreign Countries, must be $3 50 instead of $3, in order to defray extra postage, etc.

For further particulars send for a copy of the elegantly illustrated Art Journal, pronounced the handsomest magazine in America. It contains Catalogue of Premiums, and numerous superb engravings. Regular price 20 cents per number. Specimen copies, however, will be sent to those wishing to subscribe, in receipt of 18 cts, in stamps or coin.

Address,

C. L. DERBY, Actuary C.A.A.
548 Broadway, N.Y.

N. B.—Subscriptions received by R. S. Patterson, Hon'y Secretary for United Counties of Peterboro' & Victoria, where specimen Engravings and Art Journal can be seen.

No. 5, Market Block, Peterboro', Dec. 11.

The Great English Remedy!

SIR JAMES CLARKE'S
Celebrated Female Pills!

Prepared from a Prescription of Sir J. Clarke, M. D., Physician Extraordinary to the Queen.

THIS well known Medicine is no imposition, but a sure and safe remedy for Female Difficulties and Obstructions, from any cause whatever; and although a powerful remedy, it contains nothing hurtful to the constitution. To married ladies it is peculiarly suited. It will, in a short time, bring on the monthly period with regularity.

In all cases of Nervous and Spinal Affections, pain in the back and limbs, Heaviness, Fatigue on Slight Exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Lowness of Spirits, Hysterics, Sick Headache, Whites, and all the painful diseases occasioned by a disordered system, these Pills will effect a cure where all other means have failed.

☞ These Pills have never been known fail where the directions on the 2nd page the pamphlet are well observed.

For full particulars, get a pamphlet free o the agent.

N. B.—$1 and six postage stamps enclosed to any authorised agent, will ensure a bottle containing over 50 pills, by return mail.

Sir James Clarke's Female Pills
Sir James Clarke's Female Pills
Sir James Clarke's Female Pills

Are a Scientific Preparation.
Are a Scientific Preparation.
Are a Scientific Preparation.

They are safe, and never fail
They are safe, and never fail
They are safe, and never fail

To remove all Obstructions,
To remove all Obstructions,
To remove all Obstructions,

And cure all Female Complaints,
And cure all Female Complaints,
And cure all Female Complaints,

When the directions are followed.
When the directions are followed,
When the directions are followed

They are a blessing and a cure.
They are a blessing and a cure.
They are a blessing and a cure.

And can be sent by mail
And can be sent by mail
And can be sent by mail

For one dollar and six postage stamps.
For one dollar and six postage stamps.
For one dollar and six postage stamps.

JOB MOSES, Rochester, N.Y., sole proprietor. Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, C. W., General Agents. For sale by Ormond & Gilmour, Wm. Coulter, A. W Kempt, Peterboro' and all dealers in medicines.

EDEN GARDENS
PETERBOROUGH,
OPPOSITE WALKERFIELD NURSERY.

THE subscriber would respectfully inform the inhabitants of the Town of Peterborough and surrounding country that he has at his Gardens a constant supply (in their season) of all kinds of Garden Vegetables usually grown in this latitude. Seedling plants, such as

Cabbage, Cauliflower,

Tomato, Celery, Winter Cherry, &c. Also,—Small Fruits in their season.

Vegetables

fresh from Eden Gardens at the Market every week day; also at his Store on George Street, where all orders which may be left for anything in the above line will be promptly attended to.

PHILIP GILES.

May 1, 1861. 18

A STARTLING FACT.

THE subscriber has great pleasure in informing the public that he is manufacturing ever made in Canada, patented by J. Dennis. In order to prove the above, I am prepared to put them on trial, for cisterns or wells 100 feet deep and less, until the 1st of June, 1861. If not then preferred before any other kind will take them back free of charge; if they suit, I will give them until the 1st of January, 1863, for payment, by giving a good note.

THE BEST PUMPS

These Pumps are

Warranted not to Freeze.

All orders addressed to the undersigned, stating depth of well, to Warkworth, Percy, up to the 1st of April, 1861, and after that date to the Subscriber, in Ashburnham, will receive prompt attention. All letters must be post-paid.

HENRY DENNIS.
Manufacturer.

Warkworth, Percy, Dec. 1860.

Patented rights to manufacture and sell the above Pumps for sale by John Dennis, patentee and manufacturer. New Market, C. W. 50-1y.

I. M. SQUAIR,

Agent for Steamer "Maple Leaf," and Jacques, Tracy & Co.'s Line of Boats, the Alps, Ottawa, Oshawa, Huron, & Bowmanville.

CONTRACTS for freight or passage to and from Montreal, Rochester, Boston, New York, and Oswego.

Offices in Gibbs's Block, above Irvine's Store, Port Hope.

Port Hope, Oct. 10, 1860.

JUDSONS,
MOUNTAIN HERB
WORM TEA.

Herbs, Barks and Roots
VERSUS
Poisonous Minerals and Drugs.

MOTHERS TAKE HEED!

Do you when observing the uneasy actions of your children, consider that it may be more than a mere trouble that afflicts them? In most cases out of ten, the cause of the little sufferer's anguish is WORMS, and should be at once looked to

HEADS OF FAMILIES

Do not let your children suffer, when we present you in

JUDSON'S WORM TEA

A SAFE AND PLEASANT CURE FOR WORMS

How much better and safer would it be to have it always in the house. A little delay when a child is taken ill may often be the cause of its death, while acting without delay, and by giving the MOUNTAIN HERB TEA immediately, you will not only save the child a long and tedious illness, and yourself much anguish, but also feel happier in knowing that you have done your duty, and perchance saved its life.

This medicine is combined purely of

HERBS AND ROOTS

NOT A PARTICLE OF

Calomel or Mineral

IS USED IN IT.

No more filthy Vermifuge will be used by those who once use this Tea. The only active principle of all other Vermifuges and Worm Killers is MERCURY.

GIVE NO

POISON

TO

YOUR CHILDREN.

Use this Simple, Safe, Vegetable Medicine.

This Worm Tea was discovered in an unusual way among the Wilds of Northern Mexico—a full account of it you will find in our Almanacs. Ask for the "Book of Poisons" and when you have read it, send it to your neighbor. Until they may also know of and be cured by the GREAT REMEDY!

JUDSON'S WORM TEA
KILLS WORMS,
Never Harms—is Pleasant to Take.

GET A PACKAGE—PRICE 25 CTS.

OBSERVE.—Always find the Name and Signature of B. L. JUDSON & CO., and the portrait of Judson, on each package of the Worm Tea.

B. L. JUDSON & CO.
SOLE PROPRIETORS,
50 Leonard St., New York.

Judson's Worm Tea is sold by one Agent in every Village, and by all Druggists.

CANADA
Permanent Building and Saving's Society.

CAPITAL..... $500,000
INVESTED ON REAL ESTATE.... 350,000
ANNUAL INCOME..... 250,000

THIS Institution advances money on favorable terms on the security of Real Estate, situate in Western Canada, repayable by instalments spread over any period the borrower chooses from 1 to 10 years.

Properties mortgaged may be sold or changed for other property, or the mortgage debt may be paid off before it is due if desired by the borrower.

Circulars and rules, together with any further information may be obtained from the office.

W. CLUXTON,
Agent.

Peterboro', Jan. 30, 1861. 5

JUDSON'S
Mountain Herb Pills.

ABOVE, we present you with a perfect likeness of JUDSON, a chief of a tribe of the strange Aztec Nation, that once ruled Mexico. You will find a full account of him and his people in our Pamphlets and Almanacs—to be had gratis, from the Agents for these Pills.

The inventor and manufacturer of "Judson's Mountain Herb Pills," has spent the greater part of his life in traveling, having visited nearly every country in the world. He spent over six years among the Indians of the Rocky Mountains and of Mexico, and it was thus that the "Mountain Herb Pills" were discovered. A very interesting account of his adventures there, you will find in our Almanac and Pamphlet.

It is an established fact, that all diseases arise from

IMPURE BLOOD!

The blood is the life! and when any foreign or unhealthy matter gets mixed with it, it is at once distributed to every organ of the body, the nerves feels the poison, and all the vital organs quickly complain. The stomach will not digest the food perfectly. The liver ceases to secrete a sufficiency of bile. The action of the heart is weakened, and so the circulation is feeble. The lungs become clogged with the poisonous matter; hence, a cough—and all from a slight impurity of the fountain-head of life—the Blood! As if you had thrown some earth, for instance, in a pure spring, from which ran a tiny rivulet, in a few minutes the whole course of the stream becomes disturbed and discolored. As quickly does impure blood fly to every part, and leave its sting behind. All the passages become obstructed, and unless the obstruction be removed, the lamp of life soon flies out.

These pills act only purify the blood, but regenerate all the secretions of the body; they are, therefore, unrivalled as a

CURE FOR BILIOUS DISEASES,

Liver Complaint, Sick Headache, &c. This Anti-Bilious Medicine expels from the blood the hidden seeds of disease, and renders all the fluids and secretions pure and sweet, clearing and reinvigorating the vital organs.

Pleasant indeed, is it to us, that we are able to place within your reach a medicine like the "Mountain Herb Pills," that will pass directly to the afflicted parts, through the blood and fluids of the body, and cause the sufferer to brighten with the flush of health and health.

Judson's Pills are the Best Remedy in existence for the following Complaints:

Bowel Complaints,	Debility,
Coughs,	Fever and Ague,
Colds,	Female Complaints
Chest Diseases	Headaches,
Costiveness,	Indigestion,
Dyspepsia,	Influenza,
Diarrhœa,	Inflammation,
Dropsy,	Jaundice,
Prevent Weakness,	Liver Complaints,
Lowness of Spirits,	Piles,
Rheumatism,	Stone and Gravel,
Scrofula,	Secondary Symptoms.

GREAT FEMALE MEDICINE

Females who value health, should never be without these Pills. They purify the blood, remove obstructions of all kinds, create the skin of all impurities and blotches, and bring the rich color of health to the pale cheek.

☞ The Plants and Herbs of which these Pills are made, were discovered in a very surprising way among the Tamcuas, a tribe of Aborigines in Mexico. Get the Almanac of per Agent, and you will read with delight, the very interesting account it contains of the "GREAT MEDICINE" of the Aztecs.

OBSERVE.—The Mountain Herb Pills are put up in a Beautiful Wrapping. Each box contains 40 pills, and Retail at 25 cents per box. All persons have the signature of B. L. JUDSON & CO., on each box.

B. L. JUDSON, & Co,
SOLE PROPRIETORS,
No. 50 Leonard Street,
NEW YORK
☞ FOR SALE BY ALL MEDICINE DEALERS ☜

☞ The Canadian Pain Destroyer is a prompt and sure remedy for Cramp and pain in the Stomach, Painters' Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer Complaints, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, Scalds, Burns, Sprains, Bruises, Frost Bites, Chilblains, as well as the stings of Insects, Scorpions, Centipedes, and the bites of poisonous Insects and venomous Reptiles.

WILL BE SOLD AT A SACRIFICE.

THE subscriber is compelled by circumstances to sell his Houses and Lot on Albert Street, on the Court House Hill, adjoining the property of Mr. Wm. Dumble. The above is one of the most delightful situations in Town, and will be sold for the one half to begin down, and the remainder in two years from time of sale. Title Perfect.

LOW PRICE OF $800!

JOHN RITCHIE.

Peterborough, Aug. 20, 1861. 34

MARBLE WORKS.

H. T. EVANS,

RESPECTFULLY invites attention to the fact that he is prepared to execute on short notice

TOMB-STONES,
MONUMENTS,
TABLE-TOPS,
MANTLE-PIECES,
&c., &c., &c.

of as good workmanship as can be done in any part of Canada. Terms very low for Cash.

☞ House and Workshop, corner of London and Bethune Streets, East of Smithtown Hill.

H. T. EVANS.

Peterboro, Nov. 8, 1860 45

SADDLERY & HARNESS.
WARE-HOUSE.
Opposite A. McNeil's Auction Rooms, George Street, Peterboro'.

HOPKINS & DONNELY

WILL keep constantly on hand, and make to order all sorts of

SADDLES, HARNESS, WHIPS, Valleses, &c.,

which they intend to sell CHEAP for CASH, or on approved credit.

☞ All work warranted, as it is made by superior workmen.

Peterborough, Sept. 5, 1860. 36

ROOM PAPER.

R. STEVENSON,

PAINTER & PAPER-HANGER,

HAS Received direct from England, a large and well-selected assortment of Room Paper, Borders, Decorations, Window-blinds, &c.

which will be sold at Prices to suit the Times.

Brock Street,
Opposite Lawson's Hotel, 17

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

A compound remedy, in which we have labored to produce the most effectual alterative that can be made. It is a concentrated extract of Para Sarsaparilla, so combined with other substances of still greater alterative power as to afford an effective antidote for the diseases Sarsaparilla is reputed to cure. It is believed that such a remedy is wanted by those who suffer from Strumous complaints, and that one which will accomplish their cure must prove of immense service to this large class of our afflicted fellow-citizens. How completely this compound will do it has been proven by experiment on many of the worst cases to be found of the following complaints:—

SCROFULA AND SCROFULOUS COMPLAINTS, ERUPTIONS AND ERUPTIVE DISEASES, ULCERS, PIMPLES, BLOTCHES, TUMORS, SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, SYPHILIS AND SYPHILITIC AFFECTIONS, MERCURIAL DISEASE, DROPSY, NEURALGIA OR TIC DOULOUREUX, DEBILITY, DYSPEPSIA AND INDIGESTION, ERYSIPELAS, ROSE OR ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD.

This compound will be found a great promoter of health, when taken in the spring, to expel the foul humors which fester in the blood at that season of the year. By the timely expulsion of them many rankling disorders are nipped in the bud. Multitudes can, by the aid of this remedy, spare themselves from the endurance of foul eruptions and ulcerous sores, through which the system will strive to rid itself of corruptions if not assisted to do this through the natural channels of the body by an alterative medicine. Cleanse out the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, eruptions, or sores; cleanse it when you find it is obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it whenever it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Even where no particular disorder is felt, people enjoy better health, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. Keep the blood healthy, and all is well; but with this pabulum of life discolored, there can be no lasting health. Sooner or later something must go wrong, and the great machinery of life is disordered or overthrown.

Sarsaparilla has, and deserves much, the reputation, of accomplishing these ends. But the world has been egregiously deceived by preparations of it, partly because the drug alone has not all the virtue that is claimed for it, but more because many preparations, pretending to be concentrated extracts of it, contain but little of the virtue of Sarsaparilla, or that of other things.

During late years the public have been misled by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one dollar. Most of these have been frauds upon the sick, for they not only contain little, if any, Sarsaparilla, but often no curative properties whatever. Hence, bitter and painful disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market, until the name itself is justly despised, and has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound Sarsaparilla, and intend to supply such a remedy as shall rescue the name from the load of obloquy which rests upon it. And we think we have ground for believing it has virtues which are irresistible by the ordinary run of the diseases it is intended to cure. In order to secure their complete eradication from the system, the remedy should be judiciously taken according to directions on the bottle.

PREPARED BY
DR. J. C. AYER & CO.
LOWELL, MASS.
Price, $1 per Bottle; Six Bottles for $5.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

has won for itself such a renown for the cure of every variety of Throat and Lung Complaint, that it is entirely unnecessary for us to recount the evidences of its virtues, wherever it has been employed. As it has long been in constant use throughout this section, we need not do more than assure the people its quality is kept up to the best it ever has been, and that it may be relied on to do for their relief all it has ever been found to do.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

FOR THE CURE OF

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and for Purifying the Blood.

They are sugar-coated, so that the most sensitive can take them pleasantly, and they are the best aperient in the world for all the purposes of a family physic.

Price 25 cents per Box; five boxes for $1.00.

Great numbers of Clergymen, Physicians, Statesmen, and others, eminent for their high position and public services, have kindly lent their names to certify the unparalleled usefulness of these remedies, but our space here will not permit the insertion of them. The Agents below named furnish gratis our AMERICAN ALMANAC in which they are given; with also full descriptions of the above complaints, and the treatment that should be followed for their cure.

Do not be put off by unprincipled dealers with other preparations they may make more profit on, but who are not, and who be others. The sick want the best and there is for them, and they should have it.

All our Remedies are for sale by Ormond & Gilmour, Wm. Coulter, and W. A. Kempt, Peterboro'. A. Reikie, Lindsay; E. Gregory, Millbrook; A. Goodfellow, Springville, and all medicine dealers. Northrop & Lyman, General Agents for the Canadas.

THE TRAVELLERS REST.

THE above named House has been enlarged re-fitted and refurnished, and as every convenience for the accommodation of the travelling public. It is directly opposite the Post Office, on Main Street, and within sight of the steamboat landing.

HIS TABLE

is always supplied with the best the market affords, and

THE BAR

always supplied with the choicest of Liquors. Old friends and customers, as well as the travelling public are respectfully requested to give him a call

☞ A careful ostler on hand at all times.

WILLIAM CRESWELL,
Proprietor.

Bobcaygeon, April 4, 1861. 14-6m.

PETERBORO',
Soap and Candle Works.

A large stock of very superior

CANDLES AND SOAP

now on hand and for sale at the lowest wholesale prices.

☞ Orders are respectfully solicited.

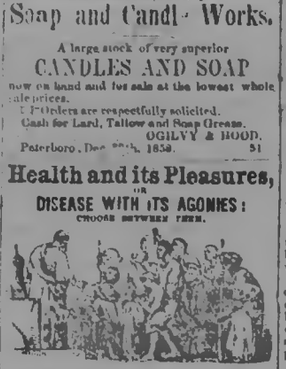
Cash for Lard, Tallow and Soap Grease.

OGILVY & HOOD.

Peterboro, Dec 20th, 1858. 51

Health and its Pleasures, OR DISEASE WITH ITS AGONIES:

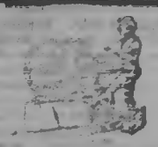
CHOOSE BETWEEN THEM.



HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.

NERVOUS DISORDERS.

What is more fearful than the breaking down of the nervous system? To be excitable or nervous in a small degree is most distressing, for where can a remedy be found? There is one:—drink but little wine, beer, or spirits, or for better none; take no coffee,—weak tea being preferable: get all the fresh air you can; take three or four Pills



BOOK AND JOB PRINTING ESTABLISHMENT.

EVERY description of Book and Job Printing executed at this Office, in superior style, at low rates

Pamphlets, Circulars,
Handbills, Funeral Cards,
Invitations, Bill Headings,
Horse Bills, Show Bills,
Concert Bills, Programmes,
Posters, Stage Bills,
Business Cards, Blanks, &c.,

with every variety of Coloring and Bronzing.

☞ Lawyers' Blanks of every description, kept constantly on hand.

All orders for Job Printing forwarded to this office will be punctually and strictly attended to.

The Examiner.

PETERBOROUGH, CANADA WEST, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1861.

Volume VI.] "THE PEOPLE." [Number 41.

THE "EXAMINER"

Is published every Thursday morning at the office of the undersigned, in

BURNHAM'S BLOCK, GEORGE STREET.

Terms of Subscription:—$1.50 per annum payable strictly in advance, $2 when not so paid.

Rates of Advertising.

Six Lines, and under, first insertion	$0 37
Each subsequent insertion	12
Six to ten lines, first insertion	75
Each subsequent insertion	20
Over ten lines, first insertion (per line)	1
Each subsequent insertion, "	3
Business Cards as per agreement.

☞ Advertisements without written instructions will be inserted until forbid. Orders to discontinue must be given in writing.

All communications to the Publisher must be post-paid; otherwise no notice will be taken of them.

JOSEPH ENTREW,
Publisher and Proprietor.

Business Directory.

JAMES HALL,
SHERIFF. Office in the Court House, Peterborough

Mr. TOOLE,
MANUFACTURER of Sash Blinds, Doors and Mouldings. Every description of Joiner Work done to order. Next door to Martyn's Mills, Peterboro', C. W. 9

MESSRS. FITZGERALD & DRENNAN
PROVINCIAL LAND SURVEYORS, CIVIL ENGINEERS AND LAND AGENTS. Office in Scott's Chambers, corner of George and Simcoe Streets Messrs. F. & D. having lately surveyed the outlines of eight new Townships now inclosed in this County will be happy to give any information to intending settlers. 24

J. B. BISBEE,
DEALER in Boots, Shoes & Leather, George Street, Peterborough, C. W. 16

W. CRAWFORD,
GOVERNMENT Land Agent. Office at his residence, Brock Street.

EDMUND S. VINDIN,
COMMISSION, Shipping, Forwarding, and General Agent, Lumber Merchant, &c. - OFFICE—Corner of Walton and Ontario Streets. 13

MR. DENNISTOUN,
BARRISTER at Law Master Extraordinary in Chancery Notary Public, &c., Peterborough

Mr. A. T. HATHFIELD.
PIANIST AND TEACHER OF MUSIC.
COMMUNICATION THROUGH THE POST OFFICE, Peterborough.

JOHNSON'S
FASHIONABLE Hair Dressing and Shaving Saloon in the Building formerly occupied by the Post Office, east of the bridge. Port Hope, Sept. 20, 1857.

GEORGE MITCHELL,
DEALER in Groceries and Provisions, &c. Cash paid for all kinds of country produce, George Street Peterborough. 15

T. G. HAZLITT,
DEALER in Provisions, Groceries, Crockery and Glass ware, Hunter Street Peterboro.

W. SHERIDAN,
COUNTY Treasurer and Clerk. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

R. STEVENSON,
PAINTER, Paper hanger, &c., &c., Brock Street, Peterborough. 15

GEORGE H. HUGHES,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
SOLICITOR IN CHANCERY
Conveyancer, &c.
OFFICE in Harvey's Building, next door (north) to Thomson's Store, George St., Peterborough. 12

GENERAL FIRE AND LIFE INSURANCE OFFICE.
W. CLUXTON, Agent.

W. COULTER, PETERBORO',
DEALER in Genuine Drugs, Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Spices, Culinary Essences, Fancy Soaps, &c., &c. 16

THOMAS MENZIES,
BOOKSELLER, Stationer, &c., &c., &c., &c Dixon's Exchange Block, George Street Peterborough. 20

A. HARVEY, M. D., CORONER.
RESIDENCE:—Aylmer Street, opposite the Railway Depot, Peterboro. April 3rd. 1861.

W. H. SCOTT,
BARRISTER AT LAW, Solicitor in Chancery, Notary Public, Conveyancer, &c
OFFICE:—In Burnham's Block, opposite the Review Office, Peterborough. April 11, 1861. 15

A. M'CREA,
PROVINCIAL Licentiate. Physician, Surgeon, &c. Keene.

GEORGE PRINGLE, M. D.
PHYSICIAN, Surgeon, &c., &c., graduate of McGill College, Montreal, having also studied in the hospitals of London and Dublin
OFFICE AND RESIDENCE,—Brock Street, opposite McGregor's Livery Stable, Peterboro. April 23, 1861. 17

ALEX. McNEIL,
AUCTIONEER, Valuator, &c., &c. Licensed for the United Counties of Peterborough and Victoria. George St., Peterboro'.

JAMES BEST,
DEALER in Dry Goods, Groceries, Crockery Boots and Shoes, &c., &c., Rowe's Block, George Street, Peterborough. 16

AUCTION SALES

T. F. NICHOLL,
Auctioneer,
CIVIL ENGINEER AND SURVEYOR, LAND AGENT, AND GENERAL COMMISSION MERCHANT.
Peterborough.
Terms moderate, business punctual, and payments prompt.

MR. DUNN,
PRINCIPAL of the Grammar and Union School, will devote a short time each day to private tuition.
Peterboro', Jan. 10th, 1861. 3

A. FOWLIS & Co.
HARDWARE Merchants, George Street Peterborough. 16

PRIVATE BOARD.
A NUMBER of respectable boarders may find good Board and comfortable accomodation at the handsome and well-fitted brick cottage, near the Peterboro Station of the P. H. & P. R. Apply on the premises.
JOSEPH PORTRESS.
June4, 1861. 26

CABINET-MAKING.
POOLE, Cabinet-maker, Upholsterer & Undertaker, Ryan's Block, George Street Peterboro. 7

D. PENTLAND,
Surgical & Mechanical Dentist,
OFFICE, OVER COULTERS' DRUG STORE, George Street, Peterboro'.

TEETH Extracted by the aid of Electricity, with the least possible pain. Teeth inserted upon fine Gold, Silver, or
VULCANIZED RUBBER,
Teeth and material warranted to be of the very best quality.
D. P. particularly wishes the public to understand that he
WARRANTS HIS WORK TO GIVE GOOD SATISFACTION,
and parties who are not perfectly satisfied with their plates have the privilege of returning them before paying for them.
Particular attention paid to the treatment of all diseases of the mouth, and also the regulating of children's teeth.
Peterboro', April 10th. 1861. 15

ALBION HOTEL,
MONTREAL.
L. W. DECKER, Proprietor.
IS pleasantly situated at the head of ST. PAUL STREET, amongst the largest wholesale houses in the city. It has (with business men generally, and especially with the best Merchants of both Provinces) become so great a fav rite, that it is now acknowledged to be THE Business Hotel of Montreal. To meet the extensive increase, during the last year in the business of the house, the proprietor has built a large addition. The Dining Room has been extended and made more commodious; there have been completed in the new wing, a great number of well-ventilated sleeping rooms, and the House throughout has been refitted, and now contains many improvements and conveniences hitherto unknown to its guests. The whole of the beds have, at a great expence, been furnished with NEW SPRING MATTRASSES. The Proprietor expects that by continuing his personal management of the concern, THE ALBION to say the least of it, will continue to be, as it now is, the best Dollar and a half Hotel in Canada

VALUABLE FARM FOR SALE.
THE subscriber is desirous of disposing of his Farm, south west part of Lot 23, in the 11th Con. Otonabee, only 3 miles from the town of Peterborough, and on the main road leading to Keene, comprising 100 Acres.

60 Acres are Cleared,

and in a good state of cultivation; 14 Acres of Fall Wheat are sown, and part of Fall ploughing is done. A good Frame Rough-cast House, 40 x 30, a Barn, 45 x 26, and a good stable and other out-houses are on the premises.

A GOOD WELL
of spring water stands within a rod of the house, and is easy of access. A good
YOUNG ORCHARD OF 85 TREES,
in good condition, and of the choicest fruits, is on the property.
The Farm is one of the best in the Township, and the situation is very convenient, no better chance for the purchase of a good farm could be offered, and it will be sold at a liberal price.

Title Indisputable.

Apply to the proprietor on the premises,
IAS WEIR.
Otonabee, Nov. 7 1860. 54

NOTICE
THE next meeting of the Senior Board of Instruction for the County of Peterboro' will be held on the
First Tuesday of Dec. next,
IN THE COURT HOUSE, AT 10 A M
Teachers holding third class certificates issued a year or upwards ago, are required to have them renewed.
By order,
J. EDWARDS,
Secretary.
Peterboro' May 14, 1861. 20

THE LATEST IMPROVED
COAL OIL,
AND COAL OIL LAMPS,
AT REDUCED PRICES.
JOHN McDONELL,
GEORGE STREET.
Jan. 2, 1861. 1.

PORT HOPE & PETERBORO
RAILWAY.
ON and after the 4th of May, 1861, and until further notice, Trains will run as follows:—

GOING NORTH.

Leave Port Hope at	7.30 a. m
" Millbrook "	9.05 a. m
" Fraserville "	9.30 a. m
Arrive at Peterboro' at	9.50 a. m.

GOING SOUTH.

Leave Peterboro' at	3.35 p. m.
" Fraserville "	3.55 p. m.
" Millbrook "	3.30 p. m.
Arrive at Port Hope at	4.55. p. m.

JOHN FOWLER,
Lessee.
Peterboro' January, 18

INFORMATION WANTED.
A DAUGHTER wishes to learn the present whereabouts of her mother, whom she has not seen for the last thirty-five years. Her maiden name was Polly Cook; her first husband's name was Warren Stone. It is said she married in 1840, a person named De Long, who was at that time engaged in some way in the manufacture of silk, in some part of Upper Canada. Any information respecting her will be gratefully received by addressing the subscriber, at 55 Frank Street, Rochester, N. Y.—Canadian papers will confer a favour upon one who has long been deprived of a mother's affections, by giving the above an insertion, entire or in part.
MRS. SAMANTHA JENKINSON.
Rochester, N. Y., 24th May, 1861.

NEXT OF KIN WANTED!
Hundreds of Millions Pounds Sterling
IN CHANCERY, BANK OF ENGLAND, &c., within claimants. A Catalogue of the heirs and names of those to whom letters should be addressed in England, will be sent post free, on receipt of 60 cents in United States' stamps, or two for $1. Old claims must be presented at once. References:—A. K. Hill, Boston; J Burnham, Chief of Police, Haverhill. Address
W. W. S. ORBETON & Co.,
Box 309, Post Office, Boston, Mass.
Sept., 1861. 37

Poetry.

THE SEA IS ENGLAND'S GLORY.

BY J. W. LAKE.

The sea is England's glory,
The bounding wave her throne,
For ages bright in story,
The ocean is her own.
In war the first, the fearless,
Her banner leads the brave;
In peace she reigns a peerless,
The Empress of the wave.

The sea is England's splendour,
Her wealth the mighty main;
She is the world's defender,
The fi eble to sustain.
Her gallant sons in story,
Shine bravest of the brave;
Oh, England's strength and glory
Are on the ocean wave.

Thou loveliest land of beauty,
Where dwells domestic worth,
Where loyalty and duty
Entwine each heart and hearth.
Thy rock is freedom's pillow,
The rampart of the brave,
Oh, long as rolls the billow,
Shall Eng and rule the wave.

THE BLACK MAN'S STORY.

A case has recently came to our knowledge, which affords an unusual, though not an unfair illustration of the system of American slavery.

A man named Edward Backus, now 63 years of age, was born a slave in Hardy county, in the great State which has the double honour of being the "Mother of Presidents," and the mother of slaves. He was the son of a native African woman who was kidnapped on the coast of Africa and brought to this country in a slave-ship.—The child, before he was five years old, was sold three times—twice he was sold with his mother, and the third time away from her.

At this third purchase, the price of his body was paid in specie, which was counted out upon the grass, under a green tree. The money was afterwards spent to buy a tract of land in Ross county, Ohio, on the "Pig Bottoms" of the Scioto river "Since I have been free," says the venerable man, "I have lived in Ohio, and have walked many a time over this very piece of ground. Last year it was covered with corn; a great field of four hundred and eighty acres, without a single cross-fence to divide it! But," he added, "no ear of all the crop fell to my share!"

The incident strikingly illustrates how much faster, during the last fifty years, land in Ohio has risen in value, than slaves in Virginia!

At the age of eight, the black boy, then a little piece of marketable merchandize, was fatally damaged against ever afterwards bringing a high price in the market, by an unfortunate cut from his master's whip which struck out at a blow one of the child's eyes. What made the matter worse, the provocation was scarcely sufficient to be alleged as an apology by the aristocratic and elegant Virginia planter whose undeserved stroke thus cost him well nigh a total loss of three hundred dollars. The offence was only this: A sow had broken through her pen: the boy was ordered to drive her back; the master's dog undertook to assist the boy by leading the sow up by the ear; the bite drew blood; the boy was charged with having incited the dog to mischief; his denial was taken as a lie; the whip lash was raised, and one eye-ball fell upon the boy's cheek!

He was now valueless to be sold, yet valuable to be kept. He grew up to a red manhood on this same plantation. He never afterwards experienced any single act of cruelty equal to this early chastisement, but he now says of his general treatment, looking back upon his life, "Every day was crowded with hard work; I had a strong constitution, but heavy burdens broke it down; I wanted to learn to read, but was forbidden; I wanted to be a man but was a chattel."

In middle life, he married; three of his children are dead, three living; two are free in Ohio, one a slave in Virginia. His wife was owned on a neighbouring plantation, where he visited her once a week, sometimes once a month. He was industrious and prudent, and contrived, by means of extra work, to accumulate after several years about four hundred dollars. This money, slowly earned was from time to time deposited in the hands of a white man in the neighbourhood, in whom many slaves had found a friend.

After twelve years of married life, his wife was on the point of being sold to a Georgia trader. The act was regarded as unwarrantable by some of the neighbours, who protested against such a sundering even of a slave's family. The owner, under pretext of humanely revoking his bargain, offered her sale to her husband for four hundred dollars. Of course, he little expected that a plantation slave was the possessor of so much money. Few persons knew that the negro had, at that moment, in a trusty man's hands, the needed sum to buy and save his wife. He accepted the offer on the spot, sent for his white friend, paid the money and received the bill of sale—to the great surprise of trader, owner and spectators!

But after the purchase, when the seller reflected that by having sold her to Georgia he could have realized a higher price, he attempted to annul the sale. On what pretext? The statutes of Virginia furnished a pretext! A plea was put in that a slave could not legally buy a slave; that property could not possess property; that a chattel could not own a chattel!

To avoid this difficulty, the black man deposited the bill of sale in the hands of the white man to "whom he had formerly trusted his money. It was held in this manner for eight years, after which the holder suddenly died. Almost at the same time, the slave, enfeebled in health and useless for work, was turned loose from the plantation, —like a worn-out horse into the common—with the free papers in his hands, commanding him to exile himself from the State of Virginia, and from his wife and children, within twelve months! The estate of the deceased man's estate meantime found among his documents the bill of sale. They immediately seized the paper, and with it attempted to seize the woman. The husband, being at this time free, was competent to try the case in the courts. The judge, who had long known the man and his wife from personal acquaintance declared in open court that he would sooner cut off his hand than award the woman to the estate. The trustees, finding that the decision would go against them, resorted to the petty dishonesty of applying personally to the husband with a proposition that he should pay three hundred dollars as a compromise to settle a suit which the court had already settled!—This sum, though it took the last cent out of his pocket, he blindly paid. He immediately took his wife and two of his daughters, from Virginia into Ohio. Another daughter, now a young woman of twenty years, was behind in bondage where she still remains.

The old man is now the owner of himself and of the largest part of his family. Kind friends may yet assist him in reclaiming the remaining child. He resides in a little house near one of our Western colleges, and earns a livelihood by cultivating a garden, and by sometimes driving a team in the service of the professors and students.

Such is the story of one slave's life for sixty years. But how many such unwritten histories will arise in judgment before God against a free nation in which sixteen States like the my-tic Babylon of the Revelation, are still making merchandise of slaves and souls of men.—Independent.

A NEGRO PREACHER.

A Washington correspondent of an eastern paper furnishes the following account of a sermon he heard preached there the last Sabbath in July:—

"We attended church, at 11 o'clock, A.M., with the colored people at Asbury Chapel. Rev. Mr. M'Gee is the preacher in charge, but he has also another preaching place, so they are left to pick-up preaching half the time. They say this congregation does not dwindle under this arrangement. We presume as much could not be said of a white congregation under the same circumstances. One of the colored elders of the church led in the pulpit exercises, and Mr. Collins, a young local or licensed preacher gave the sermon; text, Ex. xiv, 15: 'Speak unto the children of Israel that they go forward.' With but little critical knowledge of the meaning and grammatical arrangement of words, still the preacher showed a familiarity with Scripture facts and incidents that might well make some of our white grammar preachers blush! His descriptions were graphic and forcible; and if his eloquence was unrefined, it was also unframmelled, showing the grain and color of the granite, if not the polish of the sculptor. When he described Joseph sold, and carried away into Egypt, there were no tearless eyes there; and his portraying the cruelty of the task-masters, stirred the very souls of his hearers into groanings and sighs like those, 'Surely,' 'Too bad,' 'Shame.' Moses in the little ark, was brought so vividly before the mind, that at least a dozen mothers exclaimed, 'I'll save him,' 'Catch him,' 'Don't let him sink!' He closed his introduction by huddling the 'Hebrew captives together on the bank of the Red Sea. 'Now,' said he, 'what will you do? The dashing waves of the sea before—the impassable mountains on the side and on that side—and Pharoah's chariots and men of war pursuing with fury. Here there was a general outcry through the congregation, 'Go forward!' 'Go forward!' 'We'll go forward!' 'Stop! stop!' said the preacher. 'Stand still and see the salvation of the Lord first. If you go on in your own strength, you will perish in the sea. Do you see the rod in his hand? See that rod stretched out over the sea! See the waters go back! see the dry ground—see it! Do you see it? Right there under Moses' rod! Well, now come on!' said he. 'Hurry—don't wait—Pharoah is after you! Don't mind the waves on the side—God has piled them up!' Here followed the greatest excitement throughout the assembly with exclamations, 'Ooh! ooh!' 'Here we go!' 'Good!' 'All safe!' 'Yes, all safe,' cried the preacher—'but here; look back there. Do you see that old rebel—do you see him and his chariots and men of war? See them, plunging, and splashing, and drowning! Well, now mark, that's because God did not say to them, 'Go forward!' Learn from that, brethern, to follow Jesus, and not go in your own strength. When you see the rod, and hear Jesus say, 'Go forward,' then put to it for your lives, and you will soon be singing on the opposite bank.' He closed by saying, 'Brethern as this year closes, and you begin another, go forward. Don't stop, grumbling about the roughness of the way. Don't grumble at your minister. Don't grumble at the Lord, but keep low—see where the rod is stretched out, and go forward."

SLAVES IN LINE OF PROMOTION.

Considerable merriment was occasioned to-day by the passage through the streets of one hundred and twenty-two large baggage waggons, each drawn by four horses, and each driven by a negro. The negro drivers, three weeks ago, were all slaves; they are now in the service of the United States Government, and receive the same pay as "any other." I watched them closely, and saw among them some intelligent faces, although the majority looked stolid and stupid. Every one of them, however, understood his business, and drove his horses well and properly. In the respect they are really superior to many of the drivers that one sees every day here, who nearly kill the horses with ill-treatment. It is a common practice with the latter to lock one of their hinder wheels, and make the poor beasts draw the heavy waggons up hill and down all day, with the wheels locked.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

☞ An envious man regrets at his neighbour's life as much as if he supported him.

☞ The gun cannot be polished without friction, nor man perfected without adversity.

THE BIBLE BY ITSELF.

We make a choice extract from an address delivered by Mr. William Allen Butler, before the New York Bible Society:—

The Bible itself is a divine power. Even in this restless city, while I am speaking, in how many places is it present with the ministry of consolation; how many eyes, like the Psalmist's, will prevent the dawn in their study of these holy oracles, and when the day begins, in how many happy dwellings will they stand, like the shining angels of the Old Testament story, on the threshold of the daily life, shedding their benignant smile upon the whole households, as they gather about them, and hushing even the fresh morning laughter of the children into half-conscious devotion, while they nestle in those groups which paint upon the memory the fairest pictures of home; through the after hours in how many places will they be present as the silent monitors of duty; how many outstretched hands will be laid upon them in attestation of the truth; how many lips pressed to them in token of their awful sanctions. And when the night comes, beneath how many roofs will their evening benediction complete the circle which the morning began, surrounding the day with their halo, and fringing even the roughest edges of care and duty with their celestial light.

I AM.

I Am. He doth not say, I am their light, their guide, their strength, or lower, but only I am. He sets his hand as it were to a blank, that his people may write under it what they please that is good for them. As if he should say, are they weak, I am strong. Are they poor I am all riches. Are they in trouble, I am comfort. Are they sick, I am health. Are they dying, I am life.—Have they nothing, I am all things. I am wisdom and power. I am justice and mercy. I am grace and goodness. I am glory, beauty, holiness, perfection, all-suffering, eternity, Jehovah, I am. Whatever is amiable in itself, or desirable unto them, that I am. Whatever is pure and holy; whatever is great or pleasant; whatever is good or needful to make men happy that I am.—Bishop.

A MOTHER'S FAITH.

Among the other striking instances of God's care of His persecuted people, is recorded the case of Mrs Mason in Scotland. At the time we refer to her husband was hiding in the morass which spreads over a great part of Galloway. Thither he was driven by Claverhouse, and there he was hidden till peace gave a breathing time to God's servants.

When the Covenanters in that district determined to have divine service, and for this purpose the godly Mr. Benwich arranged to meet them in a lonely glen beyond the morass, Mrs. Mason decided to attend. Accordingly she took her infant babe, and shutting up her house, and committing her four eldest children to God, she set out on her perilous journey.

Returning from the meeting, a neighbor met her and told her her house was destroyed and all her children in it by fire. Looking calmly at the trembling messenger, she replied; "It is impossible; before I left home I gave my children to God, and I know they are safe." To all the assurances of her friend she steadily answered: "It is impossible." Hastening forward, she speedily found her faith confirmed, for her house and children were safe, and eagerly looking for her return. The flames which had alarmed the neighbour arose from a small cottage on the next farm. Turning to her friends, she said: "I told you God would keep them safe, and I was right."

This woman lived long after the darkness of persecution had passed away, and her children all died in a good old age, faithful servants of their pious mother's faithful God. Her Husband too came forth from his refuge, and bore witness for many days to the Master's truthfulness.—American Messenger.

SELF DEPENDENCE.

Many an unwise parent works hard and lives sparingly all his life, for the purpose of leaving enough to give his children a start in the world, as it is called. Setting a young man afloat with the money left him by his relatives, is like tying a life preserver under the arms of one who cannot swim; ten chances to one he will lose his preserver and go the bottom. Teach him to swim and he will not need the preserver. Give your child a sound education. See that his morals are pure, his mind cultivated, and his whole nature made subservient to the laws which govern man, and you will have given what will be of more value than the wealth of the Indies. You have given him a start in the world which no misfortune can deprive him of. The earlier you teach him to depend upon his own resources the better.

BE CONTENTED.

"Do you know what the people of Cape Ann do when it rains?" one asked of another. Upon confessing his ignorance, he was informed that they let it rain. This is true philosophy. It is best not to fret at evil which we cannot help, or even for those which we might help, for fretting does not better a thing any. We always admired the example of the venerable negro in the song "whose name was Uncle Ned." When his teeth failed him because of his declining years, and he could no longer eat the corn bread, he'd "let the corn bread be" with charming resignation. There is an old saying that "it is no use crying for spilled milk." Fretting shortens life and makes it miserable while it lasts, tiring sympathy and wearing out patience. Fretting wrinkles the skin like a baked apple and places personal beauty at a rak. The Sage of Thoroughfare was one hundred and ten years old when he died, and at that age his face was as fair as an infant's; when asked the reason his reply was: "I never allow my face to pucker with the wrinkles of fretfulness or ill-temper." The wise Paterfamilias, in the midst of his family discordant elements—his antagonistic children quarreling and making a particular hurricane about his house——never frets.—He looks upon them complacently, counsels the noisiest that will hear him, and makes up his mind that if they don't heed him they can let it alone.

SCOTTISH GIPSIES.

Kirk Yetholme is the metropolis of the Scottish gipsies. The king lives there, and in winter they all return to their houses around. The present king, Charles Blyth, is a very old man, clever and intelligent.—He succeeded through his wife, who was the daughter of the last king, Will Faa.—Faa has been the royal name among the gipsies for a long time. Faa, Blyth, Younger, Douglas, Gordon, and Baillie are among the principal names of the families; Mabel and Esther, among their most common first names. They travel far and wide—to Stranraer, and different places in that direction; and as far south as Derbyshire and Staffordshire. I have a great many words and sentences taught me by some of themselves, but they desired me that I should not tell them to other people, saying they would consider us "very dishonorable if we did so." They liked us and we liked them and we always encouraged them. I often go and pay the old king a visit at Yetholme. Some friends of mine told me that they had spoken to some gipsies in the Isle of Wight, who had showed themselves well acquainted with the Yetholme gipsies and their movements; and the same thing was the case with some English gipsies Lord John Scott spoke to at Epsom; they knew the names and circumstances of several of our Scottish gipsies of whom he spoke to them. I used to like to learn their songs from them, and I have several which are unlike the usual Scottish songs and ballads, both in expression and sentiment.

GOOD EXAMPLE FROM ROYALTY.

Umbrella borrowers are proverbial for their forgetfulness, and if we may believe the following story (which is copied from an English paper) the Prince of Wales has set an example which may be well imitated by thousands in the humbler walks:—The other day the Prince of Wales was taking a walk between Cambridge and Madingley when a shower of rain coming on, he solicited shelter in one of the cottages by the road side. As the rain showed no signs of leaving off, the Prince requested the loan of an umbrella, and the young lady, who, of course, was ignorant of the name and rank of her guest, at once conveyed the intelligence that she possessed two umbrellas, a silk one and a cotton one. The silk one she made it a rule never to lend; but if the gentleman would not mind the cotton one he was welcome to that. The Prince accepted the offer, and regardless of the "Sairey Camp" appearance of the shelter made his way to Madingley. In the afternoon the umbrella was sent back, with the intimation that "His Royal Highness" was much obliged for the favor, and requested the lender's acceptance of a gold medallion containing his royal mother's portrait."

A gentleman travelling in a one-horse trap chanced to stop at a small roadside inn, which rejoiced in the presence of a very intelligent ostler. Handing the reins to this worthy as he alighted, the traveller requested the man "to take his horse to the stable and bait him."

"Sure 'an I will, your honor," answered the Milesian, briskly, and away he went.

In about half-an-hour the gentleman, having refreshed himself sufficiently, naturally concluded that his four-footed servant was in equally good case, and accordingly ordered his trap to the door. The horse was panting and trembling.

"What's the matter with my horse?" asked the traveller. "What have you been doing to him?"

"Only what your honor ordered me."

"He don't look as if he has had anything to eat."

"Is it ait yer honor said?"

"To be sure."

"Sorra the word like it did yer honor say to me. More betoken, your honor tould me to wait the beast, and not to ait bin it!"

"Why, you stupid rascal what have you been doing?"

"Och, I just tied him up to the stable with a halter, then out with me stick and bate him till me arm was used up."

☞ Says the Hom Journal:—Strangers coming to Canada for the first time, from the States, are much struck by the graceful carriage, clear complexions, and tasteful attire of our ladies. A late letter from an American gentleman to a New York paper, says:

"I wish you could see for yourself, Mr. Editor, the display of loveliness any sunny afternoon. The Canadian ladies seldom over-dress. The little, round, gypsey-like hats they wear so jauntily upon their heads are interestingly becoming to young and pretty faces; and they walk with an easy statelieness it is hard to make those accustomed to the mincing, or languid gait, of our New York ladies, understand. Although in regularity of feature many of our American women are more beautiful, in freshness of complexion and a winning shyness, they cannot approach these fair daughters of Upper Canada: and I want to state, for the especial edification of the Albany girls, that females here, even of the humblest class, do not stare at gentlemen when on the street."

We do not want to make you vain, ladies, but we cannot help telling you what strangers say.

☞ "Compensation"—a very beautiful story—by the authoress of "The Old World and the New," is filed for insertion. We wish literary people were all getting "compensation" for their labor, and hope the day will soon come when the EXAMINER will be able to pursue a liberal policy, and that trained writers may earn at least as good wages as the vendors of patent razor strops.

FASHIONS FOR AUTUMN.

Taking a tour through the show rooms of the leading dressmakers of Paris, we perceive but little indication as yet of any particular novelty in style. We may notice en passant, the short paletots, made after the fashion of those worn by the Empress. They are of light cloth, or a material called curled plush. The paletot is double breasted, and, in shape, exactly resembles those worn by men. Sometimes a quilting waistcoat is added, so that the paletot may be thrown open in front. Muslin scarfs are trimmed with plisses a la vieille, or ruches of guipure. The lined muslin shawls are simply hemmed or tucked, and sometimes trimmed round with wide guipure. Some also have a ruche of black lace above the guipure, and the front also trimmed with ruche. For the seaside we would recommend the Arab burnous of white cachemere, striped with black, and edged with velvet. Black silk mantles are full made, and plaited at the back; these are worn principally by elder ladies; young ladies still prefer the casaque. Barege dresses are always much trimmed. Barege dresses are always much trimmed, so that the burnous is worn in preference with them, as it does not crumple the dress so much.

The Empress fichu is one of the novelties of the day; it is made of cachemere, edged with velvet and lace, reaching to the waist behind. The upper half forms a fanchion, and ties under the chin. This fichu seems likely to be even a greater favorite than the capulet of the Pyrenees.

Some very pretty barege dresses are trimmed with black braid, mixed with red or white. The braid is placed at the edge of the flounces or plisses but care must be taken that the color of the braid harmonizes well with that of the barege. Thus, a dress of white barege spotted with black; fine very narrow flounces at the bottom of the skirt; a heading over the top flounce; three rows of braid on each flounce, two of black, and one of red or white; or, a dress of drab barege chine with groseille. This dress was trimmed with bias folds of velvet, on which were rows of black and groseille braid; full body with band and buckle.

Light materials are the most worn; barege, mousseline de soie, grenadine, and muslins, are equally in favor. Some are made with one wide flounce, and a thick ruche of picked silk forming the heading; others, with narrow flounces or tucks, braided, or ruches of taffetas on the skirt.

Alpaca, linen, batiste, and spun silk, are the favorite dress for travelling. They are generally made either in the paletot form or the rotonde. The former are more neglige, the latter more elegant. The trimming is generally rich braiding in black braid, but some prefer a narrow flounce, with a heading at the bottom of the dress, carried up to the waist, gradually diminishing in width. Salmon-colored alpacas are also exceedingly elegant, trimmed with insertions of guipure.

Quilt dresses are worked in white or colors, a pattern above the hem, and carried up the middle of each breadth to the waist, gradually diminishing in width. Body nearly fitting up to the waist, open and rounded in front in such a manner as to show the plaited chemisette, over which is worn the Swiss ceinture, wide enough to form a corselet. This ceinture is made of quilting, embroidered to match the dress. The body, besides the embroidery all around, has wreaths up the back, reaching to the shoulders, and medallions in front; large open sleeves, with well-turned cuffs. This charming toilette, is completed with a large burnous, with a small cowl instead of a hood.

Foliage chevre dresses, embroidered in small colored flowers, are trimmed either with ruches or silk the same colour as the flower, or bands of silk edged with a plisse of the same material as the dress. Some, however, are trimmed with rows of velvet round the skirt, graduated in width, but this style is not in so much favor as the two former.

The Belgium straw bonnets, either in white or grey, are much worn. They are trimmed with flowers, mixed with black lace, or more simply with ribbon and lace; but a bonnet with a simple bow of ribbon is no longer the "mode." Ornaments of straw for bonnets are very pretty, either in plaits with tassels, buckles, buttons, or bunches of flowers, fastened with black velvet or narrow ribbons. These straw ornaments are also used on tulle and gauze dresses, producing a charming effect. We must also mention the ribbons for bonnets, caps, and sashes, with the ends embroidered with field flower, lilac, or periwinkle, &c., with long fringe. The ribbon is very wide; sometimes black, sometimes colored.

Chenille nets are the fashion, and worn in travelling or in the country. They are very convenient, as the hair is ready dressed so soon as the hat is discarded.

The dress caps are very pretty this season. Black which is becoming to the face when mixed with other colors, is the basis for all head-dresses. A plume of pheasant's feathers, and a plume of black feathers placed on a fichu of white blonde, is very novel and in good taste. The pheasant's feathers are placed upon one of the bandeaux, and the black feathers turn over the plait of hair behind.

One of the prettiest is of Italian straw; very forward on the forehead, and raised at the sides. One of the sides and the middle are entirely covered by the peacock's feathers. The throat of the peacock, of an azure blue, as well as the head, cover the whole of one side. The feathers are placed so as to form a point behind. A Chantilly veil of extreme fineness is sewed on the edge, and falls all round the hat.—Follet.

☞ At the Newcastle Bazaar a young gentleman lingered for some time at one of the stalls, which was attended by a very handsome young lady.

"The charge of your inspection of my wares," said the fair dealer, "is half a crown, sir."

"I was admiring you beauty ma'am, and not your goods," replied the gallant.

"That's five shillings," responded the lady with great readiness; and no demand, perhaps, was ever more cheerfully complied with.

PAINFUL CASE.

About two years ago, Bryan Solan, and Ellen, his wife, aged respectively 70 and 60 years, came to this city from near Dublin, Ireland. Several grown-up children had preceded them, and through their representations, backed by a natural desire to follow their offspring, the aged couple were induced to leave a comfortable home, and emigrate to America. At home the old gentleman served as steward on the estate of a wealthy man, enjoyed his master's confidence, and was, altogether, quite comfortably circumstanced. When he arrived in this city he had some money. He and his wife settled here, but could find nothing to do which would bring them an income. The end of the first year here found them with exhausted means, ill health and greatly increased infirmities. Since that time they have indeed drank freely of poverty, —drained it to its very dregs. The old woman has worked by day at washing, whenever she could find it to do and her scant earnings have been their sole subsistence, the children being so circumstanced that they could not help them. They occupied a dismal hut in the rear of No. 40, Kinsie Street—sad contrast to the "white-washed cottage with roof of thatch" they had left behind them in the mother country. They have lived there bereft of every comfort, and denied some of the commonest necessaries But little furniture, less food, apartments small and dingy, no ventilation, is it to be wondered at that the worthy old couple sighed for the days of auld lang syne, or that they sank down under the accumulation of their sufferings and sorrows? This morning both were found dead. They had died in their lonely cot, with no eye but that of the One ascent to mark their fleeting spirits. Bryan Solan lay in bed, cleanly washed and laid out, his gray locks parted smoothly, and his arms folded carefully—each and every act denoting the tender care and sad offices of the wife, who alone had closed his eyes, in "that sleep which knows no waking." Her lifeless body was found upon the stairs, in an attitude of peaceful and quiet repose. She had evidently taken the last farewell of her earliest and latest love, and had sat down quietly upon the stairs to die. It was well that those who had journeyed through life together, who had shared each others joys and woes, should not be parted in death.—When her long-life companion struck out for the other shore, and left her to her great solitary grief, her already over strained heart-strings burst, and her spirit accompanied his to the great unknown. Coroner James held an inquest this morning, and the jury returned a verdict that the twain came to their death through an accumulation of ills, old age, poverty, low spirits and home-sickness.—Chicago Tribune.

☞ The Earl of Dundonald presented, lately, a curious petition to the House of Lords. He prayed that his succession to the titles borne by his father might be admitted. No one seems to have raised a doubt upon the subject; but Mr. Fleming stated that the petitioner was the son of a marriage which took place between his parents in Scotland, where there was no registry of marriage. This being the only evidence, unless it was now received, there might be a difficulty hereafter in proving the marriage, if any question of its validity should arise. It was then decided that a commission should be appointed to take Lady Dundonald's evidence.

TAKING COLD.

A cold is not necessarily the result of high or low temperature. A person may go directly from a hot bath into a cold one, or into snow even, and not take cold. On the contrary, be may take cold by pouring a couple of tablespoonfuls of water upon some part of his dress, or by standing in a door, or before a stove, or sitting near a window or other opening, where one part of the body is colder than another. Let it be kept in mind that uniformity of temperature over the whole body is the first thing to be looked after. It is the unequal heat upon different parts of the body that produces colds, by disturbing the uniform circulation of the blood, which in turn induces congestion of some part. If you must keep a partially wet garment on, it would be as well, perhaps, to wet the whole of it uniformly. The feet are a great source of colds on account of the variable temperature they are subjected to. Keep these always dry and warm, and avoid draughts of air, hot or cold, wet spots on the garments, and other direct causes of unequal temperature, and keep the system braced up by plenty of sleep, and eschewing of debilitating foods and drinks, and you will be proof against a cold and its results.—Scientific American.

☞ Here is a very suggestive eight lines from Poor Robin's Almanac for 1734. It does not need comment:

Saint Agnes' Day comes by-and-bye,
When pretty maids do fast to try
Their sweethearts in their dreams to see,
Or know who shall their husbands be;
But some when married all is o'er,
And they desire to dream no more,
Or, if they must have these extremes,
Wish all their sufferings were but dreams.

☞ Punch is not silent concerning the American war. Politics are not forbidden to the Jester, and he laughs at cries of

THE TEACHING OF AMERICA.

From the Saturday Review, Sept. 14.

The American disruption will have important results upon many different interests of the family of mankind. It will alter the balance of power, the future of slavery, the course of trade, the tendency of emigration. But one of its most curious results, which it is already producing before our eyes, is the revolution which it must effect in political science. There is scarcely any one among us—tory, liberal, or radical—whom it has not startled, and some of whose political axioms it has not rudely shattered. Let any man carry his recollection back for 15 or 20 years, or even to the spring of 1860, and try to recall the views which he then took of the tendencies of popular government. There was not much difference of opinion as to the outline of the facts, though they were painted in different colors and called by different epithets. A tory would have told you that democratic governments were stingy and penny-wise in their public expenditure, that their liberty degenerated into license, and their souls were engrossed by the sordid thought of commerce, and that they were incapable of rising to the appreciation of national grandeur and military fame. A radical would have eulogized their value for peace, retrenchment, and reform, and their superiority to the bloody and costly prejudices of the past. Both would have agreed that they were essentially repugnant to large expenditure and to military armaments, and to any encroachment by the Government upon the citizen's perfect liberty. And these peculiarities they would have specially predicated of popular Governments sprung from the Anglo-Saxon stock. Of recent years, the course of events in France has infused doubts into many minds; but the eccentricities of the French character are so great that it has always been repudiated as a sample of the other races of the world.

All these political data must be rubbed out now. We have seen the most popular Government of the earth in one of those crisis which Governments are made to meet, and we have seen how she behaves in the storm. Her expenditure has become more reckless than that of Austria; and all the evil spirits which plunge nations into war, and disguise themselves under the tinsel of military fame, have gone into her, and possessed her even more completely than they possess France. But this is not the worst. One by one, all the outward signs which betray absolutism in the Old World are showing themselves in the administration. As soon as real danger touches her, the surface gloss of liberty fades off, and the latent image of despotism develops itself with startling distinctness. One coup d'etat following another—powers seized by the Executive which are unknown to the Constitution—local authorities swept away en masse because their proceedings were distasteful to the central Government—passports rigorously enacted—all securities for the liberty of the citizen utterly set aside—men imprisoned on suspicion—the letters seized and published—newspapers stopped, confiscated, overawed—these are the first results, when it is put to the test, of the vaunted freedom of the model republic. Surely we have heard this tale before. There is nothing novel in the melancholy catalogue.—Warsaw, Pesth, Paris, Naples could give a very similar list of measures to which their Executive had thought it necessary in moments of public disturbance to resort. Those measures have been freely and most justly branded as tyrannical. Our sympathy has been moved for the victims of them, and our foreign policy has been influenced by our hatred of their authors. And following the imperfect political philosophy of our time, we Englishmen have confidently imputed them to the lack of popular institutions, and have fancied that, under any form of popular government, they would have been impossible. But now it is clear that our political science must be revised. We cannot afford to make light of popular government, for we in England have tasted it, and know how potently it fosters every kind of progress. But it is evidently only one among many ingredients of that kind of government which brings the greatest happiness to the greatest number. A body of representatives sitting at the seat of Government, though elected by the freest and largest suffrage, are no more guarantees for the freedom of thought and person than Divan or a Council of State. Something else, which America does not possess is required to secure these blessings. We must recast our political classification. It is idle, after the experiences of this year, to range the absolute Governments on one side and the popular Government on the other. The race of political detenus and martyrs for opinion are now no special growth of a monarchial soil. New Silvio Pellicos, imprisoned by a republican President, in defiance of republican laws, and with the acquiescence of a free Assembly elected by universal suffrage, or accumulating a prisoner's experiences in Fort Lafayette. The post of the United States is as insecure as the post of France. The press of New England is gagged and fettered as heavily as the press of Paris, though by a coarser and more inhuman mechanism. The very telegraph offices—nay, even the pockets of private messengers—are illegally plundered for the purpose of furnishing the Government with pretexts for illegal imprisonments and confiscations.—Extension of popular power has been warranted elsewhere as a cure for all the maladies of the body politic; but the nostrum is inapplicable here, where the extension of popular power has gone so far that it can go no further. Clearly, the panacea has broken down. The philosopher's stone of our political alchemy has turned nothing but cinders out of the crucible. The weary search for a political idea must be commenced afresh.

In the reconstruction of political philosophy which the American calamities are likely to inaugurate, the value of the popular element will be reduced to its due proportions. Its presence in a Constitution will be counted as one, and only one, among many conditions of success. The true guarantee of freedom will be looked for more in the equilibrium of classes than in the equality of individuals. The "secessionists" who founded the American Constitution started from the assumption that all the political evils which afflict humanity come from the unchecked dominion of one man over other men. But they never carried their reasoning so far as to perceive the evils which flow from the unchecked dominion of one class over other classes. All their ingenuity was exhausted in devising securities against the independent usurpations of the President or the Congress. It never occurred to them to provide securities against his conspiring with the majority of the citizens to invade the rights of the minority. They lived in an age of philosophical dreaming, in which to suppose that the people could do wrong was treason against the perfectibility of man. We have shared something of the same dream in England. Fortunately, we were provided with a Constitution which had grown up under the care of many generations of statesmen whose experience of human life had kept them in a most cynical frame of mind. Under the shadow of the institutions they bequeathed, our dreaming has not been [illegible]. At least, we are thoroughly awakened now. Experience has gradually disabused us of many delusions respecting the results of political equality. We had most of us arrived at the conviction that financial probity, commercial freedom, and popular respect for law, were not amongst its most conspicuous results. We have now, by a rather more sudden process, discovered that personal liberty, private property, local franchise, the freedom of the press, and the supremacy of law over the Executive, are equally alien to its genius. We may hope, at last, the delusive confusion of freedom and democracy is finally banished from the minds of Englishmen. With the example of America before us, it will not be easy to forget that the tyranny of one, whether it be of an individual or a class, is always alike deadly to a nation's liberties and peace.

MUNICIPAL INDEBTEDNESS.

(From the British Herald, Toronto.)

The Leader seems obstinately bent on urging the extravagant scheme proposed for the release of Municipalities for all debts incurred for Railways or other public objects. It is impossible to say whether that journal is under Government dictation, feeling the public pulse, or whether there is any favorite Municipalities (Grey for instance) whose benefit it is seeking, under the shelter of a public measure.

We shall however be much astonished if the country at large responds to the call, and sanctions any such unnecessary and extravagant proceeding, and we cannot believe the Legislature, at least the Conservative portion of it, will support this or any Ministry, should they introduce it.

The case appears to be this;—a good many Municipalities borrowed largely from the Municipal Loan Fund, and they were granted some time ago a very considerable extent of relief by the Province assuming their debentures, giving in lieu Province debentures at par with 5 per cent. interest, making the Municipalities their Debtors, but exacting only a payment of 5 per cent. per annum towards interest and a Sinking Fund—not, however, extinguishing any interest or principal that this payment did not meet, but leaving those bodies to levy voluntarily such rates for the purpose as they might think fit. It seems they now make the exorbitant demand of being relieved altogether from principal and interest, on the sole tangible ground of their supposed inability to pay. It is true that another ground is advanced, viz: that the Government and Legislature are to blame for putting it in their power to run into debt; such a reason advanced by a private person in a private case would be dishonorable, nor can we conceive it to be less so in the case of a Municipality—unless they could also shew that they were induced, against their will and better judgment, to enter into these obligations,—which of course cannot be done.—If then, they wish to succeed, they had better confine themselves simply to the ground of Bankruptcy, and it will remain for the Legislature to enquire searchingly how far this position can be maintained;—we believe it to be true of many of these Bodies that they have wilfully abstained from attempting to levy any rate, even the 5 per cent, and to be equally untrue that that, or at least some, rate in aid, could not be levied. A Bankrupt cannot claim to be discharged unless he shews that he cannot pay his debts, and, if he gets his discharge, it is on terms of giving a full statement of assets and liabilities and relinquishing to his creditors what he can, and he then gets a release from the balance; such is all any Municipality can ask, and all the country will grant;—a rate of 2s 6d in the £ is not excessive, at least in good time,—let this or some other amount be taken as the maximum—let their ordinary expenses be cut down to a minimum—and the surplus to be levied applied towards defraying the Government debt for (say) 20 years, or such other period as may be thought reasonable, and the rest of the debts be forgiven—and this not on any ground of claim, but as of grace and for the general benefit of the country; to such a moderate measure of relief, urged on such grounds, in all probability solvent municipalities would not object, but the sweeping measure proposed urged as it is, can never be assented to;—it would be holding out a premium to extravagance, and be most unjust to the solvent bodies.

We believed and hope the distress in some or all of the indebted Municipalities is only temporary and the result of the general depression of monetary affairs, and that, if not now, at least in a short time, these bodies will be able to raise such a tax as we suggest; and that to leave them still subject to some of the evil results of their extravagance would be better towards encouraging future enterprize and exertion than relieving them altogether. The latter step would be certainly unjust to the other U. C. Municipalities, and might also be considered so towards Lower Canada, who demands no such relief, or only to a limited extent.

It is also sought to include in this measure bodies who did not participate in the M. L. Funds, but whose indebtedness arose in the same way as those who did. We can see no reason on equitable or moral ground why these latter should not participate in any relief to be granted to the others.

DEATH OF ALEXANDER MACPHERSON, ESQ.

It is our painful duty this week to announce the death of Alexander Macpherson Esq., late Postmaster of Whitby, which took place at his residence last Saturday (Sept. 29th,) morning. He was unwell several days previous to his demise, but it was not supposed he was so near his end. Mr. Macpherson was born in Tain, Rossshire, Scotland, in 1803. He left his native land in his 18th year, and went to British Guianna, South America. Some fourteen years subsequently he came to Canada, and settled in Whitby, when that township was little else than a wilderness. About 1838 he married Miss Fanny More, whom we now leave with eight children to mourn his loss. At the time of the Canadian rebellion, Mr Hermans, then Postmaster left the country, and Mr. Macpherson being a person of approved loyalty, was appointed as his successor. He held this office up to the time of his death, about 23 years, and, so far as we know, gave very general satisfaction both to the government and the people in the discharge of his duties. Though a Conservative who had always adhered to his party whether in power or out, he nevertheless maintained the confidence and support, when seceded, of those who stood politically opposed to him. He was appointed by government at an early date issuer of marriage licences, and enjoyed the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel in the Canadian Militia for years before his death. As a father and a husband he was kind and indulgent; to the poor he was generously liberal, and as a man of business he sustained a character irreproachable of integrity. At the time of his death he was 57 years and 10 months old.—Whitby Press.

☞ Gen. Cass is reported to have said that the only way to end the war permanently and successfully, is to emancipate the slaves.

INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY CONVENTION.

[From the Quebec Mercury, Oct. 1.]

The following members of the governments of Canada, Nova Scotia, and New Brunswick, met in this City yesterday to consider the subject of the Inter-Colonial Railway from Halifax to Quebec:

Hon. Mr. Archibald, Attorney General, and Hon. J. McCully, Chief Commissioner of Railways, of Nova Scotia.

Hon. Mr. Tilley, Provincial Secretary; Hon. Mr. Smith, Attorney General; Hon. Mr. Mitchell, and Hon. Mr. Watters, members of the Executive Council of New Brunswick.

Hon. Mr. Cartier, Attorney General East; Hon. Mr. Macdonald, Attorney General West; Hon. Mr. Ross, President of the Executive Council; Hon. Mr. Galt, Minister of Finance; Hon. Mr. Vankoughnet, Minister of Crown Lands; Hon. Mr. Cauchon, Minister of Public Works of Canada.

There were also present, E. W. Watkins, Esq., from England, and P. E. Blackwell, Esq., represented the Grand Trunk Railway. Mr. Watkin has visited the Lower Provinces, and had an interview with the delegates at Fredericktон; he is acting in the interest of those British merchants and Bankers who have recently brought this question under the notice of the Imperial Parliament, and represents a capital of about twenty millions sterling.

It appears that the result of their deliberations is that the Governments of the 3 Provinces,—while leaving the choice of route to the Imperial Government,—have unanimously determined to recommend to their respective legislatures the renewal of the offer made in 1858, whereby Canada, New Brunswick, and Nova Scotia, granted to Her Majesty £60,000 per annum, and all the granted lands within ten miles on either side of the line, and a free right of way through all private property, providing Her Majesty's Government by themselves, or through the instrumentality of a private company, complete the Railway.

Her Majesty's Government are asked to give a sum of £60 000 per annum for the carriage of the mails, military stores, and troops, between Halifax and Quebec, and with that aid and the Provincial grant guaranteed for a series of years, by the Imperial Government the necessary capital is thought can be raised to complete the Railway.

Against the foregoing sum of £60,000, the Governments of Canada, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, estimate a saving to the Imperial Treasury of £70,000 per annum, exclusive of the great saving the Railway would effect in the Imprsial Military expenditure, which amounts at present to about £420,000 a year.

The length of line remaining to be constructed is 360 miles which can be equipped and completed, for £3,000,000 sterling.

By completing the construction of the Railway from Toronto to River du Loup, a direct Railway communication will be established through British territory between Halifax, Quebec, and Lake Huron, a distance of 1,400 miles, from whence it is intended to open a direct communication with British Columbia, Vancouver Island and the Pacific. There can be little doubt that the immediate completion of the line of Railway from Halifax to Quebec is essential to the preservation of the British empire in North America. In addition to its adding to the security and permanence of these British possessions by accelerating the communication with the mother-country, reviving that identity of interest with her which has been too long engrossed by the United States, the Railway would also effect a saving to the Imperial Treasury far exceeding any assistance that may be required for its completion.

CANADA RECONQUERED.

The European Times of Saturday, the 14th inst., has the following:—"A strange piece of information comes from Paris to the effect that a number of French Canadians have arrived here to claim the aid of of the Government in reheving the colony from its connection with the British Crown. Ever since the outbreak in Lower Canada, some two or three and twenty years ago, the French Canadians have excited little attention in England; it was believed they were contented, as their wrongs, if they had any to redress, were unnoticed and unknown and, accordingly, the presence of French Canadians in Paris on the errand indicated has excited no ordinary interest in quarters a little sensitive about such an event. Perhaps this uneasy feeling amongst the habitues may account for the military reinforcement which has already been sent to Lower Canada, and the other reinforcement not yet sent but been talked about. Now that this fact has transpired, we see a motive, of which we were previously ignorant, the Americans will see one also, which will relieve us from the imputation of disturbing them. It would have been better for the Government, when informed of this ridiculous plot, or whatever it may be called, to have published the affair to the world and abided by the word's verdict, which, in this case would have been unanimous and just." We should indeed like to learn who are the venturesome and dissatisfied individuals who have gone to "my uncle" on such a silly mission. We do not remember to have noticed in the list of passengers to Europe the name of the distinguished man who gave to the world his "Canada Reconquered by France," or we should have imagined that he was at the head of this "forlorn hope." The individuals, whoever they may be, we are satisfied do not represent the general feeling of their countrymen, who respect the Crown whose subjects they are, and under whose protection they live; and would never barter that protection or the liberty which they enjoy to place themselves under the sway of a despotic Government whose subjects enjoy liberty but in name. It is a pity these French Canadians—if they exist save in the imagination of the sensation correspondents of the London press—did not wait awhile in Canada. They might have stated their grievances to Prince Napoleon (Jerome) when he was here, and perhaps they might have been redressed on the spot. As to the story alleged being a reason for increasing the troops in Canada, we beg to assure the London press that, against traitors within, Canadians are well able to protect themselves. It is marauders from without we are anxious to guard against, and even they would have to come in immensely overwhelming number, or they would get well peppered and beaten.—Pilot.

EVILS OF WAR.

Wantonness and barbarity has been the rule among the New York Fire Zouaves almost since the death of Ellsworth, and others in the Northern army are coming under a similar reproach. The following is from the N. Y. Tribune:—

It is a shameful fact that, on Sunday afternoon, at least a score of houses in the neighborhood of Falls Church were wantonly destroyed by wandering misbelievers from our camps. The whole city was red and black by turns, with their flame and smoke. Many residences of sound Union citizens were murthered with the rest.—Through little by-lanes, the modesty of which should have made them sacred from intrusion, these fellows had passed levelling everything on their way. The officers made no effort, so far as we could see to check them, and the nearest approach to a remonstrance came from the lips of a gentleman in colonel's uniform who "mildly wondered what could be the object of setting fire to there buildings." Even under the very eyes and nose of authority, within twenty rods of the eartworks at Munson's Hill, the destruction was carried on, without any apparent objection.

☞ If your property is not Insured,

☞ call and have it it done by the un-

☞ dersigned who is agent for a number

☞ of the best British and Canadian

☞ Companies, whose business cards will

☞ be found in another part of this

☞ paper.

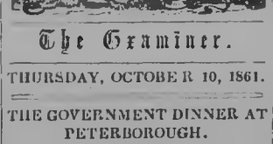
J. R. WALTON,

Insurance Agent.

Peterborough, Oct. 3rd, 1861.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Notice—T. Mills.
Wanted—W. Chaxton.
Pork! Pork!—R. Cochrane.
Beef! Beef!—R. Cochrane.
Dissolution of Partnership—Fitzgerald & Drennan.
Business Card—James W. Fitzgerald.
Scottish Provincial Assurance Company—Joseph R. Walton.
Canada West F. M. & S. Insurance Company—Joseph R. Walton.
Phœnix Insurance Company—J. R. Walton.
Provincial Insurance Company—Joseph R. Walton.
Reduced Rates for Assurance—Joseph R. Walton.



The Examiner.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1861.

THE GOVERNMENT DINNER AT PETERBOROUGH.

Our readers will be made aware by a reference to Council matters in another column, that the friends of the Government in Town are about giving the members of the Provincial Government a dinner. As it is supposed to be an affair of considerable importance a large assembly is contemplated, which will require the erection of a building for the purpose, and for which our City Fathers have given liberty. The object is said to be to celebrate the triumph of the return of the Hon. Sidney Smith, a member of that Government, for the Trent Division, as well as the redemption of the county of Peterboro' from Clear Gritism. Now we have no objection to the friends of the Ministry eating their dinner and glorifying their guests till they are tired, but we would advise them to have some more solid ground for rejoicing over the "redemption of the county" than that supplied from the return of the Postmaster General. A county is not easily turned round; we do not admit of the applicability of the term redemption which supposes a bringing back to a state it originally was, as the county of Peterboro' was never a Tory or Conservative one. It is now as it ever was thorough Reform, as we have heretofore shown, and the great body of the sturdy electors are not changed with the return of one man. The Review took especial pains to hold before the electors that the struggle going on was simply one between the adaptation of the two men for the situation. Yet no sooner is the election over than it says it is a Governmental triumph. If the electors who voted for Mr. Smith could be separately examined it would be found that more than double the number of his majority are against the Ministry, notwithstanding their votes. As is often the case individuals will prefer a resident, and a man whom they know to a non-resident and a stranger. We all remember how this feeling operated with the electors in this county five years ago when it gave the resident over 1,100 of a majority. And we say that a better proof of the soundness of the heart of this county, in opposition to the corrupt administration now in power, could not have been given than that furnished in the large vote it gave to a non-resident and a stranger. The Postmaster General with all his hangers-on, great and small, with the influence of his position, the large sums of money paid out in every imaginable way, and by exertions the most extraordinary, was only able to beat Billa Flint, Esq., 361 out of 2769 votes cast. Against such odds Mr. Flint may well feel proud of Peterborough, and his opponents must have a strange way of reckoning when they call a county of such stern and inflexible opposition to a corrupt administration based upon principle, Ministerial. We fear these boasters are jubilant too soon, it will not be long till another opportunity will occur to test the correctness of their brag, and we hope to have the pleasure to record what we now confidently believe that these gents. reckon beyond their host, that other things being equal an Opposition candidate will be returned triumphantly.

Mr. Smith may chuckle over his triumph, but let him bear in mind it was not achieved by the volition of the people. The influence of two honorables in the Eastern counties, and any number of dishonorables in the West, were actively engaged in every possible way to induce the electors to vote for him. They succeeded, and it is to such efforts that he owes his elevation. It may not be so again.

☞ The jury empanelled to try James Brown for the murder of Mr. John Sheridan Hogan, M. P., in Toronto, have found him guilty of the charge, and he has been sentenced to suffer the extreme penalty of the law on the 4th day of December next.

LOOKING TO FRANCE.

We have heard a great deal lately about "Looking to Washington," but we are relieved by a new turn in the tables, and the cry now is "Looking to France!" We will not follow the base example of the Ministerial press and accuse the whole opposite party of disloyaly, because a few persons of their number, or of a race of people who support their rule, have taken it into their heads, or their hearts either, to seek assistance from a foreign power, if that report be correct. We know that Mr. Cartier, the Premier, is a man of doubtful loyalty, and we know too that there are others near the Executive seat who should have no place there, but we will not, because of that fact, brand the whole French Canadian population as disloyal. The men whom the Ministerial minions have styled disloyal are the staunchest defenders of the British throne, and it ill becomes bireling fellows, like Sheppard of the Toronto Leader, an importation direct from Washington, to accuse the bone and sinew of Canada, the maintainers of British connection as "lookers to Washington." The gentleman who owns the Leader should see to it that the offensive writer in his employment be removed. We want no defenders of Slavery in this country; it has long been our boast that whenever the slave touches our shores, the shackles drop from his arms and he is free. God forbid that it should ever be otherwise with us, and the Canadian public should see it to be their duty in every legal way to discountenance any approach to a different state of things. Party feeling should be laid aside in a matter of this sort. We have looked on day after day at the workings of the pro-slavery movement here, and confess to feel alarmed at its progress. Advocated by a clever writer, through a paper of considerable influence—a paper too supposed to speak the sentiments of the Canadian Government—the minds of the people have become to an extent weaned from the truth of liberty and led away from the real issues at stake in the contest going on between the North and South. As our correspondent "A Briton" says, it is well enough to see the braggadocio of the Northern people checked, and their superfluous pride taken down, but we can have no interest in the success of the South. We have some interests in common with the North; we have none whatever with the South. But to return to the "looking to France" subject we copy the following from the London Press in confirmation of our statement that there is actually a delegation from Lower Canada in France asking the interference of the Government of that country in our affairs:—

"LOWER CANADIANS IN PARIS.—Last week we revealed to the English public the tenor of a secret agreement concluded between the Emperor of the French and the King of Sweden. One of the objects contemplated by the Emperor Napoleon in that arrangement is, in the event of a rupture with England, to obtain the co-operation of the Scandinavian powers. We are informed that an analagous motive inspires the mission of Prince Napoleon to the United States, where he endeavours to sow suspicion and create jealousy and animosity towards this country. Nor is the French population of Lower Canada forgotten in his mission. Despite the contradiction of the French press, we can affirm that the visit of French Canadians to Paris has not been devoid of a political motive; and unless such a step be found likely to excite the suspicion of the English Government, it is expected that Prince Napoleon will visit Lower Canada before returning to Europe."

TOWN COUNCIL.

MONDAY, Oct. 7, 1861.

The Council met.

A communication from Mr. D. G. Hatton in behalf of a Committee of Rate-payers asking leave of the Council to erect a temporary building on the Market Square for the purpose of giving a dinner to the Hon. Sidney Smith and other members of the Provincial Government, was received and laid on the table.

Several accounts were presented and referred to Finance Committee.

A communication from Mr. Jas. Edgar asking to be appointed Collector for the present year, was referred to the Committee on appointments to office.

The Mayor was instructed to grant the privilege for the erection of a temporary wooden building, to Mr. Smith's friends.

A motion was passed that the nightwatch be sworn in on duty by the Mayor immediately, their services to be continued as long as they may be required

The Mayor was instructed to give $4 from the Town funds to assist an indigent person named Andrews on his way to Hamilton.

The blank in the By-law appointing Collector was filled up by the name of William O'Donnell.

Moved by Mr. Toole, seconded by Mr. McDonald,—That the Chairman of the Committee on Streets and Bridges be instructed to notify all persons having streets enclosed or obstructed, or in any way rendering the same impassible, to remove the said obstructions before the 1st day of November next, and in case such persons refuse or neglect to do so, that said Chairman of Streets and Bridges Committee, shall have all such obstructions removed at the expense of said persons.—Carried.

The Finance Committee recommended the payment of several accounts.

The Council then adjourned.

At the meeting of the Council before last the Finance Committee reported in favor of striking the assessment rate for this year at 11 cents in the $, (2s. 2½d. in the £,) which was adopted.

☞ Some person through mistake or by malice removed a large bundle of wheat hand-bills from a waggon at Hoskins' Hotel on Monday. The bills were of no value whatever to any one but the owner. If they were removed by mistake we will consider it a great favor on the part of the person to return them to this office.

☞ Col. Rankin, M. P. P., whom we noticed in our last as being engaged in raising a regiment for the Federal army, was arrested in Toronto on Sunday afternoon, on a charge of breach of the Foreign Enlistment Act. The investigation before the Magistrates commenced on Tuesday, and will be resumed to day. It is creating great excitement in Toronto.

☞ Mr. McDonald, known as an active policeman of the late night watch, writes to us complaining of treatment he has received at the hands of certain parties connected with our local government. The letter is received too late for this issue, but will appear next week.

THE COUNTY FALL SHOW.

The attendance at the Show on Thursday last was unusually large, the very fine day enticing many out to the Exhibition.—On the whole the show was an average one; in some departments there was a falling off, others excelled those of former years.

The show of stock was good, especially of sheep and pigs. Brood mares and foals were not well represented in numbers; cattle were average, but not so numerous as at many former exhibitions.

The show of Agricultural implements was small. A farm waggon shown by the Messrs. Douglas was an admirable piece of workmanship; carriages and buggies from Messrs. Douglas, Hill and Metherall were shown. A horse-hoe by Mr. James Hamilton, and plows by Messrs. Whyte, Hamilton & Co. were among the best articles.

In vegetables the show surpassed former years; Mr. Giles made a good display.

Dairy and Farm produce were well represented. The wheat and oats of Mr. Tindale, and the barley of Mr. R. Tully were much admired. A lot of Indian corn shown by Mr. James Edwards was the finest we have seen grown in this country.

There was a table covered with very fine apples of different varieties.

In manufactures the furs of Mr. Lech were most noticeable; manufactured furs was an entirely new feature in our Show, and we hope to see the enterprise of Mr. Lech encouraged in a substantial form by the public. Messrs. Hopkins & Donnelly showed three good setts of harness, but there was no competition.

In the arts department there was a fair display; a few good paintings, and crayon and pencil drawings; two painted photographs by R. Thompson, were the centre of attraction.

The Ladies' fancy work we will not attempt to notice minutely; there was netted and knitted work, crotchet and braided work, tatted and chenielle work, and a thousand little things that ladies only can understand and appreciate;—suffice it, the show in this department was uncommonly good, and we are glad to see a growing interest in the Show, among the ladies.

Following is the prize list:

DOMESTIC MANUFACTURES.

Cloth—Nichol Walton, 1st Prize.
Woolen Plaid—Sam. Manning, 1st prize.
Woolen Blankets—Thos Green, 1st prize; R Tully, 2nd do.
Patch Work Quilt—Mrs George Johnston, 1st prize; Mary Ann Montgomery, 2nd do.
Stocking Yarn—Robert Tully, 1st prize; T Parrington, 2nd do.
Woolen Stockings—Jane Swinton, 1st prize; Mrs Robert Tully, 2nd do.
Socks—Jane Swinton, 1st prize; Mrs Robert Tully, 2nd do.
Mittens—Mrs Mathew Walton, 1st prize.
Set Farm Harness—Hopkins & Donnelly, 1st prize.
Double Carriage Harness—Hopkins & Donelly 1st prize.
Single Harness—Hopkins & Donelly, 1st prize.
Shoemaker's Work—Robert Patterson, 1st prize.
Lot Whip Lashes—R Walton, recommend by Judges for 1st prize.
Lot Tweeds—Thomas Green, recommended by Judges for 1st prize.
Lot Furs—W Lech, recommended by Judges for 1st prize.
Cake—D. Lemay, recommended.

LADY'S WORK, FINE ARTS, &c.

Painting in Oil—Miss Hall, 1st prize.
Painting in Water Colours—Miss E Hall, 1st prize; Mrs T B Clementi, 2nd do; Miss Rogers 3rd do.
Pencil Drawing—Miss Boswell, 2nd prize.
Crayon Drawing—Miss Boswell, 1st prize; Miss Carrol, 2nd do.
Stuffed Birds—Richard Cook, recommended for 1st prize.
Book Binding—T & R White, recommended for 1st prize.
Portichamanie—Mrs Kemp, recommended for 1st prize; Mrs Roach, 2nd do.
Plain Photograph, Coloured Photograph, and Ambrotypes—Robert Thompson, recommended for 1st prize.
Bronze Jar—Miss Hilton, recommended for 1st prize.
Worsted Work—Mrs E B Earls, 1st prize; Mrs Lewis Grant, 2nd do; Miss Mary Mitchell, 3rd do.
Raised Work—Miss Walsh, 1st prize; Miss Carrol, 2nd do.
Braided Work—Miss J Edwards, 1st prize; Miss Carnegie, 2nd do; Miss M Rogers, 3rd do.
Crochet—Miss Roche, 1st prize; Mrs Conway 2nd do; Miss J Edwards, 3rd do.
Fancy Netting—Miss A Rogers, 1st prize.
Fancy Knitting—Mrs Conway, 1st prize; Miss Crawford, 2nd do.
Muslin Work—Alice Boswell, 1st prize; Miss Milliken, 2nd do; Miss Ann Mitchell, 3rd do.
Plain Needle Work—Mrs Snyder, 1st prize; Mrs Carnegie, 2nd do; Alice Boswell, 3rd do.
Wax Work—Mrs Kempt, 1st prize; Miss E Dickson, 2nd do.
Hair Work—Miss Clark, 1st prize; Miss Bisbee 2nd do; Miss Carroll, 3rd do.
Cone Work—Miss Edwards, 1st prize; Miss Jane Edwards, 2nd do.
Bead Work—Mrs. Wm. Walton, 1st prize; Miss Bisbee, 2nd do.
Moss Work—Mrs Kempt, 1st prize.
Lace Work—Miss Mary Mitchell, 1st prize.
Chenecille Work—Miss Sweeting, 1st prize.
Tissue Work—Miss Jane Dickson, 1st prize; Miss Annie Walton, 2nd do.
Silk Patch Work—Alice Boswell, 1st prize; Lizzie Caddy, 2nd do
Tatting—Miss M Rogers, 1st prize; Miss A Boswell, 2nd do.
Coral Work—Miss Annie Walton, 1st prize.
Curiosity Bottle—Mrs Heiss, 1st prize.
Cotton Coverlid—Thos Yeoman, 1st prize.
Dentistry—J O'Donnell, Jr, 1st prize; David Pentland, 2nd do.

DAIRY AND FARM PRODUCE.

Butter—Nichol Walton, 1st prize; Jas Mann 2nd do; Isaac Garbutt, 3rd do.
Cheese—Samuel Manning, 1st prize; Lewis Davis, 2nd do; Isaac Garbutt, 3rd do.
Wheat, Fall—Thomas Tindle, 1st prize; John Sullivan, 2nd do; Robt Walton, 3rd do.
Wheat, Spring—John Sullivan, 1st prize.
Peas—William Graham, 1st prize.
Oats—Thomas Tindle, 1st prize.
Barley—Robert Tully, 1st prize; T Yeoman, 2nd do.
Corn—Jas Edwards, 1st prize.
Potatoes—Jas Edwards, 1st prize; W Tully, 2nd do.
Turnips—P Giles, 1st prize; John Walton 2nd do.
Carrots, Field—P Giles, 1st prize; J Walton 2nd do.
Maple Sugar—Jas Hope, 1st prize; Robert Brown, 2nd do.
Honey—Robert Walton, 1st prize.
Turnip Seed—Joseph Walton, 1st prize; M Walton 2nd do.

FRUIT AND GARDEN VEGETABLES.

Apples, Winter—Wm Tully, 1st prize; E Mann, 2nd do; Jas Fowler, 3rd do.
Apples, Table—Jas Fowler, 1st prize; John Robinson, 2nd do; John Walton, 3rd do.
Apples, Variety—E Mann, 1st prize; James Fowler, 2nd; John Robinson, 3rd do.
Beets—Thos Yeoman, 1st prize; Thos Yeoman, 2nd do.
Parsnips—P Giles, 1st prize.
Cabbage—P Giles, 1st prize; F Forsythe, 2nd do.
Celery—F Forsythe, 1st prize; P Giles, 2nd do.
Squash—P Giles, 1st prize; F Forsythe, 2nd do.
Onions—John Sullivan, 1st prize; P Giles 2nd do.
Pumpkins—Jas Edwards, 1st prize; P Giles 2nd do.
Variety of Garden Vegetables—P Giles, 1st prize; Thos Yeoman, 2nd do.
Red Ro—Recommended for prize—Georgiana McGowan.
Tailed Goose—Recommended for prize—W Helm.
Maple Syrup—Recommended for prize—Jas Hope.

HORSES

Brood Mare and Foal—Thos Hetherington, 1st prize; Sam Powell, 2nd do; Rob Tully, 3rd do.
Two year old Colt—John McKee, 1st prize; Edward Drake, 2nd do; Edward Drake, 3rd do.
One year old Colt—J H Campbell, 1st prize; John Archer, 2nd do; W H Moore, 3rd do.
Pair Farm Horses—Jas Fowler, 1st prize; A Hall, 2nd do; J Davidson, 3rd do.
Pair Carriage Horses—R Nichols, 1st prize; Joseph Walton, 2nd do; Robt Brown, 3rd do.
Single Horse in Jigger—R Martin, 1st prize; G Fitzgerald, 2nd do; Chas Stapleton, 3rd do.

FARM IMPLEMENTS.

Horse Hoe—James Hamilton, 1st prize.
Double Mould-board Plough—Jas Hamilton, 1st prize; Whyte & Hamilton, diploma.
Wooden Plough—Whyte & Hamilton, 1st prize; Whyte & Hamilton, diploma.
Pair of Harrows—Jas Hamilton, 1st prize.
Straw Cutter—Jas Hamilton, 1st prize.
Farm Waggon—J & T Douglas, 1st prize.
Two Horse Carriage, covered—J & T Douglass, 1st prize; E C Hill, diploma.
One horse Buggy, covered—T Bradburn, 1st prize; E C Hill, diploma.
One horse Buggy, open—E C Hill, 1st prize.

DURHAMS.

Cows—John Walton, 1s, 2nd and 3rd prizes
Heifer, 2 year old—John Walton, do.
Heifer, 1 year old—John Walton, 1st prize; Henry Collins, 2nd do; John Walton, 3rd do
Bull, aged—Henry Collins, 1st prize; J Swinton, 2nd do; L P Dindsdale, highly recommended
Bull, yearling—H Collins, 1st prize.

DEVONS.

Aged Bull—Robt Brown, 1st prize; J Brown, 2nd do.
Yearling Bull—Lewis Davis, 1st prize.
Two year old Heifer—Robt Brown, 1st prize.
One year old Heifer—Robt Brown, 1st and 2nd prizes.

GALLOWAY.

Bull, aged—Wm Kidd, 1st prize.
Yearling Bull—Robt Johnston, 1st prize.

AYRESHIRE.

Aged Bull—J Breckenridge, 1st prize.

SHEEP.

Aged Ram—Lewis Davis, 1st prize; Robert Brown, 2nd do.
Ram, shearling—Sorrel Scott, 1st prize; T Parrington, 2nd do.
Tup Lamb—R Brown, 1st prize; Aaron Mann 2nd do.
Ewe Lamb—L P Dindsdale, 1st prize; Wm Kidd, 2nd do.
Shearling Ewes—Matt Walton, 1st prize; L Davis, 2nd do.
Ewe Lambs—L P Dindsdale, 1st prize; Lewis Davis, 2nd do.

SWINE—LARGE BREED.

Brood Sow—Con McCauliff, 1st prize; Peter Dolphin, 2nd do.
Boar—John Sullivan, 1s prize; L P Dindsdale 2nd do.
Sow, not older than nine months—J Mann, 1st prize; John Kennedy, 2nd do.
Boar, not older than nine months—Jas Mann 1st prize; Henry Collins, 2nd do.

SWINE—SMALL BREED.

Brood Sow—J Hopkins, 1st prize; Robert Tully, 2nd do.
Boar—H Collins, 1st prize.
Sow, not older than nine months—Lewis McGregor, 1st prize; W H Moore, 2nd do.

POULTRY.

Geese—Thos Parrington, 1st prize; Matthew Walton, 2nd do.
Turkeys—John Tulley, 1st prize; Matthew Walton, 2nd do.
Ducks—Thos Parrington, 1st prize; Mathew Walton, 2nd do.
Large Fowls—F Forsythe, 1st prize; Thos Yeomans, 2nd do.
Common Fowl—Thos Yeoman, 1st prize; Pat Walton, 2nd do.
Fancy Fowls—Jas Edwards, 1s prize; Geo H Hughes, 2nd do.

☞ We are requested to give notice that the Rev. J. Douglas, of Peterboro, will lecture in the Town Hall, Monaghan, under the auspices of the Intellectual Improvement Society, on Wednesday evening, the 16th inst., at 6½ o'clock. Subject—"Stimulants to Learning."

THE BOBCAYGEON ROAD.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

MR. EDITOR,—I arose at 3 o'clock on Monday morning, 16th ult., and got under way at ¼ past 4 o'clock, with Mr. Hopkins, a staunch Orange supporter, and drove to Oneinee—13 miles—a neat little village in the County of Victoria, where we got breakfast at the Temperance House, kept by Mr. Hartley, with whom and his gude wife I had formerly been acquainted before I left Brockville in 1829. After partaking of a plentiful repast, we were joined by Colonel Haultain, M. P. for Peterboro, a Mr. Leary and another gentleman whose name I do not remember. Our next drive was 22 miles to Bobcaygeon Village, (an Indian name for shallow water) arriving at noon. This village has mills, and a lock; the steamer passing through Mud Lake and Pigeon Creek, passes the rapids here into another Lake above, and thence on to the Town of Lindsay.

The Village is situated on limestone rock, and I saw no signs of vegetation except what grew in the interstices of the rocks. Here commences the Bobcaygeon Road—the worst road I ever travelled over—a disgrace to any Government. Leaving the village we drove

To the Editor of the Examiner.

THE AMERICAN WAR.

MR. EDITOR,—Can nothing be done to persuade men to listen to reason, but they must first go to war and let blood? This war in the States, for example, what is it all about? The election of a President? The liberation of the Slaves? The equalization of Taxes? Can these question not be settled by a calm discussion? As to the President, I see no cause why the South should break up the Union. A second President will only increase their expenditure, both civil and military—and that is a loss to both North and South, which no division of interests can compensate. The liberation of the Slaves must be desired by every Freeman; but no one would propose to force another State to do so, because it would not accomplish any good object, and only increase the evil it is designed to remedy. If persuasion, and reason, and religion, will not accomplish this, force cannot. At the same time, no freeman can restore a fugitive slave without becoming a slave-holder; and in so far every honest freeman is bound to keep his hands free of the crime of man-stealing. The North have not done this yet; they will be forced to it by this war. The equalization of Taxes is surely a duty to every American who wrested his land from the Crown of Britain, on the very ground that a foreign State should not levy taxes on them without fair representation. The South cannot be fairly represented, because a preponderance of votes are in the North, and these tax the South for their own advantage. The interests of the South are thus far opposed to those of the North, and justify no alteration in the system of laying on taxes—by each separate State for its own interests.

Upon the whole, therefore, I think both parties are committing a blunder which they will certainly come to see before the war is over. In regard to the war itself, I am persuaded that situated as the parties are, there can be no conquest, and there need be no submission; the country is too large, and too thinly inhabited, and thus the hunt after each other must fail, since both parties have plenty of room and plenty to live on. And when the parties are tired of it, they will have to return home as wise as ever, bleeding and torn. Now I think I speak the universal feeling of the British people in saying we have no pleasure in seeing the United States torn in pieces.—Many will think their boasting well deserved this humiliation, and hope it will teach them a useful lesson to walk humbly before God, and cultivate peace with all nations. But I do not think any one wishes to see them punished unnecessarily, and therefore desire them to come to reason and peace. A prolongation of the war only renders this more difficult, and may perpetuate a feud for centuries. Britain and France have been talked of as about to interfere hostilely. Now in my mind there is no doubt they could desolate the country from end to end, much more easily now than during the Colonial wars. But I think a friendly intervention would serve their interests better, and if not they should carry on their trade with force so far as the parties severally agree to trade, and let them fight on till they are ruined, and then perhaps they will hear reason.

I remain,
Mr. Editor,
Yours truly,
A BRITON.

Peterboro, C. W., October 9, 1861.

ASPHODEL FALL SHOW.

LIST OF PRIZES.

Horses.

Best Stud Horse—P Fitzpatrick, first prize; John Vosburg, 2nd do.

Team Horses—1st prize; A Calder, 2, P M Grover, 3rd do. L Lewis, Mare and Foal—J Clysdale, 1st prize; D Buck, 2nd do; P Fitzpatrick, 3rd do.

Two Year Old Filley—D Buck, first prize; P Fitzpatrick, 2nd do.

Yearling Colt—A Easton, 1st prize; J Calder, 2nd do; J Greenbanks, 3rd do.

Cattle.

Aged Bull—L P Dinsdale, 1st prize; A Calder, 2nd do; P Cannon, 3rd do.

Year-old Bull—J Fife, 1st prize; Jas Clysdale 2nd do.

Bull Calf—J Clysdale, 1st prize; L P Dinsdale, 2nd do; M Burton, 3rd do.

Cow—J Clysdale, 1st prize; J Fife, 2nd do; L P Dinsdale, 3rd do.

Two Year Old Heifer—James Fife, 1st prize; J Clysdale, 2nd do; L P Dinsdale, 3rd do.

One Year Old Heifer—F Parker, first prize; J Fife, 2nd and 3rd do.

Working Oxen—L P Dinsdale, first prize; G Burton, 2nd do; J Breckenridge, 3rd do.

Steer—J Clysdale, first prize; L Lewis, 2nd do; A Calder, 3rd do.

Heifer Calf—J Parker, 1st prize; L P Dinsdale, 2nd and 3rd do.

Lot Cattle—L P Dinsdale, 1st prize; J Fife, 2nd do; L Lewis 3rd do.

Bull and three of his Stock—L P Dinsdale, 1st prize; A Calder, 2nd do; John Breckenridge, 3rd do.

Sheep and Pigs.

Aged Ram—1st, Jas Greenbanks; 2nd, A Calder.

Yearling Ram—1st and 2nd, John Breckenridge.

Ram Lamb—1st, L P Dinsdale; 2nd, and 3rd, do.

Ewe and Lamb—1st, L P Dinsdale; 2nd, L Lewis; 3rd, L P Dinsdale.

Aged Ram—1st, L Lewis; 2nd, L P Dinsdale.

Two Wet Sheep—1st, L P Dinsdale; 2nd, L Lewis; 3rd, L P Dinsdale.

Shearlings—1, L P Dinsdale, 2, L Lewis, 3-L P Dinsdale.

Ewe Lambs—1st and 2nd, L P Dinsdale.

Boar Pig—1st, L P Dinsdale; 2nd, Jas Clysdale; 3rd, Thos Howson.

Sow—1st, L P Dinsdale; 2nd, Mathew Burton; 3rd, do.

Farm and Dairy Produce.

Butter—1, L P Dinsdale; 2, James Greenbanks; 3, P Fitzpatrick.

Cheese—1 James Fife, 2 John Parker, 3 L P Dinsdale.

Fall Wheat—1 James Fife, 2 Thomas Hewson.

Spring Wheat—1 Oliver Bush, 2, Thos Bush, jr., 3, L P Dinsdale.

Peas—1 Philip Fitzpatrick, 2 L P Dinsdale, 3 James Clysdale.

Oats—1 L P Dinsdale, 2 Alex Esson

Barley—1 Jas. Greenbanks, 2 O Buck, 3 Alex Esson.

Corn—1 Wm Wigmore, 2 Jas Greenbanks, 3 John Parker.

Potatoes—1 Thomas Waters, 2 L P Dinsdale, 3 James Clysdale.

Sweed Turnips—1 A Esson, 2 Philip Fitzpatrick, 3 P M Grover.

Other kinds of Turnips—1 L P Dinsdale, 2 L P Dinsdale, 3 A Calder.

Field Carrots—1, T Hawthorne, 2 A Calder, 3 A Esson.

Garden Carrots—1 A Calder, 2 James Greenbanks, 3 Wm E Sergent.

Beets—1 T Hawthorne, 2 Jas Greenbanks, 3 Hartley Sargent.

Parsnips—1, George Greenbanks, 2 W E Sergent, 3 Dr Poole.

Cabbage—1 John Vosburg; 2 Dr Poole, 3 T Hawthorne.

Variety of Garden Vegetables—Wm Sargent.

Mangold Wurtzel—1 F Parker, 2 W E Sergent, 3 A Esson.

Timothy Seed—1 P Fitzpatrick.

Onions—1 A Esson.

Apples—1 A Esson.

Honey—L P Dinsdale.

Maple Sugar—1, John Parker; 2, A Esson.

Miscellaneous.

Hay Fork—W Nicol.

Manure Fork—1 John Vosburg, 2 Wm Nicol.

Horse Shoes—1 Wm Nicol, 2 do.

Woolen Cloth—P Fitzpatrick.

Woollen Flannel—Mrs. Canaon.

Woolen Coverlid—1, Mrs. Canaon, 2, do.

Patchwork Quilt—1 Mrs D Mullins, 2 do.

Woollen Yarn—1 T Hawthorne, 2 P Fitzpatrick.

Woollen Stockings—1 Mrs Grover, 2 A Esson.

Woollen Blankets—P Fitzpatrick.

Woollen Socks—1 Mrs Grover, 2 A Esson.

Woollen Mits—Mrs D Mullins.

Calf Boots—T Waters.

Kip Boots—1 Waters.

Worsted Work—Miss Greenbanks.

Raised Work—Miss Wigmore.

Crotchet Work—1 Mrs D Mullins, 2, do.

Fancy Knitting—1 Miss Wigmore, 2 Miss Greenbanks.

Leather Work Frames—A Parker.

Bureau—A Parker.

Table—A Parker.

Cutter—J Finlay.

Carriage—J Finlay.

Photograph—Mr. Barker, highly recommended.

News of the Week.

☞ Mrs. President Lincoln is studying the French language "with a view to qualify herself for the more delicate exigencies of her exalted station."

☞ It is stated by the North Briton that leading houses in Liverpool have purchased fifteen thousand bales of Surat Cotton for shipment to New York.

☞ A tunnel is in process of construction under the bed of the river Indus in India. It is to be 7,215 feet long and lighted by gas. The cost will not be less than $250,000.

☞ Mr. Russell, of the Times, is said to have an annual salary of $25,000, besides travelling expenses. The President of the United States has $25,000 a-year.

☞ It is said that "tens of thousands" visited the anchorage in Belfast Lough while the channel fleet was present there.

☞ Ex-Attorney-General Hogsett, of Newfoundland, was recently sentenced in that colony to pay a fine of £4 10s or undergo a month's imprisonment, for an assault on a Mr. McCoubrey.

☞ A letter from Naples states that handkerchiefs with Garibaldi's portrait were being sold there in thousands, to be used as flags on the anniversary of his entry into that city, on the 7th of September.

☞ Major General Scott has just entered his 76th year. He was born on the 13th of June, 1786, near Petersburg, Va. General John E. Wool was born in Newburg, N. Y., in 1789, and, consequently, is in his 72nd year.

☞ Not long since a slave ran away from Virginia, went to Canada and settled down; a few months after, his master broke down, cheated his creditors, escaped to Canada, and settled by the side of his former chattel. Their families borrow and lend now, upon terms of perfect equality.

☞ The New York treasonable Daily News died on Saturday last. The Tribune has come to the sage conclusion that Sunday editions and Sabbath breaking do not pay, and hence suspends its edition for Sunday, which was commenced on the breaking out of the war.

☞ During one day last week, on the arrival of the train at Galt station, a boy about 14 years of age was seen to emerge from below one of the cars. Enquiry led to the discovery that the daring young rascal had ridden all the way from Harrisburg on the break-rod of the car.

☞ A peace meeting in Maryland was recently the scene of a brutal conflict, owing to some insults offered to some soldiers who were present with Union flags. Two peace men were killed.

☞ Canada has had a visit from Hon. Mr. Burke, son of the Earl of Mayo and brother of Naas, who was Secretary for Ireland under Lord Derby. Mr. Burke is a Parliamentary Barrister, and autnor of the well known "Burke's practice of Parliament." It is said that he talks of Lord Monck, our Governor General, in the highest terms, as a man of excellent and most genial temper, with, at the same time, sufficient firmness of character.

☞ It has been stated publicly that the Government Emigrant Agent at Quebec has been bribed by the Grand Trunk Railway Company, of which the Hon. John Ross is President, to send as many as possible of the emigrants over the Grand Trunk line out of Canada, into the Western States, and that to do so the said Agent has represented the land in Canada as worthless. Are these things so?

☞ There is one thing very apparent made palpably so in election times, that the people are not above being corrupted, and until there is a higher toned morality in the people, we need not expect much virtue in our rulers. So long as public men find that they can escape from the punishment due their official burglaries, by scattering in the constituencies a few million dollars of the people's own monies, they will job on, and bribe on, till the candle so often lighted at both ends at last falls a prey to its own prodigality.—Statesman.

LOSS OF TIMBER ON LAKE ONTARIO.—On the 10th instant the steamers Highlander and Rescue left Port Dalhousie for Kingston with a large raft of Timber from the Upper Lakes for Quebec. A gale came on, and after considerable effort, the steamer succeeded in getting their tow into the harbour of Whitby, where they remained several days for repairs. They left again in time to be caught by the gale of Saturday last, and that time were not so fortunate. The cribs of timber were broken into pieces, and the steamers ran into Cobourg with barely nothing in tow. The timber drifted about the lake in all directions, and some were driven ashore along the coast of Canada. The Rescue has been out most of the time since the gale picking up timber, but up to Tuesday had got in but a small part of the whole quantity in the original raft. The steamboat captains report seeing the timber in all parts of the lake within forty miles of the place where the raft broke up. The loss to the owners will be very large, as would have been the profits had the tow been taken through safely.—Hamilton Advertiser.

A GALE.

The equinoctial gales this season have proved universally severe, and we regret to say, more than usually destructive. On Friday morning, the barometer began to fall, and in the afternoon it fell more suddenly, so that at 9 in the evening it stood at 29.309. Late in the evening a strong north-easter set in, and gradually increased to a strong, fitful gale. The damage to property in the city, with one exception was fortunately slight. At 5 on Saturday morning, the gale was at its highest, and beat with great force on the splendid range of stores now being built for the ladies of the Hotel Dieu, and with such effect as to blow down upwards of 30 feet by 40 of two of the brick partition walls in the centre of the building. In their fall the brickwork carried away the beams of the five floors and seriously damaged the brickwork in which they rested. The beams were unusually strong for such buildings; being 16, 17 and 19 inches, by 4, 5 and 6 inches.—The brick walls were also very solid—over 20 inches thick. The contractors estimate the damage at £600; this is not over estimated when we consider that over 200 beams are thus rendered worthless, and fully 600 feet of brickwork are destroyed. The bedeal of the French Church says that they were half-an-hour falling, and fell in portions at three distant intervals. The contractors for the brickwork (Messrs. Valin & Deguise) and carpentry will have to bear the expenses entailed by this destruction.—Montreal Gazette.

☞ Among the recent shipments from Boston, there were 383 barrels of shoe pegs for Liverpool. It has been stated that the shoe pegs were invented by Joseph Walker, of Hopkinton, Mass. Large quantities of such pegs are now sent to Germany, where they are much used in the manufacture of children's toys.

Peterboro' Markets.

Thursday, October 10th, 1861.

	$ c.		$ c.
Flour ₱ brl.	4 50	@	5 00
Wheat ₱ bush. fall	0 90	@	1 00
Spring Wheat ₱ bush	0 70	@	0 80
Barley ₱ bush	0 35	@	0 40
Oats ₱	0 20	@	0 22
Peas ₱	0 40	@	0 45
Potatoes (new)	0 25	@	0 25
Pork ₱ brl.	14 00	@	15 00
Beef ₱ cwt.	3 50	@	4 00
Butter ₱ lb.	0 10	@	0 12
Hay ₱ ton	7 00	@	8 00
Hydes ₱ cwt.	3 50	@	4 00

WM. CUMMING,
Market Clerk.

TORONTO MARKETS.

Wednesday, October 9th, 1861.

Fall Wheat $1, a $1 14c.
Spring Wheat 92 a 97c.
Barley 45c.
Oats 27c a 29c.
Peas 50c a 52c.
Potatoes, (new) 50c a 55c.

New Advertisements.

JAMES W. FITZGERALD,
(LATE FITZGERALD & DRENNAN.)
Provincial Land Surveyor.
OFFICE:—In Scott's Chambers, corner of George and Simcoe Streets.
Oct. 3, 1861. 41

NOTICE OF DISSOLUTION OF PARTNERSHIP.

MESSRS. FITZGERALD & DRENNAN have this day dissolved partnership by mutual consent. All debts due to the firm formerly existing will be paid to Mr. Fitzgerald, and all debts due by said firm will be paid by the same.
JAMES W. FITZGERALD.
WILLIAM DRENNAN.
Peterborough, Oct. 3, 1861. 41

PORK! PORK!

TO LUMBERMEN AND OTHERS!

200 BARRELS OF CHOICE
MESS PORK!
For Sale Low for Cash.
ROBERT COCHRANE.
Butcher at the Market.
Peterboro', Oct. 8, 1861. 41

BEEF! BEEF!!

250 BARRELS
MESS & PRIME MESS BEEF
For Sale Low for Cash by
ROBERT COCHRANE.
Butcher at the Market.
Peterborough, Oct. 8, 1861. 41

WANTED.

AT THE PORT HOPE RAILWAY STATION,
A LARGE QUANTITY OF
PEAS & BARLEY.
W. CLUXTON.

☞ A buyer constantly in attendance at the Store-house there.
Peterborough, Oct. 8, 1861. 41.

NOTICE.

PERSONS WHO HAVE LEFT WATCHES, Clocks, or Jewelry with the subscriber are requested to call and take them away on or before the 14th instant, otherwise they will be sold.
THOS. MILLS.
Peterborough, Oct. 8, 1861. 41

PROVINCIAL
INSURANCE CO',
OF CANADA.
FOR FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE.
ESTABLISHED 1849.
INCORPORATED BY ACT OF PARLIAMENT.
SUBSCRIBED CAPITAL, $1,986,080
Head Office - - - Toronto.

President:—Hon. John Hillyard Cameron.
Vice-President:—J. S. Howard, Esq.
DIRECTORS:
Hon. John Hillyard Cameron,
Hon. George Crawford,
Hon. Malcolm Cameron, M.P.P.,
John Cameron, Esq., M.P.P.,
A. M. Smith, Esq.,
George Duggan, Jr., Esq.,
J. S. Howard, Esq.,
Edward C. Jones, Esq.,
Angus Morrison, Esq., M.P.P.,
Lewis Moffatt, Esq.,
W. L. Perrin, Esq.,
Manager & Secretary:—James Sydney Crocker.
Assistant Secretary:—J. J. Woodhouse, Esq.,
Inspector of Agencies:—Wm. Eight, Esq.,
Solicitors:—Messrs Duggan & Burns.
Bankers:—The Bank of Toronto.

J. R. WALTON, Agent.
Peterborough.

☞ Fire and Marine Insurance business transacted by this Company at its various Agencies as well as at the Head Office, Toronto, at fair and average terms.
October, 1861. 41

THE PHŒNIX
INSURANCE CO'Y,
OF HARTFORD, CONN.
Capital - - - - - - $100,000.
CHARTER PERPETUAL.
JOSEPH R. WALTON,
Agent.
Peterboro', Oct. 8, 1861. 41

SCOTTISH PROVINCIAL
ASSURANCE COMPANY.
ESTABLISHED 1825.
CAPITAL - - - - $5,000,000.
Head Office—Aberdeen, SCOTLAND.

Canada, Head Office,—Place d'armes,
MONTREAL.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.
HUGH TAYLOR, Esq., Advocate.
R. D. COLLS, Esq., Merchant.
WM. EDMONSTONE, Esq., Merchant.
W. B. LAMBE, Esq., Advocate.
Legal Advisers:—Messrs. BETHUNE & DUNKIN.
Medical Adviser:—Wm. FRASER, M. D.
Secretary for Canada:—A. DAVIDSON PARKER

Office in Edinburg. ..... 65 Princes Street,
" Glasgow. ..... 111 St. Vincent St.
" London. ..... 30 Canon Street,
" Dublin ..... 34 College Green,
" Montreal ..... Place d'armes.
Medical References:—Dr. Hallowell, J. Brown.
J. R. WALTON.
Agent, Peterboro.
October, 1861. 41

Canada West Farmers' Mutual and Stock
INSURANCE CO'.
HEAD OFFICE—HAMILTON, C. W.

President—H. J. Lawry, Barton.
Vice-President—T. Stock, Waterdown.

HONORARY DIRECTORS.
Asa A. Burnham, Esq, Cobourg, County of Northumberland.
John Harvey, Esq, County of Peterborough.
John Gibb, Esq, County of Victoria.
RICHARD P. STREET,
Secretary & Treas.
JOSEPH R. WALTON,
Agent, Peterboro.
October, 1861. 41

REDUCED RATES
FOR
ASSURANCE.
Scottish Provincial
INSURANCE COMPANY.

THE FOLLOWING TABLE OF PREMIUMS has been framed, so as to reduce the cost of Life Assurance to the lowest point. It will be observed the Rates payable for the first Five Years are not much more than HALF the usual charge, while, for the remainder of life, they are still moderate.

To Assure £100 sterling, payable at Death, with profits after first five years:

Age.	First 5 Years.			Remainder of Life.
	£	s.	d.	£	s.	d.
20	0	18	11	2	0	11
25	1	1	9	2	7	2
30	1	5	2	2	14	7
35	1	9	3	3	3	1
40	1	14	5	3	13	10
45	2	0	6	4	4	3
50	2	9	8	5	1	4

Secretary for Canada:—A. Davidson Parker
JOSEPH R. WALTON,
Agent, Peterboro.
October, 1861. 41

FALL & WINTER GOODS!

THE subscriber is now receiving a very LARGE SUPPLY
OF
☞ Fall and Winter Goods.
THE STOCK OF
FANCY & MILLINERY GOODS
IS NOW
VERY COMPLETE.
Good Value for Ready Money, as usual. No Second Price!
W. CLUXTON.
Sept. 25, 1861. 39

THE LARGEST, CHEAPEST AND THE BEST PLACE TO PURCHASE
READY-MADE CLOTHING
IS AT
HAFFEY'S,
All the Clothing is made on the premises, and warranted!!
Peterborough, Sept. 26, 1861. 39

HOUSE AND LOT FOR SALE.

THE SUBSCRIBER OFFERS FOR SALE, Village lot No. 2, east of Stewart and north of Elizabeth Streets, containing half an acre of ground, which is unsurpassed for gardening purposes, in the Village of Ashburnham. A large two storied Dwelling House 20 x 30, with wood-shed and cellar under the whole of the premises. The lot is also well fenced.
Terms reasonable. Apply to
ALEX. GRAHAM.
Ashburnham, Sept. 25th, 1861. 39

Gutta-Percha Roofing.

No article ever before introduced to the public has equalled the LIQUID GUTTA-PERCHA for coating tin or other roofs, new or old. One gallon, costing $1.50, will thoroughly coat from 200 to 300 feet of roof, and this coating will render the roof perfectly waterproof, and will last three times as long as white lead or other paint. For covering roofs, either new or old we repeat, it has no equal for durability and cheapness, and we offer it to the public fully confident of its intrinsic excellence, and with our warrantee that it will do all we claim for it. Sold in barrels of forty gallons each, at a liberal discount to dealers. Address all orders to
READY ROOFING CO.,
23 Cedar Street, New York.
October 3rd, 1861. 40-1y.

DIRECT STEAM COMMUNICATION WITH GLASGOW.
Anchor line of Steam Packet Ships, sailing regularly between
MONTREAL, QUEBEC, AND GLASGOW.

Steerage 25 Dollars — Steerage 25 Dollars

Sizes.	Tons.	H. Power.	Com.
United Kingdom	1358	200	James Ray,
John Bell,	1102	350	Edward Scott

THE "UNITED KINGDOM"
will sail from Quebec for Glasgow on
TUESDAY, 15th Oct., 1861.
Rates of passage from Quebec to Glasgow:
SALOON CABIN $60 00
INTERMEDIATE 30 00
STEERAGE, (including an abundant supply of cooked provisions 25 00
Children in proportion.
Return Tickets at reduced rates. Berths not secured till paid for. Each ship carries a duly qualified surgeon.
For freight and passage apply to
G. & D. SHAW,
16 Common Street,
MONTREAL.
September 18th, 1861. 38

REMOVAL.

R. D. BASKERVILLE,
HAIR-DRESSER AND PERFUMER, HAS fitted up with taste and convenience at considerable expense, a Saloon on George St., 2 doors south of Lawson's Hotel, where he will be in attendance on the public, during all business hours. Having visited some of the largest American cities this summer, he is thoroughly acquainted with the
LATEST FASHIONABLE IMPROVEMENTS
in his profession, and flatters himself that he will not be found second to any in the Canadas.
☞ Positively no business on Sundays.
Peterboro, Sept 9, 1861. 37

Mathews' Chocolate Worm Drops

NEVER fail to destroy and exterminate all kinds of Intestinal Worms. Are perfectly reliable in all cases, and far superior to any and all of the Fancy Worm Confections, and nauseous Vermifuge in use. They may be taken at all times with perfect safety, as they contain no Mercury, or other deleterious Drug. Mothers should always purchase them and give their children no other.
(No Cathartic whatever, is necessary to be given.)
Each box contains 24 Drops or Lozenges.—Price 25 cts. For Sale by all Druggist and Dealers in Medicines.
A. I. MATHEWS, General Agent,
Buffalo, N. Y., and Fort Erie, C. W.

MATHEWS' VENETIAN LIQUID HAIR DYE.

THIS CELEBRATED DYE WAS FIRST prepared in 1845; since that time it has been used by thousands, and in no instance has it failed to give perfect satisfaction.

THE VENETIAN DYE.
is the cheapest in the world. Its price is only 50 cents, and each bottle contains double the quantity of dye contained in those usually sold for one dollar.

THE VENETIAN DYE
is the safest composition of its class. It is warranted not to injure the hair, or the scalp, in the slightest degree.

THE VENETIAN DYE
works with rapidity and certainty. It causes no annoyance or trouble to those who use it.

THE VENETIAN DYE
produces any shade that may be desired—one that will not fade, crock, nor wash out; one that is as permanent as the hair itself.

THE VENETIAN DYE
does not, in any manner, interfere with the natural softness of the hair; it neither scorches nor dries it.

THE VENETIAN DYE
is the best, cheapest safest, most convenient, most successful, and most permanent Dye ever used.

THE VENETIAN DYE
having gained an extended reputation, the public are cautioned against purchasing any prepared in the same style, under the same or different name, as they are mere imitations, and liable to do injury.
For sale by all agents. Prepared only by
A. I. MATHEWS.
Buffalo, N. Y., and Fort Erie, C W
Oct 3, 1861. 40

The Great French Remedy!

MADAM BOITIN'S CELEBRATED SILVER COATED
FEMALE PILLS.

THE ONLY CERTAIN AND SAFE REMEDY for all Uterine Obstructions, Monthly Difficulties, Irregularities, and diseases to which the Woman, Wife and Mother is peculiarly liable. These Pills contain no deleterious ingredients, but are safe and certain in their action.—They will be found to exert the happiest effect in all cases of Prolapsus Uteri, in Leucorrhea, or the Whites; they will be found the easiest and most certain cure that can be found. It is on account of this certainty they should not be taken by Married Ladies at certain periods, but at other times their use is perfectly safe.
N. B.—$1 enclosed to any authorised Agent will ensure a package of Pills by return mail.
H. Crosby, General Agent, Fort Erie, C. W.; Buffalo, N. Y.; Lyman, Elliot & Co, Wholesale Agents, Toronto.
Sept. 17, 1862. 39

TO THE RESCUE.

NO SECESSION!

No Surrender!

THE SUBSCRIBER WISHES TO INFORM his numerous friends and customers that he has received a large supply of Groceries, Wines, Brandies, Gin, Old Tom, Whiskies, Porter and Ale, Coal Oil, Burning Fluid, &c. He also wishes to advise that being a friend of all Reforms—just in principle—he has made one grand reform in Lakefield, viz: Selling Goods at Peterborough prices for cash or trade.
The Groceries on examination will be found to comprise the best quality and value the very best market can afford in all things requisite and useful for families.
The Liquors will also be found to be carefully selected, and of
FIRST-CLASS QUALITY!
The stock of Crockery, Earthenware, Tin-ware have also been renewed, and will be kept constantly supplied, to properly work out the only just principle of business,
Cash, or its equivalent.
The whole stock will be sold at so small an advance on cost as must ensure success, as no bad debts are to be provided for.
☞ Call and judge for yourselves, you will get the worth of your money and the right change back!
JAMES STEWART.
Lakefield, Sep. 16, 1861. 38

PUBLIC NOTICE

IS hereby given that the Township Council of Otonabee intend at their meeting to be held on the 21st Day of October next,
to pass a By-law to close up the Road established across Lot 15, in 5th Concession of Otonabee, on the 14th day of January, 1829.
GEO. READ,
Township Clerk.
Aug. 28, 1861.

FOR MONTREAL
CASH ONLY
CASH STORE,
ONE Price
Hunter Street, Peterboro.

JOHN CAMPBELL
WOULD take this opportunity of thanking the inhabitants of Peterboro' and surrounding country for past favors, and would beg to intimate that he has received a large addition to his stock, on such favorable terms as enable him to offer goods at such
LOW PRICES
as to convince every one who examines them
☞ That he cannot be beat in the Town.
The following comprise a few of the articles generally in stock:
West of England Broad Cloth Cassimeres, Tweeds, Sattinets, Drills, Denims, Stripped Cottons, Ginghams, Prints, Factory Cotton, Orleans, Coburgs, Red and White Flannels, Cotton Warp, &c.
READY-MADE CLOTHING,
Boots and Shoes, Silk and Felt Hats, &c.
TEAS, TOBACCOES, SUGARS,
Soap, Candles, Raisins Currants, Coffee, Rice, and other articles too numerous to mention.
☞ Remember the Spot: Next door to McKellar & Cameron's, Hunter Street.
Peterboro, Aug. 31, 1861. 34

GLASGOW HOUSE!

GREAT CLEARANCE SALE AT
WILLIAMSONS
CHEAP CASH STORE.
Nearly Opposite Menzies' Book Store,
GEORGE STREET.
TREMENDOUS BARGAINS
IN
DRY GOODS,
READY MADE CLOTHING, BOOTS AND SHOES, GROCERIES AND CONFECTIONERIES.

JOHN WILLIAMSON
IN returning his sincere thanks to to his numerous friends and the public generally for the liberal patronage he has received, takes this method of calling their attention to the balance of his stock saved from the late fire, through the exertions of his well wishers, and which he is determined to sell at a Great Sacrifice!
☞ Call and see, and be convinced.
Peterboro, Aug. 22nd, 1861. 35

NEW GOODS.

THE Subscriber offers for sale one of the nicest lots of Goods ever offered in Peterborough.
FAMILY GROCERIES,
Teas,
Sugars,
Coffee,
Tobacco
Spice of all kinds,
Herring,
Dry Fish,
Mackeral,
Salmon,
A NICE VARIETY OF
BOOTS AND SHOES,
and the nicest assortment of
CROCKERY
ever offered in Peterborough. All of which will be sold
Very Low for Cash!
G. W. ROBINSON.
Peterboro', Sept. 18, 1861. 38

WOOD TURNING
CHEAP FOR CASH.

THE undersigned wishes to inform his numerous friends and the public in general that he is now prepared to do any description of Wood Turning for
BUILDINGS OR FURNITURE.
Also, Ripping Lumber to any width or thickness; Furniture made to order, at the lowest Cash price. Zinc Wash-boards of the very best quality always on hand.
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.
☞ Shop in Ashburnham, under D. Dorsa's Woolen Factory.
W. F. MANLEY.
Ashburnham, Sept. 18, 1861. 38

SAVE YOUR FURS

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL!!

WM. LECH,
FURRIER, MONTREAL,
WILL OPEN HIS WAREROOMS in the above line about the end of June, in the premises now occupied by Mr. Temple on Brock's corner store, Scobie's Building, Peterboro'. Raw furs will be manufactured to order; also dressed and cleaned, and in Canada, will be offered for sale at prices much lower than ever known in this country before. Having a large assortment of the latest styles. The highest price will be paid for raw furs.
ONE OF THE LARGEST STOCKS IN THE FUR TRADE
May 8, 1861.

FOR SALE

SOUTH half of Lot No. 9, in the 2nd Con. of Smith, containing 100 acres. This Farm is beautifully situated about three miles from Peterborough; there are eighty acres cleared, and on the premises there are a good Stone House, three Barns and other Outhouses.
The north half of Lot No. 15, in the 7th Con., Smith. This Farm has eighty acres cleared, and is situated about seven miles from Peterborough.
For particulars apply to
JOSEPH KELSO,
or Bobcaygeon.
WM. TULLY, Jr.,
Monaghan.
September 18, 1861. 38

BOARD.

A LADY RESIDING IN A CENTRAL PART of the Town will be happy to receive a few respectable Gentlemen, as Boarders. Every attention will be paid to make them comfortable. Terms moderate. For particulars apply at this office.
Peterborough, September, 1861

OTONABEE MILLS.

THE SUBSCRIBER has pleasure in informing his friends and the public that his MILLS are again in operation, and that he will be glad to attend to the calls of all old and new customers. Particular attention will as formerly be paid to Gristing and Custom Work, and good fresh ground
FAMILY FLOUR
will be kept on hand for retailing, which will be delivered at any place in Peterborough or Ashburnham, pon orders being left, with the money, at the Mills, or at his Store.
P. D. ROGERS.
Ashburnham, Sept 12, 1861.

WANTED!
100,000 BUSHELS
OF WHEAT!
W. CLUXTON.

200 ACRES
OF LAND FOR SALE,
IN THE
VICINITY OF THE TOWN OF PETERBOROUGH.

THE Subscriber offers for sale, his Farm, being composed of Lot No. 26, in the 12th Concession of the Township of Otonabee, with a frontage of nearly a mile, along the main travelled road leading to Rice Lake, Keene, Allandale, Westwood, Norwood and Hastings, and bounded on the west by the Cobourg and Peterborough Railway.
There are about 100 Acres cleared and under cultivation; the land is well watered and well drained; there is a substantial board fence along the front and up the centre of the Lot, and a large Frame Barn and other buildings upon it. Also a
YOUNG ORCHARD.
THERE ARE SEVERAL BUILDING SITES!
suitable for respectable residences, in full view of the Town of Peterborough and the Village of Ashburnham.
A sufficient instalment will be required at the time of sale from purchasers taking the whole or large portions of the Lot, and the remainder as shall be agreed upon. A Deed will be given and a Mortgage taken.
If the above Lot, or any portion thereof, remain unsold
ON MONDAY, the 28th day of OCTOBER Next,
the subscriber will offer the same for sale on that day by
PUBLIC AUCTION,
on the premises, at 12 o'clock, noon, to the highest bidder,
IN LOTS OF TEN ACRES EACH,
or in larger portions to suit purchasers, in the following order:
The East half of the Lot will be sold first, beginning with Park Lot No. 1, at the north east corner, and taking the Lots in consecutive order to the centre of the Concession, after which the West half will be offered for sale, commencing at the eastern limit of the Cobourg and Peterborough Railway, and numbering the Lots as described in the Map, eastward to the centre of the Concession. A Plan of the Lots may be seen and and other information obtained on application at my office in the Court House.
WALTER SHERIDAN.
Peterborough, 10th Sept., 1861. 38

Lightning! Lightning!
PROTECTION TO LIFE AND PROPERTY.
300,000 Feet
OF THE NEW PATENT ENGLISH ELECTRO-GALVANIZED, ANNEALED AND CARBONIZED
LIGHTNING RODS
JUST ARRIVED FROM ENGLAND, WITH
SPRATTS' RENOWNED
PLATINA TIPPED POINT!!
AND ENLARGED
INSULATORS & ATTACHMENTS.

THIS ROD is prepared in England with especial reference to the great conducting powers; is highly approved and recommended by the best authorities. The still more conducting surface presented, and greatly increases its collecting power, completely obviating the great objections to the old rod. Spratt & Co's Platina Tipped Rod removed from the University Buildings, Toronto, and substituted this, on account of the perfect conducting power of the surface, and not being liable to rust. One great advantage gained by the fine conducting qualities of this rod, with Spratt's insulators from the fact that is constantly receives and silently conducts to the earth, the positive electricity of the surrounding atmosphere generated by an approaching thunder cloud, surcharged with this element of destruction and death, thereby drawing off, dissipating and lessening the mountain, raising the cloud of its constant accumulation, allowing to pass over our heads in safety, which might otherwise have been upon us full in fury. But it fails in this by reason of too great accumulation of electricity, and the discharge takes place, it conducts all safely to the ground, being a preventative in most cases and a cure in an emergency. We have erected them on the Crystal Palace, and Custom House, at Hamilton, as well as many of the best buildings in this city. By importing largely for cash, we are enabled to erect them as a trifling advance upon the Carbonized Rod. Common Iron Rods, such as are being offered by parties from the States we do not erect, as we consider them nearly useless. Good Rods, properly erected, protect 25 feet from the point.
$1,000 CHALLENGE!
to the world to produce as good a Rod, for the same price, as the Galvanized Rod, which we also now prepared to offer to the public through our authorized agents; allow no man to protect your buildings who has not our certificate of agency, with caution on the back against impositions. Orders sent to our address from the principal cities of C. W., will be attended to by O. R. Kendall in person, without extra charge. We submit two of our numerous references.
PIPER & KENDALL,
93 Young Street.

Toronto, Sept. 15, 1860.
I HEREBY CERTIFY THAT I HAVE SUPerintended the erection of Galvanized Iron Rods on the University Buildings, at Toronto, preferring the Galvanized Iron to ordinary Iron Rods, on account of the perfect conducting power of the surface, and from their not being liable to rust.
The advantage resulting from these qualities is more than commensurate with the increased cost.
(Signed) HENRY CROFT, D.C.L.
Prof. of Chemistry.
PETERBORO', July 29th, 1861.
The agents for the firm of Piper & Kendall, Toronto, have put up for me two of their Galvanized Lightning Rods, so highly recommended by Professor Croft. I consider them capable in all others. The improved Attachments and Insulators, with Spratt's Platina Tipped Points, must give them great additional security.
J. BROWNE, M. D.
I entirely concur in Dr. Browne's observations,—Also have both the two of the same Rods for my two cottages on Brock Street.
A. NIBLOCK.
Toronto, June 29th, 1861. 31-3m.

WAR WITH CANADA!

FOR SALE.

THE east half of lot No. 4, north side of Elizabeth Street, in Ashburnham. There is a Good Frame House, with good cell

Agricultural.

FRUIT GROWING IN CANADA WEST.

The climate and soil of our country affords ample facilities for the cultivation of fruit. A rich treasure lies within reach of all who seek for it in earnest, in the profusion of delicious varieties which successive months may be made to supply; yet a very small portion of our inhabitants have availed themselves of these advantages. The rapid increase of fruit culture in the Eastern and Western States during the last few years has but thinly spread its bounties over our thickly populated Western Canada; even the existence of the most of the finer varieties are but partially known. In traversing the country, neat cottages and comfortable farm houses are every where surrounded with all the signs of an abundant harvest, yet no loaded orchards are discovered. How many of the prosperous owners of these farms are aware of the rare delicacies their fertile lands are capable of producing? How many of them, for instance are familiar with that perfumed golden midsummer fruit, the apricot? How few know that plums, rich, juicy, and bloomdusted may be had from the tree from early wheat harvest till the ground freezes in autumn?—Who among them partake of twenty melting pears, out of the thousand varieties that have here fruit in the neighboring States? Who practically knows, in fact, what a whole yearly circle of fruits is within its reach, beginning with the most refreshing strawberries, raspberries and cherries for early summer; then richest plums, apricots and nectarines for summer and autumn, and closing with high flavored pears and apples, extending their season of ripening through the entire autumn and winter and even far into the succeeding year? Happily, the number of cultivators is rapidly increasing, who may place upon their table many delicious sorts, on almost any day all the year round.

The cultivation of fruits has been retarded by a mistaken estimate of the time required for the young trees to come into bearing; but this error is fast disappearing before skilful culture. It is becoming well known that he who plants trees plants for himself as well as for his children. Bad treatment may long hinder the growth and bearing of a tree. Enveloped in weeds and grass what young plant could flourish?—What farmer would expect to raise good corn amid the thick and the tall grass of a meadow? No wonder, then, that a young tree, similarly treated, lingers in feebleness, barrenness and disease. But give it for a few years a mellow, clean and fertile soil, and vigorous shoots, and expanded branches will soon bend down under copious loads of fruit. This have been fully tested by myself, even beyond my most sanguine expectations. In 1854 I transplanted seven standard apple trees, which have fruited two successive years; at the same time I transplanted four pear trees which have borne for three seasons past; a number of standard apple trees, transplanted in the spring of 1856, are now sprinkled with the delicious fruit desired. None of these trees were over an inch in diameter when transplanted; nor was the treatment any better than that which every good farmer gives to his carrots and potatoes.—Wm. Bissel, in London News.

OIL EXPLOSION IN HARWICH.

Correspondence of the Chatham Argus.

Harwich, Sept. 6. 1861.

Permit me, through the columns of your paper, to make a statement of an explosion we had yesterday. While in the act of boring for oil, I, in company with Mr. Tomkins and Mr. Colby, who were assisting me, left off work on the evening of the 4th inst., in view of giving time for the pressure of gas to escape, and on the morning of the 5th, we re-commenced our work, and at 9 a. m. stopped for three and half hours, to give further time for escape to our troublesome visitor from beneath. We had got down near seventy feet, when we stopped. After noon we commenced work again. I was down on the second platform, and my assistants at the surface of the ground, and we had made but a few turns of the auger, when one of the most splendid and at the same time one of the most terrific explosions took place. The auger flew upwards with a velocity of, I would judge, six miles a minute, dashing everything including a very heavy windlass, out of the way. I had not time to leave, but quietly dodged in to one corner of the well, and having got a hold of a bar, which flew upwards in grand style, returning to give me its assistance in guarding off others, just giving me a finger wound, as much as to say, here I am. I took the hint, and placed it over me and lay still to consider what next. All this time a column of gas and sand of 6 feet diameter and one hundred and sixty feet in length, went most majestically upwards, dashing small stones to a height of at least two hundred feet. I had no guard for my upward story, and concluded it was time to leave. I got out with some difficulty and found my friends had left, supposing I was fairly done for, and the returning stone making it unsafe to come and see whether I had gone upwards or downwards. However, all came off right, and we looked on with mingled awe and delight. The steady howl, like the noise of a contained roar of a fifty-six pounder, went steadily on for twenty minutes, or perhaps more, throwing the sand from the bottom far up; and so great was the force that large quantities of sand were driven some seventy rods from the well, covering the under-brush leaves with dry fine sand. At last it sunk down to forty feet, when some twenty feet of water came in, showing good symptoms of oil, and continued dashing and plunging in the hole, making a noise like the working of a steamer in an angry sea. However, we propose to commence next week, in good hopes of finding oil, and possibly another grand explosion. I would say one word to my brother speculators: the immediate proximity to the sand was a hard reddish clay. This having been the second explosion we can fairly decide, and when this hand is tested, I may look out, for Cerberus will soon bark.

Further details of the disaster to the "GREAT EASTERN" indicate that the calamity entirely arose on the breaking of her rudder. The scene on the vessel was fearful in the extreme. Everything breakable on board was broken. She rolled so violently that her boats although placed 30 or 40 feet above water, were washed [illegible]. Twenty-five persons [illegible] fractures from concussion and cuts and bruises were innumerable. Hardly a vestige of the paddle-wheels remained. After three days of intense anxiety, a temporary steerage gear was constructed, and the vessel proceeded towards Queenstown. When the Persia, in answer to signals from the Great Eastern, approached the latter, the circumstances were such that the Great Eastern's engine could not be slackened and the Persia made off, probably under the impression that foul play was intended. At a meeting of the passengers, Captain Walker's exertions were warmly eulogised, but severe comments were passed upon the condition of the ship, the strength of her paddles, and the way in which she was ballasted. As soon as the rudder was sufficiently repaired the ship would proceed to Liverpool.

NOTICE.

THE Town Council of the Town of Peterborough having passed

A NEW MARKET BY-LAW,

the public are informed that

THE MARKET IS NOW FREE FROM TOLLS!

☞ No Fees are now charged but for Stands and Weighing. All Farm Produce and articles brought into the Town for sale are required to be brought to the Market place.

J. EDWARDS,
Town Clerk.

Peterborough, Sept., 1861. 6

THE HEROES OF PEACE, AND The Heroes of War!

E. ANTHONY, No. 501, New York, is now publishing, in addition to other portraits the celebrated collection known in Europe and America as Brady's National Photographic Portrait Gallery, in which is included Portraits of nearly all the prominent men of America, not excepting Jeff. Davis, Gen. Beauregard, Floyd, and a host of other Confederates. Price of Portraits $3.00 per dozen. Can be sent by mail.

SCENES OF THE WAR FOR THE UNION,

are published, card size, and in stereoscopic form. Also,—Stereoscopic Views of Scenes in Paris, London, and in other parts of England and France; in Scotland, Ireland, Wales, Holland, Switzerland, Spain, on the Rhine, Athens, Egypt, Turkey, the Holy Land, China, India Cuba, &c., &c., ad infinitum.

OUR INSTANTANEOUS STEREOSCOPIC VIEWS ARE THE GREATEST WONDER OF THE AGE.

These are taken in the fortieth part of a second, and the rushing of water, the moving of vehicles or the march of an army, does not in the slightest degree affect the taking of these views.—☞ They are sold for $3 00 per dozen.

We have also on hand and manufacture the largest assortment of Stereoscopes, Photographic Albums, and Photographic Materials in the United States, and perhaps in the world.

Catalogues, containing lists of all our Portraits, Views, Stereoscopic, &c., sent free by mail on receipt of a stamp.

E. ANTHONY, 501 Brodway,
near St. Nicholas Hotel, N. Y.

Sept., 1861. 36

EMPLOYMENT.

$40 A MONTH!

AGENTS WANTED!

WE want an active Agent in every County in the United States and Canada, to sell the Franklin Sewing Machine. To a limited number of travelling agents we will pay a salary of Forty Dollars a month and all expenses.

To local agents a commission of 20 per cent, in all sales.

Every machine is warranted to give universal satisfaction, and kept in repair six months—Recent improvements renders this machine the cheapest and most popular in the market. For full particulars and a permanent business, address, with stamp for return letter.

HARRIS BROTHERS,
Sole agents Franklin Sewing Machine Co.
Box 180 Boston, Mass.

July, 1863. 28

NO YANKEE HUMBUG!

PROSPECTUS

OF A NEW AND ACCURATE, ILLUSTRATED TOPOGRAPHICAL AND STATISTICAL

Map of Upper Canada,

TOGETHER WITH A DESCRIPTIVE MAP AND DIRECTORY OF THE TOWNSHIPS OF

N'H & S'H MONAGHAN & OTONABEE.

CONLIN, BONNEY & Co., of Toronto, propose to publish the above work, drawn on a large scale from the most recent and accurate surveys, exhibiting all Post Offices, Money Order Offices, and Telegraph Stations throughout the Province, corrected from the latest official authority; also, the various lines of Railway, Railway Stations, with the correct distance between each, Canals, Plank and Macadamised Roads, the Main Travelled Roads between Towns and Villages, the boundaries and numbers of each County and Township, the great Lakes, Rivers, and principal Mill Streams. Tables shewing the Variation of Time between each County Seat in Upper Canada (from the Magnetic Observatory, Toronto, the Population of each City, Town, County and Township will also be given, with other important and useful information carefully compiled from the Census Returns and per-ter. The Map will be illustrated with Views of the principal Public Build ings in the Province, executed in the best style of the art. There will also be given on the above Map an enlarged Plan, in the most minute detail, of the above Townships showing concessions, lots, and sub-divisions, with the names of the proprietors neatly engraved thereon; also, school Sections, Churches, School-houses, Mills, Manufactories, Stores, Inns, &c., together with unsurpassed gravel, plank and other Roads open to travel, the true course of rivers and mill streams; also, an enlarged Plans of Towns and Villages in the Townships.

The names of all Subscribers, resident owners of farms, will be engraved specially prominent on their respective lots, and the position of their residences indicated; also, the names of Subscribers in the Towns and Villages will be particularly attended to, with the view, principally, to secure such, thus constituting a complete Rural, Professional, and Mercantile Business Directory.

The publishers being practical engravers, draftsmen, &c., can confidently assure the public that the execution of the above work, in every department, will be superior to anything of the kind yet published in Canada. The plan of the Map will be about 48 by 72 inches; it will be handsomely coloured, varnished, and mounted on canvas, with rollers, and furnished to subscribers only; for the low price of Four dollars and a half ($4 50) payable on delivery.

Other Townships in the County will be commenced in due time.

☞ Our Agents exhibit a master specimen of the above work, with our name engraved thereon.

CAUTION.—This enterprise in no way connected with that projected by Messrs. Tremaine, of Jefferson County, State of New York.

New Establishment.

A choice assortment carefully selected by a gentleman of many years experience.

GROCERIES, WINES, &C.

with a large variety of

Fancy Goods

at very low prices.

Port Wine, (Per Gallon) at 7s 6d, 10s, 12s, 15s 3d. Sherry, do, 7s 6d, 10s, 12s. 15s. Finest old Pale Brandy, Brown, do. Fine Holland Gin do Wood, do. in Bond and Sparo Casks. Islay Scotch Whiskey (very old) do. in 1 doz. Cases. Teas, Sugars, Coffees, Fruits, Spices, Pickles & Sauces, Fish, Oils, Preserves, Mustard, Starch, Soap, Candles, Tobacco, Snuffs, Brooms, Glass, Crockery, and Wooden Ware &c.

JOHN McDONELL,

In the (now three front) premises, lately occupied by Jos. Stevenson, Esq.,
GEORGE ST., PETERBORO.

Jan. 3 1861.

WANTED IMMEDIATELY.

TWO OR THREE good farm hands for the harvest season or longer. Apply to
GEORGE ESSON,
21st lot, 4th Con., Otonabee.

July 17, 1861.

ROOM PAPER AND Paper Window Blinds.

THE subscriber begs leave to call the attention of the public to his stock of new Room Papers for 1861. ALSO, a large lot of Plain and Fancy Window Blinds. ALSO, all the papers for this week.

THOS MENZIES.

Peterboro, June, 1861.

ALE! ALE! ALE!

IN KEGS OR BOTTLES,

AT THE

Colliers under Robertsons Block

On Water Street.

PRIVATE FAMILIES SUPPLIED.

E. A. WHYTE.

Peterboro', Sept. 12, 1861.

GENERAL INSURANCE OFFICE.

W. CLUXTON, AGENT, PETERBORO'.

LIVERPOOL & LONDON
FIRE AND LIFE
Insurance Company.
CAPIT L.....£2,000,000STG.

BRITISH AMERICA
ASSURANCE COMP'Y
CAPITAL, $4,000,000.

WESTERN
INSURANCE COMPANY
CAPITAL, $2,000'000.

BRITANNIA LIFE
Assurance Company.
CAPITAL, £1,000,000, STERLING.

Peterborough, April 20th, 1859. 16

WESTERN
INSURANCE COMP'Y

CAPITAL £500,000

Head Office, Toronto,

FOR EVERY DESCRIPTION OF
FIRE & MARINE ASSURANCE
BUSINESS.

AGENT FOR PETERBORO',
W. CLUXTON.

Peterboro' Sept 14th, 1857.

THE CANADA LIFE
Assurance Company.

Captal, $1,000 000.

W. CLUXTON,
Agent.
THOS. HOLYWELL
Medical Referee.

Peterborough, 3st August, 1859. 31

THE LIVERPOOL LONDON
FIRE AND LIFE
ASSURANCE COMPANY.

CAPITAL.....£2,000,000 STG.

Empowered by Act of the Imperial Parliament

Responsibility of Stockholders unlimited.

Head Office for Canada, Montreal.

THE UNDERSIGNED CONTINUES to accept Risks in the above
First Class Company,
on almost every description of property, at as REASONABLE RATES as any other responsible office.

LOSSES PAID
without reference to the Old Country.

W. CLUXTON,
Agent for Peterboro'

Peterboro.' April 20th, 1859. 16.

F. G. CALLENDER,

RETURNS his grateful acknowledgments to the inhabitants of Peterboro' and vicinity, for their liberal support during the past fourteen years, and on account of his increase of business, and with a view to the better accommodation of hispatrons, will continue his visits the FIRST and THIRD MONDAYS, TUESDAYS & WEDNESDAYS in each month, INSTEAD OF ONLY THE FIRST MONDAYS, as formerly, prepared to perform all operations of the profession, with superior dexterity AND AS REASONABLE AS ANY EXPERIENCED DENTIST. His Teeth are his own selection, of the newest style, being made expressly for the Vulcanized base, now altogether used, being free from taste, much cheaper than Gold, and equal in neatness and durability, and much more agreeable in the mouth, being less weighty.

Rooms in Scott's Building, Market Block, Peterboro', and over the Post Office, Cobourg.

RELIEF IN TEN MINUTES.

BRYAN'S
PULMONIC WAFERS.

THE most certain and speedy remedy ever discovered for the relief of all diseases of the Chest and Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Consumption, Bronchitis. Influenza, Hoarseness, Difficult Breathing, Sore Throat, &c.

These Wafers give the most instantaneous and perfect relief, and when persevered with according to directions, never fail to effect a rapid and lasting cure. Thousands who have restored to perfect health, who have tried other means in vain. To all classes and all constitutions they are a blessing and a cure—none need despair, no matter how long the disease may have existed, or however severe it may be, provided the organic structure of the vital organ is not hopelessly decayed. Every one afflicted should give them an impartial trial.

TO VOCALISTS AND PUBLIC SPEAKERS these Wafers are peculiarly valuable; they will in one day remove the most severe occasional hoarseness; and their regular use for a few days will, at all times, increase the power and flexibility of the voice, greatly improving its tone, compass and clearness, for which purpose they are regularly used by many professional Vocalists.

JOB MOSES, Sole Proprietor, Rochester, N.Y.

Price 25 cents per box.

Vocalists and Public Speakers
Vocalists and Public Speakers
Vocalists and Public Speakers
Will find Bryan's Wafers
Will find Bryan's Wafers
Will find Bryan's Wafers

Invaluable to remove
Invaluable to remove
Invaluable to remove
Hoarseness and Sore Throat,
Hoarseness and Sore Throat,
Hoarseness and Sore Throat,

And gives clearness to the Voice.
And gives clearness to the Voice.
And gives clearness to the Voice.
They relieve in ten minutes,
They relieve in ten minutes,
They relieve in ten minutes.

Coughs, Colds, and all diseases
Coughs, Colds, and all diseases
Coughs, Colds, and all diseases
Of the Chest and Lungs.
Of the Chest and Lungs.
Of the Chest and Lungs.

Sold by all Druggists
Sold by all Druggists
Sold by all Druggists

At 25 cents a box.
At 25 cents a box.
At 25 cents a box.

SEVEN YEARS.

THE seven years of unrivalled success attending the

"COSMOPOLITAN ART ASSOCIATION,"

have made it a household word throughout every quarter of the Country.

Under the auspices of this popular institution over three hundred thousand homes have learned to appreciate—by beautiful works of art on their walls, and choice literature on their tables the great benefits derived from becoming a subscriber.

Subscriptions are now being received in a ratio unparalleled with that of any previous year

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

Any person can become a member by subscribing three dollars, for which sum they will receive

1st.—The large and superb steel engraving, 30x38 inches, entitled

"FALSTAFF MUSTERING HIS RECRUITS!"

2nd.—One copy, one year, of that elegantly illustrated magazine,

"The Cosmopolitan Art Journal,"

3rd.—Four admissions, during the season, to The Gallery of Paintings, 548 Broadway, N.Y.

In addition to the above benefits, there will be given to subscribers, as gratuitous premiums, over Five Hundred Beautiful Works of Art, comprising valuable paintings, marbles, parians, outlines, &c., forming a truly national benefit.

The superb Engraving, which every subscriber will receive, entitled "Falstaff Mustering his Recruits" is one of the most beautiful and popular engravings ever issued in this country. It is done on steel, in fine line and stipple, and is printed on heavy plate paper, 36 by 38 inches, making a most choice ornament, suitable for the walls of either the library, parlor or office. Its subject is the celebrated scene of Sir John Falstaff receiving in Justice Shallow's office, the recruits which have been gathered for his "ragged regiment." It could not be furnished by the trade for less than five dollars.

"THE ART JOURNAL"

is too well known to the whole country to need commendation. It is a magnificently illustrated magazine of Art, containing Essays, Stories, Poems, Gossip, &c., by the very best writers in America.

The Engraving is sent to any part of the country by mail, with safety, being packed in a cylinder, postage pre-paid.

Subscriptions will be received until the Evening of the 31st of January, 1861, at which time the books will close and the premiums be given to subscribers.

No person is restricted to a single subscriptions. Those remitting $15, are entitled to five memberships and to one extra Engraving for their trouble.

Subscriptions from California, the Canadas, and all Foreign Countries, must be $3 50 instead of $3, in order to defray extra postage, etc.

For further particulars send for a copy of the elegantly illustrated Art Journal, pronounced the handsomest magazine in America. It contains Catalogue of Premiums, and numerous superb engravings. Regular price 50 cents per number. Specimen copies, however, will be sent to those wishing to subscribe, in receipt of 18 cts, in stamps or coin.

Address,

C. L. DERBY, Actuary C.A.A.
546 Broadway, N. Y.

N. B.—Subscriptions received by R. S. Patterson, Hon'y Secretary for United Counties of Peterboro' & Victoria, where specimen Engravings and Art Journal can be seen.

No. 5, Market Block, Peterboro', Dec. 11.

The Great English Remedy!

SIR JAMES CLARKE'S
Celebrated Female Pills!

Prepared from a Prescription of Sir J. Clarke, M. D., Physician Extraordinary to the Queen.

THIS well known Medicine is no imposition, but a sure and safe remedy for Female Difficulties and Obstructions, from any cause whatever; and although a powerful remedy, it contains nothing hurtful to the constitution. To married ladies it is peculiarly suited. It will, in a short time, bring on the monthly period with regularity.

In all cases of Nervous and Spinal Affections, pain in the back and limbs, Heaviness, Fatigue on Slight Exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Lowness of Spirits, Hysterics, Sick Headache, Whites, and all the painful diseases occasioned by a disordered system, these Pills will effect a cure where all other means have failed.

☞ These Pills have never been known fail where the directions on the 2nd page the pamphlet are well observed.

For full particulars, get a pamphlet free o the agent.

N. B.—$1 and six postage stamps enclosed to any authorized agent, will ensure a bottle containing over 50 pills, by return mail.

Sir James Clarke's Female Pills
Sir James Clarke's Female Pills
Sir James Clarke's Female Pills
Are a Scientific Preparation.
Are a Scientific Preparation.
Are a Scientific Preparation.

They are safe, and never fail
They are safe, and never fail
They are safe, and never fail
To remove all Obstructions,
To remove all Obstructions,
To remove all Obstructions,

And cure all Female Complaints,
And cure all Female Complaints,
And cure all Female Complaints,
When the directions are followed
When the directions are followed,
When the directions are followed

They are a blessing and a cure.
They are a blessing and a cure.
They are a blessing and a cure.
And can be sent by mail
And can be sent by mail
And can be sent by mail

For one dollar and six postage stamps.
For one dollar and six postage stamps.
For one dollar and six postage stamps.

JOB MOSES, Rochester, N.Y., sole proprietor. Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, C W., General Agents. For sale by Ormond & Gilmour, Wm. Coulter, A. W Kempt, Peterboro' and all dealers in medicines.

EDEN GARDENS

PETERBOROUGH,
OPPOSITE WALKERFIELD NURSERY.

THE subscriber would respectfully inform the inhabitants of the Town of Peterborough and surrounding country that he has at his Gardens a constant supply [in their season] of all kinds of Garden Vegetables usually grown in this latitude. Seedling plants, such as

Cabbage, Cauliflower,
Tomato, Celery, Winter Cherry, &c. Also,—Small Fruits in their season.

Vegetables

fresh from Eden Gardens at the Market every week day; also at his Store on George Street, where all orders which may be left for anything in the above line will be promptly attended to.

PHILIP GILES.

May 1, 1861. 18

A STARTLING FACT.

THE subscriber has great pleasure in informing the public that he is manufacturing ever made in Canada, patented by J. Dennis. In order to prove the above, I am prepared to put them on trial, for cistern or well 100 feet deep and less, until the 1st of June, 1861. If not then preferred before any other kind will take them back free of charge; if they suit, I will give them until the 1st of January, 1863; for payment, by giving a promissory note.

THE BEST PUMPS

These Pumps are

Warranted not to Freeze.

All orders addressed to the undersigned, stating depth of well, to Warkworth, Percy, up to the 1st of April, 1861, and after that date to the Subscriber, in Ashburnham, will receive prompt attention. All letters must be post-paid.

HENRY DENNIS,
Manufacturer.

Warkworth, Percy, Dec. 1860.

Patented rights to manufacture and sell the above Pumps for sale by John Dennis, patentee and manufacturer, New Market, C. W. 36-1y.

L. M. SQUAIR,

Agent for Steamer "Maple Leaf," and Jacques, Tracy & Co.'s Line of Boats, the Alps, Ottawa, Colonist, Huron, & Bowmanville.

CONTRACTS for freight or passage to and from Montreal, Rochester, Boston, New York, and Cobourgh.

Offices in Gillet's Block, above Irvine's Store, Port Hope.

Port Hope, Oct. 10, 1860.

JUDSONS,

MOUNTAIN HERB

WORM TEA.

Herbs, Barks and Roots
VERSUS
Poisonous Minerals and Drugs.

MOTHERS TAKE HEED!

Do you when observing the unusual actions of your children, consider that it may be more than a mere Childish Fret afflicts them? In nine cases out of ten, the cause of the little sufferer's anguish is WORMS, and should be of some instant to

HEADS OF FAMILIES

Do not let your children suffer, when we promise you in

JUDSON'S WORM TEA

A SAFE AND PLEASANT CURE FOR WORMS.

How much better and safer would it be to have it always in the house. A little delay when a child is taken ill may often be the cause of its death, while acting without delay, and by giving the MOUNTAIN HERB TEA immediately, you will not only save the child a long and tedious illness, and yourself much expense, but also feel happier in knowing that you have done your duty, and perchance saved its life.

This medicine is combined purely of

HERBS AND ROOTS

NOT A PARTICLE OF

Calomel or Mineral

IS USED IN IT.

No more filthy Vermifuge will be used by those who once use this Tea. The only active principle of all other Vermifuges and Worm Killers is MERCURY.

GIVE NO

POISON

TO

YOUR CHILDREN.

Use this Simple, Safe, Vegetable Medicine.

This Worm Tea was discovered in an unusual way among the Wilds of Northern Mexico—a full account of it you will find in our Almanacs. Ask for the "Heroes of Polo Absalom," of the Agent, and when you have read it, send it to your neighbors, that they may also know of and be saved by this GREAT REMEDY!

JUDSON'S WORM TEA
KILLS WORMS,
Never Harms—is Pleasant to Take.

GET A PACKAGE—PRICE 25 CTS.

OBSERVE.—Always find the Name and Signature of R. L. JUDSON & CO., and the portrait of Judson, on each package of this Worm Tea.

R. L. JUDSON & CO.
SOLE PROPRIETORS,
50 Leonard St. New York.

Judson's Worm Tea is sold by one Agent in every Village, and by all Druggists.

CANADA

Permanent Building and Saving's Society.

CAPITAL.....$500,000
INVESTED ON REAL ESTATE.... 350,000
ANNUAL INCOME..... 250,000

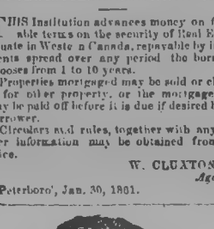
THIS Institution advances money on favorable terms on the security of Real Estate, situate in Weste n Canada, repayable by instalments spread over any period the borrower chooses from 1 to 10 years.

Properties mortgaged may be sold or changed for other property, or the mortgage debt may be paid off before it is due if desired by the borrower.

Circulars and rules, together with any further information may be obtained from the office.

W. CLUXTON,
Agent.

Peterboro', Jan. 30, 1861. 5



JUDSON'S

Mountain Herb Pills.

ABOVE we present you with a perfect likeness of Tureo, a chief of a tribe of the strange Aztec Nation, that once ruled Mexico. You will find a full account of him and his people in our Pamphlets and Almanacs—to be had gratis, from the Agents for these Pills.

The inventor and manufacturer of "Judson's Mountain Herb Pills," has spent the greater part of his life in travelling, having visited nearly every country in the world. He spent over six years among the Indians of the Rocky Mountains and of Mexico, and it was thus that the "MOUNTAIN HERB PILLS" were discovered. A very interesting account of his adventures there, you will find in our Almanacs and Pamphlets.

It is an established fact, that all diseases arise from

IMPURE BLOOD!

The blood is the life! and when any foreign or unhealthy matter gets mixed with it, it is at once distributed to every organ of the body. Every nerve feels the poison, and all the vital organs quickly complain. The stomach will not digest the food perfectly. The liver causes to secrete a sufficiency of bile. The action of the lungs is weakened, and so the circulation is feeble. The lungs become clogged with the poisonous matter; hence, a cough,—and all from a slight impurity at the fountain-head of life—the Blood! As if you had thrown some earth, for instance, in a pure spring, from which ran a tiny rivulet, in a few minutes the whole course of the stream becomes disturbed and discolored. As quickly become clogged with the poisonous matter; hence, a cough,—and all from a slight impurity at the fountain-head of life—the Blood! As if you had thrown some earth, for instance, in a pure spring, from which ran a tiny rivulet, in a few minutes the whole course of the stream becomes disturbed and discolored. As quickly the healthy blood of the human body, when mixed with the poisonous matter of any disease, and receives all the fetid and secretious pores and fibres, clearing and normalizing the vital organs.

Pleasant indeed, is it to us, that we are able to place within your reach, a medicine like the "MOUNTAIN HERB PILLS," that will pass directly to the afflicted parts, through the blood and fluids of the body, and cause the sufferer to brighten with the flush of beauty and health.

Judson's Pills are the Best Remedy in existence for the following Complaints:

Blood Complaints,	Debility, Impaired Weakness,
Coughs,	Fever and Ague, Liver Complaints,
Colds,	Female Complaints Symptoms of Spirits,
Chest Disease	Headaches, Piles,
Costiveness,	Indigestion, Stone and Gravel
Dyspepsia,	Influenza, Secondary Symptoms
Diarrhœa,	Inflammation, Worms,
Dropsy.

GREAT FEMALE MEDICINE

Females who value health, should never be without these Pills. They purify the blood, remove obstructions of all kinds, change the skin of all pimples and blotches, and bring the rich color of health to the pale cheek.

☞ The Plants and Roots of which these Pills are made, were discovered in a very surprising way among the Mountains, a tribe of Aborigines in Mexico. Get the Almanac of our Agent, and you will read with delight, the very interesting account in connection of the "Great Discovery" of the Aztecs.

Observe.—The Mountain Herb Pills are put up in a Beautiful Wrapper. Each box contains 40 pills, and Retail at 25 cents per box. All genuine, have the signature of R. L. JUDSON & CO., on each box.

R. L. JUDSON, & Co,
SOLE PROPRIETORS,
No. 50 Leonard Street,
NEW YORK

☞ FOR SALE BY ALL MEDICINE DEALERS. ☜

☞ The Canadian Pain Destroyer is a prompt and sure remedy for Cramp and pain in the Stomach, Painters' Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer Complaint, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infatnum, Scalds, Burns, Sprains, Bruises, Frost Bites, Chilblains, as well as the stings of Insects, Scorpions, Centipedes, and the bites of poisonous Insects and venomous Reptiles.

WILL BE SOLD AT

A SACRIFICE.

THE subscriber is compelled by circumstances to sell his Houses and Lot on Albert Street, on the Court House Hill, adjoining the property of Mr. Wm. Dunbie. The above is one of the most delightful situations in Town, and will be sold for the one half to be paid down, and the remainder in two years from time of sale. Title Perfect.

LOW PRICE OF $800!

JOHN RITCHIE.

Peterborough, Aug. 20, 1861 34

MARBLE WORKS.

H. T. EVANS,

RESPECTFULLY invites attention to the fact that he is prepared to execute on short notice

TOMB-STONES,
MONUMENTS,
TABLE-TOPS,
MANTLE-PIECES,
&c., &c., &c.

of as good workmanship as can be done in any part of Canada. Terms very low for Cash.

☞ House and Workshop, corner of London and Bethune Streets, foot of Smithtown Hill.

H. T. EVANS.

Peterboro, Nov. 8, 1860 45

SADDLERY & HARNESS
WARE-HOUSE.

Opposite A. McNab's Jactive Rooms, George Street. Peterboro'.

HOPKINS & DONNELY

WILL keep constantly on hand, and make to order all sorts of

SADDLES, HARNESS, WHIPS, Valises, &c.,

which they intend to sell CHEAP FOR CASH, or on approved credit.

☞ All work warranted, as it is made by superior workmen.

Peterborough, Sept. 5, 1860. 36

ROOM PAPER.

R. STEVENSON,

PAINTER & PAPER-HANGER,

HAS Received direct from England, a large and well-selected assortment of Room Paper, Borders, Decorations, Window-blinds, &c.

which will be sold at Prices to suit the Times.

Brock Street,
Opposite Lawson's Hotel. 17

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

A compound remedy, in which we have labored to produce the most effectual alterative that can be made. It is a concentrated extract of Para Sarsaparilla, so combined with other substances of still greater alterative power as to afford an effective antidote for the diseases Sarsaparilla is reputed to cure. It is believed that such a remedy is wanted by those who suffer from Strumous complaints, and that one which will accomplish their cure must prove of immense service to this large class of our afflicted fellow-citizens. How completely this compound will do it has been proven by experiment on many of the worst cases to be found of the following complaints:—

SCROFULA AND SCROFULOUS COMPLAINTS, ERUPTIONS AND ERUPTIVE DISEASES, ULCERS, PIMPLES, BLOTCHES, TUMORS, SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, SYPHILIS AND SYPHILITIC AFFECTIONS, MERCURIAL DISEASE, DROPSY, NEURALGIA OR TIC DOULOUREUX, DEBILITY, DYSPEPSIA AND INDIGESTION, ERYSIPELAS, ROSE OR ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD.

This compound will be found a great promoter of health, when taken in the spring, to expel the foul humors which fester in the blood at that season of the year. By the timely expulsion of them many rankling disorders are nipped in the bud. Multitudes can, by the aid of this remedy, spare themselves from the unsightly and foul eruptions and ulcerous sores, through which the system will strive to rid itself of corruptions if not assisted to do this through the natural channels of the body by an alterative medicine. Cleanse out the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, eruptions, or sores; cleanse it when you find it is obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it whenever it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Even where no particular disorder is felt, people enjoy better health, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. Keep the blood healthy, and all is well; but with this pabulum of life disordered, there can be no lasting health. Sooner or later something must go wrong, and the great machinery of life is disordered or overthrown.

Sarsaparilla has, and deserves much, the reputation, of accomplishing these ends. But the world has been egregiously deceived by preparations of it, partly because the drug alone has not all the virtue that is claimed for it, but more because many preparations, pretending to be concentrated extracts of it, contain but little of the virtue of Sarsaparilla, or any thing else.

During late years the public have been misled by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one dollar. Most of these have been frauds upon the sick. For they not only contain little, if any, Sarsaparilla, but often no curative properties whatever. Hence, bitter and painful disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market, until the name itself is justly despised, and has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound Sarsaparilla, and intend to supply such a remedy as shall rescue the name from the load of obloquy which rests upon it. And we think we have ground for believing it has virtues which are irresistible by the ordinary run of the diseases it is intended to cure. In order to secure their complete eradication from the system, the remedy should be judiciously taken according to directions on the bottle.

PREPARED BY
DR. J. C. AYER & CO.
LOWELL, MASS.
Price, $1 per Bottle; Six Bottles for $5.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

has won for itself such a renown for the cure of every variety of Throat and Lung Complaint, that it is entirely unnecessary for us to rehearse the evidences of its virtues, wherever it has been employed. As it has long been in constant use throughout this section, we need not do more than assure the people its quality is kept up to the best it ever has been, and that it may be relied on to do for their relief all it has ever been found to do.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

FOR THE CURE OF

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and for Purifying the Blood.

They are sugar-coated, so that the most sensitive can take them pleasantly, and they are the best aperient in the world for all the purposes of a family physic.

Price 25 cents per Box; Five boxes for $1.00.

Great numbers of Clergymen, Physicians, Statesmen, and eminent personages, have lent their names to certify the unparalleled excellence of these remedies, but our space here will not permit the insertion of them. The Agents below named furnish gratis our AMERICAN ALMANAC in which they are given; with also full descriptions of the above complaints, and the treatment that should be followed for their cure.

Do not be put off by unprincipled dealers with other preparations they make more profit on. Demand AYER'S, and take no others. The sick want the best aid there is for them, and they should have it.

All our Remedies are for sale by Ormond & Gilmour, Wm. Coulter, and W.A Kempt, Peterboro'. C. Britton, Lindsay; R. Gregory, Millbrook; A. Goodfellow, Springville, and all medicine dealers. Northrop & Lyman, General Agents for the Canadas.

THE TRAVELLERS REST.

THE above named House has been enlarged re-fitted and refurnished, and no every convenience for the accommodation of the travelling public. It is directly opposite the Post Office, on Main Street, and within sight of the steamboat landing.

HIS TABLE

is always supplied with the best the market affords, and

THE BAR

always supplied with the choicest of Liquors. Old friends and customers, as well as the travelling public are respectfully requested to give him a call

☞ A careful ostler on hand at all times.

WILLIAM CRESWELL,
Proprietor.

Bobcaygeon, April 4, 1861. 14-6m.

PETERBORO',
Soap and Candle Works.

A large stock of very superior

CANDLES AND SOAP

now on hand and for sale at the lowest wholesale prices.

☞ Orders are respectfully solicited.

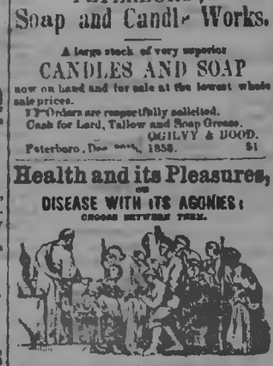
Cash for Lard, Tallow and Soap Grease.

OGILVY & BOOD.

Peterboro. Dec 20th, 1858. 51

Health and its Pleasures, OR DISEASE WITH ITS AGONIES:

CROSS BETWEEN THEM.



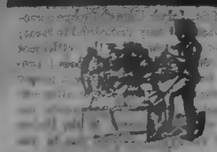
HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.

NERVOUS DISORDERS.

What is more fearful than the breaking down of the nervous system? To be excitable or nervous in a small degree is most distressing, for where can a remedy be found? There is one:—drink but little wine, beer, or spirits, or far better none; take no coffee,—weak tea being preferable; get all the fresh air you can; take three or four Pills every night; eat plenty of solids, avoid the use of slops; and if these golden rules are followed you will be happy in mind and strong in body, and forget you have any nerves.

MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS.

If there is one thing more than another for which these Pills are so famous it is their purifying properties, especially the power of cleansing the blood from all impurities, and removing dangerous and suspended secretions. Universally admitted as the same grand remedy for female



BOOK AND JOB PRINTING ESTABLISHMENT.

EVERY description of Book and Job Printing executed at this Office, in superior style, at low rates.

Page Bills, Circulars,
Handbills, Funeral Cards,
Invitations, Ball Headings,
Horse Bills, Show Bills,
Concert Bills, Programmes,
Posters, Songs Bills,
Business Cards, Blanks, &c.,

with every variety of Coloring and Bronzing.

☞ Lawyers' Blanks of every description, kept constantly on hand.

All orders for Job Printing forwarded to this office will be punctually and strictly attended to.

The Examiner.

PETERBOROUGH, CANADA WEST, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1861.

Volume VI.] "THE PEOPLE." [Number 42.

THE "EXAMINER"

Is published every Thursday morning at the office of the undersigned, in

BURNHAM'S BLOCK, GEORGE STREET

Terms of Subscription—$1.50 per annum payable strictly in advance, $2 when not so paid.

Rates of Advertising.

Six Lines, and under, first insertion	$0 37
Each subsequent insertion	12
Ten to ten lines, first insertion	75
Each subsequent insertion	25
Over ten lines, first insertion (per line)	3
Each subsequent insertion, " "	2

Business Cards as per agreement.

☞ Advertisements without written instructions will be inserted until forbid. Orders to discontinue must be given in writing.

All communications to the Publisher must be post-paid; otherwise no notice will be taken of them.

JAMES RENFREW,
Publisher and Proprietor.

Business Directory.

JAMES HALL,
SHERIFF. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

Mr. TOOLE,
MANUFACTURER of Sash Blinds, Doors and Mouldings. Every description of Joiner Work done to order. Next door to Maurice's Mills, Peterboro'. C. W. 9

MESSRS. FITZGERALD & BRENNAN
PROVINCIAL LAND SURVEYORS, CIVIL ENGINEERS AND LAND AGENTS. Office in Scott's Chambers, corner of George and Simcoe Streets. Messrs. F. & B. having lately surveyed the outlines of eight new Townships now included in this County will be happy to give any information to intending settlers. 34

J. B. BISSEL,
DEALER in Boots, Shoes & Leather, George Street, Peterborough, C. W. 16

W. CRAWFORD,
GOVERNMENT Land Agent. Office at his residence, Brock Street.

EDMUND S. VINDIN,
COMMISSION, Shipping, Forwarding, and General Agent, Lumber Merchant, &c. OFFICE—Corner of Walton and Ontario Streets. 13

MR. DENNISTOUN,
BARRISTER at Law Master Extraordinary in Chancery, Notary Public, &c., Peterborough.

Mr. A. T. MAATHEFIELD.
PIANIST AND TEACHER OF MUSIC.
COMMUNICATION THROUGH THE POST OFFICE, Peterborough.

JOHNSON'S
FASHIONABLE Hair Dressing and Shaving Saloon in the Building formerly occupied by the Post Office, east of the bridge.
Post Hope, Sept. 20, 1857.

GEORGE MITCHELL,
DEALER in Groceries and Provisions, &c. Cash paid for all kinds of country produce, George Street Peterborough. 15

T. G. HAZLITT,
DEALER in Provisions, Groceries, Crockery and Glass ware, Hunter Street Peterboro.

W. SHERIDAN,
COUNTY Treasurer and Clerk. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

R. STEVENSON,
PAINTER, Paper hanger, &c., &c., Brock Street, Peterborough. 15

GEORGE H. HUGHES,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
SOLICITOR IN CHANCERY
Conveyancer, &c.
OFFICE in Harvey's Building, next door (north) to Thomson's Store, George St., Peterborough. 13

GENERAL FIRE AND LIFE INSURANCE OFFICE.
W. CLUXTON, Agent.

W. COULTER, PETERBORO',
DEALER in Genuine Drugs, Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Spices, Culinary Essences, Fancy Soaps, &c., &c. 16

THOMAS MENZIES,
BOOKSELLER, Stationer, &c., &c., &c. Dixon's Exchange Block, George Street Peterborough. 20

A. HARVEY, M. D., CORONER.
RESIDENCE—Aylmer Street, opposite the Railway Depot, Peterboro.
April 3rd. 1861.

W. H. SCOTT,
BARRISTER AT LAW, Solicitor in Chancery, Notary Public, Conveyancer, &c
OFFICE:—In Burnham's Block, opposite the Review Office, Peterborough.
April 17, 1861. 16

A. M'CREA,
PROVINCIAL Licentiate Physician, Surgeon, &c. Keene.

GEORGE PRINGLE, M. D.
PHYSICIAN, Surgeon, &c., &c. graduate of McGill College, Montreal, having also studied in the hospitals of London and Dublin Cancer and Rheumatism.—Brock Street, opposite McGregor's Livery Stable, Peterboro.
April 25, 1861. 17

ALEX. McNEIL,
AUCTIONEER, Valuator, &c., &c. Licensed for the United Counties of Peterborough and Victoria. George St., Peterboro'.

JAMES BEST,
DEALER in Dry Goods, Groceries, Crockery Boots and Shoes, &c., &c., Rowe's Block, George Street, Peterborough. 19

MR. DUNN,
PRINCIPAL of the Grammar and Union School, will devote a short time each day to private tuition.
Peterboro', Jan. 10th, 1861. 3

A. ROGERS & Co.
HARDWARE Merchants, George Street Peterborough. 18

PRIVATE BOARD.
A NUMBER of respectable boarders may find good board and comfortable accommodation at the moderate and well-fixed hotel, corner of the Peterboro Station at the P. H. & P. R. Apply on the premises.
JOSEPH PORTMAN.
Peterboro', 1861. 20

CABINET-MAKING.
E. GOLD, Cabinet-maker, Upholsterer & Undertaker, Hunter Street, George Street

FOR SALE.
A [illegible] Farm [illegible]
[illegible]
Aug. 22, 1861. 35

D. PENTLAND,
Surgical & Mechanical Dentist,
OFFICE, OVER COULTERS' DRUG STORE, George Street, Peterboro'.

TEETH Extracted by the aid of Electricity, with the least possible pain. Teeth inserted upon fine Gold, Silver, or

VULCANIZED RUBBER.

Teeth and material warranted to be of the very best quality.

D. P. particularly wishes the public to understand that he

WARRANTS HIS WORK TO GIVE GOOD SATISFACTION,

and parties who are not perfectly satisfied with their plates have the privilege of returning them before paying for them.

Particular attention paid to the treatment of all diseases of the mouth, and also the regulating of children's teeth.
Peterboro', April 10th, 1861. 15

ALBION HOTEL,
MONTREAL.
L. W. DECKER, Proprietor.

IS pleasantly situated at the head of ST. PAUL STREET, amongst the largest wholesale houses in the city. It has (with business men generally, and especially with the best Merchants of both Provinces) become so great a favorite, that it is now acknowledged to be THE Business Hotel of Montreal. To meet the extensive increase, during the last year in the business of the house, the proprietor has built a large addition. The Dining Room has been extended and made more commodious; there have been completed in the new wing, a great number of well-ventilated sleeping rooms, and the House throughout has been refitted, and now contains many improvements and conveniences hitherto unknown to its guests. The whole of the beds have, at a great expence, been furnished with NEW SPRING MATTRASSES. The Proprietor expects that by continuing his personal management of the concern, THE ALBION to say the least of it, will continue to be, as it now is, the best Dollar and a half Hotel in Canada

VALUABLE FARM
FOR SALE.

THE subscriber is desirous of disposing of his Farm, south west part of Lot 23, in the 11th Con. Otonabee, only 2 miles from the town of Peterborough, and on the main road leading to Keene, comprising 100 Acres.

80 Acres are Cleared,

and in a good state of cultivation; 14 Acres of Fall Wheat are sown, and part of Fall ploughing is done. A good Frame Rough-cast House, 26 x 30, a Barn, 45 x 76, and a good stable and other out-houses are on the premises.

A GOOD WELL

of spring water stands within a rod of the house, and is easy of access. A good

YOUNG ORCHARD OF 85 TREES,

in good condition, and of the choicest fruits, is on the property.

The Farm is one of the best in the Township, and the situation is very convenient, no better chance for the purchase of a good farm could be offered, and it will be sold at a liberal price.

Title Indisputable.

Apply to the proprietor on the premises,
JAS. WEIR.
Otonabee, Nov. 7 1860. 54

NOTICE

THE next meeting of the Senior Board of Instruction for the County of Peterboro' will be held on the

First Tuesday of Dec. next,

IN THE COURT HOUSE, AT 10 A.M

Teachers holding third class certificates granted a year or upwards ago, are required to have them renewed.

By order,
J. EDWARD,
Secretary.
Peterboro' May 14, 1861. 30

THE LATEST IMPROVED
COAL OIL,
AND COAL OIL LAMPS,
AT REDUCED PRICES.
JOHN McDONELL,
GEORGE STREET.
Jan. 2, 1861. 1.

PORT HOPE & PETERBORO

RAILWAY.

ON and after the 6th of May, 1861, and until further notice, Trains will run as follows:—

GOING NORTH.

Leave Port Hope at	7.30 a. m.
" Millbrook "	9.45 a. m.
" Fraserville "	9.30 a. m.
Arrive at Peterboro' at	9.30 a. m.
GOING SOUTH.
Leave Peterboro' at	2.25 p. m.
" Fraserville "	2.40 p. m.
" Millbrook "	2.30 p. m.
Arrive at Port Hope at	[illegible] p. m.

JOHN FOWLER,
Manager.
Peterboro' January, 10

INFORMATION WANTED.

A DAUGHTER wishes to learn the present whereabouts of her mother, whom she last saw in the Fall of the year 1857. Her maiden name was Polly Cook; her first husband's name was [illegible] Stone. It is said she married in 1849, a person named Dr. Lough, who was at that time engaged in some way in the construction of the Welland Canal, between Port Colborne and Chippewa. Any information respecting her will be gratefully received by addressing the subscriber, at 56 Frank Street, Rochester, N. Y.—Canadian papers will confer a favour upon one who has long been deprived of a mother's affection, by giving the above an insertion, entire or in part.

Mrs. SAMANTHA JENKINSON.
Rochester, N. Y., 20th May, 1861.

NEXT OF KIN WANTED!

Hundreds of Millions Pounds Sterling

IN CHANCERY, BANK OF ENGLAND, &c., &c., &c.

[illegible] Farm [illegible]
[illegible]
Sept., 1861. 37

Poetry.

BURNS' FAREWELL.

[The following Verses, it is said, are a brief summary of the last discourse of Scotland's great National Poet to his Jean, when about to bid a final adieu to all things earthly. They have appeared only once before in any American paper.]

Farewell, my Jean, a last farewell!
Nae mair I'll gladly gaze on thee;
And nae mair will thy blythesome smile,
O, my dear lassie, light on me.
Nae mair when in misfortune's blast
The rays of hope will rise frae thee,
The present ills, and ills that's past,
Now heavy, heavy press on me.

Saith age and downs this world has shown,
Sad life's gay morn did spread, I wees;
And bitter blasts her on us blaun
But a' the ills I had to fear
Thowes nane that were nae sharp and keen
As this adieu, this last my dear,
To you who I did count my Jean.

Oft wi' delight I've sung your name
Obeying tender passions law;
Now a' my fear is for your hame,
When I, your faithful friend's awa'.
Sae fare-thee-well, thyself compose
Thy mid-day sun wi' reach it's e'en;
I'll welcome thee to big or joys,
When I again meet wi' my Jean.

THE REFORMED.

CHAPTER I.

"Mother, I can't stand it; indeed I can't."

"But let us hope for the best, my son. Besides he is your father, and he was once kind and affectionate."

"I know he used to be kind to me. Yes, I remember when he used to take me and little Lucy on his knee, and sing to us, and tell us pretty stories; but he's cross and ugly now, and beats me,—and then, last night, when he struck you—"

"Hush, my child; do not speak of that again. He would not have done it if he had been himself."

"But tell me, mother, does rum make every body do as father does?"

"Every one who drinks it suffers from its use."

"Then why do they drink it?"

"Ah, Edward, by drinking a little at first they become habituated to it, and at length they become so firmly bound in its chains that it costs a hard struggle to break away from it. The first time they drink these evil- are not so bad; but he who drinks at all is likely to become a drunkard."

"Then I'm sure that I'll never drink, mother."

"God bless you, my boy, and keep you firm in your resolution."

For some moments the mother and her child sat in their lonely apartment pondering upon the subject of their conversation without speaking. Thomas Osgood and his wife had spent several years of unin-terrupted happiness in the married state. A son and daughter had been given them, and nothing was wanting to ensure a long life of peace. But unluckily a habit which Mr Osgood had moderately, as he thought, cherished for some time, beg- to grow upon him, and by the time his son was thirteen years of age, the poor man had become a beastly drunkard.

After sitting for some time in deep thought the boy lifted up his head. A bright tear-drop stood upon his eye-lid.

"Mother, I've been thinking for some time, and I must tell you what I'm determined to do. There's no use in my staying here—for I can't go to school, and you know I can't learn any thing."

"But what would you do?"

"I must go away. I have saved up three dollars, and with that sum I can easily get to some place where a good boy can make a living."

"I do not know what to say my dear son," returned Mrs. Osgood, as she wiped the tears from her sorrow-stricken face; "but perhaps at present you would be better off somewhere else; and although my heart would break should you be taken away by your father's folly, yet, if your good requires it, I can bear to part with you."

"When I am away, I shall never cease to remember your counsels; and if I act upon them, I shall certainly be a good man, shall I not mother?"

"Yes, Edward, if you obey the rules which I have given you, you will live rightly."

Much conversation was held, and Edward Osgood received such counsel as only a mother can give. It was settled that he should start early the next morning, before his father was up. The morning came and with its first dawn Edward was equipped for his journey. His little sister, Lucy, hung about his neck, and could not understand why she was to be separated from her brother—but at length her little mind comprehended that it was for Edward's good, and with a warm kiss succeeded by a flood of tears, she bade him good-bye.

Mr. Osgood arose about the middle of the forenoon, but went out without making any inquiry for Edward. He was at heart a good man, and in the sober moments always felt sorry for what he had done; but for the last year he had spent but little of his time with his family, and at the present time he was customarily under the influence of liquor, so that his wife constantly suffered from his brutality—perhaps we should not call it brutality but there was a total lack of those kindly feelings which mark the man, and at times he was stern and unfeeling. Only once had he struck his wife; but that blow had dethroned the son on the throne he had taken—that blow had broken the way for greater cruelties, and it had well nigh wrecked the heart of his poor wife.

That night, when Mr Osgood came home he asked for Edward. Mrs. Osgood was a woman who never deceived her husband, and she told the whole tale. For several moments the husband's countenance underwent a variety of changes. At first he was angry; but those changes and angrier feelings passed away, and he became overwhelmed with grief. He felt he was responsible for the ruin that was to come upon his child, and he felt that he had been the cause of it. He remembered his own boyhood, when he was innocent and happy, and he remembered his father's kind counsels, which he had disregarded, and he knew that his son would have been a better man; but his keener sensibilities had been blunted and seared by the burning besom of alcohol, and the image of his boy was soon effaced from his mind.

One day, about a week after Edward had left the house, Mr. Osgood came home in a deep state of intoxication. Never before had he appeared so wild in his manner. His eyes rolled about in their sockets,—his hands were tightly clenched and a frown of fearful import lowered upon his brow. After gazing upon his wife for a few moments, he angrily exclaimed,

"So you're managed to get Edward out of the way, and now I suppose you think that you are going to frighten me out of the house."

"Why, my dear husband, what can you mean?" tremblingly asked Mrs. Osgood, while the tears began to gather in her eyes.

"Don't dear me. Didn't you send my boy away? and didn't you know he was the only one to do our errands?"

"I will d anything you ask."

"I'll not give you the chance; for I intend to leave this house myself, and that too as soon as possible."

"But surely you will not go away and leave us here alone."

"I shall go to-day. You'll be better off alone, and you'll know how to take care of yourself, too, after I'm gone."

As the inebriate closed, he arose from his seat and started for the door. His heart-broken wife saw in his countenance something that told her he was in earnest; and springing after him, she threw her arms around his neck, and was about to utter a fervent appeal, when he rudely thrust her from him with a violence that laid her prostrate upon the floor, and then rushed from the house.

There lay the poor wife, and by her side knelt her little daughter, terror-stricken at the scene that passed. A fervent prayer rested upon that wife's lips—'twas for her husband. Around her heart there was an icy chilliness that contracted ev y fibre of her feelings, and in that bosom where had flourished the flowers of connubial affection, the winter of affliction had laid its blighting frost.

She was yet a mother—her child was clasped to her breast, and gazing upon that innocent face, while the hot tears coursed rapidly down her wan cheeks, she prayed to God that she might have strength to live on, and protect her daughter from the ills of poverty.

CHAPTER II.

Eight years have passed since the drunkard left his wife and child lying on the floor of his once happy home,—years that have been ladened with circumstances of various degree and import. Men who were old have grown older—some show their additional years, while others seem the same; women, too, have changed, some with more weight of years, others with the circumstances of life. Children have in those eight years, grown to be men and women; some have come to maturity beneath the genial influence of prosperity, others have wended their difficult way through the intricate labyrinth of want and disappointment, and toiled heavily up the hill of fortune against adversity and the frowns of society.

It was a cold night in the month of December, 1861. The streets of Baltimore were deserted, save here and there a solitary pedestrian wending his way home or seeking the place of social intercourse. The deep tones of the church bell had just announced the hour of nine; and though the snow and sleet was driving furiously along the thoroughfares of that city, still there was an old man who paced the sidewalks as though he had no point of destination fixed in his mind, and the rude blast with its chilling load of frost seemed to pass unheeded by. He was an old man, but not old with years. Life had been to him a heavy burden; and the self-imposed penalties of a long series of physical and moral infractions had brought upon him the debility of advanced age even though forty-five winters had not yet shed their frosts upon him. As the rays of the street lamp fell upon his features, they revealed at once the cause of his present situation. Three letters of the English alphabet are so arranged upon his countenance that even a child could not mis-take their full import—R-U-M. He was a drunkard.

At length the drunkard stopped. A full blaze of mellow light was pouring out through the stained glass of a gorgeous building; and as the poor wanderer came within its pale, a powerful demon whispered, "enter." A simple circumstance, however, forbade, and the latter injunction was obeyed. Though Appetite asked for gratification, poverty utterly negatived the question. Another square was passed and a corner was turned, and another stream of light shot across the dark street from an illuminated stairway. There the drunkard stopped again. Whatever may have been the thoughts and feelings that passed through his mind, they at length turned his tottering steps to the hall above. A moment he stood irresolute at the door; and then summoning up all his courage he opened it and entered.

A strange cast of features marked those men who sat there. There was a strange assemblage for that time and place. The hall was crowded with earnest listening hearers, men who seemed buried in the words of love and truth that came from the lips of a heavenly inspired speaker, and yet nearly every countenance there told the drunkard's melancholy tale. O, what a thrill shot through every heart at the lightning flash of truth and salvation came from his lips.—The heart rolled down his fate-scarred cheeks as he told his simple, unpretended tale. No lordly halls nor assembly schools had made that orator; but from youth to the present he had been a road of disgrace and degradation and what he had to tell told all its effect from the heart of experience and truth.

He told of early hopes and joys—of the fate and blindness of fond parents and loving brothers and sisters—of love pure outside and devoted that all the real, that of a young [illegible]

CHAPTER III.

Eight years! What a change have they wrought upon the person of the drunkard's wife! During that time her cup of sorrow had been full to the brim, and we now enter her poverty-stricken abode, we find the better portion almost overrun. The neat cottage where Mrs. Osgood had spent the happiest years of her married life had long since been given up, and at the present time she occupied a single room in an obscure and isolated building. In one corner stood a poor bed, with barely covering enough to keep out the cold winter air, and upon this was the poor woman trying to repose; but sleep came not to her aid, and ever and anon she cast her eyes towards the door, as if anxiously watching for the entrance of some expected friend. O, how firmly have want and disease set their iron hand upon that poor woman. Hardly a trace of the once happy wife is left; and those eyes that so oft shed forth the light of the social circle, and beamed in joyous love and happiness, are grown dim and sunken, and their weakened, glassy appearance tells plainly of a deep seated malady.

At length the door opened, and Lucy Osgood entered the apartment. Her garments were poor, and as she shook the snow from their meagre folds, a cold shudder passed through her frame. Though poverty was stamped upon the oft-patched cloak and the worn bonnet, yet there beamed forth from her countenance the index of a mine of wealth; that might well grace the home of the millionaire. The unmistakable marks of long-endured want which were seated upon those features, could not dim the bright lustre of that bright blue eye, nor overshadow the heavenly resignation that beamed from every look and action. The flowers of young womanhood had developed themselves beneath the dark shade of remorseless poverty and want; but still the angel of mercy and purity dwelt in her warm heart, and the person who could have looked upon that being and failed to love her must have been cold and heartless indeed. But she was surrounded by iron hearts, and even charity itself slumbered inactive in the bosoms of those who knew her.

"And what can induce you then, wretched, to proffer your assistance to those children of misfortune and poverty whom you never before seen, and who can never return your kindness."

The stranger made no answer, but his eyes sought the countenance of Lucy, and a strange light beamed forth as they rested upon the fair form of the innocent girl. The sick woman followed the direction of his gaze and then a strange mingling took possession of her soul as she read that ardent look

"We appreciate your kindness, sir," continued Mrs. Osgood, "but I hardly dare accept your offer. You will excuse me if I deal frankly with you, when I tell you that I fear my poor daughter has more room in your feelings than has sympathy for her sick mother."

"I will own, madam that your daughter has attractions for me,—say, more—that I love her; and for that reason——"

"No more, sir," interrupted the feeble mother, while a fearful tremor shook the frame of the fair girl as her eyes filled with tears. "The sons of wealth or fashion does not seek an honorable mate in the depths of poverty; and rather than shame should come upon that poor girl, I would have her laid in the cold grave by the side of her mother."

The stranger rose from his seat, and bending over the still weeping maiden he impressed a warm kiss upon her burning cheek. She started from her chair; but one old emotion could feel vent, for one sought a single explanation that fell from his lips.

"Lucy!"

The maiden started at that sound, and sweeping the waving tresses from her tear-wet face, she gazed wildly into the features of the stranger. The curtain which years of sorrow and suffering had drawn over the past was hastily withdrawn, and memory that tomb to the unsound, awakened remembrance appeared instantaneously spread its wings, and dropped in a joyous confusion upon her bursting, she threw herself upon the manly bosom before her, and exclaimed,

"Edward! brother!"

"My soul! O, God, it cannot be," exclaimed the almost frantic mother, as she started up in her bed and strained her eyes towards the spot where the brother and sister were locked in each other's arms.

"Yes, dear mother, 'tis your own little Neddy," returned the young man as he sprang to the side of the bed and supported the head of the mother in his fond embrace.

"Great God, I thank thee!" ejaculated the poor woman; and burying her face in the bosom of her returned son, she wept such tears of joy as made her heart leap with new life and sent a thrill of returning activity to every fibre of her frame.

* * * * * *

A month had passed away since Edward Osgood had returned to his home, and during that time a wonderful change had taken place in the condition of Mrs. Osgood.—She had regained her health and had seen her daughter raised to a position in society which she was so well qualified to fill; and her long-lost son, too, had come to shed all this joy around her. Still there was one subject upon which her thoughts dwelt in sorrow.

"Come, Lucy," said Edward, as he entered the house one afternoon, "I want you to go to the Temperance Meeting with me this evening."

"Certainly, dear brother."

"There is to be one of those reformed men from Baltimore address the meeting, and it must be interesting."

The evening came, and Edward and Lucy entered the church where a large congregation was already collected. At length the speaker rose; and ere he had proceeded five minutes, Edward passed his arm around the neck of his sister, and laying his head upon her shoulder he whispered, while the warm tears gushed forth,

"'Tis our father, Lucy!"

Some noticed the agitation of that brother and sister, but they gleaned not the deep feelings that swelled their souls.

The speaker went on—he told a tale which you have already heard—and as each word dropped like a distinct truth from his lips, tears started to the eyes of all, and conviction settled on every heart. When at the close of his tale, the Pledge was laid upon the table, a simultaneous rush was made for the saving instrument, and name after name appeared upon its face, like the foot-prints of so many angels.

When her children returned, Mrs. Osgood was still sitting by the blazing fire, and engaged in a n rrowful train of reflections. The subject of the Temperance Meeting had awakened in all their poignancy the recollections of what her own lot had been. The poor woman raised her head as the door opened, and she saw her children enter. But who was he that followed?

Back through the lapse of those eight long years the poor woman's mind leaped, with the lightning's flash, and for a single moment she dwelt in the past; then rising from her seat and moving forward as though she feared the scene might vanish from her sight, she extended her hands and they rested on a substantial form of flesh and blood; one more look into that well remembered face, and Mrs. Osgood was clasped to the bosom of her husband.

Eight more years have rolled away, and never was happiness more complete than that which flourishes beneath the genial rays of the bright son of Washingtonianism, which rose in beauty over the home of THE REFORMED.

VICTORIA'S FIRST MOMENT OF SOVEREIGNTY.

If the following relation is true—and there is no reason to doubt it—there was good foundation in the conscientiousness and early mature character of the Princess Victoria, for the good Queen, wife and mother which she has proved herself to be. [illegible] Prince the Fourth expired about midnight at Windsor Palace. The Archbishop of Canterbury, with peers and other high functionaries in the kingdom were in attendance. As soon as the sceptre had departed with the last breath of the King, the Archbishop quitted Windsor Castle, and made his way with all possible speed to Kensington Palace, the residence at that time of the Princess—already by the law of succession Queen Victoria. He arrived long before daylight, announced himself, and requested an immediate interview with the Princess. She hastily attired herself, and met the venerable prelate in the anteroom. He informed her of the demise of William, and finally announced to her that she was, in law and right, successor to the deceased monarch. The sovereignty of the most powerful nation key at the feet of a girl of eighteen. She was, de facto, Queen of the only realm, in fact or history, on which the sun never set. She was deeply agitated. The first words she uttered were these: "I ask your prayers in my behalf." They knelt down together, and Victoria inaugurated her reign, like the young king of Israel in the olden time, by asking of the Most High who reileth in the kingdoms of men, "an understanding heart to judge so great a people, who could not be numbered nor counted for the multitude."

ANOTHER COMET.

Mr. James R. Turnbull, in a letter to the Baltimore News, calls attention to another comet now approaching the sun, and perceptible to the naked eye. It may be seen he says, after dusk, say about 9 o'clock, on a clear night, between the constellations of Cassiopeia and Andromeda, [illegible] nearly a straight point between the stars Shedir, Achird and Mirach. When [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

"GREAT EASTERN" DISASTER.

The Liverpool Post of the 19th says:—We have been favored by a passenger who returned to Liverpool yesterday from Cork with particulars, which enable us to some extent to describe the incidents of the disaster which befel the Great Eastern in her attempted voyage from Liverpool to America. She left her moorings in the Mersey at twenty-five minutes past one on Tuesday and parted finally from the pilot at four o'clock that day, immediately putting on full steam. All went on well until Thursday, at four o'clock, when a strong breeze prevailed, and when the aft tackle of one of the boats on the port side became unhooked, leaving it suspended by one tackle.—The captain endeavoured to steady the ship while this could be rectified, but found to his surprise that she would not answer to the helm. The fact was (although it was not then known) that the paddle-pin was broken, and the wheel had no command over the rudder. The forestaysail was run up and that was blown away.—The engines were then stopped and the boat ordered to be cut away. The Great Eastern once more started on her course, the passengers went down to dinner, and from that moment commenced a chase of breakages, which lasted without intermission for three days. Everything breakable was broken, furniture, fittings, services, piano, glasses were all involved in the common wreck. It now became known that the rudder was unmanageable. About 6 o'clock she had to be stopped again, owing to two rolls of sheet lead, weighing some 7 cwt., each, which were in the engine room, rolling about with every oscillation of the vessel with a fearful force. These having been secured, another start was made, when a tremendous grinding was heard under the paddle-boxes. The paddle-boxes had become twisted, and the floats were grinding against the sides of the ship. The paddles were stopped, and henceforward the scene is described as awful in the extreme. The ship rolled so violently that the boats were washed away. The cabin, besides dangers arising from collisions and crashes constantly going on, had slipped probably through her port holes a great deal of water, and stores were floating about in utter confusion and ruin. Some of the chandeliers came down. A large mirror was smashed into a thousand pieces. The rails of the bannisters, bars and numerous other fittings were broken, and some idea of the night's roughness may be gathered from the fact that the chain cables polished themselves bright with friction on the deck. A spare riding bit gave way on the cabin deck and knocked a hole through the ships side. Two oil tanks also on the cable deck were so much damaged by another concussion, that 200 gal's of fish oil they contained, ran into the hold, and caused, during the rest of the unhappy voyage, a most intolerable odor. The passengers' luggage in the lower after cargo space was laying two feet in water, and before the ship's deliverance was effected was literally reduced to rags. Twenty-five fractures occurred from concussions caused by the tremendous lurching of the vessel, and cuts and bruises were innumerable. A cook was cast violently by one of these against the paddle-boxes, sustaining fearful injuries. Another lurch drove him against loose of the stanchions, breaking one of his legs in three places. The baker received injuries of a very terrible character on a vital part, and one of the most striking incidents of the affair was this poor man's crawling in his agony to extinguish a portion of the baking gear which had caught on fire. On Thursday night the gale was from the south-west, but on Friday morning it had veered around to northwest, and the ship was drifting as unmanageable as a log in the trough of the sea. She did not ship much water on the deck. It was soon discovered what was the matter with the rudder. The pin upon which it had turned had broken off three feet below the point where it had entered the stern of the ship. It was wrought iron, ten inches in diameter. The iron appeared thoroughly good. It was now found necessary to rig up some description of steering gear. First a spar was thrown over with an anchor flute attached, which dragging in the water behind the ship, might bring her head to the wind, but the swinging of the rudder made it useless. A plan was then suggested to the captain by a passenger, to which the escape of the vessel is probably attributable. It was to pass two or three turns of the chain cable round the rudder pin immediately below the point, at which the breakage occurred, and to secure it with wedges and small chains. By pulling either end of the chain cable a circular motion of the pin was produced, and a connection being affected with the usual chains attached with the rudder, and a temporary wheel rigged up below deck, a shaft was made once more to proceed, but the screw of the vessel, upon which locomotion now depended, as hardly a vestige of the paddle now remained, soon stopped, being fouled by the rudder. Another plan was invented by the captain, by which the rudder was prevented from veering more than necessary to steer the ship. All Friday was occupied by these arrangements, and the ship had drifted up west of the coast of Ireland, out of the ordinary track. On Saturday night the brig Magnet of Halifax, hove in sight, came alongside for the purpose of rendering assistance. On Sunday, at two o'clock, got under way, and the rudder was found to act. The vessel proceeded nine knots an hour with the screw alone. Met the Persia the next morning, signalled her to come under the lee, which she did, but perceiving the Great Eastern did not slacken her speed, it is supposed she concluded her intentions unfair. Put on full speed and was soon beyond recall. An attempt was made at explanation, but the Persia was too far off. The Great Eastern continued her course. On Tuesday morning reached the head of Kinsale.—Stopped four hours to arrange tackle.—Signalled there; no notice taken; at four o'clock arrived off Cork. A steamer came off to assist her. The harbor was soon reached. The information states that it was almost impossible to exaggerate the anxious state which prevailed while the fate of the ship was doubtful. Several clergymen were on board. Religious services were frequently held. The demeanour of the passengers was sufficient, apart from the signs of disaster around them, to signify the distressing nature of the crisis.

A meeting was held in the saloon on Tuesday, and resolutions of a pious and congratulatory character passed. The passengers expressed gratitude to the commander of the brig Magnet, and complimented Capt. Walker, the officers and crew, for their indefatigable exertions. Some of the proceedings, of less pleasing character, were comments passed on the condition of the ship, strength of rudder, and way in which she was built.

—The tombs of the poets Keats and Shelley, buried at Rome, are about to be restored. M. Bunsen, the newly-appointed British Consul in that city, has received to give them his early attention. They have fallen into grand decay. It is proposed to substitute a "Greek Altar," such a modification of the head-stone which now stands over Keats' grave in 1861.

REFUGEES FROM THE UNITED STATES.

(From the Montreal Herald.)

The state of disquiet prevailing in the United States has driven, and no doubt will drive many refugees of various classes from different parts of the country into Canada. A few days ago the son of one of the oldest inhabitants of the town of Sherbrooke, arrived from Florida. He was one of a party of 17 Northern men residing in the same neighborhood, who were waited upon by certain self-constituted public authorities of Secession, and presented with the alternative of active service against the Federal Government, or immediate exile, with the abandonment of all their property. The seventeen choose the last as the least of two evils. The Sherbrooke man, who had acquired a considerable property, had formed a very strong opinion that the North must ultimately triumph. In that case he felt sure of getting back his property, which in the case of a long war, or a republic under rule such as that which now prevails in the South, he did not value very high.—Other gentlemen are here, rather on account of their Southern than Northern sympathies. One of these was recently a banker in New York city, doing business chiefly with the South. Large amounts had been transmitted to him by correspondents there, who preferred to place their funds outside of the limits of the rebellion. His business with these parties had been managed through one of the British Consulates; but a few days ago he received notice from the Consul that the latter could no longer act as the medium of such communications, and learned simultaneously that his letters had been detained at the post-office, and sent to Washington. The same night a friend advised him of his probable arrest and consignment to Fort Lafayette. In antic pation of such steps on the part of the Government, he took his departure, travelling by private carriage to a remote railway station, and thence coming on to Canada with as little ostentation as possible. Before his departure he left certain powers with his son, who in virtue of the authority thus conferred upon him, hastily collected $250,000, with which he followed his father as speedily as possible, and so speedily as to succeed in reaching a place of safety north of line 45 °, just two hours before the messengers of the Government, who were following to capture him. We are not aware that this gentleman had done any overt act calculated to encourage the rebellion; but his connection, and, doubtless, his sympathies were known to be with the South, and we presume that he was the depository of rebel property. Another gentleman is here, seeking to obtain neutralization in Canada, for the purpose of holding his ships by British registry. He too, has, we believe, made a very large deposit in one of our banks. He contrived to reach Boston from the South, and there found reason to believe that he was dodged. He accordingly took steps to evacuate without beat of drum, and reached the Province line near Stanstead, chiefly by journeys on horse-back through bush roads, and other little frequented ways. We hear of another refugee whose brother holds high rank in the Confederate army, and is well known in Canada from the circumstance of his having been stationed on the frontier during the rebellion of 1837 and 1838.—This gentleman was, himself, an officer in the United States Navy; but he resigned on the breaking out of the war. He is about to bring his family to Canada, and to establish himself in Toronto or Montreal, as he may find one or other city most to his taste. The Toronto papers speak of several refugees having arrived in that city. We see therefore, that the British flag is still in both hemispheres the ægis for all who require protection—Louis Phillippe and Louis Blanc; Shadrac the runaway black, came here without a sou in his pocket, and with a back hardly healed from the last whipping, or a St. Clair, whom the system of slavery has by different ways also brought to leave his pleasant home for the cold shade of exile. Long may Victoria's realm enjoy the happy distinction of being that one whose proscripts are fewest of any in the civilized world while its sympathies are large enough and its strength great enough, to afford a home to all who need protection.

TWO BRITISH OFFICERS SHOT BY A PRIVATE.

A fearful tragedy has just occurred at Fulwood Barracks, at Preston, England.—A soldier of the Thirty-Second regiment, named M'Cafferay, about twenty years of age, a native of Preston, who has been in the regiment about eleven months, for breach of military discipline and neglect of duty, was sentenced to confinement within the barracks for fourteen days. On leaving the room, M'Cafferay made no remark, but went direct to his own room. He took his rifle down, and asked his comrade for a piece of greased rag, which was given him, and he cleaned his rifle with it, and loaded it. Immediately afterwards, Colonel Crofton, the colonel of the depot battalion at the barracks, and Captain Hanlan the adjutant of the battalion, were walking across the square. M'Cafferay was then seen to kneel down at the window of his room, take a deliberate aim, and Crofton stepped back a few paces, threw up his arms and said: "Oh, my God, I am shot!" A number of officers were at the time walking on the flags in front of the officers' quarters at the north side of the quadrangle, hastened to their assistance. Capt. Hanlan managed to walk to his room without assistance, but Col. Crofton (who is since dead) was so severely wounded, that he had to be helped to his quarters. Medical assistance was at once procured, when it was found that the ball had struck the Col. on his left side, gone through his left lung, and out at his right side. It had afterwards struck the adjutant, gone through his left arm, and lodged in his spine, whence it was about an hour afterwards, extracted by the medical officers of the barracks. M'Cafferay was at once arrested, and given in charge of the county police. He coolly said to the soldier who seized him: "Take my rifle."—When taken in charge, he merely said that he had not intended to hit Colonel Crofton, implying, it was understood, that he had been desirous of shooting Captain Hanlan. M'Cafferay has not borne the best character while in the regiment. His father also was transported a few years since for being concerned in a poaching affray.

—A serious case happened lately in Taunton, England. The daughter of a tradesman had been ill for some time, and her death was hourly looked for. At length to all appearance, she died. The body was then laid out. In an hour afterwards, to the amazement and joy of her friends, resuscitation took place. [illegible] was able to [illegible] were again taken down [illegible] state that, after the [illegible] they were conscious [illegible] gradually [illegible] minister, her [illegible] surprised [illegible] by [illegible]

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Grand Concert—Madame Anna Bishop. Harness, &c.—Ferguson & Mitchell. Mortgage Sale—Macdonell, Macdonell and Wilkinson.
Steam Communication with Glasgow—G. & D. Shaw.
Piano-Fortes, &c.—Henry Emery.

The Examiner.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1861.

THE PRESIDENT AND THE AMERICAN CIVIL WAR.

Never since the North American Colonies declared their Independence has there been so serious a crisis brooding over the Federation as the one now threatening the dissolution of the Union. The inauguration of Mr. Lincoln introduced the novel spectacle of a part of the Union withdrawing, and declaring its right to set up for itself and appoint its own President and Officers. Not content with quietly withdrawing from the Union, it must attack the national property held within its borders by the Federal Government—thus courting attack and defying the opposers to their new fangled schemes of secession. The challenge thus recklessly thrown out was instantly accepted, and since the memorable attack upon Fort Sumpter in Charlestown Harbour, the belligerents have marshalled hosts of men, but except a very imperfect blockade of Southern Ports by Northern ships, and the congregation of large bodies of raw, undisciplined troops, nothing may yet be said to have been accomplished. The President has had a severe time since assuming his official duties, and if ever a President required a sound head and a strong heart to meet the exigencies that have fallen thick and heavy about him, it is the present incumbent of the Gubernatorial chair at Washington. We in common with many others rejoiced at the election of Abe Lincoln, and imagined it was a move in the right direction. We considered he would have administered the government in a patriotic, honest and straightforward manner, and there is no reason from anything yet known of him to entertain any other opinion of him. But notwithstanding our convictions remain unaltered as to his honesty, and integrity of purpose, in administering the affairs of the Union, we are nevertheless free to confess that Mr. Lincoln is not the man for the present emergency, that in his hesitant and vacillating policy he has demonstrated that he lacks the ability to guide the Ship of State during the terrific gale with which it is assailed. Never has so fine an opportunity occurred in the annals of the Union for a President to gain honor and renown than that occurring under Mr. Lincoln's sway, and never has so fine an opportunity been allowed to pass unimproved. Had Mr Lincoln possessed sagacity and nerve, and acted in a bold, decided manner at the outset, the war in place of going to begin might have been ended. Had he acted with promptness and decision and exercised the powers vested in him during the intervals of the sessions of Congress at the outset, and pronounced as did Gen. Freemont, the entire property of the rebels confiscated, the work might have been accomplished of reducing the South. Had he pronounced the slaves of rebels free, and had Congress endorsed the proclamation, how soon the war would have ended. But foolishly aiming to keep together a Union that was broken he fritters away the time in idle essays on Constitutional law, frightened to death when the bold despatch of one of his Generals is made known to him and writes with all haste to soften down the fearful proclamation of the confiscation of rebels' slave property.

If a General Jackson had occupied Mr. Lincoln's place matters would be very different from what they are to-day. The armies on both sides of the Potomac might have been at home, and millions of treasure saved. If it be a fact that Slavery is at the bottom of this Rebellion, why will not those who seek to put it down attempt to do so in the right way, viz: by striking at the root of Slavery, and emancipate the entire slave population of the parties in the rebellion.

MR. ARTHUR RANKIN, M. P. P.

We noticed in our last that this gentleman had been arrested in Toronto, charged with having accepted a commission under the American Government, and for inducing men to enlist in his regiment of Lancers, which are being mustered at Detroit.

After a lengthy examination before the Police Court, he was finally bound over to appear at the Court of Assizes, himself in $800 and two sureties in $400 each. We should not be much surprised if the gallant Colonel should slip bail. Though every possible objection and contrivance was resorted to by the legal gentlemen who appeared for him he was caught, and we shall be glad if he yet gets his deserts. In all the examinations we have ever read, we do not remember where more quibbling and greater attempts have been made to frustrate the ends of justice than that employed by the learned gentlemen who conducted the case for the defence. It was altogether the most contemptible piece of pettyfogging that has crossed us for some time.

It is high time our law-makers were visited for their unmanning attempts at trampling on the laws they bind or round the necks of the people, and we hope Mr. Rankin will be but the first of a long list who will be made to suffer for infractions of the law.

We do not enquire the conduct of the pro-chancy, looking-to-Richmond sons of the Leader slaughter in this case, but we are glad the investigation has ended in the way it has.

[illegible] Mr. Irvine, in [illegible] to visit the Penitentiaries of Monaghan [illegible] days. He will also [illegible] Penitentiaries [illegible]

A JUST COMPLAINT.

We have loud complaint against the Monaghan Gravel Road company. It has for some time past been the injunction by travellers of this Road because of the comparatively enormous toll charged thereon. For a single horse and waggon the rate is 3d, and for a double carriage or waggon 7½d, and this includes only the two first toll-gates, so that persons coming into Town, or vice versa, from a distance of 9 miles, have to pay this high rate. The effect on the trade of the Town is injurious, as will be seen from the fact that on the other end of the Road the rate of toll is only one-half that at this end, and the result of this state of things is that trade is carried away from our Market to other places, Millbrook principally. Any article of wheat, barley, peas, pork, &c. there is as good a market in Millbrook as here, and parties living midway on the road will naturally prefer the part with light tolls, and the latter market. The consequence is that we lose the valuable trade of that section of country altogether. It is a frequent subject of remark that the traffic on the Gravel Road is small, and no wonder of it when the reasons are considered.

We are told, moreover, that the Road is not in a creditable state of repair, and this fact added to the other makes the case a bad one indeed.

We do not say that any one particularly is to blame for the high toll. Undoubtedly the Company find it necessary to levy it to meet expenses, but as we have shown it is disastrous to the trade of the Town.

The Town of Peterborough has stock to the amount of £300 in the Gravel Road, and the County also holds stock to the amount of £500. The dividend of profits can be by no means large enough to cover the amount of injury to our trade. The best course under the circumstances, it appears to us, would be for the Town to relinquish its stock altogether, in consideration of the tolls being reduced to one-half or one-fourth their present rate,—or a mutual arrangement might be come to whereby the remainder of the stock could be bought up, and the Road thrown open to free public travel. If we understand the case correctly all parties, stockholders as well, are equally anxious to have the affairs of the Company in a more satisfactory shape. As we said before, the complaint against the state of affairs on the Monaghan Gravel Road is a just one, and we hope to see some immediate movement in the direction of improvement.

GRAND CONCERT.

The world-renowned Contatrice, Madame Anna Bishop, will give one Grand Concert in Peterborough, during the coming week. Mr. D. C. Lerue, the Agent and Manager, in his letter to us, says he cannot yet name positively the night of the Concert here, but thinks it will be on Saturday, 26th inst.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

We regret to learn that Mr. Humphrey Findlay, suddenly came to his death by an accident on Saturday last. Mr. Findlay, in company with Dr. Irons, was driving along the road, when a bolt in the whippletree broke. Mr. F. leant forward to fix the same, when the horses became frightened and ran off, drawing him a distance of about two miles, causing his death.

IN TROUBLE.

The Smithites are in trouble. Bill after bill, some for definite and others for very indefinite services performed at the late election, flow in upon the Committee. We are told of one from a Saloon-keeper in Town of $140. What the services were or in what the value was received we know not, but say it may guess. A gentleman informed us yesterday that he was applied to to make out a bill against the Smith committee of $5, for "etceteras;" and threats the most violent have been used in case the accounts are not paid; one claimant even declares that "that dinner won't come off unless I'm paid." And here is the trouble. There is "no corn in Egypt." So much ready cash had to be put out before the election that now the coffers are empty, and the "faithful" who were credulous enough to give credit, are left to "hang their harps on the willows" and bewail their fate. We hope no great evil will result from the present state of things among the Smithites. We hope they may get out of it easily.—Where are the Ralph Joneses of their party now? Ah, the election is over, Sid. has been returned, and that is all such gentry care about an election. Before polling is the time for them to spend the cash, not after. It will likely be a lesson to our Peterboro' men, who will probably have to foot the bill. "Burnt bairns dread the fire."

☞ The Review of last week states "on the most undoubted authority," that no letter was issued by the Bishops on the subject of the late election. We hope it is not too much to ask who or what "the most undoubted authority" is the Review speaks about. If there is no answer, we will take it as another instance of the cringing disposition of the editor of that paper, for expected favors. The Review stated not long ago that Rev. Mr Kelly made no allusion whatever to the late election from the altar,—whose any member of that gentleman's Church could have given the lie direct to the editor. We don't believe our Catholic neighbors will thank the Review much for his misrepresentation of their position, while every Protestant will put a just estimate on such conduct.

☞ We insert the communication of Mr McDonell as a simple act of justice, and shall cheerfully insert any reply thereto.—We trust, however, that he is in error as regards the ground of his not being reappointed to his office. We can scarcely suppose that any of our City Fathers should so far forget themselves as to act as very unworthy of their official position as Mr. McD. seems to think. The matter, however, is before the public, and we await further developments, if forthcoming.

☞ "CHARITY," an excellent contribution, will appear, as our last page went to press before it was received.

PETERBOROUGH AND VICTORIA FALL ASSIZES.

The Court opened at 10 o'clock on Monday, 6th inst., before His Hon. Mr. Justice Richards.

The civil cases came before the Court, and were disposed of in the following order:—

Bank of Toronto vs. Henry et. al.—Weller for plaintiff, Hughes for defendant, (Smith pl'd H.) Verdict for plaintiff, $512 85c.

Muir et. al. vs. Scott—Dennistoun for plff., Hughes for def., (Smith pl'd H.) Verdict for plff., $853 16.

Austin vs. Dickson—Burnham for plff., Dennistoun for def. Verdict for plff., $400 damages.

Scott vs. Boyd—Burnham for plff., Dennistoun for def. Verdict for defendant.

Austin vs. Shaw—Burnham for plaintiff, Dennistoun for def. Verdict for plff., $200 damages.

Austin vs. Snyder—Burnham for plff., Dennistoun for def. Verdict for plff., $40.

Burnham vs. Burns—Burnham in person, Armour for def. Verdict for plff., $377.

Austin vs. Hughson—Burnham for plff., Weller for def. Verdict for plff., $200.

Marmion vs. Hall—Hughes (Smith pl'd H.) for plff., Armour for def. Verdict for def., with leave to plff., to move.

Boulton vs. Marmion—Weller for plff., Hughes (Smith pl'd H.) for def. Verdict for def., with leave to plff. to move in Court, in points reserved.

Jones vs. Buford—Verdict for def., by consent.

Jones vs. Jones—Verdict for plff., one shilling damages, by consent.

The criminal docket was light.

The case of Ralph Burns for the murder of a man named Daulton, in the township of Galway, came before the Grand Jury, but "No Bill" was found by that body, and the prisoner was discharged.

Two men from Lindsay, named respectively McFarlane and Johnstone, were tried on charge of larceny. Both pleaded "not guilty." Verdict "Guilty." Sentenced to two months imprisonment in Gaol, each, with hard labor.

Eliza Jane Grimes—Larceny. Pleaded "Guilty." Sent to gaol for four months, hard labor.

Joseph Ryan stood trial on three separate charges of Larceny, on two he plead "guilty." Verdict, in two cases "guilty," in one "not guilty." Sentence, on first charge one year Provincial Penitentiary, hard labour; on third charge, two years Provincial Penitentiary, hard labour.

On Wednesday evening, about 7 o'clock, all cases having been disposed of, the Court rose.

TOWN COUNCIL.

MONDAY, Oct. 14, 1861.

The Council met.

A communication from Messrs. Wilson and Hector in reference to bill of costs in the Chancery case the Town against Conger, was read, and referred to the Finance Committee.

A petition from Mr. Bently and others, asking the Council to alter the Building By-law so as to exempt lots 1 and 2, south of Brock, and 1 and 2, north of Hunter Street, and east of Water Street, from the operations of said By-law, was read and laid on the table.

Several accounts were presented. The committee on Finance and Assessment reported recommending payment of sundry accounts.

On motion the By-law appointing Collector in the place of T. J. Heathcote, deceased, was re-considered. Mr. Wm O'Donnell, the person appointed at last meeting, not being able to qualify, on motion his name was erased, and that of Mr. John A. Hartley substituted in the stead thereof. The By-law was then read a third time and passed.

The Council then adjourned.

SALE OF TIMBER BERTHS.

From the Leader.

HURON, SUPERIOR, AND PENINSULA OF CANADA WEST TERRITORY.

To whom adjudged.	Amount of Bonus.	Amount of Ground Rent.	Total.
John McGrigor	$4 00	6 25
James G. Phelps,	84 00	6 17
Cook & Brothers,	88 00	10 17
Cook & Brothers,	75 00	9 25
A. C. Thompson,	83 00	8 00
Cook & Brothers,	125 00	10 00
A. Kennedy,	41 00	4 25
Peter Cockburn,	13 00	4 00
Peter Cockburn,	67 00	8 25
Peter Cockburn,	91 00	7 75
A. McEana,	20 00	4 00
A. McEana,	24 00	4 00
Cook & Brothers,	126 00	10 33
Cook & Brothers,	93 00	10 17
John McGrigor,	85 00	6 00
James G. Phelps,	90 00	9 00
John McGrigor,	85 00	9 84
Cook & Brothers,	83 00	7 67
A McAulay,	106 00	10 00
M. H. Tobin,	113 00	10 00
James G. Phelps,	104 00	12 50
	$1689 00	$175 65	$1844 65
ONTARIO TERRITORY.
Thomas Beck,	300 00	4 00
Cook & Brothers,	800 00	8 00
Thomas Short,	375 00	5 00
John McGrigor,	600 00	8 00
Samuel Dickson,	325 00	5 00
Thomas Short,	405 00	5 00
A. Macnaly,	300 00	4 00
White M. Platt,	100 00	3 00
A. Macnaly,	95 00	4 00
A. Macnaly,	75 00	7 50
A. Macnaly,	100 00	8 00
John Ludgate,	1170 00	11 00
William Henry,	880 00	11 00
John Lamprey,	330 00	11 00
Samuel Dickson,	1200 00	4 00
Samuel Dickson,	300 00	6 00
Samuel Dickson,	100 00	6 00
Thomas Beck,	100 00	4 00
John Ludgate,	55 00	4 00
Thomas Beck,	100 00	6 00
Julius Bissonette,	325 00	10 00
Samuel Dickson,	500 00	9 00
Cook & Brothers,	1200 00	9 00
William Henry,	6217 00	9 00
Julius Bissonette,	320 00	4 00
Samuel Dickson,	100 00	4 00
	$9,576 00	$215 00	$9,360 00

INTEMPERANCE.

The Grand Jury at the Assizes in the City of Toronto, last week, in their presentment to the Court, entertained the following, on the subject of Intemperance:—

"The Grand Jury are impressed with the strong conviction, and the statistics of crime in this city furnish abundant evidence of the fact, that much of the crime now undergoing punishment, and many of the bills which have been submitted for their consideration, have been the result of drunkenness, caused and indeed fostered by the cheapness of intoxicating liquors, and the facility for procuring them. The Grand Jury have, no doubt, been much struck by the [illegible] which [illegible] the Province [illegible] the [illegible] of the [illegible] and [illegible] the [illegible] of [illegible] gully granted, but even under this limitation, the number of places is still to a great extent little else than [illegible] and which are the chief resorts of the idle and disorderly.

"[illegible] the [illegible] number of [illegible] groceries [illegible] question, and evil of the greatest magnitude; no consideration of revenue from licences can compensate for the injury inflicted thereby on society. And it is pretty clear that until the power to grant licenses rest with a body wholly removed from popular influence a real guard by no other consideration than the desire to promote the public good, can the crying evils of intemperance be remedied."

☞ The Toronto Leader and the ministerial journals generally—there are a few honorable exceptions—are altogether pro-slavery in their sympathies and seem to justify the South in their present rebellion. Is this done to pave the way for similar action here as soon as the people at the polls wrest the power from the hands of the present ministerial party? It looks like it. If the South are justified in rebelling because they have lost the control of the affairs of the United States, owing to their own unreasonable demands, then we are to infer from the Leader's logic, that the present party in power will be justified in taking the same position towards the constituted government here, as soon as their extravagance and maladministration disgust the people, and they are turned out of office? We have had, before now, examples of dethroned ruling men turning next thing to rebels from the same cause, and we may have it again; yet these are the men who would, in their contemptible hypocrisy, taunt other men—their superiors in loyalty—with entaining disloyal notions.

Communications.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

DEAR SIR,—The editor of the Review having published my letter to you of Sept. 30th, in his paper of the 11th inst., and having made his comments thereon, allow me again to refer to the subject, as also to his answer.

The editor says, "The reader can judge of it for himself." Not the least doubt of it; and probably he may judge of this one also.

Again, he says, "We care not to write many words in reply." Better would it have been for the editor if he had cared less, and not have replied at all.

Again, he says, "In a matter of fact "Mr. Flint is mistaken. His taking part "in the services at the Wesleyan Church, "in so far as speaking to the congregation "is concerned, was not at the request of "the pastor, but on the contrary, was the "result of a permission from the pastor, in "answer to an application from Mr. Flint "himself." Now, sir, "in a matter of fact" the editor "is mistaken," and not Mr. Flint, as will be seen by the facts as I now place them before him.

On receiving the Review this morning, I telegraphed as follows:

"Belleville, 14th Oct., 1861.

"Rev. John Carroll, Peterboro,

"When at Church Sunday evening, 15th September, did you beckon me to come to Altar? Did you ask me to go inside and speak a few words to the people? Did you ask me to engage in prayer? When I told you I would speak, was it not in accordance with your previous request?—Telegraph your answer.

"BILLA FLINT."

In answer to the above, I received the following telegraph:

"Peterborough, Oct. 14, 1861.

"To Billa Flint,

"Did beckon you to come inside the Altar. Did ask you to speak to the penitents and pray. Your late offer to speak was in consequence of a previous request from me.

"JOHN CARROLL."

I could have placed this "matter of fact" before the editor in the same manner as I do now; but he would not have had the same chance to commit himself, had I have done so, as now; and if I have cut it him, clever as I have been told he is, the fault is his own, and he must not blame me, and he, as my assailant, "might at least have saved himself from the contempt" which he so justly deserves, "by adhering to the truth."

The editor says, "The dispute is in a nut-shell." Better for him had he left it there; he would not have been placed in the humiliating position he is now in, had he done so.

As to "a prostitution of the Sabbath and of the sanctity of God's House to the purposes of my canvass," the editor says, "we thought it was, and we so asserted it to be." But did his thoughts or assertions make it true? Was he a fit judge? I think not. And if he had thought so, why did he not publish it in the Review of September 20? Why wait until the polling days were over, and then make the attack? His holding back until the 27th, might well cause me to state in my former letter, "shown a depth of degradation unparalleled, and not often witnessed in any country." His publishing it, if true, (which I deny) could not help Mr. Smith's cause after he was elected. Then what object had he in view?

The editor states, "It was impossible at "a time like that to separate the candidate "from the individual." Perhaps not with a certain class of politicians; it may be the editor is one of that class. Was he engaged on that day in canvassing for Mr. Smith? He knows best. Should he once fairly get his eyes open to the truth, he may then understand how it is possible to be candidate and attend on a canvass 6 days out of 7, and yet "separate the candidate from the individual" on the Sabbath day.

The public will now have both my letters and the editor's reply to the first one before them, and must "judge between us."

The editor states, "In one respect we "have a right to complain of Mr. Flint. "The letter should have been directed to "the Review." I think not, although he gives as a reason that "in the most public "manner we assured Mr. Flint that if at "any time he felt himself aggrieved by any "statement in the paper, the same medium "would be afforded him to set himself right. "A like assurance was given him privately "in his own room." Very true. But did he make those corrections he promised? If so, did he as a gentleman send me a copy of his paper with those corrections? If he did, I never received it. The editor makes it his right to publish what he thinks will damage me; he has done so all through my courses, and he must not complain if I chose at the other medium to set myself right in reference to the slanders put forth against me; and I think the editor of the Review to the last man who should mention me of "impertinence" in my closing paragraph. Let him reflect who commenced, who carried on, who communicated the height of "impertinence" towards a political opponent of his own stamp.

Would it not be well for the editor of the Review, should I again attend the Wesleyan Church at Peterborough, to ask me [illegible] on [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] pastor [illegible] me to come to the Altar, go with me; and if the pastor whispers in my ear, he had better place him along side to hear what is said, so that he can state the truth.

Let him learn, at all events, hereafter to treat a political opponent with some degree of gentlemanly courtesy, and he will not have to complain.

The editor should, in all fairness, publish the contents of the Telegraphs, and retract his mistakes, and let the matter drop, as I have no desire to keep up the warfare, and he can gain nothing by its continuance.

Yours, &c.,

BILLA FLINT.

Belleville, Oct. 14, 1861.

AN APPEAL.

To the Electors and Inhabitants of the Town of Peterborough:

FELLOW TOWNSMEN,

I feel it my duty to lay my grievances before you, and to ask your candid and impartial judgment on my conduct, as far as I have acted in a public capacity, in the Town of Peterborough.

In the month of May last I was employed by your present Mayor, Mr. Perry, with the consent of the Town Council, as Constable and night-watch, along with two others, to keep the peace and prevent the rowdyism which was so prevalent in Peterborough. I occupied that situation until August last; and how I discharged the duties of my office, I leave the inhabitants of Peterborough to judge from the peace and quietness which prevailed at that time, and the security from insult which they enjoyed. In August the other Constables and myself were discharged, as rowdyism, to a very great extent, had been subdued, and the authorities did not feel that apprehension of the violation of the peace which they were formerly afraid of.

Under these circumstances, and being out of employment, I was about leaving Town to seek employment elsewhere, when your Mayor, aware of this fact, came to me and said that my suspension was only temporary, and that I would be employed in my old capacity, as I had always done my duty fearlessly, faithfully, and well. Not only did the Mayor prevail upon me to stop here, but a number of the Town Councillors also, came to me and induced me to give up my intention of leaving Peterborough, as they would have me reinstated in my former situation. Under these circumstances, and believing these promises, I remained here; but to my utter astonishment, I now find that other men—and men who never before acted as Constables in this town—have been put into the situation in my stead; and although I have when employed done my duty without favor, fear or affection, I have not been offered the situation, although I made application for it.

I can appeal to the residents of Peterborough, who, a few weeks ago, numerously signed a Memorial for myself and another Constable, formerly employed, to be again reinstated for the protection and security of the peace of the Town.

But, Fellow-townsmen, unfortunately, or fortunately (I cannot say which) I am an elector and have a vote in the Town of Peterborough; and, as a voter, I always think it my duty to vote independently and as my conscience tells me is right, and for the best interests of the community at large. Now, I think that in Canada an elector should have the right of freely and independently giving his vote to the party whom he believed would contribute most to the welfare and interest of the community.—But in my case this has not been the rule. Votes may be bought, and are sold often without cash down. Now, some of the highest authorities in your Municipality have dogged me round the streets of Peterborough for my vote, making me promises of my former employment; but I voted independently of the soft insinuations of these gentlemen; and the consequence is, fellow-townsmen, I am now left unemployed, because I voted fearlessly, and according to the dictates of my conscience.

And now, fellow-townsmen, I have only stated a few facts to show how the power and authority which you have put into the hands of a few men is abused to further the ends of party and their own aggrandisement. I could refer to personal matters between myself and some of your City Fathers which would make them blush—how they take advantage of the position which you have placed them in to advance not only their political party, but their own private and personal views. Some of the City Fathers to whom I refer will very likely read this, but I am sure they will keep the secrets to themselves.

MARTIN MCDONNELL.

Peterborough, Oct. 9, 1861.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

SIR,—I should not be surprised if you have not had a visit from some of the fair ladies of Peterboro' in behalf of a Bazaar about to be got up to aid the Episcopal Church of St. Johns in discharging a debt or debts of long standing.

If you have been exempted from the general solicitation all I can say is you are fortunate in having steep stairs, for your mercantile neighbors and others have been favored with any amount of it during the past week, until the frequency has become far from pleasant. Strange to say, I have not met with, or even heard of any of the male portion of the congregation taking an interest in their movements, or making applications for aid in the persevering manner the ladies appear to do.

I trust I give no offence when I say the lady members of the English Church do not come before the community from whom they solicit help, with any clear or definite case.

So far as I can learn, there has been no meeting of the congregation, before whom this matter was laid and advice taken; neither can I find out that any statement of the indebtedness of the Church has been made out and authenticated, in order to found an application for aid, either to the members of the Church or the community generally.

However, let this be the fact or not, I would venture to advise the members of St. John's Church to pause before committing themselves any further to the very doubtful mode of raising funds to discharge Church debts. The plan has been tried more than once by St. John's Church, and by other Churches in Peterboro', and I think I am safe in saying that in those cases where it has been tried, most after-thought has disapproved of the mode adopted. And very sure I am, that the Christian spirit of the age condemns and discourages the Bazaar system. Looked at in its most harmless aspect, it is a species of gambling, and with its attendant refreshment table, does not encourage temperance. But besides this it necessitates appeal to other classes of Religionists, which I think unwise and unadvisable, and instead I would go a step further and say, it is not creditable to the Church having resources to fall back upon, to have recourse to it, particularly as one who professes to be on the grand foundation of any other Church [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

LATEST from EUROPE,

ARRIVAL OF THE "ASIA."

New York, Oct. 11.

The steamship Asia, from Liverpool on the 28th ultimo, via Queenstown the 29th, arrived here this morning, with two days later advices than already received.

All the American vessels in the Chinese waters had sailed for the United States, with the exception of one small vessel, which was left at the earnest request of the American merchants, and which proceeded suddenly to Shanghai, owing to the report that a schooner was being fitted out there as a privateer under the Confederate flag.

Religious services were celebrated at one of the Presbyterian Churches in Liverpool in honor of the day of fasting, humiliation and prayer in America.

The Paris Patrie had contradicted the report of a Convention for the immediate intervention of England, France and Spain with regard to Mexico.

The London Post, however, had reiterated the statement, and says that the Patrie has lost its semi-official character, and that the Convention will shortly be signed.

The London Times also confirms the rumor, and says the intervention of the three Powers will commence as soon as the weather permits, and further that it is undertaken with the concurrence of the American Government.

The Paris Bourse was heavy and lower since the Bank of France has advanced its rate of discount to 5½.

The Pope was very ill—more seriously than before.

There were rumors of an approaching conference between Klapka, Kossuth, Turr, and the Hungarian notables, in regard to the affairs of Hungary.

The disturbances which had taken place with the military at Pesth were owing to the seizure of tobacco which had been smuggled.

Spain still refuses to acknowledge any one as Sovereign of Naples but Francis II. It was expected that the Italian Minister would soon leave Madrid.

Liverpool, 27th.—Flour quiet and tending downward. Wheat declined 1d a 2d since Tuesday. Corn steady. Beef steady. Pork inactive. Bacon steady. Lard quiet but steady. Tallow firmer. Ashes advancing; sales of pots, 33s; pearls 35s. Sugar advancing. Coffee firm. Rice quiet —Carolina is higher.

London Market, Oct. 27.—Wheat declined 1d a 2d. Iron very dull. Sugar advanced 6d. Tea firm—congou 11d a 11½d. Tallow advancing, sales at 49s. Coffee advanced 1s a 2s. Rice quiet and unchanged. American securities quiet and steady. Ill. C. shares 38¼ dis.; Erie, 22¼ a 23¼.

LATEST.

London, Sept. 28.

The preliminaries of the treaty between England, France, and Spain, for intervention in Mexico, are not yet signed.

Paris, Sept. 28.

The frigate Astrea goes to reinforce the French fleet off the Antilles and Mexico.

Liverpool, Sept. 28.

The Arabia from Boston has arrived.

The Asia takes out £13,000 in specie.

Cotton sales for yesterday (Saturday) were 15,000 bales, 9,000 to speculators and exporters. The market closed firm at the advance previously reported, and with an upward tendency.

Breadstuffs quiet and steady. No sales. Provisions dull.

London, Sept. 28.—Consols 93 a 93¼ for money. American securities quiet.

ARRIVAL OF THE "GLASGOW."

Cape Race, Oct. 12.

The steamship Glasgow left Queenstown on the evening of the 3rd. She has a general cargo, and 55 cabin and 145 steerage passengers. All well. She experienced fresh westerly breezes during the voyage. On the 6th she signalled the City of Manchester from New York.

ITALY.

The issue of a pamphlet at Florence, condemning the temporal power of the Pope, created great sensation.

PORTUGAL.

A report says the King of Portugal is to marry a Princess of Savoy.

AUSTRIA.

All the functionaries in the Council of Pesth have tendered their resignations. The Chamber was occupied by the military and the members forcibly prevented from entering.

Count Jarrohy had returned unopposed, the order of the Government requesting him to remain in office.

TURKEY.

It was stated that the Bosnians and Servians had declared in favor of the Montenegrins.

POLAND.

A special meeting of the Poles is called for the 10th Oct., near Lublin.

BRAZIL.

The Brazilian mails had reached England. The steamers to the 8th of September.

Coffee suffers at a decline. Stock, 30,000 bags, Rezoa Ayres.

THE BATTLE AT HATTERAS.

DEFEAT OF THE CONFEDERATES.

The correspondent of the N. Y. Herald writing from Hatteras Inlet on the 7th says: On the morning of the 4th instant, about daylight, the look-outs of Colonel Brown's command, consisting of about eight hundred men of the Twentieth Indiana Regiment, located some thirty miles above this place, reported six rebel steamers, with schooners and flatboats in tow, all loaded with troops, coming out of Croatan Sound, and steering straight for the encampment. There was no time to be lost, for it was evident these numbers were too great to resist without artillery, supported as they would be by the guns of the steamers. The Colonel immediately dispatched a courier to Col. Hawkins, at Fort Hatteras, of his situation, stated that he would retreat to the lighthouse at the Cape, and there make a stand. The steamers landed about 1,500 men, and Col. Brown, Col. Hawkins, and Captain Lee, of the 9th Indiana, with about 1,000 men, commenced their retreat, which had been used as a hospital, finding what sick remained, therein. They then passed on down and encountered the leading troops below, [illegible] Col. Brown and his men [illegible] Col. Hawkins, Captain Lee, and the sick [illegible] the Cape. Here they were quite [illegible] the enemy [illegible] men, and [illegible] the enemy [illegible] from the ocean [illegible] upon receiving the information from Colonel Brown, dispatched [illegible] to the assistance of Colonel Brown, [illegible] Colonel Brown [illegible] Hatteras.

[illegible] JEWO.1

condition of affairs, and then started on the double quick, with six companies of his Zouaves, to reinforce the retreating troops. Captain L. immediately got the Susquehanna under way, at the same time ordering the Monticello to do the same, and proceeded up and anchored in Lighthouse cove, about 3 o'clock in the evening within half gunshot of the light. While daylight broke the troops on shore and the sailors were within speaking distance of each other. Colonel Brown's troops had not eating anything since the previous morning, which fact being made known to Captain Lardner, he immediately supplied them with provisions. At the request of Colonel Hawkins, Captain L. remained at anchor to protect the troops against such superior numbers as were supposed to be in pursuit of them. He at the same time ordered the Monticello to double Cape Hatteras, and proceed close along the shore, and see if she could discover any traces of the enemy. She had proceeded but a short distance when the rebels were discovered in full plume and within half a gunshot; the Monticello opened fire on them at once with shell that exploded with the utmost precision, scattered them in all directions, killing and wounding them by hundreds. The enemy consisted of one regiment of Virginians, the 7th Georgia, and about twelve hundred North Carolina militia, making a total of about three thousand men, under the command of General Huger, who, it is said, was killed at the commencement of the shelling process. Lieutenant commanding Braine says that he expended to their account two hundred and eighteen shells, every one of which did good service. Two schooners and flatboats, loaded with troops, which had not yet landed, or else had just re-embarked for their return, were entirely destroyed by the explosion of the shells thrown into them, killing and wounding all on board. A shell entered the side of one of the schooners, and then exploded, filling the air with fragments of the wreck and limbs of human beings. It is considered as being within bounds to say that at least five hundred were either killed or wounded. Hundreds of the rebels were seen to wade out into the sound up to their necks, and when they would hear a shell coming they would crouch down under the water, and remain as long as they could, and poke up their heads and listen for the approach of the next messenger of death, and repeat the operation. A more perfect trap could not well have been arranged for their destruction. The belt of land where they were discovered is not more than a third of a mile wide, and separates Pamlico Sound from the ocean. Their steamers attempted to come in close enough to take them off; a shell or two sent ploughing after them induced them to keep at a safe distance, and their troops were left to their fate. As soon as night set in the Monticello ceased firing. During the night they must have embarked, as the following morning discovered no traces of their presence.

DREADFUL SEAQUAKE.

A seaquake took place, on the 9th inst., on the Sumatra coast, which inundated whole villages, completely devastating Simo one of the Battu group.—Simo, before the occurrence, had thirteen campongs or villages, four of which, however, although they bore the names of former campongs, only consisted of a single hut, the rest of the houses having from time to time, removed to the other campongs. Besides these campongs, there were huts here and there, inhabited by persons who watched the cocoanut trees, and by swineherds. Previous to the disaster of the 9th March there were on the island 120 houses, and a population of 1045; on this unlucky day 96 houses were destroyed, and 675 of the inhabitants besides 103 temporary residents, lost their lives. Of the campongs nothing more is to be distinguished than the stones here and there, on which the Battu islander places the posts of his house, or which serve as seats in the gatherings in the campongs, and the wells which are found near each campong. On some places were great piles of trunks of trees, beams, and planks of houses, clothes and furniture, and amongst them the bodies of the dead, which had not yet been removed, some in a state of decomposition, others completely stripped of the flesh by the vultures, dogs and swine, of which last many also drowned, but a number still wandered in the jungle. These skeletons and bodies presented a most dismal sight, and rendered the atmosphere intolerable. It may be reckoned fortunate that most of the bodies were carried into the sea, because otherwise the tainted state of the atmosphere would probably have produced a contagious pestilence amongst the remaining population. The sea appears to be to have been most violent between the campongs Sime, Babanirege, and Latzo, on the west side of the island, where the greatest number of persons perished. According to the account of a survivor of the campong Babanirege, an earthquake was felt at the fall of the evening, shortly before the inundation. All the inhabitants then assembled by order of the pangheli, on the open space in the middle of the campong, but a moment afterwards they tried to make their escape from thence as they feared the fall of the houses which were already tottering. They were driven back, however by a rush of water which approached from the back of the campong. Running back from this, they were overwhelmed by another terrific wave which out of 282 persons, swept off 206.—The informant lost his wife and three children, and was himself with other persons, swept into the jungle inland, where they were caught by the trees, or managed to hold on. According to the account of the man, as well as others, two waves met each other at this point, and wrought a fearful destruction. Large masses of rock were carried from the sea for 100 or 200 paces inland.

FEARFUL SCENE AT A FIRE AT HUDDERSFIELD.

Early on Saturday 14th Sept., a fire of a most alarming nature was discovered at the residence of Mr. E. L. Heap, scientist Spring Grove, Huddersfield. The attention of the police was attracted to the scene of the conflagration by loud screams, proceeding from the upper storey of the building. On arriving there a fearful scene was presented. The three female servants were assembled at a third-storey window, shrieking for help, whilst the flames were fast approaching them. The officer who first arrived at the spot inspired them with confidence should be preserved, and went with all haste and fetched two ladders, but when he returned he was horrified to find two of them lying on the ground, in a bruised and bleeding condition. One of them in her extreme terror, had thrown herself a distance of nearly forty feet, and had fallen upon the cellar grating of the basement storey. The second one after hesitated to follow her example, and clung to the window-sill ere she dropped the terrific distance. At length she dropped from sheer exhaustion, and lay mangled with the fall when assistance arrived. The third servant escaped from the dreadful fate, a ladder being brought before she had taken any desperate leap. Mr. Heap, who was the only member of the family at home had to rush a descent from his bed room on the lower story by means of a sheet. He happily accomplished it without injury.—The scene was one of mingled horror and excitement. The fire continued to rage while the injured and almost lifeless sufferers were conveyed to a place of safety.—The first, Marin Woodhouse, the kitchen maid, received a concussion of the brain; and the second, Ann Biggs, the cook, had a fractured leg, and several internal and external injuries. Neither of them are expected to recover.—English paper.

In Hamilton, on Saturday morning, two ladies had their pockets picked of their contents, while engaged in making purchases in the James Street market. One lost $9.75.

— We learn from the Brockville Monitor that the Town Council of Brockville have fixed the taxes for the current year at 4s. 7d. in the £, exclusive of 1s. 6d. in the £ levied by the Counties' Council, making the rest amount to be paid 6s. 1d. in the £. This is rather sharp municipal taxation.

— Sir Edmund Head has given a farewell ball to the Quebeckers, and Lord Monck, our future ruler, will soon arrive to take Sir Edmond's place. None of us will think any the less of our new Governor, because he hails from the verdant glades of sweet Tipperary, one of the fairest lands that e'er the sun shone on.

— The Constitutionnel mentions a fact which is curious (if indeed it be a fact,) that Hochstetten, one of the largest towns of Bigien and Walgringen, with a total population of 10,000 souls, has not a single medical man. It would be interesting (observes Galignani) to know whether the public health is better or worse than in other places through this deficiency.

FAST SAILING.—The ship Shandon arrived in Montreal last week on her third trip from the Clyde this season. She will return home, and probably make another trip to some American port before the end of the year. Such sailing is unprecedented. Vessels have been known to make three trips to Quebec in one season, but never to Montreal before.

— A building in course of erection in Lindsay, belonging to Mr. Funk, fell in on Saturday, 5th instant, in consequence of a bad beam of timber giving way. A man named Murphy was killed, and two others greatly injured. Many place the blame of the accident on the shoulders of Mr. Funk for not having proper material used in the building; the beam which gave way, we are told, was rotten, and altogether unfit for the purpose.

— Two men confined in the Perth Jail for burglary, made an attempt last week to effect their escape. They had made a rope of their bed clothes, to which they attached an iron hook, to throw over the wall of the jail yard, which, becoming attached, would enable them to scale the wall by means of the rope. They had each a large knife, sharpened to a keen edge, which they no doubt intended to use against any person attempting to stop them.

☞ According to the St. Catherines Daily Journal, a man was recently assaulted by a bear in Cranberry Marsh, Welland County. He was shockingly torn before two neighbors, armed with guns, came to his assistance. One of the men shot the bear and a desperate fight ensued, during which, the fire-arms were broken to pieces. The two might have been overpowered but not a third man appeared, and, coming up close, lodged a ball in the bear's head causing it to roll over dead. There are other bears in the vicinity.

Birth.

At Indian Point, Bexley, on the 20th ult, the wife of Mr. Asa M. Humphrey, of a son.

Peterboro' Markets.

Thursday, October 17th, 1861.

	$	c.	$	c.
Flour ₰ brl	4	50	@	5 00
Wheat ₰ bush. fall	0	90	@	1 00
Spring Wheat ₰ bush	0	75	@	0 80
Barley ₰ bush	0	35	@	0 40
Oats "	0	20	@	0 23
Peas "	0	40	@	0 45
Potatoes (new)	0	15	@	0 25
Pork ₰ brl	14	00	@	15 00
Beef ₰ cwt	3	50	@	4 00
Butter ₰ lb	0	10	@	0 12
Hay ₰ ton	7	00	@	8 00
Hides ₰ cwt	3	50	@	4 00

WM. CUMMING,
Market Clerk.

TORONTO MARKETS.

Wednesday, October 16th, 1861.

Fall Wheat $1, a $1 14c.
Spring Wheat 92 a 97c.
Barley 45c.
Oats 27c a 29c.
Peas 50c a 52c.
Potatoes, (new) 50c a 55c.

New Advertisements.

Ferguson & Mitchell,

Beg to call the attention of the public to their well-assorted stock of

SADDLES, HARNESS, WHIPS,

TRUNKS, VALISES, BRUSHES, &c.,

which they will sell

☞ VERY CHEAP FOR CASH. ☜

All orders promptly attended to, and repairing done on the shortest notice. A call is respectfully solicited. Shop on Hunter Street, Peterborough.

GRAND CONCERT!

Farewell tour in America.

MADAME ANNA BISHOP

☞ The World renowned Cantatrice!

☞ What, since her last appearance in America

☞ has made the circuit of the globe, will give

☞ ONE GRAND CONCERT

☜ IN PETERBOROUGH,

☞ during the coming week. Particulars will ☞ be announced by posters and programmes.

GOD SAVE THE QUEEN.

October 15th, 1861. 41

HENRY BENARY,

IMPORTER AND DEALER IN

PIANO-FORTES, MELODIANS,

MUSIC AND MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS,

ROSAIN BUILDINGS,

No. 81 King Street West,

TORONTO.

BEGS to inform the public of Peterborough, that he will open his Warerooms in Toronto, where he will keep constantly on hand a large stock of his best Piano-Fortes for sale and hire. The satisfaction he has given to those parties with whom he has the honor of dealing for the past 6 years, with Messrs A. & H. Nordheimer, leads him to hope that he will receive a large share of the public patronage in Peterborough. He will attend to the Pianos of his patrons with the same zeal as heretofore.

Toronto, October 14, 1861.

MORTGAGE SALE

OF

VALUABLE MILLS

AND

REAL ESTATE.

WILL BE SOLD BY PUBLIC AUCTION at Caisse's Hotel, in Town of Peterboro', On Thursday, November 14th, A. D. 1861, at 11 o'clock, A. M.,

Under and by Virtue of a Power of Sale contained in a certain Indenture of Mortgage from Charles Perry and Margaret Perry his wife, to George H. Castle, dated October 15th A. D. 1853, and of Assignment thereof to Josiah B. Plumb, all those certain parcels or tracts of lands being broken Lot No. 6, in the 11th Concession of the Township of Douro, containing 17 acres more or less: Lot No. 21, in the 3rd Concession of the Township of Smith, containing 66 acres more or less (Galignani) to know whether the public health is better or worse than in other places Lot No. 22 in the 3rd Concession of the said Township of Smith, containing 36 acres more or less.

On the property are erected Valuable Mills, &c.

Terms Cash. Further particulars may be had on application to

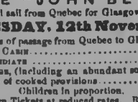
MACDONELL, MACDONELL & WILKINSON,
Vendor's Solicitors.

Kingston, October 9th, 1861. 41

DIRECT STEAM COMMUNICATION WITH GLASGOW.

Another line of Steam Packet Ships, sailing regularly between

MONTREAL, QUEBEC, AND GLASGOW.



Steerage 25 Dollars — Steerage 25 Dollars

Ships.	Tons.	H. Power.	Com.
United Kingdom	1355	300	James Ray,
John Bell,	1103	330	Edward Scott

THE "JOHN BELL"

will sail from Quebec for Glasgow on

TUESDAY, 12th November.

Rates of passage from Quebec to Glasgow:

Saloon Cabin	$80 00
Intermediate	30 00
Steerage, (including an abundant supply of cooked provisions	25 00

Children in proportion.

Return Tickets at reduced rates. Berths not secured till paid for. Each ship carries a duly qualified surgeon.

For freight and passage apply to

G. & D. SHAW,
16 Common Street,
Montreal.

October 17th, 1861. 43

NOTICE OF DISSOLUTION OF PARTNERSHIP.

MESSRS. FITZGERALD & DRENNAN have this day dissolved partnership by mutual consent. All debts due to the firm formerly existing will be paid to Mr. Fitzgerald, and all debts due by said firm will be paid by the same.

JAMES W. FITZGERALD.
WILLIAM DRENNAN.

Peterborough, Oct. 5, 1861. 41

BEEF! BEEF!!

250 BARRELS

MESS & PRIME MESS BEEF

For Sale Low cash by

ROBERT COCHRANE.
Butcher at the Market.

Peterborough, Oct. 8, 1861. 41

THE LARGEST, CHEAPEST AND THE BEST PLACE TO PURCHASE

READY-MADE CLOTHING

IS AT

HAFFEY'S,

All the Clothing is made on the premises, and warranted!!

Peterborough, Sept. 26, 1861. 39

PROVINCIAL INSURANCE CO', OF CANADA,

FOR FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE.

ESTABLISHED 1840.

INCORPORATED BY ACT OF PARLIAMENT.

SUBSCRIBED CAPITAL, $1,986,080

Head Office - - - Toronto.

President:—Hon. John Hillyard Cameron.
Vice-President:—J. S. Howard, Esq.

DIRECTORS:

Hon. John Hillyard Cameron,
Hon. George Crawford,
Hon. Malc'm Cameron, M.P.P.,
John Cameron, Esq., M.P.P.,
A. M. Smith, Esq.,
George Duggan, Jr., Esq.,
J. S. Howard, Esq.,
Edward C. Jones, Esq.,
Angus Morrison, Esq., M.P.P.,
Lewis Moffatt, Esq.,
W. L. Perrin, Esq.,

Manager & Secretary:—James Sydney Crosher.
Assistant Secretary:—J. F. Widdicombe, Esq.,
Inspector of Agencies:—Wm. Higbie, Esq.,
Solicitors:—Messrs Duggan & Burns.
Bankers:—The Bank of Toronto.

J. R. WALTON, Agent,
Peterborough.

☞ Fire and Marine Insurances business transacted by this Company at its various Agencies, as well as at the Head Office, Toronto, at fair and average terms.

October, 1861. 41

SCOTTISH PROVINCIAL

ASSURANCE COMPANY.

ESTABLISHED 1825.

CAPITAL - - - - $5,000,000.

Head Office—Aberdeen, SCOTLAND.

Canada Head Office,—Place d'armes, MONTREAL.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

Hon. Taylor, Esq., Advocate.
R. D. Cassels Esq., Merchant.
Wm. Rhind Esq., Banker.
W. H. Lambe, Esq., Merchant.
Legal Advisers—Messrs. Bethune & Dunn.
Medical Adviser—Wm. Hall, M. D.
Inspector for Canada—A. Dawkins Fassett.

Office in Edinburg..... 48 Princes Street,
" Glasgow..... 111 St. Vincent St.
" London..... 99 Cannon Street,
" Dublin..... 24 College Green,
" Montreal..... Place d'armes.
Medical Referees—Dr. Rolland, J. Brown.

J. R. WALTON,
Agent, Peterboro.

October, 1861. 41

THE PHŒNIX INSURANCE CO'Y,

OF HARTFORD, CONN.

Capital - - - - - - $1,500,000.

CHARTER PERPETUAL.

JOSEPH B. WALTON,
Agent.

Peterboro', Oct. 8, 1861. 41

Canada West Farmers' Mutual and Stock INSURANCE CO'.

HEAD OFFICE—HAMILTON, C. W.

President—D. J. Lawry, Barton.
Vice-President—T. Stock, Waterdown.

HONORARY DIRECTORS.

Asa A. Burnham, Esq., Cobourg, County of Northumberland.
John Harvey, Esq., County of Peterborough.
John Gibb, Esq., County of Victoria.
RICHARD P. STREET,
Secretary & Treas.

JOSEPH B. WALTON,
Agent, Peterboro.

October, 1861. 41

REDUCED RATES

FOR

ASSURANCE.

Scottish Provincial INSURANCE COMPANY.

THE FOLLOWING TABLE OF PREMIUMS has been framed, so as to redress the cost of Life Assurance to the lowest point. It will be observed the Rates payable for the first Five Years are not much more than HALF the usual charge, while, for the remainder of life, they are still moderate.

To Assure £100 sterling, payable at Death, with profits after first five years:

Age.	First 5 Years.	Remainder of Life.
	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
20	0 18 11	1 9 11
25	1 1 9	2 7 2
30	1 5 2	3 14 7
35	1 9 2	3 2 1
40	1 14 5	3 13 10
45	2 0 6	4 4 3
50	2 9 8	5 1 4

Secretary for Canada:—A. Davidson Parker.

JOSEPH B. WALTON,
Agent, Peterboro.

October, 1861. 41

WANTED!

AT THE PORT HOPE RAILWAY STATION,

A LARGE QUANTITY OF

PEAS & BARLEY.

W. CLUXTON.

☞ A buyer constantly in attendance at the Store-house there.

Peterborough, Oct. 8, 1861. 41.

PORK! PORK!

TO LUMBERMEN AND OTHERS!

200 BARRELS OF CHOICE

MESS PORK!

For Sale Low for Cash.

ROBERT COCHRANE,
Butcher at the Market.

Peterboro', Oct. 8, 1861. 41

WAR WITH CANADA!

FOR SALE.

THE east half of lot No. 4, north side of Elizabeth Street, in Ashburnham. There is a Good Frame House, with good cellar, stable, sheds and well on the premises. For particulars apply to

PHILLIP SARGENT,
Proprietor.

Ashburnham, Aug. 1861. 33

THE FOUND WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING

A perfect Antidote, Specific and Cure for

RHEUMATISM & NEURALGIA

has long been needed. After earnest and patient research, this has been triumphantly discovered. It is called

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING!

Watson's Neuralgia King reaches the source of the trouble, and banishes the disease from the system. Unlike the untold number of Liniments and Embrocations which merely stimulate the surface, are but temporary in their effects, and are, at best, of doubtful virtue, it STRIKES AT THE HEAD OF THE DISEASE, ARRESTS IT, KILLS IT, ERADICATES IT, and leaves no trace behind.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING also cures GOUT AND DYSPEPSIA, in all their forms. It is now giving relief to thousands who have been suffering form these diseases, and who have tried all other remedies in vain.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING has received the highest testimonials from the highest sources in regard to its wonderful efficacy. It operates with equal success in mild and chronic cases, never failing to work out a speedy and permanent cure.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING costs but one dollar a bottle, and one then a bottle often effects the end desired.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING is the only, Specific and cure for Rheumatism and Neuralgia that has ever been discovered.

Prepared by

A. I. MATHEWS,
Buffalo, N. Y., and Fort Erie, C. W.

Sept. 26, 1861, 39

OTONABEE MILLS.

THE SUBSCRIBER has pleasure in informing his friends and the public that his MILLS are again in operation, and that he will be glad to attend to the calls of all old and new customers. Particular attention will be formerly be paid to Grinding and Custom Work, and good fresh ground will be kept on hand for retailing, which will be delivered at any place in Peterborough or Ashburnham, upon orders being left, with the money, at the Mills, or at his Store.

FAMILY FLOUR

R. D. ROGERS.

Ashburnham, Sept. 12, 1861.

NEW GOODS.

THE Subscriber offers for sale one of the nicest lots of Goods ever offered in Peterborough, consisting of

FAMILY GROCERIES,

Teas,
Sugars,
Coffee,
Tobacco
Spice of all kinds,
Starch,
Dry Fish,
Mackerel,
Salmon,

A LARGE VARIETY OF

BOOTS AND SHOES,

and the nicest assortment of

CROCKERY

ever offered in Peterborough. All of which will be sold

Very Low for Cash!

C. W. ROBERTS.

Peterboro', Sept. 19, 1861. 38

WOOD TURNING CHEAP FOR CASH.

THE undersigned begs to inform the citizens of Peterborough and the public in general that he is now prepared to do any description of Wood Turning that

BUILDINGS OR FURNITURE,

Also, Ripping lumber to any width or thickness. Furniture made to order, at the lowest Cash price. Also Workbenches of the very best quality always on hand.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

☞ Shop in Ashburnham, under D. Doran's Woolen Factory.

W. F. MARLEY.

Ashburnham, Sept. 18, 1861. 36

FOR SALE.

THE subscriber offers for sale the east half of Lot No. 20, in the 9th Con. Otonabee, containing 100 ACRES, 80 of which are cleared, well fenced, and in a good state of cultivation. There are on the premises a good Dwelling House, and a new Log Barn with stabling under. For further particulars apply at the Examiner Office, or to the proprietor on the premises.

JOHN PETERKIN.

Aug 21, 1861. 34

FOR SALE

SOUTH half of Lot No. 9, in the 2nd Con. of Smith, containing 100 acres. This Farm is beautifully situated about three miles from Peterborough; there are eighty acres cleared, and on the premises there are a good Stone House, Barns and other Outhouses.

The north half of Lot No. 10, in the 9th Con. Smith. This Farm has eighty acres cleared, and is situated about seven miles from Peterborough.

For particulars apply to

JOSEPH KELSO,
or
WM. TOLAN, Jr.,
Monaghan.

September 18, 1861.

BOARD.

A LADY RESIDING IN A CENTRAL PART of the Town will be happy to receive a few respectable Gentlemen, as Boarders. Every attention will be paid to make them comfortable. Terms moderate. For particulars apply at this office.

Peterborough, September, 1861.

SAVE YOUR FURS

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL ! !

WM. LECH,

FURRIER, MONTREAL,

WILL OPEN BUSINESS a the above line about the end of June, in the premises now occupied by Mr. Templeton Brown, carpet store, Scott's Building, Peterboro'. Raw furs will be manufactured to order; also dressed pelts cleaned, and

ONE OF THE LARGEST STOCKS IN THE

FUR TRADE

in Canada, will be offered for sale at prices much lower than ever known in this part of the country before. Hats and caps of the latest styles. The highest price will be paid for raw furs.

May 8, 1861.

WANTED!

100,000 BUSHELS

OF

WHEAT!

W. CLUXTON.

PUBLIC NOTICE

IS hereby given that the Township Council of Otonabee intend at their meeting to be held on the

21st Day of October next, to pass a By-law to close up the Road established across Lot 18, in 9th Concession of Otonabee, on the 14th day of January, 1859.

GEO. READ,
Township Clerk.

Aug. 25, 1861.

REMOVAL.

R. D. BASKERVILLE,

HAIR-DRESSER AND PERFUMER, Has fitted up with taste and convenience at considerable expense, a Saloon on George St., 2 doors south of Lawson's Hotel, where he will be in attendance on the public, during all business hours. Having visited some of the largest American cities this summer, he is thoroughly acquainted with the

LATEST FASHIONABLE IMPROVEMENTS

in his profession, and flatters himself that he will not be found second to any in the Canadas.

☞ Positively no business on Sundays.

Peterboro, Sept 9, 1861. 37

Mathews' Chocolate Worm Drops

NEVER fail to destroy and exterminate all kinds of Intestinal Worms. Are perfectly reliable in all cases, and far superior to any and all of the Fancy Worm Confections, and nauseous Vermifuge in use. They may be taken at all times with perfect safety, as they contain no Mercury, or other deleterious Drug. Mothers should always purchase them and give their children no other.

(No Cathartic whatever, is necessary to be given.)

Each box contains 24 Drops or Lozenges.—Price 25 cts. For Sale by all Druggist and Dealers in Medicine.

A. I. MATHEWS, General Agent,
Buffalo, N. Y., and Fort Erie, C. W.

The Great French Remedy!

MADAM BOYER'S CELEBRATED SILVER COATED

FEMALE PILLS.

THE ONLY CERTAIN AND SAFE REMEDY for all Uterine Obstructions, Monthly Difficulties, Irregularities, and diseases to which the woman, Wife and Mother is peculiarly liable. These Pills contain no deleterious ingredients, but are safe and certain in their action. They will be found to exert the happiest effect in all cases of Prolapsus Uteri, in Leucorrhœa or the Whites; they will be found the surest and most certain cure than can be found. In fact on account of this certainty they should not be taken by Married Ladies at certain periods, but at other times their use is perfectly safe.

N. B.—If enclosed to any authorized Agent will receive a package of Pills by return mail.

C. Crosby, General Agent, Fort Erie, C. W. Buffalo, N. Y.; Lyman, Elliot & Co., Wholesale Agents, Toronto.

Sept. 17, 1862. 39

INSPECTOR'S NOTICE.

THE undersigned hereby gives notice that he will make his tour of examination for the inspection of

WEIGHTS & MEASURES,

in the County of Peterboro' at the dates hereof specified, when parties using Weights & Measures are required to present them for inspection. He will be at the following places on the days respectively:—

Norwood	Sept. 24 & 27
Hastings & Westwood	"	26
All Saints and Keene	"	30
Ashburnham	"	Oct. 1 & all 2
Springville	"	3
Bridgenorth & Lakefield	"	4
Warner & South Monaghan	"	5
Peterborough	"	7 to 10

N.B.—All parties not presenting their weights and measures will be prosecuted according to law.

WILLIAM SHERRY,
Inspector Weights & Measures
For the County of Peterboro'.

Peterboro', Sept. 19, 1861. 38

200 ACRES

OF

LAND FOR SALE,

IN THE

VICINITY OF THE TOWN OF PETERBOROUGH.

THE Subscriber offers for sale, his Farm, being composed of East No. 20, in the 12th Concession of the Township of Otonabee, with exceptions of nearly a mile, along the main travelled road leading to Rice Lake, Keene, Auburndale, Westwood, Norwood and Hastings, and bounded on the west by the Cobourg and Peterborough Railway.

There are about 100 Acres cleared and under cultivation; the land is well watered and well drained; there is a substantial board fence along the front and up the centre of the Lot, and a large Frame Barn and other buildings upon it. Also a suitable for respectable residences, in full view of the Town of Peterborough and the Village of Ashburnham.

YOUNG ORCHARD.

WHERE ARE

SEVERAL BUILDING SITES!

A sufficient instalment will be required at the time of sale from purchasers taking the whole or large portions of the Lot, and the remainder as shall be agreed upon. A Deed will be given and a Mortgage taken.

If the above Lot, or any portion thereof, remain unsold

ON MONDAY, the 28th day of OCTOBER Next,

the subscriber will offer the same for sale on that day by

PUBLIC AUCTION,

on the premises, at 12 o'clock, noon, to the highest bidder,

IN LOTS OF TEN ACRES EACH,

or in larger portions to suit purchasers, in the following order:

The East half of the Lot will be sold first, beginning with Park Lot No. 1, at the north east corner, and taking the Lots in as successive order to the centre of the Concession, after which the West half will be offered for sale, commencing at the eastern limit of the Cobourg and Peterborough Railway, and numbering the Lots as described in the Map, westward to the centre of the Concession. A Plan of the Lots may be seen and other information obtained on application at my office in the Court House.

WALTER SHERIDAN.

Peterborough, 10th Sept., 1861. 36

TO THE RESCUE.

NO SECESSION!

No Surrender!

THE SUBSCRIBER WISHES TO INFORM his numerous friends and customers that he has received a large supply of Groceries, Wines, Brandies, Gin, Old Tom Whiskies, Porter and Ale, Cast Oil, Burning Fluid, &c. He also wishes to advise that being a friend of all Reforms—just in principle—he has made one grand reform in Lakefield, viz: Selling Goods at Peterborough prices for cash or trade.

The Groceries on examination will be found to comprise the best quality and value the very best market can afford in all things requisite and useful for families.

The Liquors will also be found to be carefully selected, and of

FIRST-CLASS QUALITY!

The stock of Crockery, Earthenware, Tin-ware have also been renewed, and will be kept constantly supplied, to properly work out the only just principle of business,

Cash, or its equivalent.

The whole stock will be sold at so small an advance on cost as must ensure success, as no bad debts are to be provided for.

☞ Call and judge for yourselves, you will get the worth of your money and the right change back!☜

JAMES STEWART.

Lakefield, Sep. 16, 1861. 38

MONTREAL ASSURANCE COMPANY.

ESTABLISHED BY SPECIAL ORDINANCE IN 1840.

CAPITAL STOCK, $800,000.

PAID UP.....$80,000.

Head Office, No. 9, Great St. James St. MONTREAL.

Wm. MURRAY...Manager.

THE undersigned begs to intimate his appointment as agent in Peterboro', for the above company, and is authorized to insure Buildings, Merchandize, Household Furniture, and Personal property, against loss or damage by fire, at rates as low as those of any responsible office.

For further particulars, rates, &c., apply to

W. H. SCOTT,
Agent.

Office in Burnham's Block, opposite the Review Office.

Peterboro, Aug. 28, 1861. 35

Gutta-Percha Roofing.

No article ever before introduced to the public has equalled the LIQUID GUTTA-PERCHA for coating tin or other roofs, new or old. One gallon, costing $1.00, will thoroughly coat from 200 to 300 feet of roof, and this coating will render the roof perfectly water tight, and will last three times as long as white lead or other paints. For covering roofs, either new or old we repeat, it has no equal for durability and cheapness, and we offer it to the public fully confident of its intrinsic excellence, and with our warrantee that it will do all we claim for it. Sold in barrels of forty gallons each, at a liberal discount to dealers. Address all orders to

READY ROOFING CO.,
23 Cedar Street, New York.

October 3rd, 1861. 40-1y.

FALL & WINTER GOODS!

THE subscriber is now receiving a very

LARGE SUPPLY

OF

☞ Fall and Winter Goods.

THE STOCK OF

FANCY & MILLINERY GOODS

IS NOW

VERY COMPLETE.

Good Value for Ready Money, or exchange for Summer Produce!

W. CLUXTON.

Sept. 26, 1861. 39

WOOD WANTED.

A FEW CORDS OF GOOD HARDWOOD will be received by the undersigned, at his store on George street, Peterboro', in exchange for Groceries, Liquors & Tobacco, at the highest market price.

[illegible]

GROCERIES AND LIQUORS.

THE subscribers beg leave to state to their customers that owing to late losses by fire, &c., that they will

After the first of October next,

conduct their business strictly on

THE CASH PRINCIPLE,

after which date all accounts will be closed. All parties due them by Note or Book Account will please call and make an early settlement as all debts due must be collected immediately. As by selling for cash they will know no bad debts, and therefore be enabled to sell at

☞ LOWER PRICES! ☜

All parties who favor them with their custom may depend upon it.

GOOD GOODS

At Lower Rates than heretofore!

All kinds of Produce taken in exchange for goods, and as usual

GLOVER & ROBINSON,
Hunter's Range.

Peterboro, Sept. 1861. 39-tf.

THINGS TO BE REMEMBERED!

GEO. A. COX.

IS returning his sincere thanks for the very liberal patronage he has received since commencing business, would respectfully intimate that he still continues to practice Photography in all its different branches, in a manner that cannot be surpassed. He would also have it remembered that it was to him was awarded at the late Provincial Exhibition for the BEST

THE DIPLOMA

HOW TO CHOOSE A FARM HORSE.

The farmer requires a horse that can take him to market and around his farm, on which he can occasionally ride for pleasure, all which in most emergencies can be for the love and not horror.

First to notice is his eyes which should be well examined. Clearness of the eye is a sure indication of goodness; but this is not all—the eyelids, eyebrows, and all other appendages must be also considered—for many horses whose eyes appear clear and brilliant, go blind at an early age; therefore be careful to observe whether the parts between the eyelids and eyebrows are sunken, for this indicates that the eyes will be lost. When the eyes are remarkably flat, sunk within their orbits, it is a bad sign. The iris or circle which surrounds the sight of the eye should be distinct, and of a dark, variegated, cinnamon color, for this is a sure sign of a good eye. The eyes of a horse are never too large.

The head should be of a good size, broad between the eyes, large nostrils, red within, for large nostrils betokens good wind.

The feet and legs should be regarded, for a horse with bad feet is like a house with a weak foundation, and will do little service. The feet should be of a middle size and smooth; the hocks should be firm, and not spongy and rotten.

The limbs should be free from blemishes of all kinds, the knees straight, the back sinews strong and well braced, the pastern joints should be clean and clear of swellings of all kinds, and come near the ground, for such never have the ring-bone. Fleshy legged horses are generally subject to the grease and other infirmities, and therefore should not be chosen.

The body should be of good size, the back straight or nearly so, and have only a small sinking below the withers; the barrel round and the ribs coming close to the hip joints. Shoulders should run back but not too heavy, for a horse with heavy shoulders seldom moves well; chest and arms large.

A horse weighing from 1,900 to 1,400 is large enough for a cart horse; from 1,100 to 1,200 large enough for a farmer's horse, from 1,000 1,100 is heavy enough for a carriage horse.

We would advise every one to get some experimental knowledge of a horse before purchasing.—Ohio Cultivator.

THE FRENCH GRAIN TRADE

The Paris correspondent of the London Times writes: "When we consider the enormous quantity of foreign wheat purchased within the last month as well in Paris as at Dunkirk, Havre, Nantes, Bordeaux, and Marseilles, we naturally inquire how the French markets have been hitherto supplied, and what quantity of corn she will still require. To ascertain this fact we may refer to the year 1847, when bread rose in Paris to the enormous price of 1f. 20c. the 4lb loaf, and we find that 9,383,663 hectolitres of foreign wheat were consumed in France between the 1st of August, 1846, and the 31st of July, 1847. During the same period, in the years 1854 and 1855, the foreign corn consumed amounted to 3,400,360 hectolitres; in 1855 and 1856, 7,097,296 hectolitres; and in 856 and 1857, 9,856,770 hectolitres. Thus, during the five years most remarkable for a deficient harvest, the foreign wheat imported and sold for consumption never exceeded 9,856,770 hectolitres. It is calculated that the present harvest is deficient as any of those enumerated, so that France will require to import at least 10,000,000 hectolitres of foreign wheat previous to the next harvest. Corn merchants, however, enjoy one advantage this year. They have no sliding scale to interfere with them. The trade is free, and they will not be compelled to lose time while waiting for provisional decrees to be issued on the subject."

PRESERVING GREEN CORN.

A "Subscriber," who requests some one to furnish directions for preserving green corn in cans, can accomplish his object with less labor and less expense, without employing cans. The modus operandis is as follows: Boil the corn (on the cobs) until it is thoroughly scalded; then cut from the cobs and dry, either in the baker of your stove or by laying in the sun, one or two sunny days generally being sufficient. If well dried and kept, corn prepared in this way will keep till "this time next year," and perhaps a day or two longer. Beans and peas may be preserved in the same manner. Care should be taken, however, not to boil them too tenderly; in that case you would not be likely to succeed very well in drying.

RECEIPE FOR THE BEST PICKLES EVER MADE.

A peck of green tomatoes, sliced; one dozen onions, sliced also; sprinkle them with salt and let them stand until the next day, then drain them. Then use the following as spices:—One box of mustard, one and a-half ounces of white cloves, one ounce of all-spice; put into the kettle a layer of spices and one of tomatoes and onions alternately. Cover them with vinegar; wet the mustard before putting it in; let the whole boil a few minutes and you will have pickles as good that you will be pestered by all your friends asking you for the receipt.

THE ZOUAVE COSTUME.

The mode so prevalent throughout the country of decking youngsters in the loose habiliments of the Zouaves, is likely to create a revolution in boy's costumes. The loose, baggy, trousers afford the utmost play for the limbs, and are not constantly breaking at the knees, nor ripping at the seams; and they afford room for the most capacious pockets, where a boy's traps, from a cockchafer backbone to a dunghunt, may be stored. The close-fitting gaiters are much superior to the ordinary shoe, as they keep the feet dry and prevent the trousers from getting wet at the bottom. If gray cloth were so admitted for the tee brilliant red, the style might properly become universal.

☞ Our exchanges have recently contained several instances of the explosions of coal oil lamps, and the question has been raised: is coal oil explosive? Properly prepared and manufactured the various hydro-carbons sold for illuminating purposes are not explosive, nor will they take fire on the roof or, the conspicuous and burning fluid [illegible] in instances in which [illegible] the fluid [illegible] the [illegible] the [illegible] the

The Examiner.

PETERBOROUGH, CANADA WEST, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1861.

Volume VI.] "THE PEOPLE." [Number 43.

JAMES HALL, SHERIFF. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

Mr. TOOLE, MANUFACTURER of Sash Blind, Door and Window Frames, Every description of Joiner Work done to order. Shop East door to Martyn's Mills, Peterboro', C. W.

MESSRS. FITZGERALD & DENNIS, PROVINCIAL Land Surveyors, Civil Engineers, &c. Office for Deeds' Chambers, corner of George and Simcoe Streets, Toronto. P. L. S. D. having lately surveyed the outlines of eight new Townships now included in this County will be happy to give any information to intending settlers.

J. B. BISBEE, DEALER in Boots, Shoes & Leather, George Street, Peterborough, C. W.

W. CRAWFORD, GOVERNMENT Land Agent. Office at the Crawford Block Shanty.

EDMUND S. VINDIN, COMMISSION, Shipping, Forwarding, and General Agent, Lumber (wholesale), &c.—Office—Corner of Walton and Ontario Streets.

MR. DENNISTOUN BEGS to announce that he has Master Mackenzie's Shop, Simcoe Street, Dublin, for a few months.

MR. A. T. HEATHFIELD, PRACTICAL TOOTH DRAWER, Etc. Peterborough.

JOSEPH'S FASHIONABLE Hair Dressing and Shaving Saloon in the Building formerly occupied by the Post Office, and is held on the Hope. Peterborough, 1861.

GEORGE MITCHELL, DEALER in Groceries and Provisions, &c. Cash paid for all kinds of country produce, George Street Peterborough.

T. G. HAZLETT, DEALER in Provisions, Groceries, Crockery and Glass ware, Hunter Street, Peterboro.

W. SHERIDAN, COUNTY Treasurer and Clerk. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

R. STEVENSON, PAINTER, Paper hanger, &c., &c., Brock Street, Peterboro'.

GEORGE H. HUGHES, ATTORNEY AT LAW, SOLICITOR IN CHANCERY Conveyancer, &c. OFFICE in Henry's Building, next door (north) to Thomson's Store, George St., Peterborough.

GENERAL FIRE AND LIFE INSURANCE OFFICE. W. CLOUSTON, Agent.

J. COULTER, PETERBORO', DEALER in General Dry Goods, Clothing, Furs, Hats, Caps, Carpets, Oil Cloths, Crockery, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Hats, Hall and Tooth Brushes, Spices, Culinary Essences, Fancy Soaps, &c., &c. 16

THOMAS MENZIES, BOOKSELLER, Stationer, &c., &c., &c., at Bingo's Exchange Block, George Street, Peterborough.

A. HARVEY, M. D., CORONER, RESIDENCE—A few doors, opposite the Railway Depot, Peterboro.

W. H. SCOTT, BARRISTER AT LAW, Solicitor in Chancery, Notary Public, Conveyancer, &c. Office:—In Smellman's Block, opposite the Post Office, Peterborough.

A. M'CREA, PROVINCIAL Licentiate, Physician, Surgeon, &c. Norwood.

GEORGE PRINGLE, M. D., PHYSICIAN, Surgeon, &c., &c., graduate of McGill College, Montreal, having also studied in the hospitals of London and Dublin. OFFICE AND RESIDENCE—Brock Street, opposite the Mechanic's Library Building, Peterboro', C. W. April 25, 1861.

ALEX. M'NEIL, AUCTIONEER, Valuator, &c., &c. Licensed for the United Counties of Peterborough and Victoria. George St., Peterboro'.

JAMES BEST, DEALER in Ready-made Clothing, Gentlemen's Boots and Shoes, &c., &c., Rowe's Block, George Street, Peterborough. 16

MR. DUNN BEGS to inform the Public that his old establishment, with Union School, will devote a short time each day to [illegible]

A. POWELL & Co. HARNESS AND SADDLERY, George Street, Peterboro'.

REAL ESTATE BOARD. [illegible]

E. Dalrymple, Ryan's Block, Brock Street, Peterboro'.

FOR SALE. [illegible]

D. PENTLAND, Surgeon and Mechanical Dentist, corner, over the Post Office, George Street, Peterboro'.

TEETH Extracted by the aid of Electricity, with the least possible pain. Teeth inserted on Gold Plate, Silver, &c.

VULCANIZED RUBBER. Teeth and Material warranted to be of the first best quality.

D. P. particularly wishes the public to understand that he

WARRANTS HIS WORK TO GIVE GOOD SATISFACTION,

and parties who are not perfectly satisfied with their plates have the privilege of returning them before paying for them.

Particular attention paid to the treatment of all diseases of the mouth, and also the regulating of children's teeth.

Peterboro', April 10th, 1861. 16-1

ALBION HOTEL, MONTREAL.

E. W. DERMER, Proprietor.

THIS extensively patronized establishment, situated on the west end of ST. PAUL STREET, amongst the largest wholesale houses in the city. It has (with business men generally, and especially with the best Merchants of both Provinces) become a great favourite, that it is now acknowledged to be THE Business Hotel of Montreal. To meet the extensive patronage during the last year in the business of the house, the proprietor has built a large addition. The Dining Room has been extended and made more commodious; there have been constructed in the new wing, a great number of well-ventilated sleeping rooms, and the House throughout has been refitted, and in other essential many improvements and convenience, hitherto unknown to its guests. The whole of the bedrooms are great strangers, and furnished with NEW SPRING MATTRESSES. The Proprietor expects that by continuing his personal management of the concern, THE ALBION may keep up the boast of it, will continue to be, as it has been, the best Dollar and a half Hotel in Canada.

VALUABLE FARM FOR SALE.

THE subscriber is desirous of disposing of his Farm, south west part of Lot 23, in the 11th Con. Otonabee, only 3 miles from the town of Peterborough, and on the main road leading to Keene, comprising 160 Acres.

60 Acres are Cleared, and in a good state of cultivation; 14 Acres of Fall Wheat are sown, and a part of Fall ploughing is done. A good Frame Rough-cast House, 26 x 30, a Barn, 40 x 36, and a good stable and other out-houses are on the premises.

A GOOD WELL

of spring water stands within a rod of the house, and is easy of access. A good YOUNG ORCHARD OF 85 TREES, in good condition, and of the choicest fruits, is on the property.

The Farm is one of the best in the Township, and the situation is very convenient, no better chance for the purchaser of a good farm could be offered, and it will be sold at a liberal price.

Title Indisputable.

Apply to the proprietor on the premises.

THS. WEIR.

Otonabee, Nov. 7 1860. 54

NOTICE

THE next meeting of the Senior Board of Instruction for the County of Peterboro' will be held on the

First Tuesday of Dec. next,

IN THE COURT HOUSE, AT 10 A.M.

Teachers holding third class certificates issued a year or upwards ago, are required to have them renewed.

By order, EDWARD A. [illegible]

Peterboro' May 14, 1861. 20

THE LATEST IMPROVED COAL OIL AND COAL OIL BURNERS, AT REDUCED PRICES. JOHN McDONELL, Grafton Street.

Jan. 2, 1861. 1

PORT HOPE & PETERBORO RAILWAY

ON and after the 6th of May, 1861, and until further notice, Trains will run as follows:

GOING NORTH.

Leave Port Hope [illegible]

GOING SOUTH.

Leave Peterboro' [illegible]

JOHN TOWLER, Superintendent.

INFORMATION WANTED.

A DAUGHTER [illegible] of Mr. Thomas Gilbert, who left Peterboro' for the West about three years ago, is anxious to hear from her father, who is supposed to be residing in Rochester. It is feared he is sick, as he has not been heard from for some time. Any information of him will be thankfully received by his daughter, Mrs. Thomas Powell, Peterboro'.

Rochester, N. Y., 24th May, 1861.

HEAT OF KIN WANTED! [illegible] Pounds Sterling

Poetry.

ANNEXATION.

May Ann's rye come back,
Brother Jonathan,
And sprinkle your stars that remain
On old "Union Jack,"
Brother Jonathan,
Ah! as of old, English again?
The thought is your own—Annexation.
Attack us if bold on as both sides;
One language, one race, and one nation.
One country, the world as it rolls!

We'll give you a Queen,
Brother Jonathan,
Unless you prefer a young Prince
No apples and no spleen
Brother Jonathan,
It's to feeds eighty years since:
Answer us—you couldn't do better,
You'd head all the races of pots land,
As brothers, not linked by a fetter,
But linked in the wood hand in hand.

Queen Vic for King Mob.
Brother Jonathan;
The bargain, I guess is worth while;
For she couldn't rob,
Brother Jonathan!
Freedom of even a exile!
And as to treason and Slavery,
Ruin and shame—chicken stris,
Both by the death-doom of slavery
And in that death-doom your own!

Brantford, Sept. 1861. Maurice P. Tierney.

September 16, 1861.

AN INCIDENT.

It was one of those cold, cheerless, rainy days in the early part of the season, just the kind of weather that has a tendency to make one feel ghostly and down-cast, that I left my office after my usual daily routine of duties had ended; and buttoning up my coat, I hastened on with chattering teeth to get in out of the rain. As I was hurrying on through a beautiful park, which adorns the capital city of the "Old Keystone State," I noticed a group consisting of man, woman and child, seated under the outspreading branches of one of the numerous trees, as if to shelter themselves from the storm.

The man seemed sad and weary; his elbows were placed on his knees, and his head rested in his hands; his eyes were fixed on the ground with a vacant stare, while his frame quivered as if by some deep inward emotion. By his wide nature of the most abject and forlorn specimens of human nature I ever beheld. She was thinly clad, evidently suffering from the cold. The tears were falling thick and fast on the little head of the child; a little girl of about eleven summers, who was nestling close to her mother's bosom, as if to seek some protection from the cold and driving rain.—But I passed on an idle spectator of their sorrow! After going a short distance I was prompted by that inward feeling of the heart with which the benefactor Creator has seen fit to so graciously endow mortal man—sympathy for each other—to retrace my steps and ascertain, if possible, the cause of their seeming sorrow. I accordingly approached them and inquired the cause of their grief. The woman raised her pale face, which still bore traces of former beauty; the tears rolling down her cheeks, and with quivering lips tried to tell me, but sobs choked her utterance.

The husband then raised his head, and, after a painful effort, related to me his story. He said he had been living on the banks of a beautiful little stream in the state of Virginia, where he and his family had lived—up to the time that this most lamentable and fearful scourge, civil war, had broken in upon our hitherto happy and peaceful country—a life of uninterrupted peace and happiness. But like thousands of others, was forced to abandon his Southern home and dear ones, choosing rather to leave the endeared of his country—all that he had been enabled to accumulate by many years of honest toil, than be compelled to fight against the glorious ship of state, with its emblem streamings, its stars and stripes as redolent of hope, carrying joy and gladness wherever seen by the true-hearted and brave, and which he had been taught from childhood to look on the noblest emblem of earth.

One night, taking his wife and two little ones, together with a few articles of wearing apparel, on a wheelbarrow, he started his dusky countenance to seek friends. Who can picture the anguish of that destitute family, when they forced an heard their pleasant home where they had spent so many happy years, and passed which clustered the cherished associations of early youth, recollections which are very dear to every heart. Need I tell you of the many weary days journeying beneath the scorching rays of the sun; of the many nights they spent, with no covering but the blue canopy of heaven, exposed to the pitiless rain—of the innumerable hardships and sufferings which they endured on their long and weary journey through a wild and thinly settled region of country? Of the fatigue mother, who, poor soul, had to carry the child most of the way, and for many days and nights in succession, with no other bed than the cold damp earth, and no other covering than the canopy of heaven? Still she bore all with a patient resignation, and with the hope, held fast within her heart, that she could soon find for her offspring, and husband, some quiet corner, and the comforts of a home. Many watchfulness awaked not; its soft and rosy cheek grew paler day after day, its eyes of blueness grew more deep, and its little form more attenuated, while the father and mother, with heavy hearts and sad countenances, could only look on and [illegible] Sometimes they would be kindly received and hospitably entertained by the humane and benevolent, and sometimes they would be driven away with curses and imprecations. Sometimes they would be allowed to sleep in the barn, and sometimes they would be driven away to the woods in the form of drams. In short, drunkenness sometimes hardens the brain during life as effectually as a bath of fourth proof spirits could subsequently after death. Hyrtl, the celebrated physiologist, declared that he could distinguish in the dark, by the resistance it offered to his knife, the brain of a drunkard from that of a person who had lived soberly; and when he found a hardened brain in the dissecting room, was accustomed to congratulate the students in his class on obtaining a specimen so thoroughly prepared for preservation and for the purpose of demonstration.

How horrible then to putrify, as it were, the seat of thought, the organ of the soul, while its arteries still throb with the pulse of life, and its gossamer tissues are permeated and acted upon by the immortal principle of our being. Does the inebriate ever reflect that he may be literally stuffing his mind out of its God appointed home? Does he realize, as his ideas become more and more obtuse, that the instrument through which they were developed is hardening; that it must soon lose all flexibility and elasticity, and become utterly powerless; that were it escaped from its skull case and given to the surgeons, it would be the just of the dissecting-room as "a drunkard's brain?" Well has it been said that habitual intoxication dries up all the fountains of feeling, leaving behind only "a brain of lead and a heart of stone."

THE CROPS.

That two such years of good crops at home and high prices abroad as this and the last have come to us just at this great National crisis, must be regarded as peculiarly fortunate. Last year, up to this time, our total exports were $69,767,793, against $42,968,740 in 1859. Of the exports of 1860 the great bulk of raise was in cotton, until later in the season, when the great crop of cereals began to find its way to the seaboard, after which the proportion of grain in the National export manifest rapidly increased. Altogether we were paid not less than $50,000,000 in gold for the breadstuffs sold by us to our European customers. This year we have been exporting since the 1st of January at the rate of more than two millions of dollars per week, or in exact figures the enormous sum of $90,097,261, fully one half of which has been in cereals. Better than this for our finances, there is small probability of an abatement in the foreign demand, the last accounts from France and England representing the crops at least a third below an average. In England the deficiency has been estimated in some districts at two-thirds, and a like unfortunate state of things is reported in parts of France. Wheat is nowhere plentiful on the Continent; rye in part in Germany; Indian corn seriously so in Italy; and potatoes are generally doubtful. The harvest not being satisfactory in Portugal, all grain, except Indian corn, will be admitted free of duty until April 30 of next year. It seems generally acknowledged that our corn crop in large beyond precedent, not so much from an increased yield as from the large area planted. Prices in the north-western districts, removed from water communication remain very low, and may remain so if the Southern market remains hermetically sealed against the enormous North-Western shipments of 1860. Wheat, we hear, gives a third less yield than last year on account of the greatly prevalent drouth, winter-killing, the devastation by the army-worm, and other insects, rust, thin seeding and other causes. Potatoes, in some sections, are badly destroyed by rot, so much so in some as to threaten local high prices. The fast increasing percentage of injury caused to this tuber by the insidious disease, in every country where grown, would seem to point to its ultimate extinction, and the employment of some substitute by the great mass of the people.—N. Y. Tribune.

DISCOVERY OF A NEW CODFISH MINE ON THE COAST OF IRELAND.

The English papers state the discovery of a new cod bank off the coast of Ireland, which fairly swarms with fish. It is a place called Rockall, an isolated group of rocks in the Atlantic Ocean, situated in 57.33 north latitude, and 13.40 west longitude. It bears north-west from Tory Island, off the coast of Donegal, and west by south from St. Kilda. The soundings vary from 50 to 90 fathoms, and at some distance around especially towards the south, increased to 70 and 90 fathoms. The bottom is gravel, shells and fine sand. The bank does not lie very far northerly of the line of route taken by the Canadian steamers from Liverpool to Quebec by the North passage. The discovery was accidentally made by a vessel becalmed there.

On the 2nd of last July the two vessels from North Isles, and on the 13th of the same month they were both unable to return, filled with many tons of fish. Dr. Downes, in writing an account of the discovery to the newspapers, says that each of the smacks took a hundred [illegible] each worth of fish in five days' fishing. "Captain Rodan informs me" says the Doctor, "that they caught the fish as fast as they could haul and haul, and when any of the cod escaped from the hook great monstrous sharks as blue as if painted with a brush, darted around the ship's side and swallowed them in an instant. The very sea-birds were tame, evidently never having been disturbed by man, some of them flying on board and eating the offal."

Further information, received after a recent expedition to this fisherman's El Dorado, confirms the first account. One or two additional vessels had been equally successful with those originally sent out, and their captains and crews give a glowing account of the fish wealth which may be gathered at this lonely spot.

The statements they give of the great fish they saw, and the wealth to be gathered there, seem (says Dr. Downes) more like the adventures of Sinbad the Sailor than present facts by successful fishermen. They tell of encounters with great sharks 35 feet long, with mouths that could swallow calves, and bodies as large and round as tuns; of the finny and serpent-like tribes monsters large whales sporting and rising on every side of them, one having completely grazed the bottom of the Victor with its huge sides. They also saw starfish far larger which they never saw before, while some black fish larger than porpoises, with flat round heads, and which seem very numerous.

We are very glad (says an English paper) to chronicle the discovery of this new fishing bank—first, because the promised benefit will be rapidly understood; and second because the discovery gives a fresh proof to settle the fact of the [illegible] enjoyed by fish, much to the great annoyance of the earth in inhabited by man.

[illegible] A new way of collecting a bad debt has been tried effectively tried in the Rue Neuve des Petits Champs, in Paris, before the lodgings of a contractor disputed debtor. A man was observed walking up and down before the house, having upon his head a large [illegible] with the words "[illegible]" written in large letters upon it. The man continued his walk for several hours, and then disappeared. The next day he was seen walking in the same manner, with the same placard upon his head. This went on for several days, when the debtor, unable to endure the annoyance any longer, paid the debt.

THE LATEST PROJECT.

The Sarnia Observer says: Some of our enterprising citizens have been much exercised in reference to the best means of promoting the progress of the Town by drawing the traffic of the Oil Regions to it.—The projected Plank Road has been the means hitherto in vogue with that view, but we learn that a scheme has been mooted which will cast the grand scheme totally in the shade. This is neither more nor less than the formation of an "Obedient Company," with a capital of some 3,000 shares of $20 each. The scheme contemplated is, to lay a range of cast-iron pipes from Black Creek direct to Sarnia, by an airline, for the conveyance of the Oil from the wells to Sarnia. At some central point at Black Creek a large reservoir, capable of holding ten thousand gallons, may be built at such an elevation as will give the Oil a propelling power through the pipes, sufficient to cause any given quantity to travel the entire distance at the rate of at least ten knots an hour. All that will therefore be for the party to deliver any specified quantity at the Depot, get his cheque, come to Sarnia and present it at the Depot here, and receive and barrel up his Oil, paying a small sum per gallon for its transmission. The scheme is certainly the most feasible yet spoken of, and as a matter of course, the corporation of the Town of Sarnia is expected to take at least one-half of the stock. The size of the pipes can be made in proportion to the quantity expected to be conveyed. There can be no limit to that, when we look at the way the same principle is carried into operation in supplying some of the largest cities with water. It will be available at all seasons, for it is well known that the Oil is not affected in the slightest degree by cold weather, or even the severest frost.

THE SAME OLD DODGE.

A confidence dodge, supposed to have been "played out" years ago, was perpetrated in this city yesterday upon a man belonging to Port Hope, named Samuel H. Gibbs. Mr. Gibbs "has travelled," and was on this occasion en route for home, having recently paid a visit to England.—He took the steamer at Liverpool and landed at New York on Monday last.—Upon arriving at this place yesterday, he was approached by a stranger, who, strange to say, was going on the afternoon to Canada by the same boat. Mr. Gibbs was glad to hear of it, and also delighted to hear that the wife of his new made friend, who was at the Congress Hall, was going over with her husband. Mr. confidence man then proposed a walk, and they walked. Mr. Confidence man then desired to see a man on St. Paul Street. As they were leaving the "man" spoke of the payment of that "little debt." Mr. confidence man pulls out a plethoric wallet, but what a pity! He hadn't anything less than a hundred! Mr. Gibbs, however, has "just the thing," in the shape of four five dollar bills, which he handed over, and the debt was paid.—The "dear little wife," at Congress Hall, has a large quantity of bills, and even gold, he will procure it of her for his friend. Mr. Gibbs is requested to wait in the depot until he comes out. He failed to come out, and Mr. Gibbs departed for home a sadder and a 'dead broke' man.—Rochester Express.

PRUSSIA, FRANCE AND ENGLAND.

The forthcoming meeting of the King of Prussia and the Emperor of the French is the subject of an article in the Times of the 4th instant, in which his Prussian Majesty is lectured pretty soundly on the folly of forming a French alliance and giving up the English one. He is told, for instance, that "should Prussia be attacked the fleets and armies of England might render her the most estimable service; while, if a war were to break out with England, the army of Prussia, occupying a long and straggling territory, could do but little against a well defended frontier, and nothing whatever to arrest, like the Dutch in 1568, the dangers of a maritime invasion of England." This is assuming that the Prussian King really intends to form an alliance with France of an offensive and defensive nature, of which there is not the slightest proof, and which we'd be viewed, if it were carried out, by the whole German people with the strongest dislike and reprobation. It really seems as if crowned heads could not carry out towards each other the ordinary civilities of life without incurring lectures not unlike those which anxious and watchful nursery maids bestow on the children under their charge. The assumption here put forth that we may be found opposing both France and Prussia is not pleasant to those who remember the length and cost of our wars with the First Napoleon. Our debt of more than eight hundred millions is tolerably conclusive evidence that it was a dear struggle, and there is this further unpleasantness in the retrospect, that some of the crowned heads or their descendants for whom in that struggle against the fiery Corsican we poured out our blood and treasure like water, has the least idea of gratitude for the sacrifice. We really have little or no concern in the jealousies and contentions of Continental Europe. While a flourishing commerce all over the world our duty ought to be to keep friendly with all nations who would be friendly with us, instead of seeking to stir up strife wherever we can.

THE TRADE OF THE UNITED KINGDOM.

(From the European Times.)

It is now ascertained that the value of grain and flour of all kinds imported into the United Kingdom during the six years ending with 1859 was £119,832,676,—an annual average of £19,980,613; whilst in 1860–1, owing to the bad harvest, it was no less than £31,617,918. The failure of the harvests in France this year is seriously affecting the money market of that country. Our own imports of wheat and flour for the eight months ended 31st of August amount in value to little less than twenty millions, and of barley, oats, peas, beans, and buckwheat, we imported during the same period nearly ten millions' worth. In 1859 we received from France nearly one per cent. of our supplies of flour, and from the United States only one per cent.; this year the United States send us nineteen per cent. of flour and France only nine per cent.—Therefore France has not enough left to let any given year, we must import 60,000,000 of bushels of wheat, 20,000,000 of barley, 20,000,000 of oats, 5,000,000 of beans, and pay for the lot with the fact of the [illegible] enjoyed by fish, much to the great annoyance of the earth in inhabited by man.

☞ If your property is not Insured,

☞ call and have it it done by the un-

☞ dersigned who is agent for a number

☞ of the best British and Canadian

☞ Companies,whose business cards will

☞ be found in another part of this

☞ paper.

J. R. WALTON,

Insurance Agent.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Grand Concert—Madame Anna Bishop.
Seal and Watch Key Lost.
Wheat—D. Sutherland.
Godey's Ladies Book—T. Menzies.
Credit Sale by Auction—A McNeil.
Great Credit Sale—A. McNeil.
Notice—Dunmer and Burleigh.
School Teacher Wanted—P. H. Armstrong.

The Examiner.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1861.

SLAVERY AND THE AMERICAN CIVIL WAR.

Whilst all observers will be ready to admit that the emancipation of the slaves in the Southern States was not the real object of the War, yet we are assured that as certainly as effect follows cause so surely will Emancipation follow the present struggle between the North and South.—Whilst the great body of the Northerners as well as the Executive Government at Washington have strenuously avoided the most remote allusion to abolition of slavery it must be acknowledged that a radical change is taking place in the Northern mind on this subject. In fact no sensible man can shut his eyes to potent facts, presented to him as the war proceeds.—Whatever may have been his views on the emancipation of the Negro race at the commencement of hostilities, he now begins to see, perhaps for the first time, that the origin of this horrible fratricide is nothing more nor less than Slavery. "The object of the Southern secession," says Mr. Stephens, the Vice President of the Southern Confederacy, "is to establish a Confederacy which shall have slavery for its corner stone!" And the light is beginning to dawn on the great body of Northerners that this is a fact,—hence we find in many public writers and speakers a change of views in reference to the cause of the war as well as to the right way to proceed in prosecuting it. Among the most striking converts is Professor Brownson who as some of our readers are probably aware is an able Roman Catholic writer who conducts a Review, in which his change of sentiments are distinctly set forth. We quote an extract from the current October issue in which he comes out boldly for the overthrow of the fundamental cause of the National perils and woes. We bespeak a careful perusal of the short extract below. He says,

"The question of the Abolition of Slavery is becoming with us a practical question in a sense it has never before been. The rebellion of the Slave States, which has for its object, not so much the dissolution of the Union, or the separation of the South from the North, as the re-construction of the Union on the basis of Slavery, or, as the Vice-President of the Confederate States has it, with 'Slavery as its corner stone,' and therefore the extension of Slavery over the whole country, cannot, fail to force this question upon the grave attention of every citizen of the loyal states, who loves his country, and believes in the practicability of freedom. The Slave States, by their rebellion and war on the Union, are compelling us to regard this question as one which must soon be practically met, and are forcing all loyal citizens to make this election between the preservation of the Union and the preservation of Slavery. This, whatever the Federal administration, whatever individuals or parties in the Free States, with or without Southern or Pro-Slavery proclivities, may wish or desire, is pretty soon to be the inevitable issue of the terrible struggle in which our glorious and beloved republic Republic is now engaged. Professor, at the moment we write, the fate of America, a majority of the people of the Free States may not only shrink from this issue, but even honestly believe it possible to avert it altogether. The hasty suppression of the Abolishing of Slavery may check, perhaps escape them; but events marshal and urge on those who seem to be powerless, or not to be left behind, and march with them. Another disaster, the fate of Bull Run, or another unsuccessful action, like that of Wilson's Creek, where the brave and noble-hearted Lyon fell, a victory in the cause of humanity, and a victory to the failure of the Government to meet this issue, and all the more it is urged, the bolder and more [illegible] will rather be [illegible] Happily, we [illegible] with [illegible] and spirit, but her most wonderful exertion was reserved for the [illegible] finale,—" Ah ! non giunge," which she sang in Italian, it being impossible to do justice to the music with the English version of this celebrated song.—Madame Anna Bishop introduced variations of her own, using her throat as Paganini did his violin, to accomplish, without apparent effort, impossible things."

COLONEL RANKIN DEGRADED.

We are pleased to find that the Yankee Colonel is cashiered from holding his rank in the British Militia. This is as it should be; and we trust it may prove a useful lesson to hair-brained officials who will fight at all hazards. We trust he will lose his seat as a legislator. Strip him of all his honors, and then if he will go over to his friends in Yankeedom, by all means let him go. We want more reliable men than Arthur Rankin to command our volunteers or make our laws. We leave also that Lieut. Allaire M. Clarke and Peter M. McCutcheon are also dismissed from their places as officers in the Militia. We are glad that so peremptory steps have been taken to dismiss these questionably loyal Canadians.

THE RANKIN CASE.

* * * He evidently believes that British subjects have a right to dispose of themselves out of the empire as they think best, in spite of acts of parliament and royal proclamations. This is not the British interpretation of a subject's duties. Mr. Rankin evidently believes that the only penalty for such defiance of law and proclamation is personal forfeiture of Government protection. Thousands in Canada probably believe the same thing. It is well the law on the subject should be authoritatively expounded. That is all. The sooner it is so expounded the better, and then visiting Mr. Rankin with the smallest possible penalty for any breach of British law which he may have unwittingly committed, let him and all unsavy spirits carry their swords where they list, provided they act on their own individual responsibility.—Canada wants settlers, not men of the fermented stuff of which knights-errands are made.—Scottish American Journal.

TO OUR READERS.

We have been so busy these few days past by an extra amount of job printing that the present Number has been prepared for and put to press somewhat hurriedly.—We hope any slight inaccuracies will be overlooked.

A number of articles have been left over for future insertion. Lecture of Peterborough Local School Superintendent, and the Otonabee Fall Show will appear next week.

CANADIAN SYMPATHY WITH THE SOUTH.

We are not much surprised at any thing which happens in this wonderful age in which we live. When there is so much sympathy with the South in the United States themselves, we need not wonder at meeting with some of the same feeling in the British Provinces, and especially in Canada. Canada, in some respects, resembles the United States before the rebellion. Canada has been governed by a section—by the Lower Canadian influence—for many years, just as the United States were governed by the South. And we have had the same "rule or ruin" spirit in the dominant party that has been developed in the South. Whenever the Southern States found that their reign was at an end, they rebelled, and we in Canada have more than once had indistinct threats that the French Canadians would pursue a similar course, whenever they found that they could not control the government of the country. It is, therefore, a suspicious circumstance, that so many of the journals which sustain the present French Canadian rule in Canada should express so much sympathy with Jeff. Davis and his rebellion. It seems as if "a fellow feeling made them wondrous kind." The present position of the Toronto Leader is not surprising, when we consider the principles and spirit of the man who chiefly contributes to its pages; but they will not accomplish much towards making Canada love the horrible slavery which Jeff. Davis advocates, nor induce them to sympathize with a government founded on perpetual human bondage. There are too many people in Canada who fear God and hate oppression from whatsoever source it comes.—Canadian Baptist.

☞One evening last week, a young man living near Orillo, C. W., taking his gun with him, went out to watch for a bear that he believed had been visiting his wheat field. Noticing something moving among the wheat near the fence, he fired five times, and not liking to venture too close to the animal alone he returned to the house. Next morning, in company with other young men, he started for the supposed dead bear. On reaching the place, however, instead of a dead bear they found a fine steer lying dead, valued at $30, which amount the young man had to make up to the owner.

☞A writer in the Leader calls upon the Hon. G. S. Boulton, of Cobourg, to retire from the office of Registrar, because he took part in the Opposition Dinner at Cobourg. We find that the Government officials who are active partizans of the Government, are permitted to take part in the elections, not only to do the dirty work of the Ministerial party at the expense of the country, but are still permitted to hold office. Consistency would seem to require the discount to the one case as much as in the other. If this rule were adopted, a clean sweep would be made of officials who use their position and the people's money for partizan political purposes.

....Several families from the Southern States are in Toronto, and some of them are making arrangements for residence during the winter. Letters have also been received from Virginia, written by parties who are anxious to remove their families from the theatre of civil war, and who prefer Canada as a place of residence to the Northern States. Whatever commercial losses the Province may suffer from the war amongst our neighbors, it is more than counterbalanced by the many advantages she is to realize through the labor of Americans, and the loss which events have already given to the interest of European speculators.

TRIAL OF THE WILBERFORCE BOYS OF BURRY.

The Wilberforce Boys of Burry, charged by [illegible] with [illegible] of the Government, for enlisting the Negro Slaves [illegible] while [illegible] the Government [illegible] were [illegible] Slaves [illegible] Government [illegible] Slaves [illegible] Slaves [illegible] Slaves the relief of the financial pressure.

The high price of breadstuffs continues to claim attention at Paris, and the Government had issued an assurance that the price would not be further advanced.

Victor Emmanuel had been reviewing the troops at Bologna.

Garibaldi had left Caprera, but his destination was unknown.

The situation of affairs in Hungary continued unchanged.

Liverpool Breadstuff Market firm and prices rising. Flour advancing; sales 20s a 30s. Wheat firmer, all qualities have advanced slightly, red Western and Southern 10s a 12s 6d; white Western and Southern 11s a 14s. Corn steady, mixed and yellow 31s 6d a 32s; white 34s a 37s. Pork inactive. Lard quiet, but steady. Ashes quiet and unchanged at 32s 6d for pots. Sugar had an upward tendency.

Liverpool Markets.—Breadstuffs firm; corn quiet but steady. Canada closed on Tuesday at 92½ a 93 for money.

LATEST.

Liverpool, Thursday Evening.—Breadstuffs firm. Corn active; mixed, 31s 6d. Provisions quiet and steady.

London, Thursday Evening. — Consols closed to-day at 92¾ a 93¼.

The London Times thanks Mr. Seward for the just exercise of his judgment relative to the memorial against Dr. Russell, although his—Seward's—shows a strong under current of spirit. The Times also repudiates the charges against Dr. Russell, and believes that the good sense of the Americans will see the folly of interfering with him. Dr. Russell's last letter is devoted to the consideration of the position of Maryland.

The Great Eastern had reached Milford Haven for repairs. It was rumoured that the Emperor Napoleon had made overtures for her purchase, but this was not credited.

Mr. Vandenhoff, the celebrated actor, had died at the age of 72 years.

The King of Prussia arrived on his visit to the Emperor Napoleon at Compeigne, on the 6th, and left on the 8th inst. The meeting was friendly and cordial, but nothing of political importance transpired.

It was rumored that Gen. Ratazzi would enter the Austrian Cabinet.

The Spanish Government had consented to deliver up the Neapolitan archives.

ARRIVAL OF THE "NORTH BRITON."

The Mexican Expedition almost Ready.

Father Point, Oct. 22.

The North Briton left Liverpool at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of the 10th, and Londonderry on the 11th. She arrived here at half-past two this afternoon.

GREAT BRITAIN.

British political news unimportant.

The Queen would hold a Privy Council at Balmoral on the 11th, at which Parliament will be further prorogued.

The East India wool sales at Liverpool were rather large. Purchases were made by American buyers for blankets and army clothing.

In the London produce market purchases of sugar for the American continent were important features.

The delay in publishing Hart Russell's letter on Mexico was censured, as Mexican stocks which had been falling ever since the date of the letter further declined one per cent on its publication.

FRANCE.

It is confirmed that orders have been issued to prepare the French portion of the expedition against Mexico. Three steam frigates, a steam corvette, and a cutter were being prepared.

It is asserted that the Emperor had declined further to discuss the Roman question until after the Pope's death.

The King of Prussia's visit to Compeigne appears to have passed off in a manner to gratify every one.

The Moniteur says it must have a happy influence on the relations between the two Governments.

It is announced that the Bank of France had arranged with the Rothschilds and five other Paris bankers, for power to draw bills on London through their firms to the extent of two million sterling.

A slight decline in rates of exchange on London was produced in Paris by this arrangement.

The Bank of France had obtained authority to dispose of its rents.

The Bourse was dull. Rentes advanced to 68f 35c.

SPAIN.

The Mexican expedition was actively progressing. It consists of four screw frigates, two large steamers and six others of lighter draught, and is expected to sail about the end of October.

About 3,000 Spanish troops will embark for Mexico, of whom 3,000 will go from Cuba.

ITALY.

The Naples journals announce that the brigand Borges had been taken, tried, and shot. It is rumored that his 25 confederates had been made prisoners.

Orders were given to surround the band of Cipriani in the mountains of Netsuno. Troops left for that purpose.

AUSTRIA.

A deputation, with an address from the Croatian Diet was received by the Emperor, whose answer was almost verbally the same as that to the Hungarian Diet.—He said that he would consider the claims of the Croatians and afterwards give a decision.

The Assemblies and Municipal Councils of Comitats of Arad and Bacs had been dissolved, for having endorsed the protest of Pesth against the dissolution of the Hungarian Diet.

Archduke Charles Louis brother of the Emperor, will represent Austria at the coronation of the King of Prussia.

A majority of the provincial governments of Transylvania are determined not to publish the edict for the convocation of the Transylvania Diet, on the ground that the latter confer on them the right of protesting against the Hungarian decrees, and that a separate Transylvanian Diet would be opposed to the union of Transylvania with Hungary.

INDIA.

Mails from Calcutta, China and Australia, forwarded at Malta, were due at London on the 14th.

Peterboro' Markets.

Monday, October 24th, 1861.

Fall Wheat	0	0	0
Spring Wheat	0	0	0
Barley	0	0	0
Oats	0	0	0
Peas	0	0	0
Potatoes (per bush.)	0	0	0
Flour (per cwt.)	0	0	0
Beef (per lb.)	0	0	0
Pork	0	0	0
Butter	0	0	0
Cheese	0	0	0
Lard	0	0	0
Eggs (per doz.)	0	0	0
Hay (per ton)	0	0	0
Straw	0	0	0
Wood (per cord)	0	0	0

Birth.

In Peterborough, on the 19th instant, Mrs. CHARLES CAMERON, of a Daughter.

TORONTO MARKETS.

Wednesday, October 23rd, 1861.

Fall Wheat $1, a $1 14c.
Spring Wheat 92 a 97c.
Barley 45c.
Oats 27c a 28c.

New Advertisements.

TOWN HALL,

Farewell tour in America.

MADAME ANNA BISHOP,

The World-Renowned Cantatrice!

WHO, since her last appearance in Peterborough, has made the circuit of the Globe, has the pleasure of announcing that one

GRAND CONCERT

This Thursday Ev. Oct. 24.

MADAME ANNA BISHOP will be assisted by

MR. A. SEDGWICK,

From London and New York, and

Master Charles Sedgwick,

The wonderful juvenile performer on the English Concertina.

Tickets 50 cents; back seats 25 cents. Doors open at 7½. Concert to commence at 8 o'clock. Tickets to be had at the Book Stores Peterboro', Oct. 22, 1861. 43

GREAT CREDIT SALE

OF FARM STOCK

AND FARMING IMPLEMENTS.

I AM instructed to sell by Public Auction, on the premises of Mr. Leonard Sedgwick, Lot 7, in the 4th Concession of Smith,

On Thursday, the 7th Nov.

the following Farm Stock, &c.:—1 Span of Working Horses, 1 three year old Colt, 2 Milch Cows, 2 two year old Heifers, 1 one year old Heifer, 3 Calves, 10 Sheep, 1 one year old Ram, 1 Pigs, 1 Waggon, 1 double Buggy, 1 Cob Sleigh, 1 Sleigh, 1 set double Harness, 1 Fanning Mill, 1 Plough, 2 Harrows, 1 Stump Machine, 1 platform Scale. Also,—A lot of Hay, with other articles.

TERMS:—All sums under $5 cash, over that amount 12 months credit by furnishing approved joint notes, or a discount of 8 per cent allowed for cash on day of sale.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

A. McNEIL, Auctioneer.

Smith, October 17th, 1861.

N. B.—The Farm will be sold by Private Sale on reasonable terms. There is a new House erected thereon 30 x 24. A good Log Barn, with other out-houses and a good well of water on the premises.

CREDIT SALE BY AUCTION.

I AM INSTRUCTED by Mr. Walter McGregor to sell at his residence, Lot No. 23, 4th Concession, Emily, on Friday, the 15th day of November, 1861,

the whole of his

FARM STOCK, IMPLEMENTS, &c.,

comprising as follows:

Span of Mares, 1 one year old Colt, 1 Foal, 4 Cows, 1 Heifer, 1 Steer, 2 Calves, 1 Waggon, 2 Sleighs, 1 Plough, 2 sets Double Harness, 1 Fanning Mill, with a lot of other articles.

TERMS:

All sums under $5, cash; over that amount, credit until the 1st of January, 1863, by furnishing good approved joint notes, without interest.

A. McNEIL, Auctioneer.

Emily, October 21, 1861.

NOTICE.

THE Municipal Council of the United Townships of Dummer and Burleigh intend to pass the following roads to the Township of Dummer, viz:—

1st.—Running through part of Lots Twenty, Nineteen, and Eighteen, in the Third Concession.

2nd.—A Road running through part of Lots Twenty-nine and Thirty in the Fourth Concession, and part of Lot No. Thirty in the Fifth Concession.

3rd.—A Road running through part of Lot No Thirty in the Seventh Concession, and part of Lot Twenty-nine and Thirty in the Eighth Concession.

Dummer, 18th Oct., 1861. 34-4in

LOST.

ON TUESDAY LAST, ON GEORGE OR Simcoe Streets, or near the Town Hall, A Heavy Lock & Seal and Gold Masonic Watch Key.

The finder will be rewarded by leaving it at Calcutt's Hotel.

Peterboro, Oct. 22, 1861. 43

Godey's Ladies Book

FOR

NOVEMBER, 1861,

And a large stock of new

BOOKS & STATIONERY,

FOR SALE AT

THOS. MENZIES'

Bookstore.

Peterboro Oct. 22nd 1861. 43

WHEAT! WHEAT!

THE HIGHEST CASH PRICE

will be paid for any quantity of

FALL and SPRING WHEAT

And Peas,

At McGeough's Store-house, Railway Depot, Ashburnham.

D. SUTHERLAND.

October 23, 1861. 43

School Teacher Wanted.

FOR THE ASHBURNHAM SCHOOL, TERM to commence on the 2nd Wednesday in January, 1862, a Normal School Teacher, holding a 1st class certificate,

Apply to,

F. H. ARMSTRONG,

Secretary of Ashburnham S. S. Trustees.

October 23, 1861. 43

HENRY BENARY

IMPORTER AND DEALER IN

PIANO-FORTES,

MELODIANS,

MUSIC AND MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS,

ROSSIN BUILDINGS,

No. 81 KING STREET WEST,

TORONTO.

BEGS to inform the public of Peterborough that he will open his Warerooms in Toronto, where he will keep constantly on hand a large stock of the best Piano-Fortes for sale and hire. The same are recommended by those parties who have had the honour of finishing for the Royal Family, with Messrs. A. & S. Hamilton, who have a Branch Establishment in this city, where he will receive a large share of the

MORTGAGE SALE

OF

VALUABLE MILLS

AND

REAL ESTATE.

WILL BE SOLD BY PUBLIC AUCTION at Calcutt's Hotel, in Town of Peterboro,

On Thursday, November 14th,

A. D. 1861, at 11 o'clock, A. M.,

Under and by Virtue of a Power of Sale contained in a certain Indenture of Mortgage from Charles Parry and Margaret Parry his wife, to George E. Castle, dated October 15th A. D. 1858, and of Assignment thereof to Josiah B. Plumb, all those certain parcels or tracts of Lands being broken Lot No. 6, in the 11th Concession of the Township of Dover, containing 17 acres more or less; Lot No. 21, in the 3rd Concession of the Township of Smith, containing 66 acres more or less; and Lot No. 12 in the 3rd Concession of the said Township of Smith, containing 36 acres more or less.

On the property are erected Valuable Mills, &c.

Terms Cash. Further particulars may be had on application to

HAGUESALE, MACDONELL & WILKINS,
Vendor's Solicitors.

Kingston, October 9th, 1861. 41

DIRECT STEAM COMMUNICATION WITH

GLASGOW.

Another line of Steam Packets ships, sailing regularly between

MONTREAL, QUEBEC, AND GLASGOW.

Steerage 25 Dollars — Steerage 25 Dollars

Ships.	Tons.	H. Power.	Com.
United Kingd.	1735	300	James Rey.
John Bell,	1102	300	Edward Scott

THE "JOHN BELL"

will sail from Quebec for Glasgow on

TUESDAY, 12th November,

Rates of passage from Quebec to Glasgow:

Saloon Cabin $60 00
Intermediate 30 00
Steerage, (including an abundant supply of cooked provisions 25 00
Children in proportion.

Return Tickets at reduced rates. Berths not secured till paid for. Each ship carries a duly qualified surgeon.

For freight and passage apply to

G. & D. SHAW,
16 Common Street,
MONTREAL.

October 17th, 1861. 43

PROVINCIAL

INSURANCE CO',

OF CANADA.

FOR FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE.

ESTABLISHED 1849.

INCORPORATED BY ACT OF PARLIAMENT.

SUBSCRIBED CAPITAL, $1,966,080

Head Office - - - Toronto.

President—Hon. John Hillyard Cameron.
Vice-Presidents—J. S. Howard, Esq.

DIRECTORS:

Hon. John Hillyard Cameron,
Hon. George Crawford,
Hon. Malcolm Cameron, M.P.P.,
John Cameron, Esq., Q.C.P.,
A. M. Smith, Esq.,
George Duggan, Jr., Esq.,
J. S. Howard, Esq.,
Edward C. Jones, Esq.,
Angus Morrison, Esq., M.P.P.,
Lewis Moffatt, Esq.,
W. L. Perrin, Esq.,

Manager & Secretary—James Sydney Crocker.
Assistant Secretary—J. J. Woodhouse, Esq.,
Inspector of Agencies:—Wm. Blight, Esq.,
Solicitors:—Messrs Duggan & Barns.
Bankers:—The Bank of Toronto.

J. R. WALTON, Agent.
Peterborough.

☞ Fire and Marine Insurance business transacted by this Company at its various Agencies as well as at the Head Office, Toronto, at fair and average terms.

October, 1861. 41

SCOTTISH PROVINCIAL

ASSURANCE COMPANY.

ESTABLISHED 1825.

CAPITAL - - - - $5,000,000.

Head Office—Aberdeen, SCOTLAND.

Canada, Head Office,—Place d'armes, MONTREAL.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

HUGH TAYLER, Esq., Advocate.
R. D. COLLIS, Esq., Merchant.
WM. ROSSBOROUGH, Esq., Merchant.
W. B. LAMBE, Esq., Advocate.
Legal Advisers:—Messrs. BETHUNE & DUNLOP.
Medical Adviser:—WM. FRASER, M. D.
Secretary for Canada:—A. DAWSON PARKER.

Offices in Edinburg ..... 65 Princess Street,
" Glasgow ..... 111 St. Vincent St.
" London ..... 20 Canon Street,
" Dublin ..... 34 College Green,
" Montreal ..... Place d'armes.

Medical References—Dr. Hallowell, J. Brown.

J. R. WALTON.
Agent, Peterboro.

October, 1861. 41

GENERAL INSURANCE OFFICE.

W. CLUXTON, AGENT, PETERBOROUGH.

LIVERPOOL & LONDON

FIRE AND LIFE

Insurance Company.

CAPITAL £2,000,000 STG.

BRITISH AMERICA

ASSURANCE COMPANY.

CAPITAL, $1,000,000.

WESTERN

INSURANCE COMPANY

CAPITAL, $1,000,000.

BRITANNIA LIFE

Assurance Company.

CAPITAL, $1,000,000 STERLING.

Peterborough Agency, 16

NOTICE OF DISSOLUTION OF PARTNERSHIP.

MESSRS. FITZGERALD & DRENNAN have this day dissolved partnership by mutual consent. All debts due to the firm formerly existing will be paid to Mr. Fitzgerald, and all debts due by said firm will be paid by the same.

JAMES W. FITZGERALD.
WILLIAM DRENNAN.

Peterborough, Oct. 8, 1861. 41

WESTERN

INSURANCE COMP'Y

CAPITAL £700,000

Head Office, Toronto,

FOR THE USUAL DESCRIPTIONS OF FIRE & INLAND MARINE RISKS.

Ferguson & Mitchell,

Beg to call the attention of the public to their well-assorted stock of

SADDLES, HARNESS, WHIPS,

TRUNKS, VALISES, BRUSHES, &c.,

which they will sell

VERY CHEAP FOR CASH,

or on approved credit.

All orders promptly attended to, and repairing done on the shortest notice. A call is respectfully solicited. Shop on Hunter Street, Peterborough.

THE LARGEST, CHEAPEST AND THE BEST PLACE TO PURCHASE

READY-MADE CLOTHING

IS AT

HAFFEY'S,

All the Clothing is made on the premises, and warranted!!

Peterborough, Sept. 26, 1861 39

BEEF! BEEF!!

250 BARRELS

MESS & PRIME MESS BEEF

For Sale Low-ish by

ROBERT COCHRANE.
Butcher at the Market.

Peterborough, Oct. 8, 1861. 41

THE PHŒNIX

INSURANCE CO'Y,

OF HARTFORD, CONN.

Capital - - - - - - $500,000.

CHARTER PERPETUAL.

JOSEPH B. WALTON,
Agent.

Peterboro', Oct. 8, 1861. 41

Canada West Farmers' Mutual and Stock

INSURANCE CO'.

HEAD OFFICE—HAMILTON, C. W.

President—H. J. Lawry, Barton.
Vice-President—T. Stock, Waterdown.

HONORARY DIRECTORS.

Asa A. Burnham, Esq., Cobourg, County of Northumberland.
John Harvey, Esq., County of Peterborough.
John Gibb, Esq., County of Victoria.

RICHARD P. STREET,
Secretary & Treas.

JOSEPH B. WALTON,
Agent, Peterboro.

October, 1861. 41

REDUCED RATES

FOR

ASSURANCE.

Scottish Provincial

INSURANCE COMPANY.

THE FOLLOWING TABLE OF PREMIUMS has been framed, so as to reduce the cost of Life Assurance to the lowest point. It will be observed the Rates payable for the first Five Years are not much more than HALF the usual charge, while, for the remainder of life, they are still moderate.

To Assure £100 sterling, payable at Death, with profits after first five years:

Age.	First 5 Years.	Remainder of Life.
	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
20	0 18 11	2 0 11
25	1 1 3	2 7 3
30	1 5 3	2 14 7
35	1 9 2	3 3 1
40	1 14 5	3 13 10
45	2 0 6	4 4 3
50	2 9 8	5 1 4

Secretary for Canada:—A. Davidson Parker.

JOSEPH B. WALTON,
Agent, Peterboro.

October, 1861. 41

WANTED.

AT THE PORT HOPE RAILWAY STATION,

A LARGE QUANTITY OF

PEAS & BARLEY.

W. CLUXTON.

☞ A buyer constantly in attendance at the Store-house there.

Peterborough, Oct. 8, 1861. 41.

PORK! PORK!

TO LUMBERMEN AND OTHERS!

200 BARRELS OF CHOICE

MESS PORK!

For Sale Low for Cash.

ROBERT COCHRANE.
Butcher at the Market.

Peterboro', Oct. 8, 1861. 41

OTONABEE MILLS.

THE SUBSCRIBER has pleasure in informing his friends and the public that his MILLS are again in operation, and that he will be glad to attend to the calls of all old and new customers. Particular attention will be formerly be paid to Gristing and Custom Work, and good fresh ground will be kept on hand for retail, which will be delivered at any place in Peterborough or Ashburnham, upon orders being left, with the money, at the Mills, or at his Store.

FAMILY FLOUR

R. D. ROGERS.

Ashburnham, Sept 12, 1861.

NEW GOODS.

THE Subscriber offers for sale one of the oldest lots of Goods ever offered in Peterborough.

FAMILY GROCERIES,

Tea, Sugar, Coffee, Tobacco, Spice of all kinds, Hosiery, Dry Fish, Mackerel,

A FULL ASSORTMENT OF

BOOTS AND SHOES,

and the usual assortment of

CROCKERY

WAR WITH CANADA!

FOR SALE.

THE east half of lot No. 4, north side of Elizabeth Street, in Ashburnham. There is a Good Frame House, with good cellar, stable, sheds and well on the premises. For particulars apply to PHILIP BARGENY, Proprietor.

Ashburnham, Aug. 1861. 39

THE FOUND WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING

A perfect Antidote, Specific and Cure for

RHEUMATISM & NEURALGIA

has long been needed. After earnest and patient research, this has been triumphantly discovered. It is called

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING!

Watson's Neuralgia King reaches the source of the trouble, and banishes the disease from the system. Unlike the untold number of Liniments and Exhrocations which merely stimulates the surface, are but temporary in their effects, and are, at best, of doubtful virtue, it STRIKES AT THE HEART OF THE ailment, ARRESTS IT, HEALS IT, ERADICATES IT, and leaves no trace behind.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING also cures GOUT AND DYSPEPSIA, in all their forms. It is now giving relief to thousands who have been suffering from these diseases, and who have tried all other remedies in vain.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING has received the highest testimonials from the highest sources in regard to its wonderful efficacy. It operates with equal success in mild and chronic cases, never failing to work out a speedy and permanent cure.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING costs but one dollar a bottle, and less than a bottle often effects the end desired.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING is the only Specific and cure for Rheumatism and Neuralgia that has ever been discovered.

Prepared by

A. I. MATHEWS,
Buffalo, N. Y., and Fort Erie, C. W.

Sept. 26, 1861, 39

WOOD TURNING

CHEAP FOR CASH.

THE undersigned wishes to inform his numerous friends and the public in general that he is now prepared to do any description of Wood Turning for

BUILDINGS OR FURNITURE,

Also, Ripping Lumber to any width or thickness; furniture made to order, at the lowest Cash price. Zinc Wash-boards of the very best quality always on hand.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

☞ Shop in Ashburnham, under D. Doran's Woolen Factory.

W. F. HANLEY.

Ashburnham, Sept. 18, 1861 38

FOR SALE.

THE subscriber offers for sale the east half of Lot No. 30, in the 6th Con. Otonabee, containing 100 ACRES, 60 of which are cleared, well fenced, and in a good state of cultivation. There are on the premises a good Dwelling House, and a new Log Barn with stables underneath. For further particulars apply at the Examiner Office, or to the proprietor on the premises.

JOHN FEENEGHTY.

Aug. 21, 1861. 34

FOR SALE

SOUTH half of Lot No. 9, in the 2nd Con. of Smith, containing 100 acres. This Farm is beautifully situated about three miles from Peterborough; there are eighty acres cleared, and on the premises there are a good Stone House, three Barns and other Outhouses.

The north half of Lot No. 18, in the 7th Con., Smith. This Farm has eighty acres cleared, and is situated about seven miles from Peterborough.

For particulars apply to

JOSEPH KELSO,
or Bobcaygeon.
WM. TULLY, Jr.,
Monaghan.

September 12, 1861. 38

SAVE YOUR FURS

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL!

WM. LECH,

FURRIER, MONTREAL.

WILL OPEN BUSINESS at the above line about the end of June, in the premises now occupied by Mr. Temple on Bonaventure store, Scott's Building, Peterboro'. Furs will be manufactured to order; also dressed and cleaned, and

ONE OF THE LARGEST STOCKS IN THE

FUR TRADE

in Canada, will be offered for sale at prices much lower than ever known in this part of the country before. Hats and caps of the latest styles. The highest price will be paid for raw furs.

May 8, 1861.

WANTED

100,000 BUSHELS

OF

WHEAT!

W. CLUXTON.

PUBLIC NOTICE

IS hereby given that the Township Council of Otonabee intend at their meeting to be held on the

21st Day of October next, to pass a By-law to close up the road extending across Lot 13, in 5th Concession of Otonabee, on the 14th day of January, 1859.

G. O. READ,
Township Clerk.

Aug. 26, 1861.

REMOVAL.

R. D. BASKERVILLE,

HAIR DRESSER AND PERFUMER, HAS fitted up with taste and convenience at considerable expense, a Saloon on George St., 2 doors south of Lawson's Hotel, where he will be in attendance on the ladies, during all business hours. Having visited some of the largest American cities this summer, he is thoroughly acquainted with the

LATEST FASHIONABLE IMPROVEMENTS

in his profession, and flatters himself that he will not be found second to any in the Canadas.

☞ Particularly no business on Sundays.

Peterboro, Sept 9, 1861. 37

INSPECTOR'S NOTICE.

THE undersigned hereby gives notice that he will make his first examination for the inspection of

WEIGHTS & MEASURES,

in the County of Peterborough, on the following places on the days as per [illegible]:

Norwood.....Sept. 26 & 27
Keeling's Mills.....27
All parties and Estate.....28
Ashburnham.....& on afternoon Sept. 1 & all 2
[illegible].....4
[illegible].....5
[illegible].....6
[illegible].....7 to 10

200 ACRES

OF

LAND FOR SALE,

IN THE

VICINITY OF THE TOWN OF PETERBOROUGH.

THE Subscriber offers for sale, his Farm, being composed of Lot No. 26, in the 12th Concession of the Township of Otonabee, with a frontage of nearly a mile, along the main travelled road leading to Rice Lake, Keene, Allandale, Westwood, Norwood and Hastings, and bounded on the west by the Cobourg and Peterborough Railway.

There are about 100 Acres cleared and under cultivation; the land is well watered and well drained; there is a substantial board fence along the front and up the centre of the Lot, and a large Frame Barn and other buildings upon it. Also a suitable for respectable residences, in full view of the Town of Peterborough and the Village of Ashburnham.

YOUNG ORCHARD.

THERE ARE

SEVERAL BUILDING SITES!

A sufficient instalment will be required at the time of sale from purchasers taking the whole or large portions of the Lot, and the remainder as shall be agreed upon. A Deed will be given and a Mortgage taken.

If the above Lot, or any portion thereof, remain unsold

ON MONDAY, the 28th day of OCTOBER Next,

the subscriber will offer the same for sale on that day by

PUBLIC AUCTION,

on the premises, at 12 o'clock, noon, to the highest bidder,

IN LOTS OF TEN ACRES EACH,

or in larger portions to suit purchasers, in the following order:

The East half of the Lot will be sold first, beginning with Park Lot No. 1, at the north east corner, and taking the Lots in consecutive order to the centre of the Concession, after which the West half will be offered for sale, commencing at the eastern limit of the Cobourg and Peterborough Railway, and numbering the Lots as described in the Map, eastward to the centre of the Concession. A Plan of the Lots may be seen and other information obtained on application at my office in the Court House.

WALTER S. CRIDAN.

Peterborough, 10th Sept., 1861. 38

TO THE RESCUE.

NO SECESSION!

No Surrender!

THE SUBSCRIBER WISHES TO INFORM his numerous friends and customers that he has received a large supply of Groceries, Wines, Brandies, Gin, Old Tom, Whiskies, Porter and Ale, Cut Cut Tobacco, Pipes, &c. He also wishes to state that he has joined all of all Reforms—just to mind his business—he has made one grand reform in [illegible] Selling Goods at Peterborough's lowest possible rate for cash or trade.

The Grocery department will be found to comprise the [illegible] quality, and always the very best market can afford in all things requisite and useful for families.

The Liquors will also be found to be carefully selected, and of

FIRST-CLASS QUALITY!

The stock of Crockery, Earthenware, Tin-ware have also been renewed, and will be kept constantly supplied, to properly work out the only just principle of business,

Cash, or its equivalent.

The whole stock will be sold at so small an advance on cost as must ensure success, as no bad debts are to be provided for.

Call and judge for yourselves, you will get the worth of your money and the right change each time.

JAMES STEWART.

Lakefield, Sep. 16, 1861. 39

MONTREAL

ASSURANCE COMPANY.

ESTABLISHED BY SPECIAL ORDINANCE IN 1840.

CAPITAL STOCK, $800,000.

PAID UP.....$80,000.

Head Office, No. 9, Great St. James St. MONTREAL.

Wm. HURBAY...Manager.

THE undersigned begs to intimate his appointment as agent in Peterboro', for the above company, and is authorised to insure Buildings, Merchandize, Household Furniture, and Personal Property, against loss or damage by fire, at rates as low as those of any responsible office.

For further particulars, rates, &c., apply to

W. H. SCOTT,
Agent.

Office in Burnham's Block, opposite the Review Office.

Peterboro, Aug. 26, 1861. 35

Gutta-Percha Roofing.

No article ever before introduced to the public has equalled the LIQUID GUTTA-PERCHA for coating tin or other roofs, new or old. One gallon, costing $1.50, will thoroughly coat from 200 to 300 feet of roof, and this coating will render the roof perfectly waterproof, and will last three times as long as white lead or other paint. For covering roofs, either new or old we repeat, it has no equal for durability and cheapness, and we offer it to the public fully confident of its intrinsic excellence, and with our warrantee that it will do all we claim for it. Sold in barrels of forty gallons each, or in [illegible] and on the

PLYMOUTH ROOFING CO.,

23 Cedar Street, New York.

October 1st, 1861. 40-1y.

FALL & WINTER GOODS!

THE subscriber is now receiving a very

LARGE SUPPLY

OF

☞ Fall and Winter Goods.

THIS STOCK OF

FANCY & MILLINERY GOODS

IS NOW

VERY COMPLETE.

Good Value for Ready Money, as usual. No Second Price!

W. CLUXTON.

Sept. 25, 1861. 39

BOARD.

[illegible] PAID

GROCERIES

AND LIQUORS.

THE subscribers beg leave to state to their customers that owing to late losses by fire, &c., that they will

After the first of October next,

conduct their business strictly on

THE CASH PRINCIPLE,

after which date all accounts will be closed. All parties due them by Note or Book Account will please call and make an early settlement as all debts due must be collected immediately. As by selling for cash they will incur no bad debts, and therefore be enabled to sell at

☞ LOWER PRICES! ☜

All parties who favor them with their custom may depend upon getting

GOOD GOODS

At Lower Rates than heretofore!

All kinds of Produce taken in exchange for goods, and on account.

GLOVER & ROBINSON,
Bonsall's Block.

Peterboro. Sept., 1861. 37-tf.

MATHEWS'

VENETIAN LIQUID

HAIR DYE.

THIS CELEBRATED DYE WAS FIRST prepared in 1845; since that time it has been used by thousands, and in no instance has it failed to give perfect satisfaction.

THE VENETIAN DYE.

is the cheapest in the world. Its price is only 50 cents, and each bottle contains double the quantity of dye contained in those usually sold for one dollar.

THE VENETIAN DYE

is the safest composition of its class. It is warranted not to injure the hair, or the scalp, in the slightest degree.

THE VENETIAN DYE

works with rapidity and certainty. It causes no annoyance or trouble to those who use it.

THE VENETIAN DYE

produces any shade that may be desired—one that will not fade, crock, nor wash out; one that is as permanent as the hair itself.

THE VENETIAN DYE

does not, in any manner, interfere with the natural softness of the hair; it neither scorches nor dries it.

THE VENETIAN DYE

is the best, cheapest safest, most convenient, most successful, and most permanent Dye ever used.

THE VENETIAN DYE

having gained an extended reputation, the public are cautioned against purchasing any prepared in the same style, under the name or different names, as they are mere imitations, and liable to do injury.

For sale by all agents. Prepared only by

A. I. MATHEWS,
Buffalo, N. Y., and Fort Erie, C. W.

Oct 9, 1861. 40

Mathews' Chocolate Worm Drops

NEVER fail to destroy and exterminate all kinds of Intestinal Worms. Are perfectly reliable in all cases, and the superior to any and all of the Fancy Worm Confections, and nauseous Vermifuges in use. They may be taken at all times with perfect safety, as they contain no Mercury, or other deleterious Drug. Mothers should always purchase them and give their children no other.

(No Cathartic whatever, is necessary to be given.)

Each box contains 24 Drops or Lozenges.—Price 25 cts. For sale by all Druggists and Dealers in Medicines.

A. I. MATHEWS, General Agent,
Buffalo, N. Y., and Fort Erie, C. W.

The Great French Remedy!

MADAME DEVIN'S CELEBRATED SILVER COATED

FEMALE PILLS.

THE ONLY CERTAIN AND SAFE REMEDY for all Unnatural Obstructions, Monthly Difficulties, Irregularities, and diseases to which the Women, Wife and Mother is peculiarly liable. These Pills contain no deleterious ingredients, but are safe and certain in their action.—They will be found to exert the happiest effect in all cases of Prolapsus Uteri, in Leucorrhœa, or the Whites; they will be found the most safe and most certain cure that can be found. It is on account of this certainty they should not be taken by Married Ladies at certain periods, but at other times their use is positively safe.

N.B.—$1 enclosed to any authorized Agent will secure a package of Pills by return mail.

C. Cluxton, General Agent, Port Hope, C. W.; Buffalo, N. Y.; Lyman, Elliott & Co., Wholesale Agents, Toronto.

Sept. 11, 1861. 36

JAMES W. FITZGERALD & CO.

CASH

CASH STORE

Hunter Street, Peterboro'.

JOHN CAMPBELL

WOULD take this opportunity of thanking the inhabitants of the County of Peterboro' and surrounding country for the past liberal support they have given him, and would beg to intimate that he has just received a large addition to his stock, which he is now prepared to dispose of on such Favorable Terms as cannot fail to give satisfaction to purchasers.

LOW PRICES

as to convince every one who examines them that

☞ THE CASH STORE is the place to buy. ☜

The following comprise a few of the articles generally to be found:

West of England Broad Cloths, Cassimeres, Tweeds, Buffaloes, Beltis, Doeskins, Bronzed Cottons, Ginghams, Prints, Factory Cottons, Osnaburgs, Oznaburgs, Plaid and White Flannels, Cotton Warp, &c.

READY-MADE CLOTHING,

Boots and Shoes, Silk and Felt Hats, &c.

TEAS, TOBACCOES, SUGARS,

Soap, Candles, Rice, Currants, Coffee, Rice, and other articles too numerous to mention.

☞ Remember the Spot: Next door to McKellar & Cameron's, Hunter Street.

Peterboro, Aug. 21, 1861. 34

MONTREAL

CANADA LIFE

Assurance Company.

Captal, $1,000 000.

W. CLUXTON,
Agent.

THOS. BOLTWELL,
Head Inspector.

Peterborough, 1 August, 1861. 31

THE POWER OF LONDON

FIRE AND LIFE

ASSURANCE COMPANY.

CAPITAL.....£ 2,000,000 STG.

Empowered by Act of the Imperial Parliament

Responsibility of Shareholders unlimited.

Head Office for Canada, Montreal.

THE UNDERSIGNED is prepared to effect insurances on Dwelling Houses, Stores, Warehouses, Barns, Stables, Household Furniture, Merchandize, Grain in Store or Granaries, Country Produce, Cattle, &c., &c., on the most favorable terms.

First Class Company,

on [illegible] property, at its

LOSSES PAID

without [illegible] to the Company.

W. CLUXTON,
Agent for Peterboro'

Peterboro', 1861. 16.

F. G. CALLENDER,

BEGS to give notice that all accounts due to the late firm of [illegible] must be paid to him [illegible] the same will be placed in the hands of [illegible] for collection. [illegible] DAVIS & CALLENDER.

NOTICE.

THE Town Council of the Town of Peterborough have passed

A NEW MARKET BY-LAW,

the public are informed that

THE MARKET IS NOW FREE

FROM TOLLS!

☞ No Person's [illegible] Stands and Weighing. All [illegible] and articles brought into the Town to [illegible] be exposed to be brought to the Market place.

E. EDWARDS,
Town Clerk.

THE HEROES OF PEACE,

AND

The Heroes of War!

ENGRAVED, No. 301, New York, in new [illegible] the celebrated [illegible] Americans [illegible] Americans [illegible] Public Characters of the United States, Portraits of Generals [illegible] Scott, Butler, Banks, Fremont, Hooker, Burnside, Sherman, Halleck, Meade, Grant, Sigel, Hunter, Thomas, Rosecrans, Buell, McClellan, Porter, Franklin, Keyes, Heintzelman, Sumner, Blenker, Stone, Wool, Dix, Anderson, Admiral Foote, Commodore Farragut, Commodore Dupont, Commodore Goldsborough, Commodore Stringham, Commodore Rodgers, Commodore Wilkes, Commodore Porter, Commodore Davis, Commodore Craven, Commodore Lardner, Commodore Pendergrast, Commodore Smith, Commodore Hollins, Commodore Barron, Commodore Tatnall, Commodore Forrest, Commodore Buchanan, Commodore Tucker, Commodore Lynch, Commodore Ingraham, Commodore Montgomery, Commodore Hunter, Commodore Randolph, Commodore Pegram, Commodore Mitchell, Commodore Ramsay, Commodore Whittle, Commodore Simms, Commodore Forrest

BEAUTIFUL MOSS BASKET.

The appearance of moss on the outside of other baskets is produced by the use of moss itself as that used for embroidery is worked. Four or five shades of green, and as many of brown, in regular gradations, should be selected; the darkest shades of green being of as olive tinge, and the lightest of a yellowish hue, in preference to pure green, which has not the requisite admixture of the colors before mentioned. One skein of each is sufficient for a pair of baskets. The shape, or body of the basket is formed of pasteboard and is usually round or oval, and made with or without a handle across according to fancy. The pasteboard shape is covered inside and out, with green silk; and if a handle is affixed, it should be sewn on, outside, where the joining will be covered with the moss, so that the silk may appear neat within. The worsted of each color should be wound into a separate ball, and knitted, either flat or round like a stocking; a piece of thread should then be passed, by means of a needle, through the last row of loops or stitches, and fastened at each end, in order to prevent the knitting from unravelling. The worsted should then be thoroughly wetted or soaked in warm water, and placed in an oven of gentle heat until perfectly dry. After this the respective pieces must be unravelled and made up into small bunches, which are to be sewn on so thickly on the silk, with which the outside of the basket is covered, as to leave no apparent spaces between them. Each bunch should be composed of about three shades of color, made up in the following manner:—The several pieces of knitting being selected, a few rows of each are to be unravelled, and all the ends being taken at the same time, are to be held between the thumb of the left hand and the side of the hand, as low and near the joint as possible; the upper part of the thumb being first slightly relaxed, the worsteds are, with the right hand, wound round the thumb and finger of the left hand, like a figure 8, and held in that position while the middle, including the ends with which it is begun and left off, is sewed together with a piece of silk. The bunches should be placed in heaps, according to their respective shade, and sewn on the basket, according to taste, intermingling the hues, so as to avoid the appearance of formality.

A CURE FOR FEVER AND AGUE.

An intelligent correspondent of the New York World, who is with the army defending Washington, gleans pleasant scraps of information during the intervals of warlike operations. In one of his latest letters in the following:

"River mists rise through all the autumn nights, chill and deadly about each lowland camps as this of the Pennsylvania Eleventh. The farmers who dare to squat along the valley are mostly of foreign birth—immigrants whom Fortune has led to alternate shaking and burning in a lonely, far-off land. Entering the shanty of such as one to get a cup of milk, I found that its owner—a Devonshire Englishman—and his good wife had there inhabited for a dozen years, six of which had been passed in unmitigated, intermittent anguish. Then they found a sovereign remedy which banished the disease. For the sake of suffering "Hoosierdom", I here record the specific. The old couple had tried chologogue and quassee until their legs swelled and their teeth rotted, but were still as fever-and-ague-ish as ever. At last a decoction of the common white plaintain, formed by steeping the leaves in whiskey, cured them, taken before breakfast a dozen mornings in succession. The remedy is at every farm-house door, and is as simple as that prescribed to Naaman by the prophet, of whom had spoken the little maid."

A BRACE OF STAMMERERS.

Stephen C. was a jovial soul and hesitated not to play a trick on any one. Among his acquaintances he numbered a young lady and a young man, both of whom stammered very badly. They were not acquaint with each other.

Bob F., the young man alluded to, was quite sensitive, and to think that any one was making fun of his defect frequently put him in a passion. It was Stephen's fortune to meet both of them at a party, and he soon determined on a joke.

"Miss See," said he, approaching his lady friend, "may I have the pleasure of introducing one of my acquaintances, a worthy young gentleman?"

"Cer-cer-cer certainly, sir."

Away he started for Bob F.

"Bob, old fellow, here is a very nice girl that I want to introduce you to. Come on."

"Does she taw-taw-taw talk?" asked Bob.

"Yes—like fun."

They started, and soon approached the seat of the lady. Stephen introduced them, and immediately drew to one side, so that he might see how they would manage each other, when his ears were greeted with the following conversation:

"How are you enjoy-joy-joying yourself this evening, ma'am?"

"Th-th thank you, pleasantly; but it is rather warm."

Bob's brow contracted, but he restrained his feelings and continued:

"I've yer presume you are acquaint with a great many present?"

"No sir-yes, sir, we with all, I be be be acquainted, at the same time snapped her fingers, forever in Bob's affections, for hastily rising up he exclaimed:

"By th th thunder, madam, if that is the way you make fun of a fellow's in-in-firmity you may go to grass."

Stephen laughed immoderately all the while, and ever subsequently called on to account for this trick he had played, but his good nature made all right.

TOYS TO BE REMEMBERED!

GEO. A. COX.

Returning his sincere thanks for the very liberal patronage he has received since commencing business in Peterboro', begs to intimate that he will continue to receive Fresh supplies to all the different Seasons, in a manner to merit a continuance of the favors he has received, and hopes by strict attention to business and moderate profits to merit a share of public patronage.

Peterboro', Dec. 1st, 1860.

CASH.

In returning thanks to the public for the liberal patronage bestowed on the late firm of Bradley & Shaw, begs to intimate that he will continue to receive Fresh supplies to all the different Seasons, in a manner to merit a continuance of the favors he has received, and hopes by strict attention to business and moderate profits to merit a share of public patronage.

Peterboro', Dec. 1st, 1860. 39

1861

BOOK AND JOB PRINTING ESTABLISHMENT.

EVERY description of Book and Job Printing executed at this Office, in superior style, at low rates.

Pamphlets, Circulars,
Handbills, Visiting Cards,
Invitations, Bill Headings,
Receipt Bills, Shop Bills,
Cheques Bills, Programmes,
Posters, Blank Bills,
Business Cards, Labels, &c.,

with every variety of Coloring and Ruling.

☞ Law-yers Blanks of every description, kept constantly on hand.

All orders for Job Printing forwarded to this office will be punctually and strictly attended to.

The Examiner.

PETERBOROUGH, CANADA WEST, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1861.

Volume VI.] "THE PEOPLE." [Number 45.

THE "EXAMINER"

Is published every Thursday morning at the office of the undersigned, in

BURNHAM'S BLOCK, GEORGE STREET

Terms of Subscription—$1.50 per annum payable strictly in advance, $2 when not so paid.

Rates of Advertising.

Six Lines, and under, first insertion.....10 cts
Each subsequent insertion.....5
Ten lines, first insertion (one inch).....7
Each subsequent insertion.....3
Business Cards, per annum.....

☞ Advertisements without written instructions will be inserted until forbid. Orders to discontinue must be given in writing.

All communications to the Publisher must be post-paid; otherwise no notice will be taken of them.

JAMES BENFREW,
Publisher and Proprietor.

Business Directory.

JAMES HALL,
SHERIFF. Offices the Court House, Peterborough.

M'CTOOLE,
MANUFACTURER of Sash Blinds, Doors and Mouldings. Every description of Joiner Work done to order. Next door to Marsh's Mills, Peterboro', C. W. 9

MESSRS. FITZGERALD & BRENNAN
PROVINCIAL LAND SURVEYORS, CIVIL ENGINEERS AND LAND AGENTS. Office in Scott's Chambers, corner of George and Simcoe Streets.
Messrs. F. & B. having lately surveyed five outlines of eight new Townships now included in this County will be happy to give any information to intending settlers. 34

J. B. BISBEE,
DEALER in Boots, Shoes & Leather, George Street, Peterborough, C. W. 16

W. CRAWFORD,
GOVERNMENT Land Agent. Office at his residence, Brock Street.

EDMUND B. VINDIN,
COMMISSION, Shipping, Forwarding, and General Agent, Lumber Merchant, &c.—OFFICE—Corner of Walton and Ontario Streets. 13

R. DENNISTOUN,
BARRISTER at Law Master Extraordinary in Chancery Notary Public, &c., Peterborough

Mr. A. T. HEATHFIELD.
PIANIST AND TEACHER OF MUSIC.
COMMUNICATION THROUGH THE POST OFFICE, Peterborough.

JOHNSON'S
FASHIONABLE Hair Dressing and Shaving Saloon in the Building formerly occupied by the Post Office, east of the bridge.
Port Hope, Sept. 29, 1857.

GEORGE MITCHELL,
DEALER in Groceries and Provisions, &c. Cash paid for all kinds of country produce, George Street Peterborough. 16

T. G. HAZLITT,
DEALER in Provisions, Groceries, Crockery and Glass ware, Hunter Street Peterboro.

W. SHERIDAN,
COUNTY Treasurer and Clerk. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

R. STEVENSON,
PAINTER, Paper hanger, &c., &c., Brock Street, Peterborough. 15

GEORGE H. HUGHES,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
SOLICITOR IN CHANCERY
Conveyancer, &c.
OFFICE in Harvey's Building, next door (north) to Thomson's Store, George St., Peterborough. 12

GENERAL FIRE AND LIFE INSURANCE OFFICE.
W. CLUXTON, Agent.

W. COULTER, PETERBORO',
DEALER in Genuine Drugs, Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Spices, Culinary Essences, Fancy Soaps, &c., &c. 16

THOMAS MENZIES,
BOOKSELLER, Stationer, &c., &c., &c., &c. Dixon's Exchange Block, George Street, Peterborough. 20

A. HARVEY, M. D., CORONER.
RESIDENCE:—Aylmer Street, opposite the Railway Depot, Peterboro.
April 3rd, 1861.

W. H. SCOTT,
BARRISTER AT LAW, Solicitor in Chancery, Notary Public, Conveyancer, &c. Offices—In Burnham's Block, opposite the Review Office, Peterborough.
April 11, 1861. 15

A. M'CREA,
PROVINCIAL Licentiate, Physician, Surgeon, &c. Keene.

GEORGE PRINGLE, M. D.
PHYSICIAN, Surgeon, &c., &c., graduate of McGill College, Montreal, having also studied in the hospitals of London and Dublin. Office and Residence,—Brock Street, opposite M'Gregor's Livery Stable, Peterboro.
April 23, 1861. 17

ALEX. McNEIL,
AUCTIONEER, Valuator, &c., &c. Licensed for the United Counties of Peterborough and Victoria. George St., Peterboro'.

JAMES BEST,
DEALER in Dry Goods, Groceries, Crockery Ware and Shoes, &c., &c., Howe's Block, George Street, Peterborough. 16

MR. DUNN,
PRINCIPAL of the Grammar and Union School, will devote a short time each day to private tuition.
Peterborough, Jan. 10th, 1861. 3

FOR SALE.
FIRST-RATE TAVERN STAND situated on Elizabeth Street, Ashburnham, front of Mr. Rogers' Mill. The building is at present used for a dwelling house and furniture store. It would make a good stand for a Grocery and Bakery. The house of the above has eleven rooms to rent, and will be sold very reasonable for money. For particulars apply to
E. BURLEY,
On the premises.
April 23, 1861. 36

JAMES W. FITZGERALD,
(LATE WITH HALL & GIBBARD.)
Provincial Land Surveyor,
Conveyancer, &c. Office in Scott's Chambers, corner George and Simcoe Streets.
Oct. 1, 1861. 41

CABINET-MAKING.
E. POOLE, Cabinet-maker, Upholsterer, & Undertaker, Ryan's Block, George Street, Peterboro'.

A. FOWLIE & Co.
HARDWARE Merchants, George St., Peterboro'.

THE CHEAPEST & BEST PLACE
TO GET YOUR PRINTING DONE IS AT THE EXAMINER OFFICE.

D. PENTLAND,
Surgical & Mechanical Dentist,
OFFICE, OVER COULTERS' DRUG STORE, George Street, Peterboro'.

TEETH Extracted by the aid of Electricity, with the least possible pain. Teeth inserted upon fine Gold, Silver, or
VULCANIZED RUBBER.
Teeth and material warranted to be of the very best quality.
D. P. particularly wishes the public to understand that he
WARRANTS HIS WORK TO GIVE GOOD SATISFACTION,
and parties who are not perfectly satisfied with their plates have the privilege of returning them before paying for them.
Particular attention paid to the treatment of all diseases of the mouth, and also the regulating of children's teeth.
Peterboro', April 16th, 1861. 15

ALBION HOTEL,
MONTREAL.
L. W. DECKER, Proprietor.
IS pleasantly situated at the head of ST. PAUL STREET, amongst the largest wholesale houses in the city. It has (with business men generally, and especially with the best Merchants of both Provinces) become so great a favorite, that it is now acknowledged to be THE Business Hotel of Montreal. To meet the extensive increase, during the last year in the business of the house, the proprietor has built a large addition. The Dining Room has been extended and made more commodious; there have been completed in the new wing, a great number of well-ventilated sleeping rooms, and the House throughout has been refitted, and now contains many improvements and conveniences hitherto unknown to its guests. The whole of the beds have, at a great expence, been furnished with NEW SPRING MATTRASSES. The Proprietor expects that by continuing his personal management of the concern, THE ALBION to say the least of it, will continue to be, as it now is, the best Dollar and a half Hotel in Canada.

VALUABLE FARM
FOR SALE.
THE subscriber is desirous of disposing of his Farm, south west part of Lot 23, in the 11th Con. Otonabee, only 3 miles from the town of Peterborough, and on the main road leading to Keene, comprising 100 Acres.
60 Acres are Cleared,
and in a good state of cultivation; 14 Acres of Fall Wheat are sown, and part of Fall ploughing is done. A good Frame Rough-cast House, 36 x 30, a Barn, 45 x 26, and a good stable and other out-houses are on the premises.
A GOOD WELL
of spring water stands within a rod of the house, and is easy of access. A good
YOUNG ORCHARD OF 85 TREES,
in good condition, and of the choicest fruits, is on the property.
The Farm is one of the best in the Township, and the situation is very convenient, so better chance for the purchase of a good farm could be offered, and it will be sold at a liberal price.
Title Indisputable.
Apply to the proprietor on the premises,
Otonabee, Nov. 7 1860. JAS. WEIR. 54

NOTICE
THE next meeting of the Senior Board of Instruction for the County of Peterboro' will be held on the
First Tuesday of Dec. next,
IN THE COURT HOUSE, AT 10 A.M.
Teachers holding third class certificates issued a year or upwards ago, are required to have them renewed.
By order,
J. EDWARDS,
Secretary.
Peterboro' May 14, 1861. 28

THE LATEST IMPROVED
COAL OIL,
AND COAL OIL LAMPS,
AT REDUCED PRICES.
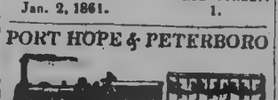
JOHN McDONELL,
GEORGE STREET.
Jan. 2, 1861. 1.

PORT HOPE & PETERBORO


RAILWAY.
ON and after the 6th of May, 1861, and until further notice, Trains will run as follows:—
GOING NORTH.
Leave Port Hope at.....7.30 a. m.
" Millbrook "9.05 a. m.
" Fraserville "9.30 a. m.
Arrive at Peterboro' at.....9.50 a. m.
GOING SOUTH.
Leave Peterboro' at.....2.35 p. m.
" Fraserville "2.55 p. m.
" Millbrook "3.30 p. m.
Arrive at Port Hope at.....4.55. p. m.
JOHN FOWLER,
Lessee.
Peterboro' January, 18

INFORMATION WANTED.
A DAUGHTER wishes to learn the present whereabouts of her mother, whom she has not seen for the last thirty-five years. Her maiden name was Polly Cook; her first husband's name was Wayne Stone. It is said she married in 1840, a person named De Long, who was at that time engaged in some way in the manufacture of silk, in some part of Upper Canada. Any information respecting her will be gratefully received by addressing the subscriber, at 85 Frank Street, Rochester, N. Y.—Canadian papers will confer a favour upon one who has long been deprived of a mother's affections, by giving the above an insertion, entire or in part.
MRS. SEMANTHA JENKINSON.
Rochester, N. Y., 24th May, 1861.

NEXT OF KIN WANTED
Hundreds of Millions Pounds Sterling
IN CHANCERY, BANK OF ENGLAND, &c.
Working Gentlemen, Archæologists of the Land's end, or those in whose letters should this advertisement be forwarded, will be most prompt from, on hearing, or do call to United States' stamps, or two for 5/-. Old wisdom must be presented at once. Nobleness.—A. H. HIA, Station 1, Hawkhills, Chief of Police, Hawkhills, Address
W. W. BARNETT & Co.
Box 240, Post Office, London, England.
Sept. 1861. 11

Poetry.

THE GUEST.

"Behold I stand at the door and knock; if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come into him, and will sup with him, and he with me."—Rev. iii. 20.

Speechless sorrow sat with me;
I was sighing wearily;
Lamp and fire were out; the rain
Wildly beat the window pane.
In the dark we heard a knock,
And a hand was on the lock;
One in waiting spake to me,
Saying sweetly,
"I have come to sup with thee!"

All my room was dark and damp;
"Sorrow," said I, "trim the lamp;
Light the fire; and cheer thy face;
Set the guest-chair in its place."
And again I heard the knock,
In the dark I found the lock—
"Enter, I have turned the key!
Enter, stranger,
Who art come to sup with me!"

Opening wide the door, He came;
But I could not speak his name;
In the guest-chair took His place;
But I could not see His face;
When my cheerful fire was beaming,
When the feast was spread for three,
Lo! my Master
Was the guest that supped with me.

OTTAWA.

* * * * * *

The history of the new seat of Government of Canada, has recently been given in a popular American periodical, in the style which one or two lively and imaginative American historians have endeavored to render common. If one day in the future, Lauder's "Imaginary Conservations" should be embodied in the history of the times wherein his personages are supposed to have spoken, we shall have such history as that of "The Puritans," not long since published, and of Ottawa, as it has just been written in the magazine aforesaid. However, our magazine writer may be trusted in some things, as, for instance, in the physical description of the capital of Canada.

The Grand (or Ottawa) river of Canada, deriving its source from innumerable lakes and tributaries in the heart of that terra incognita lying to the north and east of the French River and Lake Nipissing, in about the forty-eighth degree of north latitude, with a broad circuitous flow for upwards of four hundred miles, rushing into the still greater St. Lawrence in two channels at the island of Montreal. This island is formed at the confluence of the Ottawa branches with the St. Lawrence and is the highest point of ship navigation from the Gulf.

Sixty-five or seventy years ago, Montreal was the ultima Thule of Canadian civilization, and the waters of the Ottawa above the island were seldom disturbed by white men, except occasionally by the adventurous fur-traders. The Indian alone on this river was ruler. The forest waved in primeval luxuriousness and grandeur, and the Ottawa, unchecked by dam or bridge, ran beneath its canopy as free as the untamed horse of the Ukraine.

The Ottawa in those days of newspapers, tourists, and travellers, is celebrated for the number and variety of its falls and rapids; but the most striking, grand and fearful is the fall called by the early French pioneers the "Big Kettle." It occurs in the course of the river at a distance of about one hundred and twenty miles from the island of Montreal. Above it, for a few miles, are several small shutes, indicating the abrupt descent of the bottom plane, and the rapidity and force of the immense river are augmented for the grand rush at the Chaudiere, where it falls perpendicularly some fifteen or twenty feet over a precipitous limestone rock. Here the river is about a quarter of a mile wide, and the term Chaudiere is only properly applicable to a part of the fall.—There is a gap of about two hundred feet in width, and some three hundred indenting back or up the river in the straight line of the cataract. Within this gap, or 'kettle,' the great volume of the Ottawa boils and foams and hisses, and rushing in wild masses around from side to side, eventually escapes in a high mountain of foam, and expands to half a mile in width in a short distance to its course below. Above the Chaudiere the banks on both sides are nearly level, with a gradual ascent from the water; but immediately at and below the falls walls of decayed limestone rise perpendicularly, lessening off abruptly on the north side in half a mile to a plain, but on the south rising higher, and circuitously higher, to a precipitous altitude of one, two, and three hundred feet.

Coming up the river, these heights clothed with stubby pine and wavy hemlock, are most striking and impressive. These, with the Fall of the Chaudiere, and the undulating banks of the northern side, present altogether a variety and picturesqueness of scenery unsurpassed in Canada, or perhaps in America. The fur-trader or voyageur in the old days here, no doubt, paused in admiration of the beauty of the prospect; or if he had no taste for the striking scenes in nature, here he had to pause from necessity. On the one side were lofty hills; before him the great river came down with roar and foam and mist with sudden leap, frightening away thought of navigation. To explore above these dangers, then, the alternative was in the pleasant bank of the north side, which, with gradual ascent, would bring him in a few miles above the Chaudiere and rapids to the quiet waters of the Upper Ottawa. Then, to pass the Chaudiere and the rapids above it—the portage of eight miles in a straight line across the circuit of the river, which is here at least twelve or fifteen miles—was by the first adventurers tramped out. These adventurers were, and those already said, fur-traders. They paddled their way quietly through Montreal, camping out at night on the banks of the silent river, keeping vigilant watch for the stealthy Indian, and looked forward to the weary portage of the Chaudiere—across which canoes and crops were to be carried—on the haunted, weak of the water. Occasionally, on a little cleared spot at the beginning of the portage, would they find the camp of the [illegible]

[illegible] war of 1814-15 between Great Britain and the United States was over, and military men swarmed in the frontier towns and villages of Canada. Now and then disbanded sons of Mars made their appearance in Hull, for it was in those days an out-of-the-way place; and if they were inclined to work, they got it. More pretentious soldiers, or rather officers, the war being over, got grants of land wherever they thought land worth taking, and finally a military settlement grew up on the south bank of the river, opposite the end, or rather "The Head," of the portage road of Hull. All however, seemed to shun the condemned land beyond the precipitous hills below the Chaudiere. Still these hills towered up from the Ottawa in sullen dignity, as if they looked with contempt upon all around; and the Chaudiere foamed, and hissed, and roared as loud as usual. Still down went the trees before the restless white man, and the light of civilization took the place of the forest gloom, and the Ottawa country became gradually pretty well known through Canada.

The village of Hull increased with the growth of the country, and became the principal, or rather the only mart of the Province. In its streets could be heard at a certain season of the year—about the fall, when the lumberers and raftsmen were on their periodical voyages up to "make timber"—the English language, spoken in a variety of ways—in the nasal of the "Down-Easters," in the brogue of the Irishman, and in small bits chopped finely by the French Canadian. Here could be heard, indeed, various English, French, Gaelic, Irish, and occasionally Dutch.

* * * * * *

And here is the site of the future capital of Canada.

THE TWO PATHS.

It was midnight. Upon the steps of luxury sat the starving, pale and motionless.—His grief and want were too deep for utterance. The hours dragged heavily, but that poor lone child heeded them not. His eyes were fastened upon the imagined feast, the untouched abundance, with the fascinating sight of which hunger has the strange power of tantalizing her victims. At length stiffened and chilled, he felt the dawn, and roused himself to look upon the face of the day, the coming Sabbath—to him what a day of hunger and of misery! He saw a child draw near, through the grey light, and quickly his ear was saluted by a human voice speaking to him.

"What are you doing here? Have you been here all night?"

As though the hope of receiving aid from one scarcely less miserable than himself had given voice to his woe, the poor outcast told the story of his mother's death, and that he, too, was starving.

"Oh!" said the stranger boy, "come with me. I will get you bread enough.—There's a baker round the corner, two or three blocks off, who has put up his shutters badly. We can get in and out again long before day."

"Will he give us bread?" inquired the hungry boy, but half comprehending his companion's words.

"Oh! no," said the other; "but we can steal, just to keep from starving."

"No, no," was the instant reply. I may starve, but I can't steal."

At length the stir of life warned the poor wanderer to quit his hard resting place.—With slow footsteps he sauntered down Broadway, and reached St. Paul's just as the children were assembling for Sabbath-school. Weary, yet objectless, he joined the entering throng, but staid his foot upon the threshold, till some one noticing him, came forward, led him to a seat, where, listening with others to the words of his teacher, he forgot for a time his weariness and hunger. When the scholars dispersed his teacher inquired where he lived, and soon drew from him the story of his mothers sufferings and death, and of his own darkened life. With true benevolence she took him to her own home, and there not only were his present wants relieved, but his future was provided for, and this poor stranger became a sort of errand-boy in her father's office.

From an humble errand boy in a lawyer's office, he rose to be a lawyer, and then a judge. That poor, deserted boy, who "might starve but couldn't steal," is now a Christian judge, blessed of God and honored of men. Truly the Sabbath-school was to him the gateway of knowledge, to honor and to religion.

But what became of the other boy who tempted him to steal in the dark hour of his trial? The way of transgression may seem easy at first, but in the end it is very hard. He had taken the first step in sin, others followed in quick succession, till within the walls of a prison he paid the penalty of violated law.

The foregoing incidents are strictly true. They occurred in the city of New York.—S. S. Times.

THE EGYPTIAN HEBE.

Among the Bonniquitres who surrounded me the moment I jumped on the bank was a beautiful, bright-eyed little Arab girl, about 8 years old, landing at donkey, and flourishing a long stick with a grace that would have shamed the best pupil of a fashionable dancing-master. By some accident, moreover, her face and hands were clean, and she seemed to be a general favorite among her ragged companions, who fell back with a gallantry and politeness that would have done honor to the ball-room of the dancing-master aforesaid. I make especial mention of this little girl because it is a rare thing to see an Egyptian child in which one can take any interest,—She exhibited so much beauty and grace, such a quiet, queen and engaging expression, and such propriety of behavior, as she walked by my side, urging on the donkey, and looking up in my face when I asked her a question, that I felt ashamed of myself for riding while she walked. But gender and delicacy as she looked, walking by her donkey, she would have lived not the slave-life of [illegible] Shu [illegible] of pure parents, of which the [illegible] was the chief support. The father had been in the habit of going out with it himself, and frequently taking the latter girl with him for a companion. As she grew up, she went out occasionally alone; and even among the Turks her interesting little figure made her quite a favorite; and when all the other donkeys were idle hers was sure to be engaged.

CHRISTIAN LIBERTY.

Some men have spoken of Christianity as if it was entirely indifferent about liberty and all public questions—as if with such things as these Christianity did not concern itself at all. This indifference is not to be found in the Apostle Paul. When he asserts that inward liberty is the only true liberty, he still goes on to say, "If thou mayest be free, use it rather." For he well knew that though it were possible for a man to be a high and lofty Christian, even though he were a slave, yet it was not probable that he would be so. Outward instructions are necessary partly to make a perfect Christian character; and thus Christianity works from what is internal to what is external. It gave to the slave the feeling of his dignity as a man, at the same time it gave to the Christian master a new view in relation to his slave, and taught him to regard him "not now as a servant, but above a servant, a brother beloved." And so by degrees slavery passed into freed servitude, and freed servitude under God's blessing, may pass into something else. There are two mistakes which are often made upon this subject; one is, the error of supposing that outward institutions are unnecessary for the formation of character, and the other, that of supposing that they are all that is required to form the human soul. If we understand rightly the duty of a Christian man, it is this: to make his brethren free inwardly and outwardly: first inwardly, so that they may become masters of themselves, rulers of their passions, having the power of self-rule and self-control; and then outwardly, so that there may be every power and opportunity of developing the inward life; in the language of the prophet, "To break the rod of the oppressor, and let the oppressed go free."

WONDROUS WORKS OF THE CREATOR.

There is nothing so amiable or that can make so strong an impression on the human mind as the wondrous works of the Creator. We see its beauties in the waving of the trees, and the green blades of the grass; we feel the soft and gentle air with joy and admiration. But these are very minute when we contemplate the grandness of this world which we inhabit, but worlds upon worlds, and solar systems upon solar systems.

It may appear very astonishing to some, when they reflect that every twinkling star is a world like ours! and does it not convey a very sublime idea to contemplate such a globe as the planet Jupiter, a body thirteen hundred times larger than the earth, revolving round the sun at the rate of twenty-nine thousand miles every hour! and the planet Saturn, with its rings and moons revolving in a similar manner round this central orb, in an orbit five thousand six hundred and ninety millions of miles in circumference. But how much more august and overpowering the conception of a sun revolving round another sun, over a circumference a hundred times larger than what has been now stated, and with a velocity perhaps a hundred times greater than that of either Jupiter or Saturn, and carrying all its planets, satellites, comets and other globes along with it in swift career. Such a sun, too, may so far exceed these planets in size as our sun transcends in magnitude either this earth or the planet Venus, the bulk of any one of which scarcely amounts to the thirteen hundred thousandth part of the solar orb which enlightens our day.

And does it not overwhelm the mind with amazement to contemplate the stupendous changes which must be occurring in those distant orbs? Worlds vastly larger than our sun suddenly appear, and as suddenly disappear. Now they blaze forth with most resplendent brilliancy, and again they fade away, and often are apparently blotted out forever. These worlds are unquestionably thronged with myriads of inhabitants, and the phenomenon which to us appears but as the waning or warning lustre of a twinkling star, may, to the dwellers on these orbs, be revolutions of grandeur, such as no earthly imagination has ever conceived.

The disappearance of some stars may be the destruction of that system at the time appointed by the Deity for the probation of its inhabitants; and the appearance of new stars may be the formation of new systems for new races of beings then called into existence to adore the works of their Creator, and I may add for the sake of argument, simply because we neither see nor hear from the inhabitants of other worlds, is no evidence that such inhabitants do not exist. As circumstances forbid our knowing positively that they are inhabited, it is no argument that they are not inhabited.

Dr. John Mason Goode, author of the Book of Nature, etc., seems to have entertained opinions similar to those already expressed. Worlds and systems of worlds, says he, are not only perpetually creating, but also perpetually disappearing.—It is an extraordinary fact that within the period of the last century not less than thirteen stars in different constellations, seem to have perished, and ten new ones to have been created. In many instances it is unquestionable that the stars themselves, the supposed habitations of other kinds of orders of intelligent beings, together with the different elements by which it is probable they are surrounded, have utterly vanished, and the spots they occupied in the heavens have become blanks.

What has befallen other systems will in its only befall our own. Of the time and manner we know nothing, but the first is incontrovertible, it is foretold by our Saviour, it is mentioned in the Scriptures; it is felt throughout the world. Conclusive and overwhelming, indeed, these subjects must be to the contemplative mind!

THE RIVAL PILOTS.

The Uncle Sam was the largest boat of the day, and had two of the best pilots on the river. Between these two men—whom we will call Smith and Brown—there existed a bitter rivalry. The first engineer sided with the first pilot, and the second engineer with Brown.

One day when the boat was leaving Natchez, Brown was steering, ran her a short distance down the stream, in order to pass the town under full head of steam. Just as he was abreast the town, the first engineer, who was working the boat, shut the steam nearly off; nor would he put it on again until they finally, and very slowly passed the town. Brown saw the finger of Smith in his manœuvres, and swore revenge. He got it.

On the next down trip a heavy fog arose and Smith, who at that time abandoned the boat to Brown, ordered him to run till nine o'clock and then tie her up; to have steam kept up all night, and if the fog should lift, to call him.

"Tie the boat up!" said Brown. "I can run her in any such fog as there is to-night. I'll run her till twelve and then tie her up, as you are afraid."

"I can run the boat any night and anywhere that you can," replied Smith; "and if you do more her till twelve, call me then. That's all."

Brown kept on for a while, but the fog grew heavier, and having made sure that his coadjutor was asleep, he rounded the boat to a wood-yard and tied-up. His friend, the second engineer, was on duty, and according to Brown's direction the wheel was unshipped, and steam kept on.

"At twelve, Brown went to the wheel again, and sent a waiter to call Smith who soon made his appearance, rubbing his eyes and looking anything but pleased at the prospect before him.

"Hollo," said Brown, "are you here? I've called you according to your order.—Now I think you had better tie up and turn in again, or you will make a good smash before morning."

Smith growled out that he was able to steer any boat in a fog, and took the wheel. Brown went below.

The boat was fast to the bank, but neither bank nor anything else could poor Smith see.

The wheels, which were uninjured, turned round and round with the swift current, and the splashes reached his ear; the hissing of the steam in the low pressure boilers sounded all right to him; and so, cursing his bad luck, Brown's obstinacy and his own stupidity in accepting the banter, he turned the wheel now this way and now that, expecting every moment to feel the boat strike against something. A thousand times during this weary watch did he determine to give up his desperate undertaking, and as often did pride step in and overtake him; and so, finally, having made up his mind to let the worst come to the worst, he gave a turbulent order to the engineer to work very slow, and keep on.

About sunrise, Brown, accompanied by the captain and other officers, came up on deck.

"Hallo, Smith! is that you?" said Brown.

"Yes it is," Smith replied crossly enough.

"You haven't been running all night, I reckon?"

"Don't you see I have?" answered Smith. "Don't you know where we are. If you don't, I think you had better get your eyes scrubbed out."

"No," said Brown, "I can't say that I do. Where are we?"

"Just above Natchez."

"Well, smarty," said Brown, "you have done it this time, and I wouldn't be in your boots for a bagshead of niggers."

"What have I done, and what do you mean?" demanded Smith, ferociously.

"Done! Done enough!" roared Brown. "I left the boat tied up to old Jones' plantation, and you have gone and towed it down to Natchez. They will have you up for abduction, and nigger stealing, and putting obstructions in the channel of the river, and the Lord have mercy on you."

A very most ray of the sun, peeping down through the mist at this moment, partially disclosed the situation of the boat and the shore to the astonished Smith, and darting below, he remained there until the boat did reach Natchez; and from that time ever after, neither the Uncle Sam nor the Mississippi river knew him more.

A DISAPPOINTED WOMAN.

A few months since a gentleman had the misfortune to lose his wife—a literary woman of some reputation. After grieving for a number of weeks, a bright thought entered the head of the widower. He thought he could do something to lessen his sorrows and for that purpose he called upon a lady of his acquaintance, and requested to speak a word with her in private. Thinking that she was about to receive a proposal, the lady prepared to listen with becoming resignation.

"Myrtha," said he, with downcast eyes, as he took her by the hand, "you knew my wife?"

"Certainly."

"It is not good for man to be alone."

"Did you ever reflect upon that part of the marriage service which requires couples to observe unto each other till death doth part them?"

"I have often reflected upon it myself. Now death has parted me from my wife and I feel very lonely."

"I should think it likely."

"I think I must do something to restore to me her kind consolation, and the memory of her virtues."

He pressed the lady's hand and sighed. She returned the pressure and also sighed a sigh to consort her.

"My dear," said he, after a long pause, "I'll come to the point at once."

"A proposal!" She blushed and covered her face with her handkerchief.

"Yes; I have concluded to write my wife's Biography. Now I've never had her little skill in literary exercises, and if you will correct my manuscript, and write the headings of the chapters, I will give you five dollars."

She sprung from his side, and her eyes flashed with anger.

"I'll see you hanged first, and then I won't, you—you—"

She left the room not being able to express her rage. The widower sighed, took his hat and went home. He has not yet published the biography.

ODDS AND ENDS.

....There is a Gaelic proverb:—"If the best man's faults were written on his forehead, it would make him pull his hat over his eyes."

.....A distinguished candidate for an office of high trust in a certain state, who is "up to a thing or two," and has a high appreciation of live beauty, when about to set off on a "electioneering tour recently, said to his wife, who was to accompany him for prudential reasons:

"My dear, inasmuch as this election is complicated, and the canvass will be close, I am anxious to leave nothing undone that would promote my popularity, and as I thought it would be a good plan for me to kiss a number of the handsomest girls in every place where I may be honored with a public reception. Don't you think that would be a good idea?"

"Capital," exclaimed the devoted wife, "and to make your election a sure thing, while you are kissing the handsomest girls, I will kiss an equal number of the handsomest young men!"

The distinguished candidate, we believe, has not since referred to this "pleasing means of popularity."

....What is a mob? "A mob, ma'am," says Quilp, "is usually a person of the feminine gender and may be known by several characteristics. She is polite to her superiors; arrogant with those of the lower station; fawns on the rich; snubs the poor, and pretends not to know her own mother when she chances to meet the old lady in unfashionable clothes. She has plenty of brass and few brains; and is always uneasy from a suspicion that her intrinsic vulgarity may fail to be hidden by her outward gentility."

....A Mr Casey, who lives "out West," recently testified in court that Widow Magown, who was desperately in love with him, "not only asked him to marry her, but when he refused she followed and chucked bricks at him, and played various games of that sort." Poor Mr. Casey!

....Some boys in Danbury, Conn, undertook to burn off a pig's tail, some days ago, and did it; but with it went the pig, and the barn and contents of Elisha Trowbridge.

... Old Francis, late of Chesnut street, was a wag, and once, in Washington City, when early peas were on the table, he emptied the contents of his snuff-box over them.

"Francis!" they exclaimed; "what are you about?"

"I like them that way," was the answer. He of course had the dish to himself, and when he had concluded he exclaimed,

"You thought it was snuff, did you?—Nothing but black pepper,"

....An Indiana paper says, that during a trial in Lawrence county, a young lad who was called as witness, was asked if he knew the obligations of an oath, and where he would go if he told a lie. He said he supposed he would go where all the lawyers went.

...."Pray sir," said a person who had previously been the backmost of the crowd, to another who had just joined it—"pray sir, have the kindness not to press upon me; it is unnecessary, since there is no one behind to press upon you!"

"But there may be presently," said the other; "besides, sir, where's the good of being in a crowd if one mayn't shove?"

....A quack doctor advertises to cure, among other incurable diseases, Maraschoussarie, Abdelkader, Hippopotamus, Potato Rot, Hydrostatics, Inflamation of the Abominable Regions, Ager Fits, Shakiquaker riots, and all kinds of Anniversaries.

....When we asked a man a few days since what induced him to make a low opinion of his son, he replied,—

"O, he was always a lying little cuss, and I thought I would humor his leading propensity."

...."You are at the very bottom of the hill," said a physician to a sick patient, "but I shall endeavor to get you up again."

"I fear I shall be out of breath before I reach the top," was the reply.

.....The war which is upon us is the great topic of conversation, in the streets, the public places, and at the family fireside. One young girl, much alarmed at the idea of her male friends being called upon to go to war, perhaps killed in the conflict, exclaimed, with tears in her eyes,

"How dreadful it would be to live without our men!"

.... They get up model farm houses in Cleveland—short, sweet, and spotted upon the principle of compressed emotion from dictionary rules. Here is one used in their last week—

"Dear—there absent not forgotten there a good iron remain well to fitted hopper."

.....A very jealous fellow mentioned Douglas Jerrold very warmly to the evening long stories, and on one occasion he related having heard a thought, which he quite carried away, at Douglas, forbid, resent, asked if any one present could sing that song.

...."You say an Irishman is a fellow, unwillingly to fill his place," said a fellow, "I am more responsible for places than to Ireland than you are for having been born an ass."

EARL RUSSELL ON THE REBELLION.

On the 24th inst., the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs was honored with a grand reception and dinner at Newcastle-upon-Tyne. His lordship after dinner, made the address, so expressing at some length on public affairs, and alluded as follows to the American question:

GENTLEMEN: Let us look for a moment at another part of the world; at another country, which, for my part, I have always observed with the greatest interest—the United States of America. It appears to me that it would be a great misfortune to the world if that experiment in free government which, though not carried on in exactly the same principles which had been devised with great wisdom—it would be, I say, a very great misfortune if anything were to happen that State. [Cheers.] I am sorry to say that those events have happened, and we now see two parties contending together, not upon the question of Slavery—though that, I believe in the original cause of the conflict—not contending with respect to Free Trade and Protection but contending as so many States of the Old World have contended, the one side for empire and the other for power. For be it from us to set ourselves up as judges in this matter, but I cannot help asking myself, as affairs progress in the contest, to what good end can it lead? Supposing this contest ended, by the re-union of its different parts, and that the South should agree to enter again with all the rights of the Constitution, should not again have that fatal subject of Slavery brought in along with them? [Hurrah.] That subject of slavery which caused, no doubt, the disruption, we all agree must, sooner or later, cease from the face of the earth. [Cheers.] Well then, gentlemen, joy will not, if this quarrel could be made up, should we not have those who differed from Mr. Lincoln at the last election carried back into the Union, and thus, sooner or later, the quarrel would recommence, and, perhaps, a long civil war follow? On the other hand, supposing the United States completely to conquer and subdue the Southern States, supposing that should be the result of some years of civil war, should we not have the material prosperity of that country in a great degree destroyed, should we not see that respect for liberty which has so long distinguished our North American brethren, and should we not see those Southern men yielding to force, and would not the North be necessitated to keep in subjection those who have been conquered, and would not that very materially interfere with the freedom of nations? And if it should be the unhappy result to which we at present look forward, if by means such as these the reunion of the States should be brought about, is it not the duty of those men who have embraced the precepts of Christianity to see whether this conflict cannot be avoided? Gentlemen, I have made these observations to upon matter, as I have said, deeply affecting us all, but not upon matters in which the Government of this country has any immediate power, or indeed any immediate interest. Had they been cases of that kind it would not have been consistent with my duty as Foreign Secretary to speak to you in detail upon the subject; but, with regard to these duties, I can only point to you—if it is all necessary to point out—that the world is disturbed by assertions of nationality, by assertions of authority on the other side, by conflicts and disturbances occuring almost daily in some parts of Europe as well as in America—(cheers)—in these cases it is the duty of the Foreign Minister of this country, it is the duty of the head of the Government of this country to watch closely as to what happens; to respect the independence of all foreign nations, but not to let go any part of that prudence and vigilance which would become Ministers of England at this time; not to impair any part of the influence of this country, because that influence may be used in the cause of freedom and humanity. (Hear, hear, and cheers.) Not to lower in any respect the power of this country, because that power may be absolutely necessary to preserve the freedom of Europe, to vindicate the independence of nations, and to guard her own dignity and freedom. (Cheers.)

GREAT TELEGRAPHIC TRIUMPH.

UNION OF THE ATLANTIC AND PACIFIC OCEANS.

On Thursday, of last week the telegraph across the entire American continent was completed, and the first telegraphic message was flashed from San Francisco to New York. The furthest East and the furthest west are thus bound together by the thin yet powerful magnetic wire, and the mystic current sweeps in one continuous uninterrupted electrical highway for a distance of over four thousand miles. The fisherman at Cape Race, in the stormy Atlantic, can whisper and be heard by the miners of the Golden Hore, in the Pacific; and the news of the morning will be published simultaneously on the shores of the two great oceans. The difference of longitude between Cape Race and San Francisco is about seventy degrees, or, in time, four hours and twenty minutes; so that a message sent from the former to the latter place—if two hours be occupied in its transmission—will yet arrive two hours and twenty minutes, by San Francisco clock, earlier than the time at which it started. News may thus be forwarded along the highway of thought to California more rapidly by far than the earth's surface in whirled in the diurnal revolution of our planet. What genuine grandeur is there in this wondrous line!—From Newfoundland across the Gulf of St. Lawrence, through the continental British Provinces, across five populous free States, till it reaches and leaps the Alleghanies—thence through the States and prairies of the West to the far Missouri—then acre a the Great Plains inhabited only by Wandering Indians, to the rocky spine of the continent—thence through the Mormon country and the silvery valley of the Carson river to the mountain heights of the Sierra Nevada—and from thence westward still to the city of the Golden Gate and the waters of the Pacific Ocean—the wire stretching altogether round a sixth of the girth of the globe. From this time every public pulsation on the Atlantic will be felt on the Pacific. All the hopes and anxieties, the successes and reverses of the republic will be reported, applauded and lamented simultaneously throughout the Atlantic slope, the Mississippi Valley, and the Pacific shore; and a great free nation will be bound together and consolidated by a continuous unity of thought and sympathy.

This telegraphic achievment is indeed a sublime victory of peace amid the raging of civil war. So quietly has the work been carried on, from the Missouri river westward, and from thence eastward, that few people knew that it was being carried on at all. In the din of hostile hatred has all thought of the triumphs of peace. The news of the completion of the line was to many like the announcement that had of late been made to them, that the Atlantic cable was a failure; and the practicability of its ever attaining success under such conditions and circumstances as are unexplicable, in crossing from Valentia to Newfoundland, is doubted by many scientific telegraphists. But following the present direction, we have now but to exceed the count up the Pacific from San Francisco, which is constantly trending up a great circle to the West, until the Aleutian Islands or Behring's Straits are reached, when, crossing to Asia, with very short submerged cables, we follow the Asiatic coast, still upon a great circle, to the mouth of the Amoor river, where the Russian Kamschatka line will be tapped. Russia is now rapidly stretching along her telegraphic wires to meet us in this direction. So great an advance has already been made in the construction of telegraphs through her Siberian territory, that during the present year a line will be completed to Omsk, via the Ural Mountains, and next year to Irkutsk. In the meantime, they are also constructing different lines through Eastern Siberia along the Amoor, and near the Japan Sea, so that by the year 1864, the various lines will be completed, which will make a direct telegraphic communication from the Baltic to the Pacific, and from thence across this continent to the shores of the Atlantic. Thus the whole world will be in telegraphic union, with but forty miles of submarine cable; all the four continents united, and every mile of telegraph in the four quarters of the world in junction.—Scottish Am. Journal.

THE BATTLE NEAR EDWARD'S FERRY,

ON THE UPPER POTOMAC.

Late on Sunday night detachments of the Massachusetts 15th and 20th Regiments were sent from the Maryland side of the Upper Potomac to Harrison's (or Swan's) Island, 4 miles above Edward's Ferry, with orders to stand in readiness to cross to Virginia at sudden notice. It was understood that Quartermaster Howe of the 15th Massachusetts had been over with a scouting party, and had reported that a small rebel camp lay within easy capturing distance of the shore; and the impression then was that the expedition was to carry out this purpose. However this might be, at about midnight 300 of the 15th Regiment, under Col. Devens, were sent out from the Island, with 100 of the 20th, under Col. Lee, as a reserve force. The means of crossing were shockingly inadequate. Three boats only were employed, one capable of holding 16 persons, the other two holding but 4 or 5 each. There is no question but that better transports could have been obtained at the expense of very slight trouble. The canal close by, was filled with boats which could have been transferred to the river with comparatively little difficulty, since communication is furnished by a lock close at hand. However, the crossing was, after a time, effected, and during the early morning the little body of the 15th were moving cautiously toward Leesburg, but not finding what was expected, they withdrew toward the river bank and waited for further orders. No sign of the enemy was given until about 9 o'clock, when part of what is supposed to have been a Mississippi regiment appeared, and immediately engaged our advance. By one musket discharge of the rebels at this time, some dozen of Company H, 5th Regiment, were seriously wounded, and three were killed. The enemy were, however, for a short time driven back, but, being powerfully re-enforced, they in turn became the assailants, and thrust the 15th Regiment man back upon the reserve of the the 20th. All this fighting took place within a very limited extent of ground, and lasted about half an hour. Col. Lee sent a note to Gen. Stone, saying "Devens has fallen back on me. We intend to fight." Probably in consequence of this intelligence 300 additional men of the 15th were sent over from the island as reinforcements. Nothing serious occurred, although slight skirmishes were ventured from time to time, until 2 o'clock in the afternoon, when Col. Baker crossed with a part of his California Regiment, a further detachment of the Massachusetts 20th, a company or two of Colonel Coggswell's Tammany Regiment, and a small selection from the Pennsylvania 29th. Col. Baker at once assumed command, and disposed his forces for battle. The ground was not favorable for our men, and was, in every strategic consideration, an unfortunate one. It was an open field, at the summit of the steep acclivity which forms the Virginia shore at this point. In case of a defeat—as it afterward proved—no possibility of successful retreat existed. The field, which occupied altogether some twelve or fifteen acres, extended back for a very short distance, and was on three sides bordered by thick woods. In the woods on the right hand the men of the Massachusetts 15th, some 600 in number, were placed. At the right of the open space stood the 300 men of the Massachusetts 20th. At the left were the men of the California Regiment, while the Tammany troops held the rear of the centre. One rifled cannon, of Vaughan's Rhode Island Battery, was stationed in front of the left wing, and two mountain howitzers, of Rickett's Battery, in front of the right. (These pieces were lost during the engagement.) Our entire force numbered about 1,800.

Toward three o'clock the rebels, without coming into view, suddenly opened a severe fire of muskets from the woods facing our line. The cannoneers and artillery horses attached to the field-pieces, were almost all shot down in this opening discharge, and the infantry suffered heavily. Our men responded with vigor, but it was apparent that the odds in numbers as well as in position, were vastly in favor of the rebels. The working of our guns was soon interrupted, and not more than half a dozen rounds were fired during the four hours' contest that ensued. For the last two or three rounds Col. Lee carried up the ammunition with his own hands. In all this time our men had but occasional glimpses of the enemy, and were, excepting the detachments of the 15th Massachusetts, continually exposed to the view of their opponents. The fire of musketry upon them was almost incessant, but artillery the rebels did not use from beginning to end. The slaughter which we know to have resulted seems all the more remarkable in view of this fact. It is probable that the rebels were familiar with the ground, and knew precisely where to direct their volleys; and that the pluck which our men—certainly the Massachusetts men—showed in returning to the same spot of action again and again, only brought certain and renewed destruction upon them. As each new line was formed, the rebel volleys would seem to meet them, and separate them, as if by lightning strokes, into broken and scattered groups. No line could stand before their concentrated fire, and the impossibility of discovering them, sheltered as they were by thick woods, rendered our troops' efforts at retaliation perfectly futile. Beyond all doubt, our forces were prodigiously outnumbered. Making every allowance for the exaggerated conjectures which partisanship in no action like this are apt to create, it seems probable that the odds on the rebel side were as three to one. They might have been larger, and certainly the almost universal opinion is that they were.

For more than an hour this work continued before our disasters appeared to become overwhelming. A little after four o'clock Col. Baker was shot, apparently in the chest or stomach. He was standing in advance of his left, endeavoring to rally a company of Pennsylvania skirmishers. He fell heavily forward, but immediately raised himself upon his hands and knees, and afterward, with an effort to his feet. He stood erect only for an instant, and, without uttering a word, fell again instantaneously. It is probable that he received another shot at the moment of rising. The only wonder is that Col. Baker did not fall earlier, so daringly did he expose himself at all moments during the action.

Toward 6 o'clock the case was so utterly hopeless, and the impossibility of retreat so evident, that, in spite of the unshrinking determination of the little remainder of our troops, the leading officers counseled a surrender. Col. Lee, after consultation, determined, for the sake of averting needless slaughter, to give up himself and his men. But even after this intention had been communicated, the detachment of the 20th rallied a number of times, and fired steady volleys. It would appear that even at this late period, if a resolute bayonet-charge had been ordered the field might have been saved for, to the last moment, the courage of our troops was undiminished. But the orders became irregular, the intentions of the leading officers seemed divided, and a little after 6 o'clock the remaining contestants withdrew down the precipitous river bank, and endeavoured to recross to the island. Here the general organization of our force was quite abandoned; each company acted separately. The officers and men who could swim, started, half-naked, over the river, and the boats were kept for a while for the wounded. This, however, lasted but a little time. Presently all order was lost. A large flat-boat was sunk by overcrowding, and scores of men perished, some by drowning, some by the fire of the rebels, who now crowded the high bank, and poured an incessant fire upon the scattering fugitives. The river channel was thick with dead and dying bodies, but the bearing of the survivors was strangely quiet—the immobility, perhaps, of desperate hopelessness. Hundreds probably were here sacrificed. The number of prisoners taken was very large. Parts of the 15th Massachusetts and some of the Tammany Regiment pushed down the river as far as Edward's Ferry, and there forded, while a portion of the 20th and some of the California Regiment marched up for a mile, until they came upon a small stranded boat, by means of which they succeeded in slowly crossing.

INCIDENTS OF THE BATTLE AT FREDERICKTOWN.

Details of the battle of Fredericktown, in Missouri, are to hand. It will be recollected that Colonel Carlin of the Federal Army attacked Jeff. Thompson of the Confederate forces, and drove him from the place. There appears to be very little discipline among the forces on either side. It is a sort of border warfare. Very little fighting is done in the open field. Each man acts to a great extent independently of his comrades, hides where he likes, and kills whom he can. A correspondent of the Missouri Democrat, who went over the to scene of the fight after the defeat of the rebels, gives an account which enables one to realize to some extent the horrors of the warfare. He says one-third of the rebel dead were boys from fifteen to eighteen years old—mere striplings with the down on their faces, who could not have been disciplined, and who could have had no adequate idea of military duty or the horrors of a battle. They had some good muskets, but of the forty or fifty pieces that had been picked up on the battle field, not a single one could be called respectable. More than half of them were old flint lock, squirrel guns, that were next to useless in a battle. Some of the prisoners expressed surprise at the speed with which the Federal troops loaded and fired. Cartridges were unknown to the rebels. They had been used to patch their balls and prime the pans of their flint lock guns. "The dead," says one correspondent, "are scattered over a wide area in the stubble fields and corn fields, and in the thick underwood. Many of them will not be found for several days and the hogs on Tuesday had already badly mutilated some of them. I saw one body with the face and throat entirely eaten off, and the eyes eaten out. Poor fellows! Some of the enemy performed deeds of heroism worthy of a better cause. One of their cannon was placed in the woods near the mouth of the lane, and was vigorously worked. As our forces advanced, they picked one after another of the gunners off, till at last but a single one was left. He continued his work of loading and firing as fast as he could, nothing daunted. He seemed utterly oblivious to everything but the work before him, and made no motions towards retreat. At last he fell at his post, bravely and heroically. When the rebels retreated across the field they had to cross a middle fence. One man laboring under the effects of 'sod corn,' got along rather slowly, and was some time in getting on the fence. While there he was pierced by several balls, and falling dead across the fence he remained there till next day, when some one kindly took him down. Another was shot through the head in the early part of the engagement, Monday afternoon, and half of his brain (supposing he had a reasonable amount) ran out, yet, up to nine o'clock Tuesday, he was breathing, and I do not know how much longer afterwards. Of course he was utterly unconscious. I also saw another rebel wounded in precisely the same way, and he was in the same condition."

FRENCH MILITARY SCHEME

FOR WARRING ON THE WATER.

The Morning Herald's Paris Correspondent writes:—The military preparations of the French Government are going on with great activity. Experiments are now going on at Vincennes with a view to use common rifled howitzers as mortars, by fixing them at a very sharp angle, which enables small shells to be thrown some six thousand metres. But these experiments excite but little attention in comparison with a new invention which has been tried with perfect success, and by which a foot soldier, in heavy marching order, is enabled to walk on the river without sinking. It consists of a pair of India-rubber boots and trousers, all of one piece, which are filled with air a little below the waist, and heavily weighted at the feet. With these trousers on, a detachment has frequently crossed the lake of Vincennes, where the water is about fifteen feet deep, firing their muskets, and loading as they went. The men sink about two feet, the water barely reaching the top of their thighs, and appear not to have any difficulty in keeping their balance and moving along. The experiment is to be repeated in presence of the Emperor, and there is not the slightest doubt of its being adopted for the army.—The inventor is a manufacturer of Douai; and I hear that he offered his invention to the British Government some time ago, but was laughed at, and even refused a trial.—The consequences of the adoption of this system need hardly be pointed out. Fancy on a calm day at sea, how easily it would be to land three or four thousand men, who would forthwith walk ashore, and secure a landing for the rest of the forces. For the crossing of rivers the advantage of this system is still more obvious, and the delays caused by the necessity of constructing bridges or discovering fords would be done away with. I may add, as it is not improbable that a plan for making soldiers amphibious may meet with some incredulity, that I can vouch for the accuracy of the particulars given above, which have reached me from a military friend who himself witnessed what I have attempted to describe. I can readily believe, however, that you will require ample corroboration.

LOSS OF THE BRITISH SCHOONER "SHARK" OF LIVERPOOL.

Captain L. D. Barrett, of the schooner Mariquita, arrived from Rio Congo, Africa, gives us the following particulars of the loss of this vessel:

August 8th, the British schooner Shark of Liverpool, while entering the Rio Congo, ran ashore on Shark's Point, and became a total loss. She had a cargo valued at $5000, which fell into the hands of the natives, "Mussolongos," who gathered in great numbers, armed with muskets, and commenced shooting at the crew, who were obliged to make their escape in the boat to save their lives. After they left the vessel the natives continued to fire at them until the current had drifted them out of range. Her Britannic Majesty's frigate Arrogant arrived eight days after, but the natives had taken the vessel to pieces to get the iron and copper bolts from her, and with these, the cargo, sails, and copper from her bottom they made off into the interior. The Arrogant destroyed a number of huts that were on the beach, which was the only satisfaction they had received thus far.

EVANGELICAL ALLIANCE.

Now that the noble gathering of good and great men, from every land, at Geneva, is over, the whole matter presents a very pleasant retrospect. Everything connected with the proceedings will bear strict and candid examination. The range of enquiry was very wide, and every subject was discussed with admirable ability. The spirit, too, was not less remarkable than the talent of the assembly. It was a grand triumph of wisdom and of charity for such a body to commence, carry on, and complete such a series of discussions in such a manner.—The total number of persons inscribed as having attended the Conferences is 1,887, of whom 1,240 were foreigners. There were daily morning prayer-meetings at the Hotel ves Bergnes, attended by the English, and similar meetings for the French and other Foreigners in various parts of the town. One of the striking features of these interesting meetings, both public and private, was the earnest spirit of brotherly love that prevailed, without any interruption, among so large a body of Christians congregated from all parts of Europe and America, and differing not only in nationality and language, but in many peculiarities as to government, ceremonies, &c., of their various religious denominations. This truly gratifying exhibition of Christian union brought to the recollection the testimony borne by Pagans to the Christianity of the primitive ages when they exclaimed, "See how these Christians love one another!"—London Paper.

PARSON BROWNLOW'S VALEDICTORY.

The report of the suppression of Parson Brownlow's Knoxville Whig, by order of the Jeff. Davis Government, is confirmed by the appearance of the editor's valedictory in a late number. The gallant parson is game to the last. He closes his farewell article with the following:

"So far as we are concerned, we can suspend our publication, in obedience to the dictates of tyranny and intolerance; we will yield to the demand of an armed mob; turn over to them our office and what little property we have; deprive ourselves and a helpless family of small children of the necessary means of support, and beg our bread from door to door among Union men who are able to give; but we shall refuse, obstinately refuse, to the day of our death, to think or speak favorably of such a confederacy as this, or to agree that honor, patriotism, or love of country, has influenced the men at its head, who have plunged the country into this revolution! And whether our humble voice is hushed in death; whether our press is muzzled by the spirit of intolerance at Richmond, making this our last issue of a journal we have edited for almost a quarter of a century, we beg all who may come after us and our paper, to credit no secession falsehood that may represent us having changed our principles from those of an equalled devotion to the old American Union, and undying hostility to those who could perpetuate its dissolution."

EFFECT OF THE COTTON PANIC IN ENGLAND.

MILLS STOPPING.

The stoppage of the cotton supply from the United States has caused the suspension of several mills in England, and others are working on short time. One of the manufacturing firms has issued the following notice to its workmen:

"To the Workmen employed in Charlton Mills:

"We think it right to warn you that, in consequence of the expected scarcity of cotton, it is probable that the cotton mills in this country will be compelled to work very short hours, and many of them may have to close entirely during the approaching winter.

"In order to lessen the distress which such a state of affairs must necessarily bring about, we earnestly advise all persons concerned to exercise the utmost economy and foresight now, and lay by as much as possible, in readiness for the time of trial which may so soon overtake us."

"BAILEY & Co."

At Wigan some of the mills are entirely closed, while others are open only 3 and 5 days a week. Though short time has been resorted to by a large majority of the manufacturers in the town, there are five mills—those of Mr. J. Cross, Messrs. Taylor, Mr. Brown, and Mr. Holland running full. Messrs. Eccles are running five days a week, as is also Mr. Tipping at one of his mills, the other being closed. Messrs. Johnson and Mr. Wood are four days a week, while Messrs. J. & T. Wood are running three days a week. The mills of Messrs. Eckersley and J. Astee are temporarily closed.

Messrs. Tidmer & Sidebottom, proprietors of the Gibraltar cotton factory, Hyde, have signified their intention of closing the mill. This stoppage will cause about 700 hands to be thrown out of employment.

☞ If your property is not Insured,

☞ call and have it it done by the undersigned who is agent for a number

☞ of the best British and Canadian

☞ Companies, whose business cards will

☞ be found in another part of this

☞ paper.

J. R. WALTON,

Insurance Agent.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Furs! Furs!—W. Loch.
Strayed—W. Fitzgerald.
Credit Sale—W. Sheridan.
Credit Sale—A. McNeil.
Notice—Wm. Webster.
Farm for Sale.—C. Leary.
Axes! Axes! Axes!—P. J. Ayres.
To Millers—S. Wood.
Important Credit Sale.—A. McNeil.
Caution—E. O'Donnell.
St. Andrew's Society—R. Isaacs.
Fire & Life Assurance—Jos. R. Walton.

The Examiner.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1861.

THE CIVIL WAR.

The telegraphic reports of the war in the neighboring country have been so contradictory that we have refrained from publishing any of them of late; we have prepared an abridged report for our paper betimes of occurrences said to have taken place, but before our time of going to press a flat contradiction of everything in the first reports would reach us, and of course we had to withhold all from our readers. To-day we present something like definite and reliable accounts of two recent engagements between the belligerents. In both of these and in no engagement near Leesburg, Va., the Federalists, contrary to the expectations of many, were the greatest sufferers. The people are becoming impatient under these reverses, and cries come up against the Government from many quarters. Meanwhile, the veteran commander, Winfield Scott, has resigned his post. That event will weaken the confidence of many in the Union cause. The removal of Fremont from the command in the West, has also created much dissatisfaction.

We quote an extract from the Washington correspondence of a New York paper as indicative of the feeling in the North:

"The people are staggered; they hear that the Cabinet is divided, that the magnificent army which they have equipped is to remain inactive till winter forces them to retirement, in order that opportunity may be afforded for moral suasion and diplomatic negotiation. Is this true? Are these things possible? Yet such are the reports in private circles and on 'change. If they are true, then the Administration are divorcing themselves mensa et toro, from the people. They have no confidence in moral suasion or negotiations. They believe in artillery and cavalry, as the only means of re-establishing the power of the Government over the seceding States.—They will not submit to the army retiring to winter quarters without trying to do something more than threaten the lines of the enemy, unless the gravest military reasons exist for such an act. If so, they will acquiesce in the painful necessity. But if it is for state reasons, then they protest against the policy as ruinous, suicidal, and cowardly.

"If President Lincoln has not a Cabinet who are a unit on the resolution to maintain the Government and restore its authority by force of arms, the true people of the United States expect him to form a Cabinet on such a basis. They will pardon mistakes of judgment, but not of principle. They have enough of forbearance, enough of diplomacy, enough, yes, ad nauseam, of compromise, and now they want firm, stern, direct fighting. If the Administration think that will of the North and West, with our twenty millions, cannot, by fighting, establish the power of the Government in the rebel States, with only twelve millions, then let it frankly say so and resign, and thus give place to men who believe in the contrary, and are willing to try the force of arms.

"Nothing has given more sorrow to the people of the North than the reports of difference of opinion between Gen. McClellan and certain members of the Cabinet as to the propriety of an advance at this time. They have no confidence in the military ability of the Cabinet; that was destroyed at Bull Run. They have all confidence in the youthful McClellan. They may be disappointed, but they are willing to risk an army such as the world has seldom seen on his judgment, and they demand for him responsibility, a fair chance, a free field, and no interference by civilians."

This state of things may, however, soon assume a new form. A naval expedition has sailed from Fortress Monroe, consisting of 36 transports, 25 steam gun-boats, and 10 large war vessels, carrying 500 guns, together with 23,000 troops. The fleet has sailed with sealed orders, but it is supposed that its mission is the bombardment of New Orleans. Were this accomplished a joint movement would probably take place down the Mississippi from the West, and up from the South, with the most disastrous results to the Confederates. In that case, the battle field would be changed from the Potomac to the Mississippi; and the Northern people, flushed with the great victory, would gain fresh courage, and push the war against the "rebels" with success. We admit, however, that so far as our observations extend, (excluding the supposed movement of the fleet) the chances are decidedly against the re-establishment of the Union. But, in either case, the God-cursed institution of Slavery seems to be doomed.—There is a growing feeling in the North that Slavery is the root of all this evil, and that feeling will extend till the root is extracted from the soil, and a repetition of this most dreadful fratricide made impossible, whatever the result of the war may be.—We will watch the present movements with interest, for we are convinced that the fate of the American Union hangs trembling in the balance at this moment.

THE BREADSTUFFS MARKET.

Breadstuffs, we are told by an American paper, will be in great demand this year, to supply the deficiency of the European harvest, which is greatest in France, next in England, but extends also to Spain, Holland and Belgium. The estimated deficiency of the two first named countries will be about 150,000,000 bushels. The chief sources of supply are Russia, Egypt, and the United States, and in consequence of our better means of bringing the corn to the sea-coast and quickly transporting it across the ocean, this supply—always large, but larger this year than common—is coming more and more from America.—This will require of the shipping much service; of the railroads and inland steamboats all the conveyance that will pay; and will distribute money among all classes, and especially at the West, where otherwise it would be scarce. Keeping the balance of trade in their favor by the increase of exports, when there is also a great decrease of imports, they will not only retain what specie they have, and what comes in from California, but the money will continue to flow in from Europe.

In England the growth of wheat has been steadily increasing, till the average yield has more than doubled in the last fifty years. This has come through a proper system of culture, drainage and manuring. In the same time our lands have been running down, through want of proper tillage, from thirty to fifteen bushels per acre. Still, as our acres are boundless, and only one-tenth of the people of England are engaged in agriculture, we have the means of partially supplying their constant demand. England imports usually three hundred thousand bushels of grain per day, at an annual cost of about one hundred million dollars, and in 1860 it reached a hundred and fifty millions. When, therefore, the crop in other countries fails, much anxiety is felt in England, and the press is now urging that the American market should be take advantage of, and great purchases are being made and forwarded.

In France there has been less attention to agriculture than formerly. The Government has looked after the working men, and made improvements in the cities, to effect which loans have been had that have absorbed the money that had been invested in agriculture. The inundations of the grain regions on the Rhone and Loire have also been disastrous, and then the bad weather came in to make the harvest short indeed. It is said that France will be called upon to expend an immense sum for corn. It happens, fortunately for us, that our harvests in the past years have been abundant. Last year the American total exports of wheat and corn did not exceed twenty-three million dollars, but there is no doubt that it will reach sixty million this year. Chicago is the great grain depot, and the receipts there are about two million bushels per week, while nearly as much is being shipped from New York, giving much vigor to business circles.

AN IMPORTANT DECISION.

An important decision was given by Chief Justice Draper a few days ago. It is that all Crown lands, not patented, are exempt from taxation. By this decision it is ruled that all unpatented lands sold for non-payment of taxes are liable to be recovered by the former holders, from the Municipalities at whose suit they were sold. Immense sums have been brought to the Municipal treasuries through this channel, and if the parties affected choose to proceed for the recovery of their lands there will be some commotion in our Township councils soon. The decision will also affect the parties who have bought unpatented lands at Sheriff's sales for taxes: ejection will be sought, and if Justice Draper's ruling is accepted, obtained in every case. It is singular why so important a point has not been defined before.

Not long since we called public attention to the fact that the greater number of parties having claims on lands in the new Townships were assessed far above the value of their land, and had been so assessed for the purpose of giving them votes. But let us see how this decision effects the Back Townships. Hundreds who have claims, and very many who are actual settlers, have not fulfilled the conditions of settlement, and of course have no deed of the lands, nor are likely to have for years. Clearly these parties cannot lawfully be assessed, and not being so assessed, have no right to appear on the voter's list. If this decision had been given prior to the late election in this division the result would have been the certain defeat of Sidney Smith. That gentleman from this decision will now have the humiliating fact before him that he is the elected of fictitious votes, declared so by one of the highest authorities in the country,—an unenviable position for a Crown Minister, surely.

We doubt whether the persons who assessed the back townships this year are so amenable to punishment from the law, but in the face of this decision a repetition of the monstrous act cannot be attempted.

ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY.

A call is made for a large attendance at the Annual business meeting in Rees' Hotel, on Wednesday evening next. We earnestly hope to see the call responded to in a manner to indicate that there is no lagging in interest among its members. The Society has been the means of benefitting not a few really destitute persons, and in this respect its leading object has been attained and adhered to. We cannot think that there is a Caledonian "with soul so dead" that he will not contribute his quota toward the support of the Society by becoming a member; or if already one, by renewing his subscription of membership. The Society is not confined to the Town; it is a County organization, and a large number of members should be present from the Townships. The 30th inst. is the anniversary of the Society's patron Saint, and we have no doubt the day will be duly observed.

☞ The excuse for the non-attendance of the members of the Government at the Dinner to their honor here, is only a mean subterfuge to hide the failure of the demonstration. We are told by the organ of the Cabinet that the absence of Lord Monck prevented the presence of the Ministers. There is a strange necessity here. Of all the letters read at the Dinner only one gave that as his reason. Cartier was off to Boston with Sir Edmund Head; (fitting company;) Vankoughnet was packing up for England; and John A. was too busy at Quebec. The others gave no very definite reasons for their absence. Then what of the host of M. P. P.s who were invited?—Gone to meet Lord Monck, too, we suppose. The cruel snubbing was well merited; but in making excuse for the state of things they should see to it that their organist keeps within bounds of truth and reason.

☞ The Globe of Monday, in a vigorous article, defends itself against the abuse and misrepresentation of Hon. Sidney Smith. It concludes by saying:—It is a minister of the Crown who speaks, but it is truth which he utters unworthy of notice. We do not defend our loyalty against the attacks of a man like Mr. Smith. When his colleague, Mr. Galt, was writing annexation manifestoes in 1849, we were endeavoring with all the influence we could command to sustain the connection with the mother country. From the time the first number of the Globe was issued to the present day, not one word has ever appeared in its columns which could possibly weaken the alliance with Britain, and yet because we take the side of freedom and humanity, the side to which all intelligent, liberal Englishmen, who are not smothered in cotton, incline, the whole Reform party is charged with disloyalty. The accusation is absurd, and yet it has its serious side.—People abroad do not know what a contemptible person Mr. Smith is, and they are accustomed to think of Ministers of the Crown as persons upon whose statements reliance is to be placed. From Mr. Smith's speech it would necessarily be inferred that the leaders of a majority of the people of Upper Canada are favorable to annexation to the United States. It is not true; Mr. Smith when he made the charge knew it to be a contemptible falsehood.—But it will go abroad in that shape to do its errand of mischief.

A MISREPRESENTATION.

Hon. S. Smith, in his after-dinner speech on Wednesday night, 30th instant, made a statement concerning Mr. Short, our late representative in the Legislative Assembly, so much at variance with truth that we consider it necessary to make a public contradiction of it. Mr. Smith stated that Mr. Short, before the general election, seeing nothing before him but certain defeat, dared not stand the contest. The statement is not correct. Mr. Short's chances of re-election over Conger were good, and so convinced were the delegates to the Reform convention of this fact, that he received the unanimous nomination. Mr. Short's reasons for declining were stated at the time, and were known to the public generally. Business engaged his attention so much that it was impossible for him to attend to the duties of Parliamentary representative as satisfactorily to himself and his constituents as he wished; it was on that account, and on no other, that Mr. Short positively declined renomination. No one can fairly doubt that had Mr. Short stood he would have been re-elected over Conger, when an almost entire stranger was, after a canvas of only three weeks.

Mr. Smith may have been misinformed by some person; if so, we advise him to be cautious in the future of the persons whom he takes as authority in making such statements.

MR. DUNSFORD'S POSITION.

A great noise was made by the Ministerial press when Mr. J. W. Dunsford, member for Victoria, declined attending the Reform dinner at Cobourg. They have less to say over the following letter read at the dinner here last week:

LINDSAY, Oct. 17, 1861.

Dear Sir,

I have to acknowledge the receipt of a letter of invitation to attend a public dinner at Peterborough on the 30th instant.

I beg that you will tender to the Committee my thanks for the compliment, but having declined attendance at the Cobourg demonstration for reasons assigned then, I must beg to decline attending this party demonstration also.

I am, dear Sir,
Yours truly,
J. W. DUNSFORD.

D. G. HATTON,
Sec'y, Peterboro.

LIFE ASSURANCE.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

SIR,—By allowing me a small space in your valuable journal I shall endeavour to bring the subject of Life Assurance more prominently before the public, believing as I do that the reason why so few of our young men and men of business do not avail themselves of the advantages of Life Assurance, is in consequence of its not being properly understood.

Life Assurance is the only certain means by which persons can secure their families against future want. Every man who does not assure neglects a domestic duty. To prove this we need only refer to the poor of our own towns and cities, the great proportion of whom are 1st, widows and young children, and 2nd, aged persons. If the husbands and fathers of the former had insured their lives no such utter destitution and degradation could have befallen their offspring; and a small periodical contribution from the latter, during their youth "while the evil days came not," would have provided comfort for their old age in the shape of a deferred annuity.

Ministers of religion should recommend the practice of Life Assurance to their congregation as a moral and religious duty, and as in obedience to Divine laws. It is a moral duty because it is an obligation on every person to expose to as few risks as possible the future interest of those with whom he has linked himself. The highest morals is that which regards in the highest degree the future happiness of others. It is a religious duty because we are taught that "He that provideth not for his own, and especially those of his own household, hath denied the faith and is worse than an infidel." To neglect the welfare of those dependant upon us, is a breach of the commandments. "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself," and "As ye would men should do to you, do ye even so to them." Life Assurance is true Charity; and this Paul teaches that this is the foundation of religion, 1 Cor. xiii. St James also argues that "pure religion is this, to visit (or assist) the fatherless and widows in their affliction," James i. 27. Pre-eminently does Life Assurance effect this.

It is a duty universally practicable because the payments are generally very small. There is no one who does not spend something on bad habits or useless luxuries, and who could not spare some trifling contribution to provide against the calamitous effects of death upon his dependants, or the infirmities of old age upon himself.

I shall illustrate the above by quoting an interesting conversation which took place between a "canny" Scotchman and an Assurance Agent, in my next.

ONE OF THE INSURED.

News of the Week.

....The taxes of Sandwich which last year were $1,000, will this year be only $450. The rate will be 5½c. on the $, whereas last year it was 8½.

....The Hon. Sir A. N. McNab left for England on Thursday. He expects to be absent about six weeks.

....A colossal statue of Sir J. Franklin is to be erected on a granite pedestal in front of the Town Hall, at Spilsby, in Lincolnshire (his birth place). The statue has been executed by Mr. C. Bacon, the sculptor of the Mendelssohn statue.

....The Confederates have established a monthly mail to Europe by way of Mexico and the West Indies, the postage being one dollar for a single letter.

....The criminal calendar at the approaching Assizes in Kingston will be an unusually heavy one. Prisoners are now in custody on the following charges:—Two for murder, one for arson, one for forgery, one for uttering forged notes, two for perjury, one for robbery, 2 for larceny, one for bestiality, and one for an aggravated assault.

....The steamship John Bell, Scott, of the Anchor Line, from Glasgow on the 11th October, arrived at Quebec on Wednesday morning, the 30th. She brought 85 passengers, and three of the crew of the John Silvern, of Halifax, picked up in the Straits of Belleisle.

....The announcement of the death of Rev. Dr. Heather, Missionary Secretary of the Primitive Methodist body in Ireland, will be read with regret by many of his friends in this country. He died at Glasgow from apoplexy, where he had been preaching on behalf of his Society.

....The Carleton Place Herald states that on the 10th inst., a young lad, about 12 years of age, son of Michael Parks, of Packenham, fell into a kettle of boiling potash, and when found nothing but the bones remained, the flesh having been all dissolved. It could not have been more than fifteen minutes until the accident was discovered.

....As a sailor was proceeding along Wellington-street, Montreal, on Sunday night, about half past nine o'clock, he was met by three drunken rowdies, who knocked him down and searched his pockets, but finding no money in them, took the boots off his feet and ran away.

....Firewood in Montreal, says the Pilot, has reached the price of $7 a cord for maple. Quite a number of the citizens are disposing of their wood stoves, and replacing them by coal-burners. The receipts of firewood in Montreal, up to the 1st October, 1860, via the Lachine Canal were 48,590 cords. To same period for 1861 were 46,048 cords. Showing a decrease for 1861 of 2,512 cords.

....An extraordinary power of memory is noted in a Scottish newspaper, in the case of the son of a farmer named Gordon, at Reston. This young man remembers everything, even to days and hours, repeats whole sermons, cites any passage of Scripture without missing a word, and does other wonderful things with his phrenological organ of eventuality.

SELLING A WHOLE FAMILY.—A sale of slaves recently took place at the Brokers' Exchange, in Charleston, S. C. We copy the report, with the price that each brought, and add the prices which they

LATEST from EUROPE,

ARRIVAL OF THE "BORUSSIA."

CAPE RACE, Nov. 1.

The advices by the Borussia are three days later than the steamship Europa, and are of interest to our commercial readers, as the cotton market exhibited heavy sales and a large advance, while breadstuffs show a decline.

The bark Benjamin Holt 2d, was fallen in with—no date given—in distress; the was abandoned and the crew saved.

The London Times says that the blockade of the Southern ports is not effectual, and reminds the Washington Government that foreign nations are bound to recognize only a real blockade. It also shows that the cutting off of the cotton supply is the work of the South as much as of the North; it seems quite true that all cotton exportation has been forbidden by the Confederate government, in order that foreign nations, especially England, may be forced to espouse the American quarrel.

FRANCE.

The Gazette de France denies that a warm discussion took place between Persigny and Thouvenel on the Italian question. No difference of opinion existed.

The Patrie says that the English admiralty has decided upon plating the ships already built. If the experiment succeeds England could have 20 in one year. The admiralty has also determined to execute numerous defensive works in India, China, on the Red Sea and at Malta.

The steamship Persia, from New York arrived at Queenstown on the 23d ult.

The Times says it is evident, that even in the face of the English credit of millions sterling, difficulty will be experienced in preventing remittances to England from France. On the Bourse French rentes were quoted at 67f. 95c.

PRUSSIA.

An imperial patent order was published ordering a similar collection of taxes as last year.

RUSSIA.

The Emperor has closed Moscow.

ARRIVAL OF THE JURA.

FATHER POINT, Nov. 4.

The Jura passed Father Point at 4.30 this morning.

English politics unimportant.

The coal on board the Great Eastern —500 tons—was advertised for sale.

During the stay of the Royal Family in Edinburg, Prince Albert laid the foundation stone of the new Post-office and other public edifices.

The Times has another editorial article on the cotton supply, mainly directed to the necessity of using every exertion in India and elsewhere to become independent of America.

The Times says it is not unlikely that as the drain of specie commences, the financial community of America will have its "Bull Run." No people are more likely to be acted upon by epidemic fears, and if a passion for hoarding should seize them, it would be carried to an extent no less remarkable than that of the blind confidence in which they are at present revelling.

Sir Cornwall Lewis has for the present suspended the issue of 100-pounder Armstrong guns, and has directed such experiments to be made as shall bring the efficiency of the new ordinance to decisive proof.

The Times announces that the Queen has offered to confer the dignity of knighthood upon Mr. Fairbairn, President of the British Association, in consideration of eminent service rendered to science. It is understood that Fairbairn declined the honor.

FRANCE.

The news is confined almost entirely to speculations on the financial crisis. It is reiterated that the Bank has lost a large sum in cash since the last return, and the drain continued.

Financial letters say there is no apparent mitigation in the crisis, but, on the contrary, bills on London were in increased demand, and the renewal of gold remittances to England appeared unavoidable, unless new measures be taken to arrest it. There was talk of an immediate rise in the rate of discount.

It was reported that a Clyde shipbuilder while in Paris had undertaken the construction of an entire steam fleet for the long projected French transatlantic line, accepting in payment preference shares of the Company.

Bourse flat; rentes 67f. 95c.

A French account confirms the news of the success gained over the rebels by the Imperial troops in China. The insurgents were driven back into the western provinces adjoining Thibet.

It is expected that the Bank of France will almost immediately adopt some new measure to palliate the existing crisis.

PARIS, Oct. 25.—The Moniteur of today contains the following:—The Judiciary investigation has established that the congregation of ladies of St. Unione, at Dansi, have voluntarily abetted the abduction of Jewish girls. These facts would have justified the Government in revoking the authorization of the Society of St. Unione, but it has confined itself to withdrawing the acknowledgment of its legal existence.—This measure will remind religious congregations that neither their character, object, nor rules exempt them from obeying the laws of their country.

ITALY.

Decrees are published abolishing the Lieutenantcy at Naples, and the separate government of Tuscany. Another decree authorized the last two-fifths of the national loan due in November and January to be paid in four equal monthly instalments, extending to February next.

It is the general impression that the recognition of the Kingdom of Italy will be the basis of the reconstruction of the Cabinet.

AUSTRIA

The Royal Commissioner left Vienna on the 23d for Pesth, with instructions providing for the strict maintenance of order.

The King of Greece arrived at Vienna and will have an interview with the Emperor of Austria at Trieste.

The Austrian Government had requested the readjustment of the concordat commission named jointly by the Holy See, and Austria would probably be appointed to settle the question.

The accouchement of the Empress of Austria is expected about the commencement of February.

PRUSSIA.

The official Gazette announces that the King conferred the order of the Black Eagle on Duke Ernest, General Delta Roccu, and the Duke of Magenta.

GERMANY.

The movements in favor of the erection of a German fleet on thawed.

The King of Hanover intends to construct twenty armed gun-boats for the defence of the Elbe, Weiser, and Ems.

The Hanoverian Government proposed that every German State should construct a number of gun-boats, in proportion to its importance, the cost to be paid out of the general confederation treasury.

LONDON MONEY MARKET.—Funds a shade higher, but the buoyancy is checked by the financial crisis in France and affairs in America. Money most abundant; banks hesitate to except deposits. Good bills readily discounted at 2 per cent, and in some instances 2½; the demand to a fair extent, but business at the Bank of England almost at a stand.

LONDON CORN MARKET.—Weather warm and foggy. The arrivals of foreign grain and flour are liberal and the attendance fair. Wheat—slow sales at Monday's rates. Barley and oats steady and without change. Flour firm. Mr. Osbor e reports wheat, Foreign and English, steady. Floating cargoes few. Fresh arrivals and importers firm. Maize in request at the late decline. Other grains steady at late rates.

LIVERPOOL CORN MARKET.—Morton Bros. and Madeck's report the attendance limited. Wheat in demand. Flour in request at late rates. Oats quiet but firm. Oatmeal dull and without change. Indian corn in good request; mixed selling freely at 32s 9d a 33s.

A BLIND MAN MARRIES THREE BLIND GIRLS WITHIN THREE WEEKS, AND ROBS & DESERTS THEM ALL.

A singular case came before Justice Foljambe this morning. A blind man named Thos. Bishop, 28 years of age, whose home is near Zanesville, has been exhibiting a remarkable propensity for marrying blind girls. He was an inmate of the Blind Asylum at Columbus for two years, and was expelled for bad conduct. He has never had the best reputation in the world, and those who knew him say he is given to thieving and gambling. It is alleged that he's not as blind as he might be. He came to the American Hotel in this city, on the 10th of September last, with a blind girl, seventeen years of age, whom he brought with him from Huron. He became acquainted with her at the Blind Asylum. Her mother is a widow lady with six children, three of them being blind. On the day of his arrival here, he was married to the girl from Huron by Justice Foljambe. He was married under the name of Wm. Gibcout. When at the American House he exhibited nearly $200 in gold. The newly married couple remained at the American House until the 17th September, when Bishop, alias Gibcout, was married to another blind girl, whose parents reside in this city. We suppress her name by request of her friends who are respectable people. Bishop was also acquainted with her at the Blind Asylum. They were married by the Rev. Mr. Starkey. She is 20 years of age.—On the 18th, the day following the marriage, Bishop went to Steubenville with his second victim. He staid there one night, and on the next day deserted her, taking with him all her dresses, jewellery, &c., and $65 in money belonging to her, amounting in all to about $2 0. On leaving Cleveland he had robbed the Huron girl of all she possessed. He went from Steubenville to Marietta on the 20th, where he passed under the name of August Cook.—At Marietta he met another blind girl, also from the Blind Asylum, named Mary Delany, 22 years of age, to whom he was married on the 25th of September. He lived with her four days, and then deserted her, taking all her property in jewellery and dresses. He went to Parkersburgh, thence to Cincinnati, thence to Iowa. He came back again, reaching Columbus on Saturday last, and on Wednesday he went to Zanesville, and no Thursday he was arrested four miles from Zanesville, by policeman J. T. Stanley, of Zanesville, for bigamy. He was arranged this morning before Justice Foljambe and pleaded guilty to the charge, and was bound over to appear in Court in the sum of $1,500. He is in gaol. This blind man must be a precious rascal, and we hope he will receive his just deserts. Two months ago he buried a wife in Zanesville. She was not blind. He is of medium size, not ill looking, and wears green spectacles. —Cleveland Plaindealer.

MELANCHOLY DEATH AT SHERBROOKE.

We have this week to chronicle one of the most inexplicable and at the same time melancholy events which it has been our province to notice during our occupation of the editorial chair. On Sunday last our citizens were startled by a report that a young girl, named Lucinda Ball, aged 18 years, daughter of Mr. A. Ball, of this township, had been found drowned in the mill pond close to Mr. Rowell's house, some ¼ miles down the macadamized road. The post m ortem examination failed to discover any injury, internal or external, likely to cause death, or lead the girl to destroy herself. In evidence it was brought out that on Saturday evening, 19th, before retiring to rest, the deceased sat down and commenced to cut he toe nails with a pair of new scissors. Her companion told she would spoil her scissors, to which she replied, "It's the last time I'll need to use them;" and then raising her hands, she remarked, "I have a long journey to go," or words to that effect. The two girls were in the habit of bathing once a week, and it was supposed by some that in her sleep she might have risen and gone to the pond for that purpose; but it was stated that she was not known to be at all given to walking in her sleep; neither was there in any of her actions up to her disappearance any indication of aberration of mind.—After a careful and painstaking investigation the jury returned a verdict of "found drowned," that being the only return they could conscientiously make. The unfortunate girl is represented as being of a quiet, amiable disposition, neither with an exuberance of animal spirits, nor yet inclined to be melancholy, and was highly esteemed by her young friends generally. As we said at the commencement the case is a most mysterious and sad one.—E. T. (Granby) Gazette.

MOVEMENT OF FREIGHT DOWN THE ST. LAWRENCE.

While the railroads and canals of New York State are doing all they can in moving produce to the seaboard, the railroads of Canada and the vessels of Lake Ontario and the St. Lawrence are moving vast quantities over their routes. The Great Western Railway took a contract to convey two hundred thousand barrels of Canada flour from the upper part of the province to Portland for foreign shipment. The company made a contract with the managers of the Grand Trunk route by which they can run this flour over their road from London to Portland. The Great Western Company furnish the cars and locomotives, and the Grand Trunk Company the engineers and conductors. All the Great Western trains return empty, as the Grand Trunk Company reserve the up freight for its own returning trains. The Grand Trunk Company gets all the Western freight it can carry with its facilities. In order to do even more than it has done half of its passenger trains are withdrawn. There is now but one express and one accommodation train per day over most of the entire route, which is some thirteen hundred miles in length. The Lake Ontario steamers and sail craft are doing all they can in freight to Montreal and Ogdensburgh, at good prices. The boats of the Royal Mail Line down the North shore, go from Hamilton to Montreal, laden every trip. The American Line, touching at that port, has all the freight wanted, but it does no. take the Western or Canada freight to the exclusion of that offered at the way ports. The steamer Maple Leaf, running across the Lake from this port, will, in November, probably, go into the lake and river trade to carry freight, making only 1 trip per week to this port. The steamer Bowmanville was expected here last night to load for Montreal. She will take three thousand barrels of flour, and one hundred tons of street railway iron, now lying at Rankin's Dock.—Rochester Union, 24th October.

....Our contemporary, the Courier, states that Mr. Garneau, of Cap Sante, shot a fine eagle, weighing nine pounds, on the bank of the river near that place, on Saturday morning last. A very large eagle was seen, a few days ago, in the vicinity of St. Thomas.

....A gang of card sharpers are operating in Toronto. On Sunday evening, they succeeded in cheating a young man, while the worse for liquor, named Coo. Howard, out of $270. The play was carried on in a room in the Albion Hotel. The guilty parties were arrested and locked up.

TORONTO MARKETS.

Wednesday, November 6, 1861.

Fall Wheat $1, a $1 10c.
Spring Wheat 90 a 94c.
Barley 40c a 45c.
Oats 30c a 33c.

Peterboro' Markets.

Thursday, November 7, 1861.

	$ c.		$ c.
Flour ₱ brl	4 50	@	5 00
Wheat ₱ bush. fall	0 95	@	1 00
Spring Wheat ₱ bush	0 85	@	0 90
Barley ₱ bush	0 35	@	0 45
Oats "	0 20	@	0 20
Peas "	0 35	@	0 40
Potatoes (new)	0 20	@	0 30
Pork ₱ cwt	3 50	@	4 25
Beef ₱ cwt	3 50	@	4 00
Butter ₱ lb	0 10	@	0 12
Hay ₱ ton	8 00	@	10 00
Hides ₱ cwt	4 50	@	4 00
Wool ₱ per cord	2 50	@	2 50

WM. CUMMING,
Market Clerk.

New Advertisements.

CREDIT SALE

BY AUCTION.

THE UNDERSIGNED WILL sell by Public Auction, on Monday, 11th Nov., instant

ALL THE

FARM STOCK & FARMING IMPLEMENTS, at his premises on Lot 26, in the 12th Con. Otonabee, known as Downer's Corners:

1 Span of Black Mares, 1 Horse, 5 Cows, 2 Steers, three years old; 1 Heifer three years old, 1 Heifer two years old, 4 Calves 1 year old, 35 Sheep, a large quantity of Hay, turnips and Oats,

2 Waggons, 2 Sleighs, 2 sett Harness, 2 Ploughs, 2 setts of Drags, 2 Hay-racks, 4 Hoes, 1 Cultivator, Fanning Mill, 1 Straw Cutter, 1 Roller and Frame, 2 Grass Sythes, 3 Hay Fork, 1 Dung Fork, 2 Potatoe Forks, Seed Box, 1 ½ bushel measure;

1 Grinding Stone, 2 logging chains, small chains, Iron Wedges, Crow-bars, cross-saws, sledge-hammers, Augurs, Whiffletrees, &c., with other articles.

A. McNEIL, Auctioneer.

TERMS,—All sums under $20, Cash; over the amount twelve months credit by furnishing approved joint notes, or a discount of ten per cent. allowed for Cash on day of sale.

☞ Sale to commence at 10 o'clock, a. m.

WALTER SHERIDAN.

Peterboro, Nov. 5th, 1861.

IMPORTANT

CREDIT SALE.

I AM instructed by Mr. Christopher Leary, to sell by Public Auction, on Wednesday, the 13th day November, 1861, at his residence, Lot No. 9, 11th Concession of North Monaghan, the following Farm Stock, &c.:—1 pair of heavy matched bay Horses, 7 years old, suitable for ea riage or lumbering; 1 pair of heavy Farm Mares with Foal; 1 two year old Colt, 1 four year old Horse; 3 yearling Colts; 1 Blood Mare, "Jenny Lind," with foal; 1 Foal, (Blood); 68 well bred Ewes, 1 well bred Lamb, 1 thorough bred Tweswater Ram, 1 shearling Ram, 6 store Pigs, 3 Ram Lambs. One double Democrat Carriage, (nearly new), 1 single Carriage, 1 heavy saw-log Truck (four wheels), 4 double Sleighs, 1 single Waggon.

TERMS,—All sums under $12, Cash; over that amount twelve months credit will be given by furnishing good joint notes, without interest; 8 per cent off will be allowed for Cash.

Sale to commence at 11 o'clock,—Refreshments at one.

A. McNEIL, Auctioneer.

Peterboro, Nov 4, 1861. 45

IMPORTANT

CREDIT SALE

BY AUCTION, OF VALUABLE

FARM STOCK, &c.,

1 Devon Bull, 1 aged Ram, Leicester, 12 breeding Ewes, do. 7 Ram Lambs, do, 6 Cows in milk and calf, and several one and two years old Heifers.

The above is part of the stock of the late Edward Brown, Dsaro.

TERMS,—Six months credit by furnishing good endorsed Notes. A liberal reduction for Cash.

The above Stock will be sold on the Farm of the late Edward Brown, Asphodel or Douro, one mile from the Nassau Mills,

On the 12th of November next,

I will sell at the same time and place, 1 double Waggon, 1 double Buggy, 1 single Cutter and Harness, Straw Cutter, and a number of other articles, too numerous to mention.

A. McNEIL, Auctioneer.

Peterboro, Nov. 7th 1861

ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY.

General Meeting.

THE ANNUAL General Meeting of the St. Andrew's Society of the Town and County of Peterborough, will be held in the American Hotel, on Wednesday Ev. Nov 13 at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of receiving the Committee's report, electing Office-bearers for the ensuing year, and transacting other important business in connection with the Society.

☞ A full attendance of members, and those eligible to become so, is requested.

ROBERT LEMON,
Secretary.

Peterboro, Nov 7, 1861. 45

FARM FOR SALE.

THE subscriber offers for sale his Farm, being East half of Lot No. 2, in the Township of Douro.

80 ACRES ARE CLEARED,

well fenced, and in a good state of cultivation.

THERE IS A

GOOD LOG HOUSE,

AND A

DOUBLE CEDAR BARN, [new,]

and a spring of good Water near the house. A never-failing Creek runs through the farm.

Terms on Sale,—One-third down; balance in three equal annual instalments.

Apply to N. Chapman, Baltimore, or to

CHRISTOPHER LEARY,
N. Monaghan.

Nov 7th, 1861.

N. B.—If not sold before the 1st of January, 1862, it will be leased for a term of years.

STRAYED.

FROM the premises of the subscriber, in Smith, about four or five months ago,

Six Head of Cattle.

1 three year old steer; dark red, a small piece of the horn broken off; 1 two year old Steer, red; 1 two year old Heifer, dark roan; three yearlings—1 Steer, and 2 Heifers—the Steer is white; one of the heifers is dark red, the other is red and white, mixed.

Any person leaving information of the whereabouts of the said cattle at McKellar & Cameron's, Peterboro, or with the subscriber, will be suitably rewarded.

WM. FITZGERALD.

Smith, Nov. 5th, 1861. 45

NOTICE.

NOTICE is hereby given that any party or parties trespassing on E. half of L of No 8, in the 6th Con., Township of Dummer, to cut timber thereon, or for any other illegal purposes after this date, will be punished according to law.

WM. WEBSTER.
Proprietor.

Dummer, Nov 6th, 1861. 45

CAUTION.

I WILL be answerable for no debts contracted in my name from this date, unless by my written order.

ED. O'DONNELL.

Ennismore, Nov 7, 1861. 45

AXES! AXES!! AXES!!!

THE subscriber in returning thanks to the Lumbermen and others for their patronage and prompt and liberal payment, would give notice that he is hard at work making axes by hand which he will warrant to be better than can be made in Peterboro or elsewhere.

Please give him a call.

☞ Shop, east of the Bank of Montreal.

P. J. AYRES.

Peterboro, Nov 7, 1861 45

TO MILLERS AND GRAIN SPECULATORS!

TO LET in Ashburnham, that large Grain Store-house, lately occupied by T. Short, Esq. Apply to

S. WOOD, Otonabee.

Nov 7th, 1861. 45

☞ Change in Business!

WM. SMITH.

(LATE CUTTER TO JOHN THOMSON, GEORGE STREET.)

BEGS to inform the public that he has opened in the

TAILORING BUSINESS,

over the late stand occupied by Mr. John Thomson, (now R. Johnston & Son,) where he trusts to meet a continuance of the patronage hitherto bestowed on the establishment.

ALL KINDS OF WORK MADE TO ORDER,

AS THE

BEST WORKMEN

only will be employed parties may rely on all orders being filled to satisfaction. Prices reasonable.

☞ Entrance by hall between R. Johnston & Son's, and R. Walton's Stove and Tin-ware store.

Peterboro, Oct. 28th, 1861. 41

BUFFALO

CLOTHING STORE.

THE subscribers in returning their acknowledgements for the patronage bestowed upon them since they opened their establishment in Peterborough, would respectfully inform the public that they continue to receive constantly and keep on hand the largest and best assorted stock of

Mens' and Boys' Clothing,

AND GENTLEMEN'S

FURNISHING GOODS!

ever shown in this neighborhood, consisting of Satinetts,

Tweeds,
Broad Cloth,
Cassimeres,
Pilots,
Unions,
Doeskins,
&c., &c., &c.

The Clothing is all made up at their own establishment, in the City of Buffalo, by first class workmen, and as they manufacture themselves, they are able to sell a good article at a lower price than any other establishment in the trade.

Country Merchants, and Lumbermen would do well to call and examine their stock before purchasing elsewhere, as they are able to offer superior advantages to wholesale purchasers

☞ The Terms are strictly CASH.

S. HOLLELER & BROS.

Remember the place,—Next door to Mr. Jas. Bent's, George Street.

Peterboro, Oct 17th, 1861. 44

TO THE INHABITANTS OF PETERBOROUGH & VICTORIA.

CASH STORE.

ROBERT JOHNSTON & SON

BEG to inform the inhabitants of Peterboro' and surrounding district, that they have bought out the stock of Mr. John Thomson, George Street, and intend opening in a few days in the stand heretofore occupied by him, a large and well selected stock of

NEW GOODS!

Consisting of a choice stock of

Dry Goods, Groceries &c.

which they intend to sell at

VERY LOW PRICES FOR CASH!

Parties who have not made their Fall purchases will do well to give them a call and inspect their stock.

R. J. & SON hope that by paying strict attention to business, they may receive a share of public patronage.

Peterboro, Oct 28, 1861. 44

PURCHASERS OF CLOTHING

should remember the

Buffalo Clothing Store

next door to Mr. Jas.

Bent's, George Street, where they can get a superior article at a very low price!

S. HOLLELER & BROS.

Peterboro, Oct 17th, 1861, 44

Ferguson & Mitchell,

Beg to call the attention of the public to their well-assorted stock of

SADDLES, HARNESS, WHIPS,

TRUNKS, VALISES, BRUSHES, &c.,

which they will sell

☞ VERY CHEAP FOR CASH,

or on approved credit.

All orders promptly attended to, and repairing done on the shortest notice. A call is respectfully solicited. Shop on Hunter Street, Peterborough.

NEW GOODS.

THE Subscriber offers for sale one of the nicest lots of Goods ever offered in Peterborough.

FAMILY GROCERIES,

Teas,
Sugars,
Coffee,
Tobacco
Spices of all kinds,
Herring,
Dry Fish,
Mackeral,
Salmon,

A RICH VARIETY OF

BOOTS AND SHOES,

and the nicest assortment of

CROCKERY

ever offered in Peterborough. All of which will be sold

Very Low for Cash!

G. W. ROBINSON.

Peterboro', Sept. 18, 1861. 38

FALL & WINTER GOODS!

THE subscriber is now receiving a very

LARGE SUPPLY

OF

☞ Fall and Winter Goods.

THE STOCK OF

FANCY & MILLINERY GOODS

IS NOW

VERY COMPLETE.

Good Value for Ready Money, as usual. No Second Price!

W. CLUXTON.

Sept. 25, 1861. 39

ATTENTION!

THE subscriber will commence on MONDAY 4th day NOVEMBER, and sell off his present STOCK OF

BOOTS & SHOES,

FOR CASH AND CASH ONLY!

☞ Positively no credit.

N. B.—Persons in the habit heretofore of sending in orders will please notice that I shall not accept any after this date, on account of the very LOW PRICES which I shall sell at.

J. T. STENSON.

Peterboro, Oct 29, 1861. 44

School Teacher Wanted.

FOR THE ASHBURNHAM SCHOOL, TERM to commence on the 2nd Wednesday in January, 1862, a Normal School Teacher, holding a 1st class certificate,

Apply to,

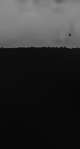
F. H. ARMSTRONG,
Secretary of Ashburnham B. of S. Trustees.

October 28, 1861. 43

VALUABLE

TOWN PROPERTY

FOR SALE.



THE comfortable Brick Houses near the business part of the Town.

THE Subscriber offers for sale those two neat and substantial built Brick Houses on Antrim street, one lot from George street. The houses are fitted up with every convenience; the partition walls are all brick. There is a good soft water cistern and spring well, sheds, &c., on the premises.

TERMS—One half cash, the balance in three yearly instalments.

For particulars apply to

DAVID CARLISLE.
On the premises.

Peterboro, Oct 23rd, 1861. 44-3in.

LAST OFFER!

THE five remaining ¼ acre Lots on George Street, at the South end of the Town, belonging to the subscriber, will be sold at a bargain, by Private Sale.

Application may be made to Mr. Robert Cochran, who is now building on part of the same property, or to

J. T. HENTHORN.

Peterboro', Oct. 28, 1861. 44

CARD.

TOWNSHIP OF OTONABEE, Oct. 28, 1861.

To Joseph R. Walton, Esq., Agent of the Canada West Farmers' M. & S. Insurance Co.

Dear Sir,—Please express my thanks to the Directors of your Company, for the very liberal and prompt manner in which they have settled my claim against them for the loss sustained by me in the destruction of my Barn and its contents by fire on Monday last. I hope you will make this acknowledgement public, as it is only three days since I notified you of my loss, and only seven days since the occurrance of the fire! Such promptness on the part of the Company must convince all seeking insurance of the advantages to be derived by insuring their property in the C. W. F. M. & S. I. C. of Hamilton.

JOSHUA DAWSON.

Otonabee, Oct 28, 1861. 44

ROYAL

HORSE INFIRMARY.

McDONALD STREET, PETERBORO'

W. KEITH, M. R. C. V. S.

HAVING rented Mr. Forsyth Stables, (behind the Grain Store) and having fitted them with loose boxes and a stable, &c., with all the necessaries for an Infirmary, for sick and lame Horses, all cases brought there will receive every attention. Horses from the country may soon have Hay, Oats, &c., and Mechanics a no much per day or week. Firing and other operations performed without throwing the animal, thereby avoiding much risk. Horses and Cattle in the country attended to.

W. K. may be consulted any day (Sunday excepted) at Messrs. John Moffat's, Blacksmith's, John Donaghue, Blacksmith, or at Mrs. Stewart's, George Street north, and at the following Outlets from 9 to 10 a. m., and from 1 to 2 p. m.

Oct 30th, 1861. 44

REDUCED RATES
FOR ASSURANCE.

The Scottish Provincial
INSURANCE COMPANY.

THE FOLLOWING TABLE OF PREMIUMS has been framed, so as to reduce the cost of Life Assurance to the lowest point. It will be observed the Rates payable for the first Five Years are not much more than HALF the usual charge, while, for the remainder of life, they are still moderate.

To Assure £100 sterling, payable at Death, with profits after first five years:

Age.	First 5 Years.			Remainder of Life.
	£	s.	d.	£	s.	d.
20	0	15	9	2	0	11
25	1	1	8	2	7	3
30	1	8	2	2	14	5
35	1	16	8	3	3	10
40	2	6	8	3	13	10
45	2	19	6	4	4	4
50	3	7	6	4	15	4

Secretary for Canada:—A. Davidson Parker.

JOSEPH R. WALTON,
Agent, Peterboro.

October, 1861. 41

FIRE & LIFE ASSURANCE.

SCOTTISH PROVINCIAL ASSURANCE COMPANY.

ESTABLISHED 1825.

CAPITAL...£1,000,000 Stg. | INVESTED IN CANADA...$300,000.

SPECIAL NOTICE—BONUS YEAR.

PARTIES insuring their lives now will be entitled to share in the 5 years profits to be divided on the 31st January, 1862. Loans negotiated at a short rate of interest.

Peterborough Agency—Corner of George and Simcoe Streets.

JOS. R. WALTON, Agent.

Peterborough, November 7th, 1861. 45

Canada West Farmers' Mutual and Stock

INSURANCE CO'.

HEAD OFFICE—HAMILTON, C. W.

President—H. J. Lawry, Barton.
Vice-President—T. Stock, Waterdown.

HONORARY DIRECTORS.

Asa A. Burnham, Esq., Cobourg, County of Northumberland.
John Harvey, Esq., County of Peterborough.
John Gibb, Esq., County of Victoria.

RICHARD P. STREET,
Secretary & Treas.

JOSEPH R. WALTON,
Agent, Peterboro.

October, 1861. 41

PROVINCIAL

INSURANCE CO',

OF CANADA.

FOR FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE.

ESTABLISHED 1840.

INCORPORATED BY ACT OF PARLIAMENT.

SUBSCRIBED CAPITAL, $1,986,080

Head Office - - - Toronto.

President:—Hon. John Hillyard Cameron.
Vice-President:—J. S. Howard, Esq.

DIRECTORS:

Hon. John Hillyard Cameron,
Hon. George Crawford,
Hon. Malcolm Cameron, M.P.P.,
John Cameron, Esq., M.P.P.,
A. M. Smith, Esq.,
George Duggan, Jr., Esq.,
J. S. Howard, Esq.,
Edward C. Jones, Esq.,
Angus Morrison, Esq., M.P.P.,
Lewis Moffatt, Esq.,
W. L. Perrin, Esq.,

Manager & Secretary:—James Sydney Crocker.
Assistant Secretary:—J. J. Woodhouse, Esq.,
Inspector of Agencies:—Wm. Blight, Esq.,
Solicitors:—Messrs Duggan & Bums.
Bankers:—The Bank of Toronto.

J. R. WALTON, Agent.
Peterborough.

☞ Fire and Marine Insurance business transacted by this Company at its various Agencies as well as at the Head Office, Toronto, at fair and average terms.

October, 1861. 41

THE PHŒNIX

INSURANCE CO'Y,

OF HARTFORD, CONN.

Capital - - - - - - $500,000.

CHARTER PERPETUAL.

JOSEPH R. WALTON,
Agent.

Peterboro', Oct. 2, 1861. 41

MONTREAL

ASSURANCE COMPANY.

ESTABLISHED BY SPECIAL ORDINANCE IN 1840.

CAPITAL STOCK, $800,000.

PAID UP.....$80,000.

Head Office, No. 9, Great St. James St.
MONTREAL.

Wm. MURRAY...Manager.

THE undersigned has to intimate his appointment as agent in Peterboro', for the above company, and is authorized to issue Policies, Renewals, Floating Policies, Time and Personal Security, upon as low or lower terms than those of any respectable office.

For further particulars, rates, &c., apply to

W. B. SCOTT,
Agent.

Office in Burnham's Block, opposite the Review Office.

Peterboro, Aug. 26, 1861. 36

BEEF! BEEF!!

250 BARRELS

MESS & PRIME MESS BEEF

For Sale Low by

ROBERT COCHRANE.
Butcher at the Market.

Peterborough, Oct. 3, 1861. 41

THE LARGEST, CHEAPEST AND THE BEST PLACE TO PURCHASE

READY-MADE CLOTHING

IS AT

HAFFEY'S,

All the Clothing is made on the premises, and warranted!!

Peterborough, Sept. 26, 1861. 39

FURS! FURS!

W. LECH,

Corner Store, Market Block, Peterborough,

Has now on hand, and offers for sale, a very large stock of

FUR GOODS,

which will be sold at prices altogether lower than any person can sell Montreal made Furs. Besides, the stock is all made up under the personal superintendence of Mr. Lech, and will be found

MUCH BETTER MADE,

AND BETTER IN EVERY RESPECT.

The following list of prices will convince any person that they consult their own interest by buying home manufactured goods in preference to slop work made up in the cities, for the country trade:

Rock Martin Victorines	$2 00	and upwards.
do Mitts,	1 50	do
do Cuffs,	1 00	do
Fitch Victorines,	3 00	do
German Mink Victorines,	2 50	do
Real Mink Victorines,	9 00	do
Good serviceable Fur Caps for Men,	0 75	do
South Sea Seal,	3 00	do

And every other article in the line at corresponding prices.

Peterborough, Nov. 1st, 1861. 45

STRICKLAND & ROGERS'

FALL STOCK

IS NOW

COMPLETE IN EVERY DEPARTMENT,

AND CANNOT BE UNDERSOLD.

Our customers and the public generally are requsted to call and examine, and oblige

S. & R.

Peterborough, October 30, 1861. 44-3in

REMOVAL.

R. D. BASKERVILLE,

HAIR-DRESSER AND PERFUMER, HAS fitted up with taste and convenience at considerable expense, a Saloon on George St., 2 doors south of Lawson's Hotel, where he will be in attendance on the public, during all business hours. Having visited some of the largest American cities this summer, he is thoroughly acquainted with the

LATEST FASHIONABLE IMPROVEMENTS

in his profession, and flatters himself that he will not be found second to any in the Canadas.

☞ Positively no business on Sundays.

Peterboro, Sept 9, 1861. 37

PORK! PORK!

TO LUMBERMEN AND OTHERS!

200 BARRELS OF CHOICE

MESS PORK!

For Sale Low for Cash.

ROBERT COCHRANE.
Butcher at the Market.

Peterboro', Oct. 8, 1861. 41

CREDIT SALE BY AUCTION.

I AM INSTRUCTED by Mr. Walter McGregor to sell at his residence, Lot No. 23, 4th Concession, Emily, on Friday, the 15th day of November, 1861,

the whole of his

FARM STOCK, IMPLEMENTS, &c.

comprising as follows:

1 Span of Mares, 1 one year old Colt, 1 Foal, 4 Cows, 1 Heifer, 1 Steer, 2 Calves, 1 Waggon, 2 Sleighs, 1 Plough, 2 setts Double Harness, 1 Fanning Mill, with a lot of other articles.

TERMS:

All sums under $8, cash; over that amount, credit until the 1st of January, 1863, by furnishing good approved joint notes, without interest.

A. McNEIL, Auctioneer.

Emily, October 21, 1861.

DIRECT STEAM COMMUNICATION WITH

GLASGOW.

Anchor line of Steam Packet Ships, sailing regularly between

MONTREAL, QUEBEC, AND GLASGOW.

Steerage 25 Dollars			Steerage 25 Dollars
Ships.	Tons.	H. Power.	Com.
United Kingdom	1255	300	James Ray,
John Bell,	1102	300	Edward Scott

THE "JOHN BELL"

will sail from Quebec for Glasgow, on

TUESDAY, 12th November.

Rates of passage from Quebec to Glasgow:

Saloon Cabin.....$60 00
Intermediate.....30 00
Steerage, (including an abundant supply of cooked provisions.....25 00
Children in a proportion.

Return tickets at reduced rates. Berths not secured till paid for. Each ship carries a duly qualified surgeon.

For freight and passage apply to

G. & D. SHAW,
16 Common Street,
Montreal.

October 17th, 1861. 42

MORTGAGE SALE

OF

VALUABLE MILLS

AND

REAL ESTATE.

WILL BE SOLD BY PUBLIC AUCTION at Calnan's Hotel, in Town of Peterboro,

On Thursday, November 14th,

A. D. 1861, at 11 o'clock, A. M.,

Under and by Virtue of a Power of Sale contained in a certain Indenture of Mortgage from Charles Perry and Margaret Perry his wife, to George H. Castle, dated October 15th A. D. 1855, and of Assignment thereof to Josiah B. Plumb, all those certain parcels or tracts of lands being those Lot No. 6, in the 11th Concession of the Township of Douro, containing 17 acres more or less; Lot No. 21, in the 3rd Concession of the Township of Smith, containing 66 acres more or less; and Lot No. 22 in the 3rd Concession of the said Township of Smith, containing 30 acres more or less.

On the property are erected Valuable Mills, &c.

Terms Cash. Further particulars may be had on application to

MACDONALD, MACDONALD & WILKES,
Vendor's Solicitors.

Kingston, Sept. 9th, 1861. 43

HENRY BENARY

IMPORTER AND DEALER IN

PIANO-FORTES

MELODIANS,

MUSIC AND MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS,

ROMAIN BUILDINGS,

No. 81 KING STREET WEST,

TORONTO,

BEGS to inform the public of Peterborough, that he will open his Warerooms in Toronto, where he will keep constantly on hand a large stock of the best Piano-Fortes for sale and hire. The satisfaction expressed by those parties with whom he had the honour of dealing for the past 6 years, with Messrs A. S. Nordheimer, leads him to hope that he will receive a large share of the public patronage in Peterborough. He will attend to the Pianos of his patrons with the same zeal as heretofore.

Toronto, October 14, 1861.

WOOD TURNING

CHEAP FOR CASH.

THE undersigned wishes to inform his numerous friends and the public in general that he is now prepared to do any description of Wood Turning for

BUILDINGS OR FURNITURE.

Also, Ripping Lumber to any width or thickness; Furniture made to order, at the lowest Cash prices. Zinc Wash-boards of the very best quality always on hand.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

☞ Shop in Ashburnham, under D. Doran's Woolen Factory.

W. F. MANLEY.

Ashburnham, Sept. 18, 1861. 38

FOR SALE.

SOUTH half of Lot No. 9, in the 2nd Con. of Smith, containing 100 acres. This Farm is beautifully situated about three miles from Peterborough; there are eighty acres cleared, and on the premises there are a good Stone House, three Barns and other Outhouses.

The north half of Lot No. 10, in the 7th Con. Smith. This Farm has eighty acres cleared, and is situated about seven miles from Peterborough.

For particulars apply to

JOSEPH KELSO,
or

HOW STRAW PAPER IS MADE.

1854

From Pa[illegible]

The art of [illegible] straw has made [illegible] recovery. The paper [illegible] in the city in 1854. Although of a dingy yellow hue, harsh and brittle in the touch, and scarcely to be handled without tearing, its production was deemed the marvel [illegible] indeed, it was), and the very [illegible] glorious auguries of it was, that it should entirely revolutionize the [illegible] business in time. In those days the straw was most unscientifically boiled in open tubs, and consequently it was never perfectly freed of its silica; and although it [illegible] almost impossible [illegible] work; and the [illegible] paper was too much pricked, or not printed at all, and a great waste [illegible] the reading public, of alarm and indignation.

Under various mitigated forms, the evil, nevertheless continued for years, and the growls grew fainter and fainter as the people's eyes and perverted tastes became accustomed to it.

About eighteen months ago letters patent were secured for various important modifications of the original process. The method of making straw paper, as now pursued, at least in this city, may be described as follows:

The straw is first passed into a cutter, whereby it is reduced to lengths of from 3 to 5 inches. It is then thrown into large vats and thoroughly saturated with spent alkali. A most unpleasant odor hence arises, somewhat similar to that perceptible in all large breweries, but we are informed that it is not prejudicial to the health of the workmen. This operation of mixing is termed "breaking down," and changes the straw in color to a dark biske.

It is next led into large air-tight boilers, fourteen feet in diameter, subjected to a pressure of steam ninety pounds to the square inch, and boiled in another alkali. Each of the boilers will contain eleven thousand pounds of broken straw. It is then ground into pulp in the same method and by the same machinery that have been hitherto employed in the manufacture of rag paper. It has now been changed to a very dark slate color, and it would be difficult for me to recognise in it any element of the bright yellow straw of an hour since, if we were not previously acquainted with the marvellous nature of the transformation.

After this it passes into a series of vats, where, by means of certain bleaching powders it is brought to a hue of snowy whiteness, and reduced to a proper consistency by water. The mass now bears much resemblance to plaster-of-paris in solution, and is ready to be worked up into paper.

The most interesting process remains yet to be described, but we must pass into another apartment to witness it. At the eastern extremity of the room is a sort of trough, into which the pulpy liquor is pumped by steam-power, and from which it flows upon a horizontal sieve of very fine copper wire. A species of film is thus formed, which, though not a hundredth of an inch in thickness and largely saturated with water, has sufficient body to answer every purpose. It is next made to pass between a series of woodeu rollers, which gradually consolidate and compress its fibres and free it of all the surplus water. By means of heated rollers, through which it is caused to pass, every particle of moisture is at length removed, and it is calendered by being pressed between heavy polished iron rollers. The positions of two small revolving wheels, with cutting surfaces, between which it is caused to move, regulate its width as required, and it is finally wound upon reels, from which it may be cut off into sheets of any length.

The entire operation is so simple that the visitor who has an opportunity of inspecting it cannot fail to comprehend it almost instantly. The machinery, nevertheless, requires to be of exceeding accuracy, and is accordingly rather expensive. Its capacity admits of the production of 6,000 pounds of paper per day, but only three-fourths of that amount is at present manufactured, or between 180,000 and 190,000 per month.

Two thousand tons of straw are yearly consumed here in the manufacture of paper. But forty per cent. of this, however, is available as fibre. The balance passes off as glutinous matter and silica, neither of which being converted into dollars and cents represents no appreciable value.

This immense waste in the raw material is, however, fully compensated for in the advantages of the product. Compared with paper made from rags, straw paper has more body for the same weight, is better adapted for fast presses, and it will not readily tear, and calenders much more smoothly. As to whether it can be produced at a cheaper rate, we shall not take it upon ourselves to state.

There are probably not over half a dozen factories in the United States engaged in making it. Two or three of them are situated in New York, and another in Cincinnati.

There is but one newspaper establishment in Philadelphia which uses straw paper for printing purposes.

COTTON FOR GROWTH IN CANADA.

The New York Commercial Advertiser has been a gentleman who is about to propose in New York the cultivation of a species of the cotton tree which he discovered in Peru. The tree is as high as the highest peach trees, and unlike the cotton plant of the South, which is an annual, it is a perennial, so that, when cultivated, it would be in forests or orchards. Mr. Kendal, the discoverer, states that he found it growing on land of such elevation that the ground thereabout was covered with snow for three months of the year, and that there is nothing to prevent it being successfully cultivated wherever Indian corn will grow. The product is represented to be enormous in favourable circumstances, amounting to 2,000 pounds per acre, instead of 500 pounds, which is the Southern average. Since his return from Peru, Mr. Kendal states that he has cultivated this tree, with good results on his farm in Northern Maryland. The Commercial Advertiser thinks that Mr. Kendal's discovery may be depended upon. If so, the time for cotton growing on the banks of the St. Lawrence, since Indian corn flourishes with us.

....Mr. Thomas [illegible] informs us that while chopping an oak on lot No. 8, 10th concession, Howard, he discovered marks of what was supposed to be from an Indian hatchet. The tree, as indicated by the concentric rings, was 280 years old—and the "marks" date back 150 years. The tree has been dead some time.

SAMPLE [illegible]
Hartford [illegible]
While [illegible] a steamboat down the Hudson, he asked himself at the breakfast table and called for some buckwheats. The waiter [illegible] with a pile of cakes, such as travellers usually get off with... Taking it [illegible] he commenced turning it over and examining it on all sides. One of his fellow passengers [illegible] "Yes, [illegible]

MATHEWS'
VENETIAN LIQUID
HAIR DYE.

THIS CELEBRATED DYE WAS FIRST prepared in 1845; since that time millions have used it, and in every instance has it failed to give perfect satisfaction.

THE VENETIAN DYE

is the cheapest in the world. Justice is only 50 cents, and each bottle contains double the quantity of dye contained in those usually sold for one dollar.

THE VENETIAN DYE

is the most perfect composition of this class. It is warranted not to injure the hair, or the scalp, in the slightest degree.

THE VENETIAN DYE

works with rapidity and certainty. It causes no annoyance or trouble to those who use it.

THE VENETIAN DYE

produces any shade that may be desired—one that will not fade, crock, nor wash out; one that is as permanent as the hair itself.

THE VENETIAN DYE

does not, in any manner, interfere with the natural softness of the hair; it neither scorches nor dries it.

THE VENETIAN DYE

is the best, cheapest, safest, most convenient, most successful, and most permanent Dye ever used.

THE VENETIAN DYE

having gained an extended reputation, the public are cautioned against purchasing any prepared in the same style, under the name or different name, as they are mere imitations, and liable to do injury.

For sale by all agents. Prepared only by
A. I. MATHEWS,
Buffalo, N. Y., and Fort Erie, C. W.
Oct 8, 1861. 40

The Great French Remedy!

MADAM BOIVIN'S CELEBRATED SILVER COATED

FEMALE PILLS!

THE ONLY CERTAIN AND SAFE REMEDY for all Uterine Obstructions, Monthly Difficulties, Irregularities, and diseases to which the Woman, Wife and Mother is peculiarly liable. These Pills contain no deleterious ingredients, but are safe and certain in their action.—They will be found to exert the happiest effect in all cases of Prolapsus Uteri, in Leucorrhœa, or the Whites; they will be found the easiest, and most certain cure that can be found. It is on account of this certainty they should not be taken by Married Ladies at certain periods, but at other times their use is perfectly safe.

N. B.—$1 enclosed to any authorised Agent will ensure a package of Pills by return mail.

C. Crosby, General Agent, Fort Erie, C. W.
Buffalo, N. Y.; Lyman, Elliot & Co, Wholesale Agents, Toronto.
Sept. 17, 1862. 39

WOOD WANTED.

A FEW CORDS OF GOOD HARD-WOOD will be received by the subscriber in payment on subscriptions or account if delivered within one month from this date.
JAS. RENFREW.
Examiner Office, Oct. 3, 1861.

FOR MONTREAL
CASH OR PRODUCE ONLY
CASH STORE,
ONE DOOR. Hunter Street, Peterboro'. Price

JOHN CAMPBELL

WOULD take this opportunity of thanking the inhabitants of Peterboro' and surrounding country for past favors, and would beg to intimate that he has received a large addition to his stock, on such favorable terms as enable him to offer goods at such

LOW PRICES

as to convince every one who examines them
☞ That he cannot be beat in the Town.

The following comprise a few of the articles generally in stock:

West of England Broad Cloth, Cassimeres, Tweeds, Satinets, Drills, Denims, Stripped Cottons, Ginghams, Prints, Factory Cotton, Orleans, Coburgs, Red and White Flannels, Cotton Warp, &c.

READY-MADE CLOTHING,

Boots and Shoes, Silk and Felt Hats, &c.

TEAS, TOBACCOES, SUGARS,

Soap, Candles, Raisins Currants, Coffee, Rice, and other articles too numerous to mention.

☞ Remember the Spot: Next door to McKellar & Cameron's, Hunter Street.
Peterboro, Aug. 27, 1861. 34

EMPLOYMENT.

$10 A MONTH!

AGENTS WANTED!

WE want an active Agent in every County in the United States and Canada, to sell the Franklin Sewing Machine. To a limited number of travelling agents we will pay a salary of Forty Dollars a month and all expenses.

To local agents a commission of 20 per cent. in all cases.

Every machine is warranted to give universal satisfaction, and kept in repair six months.—Recent improvements renders this machine the cheapest and most popular in the market. For full particulars and a permanent business, address, with stamp for return letter,

HARRIS BROTHERS,
Sole agents Franklin Sewing Machine Co.
Box 136 Boston; Mass.
July, 1862. 28

NO YANKEE HUMBUG!

PROSPECTUS

OF A NEW AND ACCURATE, ILLUSTRATED TOPOGRAPHICAL AND STATISTICAL

Map of Upper Canada,

SHOWING ALSO A DESCRIPTIVE MAP AND DIRECTORY OF THE TOWNSHIPS OF

N'H & S'H MONAGHAN & OTONABEE.

CONLIN, BONNEY & Co., of Toronto, propose to publish the above work, drawn on a large scale from the most recent and accurate surveys, exhibiting all Post Offices, Money Order Offices, and Telegraph Stations throughout the Province, corrected from the latest official authority; also, the various lines of Railway, Railway Stations, with the correct distance between each, Canals, Plank and Macadamized Roads, the Main Travelled Roads or Town and Village, the boundaries and names of each Township, Town, Village, Gore, Reserve, Broken Front, &c., &c., Tables showing the Number of Townships each County Seat in Upper Canada contains, the Shortest Distance from Toronto, the Population of each City, Town, County and Township will also be given, with other important and useful information not to be found in the Census Returns or elsewhere. The Work will be Illustrated with Views of the principal Public Buildings in the Province, executed in the best style of the art.

There will also be given an Index Map of the Province, in the most compact form for pocket reference, showing the Counties, Townships, &c., in the manner of the progressive Map recently engraved thereon, that of Lower Canada, Chromo-lithographed, Maps, Plans, Views, Portraits, Diagrams, &c., together with considerable general information, historical, statistical and geographical, will be interspersed throughout the work.

The names of all subscribers, resident or non-resident, will be engraved upon a prominent part of the map, in the order in which their subscriptions are received, with the name of Subscriber to the Town and Village in which he resides, with the date, number, and name P.O. of his nearest Post Office, thereby forming a perfect Postal Directory and Monetary Guide of the Province.

The publishers being practical engravers, draftsmen, &c., can confidently assure the public that the execution of the above work, in every department, will be superior to anything hitherto published in Canada. The size of the map will be about 42 by 72 inches; it will be handsomely coloured, varnished, and mounted on rollers with cloth backs and tapes, and forwarded to subscribers, at the low price of Four dollars and a half ($4 50) payable on delivery.

Liberal Remuneration to the County will be made to Parties [illegible] to canvass in every County in the Province, to whom exclusive territory will be allotted.

☞ Parties wishing a small number of the above work for private use, can have their names engraved thereon.

Specimens of the work may be seen at the office of the undersigned, where subscriptions will be received, and Agents appointed, by

CONLIN, BONNEY & Co.,
Publishers, of Jefferson County, State of New York.

F. G. CALLENDER,

RETURNS his grateful acknowledgements to the inhabitants of Peterboro' and vicinity, for their liberal support during the past sixteen years, and on account of his increase of business, and with a view to the better accommodation of his patrons, will continue to attend the NEXT AND EVERY MONDAYS, TUESDAYS & WEDNESDAYS in each month (INSTEAD OF ONLY TWO DAYS AS HERETOFORE) formerly occupied to perform all operations of the profession, with scarcely interruption and durability, AND AS REASONABLE AS ANY EXPERIENCED DENTIST. By a Touch any his own selection, of the newest style, being made expressly for the Vulcanized base, now altogether used, being free from taste, much cheaper than Gold, and equal in neatness and durability, and much more agreeable to the mouth, being less weighty.

Rooms in Scott's Building, Market Block, Peterboro', and over the Post Office, Cobourg.

THE LIVERPOOL LONDON
FIRE AND LIFE
ASSURANCE COMPANY.

CAPITAL.....£2,000,000 STG.

Empowered by Act of the Imperial Parliament

Responsibility of Stockholders unlimited.

Head Office for Canada, Montreal.

THE UNDERSIGNED CONTINUES to accept Risks in the above
First Class Company,
on almost every description of property, at as REASONABLE RATES as any other responsible office.

LOSSES PAID
without reference to the Old Country.
W. CLUXTON,
Agent for Peterboro'
Peterboro.' April 20th, 1859. 16.

THE CANADA LIFE
Assurance Company.

Captal, $ .000 000.
W. CLUXTON,
Agent.
THOS. HOLYWELL,
Medical Referee.
Peterborough, 1st August, 1859. 31

WESTERN
INSURANCE COMP'Y

CAPITAL £500,000

Head Office, Toronto,

FOR EVERY DESCRIPTION OF
FIRE & MARINE ASSURANCE
BUSINESS.

AGENT FOR PETERBORO',
W. CLUXTON.
Peterboro, Sept 14th, 1857.

GENERAL INSURANCE OFFICE.

W. CLUXTON, AGENT, PETERBORO'.

LIVERPOOL & LONDON
FIRE AND LIFE
Insurance Company.
CAPIT L.....£2,000,000 STG.

BRITISH AMERICA
ASSURANCE COMPY.
CAPITAL, $4,000,000.

WESTERN
INSURANCE COMPANY
CAPITAL, $2,000'000.

BRITANNIA LIFE
Assurance Company.
CAPITAL, £1,000,000, STERLING.
Peterborough, April 20th, 1859. 16

RELIEF IN TEN MINUTES.

BRYAN'S
PULMONIC WAFERS.

THE most certain and speedy remedy ever discovered for the relief of all diseases of the Chest and Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Consumption, Bronchitis, Influenza, Hoarseness, Difficult Breathing, Sore Throat, &c.

These Wafers give the most instantaneous and perfect relief, and when persevered with according to directions, never fail to effect a rapid and lasting cure. Thousands have been restored to perfect health, who have tried other means in vain. To all classes and all constitutions they are a blessing and a cure—sequered despair, no matter how long the disease may have existed, or however severe it may be, provided the organic structure of the vital organs is not hopelessly decayed. Every one afflicted should give them an impartial trial.

TO VOCALISTS AND PUBLIC SPEAKERS these Wafers are peculiarly valuable; they will in one day remove the most severe occasional hoarseness; and their regular use for a few days will, at all times, increase the power and flexibility of the voice, greatly improving its tone, compass and clearness for which purpose they are regularly used by many professional Vocalists.

JOB MOSES, Sole Proprietor, Rochester, N.Y.
Price 25 cents per box.

Vocalists and Public Speakers
Vocalists and Public Speakers
Vocalists and Public Speakers
Invaluable to remove
Invaluable to remove
Invaluable to remove
Hoarseness and Sore Throat,
Hoarseness and Sore Throat,
Hoarseness and Sore Throat,
Coughs, Colds, all diseases
Coughs, Colds, and all diseases
Coughs, Colds, and all diseases
Of the Chest and Lungs.
Of the Chest and Lungs.
Of the Chest and Lungs.
Sold by all Druggists
Sold by all Druggists
Sold by all Druggists
At 25 cents a box.
At 25 cents a box.
At 25 cents a box.

L. M. SQUAIR,

Agent for Steamer "Maple Leaf," and Barques, Tracy & Co.'s Line of Boats, the Alps, Ottawa, Colonist, Huron, & Bowmanville.

CONTRACTS for freight or passage to and from Montreal, Rochester, Boston, New York, and Oswego.
Offices in Gillett's Block, above Irvine's Store, Port Hope.
Port Hope, Dec. 18, 1860.

EDEN GARDENS
PETERBOROUGH,
OPPOSITE WALKERFIELD NURSERY,

THE subscriber would respectfully inform the inhabitants of the Town of Peterborough and surrounding country that he has on his Garden a constant supply (in their season) of all kinds of Garden Vegetables usually grown in this latitude. Bedding plants, such as

Cabbage, Cauliflower,

Tomato, Celery, Winter Cherry, &c. Also,—Small Fruits in their season.

Vegetable shop
from 8am to 8pm, Gardens at the Market every week day; also to be Store on Gaslight Street, where all orders which may be left for anything in the above line will be punctually attended to.

PHILIP GILLES.
May 1, 1861. 18

Lightning! Lightning!

PROTECTION TO LIFE AND PROPERTY.

NOTICE.

OF THE NEW PATENT ENGLISH ELECTRO-GALVANIZED, ANNEALED AND CADMONISED

LIGHTNING RODS

JUST INTRODUCED FROM ENGLAND, WITH
SPRATTS RENOWNED
PLATINA TIPPED POINT!!
AND
INSULATORS & ATTACHMENTS.

THIS ROD is considered in England with especial reference to its great conducting power, and highly approved and recommended by the leading electricians. The Rod so possessing and its peculiarly obviating the great objections to the old rod. Professor Cooke, is a Spiral Copper Tape, formed from the Underwriters' Buildings, Toronto, and submission to this, one event of the several conducting powers of the surface, and not being liable to rust. One recommendation passed by the fine conducting qualities of this rod, over Spratt's rods, is a less from the fact that it constantly receives and silently conducts to the earth, the positive electricity of upturning and atmospheric generated by the evaporation of water, and thereby discharged with this element of destruction and death, thereby drawing off, draining and lessening the fluid, causing the cloud of its consistent accumulation, allowing it to pass over our heads in safety, which might otherwise have burst upon us in destructive fury. But I refer to this by reason of not great accumulation of electricity, and the discharge takes place, it conducts all safely to the ground, being a preventative in most cases and a cure in an emergency. We have erected them on the Crystal Palace, and Custom House, at Hamilton, as well as many of the best buildings in this city. By importing largely for cash, we are enabled to erect them at a trifling advance upon the Carbonized Rod. Common Iron Rods, such as are being offered by parties from the States, we do not erect, as we consider them dear at any price. Good Rods, properly erected, protect 25 feet from the point.

$1.000 CHALLENGE!

to the world to produce as good a Rod, for the same price, as the Galvanized Rod, which we are now prepared to offer to the public through our authorized agents; allowing same to protect your buildings who has not our certificate of agency, with caution on the back against impositions. Orders sent to our address from the principal cities of C. W., will be attended to by G. R. Kendall in person, without extra charge. We submit two of our numerous references.

PIPER & KINDALL,
43 Young Street.

TORONTO, Sept. 15, 1860.

I HEREBY CERTIFY THAT I HAVE SUPERintended the erection of Galvanized Iron Rods on the University Buildings, at Toronto, preferring the Galvanized Iron to ordinary Iron Rods, on account of the perfect conducting power of the number, and from their not being liable to rust.

The advantage resulting from these qualities is more than commensurate with the increased cost.

(Signed) HENRY CROFT, D.C.L.
Prof. of Chemistry.

PETERBORO', July 29th, 1861.

The agents for the firm of Piper & Kendall, Toronto, have put up for me two of their Galvanized Lightning Rods so highly recommended by Professor Croft. I consider them preferable to all others. The improved Attachments and Insulators, with Spratt's Platina Tipped Point must give them great additional security.

J. BROWNE, M. D.

I entirely concur in Dr. Browne's observations,—Also have bought two of the same Rods for my two cottages on Brock Street.

A. NERLOCK.

Toronto, June 20th, 1861. 21-3m

The Great English Remedy!

SIR JAMES CLARKE'S
Celebrated Female Pills

Prepared from a Prescription of Sir J. Clarke, M. D., Physician Extraordinary to the Queen.

THIS well known Medicine is no imposition, but a sure and safe remedy for Female Difficulties and Obstructions, from any cause whatever; and although a powerful remedy, it contains nothing hurtful to the constitution. To married ladies it is peculiarly suited. It will, in a short time, bring on the monthly period with regularity.

In all cases of Nervous and Spinal Affections, pain in the back and limbs, Heaviness, Fatigue on Slight Exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Lowness of Spirits, Hysterics, Sick Headache, Whites, and all the painful diseases occasioned by a disordered system, these Pills will effect a cure where all other means have failed.

☞ These Pills have never been known to fail where the directions on the 2nd page (to be had) are strictly observed.

For full particulars get a pamphlet free of the agent.

N. B.—$1 and six postage stamps enclosed to any authorised agent, will ensure a bottle containing over 50 pills, by return mail.

Sir James Clarke's Female Pills
Sir James Clarke's Female Pills
Sir James Clarke's Female Pills
Are a Scientific Preparation.
Are a Scientific Preparation.
Are a Scientific Preparation.

They are safe, and never fail
They are safe, and never fail
They are safe, and never fail
To remove all Obstructions,
To remove all Obstructions,
To remove all Obstructions,

And cure all Female Complaints,
And cure all Female Complaints,
And cure all Female Complaints,
When the directions are followed.
When the directions are followed,
When the directions are followed

They are a blessing and a cure.
They are a blessing and a cure.
They are a blessing and a cure.
And can be sent by mail
And can be sent by mail
And can be sent by mail

For one dollar and six postage stamps.
For one dollar and six postage stamps.
For one dollar and six postage stamps.

JOB MOSES, Rochester, N. Y., sole proprietor.
Noi-lrop & Lyman, Newcastle, C. W., General Agents. For sale by Ormond & Gilmour, Wm. Coulter, A. W. Kempt, Peterboro' and all dealers in medicines.

A STARTLING FACT.

THE subscriber has great pleasure to informing the public that he is manufacturing
THE BEST PUMPS
ever made in Canada, patented by J. Dennis. In order to prove the above, I am prepared to put them on trial, for cisterns or wells 100 feet deep and less, until the 1st of June, 1862. If not then preferred before any other kind will take them back free of charge; if they suit, I will give them until the 1st of January, 1863; for payment, by giving a promissory note.

These Pumps are
Warranted not to Freeze.

All orders addressed to the undersigned, stating depth of well, to Warkworth, Percy, up to the 1st of April, 1861, and after that date to the Subscriber, in Ashburnham, will receive prompt attention. All letters must be post-paid.

HENRY DENNIS,
Manufacturer.
Warkworth, Percy, Dec. 1860.

Patented rights to manufacture and sell the above Pumps for sale by John Dennis, patentee and manufacturer. New Market, C.W. 50-1y.

New Establishment.

A choice assortment carefully selected by a gentleman of many years experience.

GROCERIES, WINES, &C.,
with a large variety of Fancy Goods.
at very low prices.

Port Wine, (Per Gallon) at 2s 6d, 3s, 4s, 5s, 6s; Sherry, 3s, 3s 6d, 4s, 5s, 6s; Pale Brandy, Brown, do., Fine Holland Gin in Wood, do., in Bottle and Green Cases, Irish Whiskey (very old) 3s, in 1 Gal. Case. Teas, Sugars, Coffees, Fruits, Spices, Pickles & Sauces, Oils, Vinegars, extracts, Salerats, Starches, Tobacco, Cigars, Snuffs, Brushes, Soaps, Candles, and Tobacconists' Goods.

JOHN McDONELL,
In the (now blue front) premises, lately occupied by Jas Beeton & Co., &c.,
GEORGE ST., PETERBORO.
Jan. 2 1861.

JUDSONS,
CHOCORUA
MOUNTAIN HERB
WORM TEA.

Herbs, Barks and Roots
VERSUS
Poisonous Minerals and Drugs.

MOTHERS TAKE HEED!

Do you when observing the uneasy actions of your children, consider that it may be nature's own Medicine that affects them? Is it not the cause out of tune, the cause of the little sufferer's anguish in WORMS, or disorder of some kind or other?

HEADS OF FAMILIES

Do not let your children suffer, when we present you in

JUDSON'S WORM TEA

A SAFE AND PLEASANT CURE FOR WORMS

How much better and safer would it be to have it always in the house. A little delay when a child is taken ill may often be the cause of its death, while acting without delay, and by giving the MOUNTAIN HERB and immediately, you will not only save the child a long and tedious illness, and yourself much anxiety, but also feel happier in having done what you have done your duty, and perchance saved its life.

This medicine is combined purely of

HERBS AND ROOTS

NOT A PARTICLE OF
Calomel or Mineral
IS USED IN IT.

No more filthy Vermifuge will be used by those who once use this Tea. The only active principle of all other Vermifuges and Worm Killers is MERCURY.

GIVE NO
POISON
TO
YOUR CHILDREN.

Use this Simple, Safe, Vegetable Medicine. This Worm Tea was discovered in an unusual way among the Wilds of Chocorua Mountains—a full account of it you will find in our Almanacs. Ask for the "Known Path Almanac" of the Agent, and when you have read it, send it to your neighbors, that they may also know of and be cured by this GREAT REMEDY!

JUDSON'S WORM TEA
KILLS WORMS,
Never Harms—is Pleasant to Take.

GET A PACKAGE—PRICE 25 CTS.

OBSERVE.—Always find the Name and Signature of B. L. JUDSON & CO., and the portrait of Judson, on each package of this Worm Tea.

B. L. JUDSON & CO.,
SOLE PROPRIETORS,
50 Leonard St., New York.

Judson's Worm Tea is sold by one Agent in every Village, and by all Druggists.

CANADA
Permanent Building and Saving's Society.

CAPITAL.....$500,000
INVESTED ON REAL ESTATE.... 350,000
ANNUAL INCOME.....250,000

THIS Institution advances money on favorable terms on the security of Real Estate, situate in Western Canada, repayable by instalments spread over any period the borrower chooses from 1 to 10 years.

Properties mortgaged may be sold or changed for other property, or the mortgage debt may be paid off before it is due if desired by the borrower.

Charters and rules, together with any further information may be obtained from the office.

W. CLUXTON,
Agent.
Peterboro', Jan. 30, 1861. 5

JUDSON'S
Mountain Herb Pills.

ABOVE, we present you with a perfect likeness of Tecumo, a chief of a tribe of the Penobscot Indian Nation, that once ruled Maine. You will find a full account of him and his people in our Pamphlets and Almanacs—to be had gratis, from the Agents for these Pills.

The inventor and manufacturer of "Chocorua Mountain Herb Pills," has spent the greater part of his life in traveling, having visited nearly every country in the world. He spent over six years among the Indians in the Rocky Mountains and of Mexico, and it was then that the "MOUNTAIN HERB PILLS" were discovered. A very interesting account of his adventures there, you will find in our Almanac and Pamphlet.

It is an established fact, that all diseases arise from

IMPURE BLOOD!

The blood is the life! and when any foreign or unhealthy matter gets mixed with it, it is at once distributed to every organ of the body. Every nerve feels the poison, until the vital organs quickly complain. The stomach will not digest the food positively. The liver ceases to secrete a sufficiency of bile. The action of the heart is quickened, and so the circulation is feeble. The lungs become clogged with the poisonous matter; hence, a cough—and all from a slight impurity at the foundation of life—the blood! As if you had thrown some earth, for instance, in a pure spring. From which run a clay rivulet, in a few minutes the whole course of the stream becomes disturbed and discolored. As quickly does impure blood fly to every part, and leave its sting behind. All the passages become obstructed, and when the obstruction is removed, the loss of life soon sets in.

These pills not only purify the blood, but regenerate all the secretions of the body; they are, therefore, unrivalled as a

CURE FOR BILIOUS DISEASES,

Liver Complaint, Blue Headache, &c. This Anti-Bilious Medicine expels from the blood the hidden seeds of disease, and renders all the fluids and secretions pure and sweet, clearing and benefiting the vital organs.

Please read, mark, learn, that no one can be sick who will keep their blood pure. Judson's Mountain Herb Pills will do it. Their operation is directly through the blood, and cause the cure by purifying the blood, and nature the cure by purifying the body, and causing it to throw off the cause of disease, and restore health.

Judson's Pills are the Best Remedy in existence for the following Complaints:

Cholera Morbus, Dysentery, Diarrhœa, Colds, Fever and Ague, Liver Complaints, Female Complaints, Loss of Appetite, Costiveness, Blotches, Pain, Piles, Rheumatism, Erysipelas, Scrofula, Scurvy, Salt Rheum, Humors, Boils, Pimples, Ulcers, Tetter, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Croup, Influenza, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, Neuralgia, Dropsy, Worms, Gout, Nervousness, Sick Headache, Dizziness, Fits, Jaundice, and other kindred complaints.

GREAT FEMALE REMEDIES!

Females who value health, should never be without these Pills. They purify the blood, remove all impurities of all kinds, cleanse the skin of all pimples and blotches, and bring the beautiful bloom of health to the pale cheek.

☞ The Proprietor will forfeit $1,000 to any one who can prove that he ever published a false statement in a letter of Approval, or in any other way among the thousands he has published in the Almanacs of the Agent, and you will find in the Almanac for 1862, and you will receive with it a letter of Approval, from the very interesting account it contains of the "Great Discovery" of the Agent.

Observe.—The Mountain Herb Pills are for sale by the Agent. Each box contains 40 pills, and bears the signature of B. L. JUDSON & CO., on each box.

B. L. JUDSON, & Co.
SOLE PROPRIETORS.
No. 50 Leonard Street,
NEW YORK
AND FOR SALE BY ALL RESPECTABLE DEALERS.

☞ The Canadian Pain Destroyer is a present and sure remedy for Cramp and Pain in the Stomach, Bowels, Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer Complaints, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, Scalds, Burns, Sprains, Bruises, Frost Bites, Chilblains, &c. Sold at 25 cents per bottle.

WILL BE SOLD AT A SACRIFICE.

THE entire [illegible] on the Court House Hill, adjoining the property of Mr. Wm. Dimble. The above is one of the most delightful situations in Town, and will be sold for the one half in hand down, and the remainder in two years from time of sale. Title Perfect.

LOW PRICE OF $300!

JOHN RITCHIE.
Peterboro.

MARBLE WORKS.

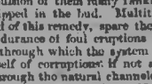
H. B. EVANS,

RESPECTFULLY invites attention to the fact that he is prepared to execute on short notice

TOMB-STONES,
MONUMENTS,
TABLE-TOPS,
MANTLE-PIECES,
&c., &c., &c.

of as good workmanship as can be done in any part of Canada. Terms very low for Cash.

☞ House and Workshop, corner of London and Bethune Street, foot of Smith Town Hill.
H. T. EVANS.
Peterbo., Nov. 8, 1860 45



SADDLERY & HARNESS
WARE-HOUSE.

Opposite A. McNab's Auction Rooms, George Street, Peterboro'.

HOPKINS & DONNELY

WILL keep constantly on hand, and make to order all sorts of

SADDLES, HARNESS, WHIPS,
Valises, &c.,

which they intend to sell CHEAP FOR CASH, or on approved credit.

☞ All work warranted, as it is made by superior workmen.
Peterborough, Sept. 5, 1860. 36

ROOM PAPER.

R. STEVENSON,
PAINTER & PAPER-HANGER,

HAS Received direct from England, a large and well-selected assortment of Room Paper, Borders, Decorations, Window-blinds, &c.

which will be sold at Prices to suit the Times.
Brock Street,
Opposite Lawson's Hotel. 17

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

A compound remedy, to which we have labored to produce the most effectual alterative that can be made. It is a concentrated extract of Para Sarsaparilla, so combined with other substances of still greater alterative power as to afford an effective antidote for the diseases Sarsaparilla is reputed to cure. It is believed that such a remedy is wanted by those who suffer from Strumious complaints, and that one which will accomplish their cure must prove of inestimable service to this large class of our afflicted fellow-citizens. How completely this compound will do it has been proven by experiment on many of the worst cases to be found of the following complaints:—

SCROFULA AND SCROFULOUS COMPLAINTS, ERUPTIONS AND ERUPTIVE DISEASES, ULCERS, PIMPLES, BLOTCHES, TUMORS, SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, SYPHILIS AND SYPHILITIC AFFECTIONS, MERCURIAL DISEASE, DROPSY, NEURALGIA OR TIC DOULOUREUX, DEBILITY, DYSPEPSIA AND INDIGESTION, HEADACHE, ROSE OR ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD.

This compound will be found a great promoter of health, when taken in the spring, to expel the foul humors which fester in the blood at that season of the year. By the timely expulsion of them many rankling disorders are nipped in the bud. Multitudes can, by the aid of this remedy, spare themselves from the endurance of foul eruptions and ulcerous sores, through which the system will strive to rid itself of corruptions: if not assisted to do this through the natural channels of the body by an alterative medicine. Cleanse out the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, eruptions, or sores; cleanse it when you find it is obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it whenever it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Even where no particular disorder is felt, people enjoy better health, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. Keep the blood healthy, and all is well; but with this pabulum of life disordered, there can be no lasting health. Sooner or later something must go wrong, and the great machinery of life is disordered or overthrown.

Sarsaparilla has, and deserves much, the reputation, of accomplishing these ends. But the world has been egregiously deceived by preparations which, partly because the article alone has not all the virtue that is claimed for it, but more because many preparations, pretending to be concentrated extracts of it, contain but little of the virtue of Sarsaparilla, or any thing else.

During late years the public have been assailed by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one dollar. Most of these have been frauds upon the sick, for they not only contain little, if any, Sarsaparilla, but often no curative properties whatever. Hence, bitter and painful disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market, until the name itself is justly despised, and has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound Sarsaparilla, and intend to supply such a remedy as shall rescue the name from the load of obloquy which rests upon it. And we think we have ground for believing it has virtues which are irresistible by the ordinary run of the diseases it is intended to cure. In order to secure a perfect cure, eradication from the system, the remedy should be judiciously taken according to directions on the bottle.

PREPARED BY
DR. J. C. AYER & CO.
LOWELL, MASS.
Price, $1 per Bottle; Six Bottles for $5.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

HAS won for itself such a renown for the cure of every variety of Throat and Lung Complaint, that it is entirely unnecessary for us to recount the evidence of its virtues, wherever it has been employed. As it has long been in constant use throughout this section, we need not do more than to assure the people its quality is kept up to the best it ever has been, and that it may be relied on to do for their relief all it has ever been found to do.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

FOR THE CURE OF

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and for Purifying the Blood.

They are sugar-coated, so that the most sensitive can take them pleasantly. They are the best aperient in the world for the purposes of a family physic.

Price 25 Cents per Box: Five boxes for $1.00.

Great numbers of Clergymen, Physicians, Statesmen, and eminent persons, have voluntarily given their names to certify the unparalleled success of these pills in the cure of every variety of disease which yields to the action of a cathartic medicine. Their publication in this form, however, is deemed unnecessary, as the pills are known wherever they are for sale, and the proprietor does not wish to occupy space in this manner. The Agents below named are furnished gratis with our American Almanac, in which they are given; with also full descriptions of the above diseases, and the treatment that should be had in each case.

Do not be put off by unprincipled dealers with other pills, which they make more profit on. Demand AYER'S, and take no others. The dealer who tells you he has no others, wants the profit on them, and they should have little.

All our Remedies are for sale by Dormouse & Simpson, Wm. Coulter, and W. A. Kemp, Peterboro'; C. Bellows, Lindsay; Shepherd, Port Hope; A. Goodfellow, Bowmanville; and all medicine dealers. Northrop & Lyman, General Agents for the Canadas.

THE TRAVELLERS REST.

THE above named House has been enlarged, refurnished and refitted throughout, and is now open for the accommodation of the travelling public. It is directly opposite the Post Office, on Main Street, and within sight of the steamboat landing.

HIS TABLE

is always supplied with the best the market affords, and

THE BAR

always supplied with the choicest of Liquors. Old friends and customers, as well as the travelling public are respectfully requested to give him a call.

☞ A careful ostler on hand at all times.
WILLIAM CREEWELL,
Proprietor.
Bobcaygeon, April 4, 1861. 14-6m.

PETERBORO',
Soap and Candle Works.

A large stock of very superior
CANDLES AND SOAP
now on hand and for sale at the lowest wholesale prices.

☞ Orders are respectfully solicited.
Cash for Lard, Tallow and Soap Grease.
GOULY & BOOD.
Peterboro', Dec 20th, 1858. 51

Health and its Pleasures,
OR DISEASE WITH ITS AGONIES:
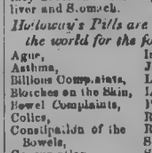
CHOOSE EITHER FIELD.



HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.

NERVOUS DISORDERS.

What is more fearful than the breaking down of the nervous system? To be irritable or nervous in a small degree is most distressing, for where can a remedy be found? There is one:—drink but little wine, beer, or spirits, or far better none; take no coffee,—weak tea being preferable; get all the f

BOOK AND JOB PRINTING ESTABLISHMENT.

EVERY description of Book and Job Printing executed at this Office, in superior style, at low rates.

Pamphlets, Circulars,
Handbills, Funeral Cards,
Invitations, Ball Headings,
Horse Bills, Show Bills,
Concert Bills, Programmes,
Posters, Stage Bills,
Business Cards, Blanks, &c.,

with every variety of Coloring and Bronzing.

☞ Lawyers Blanks of every description, kept constantly on hand.

All orders for Job Printing forwarded to this office will be punctually and strictly attended to

The Examiner.

PETERBOROUGH, CANADA WEST, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1861.

Volume VI.] "THE PEOPLE." [Number 46.

THE "EXAMINER,"

Is published every Thursday morning, at the office of the undersigned, in

BURNHAM'S BLOCK, GEORGE STREET

Terms of Subscription—$1.50 per annum payable strictly in advance, $2 when not so paid.

Rates of Advertising.

Six Lines, and under, first insertion.....$0 37
Each subsequent insertion.....12
Over ten lines, first insertion, per line.....05
Each subsequent insertion.....01
One ten lines, first insertion (per line).....7
Each subsequent insertion.....2
Business Cards as per agreement.

☞ Advertisements without specific directions will be inserted until forbid. Orders to discontinue must be given in writing.

All communications to the Publisher must be post-paid; otherwise no notice will be taken of them.

JAMES BENFIELD,
Publisher and Prop'r.

Business Directory.

JAMES HALL,
SHERIFF, Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

Mr. TOOLE,
MANUFACTURER of Sash Blinds, Doors and Mouldings. Every description of Joiner Work done to order. Next door to Martyn's Mills, Peterboro', C. W. 9

MESSRS. FITZGERALD & BRENNAN
PROVINCIAL LAND SURVEYORS, CIVIL ENGINEERS AND LAND AGENTS. Office in Scott's Chambers, corner of George and Simcoe Streets.
Messrs. F. & B. having lately surveyed the outlines of eight new Townships now inclosed in this County will be happy to give any information to intending settlers. 34

J. B. BISBEE,
DEALER in Boots, Shoes & Leather, George Street, Peterborough, C. W. 16

W. CRAWFORD,
GOVERNMENT Land Agent. Office at his residence, Brock Street.

EDMUND S. VINDIN,
COMMISSION, Shipping, Forwarding, and General Agent, Lumber Merchant, &c.—OFFICE—Corner of Walton and Ontario Streets. 13

MR. DENNISTOUN,
BARRISTER at Law Master Extraordinary in Chancery Notary Public, &c., Peterborough

Mr. A. T. HEATHFIELD.
PIANIST AND TEACHER OF MUSIC.
COMMUNICATION THROUGH THE POST OFFICE,
Peterborough.

JOHNSON'S
FASHIONABLE Hair Dressing and Shaving Saloon in the Building formerly occupied by the Post Office, east of the bridge.
Port Hope, Sept. 29, 1857.

GEORGE MITCHELL,
DEALER in Groceries and Provisions, &c. Cash paid for all kinds of country produce. George Street Peterborough. 15

T. G. HAZLITT,
DEALER in Provisions, Groceries, Crockery and Glass ware, Hunter Street Peterboro.

W. SHERIDAN,
COUNTY Treasurer and Clerk. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

R. STEVENSON,
PAINTER, Paper hanger, &c., &c., Brock Street, Peterborough. 15

GEORGE H. HUGHES,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
SOLICITOR IN CHANCERY
Conveyancer, &c.
OFFICE in Harvey's Building, next door (north) to Thomson's Store, George St., Peterborough. 12

GENERAL FIRE AND LIFE INSURANCE OFFICE.
W. CLUXTON, Agent.

W. COULTER, PETERBORO',
DEALER in Genuine Drugs, Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Spices, Culinary Essences, Fancy Soaps, &c., &c. 16

THOMAS MENZIES,
BOOKSELLER, Stationer, &c., &c., &c., &c. Dixon' Exchange Block, George Street, Peterborough. 20

A. HARVEY, M. D., CORONER.
RESIDENCE—Aylmer Street, opposite the Railway Depot, Peterboro.
April 3rd, 1861.

W. H. SCOTT,
BARRISTER AT LAW, Solicitor in Chancery, Notary Public, Conveyancer, &c.
OFFICE:—In Burnham's Block, opposite the Review Office, Peterborough.
April 11, 1861. 16

A. M'CREA,
PROVINCIAL Licentiate Physician, Surgeon, &c Keene.

GEORGE PRINGLE, M. D.
PHYSICIAN, Surgeon, &c., &c., graduate of McGill College, Montreal, having also studied in the hospitals of London and Dublin.
OFFICE AND RESIDENCE.—Brock Street, opposite McGregor's Livery Stable, Peterboro.
April 23, 1861. 17

ALEX. McNEIL,
AUCTIONEER, Valuator, &c., &c. Licensed for the United Counties of Peterborough and Victoria. George St., Peterboro'.

JAMES BEST,
DEALER in Dry Goods, Groceries, Crockery Boots and Shoes, &c., &c., Rowe's Block, George Street, Peterborough. 16

MR. DUNN,
PRINCIPAL of the Grammar and Union School, will devote a short time each day to private tuition.
Peterboro', Jan. 16th, 1861. 9

FOR SALE.
A FIRST-RATE TAVERN STAND situated on Elizabeth Street, Ashburnham, front of Mr. Rogers' Mill. The building is at present used for a dwelling house and furniture rooms. It would make a good stand for a Grocery and Bakery. The lease of the above has eleven years to run, and will be sold very reasonable for money. For particulars apply to
E. BURLEY,
On the Premises.
Aug. 29, 1861. 35

JAMES W. FITZGERALD
(LATE SHERWOOD & FITZGERALD.)
Provincial Land Surveyor.
Office:—In Scott's Chambers, corner George and Simcoe Streets.
Oct. 3, 1861. 41

CABINET-MAKING.
E. POOLE, Cabinet-maker, Upholsterer & Undertaker, Ryan's Block, George Street Peterboro.

A. FOWLIE & Co.
HARDWARE Merchants, George St., Peterboro'.

THE CHEAPEST & BEST PLACE To get Job Printing done, is at the REVIEW Office.

D. PENTLAND,
Surgical & Mechanical Dentist,
OFFICE, OVER COULTER'S' DRUG STORE,
George Street, Peterboro'.

TEETH Extracted by the aid of Electricity, with the least possible pain. Teeth inserted upon the Gold, Silver, or
VULCANIZED RUBBER.
Teeth and material warranted to be of the very best quality.
D. P. particularly wishes the public to understand that he
WARRANTS HIS WORK TO GIVE GOOD SATISFACTION,
and parties who are not perfectly satisfied with their plates have the privilege of returning them before paying for them.
Particular attention paid to the treatment of all diseases of the mouth, and also the regulating of children's teeth.
Peterboro', April 10th, 1861 15

ALBION HOTEL,
MONTREAL.
L. W. DECKER, Proprietor.
IS pleasantly situated at the head of ST. PAUL STREET, amongst the largest wholesale houses in the city. It has (with business men generally, and especially with the best Merchants of both Provinces) become so great a favorite, that it is now acknowledged to be THE Business Hotel of Montreal. To meet the extensive increase, during the last year in the business of the house, the proprietor has built a large addition. The Dining Room has been extended and made more commodious; there have been completed in the new wing, a great number of well-ventilated sleeping rooms, and the House throughout has been refitted, and now contains many improvements and conveniences hitherto unknown to its guests. The whole of the beds have, at a great expence, been furnished with NEW SPRING MATTRASSES. The Proprietor expects that by continuing his personal management of the concern, THE ALBION to say the least of it, will continue to be, as it now is, the best Dollar and a half Hotel in Canada.

VALUABLE FARM
FOR SALE.
THE subscriber is desirous of disposing of his Farm, south west part of Lot 23, in the 11th Con. Otonabee, only 3 miles from the town of Peterborough, and on the main road leading to Keene, comprising 100 Acres.
60 Acres are Cleared,
and in a good state of cultivation; 14 Acres of Fall Wheat are sown, and part of Fall ploughing is done. A good Frame Rough-cast House, 26 x 30, a Barn, 45 x 26, and a good stable and other out-houses are on the premises.
A GOOD WELL
of spring water stands within a rod of the house, and is easy of access. A good
YOUNG ORCHARD OF 85 TREES,
in good condition, and of the choicest fruits, is on the property.
The Farm is one of the best in the Township, and the situation is very convenient, no better chance for the purchase of a good farm could be offered, and it will be sold at a liberal price.
Title Indisputable.
Apply to the proprietor on the premises,
JAS. WEIR.
Otonabee, Nov. 7 1860. 34

NOTICE
THE next meeting of the Senior Board of Instruction for the County of Peterboro' will be held on the
First Tuesday of Dec. next,
IN THE COURT HOUSE, AT 10 A.M.
Teachers holding third class certificates issued a year or upwards ago, are required to have them renewed.
By order,
J. EDWARDS,
Secretary.
Peterboro' May 14, 1861. 30

THE LATEST IMPROVED
COAL OIL,
AND COAL OIL LAMPS,
AT REDUCED PRICES.
JOHN McDONELL,
GEORGE STREET.
Jan. 2, 1861. 1.

PORT HOPE & PETERBORO
RAILWAY.
ON and after the 6th of ——, 1861, and until further notice, Trains will run as follows:—
GOING NORTH.
Leave Port Hope at.....7.30 a. m.
" Millbrook ".....9.05 a. m.
" Fraserville ".....9.30 a. m.
Arrive at Peterboro' at.....9.50 a. m.
GOING SOUTH.
Leave Peterboro' at.....3.35 p. m.
" Fraserville ".....3.55 p. m.
" Millbrook ".....3.30 p. m.
Arrive at Port Hope at.....4.55, p. m.
JOHN FOWLER,
Lessee.
Peterboro' January, 19

INFORMATION WANTED.
A DAUGHTER wishes to learn the present whereabouts of her mother, whom she has not seen for the last thirty-five years. Her maiden name was Polly Cook; her first husband's name was Warren Stone. It is said she married in 1849, a person named De Long, who was at that time engaged in some way in the manufacture of silk, in some part of Upper Canada. Any information respecting her will be gratefully received, by addressing the subscriber, at 53 Plank Street, Rochester, N. Y.—Canadian papers will confer a favour upon one who has long been deprived of a mother's affections, by giving the above an insertion, gratis or in part.
Mrs. SAMANTHA JENKINSON.
Rochester, N. Y., 24th May, 1861.

NEXT OF KIN WANTED!
Hundreds of Millions Pounds Sterling
IN CHANCERY, BANK OF ENGLAND, &c., awaiting claimants. A Catalogue of the heirs and children of those to whom letters should be addressed in England, will be sent post free, on receipt of 60 cents in United States' stamps, or two 3d. Old colonial must be registered with
W. G. HARRISON & CO.,
Box 250, Post Office, Boston, Mass.
Boston, Mass., 1861. 37

Poetry.

SONG OF THE DECANTER.

There was an old decanter, and its mouth was gaping wide; the rosy wine had sobbed away and left its crystal side; and the wind went humming—humming up and down the side it flew, and through the reed-like hollow neck the wildest notes it blew. I placed it in the window, where the blast was blowing free, and fancied that its pale mouth sang the queerest strains to me. "They tell me—puny conquerors! Plague has slain its ten, and War his hundred thousands of the very best of men; but I, 'twas thus the Bottle spoke, 'but I have conquered more than all your famous conquerors, so feared and famed of yore.—Then come, ye youths and maidens all, come drink from out my cup, the beverage that dulls the brain and burns the spirits up; that puts to shame your conquerors who slay their scores below; for this has deluged millions with its lava tide of woe; 'Tho in the path of battle dirkat waves the blood may roll; yet while I killed the body Pee also damned soul. The cholera; the plague sword, such ruin never wrought as I, in mirth or malice on the innocent have brou't & still I breath upon them and they shrink before my breath, and year by year my thousands tread the dismal road that leads to DEATH.

The Voluntary Prisoner.

A fine life made weary with forty-three years of grief has just been extinguished among the mountains of Vosges. Here is the notice which was addressed to us by one of our friends, concerning the subject of this long martyrdom:—

Henri Fortin, an only son, born in circumstances most favorable to happiness, was a student of law at a college in Strasbourg; in 1812 his father perished in the retreat from Moscow; his mother lived retired from the world upon an estate that she possessed in the Vosgesian chain of mountains, with an annual income of from forty to fifty thousand francs. She had saved her son from the conscription as the only son of a widow, until, in 1813, he was, so they say, forced to enter the Guard of Honor, a diabolical creation of the empire by which many young men, who had been liberated by the law of exceptions or by replacement at a fabulous price, were taken from the best families.

An argument between families, sealed by mutual penchant, had fixed the marriage of Fortin with Mlle. Constance G—— in the month of January, 1814. The new career of her intended, which they considered as merely passing, came to derange the plans for their felicity; but forced to snatch himself from the arms of the two grieving families, he set out for the army in Germany, leaving them devoured by a fever of despair. Upon the advice of the doctor of the house, Mlle. Constance was taken to Strasbourg to seek the advice of the celebrities of the faculty of medicine concerning a malady of languor that menaced her days. During this time, and until the invasion of France by the allied armies, no news of Fortin came to temper the anguish of his intended, and it was not on il 1814, after raising the blockade of Strasbourg, that they were apprised by one of the confreres in arms of young Fortin that, wounded while reconnoitering, he had fallen in the power of the Cossacks after the fatal day of Leipsic.

Soon the news of the invasion that followed the last hundred days of Napoleon I., raised, during a long time, new obstacles in the way of endeavors of the two families to discover the final fate of the object of their affection. Constance had been left in ignorance of the first imperfect news obtained of Fortin, and toward the end of 1815, in order to remove her from the scene of her grief, she was conducted to the residence of one of her aunts at Paris, with the hope of diverting, if not obliterating, her remembrances.

New information received afterward concerning him came unfortunately to confirm the first news, and the silence of the year 1816 no longer left any doubt of his death in the Guard of Honor, except in the hearts of his mother and his intended; and little by little, however, the latter seemed to familiarize herself with the idea that she should never again see her espoused; and the efforts made by her friends to divert her thoughts insensibly led her to a better state of health.

Among the temptations with which she was besieged were numerous admirers of her large fortune; and, upon the grave recommendation of a physician, a friend of her aunt, that it was necessary to effect a physical cure by obtaining a moral healing by means of a new affection and a prompt marriage. This doctor had a nephew, son of a manufacturer of Rouen, who was taught for this conquest, which he achieved in the first months of 1817, by means of pretended indisputable proofs of the end of him whom she still wept.

Mlle. Constance was married to M. Chas Destivier toward the end of the month of March, 1817.

The first of May, Mademoiselle Fortin received a letter from the prefect of the Vosges, informing her that he had discovered new traces of her son, and that he hoped he would be found among a number of prisoners who were about to return from Russia.

At this news, received every day by a thousand of joy, Mlle. Fortin set off immediately on [illegible] the prefect.

"You have not told me all, monsieur!" cried she, at meeting him [illegible] "Is he dead? Is he sick? I know—I know it always! Call him, that I may press him to my heart, which has never desired me."

The prefect interdicted, commanded, and prayed the poor mother to calm herself.

"I was coming to visit you to-day," he said, "for you are right; I do know more; your son lives, and you shall embrace him in a few days."

"No, not in a few days; now, here, or I die!"

The prefect went suddenly out of the room, and re-entered almost immediately with Henri leaning upon his arm; the young man had lost a leg. The mother, beside herself, threw herself upon the neck of her son, then sunk heavily down at his feet—she had died of joy.

An hour before this thunderstroke Henri had, by the indiscretion of a domestic, been apprised of the marriage of Constance.

"Take me back to Siberia!" cried Henri, under the weight of this double catastrophe. "Or, rather, let me die also, for I feel that henceforth everything in this world is dead for me!"

The next day the son had his mother embalmed, and, two days afterward, went to shut himself up with this relic of maternal love in his retreat on the Vosges.

By the strictest order he refused to see any one, whoever it might be; passed a few hours with the notary of his family, walled up the exterior doors and windows of his house, which was formed of a square of buildings, enclosed a garden and a fountain; had proposals made to a deaf mute, the son of a shepherd, to serve him; and from that day until the 15th of July last, almost 43 years, until he died, he has never been seen beyond its boundaries.

A concierge, established with his family in the enclosure, served as a messenger between the notary and a receptacle in which the mute placed the written demands and instructions of his master. With the exception of these relations with existence, M. Fortin never responded to any letters. The wife of the concierge was charged with the care of preparing the food and providing the linen of the voluntary prisoner.

He had many sicknesses during this long seclusion, but he always obstinately refused to see a doctor; and one who would have said that the infirmities due to nine grave wounds, received when he fell under the horses of the Cossacks, rather than his age, which was past 70 years, caused the veritable death of this man, who for so long a time had ceased to live for any one.

However, he did not become a misanthrope, as we shall see. A small part of his revenue sufficing for the limited wants of his style of living, he disposed of the greater part in soldering, by the intervention of his notary, all the unfortunate of whom he was informed in the neighborhood; and for ten leagues around his name came next to that of God in all the prayers of the suffering.

His third mute was living with him at the time of his death, the first two having been unable for so long a period to endure this captivity.

Constance Duvirer still lives. The return of Fortin remained concealed from her during more than ten years. She was then the mother of six children. When on a journey which she made to her birthplace, she was informed of the existence of Henri, and the fate which had befallen him. This blow struck her cruelly, and it needed the presence of her numerous family to soften its effects.

After some years M. Duvirer met with a failure which devoured his fortune and the principal part of the estates of his wife, together with a considerable share of the fortune of her family. This misfortune, which killed her husband at the end of a year, left the widow reduced almost to indigence; but Fortin, who was informed of these facts by his notary, who was the son of the first, who had died meanwhile of the cholera, ordered an annuity of ten thousand francs to be paid to Constance.

By an autograph will, after the death of Mlle., the widow Duvirier, the annuity will revert to her two daughters, who were unable to marry for want of marriage portions.

The concierge and his family were generously remembered on condition of their receiving, as a member of their household, the deaf mute, the sole witness of the last moments of Fortin. The rest of his fortune was disposed of in legacies to different charitable institutions.

It is said that Fortin has left nineteen manuscript volumes upon various subjects; they are enclosed in a sealed trunk, and direction given that they are not to be opened until a year after the death of the widow of Charles Duvirer.

HOW THE PEOPLE ARE ROBBED.

We never could understand the justice of making labor, which produces everything, pay interest on capital, which produces nothing. Yet everything is organized on this basis, which makes the rich richer and the poor poorer—as surely sponging up all surplus production and squeezing it into the strong box of the capitalist, keeping the producer in perpetual servitude as "hewers of wood and drawers of water," as the river carries the waters of a thousand rills into the great ocean. As an illustration of the operation of this principle, a French mathematician has been calculating what would now be the sum produced by one cent set out at five per cent. per annum, compound interest at the commencement of the Christian era. He estimates what would be the value of a solid ball of gold, equal in size to the earth. He then makes the astounding statement that had such one ball of gold fallen each minute during the past eighteen hundred and sixty years, the value of all these globes together would not amount to so much as the sum produced by this cent, at compound interest, during the same period.

"John," said an old farmer, one day to one of his servants, "can you believe how many hours there are in a day?" "No," replied John, "but I know how many there are in a quart of whisky."

A TALE OF THE ARCTIC REGIONS.

We take from a very old monthly publication the following extraordinary narrative of adventure in the Polar Seas. The circumstances are certainly within the range of possibility, since no putrefaction could take place whilst the bodies of the sufferers were in the temperature of a vessel "encased in thick-ribbed ice."

In the spring of the year 1840, a whaling vessel sailed from the port of London, upon a voyage to the Polar Seas. Nothing material is said to have occurred until their arrival in those solitary regions, when it became the duty of the crew to keep a perpetual look-out upon the horizon, in search of fish. Whilst thus occupied, it was fancied by one of the seamen that a sail was discernable as far to the northward as the eye could reach; as the course of the whaler was toward the supposed vessel, a mist became gradually distinguishable amidst the mountain of ice, which appeared in that quarter to bound the sea.

It was now summer, and the afternoon unusually calm, whilst the whaler gradually neared the object in view, the supposition being that it was a vessel engaged in operating upon the blubber, in a bay which would open to the view upon approaching nearer to the ice. Upon arriving, however, at the spot, it became clear that the vessel was a wreck, embedded in the ice, and could only be approached by a boat.—This having been lowered, the captain and several of the seamen landed upon the ice, and proceeded to the vessel, which proved to be a brig. The sails were furled, very little appeared on deck, and all the arrangements were those of a vessel laid up for a long period of time. Descending to the cabin, the first object that was seen was a large Newfoundland dog, coiled upon a mat, and apparently asleep. Upon touching the animal it was found to be dead, and the body frozen to the hardness of stone.—Entering the cabin was next seen a young lady seated at a table; her eyes were open, and gazing with a mild and steadfast expression upon the new comers to that solitary spot. She was a corpse! and in that apparently resigned and religious position had been frozen to death. Beside her was a young man, who, it appeared, was the brother of the lady, and commander of the brig. He, too, was dead, but sitting at the table, and before him lay a sheet of paper, upon which was written the following words:—"Our cook has endeavoured since yesterday morning to strike a light, but in vain; all is now over." At the other side of the cabin stood the cook, with a flint and a steel in his hand, frozen like a statue, in the vain endeavor to procure that fire which alone could save him and his companions from the cold arms of death. The superstitious terrors of the seamen now hurried the captain away from the wreck, the log-book alone being brought away, and from this it appeared that the ill-fated vessel was a brig which had belonged to the port of London, and had sailed for the Arctic regions more than fourteen years before.

ANTS AND THEIR EXPLOITS.

We take the following description of the "Bashikouay"—or reddish-brown African ant—from Du Chaillu's account of his African travels:

"It is their habits to march through the forest in a long and regular line, about two inches broad and often ten miles in length. All along this line are larger ants, who act as officers, stand outside the ranks and keep this singular army in order. If they come to a place where there is no trees to shelter them from the sun, whose heat they cannot bear, they immediately build underground tunnels, through which the whole army passes in columns to the forest beyond.—These tunnels are four or five feet under ground, and are used only in the heat of the day or during a storm.

"When they get hungry the long file spreads itself through the forest in a front line, and devours all it comes to with a fury which is quite irresistable. The elephant and gorilla fly before this attack. The black men run for their lives. Every animal that lives in their line of march is chased. They seem to understand and act upon the tactics of Napoleon, and concentrate with great speed their heaviest forces upon the point of attack. In an incredibly short space of time the mouse, or dog, or leopard, or deer, is overwhelmed, killed, eaten and the skeleton only remains.

"They seem to travel night and day.—Many a time have I been awakened out of a sleep, and obliged to rush from the hut into the water to save my life, and after all suffered intolerable agony from the bites of the advance guard, who had got into my clothes. When they enter a house they clear it of all living things. Roaches are devoured in an instant. Rats and mice spring round the room in vain. An overwhelming force of ants kill a strong rat in less than a minute, in spite of his most frantic struggles, and in less than another minute its bones are stripped. Every living thing in the house is devoured. They will not touch vegetable matter. Thus they are really very useful (as well as dangerous) to the negroes, who have their houses cleaned of all the abounding vermin, such as immense roaches and centipedes, at least several times a year.

"When on their march, the insect world flies before them, and I have often had the approach of a bashikouay army heralded to me by this means. Wherever they go they make a clean sweep, even ascending to the tops of the highest trees in pursuit of their prey. Their manner of attack is an impetuous leap. Instantly the strong pincers are fastened, and they only let go when the piece flies away. At such times this little animal seems agitated by a kind of fury, which causes it to disregard entirely its own safety, and to seek only the conquest of its prey. The bite is very painful.

"The negroes relate that criminals were in former times exposed to the bashikouay ants, and that a great many succeed in getting [illegible]

"Two very remarkable practices of theirs remain to be related. When on their line of march, they throw themselves across and form a tunnel—a living tunnel—connecting two trees or high bushes on opposite sides of the stream. This is done with great speed, and is effected by a great number of ants, each of which clings with its fore claws to its next neighbor's body or hind claws. Thus they form a high, safe tubular bridge, through which the whole vast regiment marches in regular order. If they are disturbed, or if the arch is broken by the violence of some animal, they instantly attack the offender with the greatest animosity.

"The bashikouay have the sense of smell finely developed, as indeed have all the ants I know of, and they are guided very much by it. They are larger than any ant we have in America, being at least half an inch long, and are armed with very powerful fore legs and sharp jaws, with which they bite. They are red or dark brown in color. Their numbers are so great that one does not like to enter into calculations; but I have seen one continued line passing at good speed a particular place for twelve hours. The reader may imagine for himself how many millions on millions there may have been contained here."

A RISKY BUSINESS.

WITH SOME ILLUSTRATIONS OF IT.

I tell you, sir, it is a risky business to touch the brain. A minister of the Gospel, told me of a member of his congregation as noble a fellow as ever lived—generous—there was not a member of his church that gave as much as he, though only a member of the congregation, for the support of the Gospel; rich—sleeping partner in a firm in New York; with a wife and one child; living in good style. The only fault the wife had to find with him was, he would occasionally take a glass of wine, and would give it to the young men; and he said he had often talked with him about it. One day he saw him playing with his boy, and asked him, "do you love your son?" "Love him! noble little fellow! I love him better than my life." "You would not harm him?" "Harm him! hurt my boy! never!" "Now you never thought that a glass of wine—" "Stop you are a fanatic; I respect you as a minister, but not your fanaticism on this point. The idea of a glass of wine hurting this boy—that I am going to ruin my child! Let this be a tabooed question between us. I have no patience to hear you talk so foolishly about it." It was about six weeks after that one of the partners came to the house to see him on some business, and they rode to a manufacturing town about twelve miles distant. He was one of those men "mighty to drink wine, and a man of strength to mingle strong drink;" and there is no blessing pronounced on such men that we can find in the Bible. But he drank this man drunk for the first time in his life; and when they got to the hotel the city gentleman laughed at his maudlin companion, and said, "I wonder what his wife will say to that." Returning, they drove up to the gate, and the child, with his mother, were on the marble steps, waiting for papa. In stepping from the carriage, the drunken man's foot caught the reins, and he stumbled. If he had been sober he would have kept hold of the reins and the accident could not have happened. But it made him angry and his self-control was disturbed, and he took the boy by the shoulder, twisted him around, and threw him down. As he was unable to walk, they carried him into the hall, and laid him down on a settee; he fell off that on the floor, and went to sleep.

This clergyman told me—"They sent for me and I never spent such a night in my life. There lay that child dead, the wife in convulsions, and the man asleep—asleep, with a child, whose yellow locks were dabbled in blood lying in another room—asleep, with two physicians trying to save the life of his wife—asleep, under the damning influence of wine. When he awoke it was a fearful waking. Pushing back his hair—"What is the matter? Where am I?—Where is my boy? Where is my child? I must see him." "You cannot see him." "I must, I will. Where is my boy?" "You cannot see him." "I must see him—I must see my boy!" They took him into the room, and turned down the sheet; and when he saw him he cried out, "Oh, my God!" and fell back senseless. That clergyman told me—and I have his name in my note book—"One year from that day I buried his body, brought from a lunatic asylum, to lay side by side with his wife and child."

Young man, thank God for your safety, if you have ever dared to tamper with that which disturbs the action of the brain, and brings a man to a point where he knows not what he is about. It is risky business to touch the brain, and it is the business of alcohol to do it.—J. B. Gough.

WHO WAS JOHN O'GROAT?

In the reign of [illegible] the Fourth of Scotland, three brothers, Habakuk, Gavin, and John O'Groat, natives of Holland, came to the country carrying with them a letter in Latin, from that monarch, recommending them to the protection and countenance of his loving subjects in Caithness. They purchased, or obtained by royal charter, the lands of Warse and Duncansbay, in the parish of Canisbay; and in process of time, by the increase of their families and the subdivision of their property, there came to be eight different proprietors of the name of Groat. An annual festive meeting having been established to commemorate the anniversary of their arrival in Caithness, a dispute arose on one of these occasions respecting the right of taking the chair, the head of the table, &c., which increased to such a height as threatened to be attended with very disagreeable consequences, when John, who was now considerably advanced in years, happily interposed. He expatiated on the comforts which they had hitherto enjoyed in the land of their adoption, and conjured them, by the ties of blood and their mutual safety, to return quietly home, pledging himself that he would satisfy them on all points of precedency at their next meeting. They acquiesced, and departed in peace. In due time, to fulfil his engagement, John built a house, distinct by itself, of an octagonal form, with eight doors and windows; and, having placed a table of oak of the same shape in the middle, when the next meeting took place, he desired each of his friends to enter at his own door, and sit at the head of the table. By this happy contrivance, any dispute in regard to rank was prevented, and the former harmony and good humor of the party were restored.—Such was the origin of John O'Groat's House.

DEATH'S HARVEST.

Dr. Lyon, Brigade Surgeon and Gen. Lyon at the battle of Wilson Creek was witness to the following extraordinary incident:—A tall rebel soldier waved a large costly Secession flag defiantly, when a cannon ball struck him to the earth dead. A second soldier instantly picked up the prostrate flag, and waved it again——a second cannon ball shattered his body. A third soldier raised and waved the flag, and a third cannon ball crashed into his breast and he fell dead. Yet the fourth time was the flag raised, the soldier waved it, and turned to climb over the fence with it into the woods. As he stood astride the fence a moment, balancing to keep the heavy flag upright, a fourth cannon ball struck him in the side, cutting him completely in two, so that one half of his body fell on one side of the fence and the other half on the other side, while the flag itself lodged on the fence and was captured a few minutes afterwards by the Federal troops.

THE COVE FOR A HUSBAND.

Highly recommended by himself. "I have lived solitary long enough; I want somebody to talk to and quarrel with—then kiss and make up again. Therefore I am open for proposals for young ladies and fresh widows of more than average respectability; tolerably tame in disposition, and hair of any other color than red. As nearly as I can judge of myself, I am not over eighty nor more than twenty-five years of age. In height I am either eight feet five or five feet eight, forget which. Weight 135, or 315, or 531, one of the three; recollect each figure perfectly well, but am to their true arrangement, I am somewhat puzzled. Have a whole suit of hair, dyed by nature and free from dandruff. Eyes betternut brindle, singed with pea green. Nose blunt according to the Teutonic order of architecture, with a touch of the composite and a mouth between a catfish and an alligator's—made especially for oratory and the reception of large oysters. Ears patinated, long and elegantly shaped. My whiskers are a combination of dog hair, moss, and briar bush—well behaved, fearfully luxuriant.

I am sound to limb on the nigger question. Wear boots No. 9, when occasions troublesome, can write poetry, by the mile with double rhyme on both edges—to read backward, forward, crosswise, diagonally. Can play the jews-harp and bass drum, whistle Yankee Doodle in Spanish. Am very correct in my morals, and first-rate at ten-pins; have a regard for the Sabbath, and never drink only when invited. Am a domestic animal, and perfectly docile—when towels are clean and shirt buttons all right. If I possess a predominant virtue, it is that of forgiving every enemy whom I deem it hazardous to handle; I say my prayers every night, mosquitoes permitting; and as to whether I snore in my sleep, I want some one to tell me. Money is no object, as I never was troubled with any and never expect to be."

THE INUNDATIONS FROM THE NILE.

From the Times Correspondent.

ALEXANDRIA, Oct. 4, 1861.

On the night of the 1st inst, the water broke through from a canal on the western side of the river, near the railway.—The latter has been destroyed, telegraph posts and wires have been torn up and washed away and some ten miles of country laid under water. A good train that was sent up with an engineer and platelayers pulled up for a moment at a place where the regular passenger train had just passed before the [illegible] them. The [illegible] began to give way mediately under them, and their carriages sank down into the water. The men took refuge upon the roofs, but after a while found that both before and behind them the earthen embankment had melted away from under the rails. They had to adopt the only means for saving themselves that offered, to drag themselves thro' the water along the rails, their only guide in the darkness that had set in, until they reached dry land in a state of utter exhaustion, and some among them having been on the point of letting go their hold, and of resigning themselves to what seemed an inevitable fate.

Yesterday intelligence came from the Delta of similar damage to the railway from Kafr Kayat towards Benha, which has likewise become impassable, and in several parts is altogether destroyed.

Cut off as we are from communication with the exterior, both by rail and telegraph; it is impossible to come to any conclusion possessing the least pretentions to accuracy of the amount of injuries and losses that have been experienced throughout the country. But day by day we have received intelligence of fresh disasters. The greater part of the standing crop of Indian Corn is universally declared to be lost.—In Upper Egypt, the crops of dura seyfi, or holcas, which, as has been the case with Indian Corn in the Lower Country, forms there the staple article of food, must in like manner have been swept away. Many villages have been entirely overwhelmed, and immense losses of cattle are spoken of, and even of human life. Granaries, both government and private, have been flooded, and already it is said there is an intention to prohibit the further exportation of grain from Alexandria, so as to secure a sufficiency of food until next harvest. From the cotton districts, where the process of picking the first ripe pods had just commenced, we have also accounts of heavy losses, to the extent of at least in great measure reversing the sure anticipations so lately entertained of an unusually heavy crop, an event the more deplorable at this moment, when the value of this description of produce is raised to an extraordinary point.

Steamers have been collected for the transit of the outward Calcutta mails and passengers. The passengers will be conveyed by rail from the landing place to Kafr Damar, the first station beyond Alexandria, and thence by way of the canal and Nile to Boulac.

It is calculated that at least two or three months will be required to repair the damages to the railway, and to admit of a resumption of the traffic.—The expense which this alone will inflict upon the Government, amid its other losses, all which it can so ill afford, may easily be conjectured.

A CURATE IN LUCK.

With that matrimonial good fortune which very often attends members of the Clerical profession, we are informed that one of the curates of the most affluent and fashionable parish of Bristol—a gentleman much respected by his congregation and friends—is about to marry an accomplished young heiress, whose family reside in the district, and whose fortune on her marriage day will be £50,000, with fully twice that sum in reversion.—Western Daily Press.

..."Charlie, my dear, come here and get some candy." "I guess I won't mind it now, mother," replied the youth.

.."Is I'se got in some tobacco?" said to try his ..A celebrated [illegible] upon his wife, because, medical [illegible] they did not kill her they were after any body.

..Why are the mill-races like the Whale that swallowed Jonah? Because they take in a great prophet out of the water.

..On a winter's night, when the moon shone bright, and the sno[illegible] was crusted o'er, with a maid as fair as seraphs are, I slid from a hill down lower. How we reached the place, (like a horse's race) our swift gliding sled caressed; and with freezes fair, screaming back on the air, Sweet nellie went round over head.

..A preacher down South said, "O Lord bless pray thee to curtail the Devils' power in this place;" when an old negro, always ready with a response, ejaculated, "Dat right. Lord, cut de tail smack smoove off!"

.."Irish Sergeant!" Attention company and 'tend to roll dat." All of ye that are present, say Here, and all of ye that are not present, say Absint."

..In India a tax of rupees is wealth—here it is poverty.

..President defines the "slavery issue" to be about 25,000 nigger babies a year."

..At a church collection for missions, the preacher said: "My christian brethren let me caution them of you who put in bad[illegible], not to break off the eyes. It spoils them for use, and they will not pass among the heathen for coin."

.."Patrick," said a judge, "what do you say to the charge—are you guilty or not guilty?" "Faith, that is difficult for your honor to tell, but please myself. Wait till I hear the evidence."

THE LUMBER TRADE.

From the Quebec Chronicle, November 4.

We have received from the Crown Lands Department a copy of the "Report of the Superintendent of Colleges on the Lumber trade," a pamphlet of some fifty pages, compiled from notes collected by Mr. Quinn on his recent visit to Europe. The Superintendent of Colleges went across the Atlantic, it will be remembered, for the purpose of convincing the Trade in England of the fallacy and injustice to us of buying waney timber from us by string measurement—of presenting to Chambers of Commerce in England and on the Continent, boxes containing specimens of Canadian woods—and of extending our trade with other countries than Great Britain by giving information to the Boards of Trade and the principal merchants as to the price of timber here, its quality and the quantity which can be produced. In some, if not in all these objects, he appears to have been highly successful.

With regard to the string measurement of waney timber, it is evident that to square the quarter girth of a stick and multiply by the length, will not give its cubic contents. If the stick be waney or octagonal, it will give less than its real contents. If it be oblong in section, it will give more. We are not sorry and then to hear that at Liverpool, Glasgow, Dublin, Hull, Aberdeen, Leith, London, Bristol, &c., the merchants were easily convinced of the inaccuracy of this method of measurement. Whether they will adopt the simple rule practised here, is another consideration. If it seems likely, and we think it is, it would be worth a little persistence on our part to bring about the change. Waney timber is absolutely wanted for several purposes. Great Britain will take, let us say, 4,000,000 feet per annum. But up to the 31st of last October, there has been no less than 6 300,00 0 feet measured at this port—we give the figures on authority—and it necessarily follows that, the market being overstocked, buyers can make their own terms and buy by string measure or any other measure they may please to select, however disadvantageous to the sellers it may be. The truth is that the advice given in another column by "H. M."—a gentleman whose initials are well known to the Trade—ought to be attended to. His recommendation not to make one stick of waney timber next season ought to be to some extent acted upon, although, let us say, we do not concur with him in the suggestion that all Board Timber should be manufactured up to the square. Our forests are not inexhaustable, and since the consumption of wood in the European countries, for railway purposes, shipping, building, &c., is increasing so fast that the value of lumber of all kinds must be doubled ere many years, we should advise those who have fine groves adapted for Board Timber to wait a year until they can sell waney sticks well, rather than spoil the best part of the wood by dressing everything to the square, a wasteful practice which we have only abandoned to any extent these two years and ought not to take to again so soon.

The most interesting portion of Mr Quinn's report to us, is that which treats of his proceedings in France and Germany. He seems to have been furnished with all the necessary letters of introduction—from His Excellency the Governor General to Lord Cowley, our Ambassador at Paris, and the British Minister at Berlin and Stockholm; from the French Consul, Monsieur le Baron Gauldree Boilleau, to the proper men in France, &c.,—so that his way was materially smoothed. He seems to think that there is an opening for a considerable trade at all the ports he visited. The rates of freight from the Baltic to the North of France are of course much lower than from the St. Lawrence, and the cost of manufacturing lumber is not so great there as here, owing to the cheapness of labor, but there are nevertheless many descriptions of lumber produced in Canada which are not to be had in the North of Europe at all, and among the kinds of our timber that are particularly wanted, Mr. Quinn specifies yellow pine, long and large red pine, rock elm, tamarac, oak, ash, &c. We will not follow Mr. Quinn in his travels now—we presume that in a few weeks his pamphlet will be pretty generally distributed among those interested—but we may state that, since his visit to the continent, and, in most cases, as the immediate consequence of it, cargoes of lumber have been ordered and dispatched from Quebec to Bremen to Germany, Antwerp in Belgium, and Dieppe, Havre, Honfleur, Nantes, Bordeaux, Montpellier, Cette, Marseilles and Toulon in France. Mr. Quinn records it as his sincere conviction "that these are only the introduction to an extended trade with these countries—the advantages arising from which will be felt in this colony in due course." We have little doubt this statement is correct, for we know that houses here are making great preparations to push a trade with France, and we believe they will amass great riches by so doing.

We cannot leave off this subject without again lifting up our voice to protest in the name of common sense against the wholesale waste of forest wealth which is constantly going on. Settlement is made to be, though it ought not to be, synonymous with the destruction of valuable timber. We have seen acres upon acres of what were once fine pineries converted into black barrens, where the charred trunks remain and will remain for years, to show how careless of their interests the first back-woodsmen were. We have seen fine black walnut trees, worth any money to the cabinet-makers even now, burned as a common brush heap. The magnificent oaks that once all round the Western country, which might have been manufactured in the best of axe, and nothing so encouraged before the manufactured from their asheries, has been late, our forest wealth, which now swells our export tables to nearly as high a figure as the produce of our fields, will soon be exhausted. Twenty more years and it will have dwindled to very little. Fifty, and we shall think rather of planting our forests afresh than of preserving them. It is only by the newspapers referring to this subject that a salutary change in the habits of our people can be brought about. We beg of our contemporaries therefore to take up the subject, and teach the people no longer to regard trees as their natural enemies.

We may also state that the quantity of square timber measured, to the same date, was as less than 15,606,000 ft.

DEATH OF THE QUEEN OF MADAGASCAR.

The Moniteur de l'Armee of Paris publishes a letter from Reunion, announcing the death of the Queen of Madagascar, on August 18. Her son Rakoto had been proclaimed King, after the murder of his cousin, the competitor for the throne, and of the Minister who was the chief of the old Malagache party. The same letter adds that Rakoto, before his accession had formally demanded the French protectorate.—The majority of the French inhabitants had presented their congratulations to the King. The country is entirely tranquil. Despatches were received in Paris on the 7th of September, bringing later intelligence from Madagascar. Since the death of the Queen, and the short struggle in which her nephew was killed, the utmost tranquility has prevailed in the island. The foreigners established in the country intended to wear mourning for a month, and the ships in the harbor of Tamatave hoisted their flags at half-mast for three days. The body of the late Queen was embalmed, and the King, her son, remained by it in prayer for six days, according to custom. The King, since he began to attend to public business, has received numerous deputations of Europeans, whom he addressed, in the most liberal and reassuring manner. Since the death of the Queen the intercourse between Reunion and Madagascar had revived, and at the date of the despatches, was very active.

THE COTTON STATES.

From the Dundee Advertiser.

The friends of the American planters put forward various statements and proposals in behalf of that great nigger-driving Confederacy with which they sympathize. In the way of statement they try to frighten, in the way of proposals they endeavour to befool the people. We are told—not in plain words, but in effect—that our Queen's throne is built of cotton; that the people's loyalty is all cotton; that cotton forms the food of the masses, and that if we would prevent famine, insurrection, revolution, we must have cotton, and leave it, too, from the Confederate States. According to these people, the want of cotton will be the "Great Tribulation." The people who kindly tell us so much do not leave us to our fears, but considerably point us to a way of escape. Their first proposal is, that we straightway refuse to recognize the blockade; the second, that we straightway take measures to break the blockade.—This plan of action is advised, for the reason that it will gain us cotton, and with it the goodwill of the Confederates. Admirably plain all this, is it not? Think of the advantages of so simple a measure—Manchester working full time, calico down, the "coming tribulation" postponed, night-gowns cheaper, insurrection averted, the Queen's throne preserved, and the drapers advancing the millenium just so much nearer as it can be brought by the cheapening of prints a full penny per yard. Pity to have to mention any drawback to so nice a plan of operations. The first trifling objection is, that to ignore the blockade means war; the second small objection is, that to break through it means war, and war on such a scale, too, that the gold it would cost might ballast the cotton ships, and the blood spilled over it might suffice to dye crimson all the cotton we should gain by it. The forcible opening of the Southern ports involves the closing of the Northern ones against our trade. Shall we act on this sage counsel? Shall we throw away the bird in our hand for the chance of getting the one that chirps to us from the bush? Shall we fight eighteen millions of people in order that we may thereafter freely trade with eight millions? There are other hindrances. It may be a matter of regret (to some it is matter of regret) that there is no such thing as going hand-in-hand with the devil without the judicious use of a pair of tongs. Now the devil of American slavery is, in this respect, as hot as any of the sulphurous brood to which he belongs; where then, are the tongs with which a nation of anti-slavery people shall take his hand and not be seared with his grasp? The planter is proud, passionate, fiery; his blood burns with intolerance; how then, shall we when we have won his good-will, contrive to keep it? Must we nationally say our prayers backwards at his shrine? Must we kiss his whip and say the savour of blood on its thongs is sweet to us? must we bless his deep-mouthed bloodhound? must we, when the people of Charleston imprison British subjects of color, and authoritively re-open the slave trade with Africa, bid our preventive squadron join in the slave business, while we at home learn to clap our hands over it as a Christian institution, providentially provided to bring heathen blacks to a knowledge of the nature of Christian whips? There is nothing far-fetched about these questions. Before the war broke out, the Charleston Mercury, the Mobile Register, the Charleston Standard, and several other Southern organs were boldly advocating the re-opening of the slave trade. This slave trade question is allowed to be dormant in the face of the war (it is not politic for the Confederates to discuss it just now), but let the South be victorious, and the question between negroes at $1 000, and negroes at $200, and between land worth only $6 under a scarcity of blacks, and land at $30 under a glut of colored laborers, will once more force itself to the front. Let secessionism triumph, and we shall soon discover how quick the planters will be to take umbrage at our preventative squadron, and to bid us not only respect their look, but to taste it and avow that it is good. Are we prepared for this? Putting in the one scale the good-will of the South, and in the other our respect for freedom, are we ready to recall our squadron, recant our principles, and join the Southerners in brokering that the negro is only a kind of a heirless gorilla—that the over-sea slave trade is a humanizing and Christianizing institution—and that, even if the negro be a man, there is no wrong in making property of him? Let us front the future, and ask ourselves whether we are ready to raise afresh this sickly slave fiend, and whether, in order to raise it, we will trample upon our principles, burn our gospel of freedom, and say our political prayers backwards? Let us considers the price and the price. The price is the cordial good-will of a decaying and self-consuming slave interest; the price, Africa turned into Dahomeyanism, the sea made into one broad horrid Algiers, the worst of thieves, and Cuba's interest of the chaining up cheap laborers can be replenished, would their which they of the Southern States. Our duty maintain a liquided neutrality, and our interest is also on the side of duty. We must look to our own magnificent possessions in the East for cotton. In India, cotton lies for want of roads whereon to move it to the coast. Let us, then, by all means, develop a trade in which the millions paid for raw material will return to us. Let us cultivate a connection in which no hostile tariffs can be levelled at our manufactures by those who largely depend on our money. Any ignoring of the blockade, or other interference in American affairs, is not to be thought of. The permanent friendship of the South we cannot purchase except by an open moral debasement; and any temporary friendship secured by our intervention would procure us the hatred of the whole North, and the contempt of all lovers of freedom throughout the world. It would be bad enough to force on a war with the North; it would be far worse to do so by means which would proclaim to people of every nation and tongue that we are unable to bear up against a slackness in a particular branch of business; and that, whenever profit and principle come into collision, we are inclined to surrender our professions, and ourselves to the service of Mammon. Let us keep our broom.

THE DANGERS OF THE NIAGARA RIVER.

From the London Free Press.

Incidents are constantly occurring which illustrate the dangers of the navigation on and near the Niagara river. On Sunday, the 3rd instant, at 6 p.m., two scows, the Hotspur and the Atlantic, were being towed down by a small tug from Port Robinson, bound to Chippewa Creek. A very strong current was running at the time, and when trying to tie up at Chippewa dock, the lines thrown out failed to check their speed, and they passed on at a rapid rate to the Swing Bridge. This they struck, one of them carrying away a 2-inch iron stay-bar, and thus unchecked, got into the Niagara River, and down over the rapids. The Hotspur had on board 4,200 bushels of barley, and 200 barrels of flour; the Atlantic was freighted with 120,000 feet of lumber—the total value of the cargoes being about $6,000.

The Hotspur went directly over the Niagara Falls, and the people below there have been engaged in picking up the barrels of flour which passed safely through the great watery ordeal. On board the Hotspur was a horse, which, seeing its danger, managed to leap out, and was afterwards found quietly grazing on a small island situated about 150 feet above the Falls, having a piece of scantling attached to its halter. The animal had no scratches on it to indicate the perilous passage it had made, which is extraordinary enough, seeing that it must have gone some distance over the rocks which lie among the rapids. The men on the Hotspur jumped off as it was going under the bridge, and the wife of the Captain, and two men who were in the Atlantic, were rescued by small boats, which put off to their relief after the scow had got fairly out in the Niagara River. This last, the Atlantic, did not go over the Falls, but, as has been the case with many other boats, part of it lodged on a small island in the terrible stream, together with a portion of her cargo, which will be recovered.

Considerable blame is attached to the captain of the tug, in this matter. The Chippewa creek is about 200 feet wide, and had the captain been alive to his duty, he might have prevented the loss. Great excitement prevailed in the neighborhood, along the shore, as the catastrophe took place, and it is fortunate that sufficient help was at hand to save the persons on the scows, who could not, like the horse, have saved themselves.

SUICIDE OF VISCOUNT FORTH.

The suicide of the Viscount Forth occurred at Gloucester, England, on October 8th. The late viscount was the only son of the Earl of Perth, and was born at Naples in 1834. A few months, his name figured conspicuously in a divorce case, in which some sad revelations of the deceased nobleman's habits of life were disclosed by the Viscountess Forth, in her examination before Sir Cresswell Cresswell. The deceased nobleman came to Glouchester in July last, and took up his abode at the Spa Hotel, under the name of Captain Drummond. He was accompanied by a lady of about his own age, who passed as Mrs. Drummond. They appear to have lived quietly and frequently drove out; the lady always holding the "ribbons." On September 19th the lady gave birth to a child, but afterwards became very ill, and was attended by Drs. Evans and Greaves.—Their skill, however, proved of no avail, for she expired at five o'clock of the morning of October 8th. The deceased nobleman was with her at the time of her death; he was very much grieved and wept bitterly. Soon afterwards he commenced drinking brandy, and appeared like a madman. In this distracted state he continued for several hours, after which he commenced picking his own and deceased lady's clothes, and in doing so he took a small piece of paper up, saying: "This belongs to me." He then left that room (in which were the nurse and landlady) and then proceeded to another opposite, followed by the nurse, whose suspicions were excited by his conduct. He asked what was the matter, at the same time putting a bottle to his mouth. The nurse exclaimed, "Good God, he has got hold of the laudanum bottle." The landlady seized the bottle and succeeded in wrestling it from him, but not until he had drank nearly half. He said, "It was only a little port wine," and descended to the sitting-room. A doctor was sent for and soon arrived; and found his lordship walking up and down the room, and was just in time to prevent him cutting his throat with a knife. The deceased nobleman continued to walk up and down the room until at length he exclaimed, "Oh, how funny I feel!" and became insensible. The stomach pump was used and also an electro-magnetic battery to the nerves, &c., but the deceased never recovered consciousness, and died in the evening. During the lady's illness he confined himself almost wholly to her room, and waited upon her night and day. His brain suffered immensely from his excesses and confinement. The cerebellum was much softened, and thereby self-control was lost. The jury returned a verdict that Lord Forth died from poison taken while laboring under temporary insanity. The unfortunate Lord Forth was the last survivor of the heroic house of Drummond, Earls of Perth, famed in many ages and several countries for romantic valour and dissitere tedness, and on whose escutcheon there never was a stain until the late recreant son of a still gallant living sire was carried out of the trenches of Sebastopol a paralyzed coward, whom a Scotch sergeant was with difficulty prevented from shooting so as to conceal the disgrace from the French. The lady who has been living with him (or rather whom Lord Forth had been living with, and whose death in childbed overthrew the little reason he had left) was the only daughter and heiress of a magistrate for the county of Hereford, residing near Leominster. When aged 20 she fell to the seductive will of a scion of a noble house, and had two children, who are now living with her father. Subsequently she appeared to have become penitent; and after a time she was married to a man named Lloyd, by whom it is said she has two more children; who are also living with her father. Lloyd was in debt, and having married a lady of property, he was sued by his creditors, and found his way to the Queen's Bench, where Lord Forth had also found a temporary habitation. Mrs. Lloyd visited her husband in the Bench, an intimacy sprang up between her and Lord Forth, and on his liberation they joined company and have lived together ever since. Mrs. Lloyd's attachment was a species of infatuation, for Lord Forth's manner was so repulsive on his appearance was unprepossessing. The cousins of Mrs. Lloyd are to be taken to the family vault for interment. At the inquest the surgeon said her death was attributable to "natural causes apart from her confinement." Those "natural causes" are said to have been intemperance. She was at the time of her death only twenty-eight years of age. The Earl of Perth, it is said, has directed that Lord Forth shall be "decently interred" in Gloucester.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Intelligent Lad Wanted.
Public Notice—Geo. Reid.
Notice—Gen. Howden.
Maclear's Almanac—T. Mennies.

The Examiner.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1861.

THE COTTON GORGON.

Had any editor stated, twelve months ago, that before half a year had elapsed the Northern and Southern States of the American Union would have half a million of men in hostile array against each other, he would have been pronounced a mad-man. If, after making a then so seemingly improbable prediction, he should have gone on to state that when the Federal Government was engaged in putting down this most monstrous and wicked rebellion—a rebellion based upon a strata of selfish passion and disgraceful tyranny, designed to make African Slavery the chief corner stone of a Confederation of fifteen States—the free Province of Canada should find party presses so lost to all self-respect as to justify the South in her wickedness, he would have been assuredly regarded as a fit subject of a commision de lunatico inquirendo.

Such a prophecy, however, had it been made, would have been only strictly true. Disunion had often been foretold by Northern and Southern ultraists; but civil war—armies of such magnitude—were never in the dreams of those who distrusted the perpetuity of the Union. The struggle is no longer a matter for flippant jests; even Bull's Run hath ceased to be a laughing matter. Comedy has retired, and true British hearts watch the tragedy as an Edinburgh audience might have regarded Macbeth when the elder Kean essayed the role. Especially may not Canada survey this contest with apathy, when in the pages of history her interests will be found so closely entwined with those States who are now wrestling and writhing in the coils of a snake whose breath is as pestilential as that of the serpent Sinbad fled from in the sepulchre of the Tartar King. Wisely taken as the course of our Home Government is, in enjoining neutrality, there can be no question of the right of the people of Great Britain and Canada to give the United States the moral support of public opinion, in this their hour of trial. Indeed, there can be no doubt that the people of this country, where intolerance and oppression are as contrary to public opinion as they are to British law, at heart sympathize with the north in this their hour of need—despite the machinations of such politicians as sway the columns of the Toronto Leader, whose chief writer (during Mr. Lindsay's illness) was for years the sub-editor of the Washington organ of the administration of ex-President Buchanan.

We do not wish to go out of our way to attack an individual; but as an indication of the feeling in our own midst, we may mention that the notorious secessionist, Mr. Loseridge, of Texas, could not get a dozen to hear his lecture in our Town the other night in favor of treason to the North.—That it was no hostility to him, but to treason, was proven by the numbers that called on him, as a phrenologist. Not one, with his well-known ability as a speaker, would bear him libel the Union under which he was born.

What possible interest can Canada have with the South? What trade has she with the new Dahomey. The Reciprocity Treaty has been of immense benefit to our people, and is calculated to build up the trade of the Upper Province. As regards the absurd outcry of the hostility of the North to England and to Canada, how has it arisen? What foundation is there for the allegation? Nothing but the ravings of the New York Herald, and a paper in Canada scarcely less mendacious, and the frothy articles of such imbecile village presses, on either side, as follow in their wake. The great mass of the American people North are friendly to Canada, not only from topographical contiguity, but from trade, and not unfrequently intermarriage. Thousands of Americans reside, hold property, and do business in Canada; and tens of thousands of Canadians are citizens of the American Union. With the South, on the contrary, we have no commerce, nor neighborhood; and in blood and in feeling the Southern people are far less in consonance with ourselves, than the sturdy hard-working farmers of New York or Michigan. Canada, which could not be turned into slave-hunting territory to please Southern task-masters, has ever been viewed with an evil eye, by the population of the aristocratic South; and "mongrels," "nigger-thieves," and "cattle," have been only a few of the obliging epithets to which we have been treated by the Slave oligarchy in De Bow's infamous New Orleans Review.

Our trade, especially in the great export of lumber, is suffering severely under the pressure of financial embarrassment occasioned by this war. In mere interest, of course, peace is desirable; viewing the question in this solely mercantile point, how does the case stand? Is the North more likely to conquer the South? or is the South more reasonably to be expected to subjugate her sister? It would seem that no one not biassed with prejudices could hesitate an answer, when the disparity not only in wealth and numbers, but in the character of the people, is considered. When, in history, was a northern land overrun by a southern people? Did the Romans overrun the Gothic? or did the Vandals descend on Rome?

It is entirely true that in the beginning the rulers of Secessia had some factitious advantages over the people they hate. Treason had been stalking openly in broad-daylight, for the past thirty years, and was better prepared for a bold stroke at first. Utterly unscrupulous, governed by passion, and inured to opposition and the control of reason, it was natural, when it fell into power, that the rattlesnake-flag should win many victories.

But the North is gaining slowly and steadily advantages which must tell on so selfish a people as those of the sunny South. The ideal Southerner and the ideal man are quite dissimilar. Under his grave yet showy exterior, lurks a cold and selfish heart, and his generosity is more theatrical than real. Living posthumously on his plantation eight months of the year, for fourmonth he squanders a portion of his income, derived from the sweat of his slaves, in gambling, drinking and immoralities. As to relative purity and virtue, ask any backman at Niagara who it is, North man or Southern, that is the better patron of questionable places. Look for a moment at the slaves who are nearly white that sometimes escape to our shores, and let any sensible man justify a secession avowedly based on the perpetuity and extension of so cursed an institution!

The great Cotton Gorgon is, however, the last argument of such presses as sympathize with Secessia in her iniquities.—One could almost wish such wiseacres were in the South to-day. Perhaps a little extended acquaintance with Southern hospitality might open the eyes of these Canadian pro-Slaveryites, as few in numbers as contemptible in abilities.

Too long has the world been tempted by cupidity to tolerate the overbearing insolence of Southern Slavocracy. Raising an article of universal consumption, it has presumed on the toleration of Christendom long enough. India, Persia, Algeria, Turkey—aye, even Arabia and Egypt are increasing their productive vigor, and though manufacturers and operatives may have to practice frugality and self-denial for a season, the end will be the emancipation of the conscience of the civilized world from the Cotton Gorgon, to whose bestial features it has bowed quite long enough. Slavery and Cotton supremacy will go out together, no matter how the Federal Government may, from motives of expediency, for a time tolerate the institution by returning slaves to loyal masters. The end of the war means abolitionism, and the march of events will carry the sword in one hand and emancipation in the other. If Slavery and the Cotton Gorgon fall together neither will find any poor enough to do them reverence in Canada—not even the meanest sheet printed in the interest of the Ministry.

ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY.

The Annual business meeting of the above society was held at the American Hotel last night, D. Sutherland Esq., in the chair. After preliminary business the officers were elected for the ensuing year, as follows:—

President,—Donald Sutherland, Esq.
1st Vice-President,—L. Glover, Esq.
2nd Vice- " —C. Cameron, Esq
3rd Vice- " —J. Moffat, Esq.
Treasurer—Mr. Wm. Arnott.
Secretary—Mr. Wm. Smith.
Members of the Executive Committee. Messrs. Andrew Miller, James Menzies, John Macmillan, Robert Patterson, Alex. Stewart, Thomas Johnstone, James Renfrew, James Johnston, Jr., Alex'r. Smith, Malcolm McKellar, W. A. Scott, John Thomson, Duncan McNaughton.

ANNUAL REPORT.

Peterboro', Nov. 13, 1861.

GENTLEMEN,—In submitting the Third Annual Report of the transactions of the St. Andrew's Society of the Town and County of Peterborough, your Committee, notwithstanding the calls for assistance which have from time to time been made on them, have to congratulate you on the favorable state of the Society's Finances, at the close of another year.—They, at the same time, have the satisfaction of thinking that several really deserving objects of charity have been assisted from the funds of the Society, and that thus far they have been enabled to carry out one of the principal objects for which the Society was originally organized, while some applications which your committee did not consider worthy of assistance were refused.—The following is the statement of income and expenditure of the Society:—

INCOME.

Balance last Annual Meeting.....	$36 35
Fees from members, ...	44 00
	$80 35

EXPENDITURE.

Paid in Charities, ...	$31 50
Advertising and Printing, ...	3 45
	$34 95

Leaving a balance on hand of $45 40

Not to take up the time of this meeting by enumerating all the circumstances under which relief was granted, we may state briefly that six persons were assisted from the funds of the Society.

Your Committee cannot close their Report without alluding to the loss which the Society sustained during the year in the death of their respected President, Augustus Sawers, Esq.,—a gentleman, we feel confident in saying, respected by all the members of this Society, and one whose heart and money were ever ready to relieve the wants of those in distress.

ROBERT INNES,
Secretary.

A deputation was appointed to wait on Rev. Mr. Cameron for the purpose of securing his assent to preach the annual sermon on St. Andrew's eve, 29th inst.

The meeting adjourned till Monday night next, at the same time and place, when the manner of celebrating St. Andrew's Day will be decided on.

Loss of the "North Briton."

It is with much regret that we announce the loss of another splendid vessel belonging to the Montreal line of Ocean Steamships.

The North Briton sailed from Quebec on Saturday, the 2nd inst., and on the evening of Tuesday, the 5th, she struck on a reef near one of the Mingan Islands, to the west of Anticosti, and became a total wreck. It was dark, and a heavy gale was blowing at the time. The passengers were all got safely off, but the baggage was nearly all lost—only four of the mail bags were saved.

The passengers were taken on board a brig for the purpose, it is believed, of intercepting the steamer Anglo-Saxon, which sailed from Quebec on the 9th inst., and are probably on their way to Liverpool.

Among the passengers were Sir Allan McNabb, and Hon. P. M. Vankoughnet.

The North Briton is the fifth vessel of the Montreal line which has been lost, and it must be a cause of regret to the Province.

CHROMATROPE.—The specimens of chromatography of Mr I. Bates are worth inspecting, and for purposes anything ever seen in this part of the Province before. The means by which the pen to form the wonderful curves, elliptics, squares and ovals, displayed in some of their specimens, has "a mystic kind.—We can sincerely recommend him to the public whenever he may go. Mr. Bates teaches a class of about 60 daily, in the Union School, and, we believe, gives universal satisfaction to his pupils.

THE CIVIL WAR.

There is little of importance to add respecting the war. We have news of an engagement near Belmont, in the State of Missouri, in which the Federalists lost heavily in men. We have also a report that the great Naval Expedition had effected a landing at Port Royal, between Charleston and Savannah, but no particulars as to their operations. We cannot see a reason for their landing at this point, but their object in doing so will soon become apparent.

☞ Maclear's Canadian Almanac and Repository of useful knowledge, for the year 1862 has been laid on our table by Mr. T. Mennies. This number is fully up to the former issues, and its contents are valuable to all for its references, calculations, and facts astronomical, departmental, ecclesiastical, educational and financial; in fine it is a statistical multum in parvo, and no person should be without it. It is sold by Mr. Mennies at 12½ cents.

☞ A correspondent writes us expressing surprise that two accidents which recently occurred, one on Stony Lake, and the other in the Township of Smith, were not chronicled in our paper. We need only answer that our correspondent's "surprise" was the first intimation we had of the occurrences. The editor of a newspaper is no more omnipresent than any other mortal, and if persons like our correspondent will not report circumstances which come under their notice, how is it to be expected that we can publish them.—Our correspondent's complaint brings to our mind an anecdote of a farmer in the West, and a certain editor. A man had been found dead on the said farmer's premises, and when the body was found it was kept quietly awaiting the inquest. The editor's paper was issued next morning, and no notice of the body's having been found appeared therein. The farmer met the editor, and with an air of triumph began to tell him that his paper was not worth reading, because it did not tell the news that happened "right to hum."

Many persons are not unlike the Western farmer: if they know a piece of news, they will keep it to themselves till they see the newspaper and then turn and rail the editor for not publishing "the news."

FALL SHOW.

At the Seventh Annual Fall Show of the Smith, Harvey and Ennismore Branch Agricultural Society, held in Bridgen orth, on Tuesday, the 15th October, the following premiums were awarded:

HORSES.

Best span Team Horses—John Fowler, 1st prize; James Davidson, 2nd do.
Carriage Horses—John Fowler, first prize; Isaac Garbutt, 2nd do.
Brood Mare and Foal—John Fowler, 1st prize; A Rosch rough, 2nd do.
Two year old Colt—W McKee, first prize; E Fitzgerald, 2nd do.
One year old Colt—John Archer, first prize; John McKee, 2nd do.

CATTLE.

Aged Bull—James Northy, 1st prize; Two year old Bull—Isaac Garbutt, first prize.
One year old Bull—Lewis Davies, first prize.
Milch Cow—M P Dean, 1st prize; G. Scott, 2nd do.
Two year old Heifer—Matthew Waram, 1st prize; Thomas Steel, 2nd do.
One year old Heifer—Mathew Waram, 1st prize; Thomas Steele, 2nd do.

SHEEP.

Aged Ram—Lewis Davies, 1st prize; J Sweeting, 2nd do.
Shearling Ram—Thos Mann, 1st prize; E Fitzgerald, 2nd do.
Tup Lamb—Lewis Davies, 1st prize; Charles Taylor, 2nd do.
Ewe and her Lamb—Lewis Davies, 1st prize; Isaac Garbutt, 2nd do.
Shearling Ewes—L. Davies, 1st prize; E Mann, 2nd do.
Ewe Lambs—Lewis Davies, 1st prize; E Mann, 2nd do.

PIGS.

Boar—Samuel Mannerg, 1st prize; Jas Mann, 2nd do.
Breeding Sow—James Mann, 1st prize; W Treanwn, 2nd do.

GRAIN.

Winter Wheat—Thos Young, 1st prize; Thos. Tindle, 2nd do.
Spring Wheat—C Taylor, 1st prize;

VEGETABLES.

Carrots—A Roseborough, 1st prize; J. Walton, 2nd do; T Tindly, 3rd do.
Turnips—John Walton, 1st prize; Geo Fitzgerald, 2nd do; Alex. Roseborough, 3rd do.

DAIRY PRODUCTS.

Butter—James Mann, 1st prize; James B McEwen, 2nd do; T Tindle, 3rd do.
Cheese—Lewis Davies, 1st prize; S. Manning, 2nd do.

THE RAILWAY QUESTION AND THE MUNICIPAL ELECTION.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

SIR,—It is an old, and I may add, a true saying, that what is everybody's business is nobody's business. And this saying holds good as regards the duty of the people in reference to our railroad interest. When the subject was brought upon them last summer, they interested themselves in it enough to keep their ground and to save the mortgage; but from that day to this the matter has been dropped. And thus it will go on until after the elections, when some other plan will be proposed, and so I suppose it will go on until the security is gone. And when that is gone all is gone. Let that be remembered at all events.

I told the people last summer that the course for them to pursue was to take care and elect a Council pledged to get the money. And the only way to bring this about is, to get men into the Council who, by their antecedents were known to be in favor of the, and—to use a common expression—who were "sound on the goose question!" And I mean my remarks now to include the Mayor as well as Councillors. And I say if the people do their duty at the approaching elections there will no longer be any trouble about getting the interest from the railroad. There is good value for the money, and why should it not be got? It can be had, and the only way to get it is for the people to try to unite for once, and nominate men for Mayor and Councillors whom they know to be honest, and to be relied on; men who have heretofore shown themselves true to the Town upon this matter. And I seem to me that if people would only consider how little their taxes would be, and how much money they would save every year if they would only do their duty in regard to our railway mortgage, that they would bestir themselves far more than they do. If we had this interest our taxes would not be a shilling in the pound!

I am but one among many. I am ready to co-operate with the rest if they will only do something. I would propose the election of three delegates from each ward who shall name the man for Mayor, and the three for Councillors, and then let the people put them in. This is the way, and in my opinion the only sure way to succeed. I have done all I can do in calling attention to this matter. If the rate-payers do not think it of sufficient importance to trouble themselves about it, it is their business and not mine. I think the security of one hundred and twenty thousand dollars—saying nothing of the arrearages of interest now about five thousand pounds, and the reduction of the taxes that amount—is worth looking after, and the payments of eighteen hundred pounds a year is worth the trouble of making sure of. But if anything is going to be done there is no time to lose for in about three weeks the nominations for Mayor takes place.

Your obedient servant,
E. BURNHAM.

Peterboro, Nov. 13, 1861.

For the Examiner.

LIFE ASSURANCE.—No. 2.

In one of my journeys to appoint and visit Agents for a Life Assurance Company I took my seat in a car where a certain Scotch gentleman became a fellow-passenger. He was dressed in deep mourning, but appeared singularly in good humor. Seeing that I wore a plaid scarf and plaid trousers, he jumped to the conclusion that I was "a countryman o' his," and he addressed me accordingly. The mistake, however, led to conversation, and he presently observed:

"I'm jist in for a verra good thing."

"I am happy to hear it," I replied, inquiringly.

"A friend o' mine died in ——— — a while ago," he said.

"That is not the good thing, I suppose," I added.

"No, but ye ken he left his affairs in an awfu' state o' confusion." I looked at my companion in astonishment, observing "And surely you don't call that a good thing?"

"No," he said, "but there was a widow and four wee bairns, wi' naething i' the world to look to, except the business, as far as we knew."

"Why you are speaking of misfortunes, my friend, not good things," said I.

"Wait a wee," answered the Scotsman, "I haven't told ye the worst o't; ye ken I was a creditor for goods delivered, to the tune o' three hundred pounds; that was a dreadfu' thing, was it not?"

"It was hard for you, perhaps; but there may have been others who suffered worse than you," I remarked; "but pray tell me the good thing that you spoke about."

"Weel," said my companion, "the things were announced to be sold, and we made arrangements to go over the property when what should turn up but a policy of Life insurance for £1,500!"

"That was a good thing, eh?" I responded, in answer to my friend's chuckle, and inquired the result. "Why the things are not to be sold, and the business and stock are to remain in the widow's hands, and all the debts are to be paid within six months." "That's better than ten shillings in the pound, isn't it?" "It is," I replied, at the same time enquiring of my companion, if he had ever thought of life assurance as a 'good thing' to be practiced by himself.

"Yes," he answered, but you don't understand how I am bothered for money; I would willingly insure, but I really cannot afford it."

"Don't you drink any whiskey," I asked jokingly.

"No."

"Nor malt liquor?"

"No," replied my neighbor, triumphantly, "you cannot catch me there."

"And you don't smoke?"

"No, I don't smoke either, so you can't catch me there neither."

I allowed him to enjoy his supposed victory for a few seconds, and then turned the tables on him by observing: "I have noticed that you have taken snuff eleven times since we have entered on this conversation."

"Oh, yes; but that does not cost much" argued he.

"Let us see," answered I, taking out my pencil.

My companion said that he gave more away than he took, but admitted that on an average his snuff cost him 3d per week, or £1. 14s. 8d per year.

"That is not much," said he.

"Stay a while," I replied; "there are other items to be added," and I proceeded to point that boxes lost, broken, or given away, cost him a shilling a month, or 12 shillings a year. He agreed that he required a greater number of pocket handkerchiefs than I did, and that for washing alone he paid at least 4d a week, or seventeen shillings and fourpence a year. The wear and tear of the handkerchiefs was estimated at only one penny a week, fourteen shillings and four pence a year, and a similar amount was agreed on respectively for the damage to clothes from falling of snuff, and the wear and tear of pockets from the frequent use of the box and handkerchief When the total (£4 5s. 8d) came to be seen, it was evident that the North Countryman could afford to insure his life; the conviction passed from an opinion into an act, and my railway companion effected jointly on his own and his wife's behalf for £200.

And, Mr. Editor, how many of our young men, age and married men too, who spend in useless luxuries, every year what would insure their lives for a nice little sum which would secure at their death that which would save their families from destitution, and to some extent would be answering the end of their creation, inasmuch as they would be benefiting their fellow creatures. (To be continued.)

ONE OF THE INSURED.

— Lord Palmerston discovered, the other day, that he had been sleeping, at Walmer Castle, over the magazine, containing one hundred barrels of gunpowder. His lordship has ordered its removal.

— The Duke of Manchester is engaged in preparing from his family papers a couple of volumes for the press illustrative of the history of English society from Queen Elizabeth to Queen Anne. The work is expected for the coming season.

— A dispatch from Albany states that Archbishop Hughes and Thurlow Weed, Esq., are about to leave for Europe, probably in the steamship Africa, which sails to-morrow, for the purpose of making such representations at the Courts of Great Britain and France as may counteract any tendency towards a recognition of the Southern Confederacy.

MUNICIPAL INDEBTEDNESS.

From the Cobourg Sentinel.

A meeting of the Delegates from Municipalities was held on the 12th inst., at the Globe Hotel, in this town, to consider the question of relief of Municipal indebtedness. There were present—A. A. Burnham, Esq., Mayor of Cobourg; G. Quinlan, Esquire, Mayor of Port Hope; C. Perry, Esquire, Mayor of Peterboro; — Williams, Esq., Councillor of Port Hope; Dr. Mackelcan, and J. T. Gilkison, Esq., of Hamilton.

On motion of Mr. Williams, the Mayor of Cobourg was called to the chair. The following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Moved by the Mayor of Port Hope, seconded by the Mayor of Peterboro', and

Resolved,—"That this meeting approve of the views set forth in the Resolutions adopted at the Meeting of Municipal Delegates held in Toronto on the 5th inst., so far as they relate to the Government assuming the indebtedness of the various Municipalities for the amount expended by them on Railways, on their surrendering all their interests in those roads to the Government."

The following are the resolutions referred to in the above:

1. "That whereas the various Municipalities in Upper Canada which have borrowed either from the Municipal Loan Fund, or on their own credit, for railway purposes only, were induced to do so by the action of the Legislature, and have thereby become embarrassed by liabilities incurred for general rather than local purposes—be it therefore

1. Resolved,—"That a united effort be made to press upon the Legislature the justice, as well as the necessity, of assuming the whole amount as a Prov

REPLIES OF LORD MONCK.

At the close of the ceremony of swearing in Lord Monck a Congratulat ry Address was presented to him by the Mayor and Council Magistrates of Quebec. Lady Monck and the other members of His Lordship's family were present. The following are His Excellency's replies to the two Addresses:

"Mr. Mayor and Gentlemen:

"I thank you most heartily for the address of welcome which you have presented to me on my arrival to assume the Government of this important Province.

"It is a source of gratification to me to think that, in performing the duties of my office, I shall have to apply principles of policy and adopt practices of administration with which I have been familiar in the mother country, and I rejoice to receive from you the assurance of your desire to co-operate cordially with me in the exercise of my official functions.

"It will afford me much pleasure to convey to Lady Monck the kind expression of welcome you have used toward her; and on her part and that of other members of my family, I beg you to accept my sincere thanks."

"Gentlemen:

"Accept my grateful thanks for the welcome you have given me on my arrival in your ancient city.

"I am much gratified to receive from a source so trustworthy as yourselves an assurance of the absence of crime which happily prevails amongst the people of this Province, and I trust that the duties with which you are charged by the constitution may continue as little onerous as they have hitherto proved.

"I shall not fail to convey to Lady Monck the kind expressions of welcome you have used towards her and the other members of my family, and your good wishes for the happiness of our period of residence among you."

BRITISH AND FRENCH ARMIES.

France has a standing army of 400,000 men and 85,000 horses. England and her colonies 218,000 men. According to recent official statements the total land forces of France amounts to 200,000 of all ranks and 16,687 enfans de troupe, independently of troops in French colonies (besides Algeria), whose numbers are not given, but whose cost is charged to the colony and colonial budget, and 12,967 men, 662 horses in the Garde de Paris, including all ranks, according to arms in France and Algeria, and comparing them with a similar classification of the English forces, there would be:—

	France and Algeria.	England and Colonies.	England, Colonies and India.
Staff....	4,697	1,222	1,222
Infantry..	259,841	101,230	150,128
Cavalry..	76,903	13,194	18,2 0
Artillery.	37,873	22,393	28,52
Engineers	6,384	4,535	4,535
Train...	5,655	1,900	1,900
Administrative Services	8,737	1,561	1,561
Indian depots in England	....	....	6,633
Total....	400,705	146,044	212,773
Horses.	85,705	8,262	21,931

The French army expenses are equal to $100,000,000, while that of England is officially stated at $73,000,000.

INUNDATION IN FRANCE.

300 LIVES LOST.

The Gazette du Midi publishes an account of a terrific accident, which occurred on Sunday afternoon, October 13, in a coal mine at Besseges, in the Gard. The mine having been flooded by the late rains, a land slip took place, and more than 300 men were either smothered or drowned. The prefect of the Gard, M. Dulimbert, immediately opened a subscription for the relief of the numerous families who are reduced to a state of indigence by the death of their husbands and sons. Public rumor casts the blame on the engineers, but the fact is that a waterspout burst, and caused a torrent, which rushed into the mine with such violence and rapidity that even the overseers had not time to save themselves. An explosion of gas took place by which a portion of the mine had been blown up.

The telegraphic despatches from Montpellier state every effort is being made to rescue the workmen; and that it is hoped that by the evening of the 14th communication would be established with some of the still living sufferers. But more detailed accounts from the scene of the catastrophe, given in the Messager du Midi, are much less hopeful than the semi-official despatches. Though every means of rescuing the victims have been taken, there is but little probability of saving the lives of those who are buried in the mine. The utmost that can be done is to bring the dead bodies to the surface. The number of workmen missing on the call of the roll, and considered as killed by the accident, is nearly 300.

Galignani of Thursday says:—"The works for the rescue of the unfortunate workmen, if alive, are being carried on with unwearied perseverance. The body of one man has been found near the surface, at the spot where the water burst in. A sounding lead was afterwards let down, which showed the depth of water in the mine to be 182 metres. At nine o'clock on the evening of the 12th, the workmen employed in excavating a trench to get into one of the adits, thought they heard a noise of some one within, and they continued their labor with increased activity. By midnight they had advanced six metres, and no further sound was heard. On the morning of the 14th, it was found that some men, probably three in number, were alive in a gallery twenty metres below where the men were digging, and a pit was immediately commenced in that direction, but, in consequence of the difficulties attendant on the operation, the work could advance but slowly. In the night of the 14th, voices of the imprisoned workmen could be distinctly heard, and on being called to they replied, "There are four of us here and we are all well." At 11 o'clock in the morning of the 15th there was still about two metres to cut through before they could be reached.

— Townsend Harris has not home his resignation as American Minister in Japan. R. H. Pruyn, of Albany, has been appointed to succeed him.

— Star gazers say the period from the 11th to the 16th of November will prove ably be distinguished by remarkable numbers and displays of meteors.

— One of the daughters of Governor Douglas, of Vancouver Island, eloped and was married at Port Townsend on the 14th of September, to Charles Good, of Victoria.

— The British Government is now building 26 steamvessels, to carry 1,266 guns. Their vessels represent an aggregate of 86,256 tons, and their engines represent a horse-power of 10,900.

— The Bishop Stratford Observer states that a message has just taken place in that vicinity, between a young gentleman twenty-two years of age, and a fair and blushing bride, of sixteen summers.

CUSTOM-HOUSE DEFALCATION.

A report has been in circulation for the past two or three days, that a rather extensive defalcation had taken place in the Custom-House here, on the part of Mr. D. C. O'Brien, the Collector. Ascertaining to the information we have received, and which we believe can be relied upon, it has been suspected for some time past that the business of the office was not conducted as it ought to be; and under this impression, Thomas Worthington, Esq., Assistant Commissioner of Excise, was directed to come to Sarnia and make an investigation into the affairs of the office. He accordingly arrived here on Monday, and at once commenced a scrutiny of the Collector's books, which has resulted—as we are informed,—in the detection of a deficiency in the returns made by him to the Department, of nearly $,700! The consequence has been that Mr O'Brien has been suspended from acting as Collector until Mr. Worthington goes to Quebec and lays the case before the Government, he having no power to do anything more than to suspend any officer guilty of any irregularity. What the Government will do remains to be seen; but if the facts are as we have stated, they certainly cannot reinstate Mr. O'Brien. As an excuse for this large deficiency, we understand Mr O'Brien says a portion of the amount is due by some of the merchants of the town, we presume for duties; but on being pressed he could only name one firm as being in this position, and that, even if correct, only to the extent of $200. So far as the Government is concerned, we presume there will be no ultimate loss, Mr. O'Brien's sureties being responsible for the deficiency. The aspect of the case, however, in a moral point of view, as far as it concerns that gentleman, is far from being fair in the meantime; and we would hope that he may be able to show,—however the deficiency may have occurred,—that there was no intention or his part to act dishonestly in the matter.—Sarnia Observer.

THE SWEARING IN OF THE NEW GOVERNOR.

The Quebec Chronicle of yesterday has the following:—"It was generally expected that his Excellency, Lord Monck, would be sworn in, yesterday morning, as Governor General of British North America. The ceremony, however, did not take place, and it has since transpired that this was owing to the fact that his Excellency's commission or patent was not ready when he sailed from Liverpool. The delay in the transmission of this document to Lord Monck arises from the fact that it had to be sent to Balmoral, where Her Majesty is staying, for the purpose of receiving the Great Seal, which is always kept near the Royal person. His Excellency, however, has letters which enable him to administer the Government of Canada, and he will therefore be sworn in, this morning, as administer, pending the arrival of his commission. The ceremony will take place at 11, a. m., by which time Sir Edmund Head will have passed the boundary line of the Province. At noon, His Excellency will receive the addresses of the City Councils and of the Magistrates of the District, at Government House. Our contemporary ought to be good authority, hailing as he does from the Seat of Government. But we may be allowed to question if anything save and except Her Majesty's letters patent can authorize the new Governor to exercise any power in Canada, seeing that General Williams is de jure Administrator of the Government, when the Governor General is absent from the Province.

THE FOOD SUPPLY OF FRANCE.

It is now ascertained that the panic caused by the deficiency in the late wheat crop is at least premature if not greatly exaggerated and that the present high price is in some measure caused by the manœuvres of interested parties. Taking the most unfavorable view of the question, there can be no want of wheat felt until May next. The following is the position of the country:—The French people consume, on an average, from one harvest to the other 80,000,000 hectolitres of wheat. Now, the most unfavorable calculations set down the produce of the late harvest at 50,000,000 hectolitres, which is sufficient for the consumption of the country for eight months. There remain 20,000,000 hectolitres to be supplied by foreign countries, which may, without difficulty, be imported at an average of 2,000,000 hectolitres a month, and at a cost of 20f. the hectolitre, exclusive of the carriage. A letter, dated Marseilles on Friday last, published in the Avenir Commercial, states that at a sale by auction held on that town last week, wheat was sold at from 17f. 50f. to 21f. the hectolitre.

— The Rev. Dr. Stevens, of St. Andrew's Church, Philadelphia, has been elected Assistant Bishop of Pennsylvania.

— Fish fell in considerable numbers on the plain Pecuan, Aguascalientes, in a rain storm on the 1st of August.

— Despatches of ten words over the Pacific Telegraph to San Francisco cost $6.53, and 53 cents for each additional word.

Special Notices.

....We have been shown a document signed by the Mayors in office of the cities of the United States and Canada, certifying to the superior excellence of Dr. Ayer's compound Extract of Sarsaparilla and to the value of all his remedies as articles of great public utility. Such evidence from such high sources bears us out triumphantly in the position we have long maints ned with regard to Dost. Ayer's Preparations, or more particularly our advertisements of them. No publishers need be more opposed than we are to the promulgation of quackery in any shape, but we knew when we began that his remedies were above any suspicion of deception—that they were about the best it is possible to produce for the cure of disease, and that they have the confidence of all communities where they are known. Not alone because the Mayors of the whole country bear us them useful to their people, but because we are rendering a substantial service to our readers in making their virtues known to them. Courier, Princeton, Ky.

....It certainly requires an article of real merit and intrinsic value to sustain itself during the stern ordeal of public experiment, and the Canadian Pain Destroyer has stood the test trial and has not been found wanting. Its astonishing efficacy in curing the diseases for which it is recommended, and its wonderful success in subduing the lingering pains of Rheumatism, and in relieving Nervous Affections entitle it to a high rank in the list of Remedies for those complaints. In cases of Burns and Scalds it has no equal.

LOOK OUT FOR YOUR THROATS!—Just in just the weather for getting a sore throat, hoarseness, cold in the lungs, &c., and one Box of Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers, sold for 25 cents by any druggist, will not only prevent such ills, but cure three ordinary ones.

Married.

In Peterboro, on Monday, 11th inst., by the Rev. Jas. Douglas, Mr. Thos. Lasslaw, Merchant, Quebec, to Miss Jane Menzies, of the Town of Peterboro.

Died.

At his residence, in Dummer, on the 6th inst., George Arthur Hill, Esq., aged 65 years.

Deceased was Clerk and Treasurer of the Township of Dummer for several years, and, we understand, the first Warden of the United Counties of Peterboro and Victoria. He was a man of the most strict accuracy in business, and until life's end drew nigh, one of his greatest cares was to fill the duties of a public office with correctness, and as he himself expressed it to a friend, not many days before his death, "that after he was gone there might be no trouble on his account." A large family and many friends are made mourners by his removal.

TORONTO MARKETS.

Wednesday, November 13, 1861.

Fall Wheat 95c a $1.
Spring Wheat 88c a 92c.
Barley 42c a 55c.
Oats 35c a 37c.

Peterboro' Markets.

Thursday, November 14, 1861.

	s.		$	c.
Flour ₱ brl.....	4	50	@	5 00
Wheat ₱ bush. fall.....	0	95	@	1 00
Spring Wheat ₱ bush.....	0	85	@	0 90
Barley ₱ bush.....	0	35	@	0 45
Oats "	0	20	@	0 21
Peas "	0	35	@	0 40
Potatoes (new).....	0	40	@	0 20
Pork ₱ cwt.....	3	50	@	4 00
Beef ₱ cwt.....	3	50	@	4 50
Butter ₱ lb.....	0	10	@	0 11
Hay ₱ ton.....	8	00	@	10 00
Hides ₱ cwt.....	4	50	@	0 00
Wood ₱ per cord.....	2	00	@	2 25

WM. CUMMING,
Market Clerk.

New Advertisements.

Wanted Immediately.

AN INTELLIGENT LAD to learn the Printing Business. Apply at the "Examiner" Office, Peterborough.
Peterboro', Nov. 14, 1861 46

PUBLIC NOTICE.

THE Corporation of the Township of Otonabee intend, on the 16th December next,

to pass a By-law to establish the following line of Road, viz:

A Road commencing on the Western limit of the allowance for Road, between the 12th and 13th Concessions of Otonabee, at the line between lots Nos. 12 and 13, and thence westerly following said line between lots 12 and 13, across the 13th, 14th, 15th and 16th Concessions; said Road to be 66 feet wide, and the described line the centre.

A Road commencing 25 feet south of the line between lots Nos. 30 and 31, on the Eastern limit of the allowance for Road, between the 1st and 2nd Concessions of Otonabee, and thence Easterly across the 1st Concession, following a line parallel with the line dividing lots numbers 70 and 71; said Road to be 40 feet wide, and the described line the centre.

GEO. READ,
Township Clerk.
Otonabee, 6th Nov., 1861. 46-4in

NOTICE.

I HEREBY give notice that from this date I will pay no debts contracted by my second son, JOHN.

GEORGE HONDEN.
Peterboro, Nov. 9, 1861. 46

MACLARS'
ALMANACS FOR 1862.

Diaries, Diaries for 1862.

THE subscriber begs leave to inform the public that he has received all his fall stock of

BOOKS, STATIONERY and ROOM PAPER,

AND WILL SELL

CHEAP FOR CASH!

as the times are hard.

THOMAS MENZIES.
Peterboro', 14th Nov., 1861. 46-3in.

TO THE INHABITANTS OF PETERBOROUGH & VICTORIA.

CASH STORE.

ROBERT JOHNSTON & SON BEG to inform the inhabitan's of Peterboro' and surrounding district, that they have bought out the stock of Mr. John Thomson, George Street, and intend opening in a few days in the store lately occupied by him, a large and well selected stock of

NEW GOODS!

Consisting of a choice stock of

Dry Goods, Groceries &c.

which they intend to sell at

VERY LOW PRICES FOR CASH!

Parties who have not made their Fall purchases will do well to give them a call and inspect their stock.

R. J. & S. N. hope that by paying strict attention to business, they may receive a share of public patronage.

Peterboro, Oct 28, 1861. 44

STRAYED.

FROM the premises of the subscriber, in Smith, about four or five months ago,

Six Head of Cattle.

1 three year old steer; dark red, a small piece of its horn broken off; 1 two year old steer, red; 1 two year old heifer, dark roan; three yearlings—1 Steer, and 2 Heifers—the Steer is white; one of the heifers is dark red, the other is red and white, mixed.

Any person leaving information of the whereabouts of the said cattle at McKellar & Cameron's, Peterboro, or with the subscriber, will be suitably rewarded.

Wm. FITZGERALD.
Smith, Nov. 5th, 1861. 46

CREDIT SALE
BY AUCTION.

THE UNDERSIGNED WILL sell by Public Auction, on Monday, 11th Nov., instant

ALL HIS

FARM STOCK & FARMING IMPLEMENTS,

at his premises on Lot 26, in the 12th Con. Otonabee, known as Downey's Corners:

1 Span of Black Mares, 1 Horse, 5 Cows, 2 Steers, three years old; 1 Heifer three years old, 1 Heifer two years old, 4 Calves 1 year old, 21 Sheep, a large quantity of Hay, Turnips and Carrots,

2 Waggons, 2 Sleighs, 2 Harrows, 2 Ploughs, 2 sets of Drags, 2 Hay-racks, 4 Rows, 1 Cultivator, Number Unknown, 1 Straw Cutter, 1 Roller and Frame, 2 Grain Bythes, 2 Hay Forks, 1 Dung Fork, 2 Potatoe Forks, Seed Box, 1 ½ bushel measure;

1 Grindling Stone, 2 logging chains, small chains, iron Wedges, Crow-bars, grass-scythe, sledge-hammers, Augers, Whiffletrees, &c., with other articles.

A. McNEIL, Auctioneer.

TERMS.—All sums under $30, Cash; over that amount twelve months credit on giving approved joint notes, or a discount of two per cent. allowed for Cash on day of sale.

☞ Sale to commence at 10 o'clock, a. m.

WALPOLE McMINDAS.
Peterboro, Nov. 5th, 1861.

Change in Business!

WM. SMITH.

(LATE CUTTER TO JOHN THOMSON, GEORGE STREET.)

BEGS to inform the public that he has opened in the

TAILORING BUSINESS,

over the late stand occupied by Mr. John Thomson, (now R. Johnston & Son,) where he trusts to merit a continuance of the patronage hitherto bestowed on the establishment.

ALL KINDS OF WORK MADE TO ORDER.

AS THE

BEST WORKMEN

only will be employed parties may rely on all orders being filled to satisfaction. Prices reasonable.

☞ Entrance by hall between R. Johnston & Son's, and R. Walton's Store and Tin-ware store.

Peterboro, Oct. 28th, 1861. 41

BUFFALO

CLOTHING STORE.

THE subscribers in returning their acknowledgments for the patronage bestowed upon them since they opened their establishment in Peterborough, would respectfully inform the public that they continue to receive constantly and keep on hand the largest and best assorted stock of

Mens' and Boys' Clothing,

AND GENTLEMEN'S

FURNISHING GOODS!

ever shown in this neighborhood, consisting of

Batterits,
Tweeds,
Broad Cloth,
Cassimeres,
Pilots,
Unions,
Doeskins,
&c., &c., &c.

The Clothing is all made up at their own establishment, in the City of Buffalo, by first class workmen, and as they manufacture themselves, they are able to sell a good article at a lower price than any other establishment in the trade.

Country Merchants, and Lumberers would do well to call and examine their stock before purchasing elsewhere, as they are able to offer superior advantages to wholesale purchasers.

☞ The Terms are strictly CASH.

S. HOFELLER & BROS.

Remember the place,—Next door to Mr. Jas. Beath, George Street.
Peterboro, Oct 17th. 1861. 44

FARM FOR SALE.

THE subscriber offers for sale his Farm, being East half of Lot No. 2, in the Township of Douro.

80 ACRES ARE CLEARED,

well fenced, and in a good state of cultivation.

THERE IS A

GOOD LOG HOUSE,

DOUBLE CEDAR BARN, [new,]

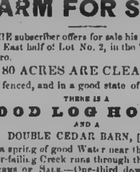
and a spring of good Water near the house. A never-failing Creek runs through the farm.

TERMS OF SALE.—One-third down; balance in three equal annual instalments.

Apply to N. Chapman, Baltimore, or to
CHRISTOPHER LEARY,
AND A. N. Monaghan.

Nov 7th, 1861.

N. B.—If not sold before the 1st of January, 1862, it will be leased for a term of years.



AXES! AXES!! AXES!!!

THE subscriber in returning thanks to the Lumbermen and others for their patronage and prompt and liberal payment, would give notice that he is hard at work making axes by hand which he will warrant to be better than can be made in Peterboro or elsewhere.

Please give him a call.

☞ Shop, east of the Bank of Montreal.

P. J. AYRES.
Peterboro, Nov 7, 1861 45

TO MILLERS

AND

GRAIN SPECULATORS!

TO LET in Ashburnham, that large Grain Storehouse, lately occupied by T. Short, Esq. Apply to

S. WOOD, Otonabee.
Nov 7th, 1861. 45

CAUTION.

I WILL be answerable for no debts contracted in my name from this date, unless by my written order.

ED. O'DONNELL.
Emiemore, Nov 7, 1861. 45

WOOD WANTED.

A FEW CORDS OF GOOD HARD-WOOD will be received by the subscriber in payment on subscriptions or account, if delivered within one month from this date.

JAS. RENFREW.
Examiner Office, Oct. 3, 1861.

ROYAL

HORSE INFIRMARY.

McDONALD STREET, PETERBORO'

W. KEITH, M. R. C. V. S.

HAVING rented Mr. Perry's Stables, (behind the Grain Store) and having fitted them with loose boxes and stalls, &c., with all the necessaries for an infirmary, for sick and lame horses, all cases brought there will receive every attention. Horses from the country can have Hay, Oats, &c., and Medicine at so much per day or week. Firing and other operations performed without throwing the animal, thereby avoiding much risk. Waggon and Cattle in the country attended to.

W. K. may be consulted any day either at Messrs. John Moffatt's, Blacksmith's, John Douglass, Blacksmith's, or at Mrs. Stewart's, George Street north, and at the infirmary Stables from 9 to 10 a. m., and from 1 to 2 p. m.

Oct 28th, 1861. 44

School Teacher Wanted.

FOR THE ASHBURNHAM SCHOOL, TERM to commence on the 2nd Wednesday in January, 1862, a Normal School Teacher, holding a 1st class certificate,

Apply to,

P. H. ARMSTRONG,
Secretary of Ashburnham F. of S. Trustees.
October 23, 1861. 43

BOARD.

A LADY RESIDING IN A CENTRAL PART of the Town will be happy to receive a few respectable Gentlemen, as Boarders. Every attention will be paid to make them comfortable. Terms moderate. For particulars apply at this office.

Peterborough, September, 1861.

LAST OFFER!

THE five remaining [ac e Lots on George Street, at the South end of the Town, belonging to the subscribers, will be sold at a bargain, by Private Sale.

Application may be made to Mr. Robert Cochrane who is now building on part of the same property, or to

J. T. HENTSORN.
Peterboro', Oct. 28, 1861. 44

AB orders promptly attended to, and repairing done on the shortest notice. A call is respectfully solicited. Shop on Hunter Street, Peterborough.

VERY CHEAP FOR CASH,

or on approved credit.

which they will sell

Ferguson & Mitchell,

Beg to call the attention of the public to their well-assorted stock of

SADDLES, HARNESS, WHIPS,

TRUNKS, VALISES, BRUSHES, &c.,

NEW GOODS.

THE Subscriber offers for sale one of the nicest lots of Goods ever offered in Peterborough.

FAMILY GROCERIES,

Teas,
Sugars,
Coffee,
Tobacco
Spices of all kinds,
Herring,
Dry Fish,
Mackeral,
Salmon,

A RICH VARIETY OF

BOOTS AND SHOES,

and the nicest assortment of

CROCKERY

ever offered in Peterborough. All of which will be sold

Very Low for Cash!

G. W. ROBINSON.
Peterboro', Sept. 18 1861. 38

FALL & WINTER GOODS!

THE subscriber is now receiving a very

LARGE SUPPLY

OF

☞ Fall and Winter Goods.

THE STOCK OF

FANCY & MILLINERY GOODS

IS NOW

VERY COMPLETE.

Good Value for Ready Money, as usual. No Second Price!

W. CLUXTON.
Sept. 25, 1861. 39

ATTENTION!

THE subscriber will commence on MONDAY 4th day NOVEMBER, and sell off his present STOCK OF

BOOTS & SHOES,

FOR CASH AND CASH ONLY!

☞ Positively no credit.

N. B.—Persons in the habit heretofore of sending in orders will please notice that I shall not accept any after this date, on account of the very LOW PRICES which I shall sell at.

J. T. STENSON.
Peterboro, Oct 29, 1861. 44

PURCHASERS OF CLOTHING

should remember the Buffalo Clothing Store next door to Mr. Jas. Beath's, George Street, where they can get a superior article at a very low price!

S. HOFELLER & BROS.
Peterboro. Oct 17th, 1861, 44

VALUABLE

TOWN PROPERTY

FOR SALE.

THE comfortable Brick Houses and lot near the business part of the Town.

THE Subscriber offers for sale those two neat and substantial built Brick Houses on Antrim street, one lot from George street. The houses are fitted up with every convenience; the partition walls are all brick. There is a good soft water cistern and spring well, sheds, &c., on the premises.

TERMS.—One half cash, the balance in three yearly instalments.

For particulars apply to

DAVID CARLISLE.
On the premises.
Peterboro, Oct 23rd, 1861. 44-3in.

THE FOUND WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING.

A perfect Antidote, Specific and Cure for

RHEUMATISM & NEURALGIA

has long been needed. After earnest and patient research, this has been triumphantly discovered, and is called

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING!

Watson's Neuralgia King reaches the source of trouble, and thoroughly cures the disease in the system. Unlike the untold number of Liniments and Embrocations which merely stimulates the surface, are but temporary in their effects, and are, at best, of doubtful virtue, it REMOVES AT THE SEAT OF THE AILMENT, EXPELS IT, ERADICATES IT, and leaves no trace behind.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING also cures GOUT AND DYSPEPSIA, in all their forms. It is now giving relief to thousands who have been suffering from these diseases, and who have tried all other remedies in vain.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING has received the highest testimonials from the highest sources in regard to its wonderful efficacy. In operation with equal success in mild and chronic cases, never failing to work out a speedy and permanent cure.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING costs but one dollar a bottle, and one than a bottle often effects the end desired.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING is the only Specific and cure for Rheumatism and Neuralgia that has ever been discovered.

Prepared by

A. I. MATHEWS,
Buffalo, N. Y., and Port Erie, C. W.
Sept. 26, 1861, 39

WILL BE SOLD AT

A SACRIFICE.

THE subscriber is compelled by circumstances to sell his House and Lot on Albert Street, on the Court House Hill, adjoining the property of Mr. Wm. Dumble. The above is one of the most delightful situations in Town, and will be sold for the

LOW PRICE OF $800!

one half to be paid down, and the remainder in two years from time of sale. Title Perfect.

JOHN KITCHEN.
Peterboro.

REDUCED RATES

FOR

ASSURANCE.

☞ Scottish Provincial ☜

INSURANCE COMPANY.

☞

THE FOLLOWING TABLE OF PREMIUMS has been framed, so as to reduce the cost of Life Assurance to the lowest point. It will be observed the Rates payable for the first Five Years are not much more than half the usual charge, while, for the remainder of life, they are still moderate.

To Assure £100 sterling, payable at Death, with profits after first five years:

Age. First 5 Years.			Remainder of Life.
	£	s.	d.	£	s. d.
20	0	18	11	1	0 11
25	1	1	9	1	7 2
30	1	5	2	2	14 7
35	1	9	7	3	3 1
40	1	14	6	3	13 10
45	2	0	6	4	4 3
50	2	9	8	5	1 4

Secretary for Canada:—A. Davidson Parker.

JOSEPH R. WALTON,
Agent, Peterboro.
October, 1861. 41

FIRE & LIFE ASSURANCE.

SCOTTISH PROVINCIAL ASSURANCE COMPANY,

ESTABLISHED 1825.

CAPITAL.....£1,000,000 Stg.—INVESTED IN CANADA.—$300,000.

SPECIAL NOTICE—BONUS YEAR.

PARTIES insuring their lives now will be entitled to share in the [5 years] profits to be divided on the 31st of January, 1863. Losses settled in Canada without referring to Parent Office.

Peterborough Agency—Corner of George and Simcoe Streets.

JOS. R. WALTON, Agent.
Peterborough, November 7th, 1861. 45

Canada West Farmers' Mutual and Stock

INSURANCE CO'.

HEAD OFFICE—HAMILTON, C. W.

President—H. J. Lawry, Barton.
Vice-President—T. Stock, Waterdown.

HONORARY DIRECTORS.

Asa A. Burnham, Esq., Cobourg, County of Northumberl nd.
John Harvey, Esq., County of Peterborough.
John Gibb, Esq., County of Victoria.

RICHARD P. STREET,
Secretary & Treas.

JOSEPH R. WALTON,
Agent, Peterboro.
October, 1861. 41

PROVINCIAL

INSURANCE CO'

OF CANADA.

FOR FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE.

ESTABLISHED 1849.

INCORPORATED BY ACT OF PARLIAMENT.

SUBSCRIBED CAPITAL, $1,986,080

Head Office - - - Toronto.

President:—Hon. John Hillyard Cameron.
Vice-President:—J. S. Howard, Esq.

DIRECTORS:

Hon. John Hillyard Cameron,
Hon. George Crawford,
Hon. Malc lm Cameron, M.P.P.,
John Cameron, Esq., M.P.P.,
A. M. Smith, Esq.,
George Duggan, Jr., Esq.,
J. S. Howard, Esq.,
Edward C. Jones, Esq.,
Angus Morrison, Esq., M.P.P.,
Lewis Moffatt, Esq.,
W. L. Perrin, Esq.,

Manager & Secretary:—James Sydney Crocker.
Assistant Secretary:—J. J. Woolthouse, Esq.,
Inspector of Agencies:—Wm. Blight, Esq.,
Solicitors:—Messrs Duggan & Burns.
Bankers:—The Bank of Toronto.

J. R. WALTON, Agent,
Peterborough.

☞ Fire and Marine Insurance business transacted by this Company at its various Agencies as well as at the Head Office, Toronto, at fair and average terms.

October, 1861. 41

THE PHŒNIX

INSURANCE CO'Y,

OF HARTFORD, CONN.

Capital - - - - - - $500,000.

CHARTER PERPETUAL.

JOSEPH R. WALTON,
Agent.
Peterboro', Oct. 8, 1861. 41

MONTREAL

ASSURANCE COMPANY.

ESTABLISHED BY SPECIAL ORDINANCE IN 1840.

CAPITAL STOCK, $800,000.

PAID UP.....$80,000.

Head Office, No. 9, Great St. James St.
MONTREAL.

Wm. MURRAY...Manager.

THE undersigned begs to intimate his appointment as agent in Peterboro', for the above company, and is authorized to insure Buildings, Merchandize, Household Furniture, and Personal Property, against loss or damage by fire, at rates as low as those of any responsible office.

For further particulars, rates, &c., apply to

W. H. SCOTT,
Agent.

Office in Burnham's Block, opposite the Review Office.

Peterboro, Aug. 28, 1861. 35

BEEF! BEEF!!

250 BARRELS

MESS & PRIME MESS BEEF

For sale Low by

ROBERT COCHRANE,
Butcher at the Market.
Peterborough, Oct. 8, 1861. 41

THE LARGEST, CHEAPEST AND THE BEST PLACE TO PURCHASE

READY-MADE CLOTHING

IS AT

HAFFEY'S,

All the Clothing is made on the premises, and warranted!!

Peterborough, Sept. 26, 1861. 39

FURS! FURS!

W. LECH,

Corner Store, Market Block, Peterborough,

Has now on hand, and offers for sale, a very large stock of which will be sold at prices al ogether lower than any person can sell Montreal made Furs. Besides, the stock is all made up under the personal superintendence of Mrs. Lech, and will be found

FUR GOODS,

MUCH BETTER MADE,

AND BETTER IN EVERY RESPECT.

The following list of prices will convince any person that they consult their own interest by buying home manufactured goods in preference to slop work made up in the cities, for the country trade:

Rock Martin Victorines.....	$2 00	and upwards.
do Mitts,.....	1 50	do
do Cuffs,.....	1 00	do
Fitch Victorines,.....	3 00	do
German Mink Victorines,.....	2 50	do
Real Mink Victorines,.....	9 00	do
Good serviceable Fur Caps for Men,.....	0 75	do
South Sea Seal,.....	3 00	do

And every other article in the line at corresponding prices.

Peterborough, Nov. 1st, 1861. 45

STRICKLAND & ROGERS'

FALL STOCK

IS NOW

COMPLETE IN EVERY DEPARTMENT

AND CANNOT BE UNDERSOLD.

Our customers and the public generally are requsted to call and examine, and oblige

S. & R.

Peterborough, October 30, 1861. 44-3in

FOR CASH OR Produce ONLY.

MONTREAL ONLY

CASH STORE, ONE Price

Hunter Street, Peterboro'

JOHN CAMPBELL

WOULD take this opportunity of thanking the inhabitants of Peterboro' and surrounding country for past favors, and would beg to intimate that he has received a large addition to his stock, on such favorable terms as enable him to offer goods at such

LOW PRICES

as to convince every one who examines them

☞ That he cannot be beat in the Town.

The following comprise a few of the articles generally in stock:

West of England Broad Cloth, Cassimeres, Tweeds, Satinets, Drills, Denims, Stripped Cottons, Ginghams, Prints, Factory Cotton, Osnaburgs, Cobourgs, Red and White Flannels, Cotton Warp, &c.

READY-MADE CLOTHING,

Boots and Shoes, Silk and Felt Hats, &c.

TEAS, TOBACCOES, SUGARS,

Soap, Candles, Raisins Currants, Coffee, Rice, and other articles too numerous to mention.

☞ Remember the Spot: Next door to McKellar & Cameron's, Hunter Street.

Peterboro, Aug. 21, 1861. 34

REMOVAL.

R. D. BASKERVILLE,

HAIR-DRESSER AND PERFUMER, HAS fitted up with taste and convenience at considerable expense, a Saloon on George St., 2 doors south of Lawson's Hotel, where he will be in attendance on the public, during all business hours. Having visited some of the largest American cities this summer, he is thoroughly acquainted with the

LATEST FASHIONABLE IMPROVEMENTS

in his profession, and flatters himself that he will not be found second to any in the Canadas.

☞ Positively no business on Sundays.

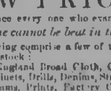
Peterboro, Sept 9, 1861. 37

DIRECT STEAM COMMUNICATION WITH

GLASGOW.

Another line of Steam Packet Ships, sailing regularly between

MONTREAL, QUEBEC, AND GLASGOW.



Steerage		Steerage
25 Dollars		25 Dollars

Ships.	Tons.	H. Power.	Com.
United Kingdom	1235	300	James Hay,
John Bull,	1102	300	Edward Scott.

THE "JOHN BELL"

will sail from Quebec for Glasgow on

TUESDAY, 12th November.

Rates of passage from Quebec to Glasgow:

Saloon Cabin.....	$60 00
Intermediate.....	30 00
Steerage, (including an abundant supply of cooked provisions.....	25 00

Return Tickets at reduced rates. Berths not secured will not be paid for. Each ship carries a duly qualified surgeon.

For freight and passage apply to

G. & D. SHAW,
16 Common Street,
MONTREAL.
October 17th, 1861. 42

MORTGAGE SALE

OF

VALUABLE MILLS

AND

REAL ESTATE.

WILL BE SOLD BY PUBLIC AUCTION at Quinn's Hotel, in Town of Peterboro,

On Thursday, November 14th,

A. D. 1861, at 11 o'clock, A. M.,

Under and by Virtue of a Power of Sale contained in a certain Indenture of Mortgage from Charles Perry and Margaret Perry his wife, to George E. Castle, dated October 15th, A. D. 1853, and of Assignment thereof to Josiah R. Plumb, all those certain parcels or tracts of lands being broken Lot No. 5, in the 11th Concession of the Township of Dover, containing 17 acres more or less: Lot No. 31, in the 3rd Concession of the Township of Smith, containing 50 acres more or less: and Lot No. 22 in the 3rd Concession of the said Township of Smith, containing 36 acres more or less.

On the property are erected Valuable Mills, &c.

Terms Cash. Further particulars may be had on application to

MACDONALD, MACDONALD & WILKINSON,
Vendor's Solicitors.
Kingston, October 9th, 1861. 42

HENRY BENARY

IMPORTER AND DEALER IN

PIANO-FORTES

MELODIANS,

MUSIC AND MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS,

ROMAIN BUILDINGS,

No. 81 KING STREET WEST,

TORONTO.

BEGS to inform the public of Peterborough, that he will open his Warerooms in Toronto, where he will keep constantly on hand a large stock of the best Piano-Fortes for sale and hire. The satisfaction experienced by those parties with whom he had the honor of dealing for the past 6 years, with Messrs A. & Kordheimer, leads him to hope that he will receive a large share of the public patronage in Peterborough. He will attend to the Pianos of his patrons with the same zeal as heretofore.

Toronto, October 14, 1861.

NOTICE.

NOTICE is hereby given that any party or parties trespassing on E. half of Lot No 9, in 2nd Con. Township of Dummer, to cut timber thereon, or for any other illegal purposes after this date, will be punished according to law.

WM. WEBSTER.
Proprietor.
Dummer, Nov 6th, 1861. 45

WOOD TURNING

CHEAP FOR CASH.

THE undersigned wishes to inform his numerous friends and the public in general that he is now prepared to do any description of Wood Turning for

BUILDINGS OR FURNITURE.

Also,

Agricultural.

PLANTING CHESNUT FOR TIMBER.

Young, second growth chesnut trees, make excellent fencing and other timber—and if, in addition, it be cut in summer, [whether with or without regard to the age of the moon, no matter which,) it will last a long time. John Johnston of Geneva, finds second growth chestnut best for his fence posts—old trees he regards as of little value.

Chesnut trees, on light soil, grow very rapidly. Any farmer who has a few acres to spare may make a very valuable investment by planting a chesnut orchard. The best way to do it, is to take a field that is suitable for some cultivated crop, corn for example. Plow two or three furrows together into a ridge twelve feet apart, over the whole field, either late in autumn, so as to admit of early planting, or else early in the spring. Plant the chesnuts along this ridge, three or four in a hill, about the same distance as hills of corn. They are difficult to transplant with success, or without check in growth, and therefore, this mode secures vigorous young plants at once, thinning out all but one in each hill the following year. Plow the spaces between, and plant with corn or potatoes, and cultivate and keep clean the young trees with the rest of the field. If care is taken by using stakes, each hill of chesnuts may be made to stand in a row with the hills of corn, so as to cultivate whole fields both ways. Or, if the corn is planted with a drill, it would not be necessary to take any care in this respect, as the cultivator will run one way only. This cultivation, if kept up for a few years, with crops of corn, beans, potatoes, carrots, &c., or with plowed stripes near the trees, and sowed grain between, which is not so good, will give a very rapid start to the young trees; and if they are thinned out in some years as they crowd, thus giving good stakes, they will, by 20 years form a very valuable plantation—this being the age found most profitable to cut down the young timber for renewal. A great advantage of this plan is, the wagon used for drawing off the timber may be driven between the rows in a straight, smooth road, and not as in common irregular woods, with constant twists and turns to avoid hitting troops, stumps or roots.

Many fail in raising the chesnut from seed, because they allow the shell of the nut to become dry. Take fresh chestnuts in autumn, and mix them with slightly moist loaf mould, and leave them exposed, out of the reach of mice all winter—they are best if in contact with the moist ground.—Then as soon as they begin to sprout in spring, plant them 2 inches deep.

Locust trees may be planted in the same way with corn, but need not be planted before the corn itself, as they will not sprout without scalding; for this reason they are more easily managed. They make admirable timber, when not injured by the insects.—Country Gentleman.

The ship "Conway," from London, arrived at Quebec with fifteen thousand five hundred barrels of gunpowder, and other military stores. The bargue "Ealing Grove" arrived at the same port the previous day with military stores. The steamer "Jura" also landed at Quebec a quantity of stores for the garrison.

☞ The iron columns used in the construction of the fire-proof warehouses in Liverpool are all hallow, and filled in the inside with fire-proof concrete.

☞ The monument in honour of Jacquard, the loom inventor, has been inaugurated at Lyons, France, with appropriate ceremonies.

☞ England's commemoration with her provinces in the East will be greatly accelerated by the submarine cable between Malta and Alexandria, which has just been successfully laid. The direct distance between these places is 830 miles, but in order to secure shallow water, the cable was carried over 1,900 miles.

CARD.

TOWNSHIP OF OTONABEE, Oct. 20, 1861.

To Joseph R. Watson, Esq., Agent of the Canada West Farmers' M. & S. Insurance Co.

Dear Sir,—Please express my thanks to the Directors of your Company, for the very liberal and prompt manner in which they have settled my claim against them for the loss sustained by me in the destruction of my barn and its contents by fire on Monday last. I hope you will make the fact known to the public, as it is only five days since I notified you of my loss, and only seven days since the occurrence of the fire! Such promptness on the part of the Office may most convince all seeking insurance of the advantages to be derived by insuring their property in the C. W. F. M. & S. I. C. of Hamilton.

JOSHUA DAWSON.

Otonabee, Oct 20, 1861. 41

THE FOUND WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING

A perfect Antidote, Specific and Cure for

RHEUMATISM & NEURALGIA

has long been needed. After earnest and patient research, this has been triumphantly discovered. It is called

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING!

Watson's Neuralgia King reaches the source of the trouble, and banishes the disease from the system. Unlike the untold number of Liniments and Embrocations which merely stimulates the surface, are but temporary in their effects, and are, at best, of doubtful virtue, it STRIKES AT THE HEART OF the ailment, ARRESTS IT, KILLS IT, ERADICATES IT, and leaves no trace behind.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING

also cures GOUT AND DYSPEPSIA, in all their forms. It is now giving relief to thousands who have been suffering form these diseases, and who have tried all other remedies in vain.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING

has received the highest testimonials from the highest sources in regard to its wonderful efficacy. It operates with equal success in mild and chronic cases, never failing to work out a speedy and permanent cure.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING

costs but one dollar a bottle, and less than a bottle often effects the end desired.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING

is the only Specific and cure for Rheumatism and Neuralgia that has ever been discovered.

Prepared by

A. I. MATHEWS,

Buffalo, N. Y., and Fort Erie, C. W.

Sept. 26, 1861, 39

GUTTA-PERCHA ROOFING.

—:o:—

No article ever before introduced to the public has equalled the LIQUID GUTTA-PERCHA for coating tin or other roofs, new or old. One gallon, costing $1.50, will thoroughly coat from 200 to 300 feet of roof, and this coating will render the roof perfectly waterproof, and will last three times as long as white lead or other paint. For covering roofs, either new or old no repair, it has no equal for durability and cheapness, and we offer it to the public fully confident of its intrinsic excellence, and with our warrantee that it will do all we claim for it. Sold in barrels of forty gallons each, at a liberal discount to dealers. Address all orders to

READY ROOFING CO.,

23 Cedar Street, New York.

October 3rd, 1861. 40-1y.

MATHEWS' VENETIAN LIQUID HAIR DYE.

THIS CELEBRATED DYE WAS FIRST prepared in 1845; since that time it has been used by thousands, and in no instance has it failed to give perfect satisfaction.

THE VENETIAN DYE.

is the cheapest in the world. Its price is only 50 cents, and each bottle contains double the quantity of dye contained in those usually sold for one dollar.

THE VENETIAN DYE

is the safest composition of its class. It is warranted not to injure the hair, or the scalp, in the slightest degree.

THE VENETIAN DYE

works with rapidity and certainty. It causes no annoyance or trouble to those who use it.

THE VENETIAN DYE

produces any shade that may be desired—one that will not fade, crock, nor work out; one that is as permanent as the hair itself.

THE VENETIAN DYE

does not, in any manner, interfere with the natural softness of the hair; it never scorches nor dries it.

THE VENETIAN DYE

is the best, cheapest safest, most convenient, most successful, and most permanent Dye ever used.

THE VENETIAN DYE

having gained an extended reputation, the public are cautioned against purchasing any prepared in the same style, under the same or different name, as they are mere imitations, and liable to do injury.

For sale by all agents. Prepared only by

A. I. MATHEWS,

Buffalo, N. Y., and Fort Erie, C. W.

Oct 3, 1861. 40

The Great French Remedy!

MADAM BOIVIN'S CELEBRATED SILVER COATED

FEMALE PILLS

THE ONLY CERTAIN AND SAFE REMEDY for all Uterine Obstructions, Monthly Difficulties, Irregularities, and diseases to which the Woman, Wife and Mother is peculiarly liable. These Pills contain no deleterious ingredients, but are safe and certain in their action.—They will be found to exert the happiest effect in all cases of Prolapsus Uteri, in Leucorrhea, or the Whites; they will be found the easiest and most certain cure that can be found. It is on account of this certainty they should not be taken by Married Ladies at certain periods, but at other times their use is perfectly safe.

N. B.—$1 enclosed to any authorised Agent will ensure a package of Pills by return mail.

C. Crosby, General Agent, Fort Erie, C. W, Buffalo, N. Y; Lyman, Elliot & Co, Wholesale Agents, Toronto.

Sept. 17, 1862. 2y

NO YANKEE HUMBUG!

PROSPECTUS

OF A NEW AND ACCURATE ILLUSTRATED

TOPOGRAPHICAL AND STATISTICAL

Map of Upper Canada,

TOGETHER WITH A

DESCRIPTIVE MAP AND DIRECTORY

OF THE TOWNSHIPS OF

M'N & S'N MONAGHAN & OTONABEE.

CONLIN, BOXLEY & Co., of Toronto, propose to publish the above work, drawn on a large scale from the most recent and accurate surveys, exhibiting all Post Offices, Money Order Offices, and Telegraph Stations throughout the Province, corrected from the latest official authority; also, the various lines of Railway, Railway Stations, with the correct distances between, Canals, Plank and Macadamized Roads, the Main Travelled Roads between Townsend Wharf, the boundaries and names of each County and Township, the great Lakes, Rivers, and principal Mill Streams. Tables showing the Population of Upper Canada as a whole, of each County in Upper Canada as a whole, of each City, Town, County, Township, Incorporated Village, Town, County and Township, giving the year when each was first settled, and the population at each period as returned by the Census Reports; the number of Members to which the Counties are entitled in the Provincial Parliament, and the number of Members to which they are actually entitled by Virtue of the Representation Act of 1861, and the Population of each Electoral District, as determined by the Census Returns of 1861.

There will also be given an accurate list of Post Offices in the most minute detail, of every Township in the whole Province, by, and in each Township, the names of the proprietors of each Lot, and the number of School Sections. Cattle Shows, Agricultural Societies, Mechanics Institutes, Steam Mills, &c., &c., will also be given, and generally, all such other Facts connected with the course of rivers and such matters as the Post Office Department and Surveyors in the Township may be interested in knowing.

The Map will be published in the Spring of 1862, and will be accompanied by a Pamphlet containing the above Returns of the Census of 1861, and such other matter as may be considered necessary to illustrate the Map, and the position of their residences intelligibly. Also, a Table of Distances from place to place, and a Table of Population, to be published, with the Map, a complete, business, &c., directory, containing a complete Rural, Professional, and Mercantile Business Directory.

☞ Our Agents exhibit a SMALL SPECIMEN of the above work, with our name engraved thereon.

CAUTION.—This enterprise is in no way connected with that projected by Messrs. Tremaine, of Jefferson County, State of New York.

WILL BE SOLD AT

A SACRIFICE.

THE subscriber is compelled by circumstances to sell his House and Lot on Alberta-st., on the Court House Hill, adjoining the property of Mr. Wm. Drabble. The above is one of the most delightful situations in Town, and will be sold for the one half to be paid down, and the remainder in two years from date of sale. Title Perfect.

LOW PRICE OF $800!

JOHN HITCHIE.

Peterboro.

Mathews' Chocolate Worm Drops

NEVER fail to destroy and exterminate all kinds of Intestinal Worms. Are perfectly reliable in all cases, and far superior to any and all of the Fancy Worm Confections, and nauseous Vermifuge in use. They may be taken at all times with perfect safety, as they contain no Mercury, or other deleterious Drug. Mothers should always purchase them and give their children no other.

(No Cathartic whatever, is necessary to be given.)

Each box contains 24 Drops or Lozenges.—Price 25 cts. For sale by all Druggist and Dealers in Medicines.

A. I. MATHEWS, General Agent,

Buffalo, N. Y., and Fort Erie, C. W

F. G. CALLENDER,

RETURNS his grateful acknowledgments to the inhabitants of Peterboro' and vicinity, for their liberal support during the last fourteen years, and on account of his increasing business and with a view to the better accommodation of his patrons, will continue his visits the FIRST and THIRD MONDAYS, TUESDAYS & WEDNESDAYS in each month, INSTEAD OF ONLY the FIRST MONDAYS as formerly, prepared to perform all operations of the profession, with promptness and durability AND AS REASONABLE AS ANY EXPERIENCED DENTIST. His Teeth are his own selection, of the newest style being made expressly for the Vulcanized base now altogether used, being free from taste, much cheaper than Gold, and equal in neatness and durability and much more agreeable in use than the heavy metallic base.

Rooms in Scobie's Building, Market Block, Peterboro', and over the Post Office, Cobourg.

THE LIVERPOOL LONDON

FIRE AND LIFE

ASSURANCE COMPANY.

CAPITAL.....£2,000,000 STG.

Empowered by Act of the Imperial Parliament

Responsibility of Stockholders unlimited.

Head Office for Canada, Montreal.

THE UNDERSIGNED CONTINUES to accept Risks in the above

First Class Company,

on almost every description of property, at as REASONABLE RATES as any other responsible office.

LOSSES PAID

without reference to the Old Country.

W. CLUXTON,

Agent for Peterboro'

Peterboro.' April 20th, 1850. 16.

THE CANADA LIFE

Assurance Company.

Captal, $ .000 000.

W. CLUXTON,

Agent.

THOS. HOLYWELL,

Medical Referee.

Peterborough, 1st August, 1859. 31

WESTERN

INSURANCE COMP'Y

CAPITAL £500,000

Head Office, Toronto,

FOR EVERY DESCIPTION OF

FIRE & MARINE ASSURANCE

BUSINESS.

AGENT FOR PETERBORO',

W. CLUXTON.

Peterboro, Sept 14th, 1857.

GENERAL INSURANCE OFFICE.

W. CLUXTON, AGENT, PETERBORO'.

LIVERPOOL & LONDON

FIRE AND LIFE

Insurance Company.

CAPIT L.....£2,000,000 STG.

BRITISH AMERICA

ASSURANCE COMP'Y

CAPITAL, $2,000,000.

WESTERN

INSURANCE COMPANY

CAPITAL, $2,000,000.

BRITANNIA LIFE

Assurance Company.

CAPITAL, £1,000,000, STERLING.

Peterborough, April 20th, 1859. 16

RELIEF IN TEN MINUTES.

BRYAN'S

PULMONIC WAFERS.

THIS most certain and speedy remedy ever discovered for the relief of all diseases of the Chest and Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Consumption, Bronchitis, Influenza, Hoarseness, Difficult Breathing, Sore Throat, &c.

These Wafers give the most immediate relief and perfect ease, and when persevered with according to directions, never fail to effect a rapid and lasting cure. Thousands have been restored to perfect health, who have tried other means in vain. To all classes and all conditions they are a blessing and a cure—none need despair, no matter how long the disease may have existed, or however severe it may be, as even the organic structure of the afflicted organ is rapidly restored. Every one afflicted should give them an impartial trial.

TO VOCALISTS AND PUBLIC SPEAKERS these Wafers are peculiarly valuable; they will in one day remove the most severe hoarseness; and a few days will clear the throat so that the most powerful tone, or the most elaborate air which the human voice is capable of, can be executed with ease and certainty.

JOHNSON, Sole Proprietor, Rochester, N.Y.

Price 25 cents per box.

Vocalists and Public Speakers

Vocalists and Public Speakers

Vocalists and Public Speakers

Will find Bryan's Wafers

Will find Bryan's Wafers

Will find Bryan's Wafers

Invaluable to remove

Invaluable to remove

Invaluable to remove

Hoarseness and Sore Throat

Hoarseness and Sore Throat

Hoarseness and Sore Throat,

And give relief in half an hour to Coughs,

And give relief in half an hour to Colds,

And give relief in half an hour to Coughs,

They allay all irritation in the throat,

They allay all irritation in the throat,

They allay all irritation in the throat,

Coughs, Colds and Hoarseness

Coughs, Colds and Hoarseness

Coughs, Colds and Hoarseness

Of the Chest and Lungs.

Of the Chest and Lungs.

Of the Chest and Lungs.

Sold by all Druggists

Sold by all Druggists

Sold by all Druggists

At 25 cents a box.

At 25 cents a box.

At 25 cents a box.

Lightning! Lightning!

PROTECTION TO LIFE AND PROPERTY.

200,000 Feet

OF THE NEW PATENT ENGLISH ELECTRO-GALVANIZED, ANNEALED AND CARBONIZED

LIGHTNING RODS

JUST ARRIVED FROM ENGLAND, WITH

SPRATTS' RENOWNED

PLATINA TIPPED POINT!!

AND MANUFACTURED

INSULATORS & ATTACHMENTS.

—:o:—

THIS ROD is prepared in England with especial reference to its great conducting powers; is highly approved and recommended by the best authorities. The white non-corroding surface prevents rust, and greatly increases the conducting power, completely obviating the great objections to the old rod. Professor Croft has a Spiral Copper Rod removed from the University Buildings, Toronto, and substituted this, on account of the perfect conducting power of the surface, and not being liable to rust.

One real advantage gained by the fine conducting qualities of this rod, with Spratt's point, arises from the fact that it constantly receives and silently conducts to the earth, the positive electricity of the surrounding atmosphere generated by an approaching thunder cloud, or charged with the element of destruction and death, thereby drawing off, draining and lessening the fountain, causing the cloud of its constant accumulation, allowing it to pass over our heads in safety, which might otherwise have burst upon us in all its fury. But it it fail in this by reason of too great accumulation of electricity, and the discharge takes place, it conducts all safely to the ground, being a preventative in most cases and a cure in an emergency. We have erected them on the Crystal Palace, and Custom House, at Hamilton, as well as many of the best buildings in this city. By importing largely for cash, we are enabled to erect them at a trifling advance upon the Carbonized Rod. Common Iron Rods, such as are being offered by parties from the States we do not erect, as we consider them nearly useless. Good Rods, properly erected, protect 25 feet from the point.

$ .000 CHALLENGE!

to the world to produce as good a Rod, for the same price, as the Galvanized Rod, which we are now prepared to offer to the public through our authorized agents; allow no man to protect your buildings who has not our certificate of agency, with caution on the back against impositions. Orders sent to our address from the principal cities of C. W., will be attended to by D. R. Kendall in person, without extra charge. We submit two of our numerous references.

PIPER & KENDALL,

58 Young Street.

TORONTO, Sept. 15, 1860.

I HEREBY CERTIFY THAT I HAVE SUPerintended the erection of Galvanized Iron Rods on the University Buildings, at Toronto, preferring the Galvanized Iron to ordinary Iron Rods, on account of the perfect conducting power of the surface, and from their not being liable to rust.

The advantage resulting from these qualities is more than commensurate with the increased cost.

(Signed) HENRY CROFT, D.C.L.

Prof. of Chemistry.

PETERBORO', July 20th, 1861.

The agents for the firm of Piper & Kendall, Toronto, have put up for me two of their Galvanized Lightning Rods so highly recommended by Professor Croft. I consider them preferable to all others. The improved Attachments and Insulators, with Spratt's Platina Tipped Point must give them great additional security.

J. BROWNE, M. D.

I entirely concur in Dr. Browne's observations,—Also have bought two of the same Rods for my two cottages on Brock Street.

A. NELOCK.

Toronto, June 20th, 1861. 31-3m

The Great English Remedy!

SIR JAMES CLARKE'S

Celebrated Female Pills

Prepared from a Prescription of Sir J. Clarke, M. D., Physician Extraordinary to the Queen.

THIS well known Medicine is no imposition, but a sure and safe remedy for Female Difficulties and Obstructions, from any cause whatever; and although a powerful remedy, it contains nothing hurtful to the constitution. To married ladies it is peculiarly suited. It will in a short time, bring on the monthly period with regularity.

In all cases of Nervous and Spinal Affections, pain in the back and limbs, Weariness, Fatigue on Slight Exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Lowness of Spirits, Hysterics, Sick Headache, Whites, and all the painful diseases occasioned by a disordered system, these Pills will effect a cure where all other means have failed.

☞ These Pills have never been known to fail where the directions on the 2nd page the pamphlet are well observed.

For full particulars, get a pamphlet free of the agent.

N. B.—$1 and six postage stamps enclosed to any authorised agent, will ensure a bottle containing over 50 pills, by return mail.

Sir James Clarke's Female Pills

Sir James Clarke's Female Pills

Sir James Clarke's Female Pills

Are a Scientific Preparation.

Are a Scientific Preparation.

Are a Scientific Preparation.

They are safe, and never fail

They are safe, and never fail

They are safe, and never fail

To remove all Obstructions,

To remove all Obstructions,

To remove all Obstructions,

And cure all Female Complaints,

And cure all Female Complaints,

And cure all Female Complaints,

When the directions are followed.

When the directions are followed,

When the directions are followed

They are a blessing and a cure.

They are a blessing and a cure.

They are a blessing and a cure.

And can be sent by mail

And can be sent by mail

And can be sent by mail

For one dollar and six postage stamps.

For one dollar and six postage stamps.

For one dollar and six postage stamps.

For one dollar and six postage stamps.

JOS. MOSES, Rochester, N.Y., sole proprietor. Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, C. W., General Agents. For sale by Ormond & Gilmour, Wm. Coulter, A. W. Kempt, Peterboro' and all dealers in medicines.

A STARTLING FACT.

THE subscriber has great pleasure in informing the public that he is manufacturing

T E BEST PUMPS

ever made in Canada, patented by J. Dennis. In order to prove the above, I am prepared to put them on trial, for cisterns or wells 100 feet deep and less, until the 1st of June, 1862. If not then preferred before any other kind will take them back free of charge: if they suit I will give them until the 1st of January, 1863; for payment, by giving a promissory note.

These Pumps are

Warranted not to Freeze.

All orders addressed to the undersigned, stating depth of well, to Warkworth, Percy, up to the 1st of April, 1862, and after that date to the Subscriber, in Ashburnham, will receive prompt attention. All letters must be post-paid.

HENRY DENNIS,

Manufacturer.

Warkworth, Percy, Dec. 1860.

Patented rights to manufacture and sell the above Pumps for sale by John Dennis, patentee and manufacturer, New Market, C. W. 50-1y.

New Establishment.

A choice assortment carefully selected by a gentleman of many years experience in

GROCERIES, WINES, &C.,

with a large stock of

Fancy Goods.

always kept on hand.

Port Wine, (Per Gallon) as 6d, 10s 6d, 15s, 20s

St. Sherry, 5s, 7s 6d, 10s, 15s, 20s. Finest old Pale Brandy, Rosey, do. Fine Schiedam Gin in Wood do. in Red and Green Cases. Jo's Scotch Whiskey (very old) do. Irish do. Cassia Sugars, Coffees, Fruits, Spices, Pickles & Sauces, Fish Oils, Vinegar extracts, Starch, Soap, Candles, Tobacco, Brushes, Brooms, Mats, Crockery and Wooden-ware, &c.

JOHN McDONELL,

In the (new Brick Front) premises formerly occupied by Jos. Sherrey, Esq.,

GEORGE ST., PETERBORO.

Jan. 3 1861.

JUDSONS'

MOUNTAIN HERB

WORM TEA.

Herbs, Barks and Roots

VERSUS

Poisonous Minerals and Drugs.

MOTHERS TAKE HEED!

Do you when observing the unease actions of your children, consider that it may be more than a mere habit that ails them? In nine cases out of ten, the cause of the little sufferer's anguish is WORMS, and should be at once looked to.

HEADS OF FAMILIES

Do not let your children suffer, when we present you in

JUDSON'S WORM TEA

A SAFE AND PLEASANT CURE FOR WORMS.

How much better and safer would it be to have it always in the house. A little delay when a child is taken ill may often be the cause of its death, while acting without delay, and by giving the MOUNTAIN HERB TEA immediately, you will not only save the child a long and tedious illness, and yourself much expense, but also feel the pleasure in knowing that you have done your duty, and perchance saved its life

This medicine is combined purely of

HERBS AND ROOTS

NOT A PARTICLE OF

Calomel or Mineral

IS USED IN IT.

No more filthy Vermifuge will be used by those who once use this Tea. The only active principle of all other Vermifuges and Worm Killers is MERCURY.

GIVE NO

POISON

TO

YOUR CHILDREN.

Use this Simple, Safe, Vegetable Medicine.

This Worm Tea was discovered in an unusual way among the Wilds of Northern Mexico—a full account of it you will find in our Almanac. Ask for the "Nature of Twin Almonds," of the Agent, and when you have read it, send it to your neighbors, that they may also know of and be cured by this GREAT REMEDY!

B. L. JUDSON & CO.

SOLE PROPRIETORS,

50 Leonard St. New York.

Judson's Worm Tea is sold by one Agent in every Village, and by all Druggists.

CANADA

Permanent Building and Saving's Society.

CAPITAL.....$500,000

INVESTED ON REAL ESTATE.... 250,000

ANNUAL INCOME..... 250,000

THIS Institution advances money on favorable terms, on the security of Real Estate, situate in Western Canada, repayable by instalments spread over any period the borrower chooses from 1 to 10 years.

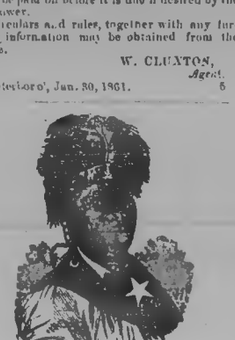
Properties mortgaged may be sold or changed for other property, or the mortgage debt may be paid off before it is due if desired by the borrower.

Circulars and rules, together with any further information may be obtained from the office.

W. CLUXTON,

Agent.

Peterboro', Jan. 30, 1861. 5



JUDSON'S

Mountain Herb Pills.

ABOVE we present you with a perfect likeness of TECUCI, a chief of a tribe of the strange Aztec Nation, that once ruled Mexico. You will find a full account of him and his people in our Pamphlets and Almanacs—to be had gratis, from the Agents for these Pills.

The inventor and manufacturer of "Judson's Mountain Herb Pills," has spent the greater part of his life in travelling, having visited nearly every country in the world. He spent over six years among the Indians of the Rocky Mountains and of Mexico, and it was thus that the "MOUNTAIN HERB PILLS" were discovered. A very interesting account of his adventures there, you will find in our Almanac and Pamphlet.

It is an established fact, that all diseases arise from

IMPURE BLOOD!

The blood is the life! and when any foreign or unhealthy matter gets mixed with it, it is at once distributed to every organ of the body. Every nerve feels the poison, and all the vital organs quickly complain. The stomach will not digest the food perfectly. The liver ceases to secrete a sufficiency of bile. The action of the heart is weakened, and so the circulation is feeble. The lungs become clogged with the poisonous matter; hence, a cough—and all from a slight impurity at the fountain-head of life—the Blood! As if you had thrown some earth, for instance, in a pure spring, from which you ran a tiny rivulet, in a few minutes the whole course of the stream becomes disturbed and discolored. As quickly does impure blood fly to every part, and leave its filthy behind. All the passages become obstructed, and unless the obstruction is removed, the lamp of life soon dies out.

These pills not only purify the blood, but regenerate all the secretions of the body; they are, therefore, unrivalled as a

CURE FOR BILIOUS DISEASES,

Liver Complaint, Sick Headache, &c. The Anti-Bilious Medicine expels from the blood the hidden seeds of disease, and renders all the fluids and secretions pure and sweet, clearing and remoulding the vital organs.

Plainest indeed, is it to us, that we are able to place within your reach, a medicine like the "MOUNTAIN HERB PILLS" that will pass directly to the afflicted parts, through the blood and fluids of the body, and cause the sufferer to brighten with the flush of beauty and health.

Judson's Pills are the Best Remedy in existence for the following Complaints:

Blood Complaints,	Debility,	Inward Weakness,
Colds,	Fever and Ague,	Liver Complaints,
Chest Diseases	Female Complaints	Lowness of Spirits,
Costiveness,	Head-ache,	Piles,
Dyspepsia,	Heart Complaints,	Rheumatism,
Diarrhœa,	Inflammation,	Stone and Gravel,
Dropsy,		Secondary Symptoms,
		Worms.

GREAT FEMALE MEDICINE

Females who value health, should never be without these Pills. They purify the blood, remove obstructions of all kinds, cleanse the skin of all pimples and blotches, and bring the rich color of health to the pale cheek.

☞ The Plants and Herbs of which these Pills are made, were discovered in a very surprising way among the Tecucas, a tribe of Aborigines in Mexico. Get the Almanac of our Agent, and you will read with delight, the very interesting account it contains of the "GREAT MOUNTAIN" of the Aztecs.

Observe.—The Mountain Herb Pills are put up in a Beautiful Wrapper. Each box containing 40 pills, and fitted at 25 cents per box. All genuine have the signature of B. L. JUDSON & CO., on each box.

B. L. JUDSON, & Co,

SOLE PROPRIETORS,

No. 50 Leonard Street,

NEW YORK

☞ FOR SALE BY ALL MEDICINE DEALERS. ☜

☞ The Canadian Pain Destroyer it a prompt and sure remedy for Cramp and pain in the Stomach, Painters' Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer Complaint, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, Sprains, Burns, Sprains, Bruises, Frost Bites, Chilblains, as well as the stings of Insects, Scorpions, Centipedes, and the bites of all poisonous Insects and venomous Reptiles.

FOR SALE.

SOUTH half of Lot No. 9, in the 2nd Con. of Smith, containing 100 acres. This Farm is beautifully situated about three miles from Peterborough; there are eighty acres cleared, and on the premises there are a good Stone House, three Barns and other Outhouses.

The north half of Lot No. 18, in the 7th Con. Smith. This Farm has eighty acres cleared, and is situated about seven miles from Peterborough.

For particulars apply to

JOSEPH KELSO,

or Bobcaygeon, sen.

WM. TULLY, Jr.,

Monaghan.

September 10, 1861. 36

L. M. SQUAIR,

Agent for Steamer "Maple Leaf," and Jamines, Tracy & Co's Line of Boats, the Alps, Ottawa, Colonist, Huron, & Bonnaventure.

CONTRACTS for freight or passage to and from Montreal, Rochester, Boston, New York, and Oswego.

Office in Gillet's Block above Twiss & Store Port Hope.

Port Hope, Oct. 10, 1860.

MARBLE WORKS.

H. T. EVANS,

RESPECTFULLY invites attention to the fact that he is prepared to execute on short notice

TOMB-STONES,

MONUMENTS,

TABLE-TOPS,

MANTLE-PIECES,

&c., &c., &c.

of as good workmanship as can be done in any part of Canada. Terms very low for Cash.

☞ House and Workshop, corner of London and Bethune Streets, foot of Smithtown Hill.

H. T. EVANS.

Peterboro, Nov. 8, 1860 45

SADDLERY & HARNESS

WARE-HOUSE.

Opposite A. McNab's Auction Rooms, George Street, Peterboro.

HOPKINS & DONNELY

WILL keep constantly on hand, and make to order all kinds of

SADDLES, HARNESS, WHIPS,

Valises, &c.,

which they intend to sell CHEAP for CASH, or on approved credit.

☞ All work warranted, as it is made by superior workmen.

Peterborough, Sept. 5, 1860. 36

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

A compound remedy, in which we have labored to produce the most effectual alterative that can be made. It is a concentrated extract of Para Sarsaparilla, so combined with other substances of still greater alterative power as to afford an effective antidote for the diseases Sarsaparilla is reputed to cure. It is believed that such a remedy is wanted by those who suffer from Strumous complaints, and that one which will accomplish their cure must prove of immense service to this large class of our afflicted fellow-citizens. How completely this compound will do it has been proven by experiment on many of the worst cases to be found of the following complaints:—

SCROFULA AND SCROFULOUS COMPLAINTS, ERUPTIONS AND ERUPTIVE DISEASES, ULCERS, PIMPLES, BLOTCHES, TUMORS, SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, SYPHILIS AND SYPHILITIC AFFECTIONS, MERCURIAL DISEASE, DROPSY, NEURALGIA OR TIC DOULOUREUX, DEBILITY, DYSPEPSIA AND INDIGESTION, SPLEEN DISEASES, ROSE OR ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD.

This compound will be found a great promoter of health, when taken in the spring, to expel the foul humors which fester in the blood at that season of the year. By the timely expulsion of them many rankling disorders are nipped in the bud. Multitudes can, by the aid of this remedy, spare themselves from the endurance of foul eruptions and ulcerous sores, through which the system will strive to rid itself of corruptions if not assisted to do this through the natural channels of the body by an alterative medicine. Cleanse out the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, eruptions, or sores; cleanse it when you find it is obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it whenever it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep it pure, and no particular disorder is felt, people enjoy better health, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. Keep the blood healthy, and all is well; but with this pabulum of life disordered, there can be no lasting health. Sooner or later something must go wrong, and the great machinery of life is disordered or overthrown.

Sarsaparilla has, and deserves much, the reputation, of accomplishing these ends. But the world has been egregiously deceived by preparations of it, partly because the dru, alone has not all the virtue that is claimed for it, but more because many preparations, pretending to be concentrated extracts of it, contain but little of the virtue of Sarsaparilla, or any thing else.

During late years the public have been misled by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one dollar. Most of these have been made upon the sick, for they not only contain little, if any, Sarsaparilla, but often no curative properties whatever. Hence, bitter and painful disappointment has followed the use of the various xtracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market until the name itself is justly despised, and has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound Sarsaparilla, and intend to supply such a remedy as shall rescue the name from the load of obloquy which rests upon it. And we think we have ground for believing it has virtues which are irresistible by the ordinary run of the diseases it is intended to cure. In order to secure their complete eradication from the system, the remedy should be judiciously has according to directions on the bottle.

PREPARED BY

DR. J. C. AYER & CO.

LOWELL, MASS.

Price, $1 per Bottle; Six Bottles for $5.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

has won for itself such a reputation for the cure of every variety of Throat and Lung Complaint, that it is entirely unnecessary for us to recount the evidence of its virtues, wherever it has been employed. As it has long been in constant use throughout this section, we need not do more than assure the people its quality is kept up to the best it ever has been, and that it may be relied on to do for their relief all it has ever been found to do.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

FOR THE CURE OF

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and for Purifying the Blood.

They are sugar-coated, so that the most sensitive can take them pleasantly, and they are the best aperient in the world for all the purposes of a family physic.

Price 25 cents per Box; Five boxes for $1.00.

Great numbers of Clergymen, Physicians, Statesmen, and eminent personages, have kept their names to certify the unparalleled usefulness of these remedies, but our space here will not permit the insertion of them. The Agents below named furnish gratis our AMERICAN ALMANAC in which they are given; with also full descriptions of the above complaints, and the treatment that should be followed for their cure.

Do not be put off by unprincipled dealers with other preparations they make more profit on. Demand AYER'S, and take no others. The sick want the best and there is for them, and they should have it.

All our Remedies are for sale by

Ormond & Gilmour, Wm. Coulter, and W. A. Kempt, Peterboro'. O. Rollins, Lindsay; E. Gregory, Millbrook; A. Goodfellow, Springville, and all medicine dealers. Northrop & Lyman, General Agents for the Canadas. 33

THE TRAVELLERS REST.

THE above named House has been enlarged re-fitted and refurnished, and in every convenience for the accommodation of the travelling public. It is directly opposite the Post Office, on Main Street, and within sight of the steamboat landing.

HIS TABLE

is always supplied with the best the market affords, and

THE BAR

always supplied with the choicest of Liquors. Old friends and customers, as well as the travelling public are respectfully requested to give him a call ☞ A corral and oats on hand at all times.

WILLIAM CRESWELL,

Proprietor.

Bobcaygeon, April 4, 1861. 14-6m.

PETERBORO'

Soap and Candle Works.

A large stock of very superior

CANDLES AND SOAP

now on hand and for sale at the lowest wholesale prices.

☞ Orders are respectfully solicited.

Cash for Lard, Tallow and Soap Grease.

OGILVY & HOOD.

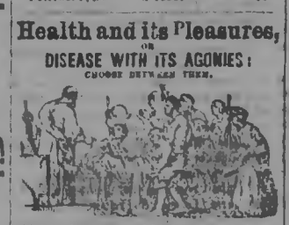
Peterboro, Dec. 20th, 1853. 51

Health and its Pleasures,

OR

DISEASE WITH ITS AGONIES:

CHOOSE BETWEEN THEM.



HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.

NERVOUS DISORDERS.

What is more frightful than the breaking down of the nervous system? To be excitable or nervous in a small degree is most distressing. Oh! where can a remedy be found? There is one:—drink but little wine, beer, or spirits, or far better none; take no coffee,—weak tea being preferable; get all the fresh air you can; take three or four Pills every night; eat plenty of solids, avoid the use of slops; and if these golden rules are followed you will be happy in mind and strong in body, and forget you have any nerves.

MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS.

If there is one thing more than another for which these Pills are known, it is their purifying power, especially the first few doses of taking the blood from all impurities, and removing dangerous and congested secretions. Universally admired as a safe and ready remedy for female complaints, they never fail, never weaken the system, but do exactly what is required.

SICK HEADACHE AND WANT OF APPETITE.

These feelings which so sadden us, most frequently arise from annoyances or trouble, from disordered digestion, or from eating and drinking more than is fit for us, thus disordering the liver and stomach. These organs must be regulated or nothing will be well. The Pills if taken according to the printed instructions, will quickly restore a healthy action to both liver and stomach, whence follow as a natural consequence, a good appetite and a clear head. In the East and West ladies scarcely any other medicine is ever used for these disorders.

DISORDERS OF THE KIDNEYS.

In all diseases affecting these organs, whether they secrete too much or too little water; or whether they be afflicted with stone or gravel, or with aches or pains in the loins over the regions of the kidneys, these Pills should be taken according to the printed directions, and the Ointment should be well rubbed into the small of the back at bed-time. This treatment will give almost immediate relief when all other means have failed.

FOR STOMACHS OUT OF ORDER.

No medicine will so effectually improve the tone of the stomach as these Pills; they remove all acidity, occasioned either by intemperance or improper diet. They re

BOOK AND JOB PRINTING ESTABLISHMENT.

EVERY description of Book and Job Printing executed at this Office, in superior style, at low rates.

Pamphlets, Circulars,
Handbills, Funeral Cards,
Invitations, Bill Headings,
Notes &c., Show Bills,
Concert Bills, Programmes,
Posters, Bagge Bills,
Business Cards, Checks, Blanks, &c.,

with every variety of Coloring and Bronzing.

☞ Law-post and Blanks of every description, kept constantly on hand.

All orders for Job Printing forwarded to this office will be punctually and strictly attended to.

The Examiner.

PETERBOROUGH, CANADA WEST, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1861.

Volume VI.] "THE PEOPLE." [Number 47.

THE "EXAMINER"

Is published every Thursday morning at the office of the undersigned, in

BURNHAM'S BLOCK, GEORGE STREET

Terms of Subscription:—$1.50 per annum payable strictly in advance, $2 when not so paid.

Rates of Advertising.

Six lines and under, first insertion.....$0 50
Each subsequent insertion.....13
Ten to twenty lines, first insertion.....0 75
Each subsequent insertion.....25
Over ten lines, first insertion (per line).....5
Each subsequent insertion.....3
Business Cards as per agreement.

☞ Advertisements without written directions will be inserted until forbid. Orders to discontinue must be given in writing.

All communications to the Publisher must be post-paid; otherwise no notice will be taken of them.

JAMES RENFREW,
Publisher and Proprietor.

Business Directory.

JAMES HALL,
SHERIFF, Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

Mr. TOOLE,
MANUFACTURER of Sash Blinds, Doors and Mouldings. Every description of Joiner Work done to order. North Lock, to Hutton's Mills, Peterboro', C. W. 9

GREGORY, FITZGERALD & BRENNAN
PROVINCIAL LAND SURVEYORS, CIVIL ENGINEERS AND LAND AGENTS. Office in Scott's Chambers, corner of George and Simcoe Streets.
Messrs. F. & D. having lately surveyed the outlines of eight new Townships now included in this County will be happy to give any information to intending settlers. 34

J. B. BISUEL,
DEALER in Boots, Shoes & Leather, George Street, Peterborough, C. W. 16

W. CRAWFORD,
GOVERNMENT Land Agent. Office at his residence on Brock Street.

EDMUND S. VINDIN,
COMMISSION, Shipping, Forwarding, and General Agent, Lumber Merchant, &c.—OFFICE—Corner of Walton and Ontario Streets. 13

MR. DENNISTOUN,
BARRISTER at Law, Master Extraordinary in Chancery, Notary Public, &c., Peterborough

Mr. A. T. HEATHFIELD.
PIANIST AND TEACHER OF MUSIC.
COMMUNICATION THROUGH THE POST OFFICE, Peterborough.

JOHNSON'S
FASHIONABLE Hair Dressing and Shaving Saloon in the Building formerly occupied by the Post Office, east of the bridge.
Port Hope, Sept. 29, 1857.

GEORGE MITCHELL,
DEALER in Groceries and Provisions, &c. Cash paid for all kinds of country produce, George Street Peterborough. 15

T. G. HAZLITT,
DEALER in Provisions, Groceries, Crockery and Glass ware, Hunter Street Peterboro.

W. SHERIDAN,
COUNTY Treasurer and Clerk. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

R. STEVENSON,
PAINTER, Paper hanger, &c., &c., Brock Street, Peterborough. 15

GEORGE H. HUGHES,
ATTORNEY-AT LAW,
SOLICITOR IN CHANCERY
Conveyancer, &c.
OFFICE in Harvey's Building, next door (north) to Thomson's Store, George St., Peterborough. 12

GENERAL FIRE AND LIFE INSURANCE OFFICE.
W. CLUXTON, Agent.

W. COULTER, PETERBORO',
DEALER in Genuine Drugs, Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Dye, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Spices, Culinary Essences, Fancy Soaps, &c., &c. 16

THOMAS MENZIES,
BOOKSELLER, Stationer, &c., &c., &c., &c Direct Exchange Block, George Street, Peterborough. 20

A. HARVEY, M. D., CORONER.
RESIDENCE:—Aylmer Street, opposite the Railway Depot, Peterboro.
April 3rd, 1861.

W. H. SCOTT,
BARRISTER AT LAW, Solicitor in Chancery, Notary Public, Conveyancer, &c.
OFFICE:—In Lansbury's Block, opposite the Court House, Peterborough.
April 11, 1861. 15

A. M'CREA,
PROVINCIAL Licentiate, Physician, Surgeon, &c. Brock Street, Peterborough.

GEORGE PRINGLE, M. D.
PHYSICIAN, Surgeon, &c., &c., graduate of McGill College, Montreal, having also studied in the hospitals of London and Dublin.
OFFICE AND RESIDENCE.—Brock Street, opposite the Gregory Livery Stable, Peterboro.
April 25, '61. 17

ALEX. McNEIL,
AUCTIONEER, Valuator, &c., &c. Licensed for the Counties of Peterborough and Victoria. George St., Peterboro'.

JAMES BEST,
DEALER in Dry Goods, Groceries, Crockery Boots and Shoes, &c., &c., Bowe's Block, George Street, Peterborough. 18

MR. DUNN,
PRINCIPAL of the Grammar and Union School will devote a short time each day to private tuition.
Peterboro', Jan. 10th, 1861. 3

FOR SALE.
A FIRST-RATE TAVERN STAND situated on Elizabeth Street, Ashburnham, formerly occupied by Mr. Peter Nye. The building is at present used as a boarding House and thither to recent it would be made a good stand for a Grocery and Bakery. The lease of the above has eleven years to run, and will be sold very reasonable for money, or part payment. Apply to
R. DARLEY,
On the premises.
Aug. 28, 1861. 35

JAMES W. PITCHER AND (LATE PITCHER & PARTNER.)
Provincial Land Surveyor,
Office:—In Scott's Chambers, corner George and Simcoe Streets.
Oct. 3, 1861. 41

CABINET-MAKING.
E. POOLE, Cabinet-maker, Undertaker & Upholsterer, Hyde's Block, George Street, Peterboro.

A. POWLIS & Co.
HAVE NOW IN STORE Merchants, George St., Peterboro.

THE CHEAPEST & BEST PLACE
TO GET
Your Job Printing done,
IS AT THE EXAMINER Office.

D. PENTLAND.
Surgical & Mechanical Dentist,
OFFICE, OVER COULTER'S DRUG STORE, George Street, Peterboro'.

TEETH Extracted by the aid of Electricity, with the least possible pain. Teeth inserted upon Fine Gold, Silver, or
VULCANIZED RUBBER.
Teeth and material warranted to be of the very best quality.
D. P. particularly wishes the public to understand that he
WARRANTS HIS WORK TO GIVE GOOD SATISFACTION,
and parties who are not perfectly satisfied with their plates have the privilege of returning them before paying for them.
Particular attention paid to the treatment of all diseases of the mouth, and also the regulating of children's teeth.
Peterboro', April 10th, 1861. 18

ALBION HOTEL,
MONTREAL.
L. W. DECKER, Proprietor.
IS pleasantly situated at the head of ST. PAUL STREET, amongst the largest wholesale houses in the city. It has (with business men generally, and especially with the best Merchants of both Provinces) become so great a favorite, that it is now acknowledged to be THE Business Hotel of Montreal. To meet the extensive increase, during the last year in the business of the house, the proprietor has built a large addition. The Dining Room has been extended and made more commodious; there have been completed in the new wing, a great number of well-ventilated sleeping rooms, and the House throughout has been refitted, and now contains many improvements and conveniences hitherto unknown to its guests. The whole of the beds have, at a great expense, been furnished with NEWSPRING MATTRASSES. The Proprietor expects that by continuing his personal management of the concern, THE ALBION, to say the least of it, will continue to be, as it now is, the best Dollar and a half Hotel in Canada

VALUABLE FARM
FOR SALE.
THE subscriber is desirous of disposing of his Farm, south west part of Lot 23, in the 11th Con. Otonabee, only 3 miles from the town of Peterborough, and on the main road leading to Keene, containing 100 Acres.
60 Acres are Cleared,
and in a good state of cultivation; 14 Acres of Fall Wheat are sown, and part of Fall ploughing is done. A good Frame Rough-cast House, 26 x 20, a Barn, 45 x 30, and a good stable and hen-and-hog-houses are on the premises.
A GOOD WELL
of spring water stands within a rod of the house, and is easy of access. A good
YOUNG ORCHARD OF 85 TREES.
in good condition, and of the choicest fruits, is on the property.
The Farm is one of the best in the Township, and the situation is very convenient, no better chance for the purchase of a good farm could be offered, and it will be sold at a liberal price.
Title Indisputable.
Apply to the proprietor on the premises,
JAS. WEIR.
Otonabee, Nov. 7 1860. 54

NOTICE.
THE next meeting of the Senior Board of Instruction for the County of Peterboro' will be held on the
First Tuesday of Dec. next,
IN THE COURT HOUSE, AT 10 A.M.
Teachers holding third class certificates issued a year or upwards ago, are required to have them renewed.
By order,
J. EDWARDS,
Secretary.
Peterboro' May 14, 1861. 20

THE LATEST IMPROVED
COAL OIL,
AND COAL OIL LAMPS,
AT REDUCED PRICES.
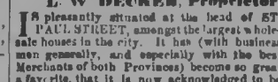
JOHN M'DONELL,
GEORGE STREET.
Jan. 2, 1861. 1.

PORT HOPE & PETERBORO


RAILWAY.
ON and after the 6th of May, 1861, and until further notice, Trains will run as follows:—
GOING NORTH.
Leave Port Hope at.....7.30 a. m.
" Millbrook " .....9.05 a. m.
" Fraserville " .....9.30 a. m.
Arrive at Peterboro' at.....9.50 a. m.
GOING SOUTH.
Leave Peterboro' at.....2.25 p. m.
" Fraserville " .....2.50 p. m.
" Millbrook " .....3.20 p. m.
Arrive at Port Hope at.....4.55. p. m.
JOHN FOWLER,
Lessee.
Peterboro' January, 18

INFORMATION WANTED.
A DAUGHTER wishes to learn the present whereabouts of her mother, whom she has not seen for the last thirty-five years. Her maiden name was Polly Monk; her first husband's name was Warren Hixon. It is said she married in 1826, A person named De Long, who was at that time engaged in some way in the manufacture of silk, in some part of Upper Canada. Any information respecting her will be gratefully received by addressing the subscriber, at 23 Frank Street, Rochester, N. Y.
Canadian papers will oblige a favor by copying one or two times, giving the above information, entire or in part.
MRS. SEVANTHA JENNISON.
Rochester, N. Y., 24th May, 1861.

NEXT OF KIN WANTED!
Hundreds of Millions Pounds Sterling
IN CHANCERY, BANK OF ENGLAND, &c.
A catalogue of the names of those to whom letters should be addressed in England, will be sent post free, on receipt of 20 cents in United States' stamps, or the price in Canada, which must be remitted at once, to
C. E. LOUDOUN,
Chief Clerk,
Box 2000, Boston, U. S.
Boston, Mass., Sept., 1861. 37

Poetry.

QUILTING BEES.

Whoever has been at a "Quilting Bee"
As a matter of course must know
'Tis a sort of Female Parliament,
Where the members talk and sew.

There they sit around a motley web
In a frame of stretchers hung,
And do with their needles a little work,
But a great deal more with their tongue.

From the rosy lips at a Quilting Bee
There should fall no words that sting;
But in fair accord with the Charities
Should the tongue of Gossip ring.

But alas! detraction will taint the air
Of the loveliest country town,
And earlier than running long seams up
'Tis to run a neighbor down.

One bears at a Quilting, who flirts too much,
Who at church is seen to doze;
How pretty Miss Pallid tints her cheeks;
And with what Mrs. Flip her nose.

When Brown was seen on a drinking spree;
What sum Smithers lost by Jones;
How remarkably near the Skinflints are;
And how very flat the Hones.

What a prink of a thing is that Miss Vane;
What a rowdy that young Jim Blair;
With other on dits about lots of folk,
Who are going—you know where.

Can any one tell us how it is,
When a score of ladies meet,
No matter where—at a Ball, a Bee,
Or any kind of a treat—

They must have a fling at somebody,
Or otherwise, it is plain,
They would die of a verbal "apoplex,"
Or rush of talk to the brain.

But a truce of jest—for the theme is said—
A light word, lightly spoken,
Unmeant, regretted as soon as said,
Ere now has a true heart broken.

Then ladies dear, by the love ye bear
To your children, sisters, brothers,
What you would not the world should say of you
Oh! never whisper of others!

A LESSON FOR SOFT-HEARTED MAIDENS.

(From a London Paper of October 24.)

Such cases of despicable and revolting villainy as that brought out yesterday at the Central Criminal Court in the trial of the Italian Artist, Vincent Colucci, are fortunately of rare occurrence in the respectable circles of social English life. Breaches of pecuniary trust, instances of swindling and embezzlement in every form, are indeed only too common. The rapid growth of extravagant habits, and the spread of a passion for display, which are amongst the most serious and menacing symptoms of modern English life, tempt many men of position and established character into unscrupulous acts which are repeated until the wretched perpetrator becomes entangled in a web of fraudulent transactions from which there is no escape. But even the worst of these cases are generally free from those hateful features of meanness, cowardice and treachery, which mark the shameful thefts, the base and heartless robberies of this Italian artist. Vincent Colucci is not only a rapacious swindler, but a merciless knave and contemptible paltroon. His victim may have been weak and foolish, and no doubt to some extent was so, but she had been most generous to him in the time of his allege distress, and seems never, even at the period of their greatest intimacy, to have forgotten what was due to her sex and position. In return the scoundrel extorted large sums from her by threats that were worse than blows, and in the end robbed her at one stroke of two thousand pounds by a dastardly trick that even a swindler with a spark of common manliness would have shrank from.

The main facts of the case, as brought out on the trial yesterday, may soon be told. Vincent Colucci, the culprit, was a young Italian artist, who four years ago was living at Brompton, and had there, it seems, acquired some reputation for his skill in painting ladies' portraits. He would probably have been pronounced by the ladies who patronised him as an interesting foreigner, of considerable ability, great accomplishments, and engaging manners. Miss Frederica Johnstone, his victim, was introduced to him by her cousin, Lady Caroline Lennox, who spoke of him in the highest terms. Miss Johnstone was fond of art, had a number of pictures at her villa near Twickenham, and invited Colucci to see them. He was no doubt a good judge of the appearances that indicate wealth, and lost no time in improving the acquaintance. During their early intercourse he first asked to be allowed to paint her hand as a model of beauty, and then her portrait. These requests were calculated to awaken suspicion, and possibly would have done so from any one but an interesting foreigner of such accomplished manners and so highly recommended.

The last request with regard to the portrait was, however granted and this of course led Miss Johnstone to the artist's studio at Brompton. Colucci seems to have commenced business at once by bringing into play the machinery of certain familiar to this class of designing adventurers. He mounted an air of profound melancholy, and heaved at intervals too most touching sighs. On his visitor inquiring the cause of his grief, he explained that his mother, to whom he was devotedly attached, was on her death bed, and he was unable to go to her for want of means. Miss Johnstone at once offered the money she had at her command, fifty pounds. This sum, however, it appeared, was not sufficient for the purpose, as an exacting creditor was about to arrest him for a much larger amount. So the end Miss Johnstone, supplied him with £250, and he started for Italy.

Colucci, as may easily be imagined, had been extremely generous in his attentions, and Miss Johnstone had so far received them that a correspondence had taken place, in which passages was talked of. Nothing, however, had been settled, and soon after Miss Johnstone had a severe illness, during which she determined to give up all thoughts of an engagement. On Colucci's return from Italy she informed him of her resolution, which does not appear to have distressed him much. All he asked was that they might still continue friends as before,—or, in other words, as the event proved, that he might still draw upon her resources as before. The intimacy was accordingly continued, and in the course of the next two years he succeeded in extorting from the lady in the shape of loans, advances, and the like, about two thousand pounds.—This system continued till the spring of the present year, when Miss Johnstone determined to break off the intimacy altogether. On hearing this Colucci's tone and manner suddenly changed. He adopted the most violent and menacing language, and in the end demanded money, large sums of money, accompanying his demands by cowardly and atrocious threats. His sole object evidently was to extort as much as possible, and he scarcely attempted to conceal it. The mask of accomplished manner was entirely thrown off, the reptile meanness and coarse brutality of his nature appeared without disguise. He strove to alarm and terrify Miss Johnstone to the uttermost, and as he fancied he had her in his power, he shrank from no threats likely to accomplish his purpose.—She was alone weak, terrified, comparatively helpless, and, as he believed, without any protector, and he resolved to take every advantage of her defenceless situation. He had of course carefully retained the letters she had imprudently written to him in the days of their early intimacy, and these were the instruments he ruthlessly employed to work upon her excited feelings and terrify her into compliance with his extortionate demands.

The letters appear to have been really harmless enough, containing nothing more damaging to the lady's reputation than indiscreet expressions of friendship and sympathy, no doubt artfully evoked by her designing correspondent's simulated misery and despair. But Colucci's threats of exposure were not confined to the letters.—He indulged in other insinuations of the most dastardly nature, that were as cowardly and brutal as they were false. He mankind stabs at her reputation more cruel than any assault on her life could have been. At last the persecuted lady, driven to her wits' end, asked him plainly what he wanted—in other words, for how much money he would restore her letters. He named £3,000, and solemnly pledged himself to deliver all of them into her hands for that sum. Miss Johnstone agreed to pay the money and be free. At much inconvenience she obtained the sum from her bankers, met Colucci by appointment at the Pantheon Bazaar, and gave it to him in exchange for a parcel which he solemnly asserted contained all her letters. On opening it, however, the parcel was found to be filled with old newspapers, excepting a single letter placed just under the small hole purposely made to the wrapper.

For once, however, the craven scoundrel had reckoned without his host. Miss Johnstone had a brother, to whom she at once communicated the fraud, and measures were promptly taken to bring the criminal to justice. All the facts were clearly proven against him, and he was yesterday most righteously sentenced to three years penal servitude. The moral of such a story against hastily confiding in accomplished foreigners, is obvious enough. But few could have expected in a young artist of reputation and position such a combination of baseness, perfidy, and crime.

ACROSS CHINA.

The following extract from a private letter by a member of the Expedition which made the bold attempt to cross the Chinese Empire, and by way of Tibet to reach India, gives a summary of results. It will appear from it that our country men penetrated the Empire to the extent of 1,800 miles, having entered to a considerable length its border province, Sechuen, with its area of twice the extent of Britain, and computed population of 32,000,000.

"Our party penetrated 1,800 miles into the interior, and then found the country so overrun with rebels, that no men could be induced to accompany us, and no carriage of any sort was procurable; the townspeople in one place fired upon us, and though they could not have prevented our proceeding, it became evident that no one would be allowed to accompany us, and we were compelled to return. We have mapped the Yangtse River for 1,000 miles higher than any Europeans have ascended, and collected all the information possible relative to the commerce and rebels of Western China."

THE PHYSIOLOGY OF RUNNING.

Those who find perfection amongst savage tribes and regard civilization as a form of degeneracy, describing aboriginal barbarism as the original stock from which we all have sprung, will find some additional arguments in the singularly fine physical endowment of the Red Indian, who has vanquished all English pedestrians in recent contests. The muscular strength, the perfect balance of sensous and arterial circulation, the admirable combination of agility and fortitude with which this man is endowed, bring him near to realities of perfection in impossible physical qualities. For speed, endurance, and pluck, he is unsurpassed by any of the champions of our advanced Teutonic, Celtic, and mixed societies. Here in the original man, if you will, or the degenerate man, as it may be, but at least the savage, who asserts triumphantly the qualities God bestowed on him before he became elaborately attributed and, denied to him. It has been reported, on the one hand, that the strength, tenacity and courage of the Indian tribes were remarkable. We have often received proofs, on the other hand, that pulmonary, muscular debility and physical imperfection were highly characteristic in many of the race. We have been familiar with the sight of degraded, enfeebled, and filthy creatures, whose flagging step Miss Johnstone had a severe illness, during which she determined to give up all thoughts of an engagement. On Colucci's return from Italy she informed him of her resolution, which does not appear to have distressed him much. All he asked was that they might still continue friends as before,—or, in other words, as the event proved, that he might still draw upon her resources as before. The intimacy was accordingly continued, and in the course of the next two years he succeeded in extorting from the lady in the shape of loans, advances, and the like, about two thousand pounds.—This system continued till the spring of the present year, when Miss Johnstone determined to break off the intimacy altogether. On hearing this Colucci's tone and manner suddenly changed. He adopted the most violent and menacing language, and in the end demanded money, large sums of money, accompanying his demands by cowardly and atrocious threats. His sole object evidently was to extort as much as possible, and he scarcely attempted to conceal it. The mask of accomplished manner was entirely thrown off, the reptile meanness and coarse brutality of his nature appeared without disguise. He strove to alarm and terrify Miss Johnstone to the uttermost, and as he fancied he had her in his power, he shrank from no threats likely to accomplish his purpose.—She was alone weak, terrified, comparatively helpless, and, as he believed, without any protector, and he resolved to take every advantage of her defenceless situation. He had of course carefully retained the letters she had imprudently written to him in the days of their early intimacy, and these were the instruments he ruthlessly employed to work upon her excited feelings and terrify her into compliance with his extortionate demands.

The letters appear to have been really harmless enough, containing nothing more damaging to the lady's reputation than indiscreet expressions of friendship and sympathy, no doubt artfully evoked by her designing correspondent's simulated misery and despair. But Colucci's threats of exposure were not confined to the letters.—He indulged in other insinuations of the most dastardly nature, that were as cowardly and brutal as they were false. He mankind stabs at her reputation more cruel than any assault on her life could have been. At last the persecuted lady, driven to her wits' end, asked him plainly what he wanted—in other words, for how much money he would restore her letters. He named £3,000, and solemnly pledged himself to deliver all of them into her hands for that sum. Miss Johnstone agreed to pay the money and be free. At much inconvenience she obtained the sum from her bankers, met Colucci by appointment at the Pantheon Bazaar, and gave it to him in exchange for a parcel which he solemnly asserted contained all her letters. On opening it, however, the parcel was found to be filled with old newspapers, excepting a single letter placed just under the small hole purposely made to the wrapper.

For once, however, the craven scoundrel had reckoned without his host. Miss Johnstone had a brother, to whom she at once communicated the fraud, and measures were promptly taken to bring the criminal to justice. All the facts were clearly proven against him, and he was yesterday most righteously sentenced to three years penal servitude. The moral of such a story against hastily confiding in accomplished foreigners, is obvious enough. But few could have expected in a young artist of reputation and position such a combination of baseness, perfidy, and crime.

ACROSS CHINA.

The following extract from a private letter by a member of the Expedition which made the bold attempt to cross the Chinese Empire, and by way of Tibet to reach India, gives a summary of results. It will appear from it that our country men penetrated the Empire to the extent of 1,800 miles, having entered to a considerable length its border province, Sechuen, with its area of twice the extent of Britain, and computed population of 32,000,000.

"Our party penetrated 1,800 miles into the interior, and then found the country so overrun with rebels, that no men could be induced to accompany us, and no carriage of any sort was procurable; the townspeople in one place fired upon us, and though they could not have prevented our proceeding, it became evident that no one would be allowed to accompany us, and we were compelled to return. We have mapped the Yangtse River for 1,000 miles higher than any Europeans have ascended, and collected all the information possible relative to the commerce and rebels of Western China."

THE PHYSIOLOGY OF RUNNING.

Those who find perfection amongst savage tribes and regard civilization as a form of degeneracy, describing aboriginal barbarism as the original stock from which we all have sprung, will find some additional arguments in the singularly fine physical endowment of the Red Indian, who has vanquished all English pedestrians in recent contests. The muscular strength, the perfect balance of sensous and arterial circulation, the admirable combination of agility and fortitude with which this man is endowed, bring him near to realities of perfection in impossible physical qualities. For speed, endurance, and pluck, he is unsurpassed by any of the champions of our advanced Teutonic, Celtic, and mixed societies. Here in the original man, if you will, or the degenerate man, as it may be, but at least the savage, who asserts triumphantly the qualities God bestowed on him before he became elaborately attributed and, denied to him. It has been reported, on the one hand, that the strength, tenacity and courage of the Indian tribes were remarkable. We have often received proofs, on the other hand, that pulmonary, muscular debility and physical imperfection were highly characteristic in many of the race. We have been familiar with the sight of degraded, enfeebled, and filthy creatures, whose flagging step tion of 12 successive miles in little more than five minutes each mile is a great feat of endurance and agility. It must be said, however, that the Indian had to be trained after the European fashion to bring him up to this pitch of excellence. The heart, lungs, and muscular apparatus must indeed be as perfect as need to lead themselves to efforts so extraordinary and long sustained. The means by which this happy balance is perfected during training may well form the subject of investigation by medical men, who have often a direct interest in procuring similar improving changes in their patients.

A MOTHER'S LOVE.

Some of our readers may recollect a thrilling ballad which was written on the death of a woman who perished in the snow drifts of the mountains. That mother bore an infant on her bosom, and when the storm waxed loud and furious, true to a mother's love, she rent her own garments, and wrapped them around her babe. The morning found her a corpse, but the babe survived. That babe grew to manhood. How thrilling must be the thoughts of that mother! How many mothers there are who would die, for her son? Let sons, when far away from home, on land or sea, when the eye of no mother is upon them, remember her love, and be restrained by it from entering the path of vice. Let them say nothing, do nothing, which a mother would not approve, and they will never bring down her gray hairs with sorrow to the grave.

IS THIS LAW REPEALED?

A law against obtaining husbands under false pretences, passed by the English Parliament in 1770, enacts—"That all women, of whatever age, rank, profession, or degree—whether virgins, maids or widows—who shall impose upon, seduce, and betray into matrimony any of his Majesty's male subjects, by virtue of scents, paints, cosmetic washes, artificial teeth, false hair, Spanish wool, hoops, iron stays, bolstered hips, or high-heeled shoes, shall incur the penalty of the law now in force against witchcraft and the like misdemeanours, and the marriage, under such circumstances, upon conviction of the offending party, shall be null and void."

PARROT STORIES.

One of the most astonishing things in connection with the parrot, a green Amazon, happened at a dinner party. One of the guests was a gentleman who stammered very much, and it was observed whenever the latter spoke, the parrot was particularly attentive. After dinner the stammering gentleman sauntered up to the parrot's cage and said,—"Well, P—p—p—poll, what's o'clock?" upon which the parrot immediately replied,—"P—p—p—p—past four!" imitating the stammerer so capitally that its possessor could not forbear laughing as heartily as the rest. Opposite the parrot's residence there were some buildings in the course of erection, and the men at the top of the scaffold were in the habit of calling to those below for such materials as they wanted—"More bricks," "More mortar," and so on. In a very short time Poll had these terms by heart, as well as the gruff tones in which they were uttered. No sooner did the labourer (an Irishman) relieve himself of a load, than the everlasting cry, "More mortar," assailed his ears. He bore it with exemplary patience till the mortar-board on the top of the scaffold was piled up; but, again, the order for "Mortar, more mortar!" was given, and then the Irishman flung down his load, and, making a speaking trumpet of his hands, bawled to the bricklayer above—"Tare an' ounds! is it mortar mad that ye are? shure a man may have as many legs as a centipede (centripede) to wait on the likes of ye's."

DIFFICULTIES IN CONDUCTING A PAPER.

A music teacher once wrote that the "art of playing on the violin requires the nicest perception and the most sensibility in the known world." Upon which an editor comments in the following manner:—"The art of publishing a newspaper and making it pay, and, at the same time, have it please everybody, beats fiddling higher than a kite."

It is the ambition of all editors to make their paper interesting to all their subscribers, but owing to the different tastes of their readers, one of the most trying things an editor has to decide is the subjects upon which to write.

A theme with which one will be exceedingly pleased, another reader, possessing a different taste, will fail to appreciate, while he may be exceedingly interested in some article which the first will entirely over look, or, having read it, will pronounce it stupid. Thus it is not only difficult, but impossible for the conductor of a journal of any considerable circulation, to edit it so that every article shall be read with equal interest by all its patrons.

MARVELLOUS EXHIBITION OF HUMAN POWER.

At the town hall, Brighton, on Wednesday evening the 9th inst., Dr. G. B. Winship, of Roxbury, Mass., at the close of an exceedingly eloquent, interesting and instructive lecture on physical culture, health and strength, realized some of his rather startling statements by several illustrations of muscular power, which no one would have believed possible had we not had ocular evidence of the fact. Standing upon a staging at an elevation of about 8 or 10 feet from the floor, the Doctor lifted and sustained for a considerable time, and without apparent difficulty, a platform supported beneath him on which stood 12 gentlemen, all heavier individually than the Doctor himself, and weighing including the entire apparatus filled with them, nearly nineteen hundred pounds, and, in the performance of this feat remarked that Dr. W. employed both his hands, but his feet die—nothing in short but a stout oaken stick, fitting across his shoulders, and having attached it to a couple of chains. At Dr. Winship's request, a committee appointed by the audience, and furnished with one of Fairbank's scales, superintended all the experiments.—Evening Gazette.

AN "OPIUM HELL."

What spirituous liquors are for the European, opium is for the Mahommedan and Chinaman. An opium hell is stiff as the grave. A murky lamp spreads a flickering ray through the low-roofed suffocating room in which are placed bale-bales, or rough wooden tables, covered with coarse matting, and divided into compartments by means of bamboo-reed wainscoting. The opium-smokers—men and women—lost to every sense of modesty, throw themselves languidly on the matting, and their head supported by a greasy cushion, prepare to indulge in their darling vice. A small burning lamp is placed on the table, so as to be easily reached by all the degraded wretches who seek forgetfulness or elysium in the fumes of opium. A pipe of bamboo-reed, with a bowl at one end to contain the opium, is generally made to do service for two smokers. A piece of opium, about the size of a pea, costs sixpence—a day's wages—but it is sufficient to lull, by its fumes, the senses of the smoker. These fumes they inhale deliberately, retaining them in the mouth as long as they can, and then allowing them gradually to exhale through their nostrils. After two or three inhalations, however, the opium is consumed, and the pipe falls from the hands of its victim. At first the smokers talk to each other in a whisper, scarcely audible; but they soon become still as the dead. Their dull sunken eyes gradually become bright and sparkling; their hollow cheeks seem to assume a healthy roundness; a gleam of satisfaction, ray of ecstacy, lightens up their countenance as they reveal an imagination in those sensual delights which are to constitute their Mahommedan Paradise. Aroused, however, from their dreams and delusions, the potency of the charm exhausted, driven from their "hell" by its proprietor—see them next morning walking with faltering steps, eyes dull as lead, and cheeks as hollow as coffins, to their work.—Fraser's Magazine.

GERMAN AMUSEMENTS.

The London Saturday Review makes merry over the popular amusements of Germany. It says:

"Let any one try and honestly state his feelings after he has passed the third hour of the third evening at a beer-garden, and he will acknowledge that he feels a peculiar and utter sensation of weariness which is unknown except on the Continent. But no one can doubt that the Germans are thoroughly happy. This is shown not only by their air of gentle content, but by the extraordinary importance which they attach in common conversation to what we should think the most insignificant occurrences.—Such an event as a brewery giving its grand annual festival, or new cellars being inaugurated by a treat to the workmen, is discussed with the strangest outpourings of triumph, pleasure and pride. Long practice, too, or hereditary taste enables the Germans to take more of these pleasures than English people can do.

"We speak of a German spending seven or eight hours a day in smoking and drinking as a curious trait of character, as an odd national custom, as a habit of an animal different to ourselves; but why on earth does not all this beer and smoking make Germans billious? A German considers that, on busy days, he must limit himself to about twelve or fourteen cigars, while on holidays he takes from twenty to twenty-five. Brewers alone could calculate how much beer would be in proportion. We should like to know why this does not make Germans ill, particularly as they take no exercise except a little swimming. However that may be, the fact remains. The Germans can go on with their amusements, and find a continual relish in them. No wonder that this provokes the investigation of foreigners. Surely a people who can get so much amusement must be happy and have much to teach the rest of the world in the art of living.

The theatrical amusements are thus described:

"In every theatre players are called for, and approval is shown by shouting when they come. But in Germany it is done in a different way. The audience do not much care about scenic proprieties so long as they and their favorites have a prolonged friendly meeting. At a summer theatre in a small German town for instance, a pretty Jewish actor sang a little song that captivated her friends in the pit and boxes. She was called for again and again. So long did this last that "theatrical arrangements began to proceed without reference to her ovation. The clouds began to disappear. Next, the cottage in front of which she sang went away on the shoulders of an able-bodied porter; and then the attendants got emboldened, and placedly prepared a banquet for the next scene under her nose. The audience did not at all mind. They and the young lady were all at home, and there were no strangers to "make a fuss." So owing to the union between the audience and the stage, that the actors themselves behave like a second audience, when the performance of any one of their number especially delights them. This may be seen in places that might have been supposed to be too grand for such artless exhibitions.

"In Vienna, and at the principal theatre a comic opera was lately given, in which the hunting halls fairly thundered all the encores. The private should broke down without shame or discipline, and jumped away behind his back to better her employer. The officers may literally cannot, and at one against the flaky that were literally in pantomime of the whole house, and appeared a hopeless confusion before last night's English had confused matters still more. The only class that the Viennese are very happy, their are easily amused, and people who believe in fairy reserved and decorous why pass young by they regret their departed friends.

THE IMPERIAL CROWN OF ENGLAND.

Mr. William Pole has re-printed, for private circulation, a few letters on this subject. Mr. Tennent has added to them notes a postscript on the imperial state crown of Queen Victoria. Professor Tennent thus describes the crown:—"The imperial state crown of Her Majesty Queen Victoria was made by Messrs. Rundle and Bridge in the year 1838, with jewels taken from old crowns, and others furnished by command of Her Majesty. It consists of diamonds, pearls, rubies, sapphires, and emeralds, set in silver and gold; it has a crimson velvet cap, with ermine border, and is lined with white silk. Its gross weight is 39 oz 5 dwts. troy. The lower part of the band, above the ermine border, consists of a row of one hundred and twenty-nine pearls; and the upper part of the band, a row of one hundred and twelve pearls, between which, in front of the crown, is a large sapphire (partly drilled), purchased for the crown by His Majesty King George the Fourth. At the back is a sapphire of smaller size, and six other sapphire, (three on each side) between which are eight emeralds. Above and below the seven sapphires are fourteen diamonds, and around the eight emeralds one hundred and twenty-eight diamonds.—Above the band are eight sapphires, surmounted by eight diamonds, between which are eight festoons consisting of one hundred and forty-eight diamonds. In front of the crown, and in the centre of a diamond Maltese cross, is the famous ruby, said to have been given to Edward Prince of Wales, son of Edward the Third, called the Black Prince, by Don Pedro, King of Castile, after the battle of Agincourt, A. D. 1415. It is pierced quite through after the eastern custom, the upper part of the piercing being filled up by a small ruby.—Around this ruby, to form the cross, are seventy-five brilliant diamonds. Three other Maltese crosses, forming the two sides and back of the crown, have emerald centres, and contain respectively one hundred and thirty-two, one hundred and twenty-four, and one hundred and thirty brilliant diamonds. Between the four Maltese crosses are four ornaments in the form of the French fleur-de-lis, with four rubies in the centres, and surrounded by rose diamonds, containing respectively eighty-five, eighty-six, and eighty-seven rose diamonds. From the Maltese crosses issue four imperial arches composed of oak-leaves and acorns; the leaves containing seven hundred and twenty-eight rose, table, and brilliant diamonds; thirty-two pearls forming the acorns, set in cups containing fifty-four rose diamonds and one table diamond. The total number of diamonds in the arches and acorns is one hundred and eight brilliants, one hundred and sixteen table, and five hundred and fifteen rose diamonds. From the Upper part of the arches are suspended four large pendant pear-shaped pearls, with rose diamonds cups, containing twelve rose diamonds, and stems containing twenty-four rose diamonds.—Above the arch stands the mound, containing in the lower hemisphere three hundred and two brilliants, and in the upper, two hundred and forty four brilliants; the zone and are being composed of thirty-three rose diamonds. The cross on the summit has a rose-cut sapphire in the centre, surrounded by four large brilliants, and one hundred and eight smaller brilliants. Summary of jewels comprised in the crown: one large ruby irregularly polished; one large broad spread sapphire; sixteen sapphires; eleven emeralds; four rubies; one thousand three hundred and sixty-three brilliant diamonds; one thousand two hundred and seventy-three rose diamonds; one hundred and forty-seven table diamonds; four drop-shaped pearls; two hundred and seventy-three pearls."

MYSTERIOUS AND HORRIBLE MURDER.

THEFT OF FORTY THOUSAND DOLLARS IN MONEY AND DIAMONDS.

THE MURDERER AT LARGE.

The New York Tribune of last Saturday gave an account of the finding of the body of a respectably-dressed, but unknown man, in the water at Applegate's Landing, near the Highlands, on the Jersey shore.

The deceased, from appearance, was a German, and had been in the water but a short time. There were about twenty frightful stabs on the body, mostly in the abdomen and left side. The Jury rendered a verdict that the deceased came to his death by violence at the hands of persons unknown to the Jury. The deceased was dressed in a black suit, linen shirt, and Congress gaiters. $110 in gold and between two and three dollars in silver were found in his pockets, together with a gold-plated tobacco or snuff-box, containing a finger-ring marked Lavi ——, and a German newspaper.

The body was placed in ice to await identification. Mr. D. Lowenthall of this city, who proceeded to Middletown, N.J., where the body was in keeping, on Tuesday, identified it as that of Mr. Sigismund Fellner, recently arrived in this county from the city of Mainz, in the Grand Duchy of Hesse.

It appears that Mr. Fellner arrived in this city from Germany, via Southampton, in the steamship Bavaria, on the 20th of September. His business here was special, and altogether with German Jews. He put up at the Prescott House for some time, but on the 15th instant left to get another boarding place. He left in company with a strange man,

"DRIFTING" INTO ABOLITION.

It does not need much philosophic foresight to see that the events of the past year have put in train the beginning of the end of American Slavery. Slavery in the offspring of war; but War, like the mythical Saturn, devours and destroys his own children. Not that any direct action has been taken, as yet, by the civil or military chiefs of the land, looking toward the proclamation of freedom to the slaves of the South; nor even that there is likely to be any action of this kind taken in the future—but the strong, deep current of events, which sweep through nations with far greater force than decrees or proclamations, tends to this as its ultimate solution, clearly, directly and inevitably. Only a few days since, President Lincoln was asked by a Western Member of Congress: "Do you not believe you will soon have to adopt the principle of Fremont's proclamation?" "We are drifting in that direction," was the answer of the sagacious Chief Magistrate.

At the date of Mr. Lincoln's election, and for a long time before that period, the social element of negro slavery, by a curious combination of circumstances, was and had been the controlling element in American government policy. Every other popular interest was made subsidiary to its claims; every other principle had to bend or break before its unbending and imperious spirit. At the central seat of the nation's power—in every local centre of political action—in the church, in trade, and in society, the bleak spear-tailed demon presented himself and demanded obeisance. He was in direct command of the army, the navy, and the clergy, and all powers and principalities were subordinated to his rule. To be rebuked, as he was a year ago, by the stern and potent voice of the North, drove him to madness—and Secession was the result.

When the Secession plot was concocted it was the design of the conspirators to carry out of the Federal Union the whole of the fifteen Slave States, the bulk of the great Western Territories, and one at least of the States on the Pacific coast. It was their design then to seize at once the rich mineral provinces and States of Northern Mexico, and as speedily as possible to extend their domain adown the continent to the Isthmus of Panama. The whole of this magnificent country was to be consolidated into a great Slave Empire, with the negroes and mixed races who inhabit it as the bondmen of the powerful white oligarchy who should rule it. This glittering programme has ever been held up before the eyes of the great slaveholders and "poor whites" of the South for years. The former have been tempted by the prospects of power and empire; the latter having been elated by the hope of cheap negroes and plenty of them, consequent upon the prospective re-opening of the African slave-trade. Every one acquainted with the literature and oratory of the South for the last ten years knows what glowing pictures of power, of wealth, and of abundant slaves have been displayed, as consequent upon Southern independence. Senators Toombs, Slidell, Jefferson Davis, and scores of others, De Bow's Review, the Southern Quarterly, and most of the Southern newspapers, have painted, in the most fascinating, grotesque and infernal hues, the glories of the slaveocracy which they meant to raise up on the fairest and richest portion of God's world.

But the Secessionists failed in the first place, in their efforts to detach all the Slave States from the Federal Union, and their want of success in this particular involves not only the failure of the original programme, but has put in train the peculiar series of events which must ultimately overthrow the power from which the Secession rebellion sprung.

The extensive Slave States of Missouri, Kentucky, Maryland, and Delaware are still within the pale of the Federal Union; and the new Slave State of Kanawha (or Virginia west of the Alleghanies) is also attached to the old Government. In these States, are there about half-a-million slaves, and it is in these States that the system of slavery, so far, has received the most apparent shock. We say apparent shock—for there the effects of the war are at present most noticeable. But the system of American slavery must really stand or fall, as a whole; and when once the ice cracks at any one moment to the centre and to the furthest extremities, until the slave organism is everywhere broken up in an indiscriminate crash. And take, as the most striking example of the general breaking-up that has begun in the South, the present condition of the State of Missouri. This State had within its borders, at the date of last year's census, 114,965 slaves. The bulk of these slaves are in that half of the State which lies south of the Missouri river and they are mostly owned by small planters who employ them in agricultural work. They are a tolerably intelligent and very shrewd body of slaves, and are much less degraded than the cotton, rice and sugar-cultivating negroes of the far South. Most of them have conceptions of freedom more or less accurate; and many of them are thoroughly dissatisfied with their conditions of bondage. Like the slave in most other Southern States, they have only been kept in subjection by terror, while they have been prevented from decamping in large numbers into the adjoining Free States only by the Fugitive Slave Law. But all Missouri north of the river, and nearly all that is south of it, is now in possession of the national army, which is composed almost entirely of soldiers enlisted from the Free States, and which, whatever may have been the previous individual opinions of the men on slavery, or whatever may be the action of the Government, is now practically abolition in its action, if not anti-slavery in its sentiment and theory. Few, indeed, of the Missourian slaves who have come within the lines of the army and asked protection have been returned to their masters; they are generally either used as servants, employed on the intrenchments, or told to "go where they please, and fend for themselves." A large number of the owners of negroes have left their homes, slaves and all, and joined the Secession army; and it is not very likely that the Federal soldier who is seeking to kill the master will be unduly careful of preserving for him his slaves. Besides, General Fremont's celebrated proclamation gave freedom to all the slaves of rebel masters; and though the proclamation has been modified by the President and the General himself removed yet we venture to say that the knowledge of that proclamation is already in every negro cabin in Missouri, and will produce its results surely and irreversibly. Besides this, many of the commanders of colonels and regiments of National troops in Missouri are radically anti-slavery men, who have taken good care, as they marched through the State, that the seeds they have at heart suffer no detriment from the progress of their arms. The terrible General Jim Lane is an abolitionist and anti-slavery man as John Brown himself was; and in his recent march from Kansas city to near the Arkansas border, he left not a single slave in his rear; he surely gave the slaveowners a certificate that each and each claimed were lost "by the chance of war's brigade!" The guerilla chieftain, Montgomery, also operating in that section, is a burning-eyed, uncompromising anti-slavery enthusiast, whose zeal is absorbed in the single idea of giving liberty to the blacks. We might enumerate many other men of the same stamp engaged in military operations all over the Slave State of Missouri, but we refrain. Certain it is that, with such an army as is now in Missouri traversing every county of the State, slavery there has received a shock such as makes certain its early doom. Thousands of black fugitives have taken refuge in Kansas and the other Free States on the borders; while many thousands have been hurried southward out of the State of their masters, and taken to regions where human property will be temporarily more secure. Lose graphically describes the condition of affairs in the State by saying that a black army is marching out of it, while a white army is marching in. If the National army proceed southward to Arkansas, the next Slave State below Missouri, pretty much the same thing will most likely be enacted there, until the slave organization is thrown into irretrievable confusion. For slavery cannot long exist in any State after the system is once thoroughly shaken up by the advance of an armed foe.

In Kentucky, slavery has not yet been interfered with to the same extent that it has in Missouri—among other things, for the reason that fighting has hardly yet commenced in that State. But the vigorous anti-slavery element which has always existed there is now laying its plans with a view to coming events; and the results will undoubtedly appear before this war is over. In Kentucky slavery assumes its mildest form; and as the bulk of the people are not at all fanatical in its support, and as the more intelligent of them recognise it as the cause of the present war, which so fearfully afflicts them, it would not be surprising to see a party assume control there, proposed to take legislative action for its gradual abolition. Tennessee, which borders Kentucky on the south, is almost exactly analogous to it in every social, political and material aspect; and when the Northern arms penetrate to Nashville, as most likely they will before the winter passes away, we will find the same state of things taking place there as is now taking place in Missouri, to be followed most probably by similar results.

In the new State of Kanawha there are only some eight thousand slaves altogether and as the soldiers of the Northwest have marched through the whole State, and now hold possession of it, it can hardly be supposed that these eight thousand, scattered over a country so extensive as Western Virginia will long lack the opportunity of taking unto themselves wings and fleeing away. Besides, a large part of them being the property of Secession masters, are now actually free by the operation of the Confiscation Act of last Congress.

In the little Slave State of Delaware the system has such a feeble hold, and was so rapidly dying out by the operation of natural laws, that is only needed the shadow of the moral and social revolution springing from this war to fall upon it in order to annihilate it altogether. The few hundred slaves there will disappear speedily enough now.

In the State of Maryland, which, last year, had nearly ninety thousand slaves tightly in its grasp, the tenure of slave property is now exceedingly fragile. The bulk of the slaves in that State is in that section known as the "Eastern Shore," and in the southwestern corner of the State. The long stretch of country bordering on Pennsylvania has but few slaves, and is very mild in its pro-slavery sentiment. The southern part of the State is the Secession part of the State, from when so many have gone to join the Secession army; and not a few of its slaves have felt and will feel the application of the Confiscation Act.—In this section, also, the brigade of General Dan Sickles has been operating for the last six months; and General Sickles, though he was a pro-slavery politician a year ago, is not the man to put himself out of the way to arrest fugitive negroes. It is even said that he has not scrupled occasionally to "grease their heels," himself, and to wink severely at such doings in others. Besides all this, a powerful anti-slavery sentiment is beginning to exhibit itself in the State. In Baltimore, a couple of weeks ago, Ex-Governor Thomas, one of the ablest and most influential politicians in the State, delivered to a crowded audience a speech which foreshadowed the early doom of the institution in Maryland. A year ago, such a speech in that city would have cost the speaker his life. Other public men have expressed themselves equally strong, and the local sentiment that sustains them is getting bolder every day. With three such powerful influences to work against slavery in Maryland, it is not hard to prophesy the future course of events.

In the seceded Slave States, too, anti-slave influences are already at work.—Every slave in Virginia has heard of Fortress Monroe, and of the strange doctrine of slaves being "contraband;" and they are now beginning to learn that the Abolitionists will neither roast them alive nor back them in pieces nor crucify them, if they should get in among them. If it were not for the difficulty of the sixtes of Virginia getting through the military lines of the rebels, a long black cloud of human chattels would soon be seen sweeping northward from "Old Virginia shore." If the Federal army ever get possession of the State, what shall be done with the half-million of Virginia Slaves?

In the far South, too, among the cotton and rice and sugar plantations, the blacksmoors are now beginning to hear strange things and to whisper them to one another. Many of them heard of "Massa" Freemont in 1856; and in their rude fancies figured him as a mighty black king, armed with the sword and with thunder, who was coming down to set them all free. And though they believed that he was thus slain, many of them have lately learned that he has risen again from the dead! Those black half-human cattle on the great plantations of the Southern coast have even now their ears cocked in expectation of hearing something, they know not what; and of being put in possession of something called freedom—though they know not what the word or the thing can mean. When once they learn from the echoes of the National cannon now on the Carolina coast what is the real state of affairs, it will be hard ever to make any part of them docile slaves again.

The instructions given by Secretary of War Cameron to the commander of the naval expedition now on the Carolina coast, contain these words:

"You will, in general, avail yourself of the services of any persons, whether fugitives from labor or not, who may offer them to the National Government; you will employ such persons in such service as they may be fitted for, either as ordinary employés, or, if special circumstances seem to require it, in any other capacity, with such organization, in squads, companies, &c. &c. as circumstances may render most feasible to the purpose."

These instructions were given to a Naticommander now operating in a State which contains over four hundred thousand slaves! The Act of Congress, also of August last, discharges from "labor or service"—that is, sets free—every slave who has been used by the rebels, directly or indirectly, in carrying on the war. How such a law will operate in those States which claim to be omnipotent for Secession it is not hard to see. The fact is, that the existence of slavery depended upon the existence of peace. And now that war has been begun, and is being carried into the very heart of the Slave States, under auspices such as we have mentioned—well, what shall happen, time will tell.—Scottish American Journal.

THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION.

SUCCESS OF THE U. S. NAVAL EXPEDITION.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 12.

The Enquirer has the following from Fortress Monroe, derived from rebel sources:—In anticipation of the great expedition, the rebels have been engaged erecting batteries upon a point at Hilton's Head and on the opposite neck of land. The principal fortification on Hilton's Head was denominated Fort Walker, situated on low land, and partially concealed by trees and underbrush. Adjoining it were other batteries of smaller size, but so concealed as to prove a formidable bar to the entrance of vessels. Fort Beaufort was of considerable importance, having been mounted with heavy guns. The garrisons are supposed to have been S. C. Regiments, assisted by additional Regiments sent from Richmond. The batteries at Bay Point were equally as formidable. Inside of Port Royal entrance, and behind the batteries, lay the fleet of Commodore Tatnall, which consisted of only small vessels, carrying a few heavy guns, but principally light ones. Tugs constituted a great portion of the fleet; many of these remained outside of the mouth of the entrance till the arrival of our fleet, when they formed in line of battle, behind the guns of the new forts and across the mouth of the entrance. On the morning of Thursday last the U. S. fleet, numbering forty-two vessels, headed by the flag ship approached the mouth of Port Royal entrance. This was at half-past 9 o'clock. Several of the transports then arrived off the coast. The approach of the great fleet created a great stir in the rebel batteries.

Upon arriving at a suitable position the guns of the fleet opened a continuous fire upon Forts Walker and Beauregard, as well as those upon Bay Point. Under cover of the fire an attempt was made to run the gauntlet of the batteries; the result of which was eminently satisfactory. A number of the vessels passed through the shot and shell from the shore batteries with very trifling injury; at least 15 of them succeeded in passing up the entrance beyond the reach of the Island batteries. As the Union flag sailed up the Musquito, the fleet of Commodore Tatnall opened fire, but seeing the impossibility of making any resistance soon dispersed. Some were forced to run ashore while others were driven up the Inlets almost out of sight.—Commodore Tatnall went on shore with his men to assist in working the batteries, and and use them against the vessels of the Union flag, which were endeavoring to follow the advances of the Union force. It must not be imagined, however, that the passage of the fleet through the channel was the work of a moment, it was not accomplished until the firing was continued from 4.30 a. m. till nearly 5 p. m. During the firing on the Union gun-boats one is believed to have been burned, and three of the steamers disabled.

It is acknowledged by the enemy that they had 20 killed at Fort Walker, but it is impossible to state what their loss was at other batteries, although it was doubtless great. Our fire is mentioned as having been very effective, the guns being very well served, and of heavy calibre.

No sooner did our vessels go past the batteries at Port Royal entrance, and slide into what is termed Broad River, than they made for the mouths of the inlets leading to Beaufort, Savannah and Charleston. These they immediately blockaded, though not in time to prevent the escape of some small Rebel vessels.

Not one of the Federal vessels was sunk, and the only one believed to have been destroyed is the gunboat referred to above. The burning of her is described as being a grand spectacle, the guns going off as the flames reached them, throwing the shells far into the woods on shore. Her crew is said to have passed through a murderous fire to another vessel which they reached with very little if any loss.

The Union vessels acted under special instructions in blockading the inlets, which led to most important points, and which afforded loopholes of escape to the enemy. While a portion of the fleet entered upon the duty, four vessels made at once for Beaufort, and at three o'clock on Thursday these vessels were in sight of the town.

A despatch dated Beaufort, 5th Nov., to the Charleston Mercury, says, at the time designated the Union forces were preparing to effect a landing, evidently with the design of throwing up entrenchments and attacking the town.

We have no means of knowing the exact loss of the Union forces, but the rebels confess that their firing was very bad, and their artillerymen badly in want of practice. They declare, moreover, that the guns in fort were not properly mounted. When Com. Tatnall went to assist the men in the fort, he found that many of their cannon were actually dismounted by their own rebound. To this fault the rebel journals attribute their defeat, and loudly call upon the Confederate Government to find out where the blame rests.

Cincinatti, Nov. 12.—The defeat of the Union forces at Guyandotte was accomplished by treachery on the part of the inhabitants. It was arranged between the rebel cavalry and the rebel citizens to massacre our troops in cold blood. Accordingly, the rebel citizens were very kind to our men last Sunday evening, and invited them to their houses on various pretexts, and all who were off duty accepted the invitation. While they were being entertained, at half-past eight o'clock, the rebel cavalry dashed into the town; signals were displayed from every house where our men were, and into them the rebels rushed, murdering our unarmed soldiers in cold blood. The rebel citizens, men, women and children rushed to arms, and aided the cavalry in the work of slaughter. The Federal troops in the camp prepared as soon as possible for defence, but were overpowered and had to flee. Very few of our men were killed in the engagement with the cavalry, all being massacred in the houses.

When Col. Seigle arrived, on learning the particulars of the affair, he ordered the destruction of the town.

New York, Nov. 13th.—A special dispatch from Fortress Monroe states that on Thursday morning the entire fleet formed in two grand lines for the fight; both forts responded vigorously. The "Pawnee" and "Pocahontas," having got aground, were accidentally damaged. The bombardment lasted between four and five hours, when the rebel flag on Fort Walker came down. The enemy's loss is supposed to be 200. The rebels retired across Skull Creek to a village 25 miles in the interior, where it is supposed they intend to make a stand.—The negroes had already begun to pillage and destroy Beaufort. The white population had fled to Charleston in small steamers by an inside route.

Every one of our men entered into the fight with the determination that the forts should be silenced, though it cost our entire fleet. Not a single shell sent by the rebels burst on a ship. The fleet stood from 800 to 1,000 yards off the forts, used five-second fuses, and poured shells into them at the rate of 2,000 per hour. The "Wabash" was struck several times, as was most of the fleet; but every ship was in good fighting condition when the rebels took to their heels.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.

Flag-ship Wabash, off Hilton Head, Port Royal harbor, Nov. 8.—Hon. Gideon Wells, Secretary of the Navy, Washington,—Sir: I have the honor to inform you that yesterday I attacked the batteries of the enemy on Bay Point and Hilton Head, and Forts Walker and Beauregard, and succeeded in silencing them after an engagement of 4 hours' duration, and driving away the squadron of rebel steamers under Commodore Tatnall. The reconnoissance of yesterday made us satisfied with the superiority of Fort Walker, and to that I directed my special efforts, engaging it at a distance of 800 yards, and afterwards at 600 yards. But the plan of attack brought the squadron sufficiently near Fort Beauregard to receive its fire, and the ships were frequently fighting the batteries on both sides at the same time.

The action was begun on my part at 20 minutes after 9 o'clock, and at half-past 2 the American Ensign was hoisted on the flag-staff of Fort Walker, and this morning at sunrise, on that of Fort Beauregard.—The defeat of the enemy terminated in utter route and confusion. Their quarters and encampments were abandoned without any attempt to carry away either public or private property. The ground over which they fled was strewn with the arms of private soldiers, and the officers retired in too much haste to submit to the encumbrance of their swords. Landing my marines and a company of seamen, I took possession of the deserted ground, and held the forts on Hilton Head, till the arrival of General Sherman, to whom I had the honor to transfer their command.

We captured 43 pieces of cannon, most of them of the heaviest calibre and of the most improved description. The bearer of these despatches will have the honor to carry with him the captured flags, and two small brass field-pieces, lately belonging to the State of S. C., which are sent home as trophies of the success of the day. I enclose herewith a copy of the General Order which is to be read in the fleet to-morrow morning at muster. A detailed account of this battle will be submitted hereafter. I have the honor to be very respectfully your obedient servant.

S. F. DUPONT, Flag Officer,
Commanding South Atlantic Blockading Squadron.

HILTON, Port-Royal Bay, Nov. 8.

It is the grateful duty of the Commander-in-Chief to make a public acknowledgement of his entire commendation of the coolness, discipline, skill, and gallantry displayed by the officers and men under his command, in the capture of the batteries at Hilton Head and Bay Point, after an action of four hours duration. The Flag-Officer fully sympathises with the Officers and men of his Squadron, in the satisfaction they must feel at seeing the ensign of the United States flying once more in the State of Carolina, which has been the chief promoter of the wicked and unprovoked rebellion, they have been called upon to suppress.

(Signed) S. F. DUPONT, Flag-Officer,
Commanding South Atlantic Blockading Squadron.

BOSTON, Nov. 13.

The Transcript is furnished with an extract from a letter written by an intelligent soldier in the Naval Brigade at Fortress Monroe, under date Nov. 11th, as follows: "This morning news reached here that 3,000 soldiers of the rebel army had mutinied at Norfolk, and most of the citizens had determined only to fight for the Union under the old gridiron." In confirmation of this intelligence, Capt. Sechwood, of the U. S., tug-boat, reports that the stars-and-strips were flying gloriously from Pig Point opposite Newport News, where the rebels have for a long time had a formidable battery.

CAPTURE OF SLIDELL & MASON

OUTRAGE ON THE BRITISH FLAG.

Fort Monroe, Nov. 15.

The United States steamer San Jacinto has just arrived from the coast of Africa via the West Indies, where she has been cruising for some six weeks.

Old Point was electrified by the tidings that the San Jacinto had on board Messrs Slidell and Mason, who were going abroad as Ministers of the Southern Confederacy to England and France, but were taken from an English steamer in the channel of the Bahamas.

The San Jacinto will soon proceed to New York with her distinguished visitors.

Commodore Wilkes reported the news at head-quarters in person, and will forward his dispatched to-night.

The Confederates assume to make light of the affair at Port Royal, but at the same time betray their apprehensions of the results.

Fort Monroe, Nov. 15.

A special dispatch to the Tribune says:—Mason and Slidell were aboard a British steamer. Wilkes sent aboard and demanded their surrender. The reply was "There is not enough force to take them." Wilkes sent an additional force and put the San Jacinto in a convenient position. Slidell and Mason were surrounded. The English steamer took them on board, not knowing who they were, or their business or their destination. Captain Wilkes, it is understood, acted upon his own responsibility. General Wool granted Slidell and Mason permission to send open letters to their friends.

Washington, Nov. 16.

The intelligence of the capture of Slidell and Mason has diffused the greatest possible joy among all classes, including of course Government Officers, from the President down to the humblest messenger. The brilliant exploit at Port Royal was certainly not more, if quite as electrical in its effect upon the public mind, as the taking of those generally regarded unprincipled and dangerous commissioners.

The Herald's Washington special states that the President and Cabinet are quite elated over the arrest of Slidell and Mason. The proposition now is if England demands satisfaction to disavow the act, assert that Wilkes made the arrest on his own responsibility, apologize, if necessary, and promote Wilkes to an Admiralship.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Room Paper Depot—Robert Stevenson.
St. Andrew's Dinner.
Sleigh—James Hamilton.
Business Card—H. Irvine.
Fisher's Hotel—Amos J. Fisher.
New Livery Stable—Thos. J. Fisher.
Card of Thanks—Chris. Leary.
School Teacher Wanted.
Notice to School Trustees.
Temperance—D. Pentland.
Notice—W. Wood.
Tea, Sugar, Coffee, &c—Ogilvy & Hood.

The Examiner.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1861.

"LOOKING TO WASHINGTON."

This expression said by the Ministerial press to have been made last session by Mr. McDougall has been used by the Ministerial party to indicate that there was a desire on the part of the Opposition to seek assistance from the American Government. We confess that until lately we have looked upon the use of this expression as merely a bit of political clap-trap, that any where outside of West Brant it meant nothing further than a fling at the opposite party, but when we discover that a serious attempt has been made by parties, whose opinion carries weight, to turn the words to the advantage of one party and to the disparagement of another, it is time to rebuke the aggressors as they deserve. The words were uttered, if uttered at all, in the Assembly by a member in the heat of a debate. They were never repeated or adopted by any other member of the party to which Mr. McDougall belongs,—it was a mere escapade of his own. He and he alone is solely responsible for them and all they are supposed to represent; consequently, the Opposition party are not responsible therefor. As well may you charge the Ministerial party with disloyalty, as one of the members of the Government some twelve years ago signed an annexation manifesto, as charge a party as is attempted with a crime it is innocent of. The oft-repeated charges against the Opposition of using an election cry that had no foundation in fact, was never so palpable as the one now under review. We stated above that it is but recently that we have really noticed the matter seriously, taking for granted what every sensible man in the community in his sober moments will admit, that the expression afforded merely a good opportunity to turn a joke upon an opposite political party, but when we read the Att'y General West's telegram to the committee of Mr. Smith's dinner party at Peterboro', we find that gentleman making something more than a political joke of it. He makes use of it in a tangible way, and in a very offensive manner fastens upon his political opponents the charges of unconstitutionality and disloyalty. Here are his words: "I had intended to be present at the celebration of the great victory gained by the constitutional party in the late election for the Trent electoral division. The electors of Trent have at the late election recorded in a most unmistakable manner their determination to adhere to the connexion with Great Britain and to maintain the union of the two sections of the Province. By electing a member of the present government they have decided their abhorrence of disunion, and their resolve not to look to Washington." The converse of all which is simply that those who opposed the Postmaster General in the Trent election were the unconstitutional party, and those who recorded their votes against him were those in favour of a separation from Great Britain, a dissolution of the union of the Provinces, and of "looking to Washington." Now we say that this is false and that the Attorney General, when he penned the sentence knew that he was grossly libelling a large and influential body of the Trent electors, who are as constitutional a body of men, and as loyal to the mother country as any other body of men not only in Trent but in Canada. We defy the Attorney General West to select ten disloyal electors in the Division, and we further defy him to "select from the columns of the Globe a reputed slander" more false and foul than this one which he has seen fit so gratuitously to launch against the Trent electors. We point to the fact that the head of the Upper Canada portion of the Government has adopted the theory that the opposition is de facto disloyal. It shows that he is hard pushed to fasten anything like a fair charge against them, and it is to be hoped he will receive when the House meets the castigation his impudence and temerity deserve. To attempt to argue or to endeavour to show that this section, or in fact any section of Canada, is loyal, appears to us as a work of supererogation. Canada is proverbially loyal to the Parent State, and ever has been so even in the darkest days of its political history. In the gloomy period of the rebellion of 1837 and '38, the committee appointed by the House of Assembly to report upon the political state of the Provinces of Upper and Lower Canada, when the political atmosphere of both sections of the Province was indeed lowering in the extreme, and when the most intense disgust was expressed against the arbitrary rulers of those days, the Committee then reported to the House, 8th February, 1838: "With respect to the loyalty of the inhabitants of Upper Canada your Committee will not insult the noble pride and exalted patriotism of their fellow subjects by any sentence or word that could imply in the most distant degree that there was a necessity for defending it. They point to their descent, they point to their deeds in a former war, and they point to their present attitude and bearing at this moment of threatened invasion and revolt, and they bid their calumniators—be they in the British Senate or elsewhere—to point out the stain or reproach that rests upon their fair fame as loyal men and true to their Sovereign and country." At this period the entire population of Upper Canada fell short of 400,000. The province has more than trebled since, and pray from whence have such numbers come from but from the Parent State. The tide from foreign states have never shown any symptoms of disloyalty. From whence then, or from whom can disloyalty come? From British born subjects? surely not. Will a sane man dare make the avowal, in the face of the community, that in a country so prosperous as Canada has been and is now, that the bulk of the people born under British rule and enjoying peace and plenty and a constitutional government, that about the half of these are disloyal.—The declaration would be absurd, and the individual making it deserves the just execration of the entire country. If at a time when the greatest cause of dissatisfaction existed, a select Committee of the House of Assembly would pronounce the country loyal, when no such causes exist, who but a base slanderer and a liar would brand disloyalty on any section of the people? If John A. McDonald will have the hardihood to repeat his foul slanders we trust he will meet his deserts. If for no other reason he deserves being hauled from his present position for his uncalled for, wanton, and false insinuendoes on a large body of good men and true to their Sovereign and country. The charges made by the Opposition against the Ministry have had some appearance of truth to say the least, but in the false and unjust charge of disloyalty so freely made by the Ministerial party against their political opponents the animus of the party making it is manifest. The Ministerial weakness discovers itself as well. The ruse made to blow dust in the people's eyes may answer for once, but sober sense will discover the cheat. Look at the facts. Not a candidate at the last elections from Gaspe to Sarnia uttered a word about separation from Great Britain or "looking to Washington" in his Address to the electors, and we know of no one advocating the dissolution of the existing union between Upper and Lower Canada. Where, we ask again, is this disloyalty? Is it in Upper or Lower Canada? We defy the "Moderates" as they term themselves, to point out a single section of the country where there is disloyalty. The party so shallow, so unfair and unjust, are certainly a "moderate" crew. And as to the dissolution scheme we know it originated in the Convention held in Toronto in Nov. 1859, and the paternity of it is ascribed to Mr. Geo. Sheppard then sub-editor of the Globe, now editor of the Leader, and since he has turned tail to the Grits, he now makes his boast that he entrapped the Opposition by its introduction. A man that sells one party can sell another. He can pander to public taste to order, "Grit" or "Moderate,"—he cares not which. So much for penny-a-line beartlessness.

BEFORE AND AFTER.

When Postmaster General Smith was before the electors of the County of Peterborough as a candidate for their suffrages his promises were of the most magnificent description. Macadamised roads in every township—Post-offices everywhere throughout the country — Cotton and Woollen Factories on the Otonabee, only limited in number by exhaustion of the water power —were but a few of the innumerable advantages to be derived from Mr. Smith's residence here, if he should be elected for the Trent Division.

In common, however, with others less romantic and imaginative than the enthusiasts who believed in Mr. Smith, we did hope that after his election he would at least relieve us from the Mediæval mail-system with which we have been afflicted for a long time past. If not from the prompting of gratitude, we considered that self-interest and a desire to become acquainted in due season with what was transpiring in more-favored postal regions, would have induced the Postmaster General to get our letters and newspapers through in due course, instead of a day behind time, as at present. We should like to know whether our able departmental administrative member (!) considers the present arrangement the best he can give us; or, if not, why he delays the remedy. If the mails cannot reach us sufficiently early by railroad, the gravel road is still in existences, and by that route we could easily receive our newspapers the same day they are printed.

There is no time like the present for effecting the improvement. The present ministry may not last so long as Mr. Smith expects, and the opportunity of doing the little good we have pointed out may soon be lost to him for ever.

☞ We are requested to state that as the year is drawing to a close all parties having any claim against the Corporation will please send them into the Clerk without delay, as the Council wish to close up their business so as not to leave as heretofore a legacy to their successors in the shape of liabilities without the means of liquidation.

☞ The Globe, speaking of the Peterboro Review's publishing a paragraph pretended to have been taken from its fyles, which never appeared therein, says:

"To make out its impudent charge of 'mendacity' against the GLOBE, the Review manufactures a lie out of whole cloth."

If the editor of the Globe knew as much of the Review as we do he would have saved his valuable space for something more worthy his attention. It is no news to any one in this part of the country that lies against the Globe and every other anti-ministerial institution are "manufactured out of whole cloth" by the Double Shuffle organ here.

☞ The Review has discovered that a second "Boss Dogberry" exists in our midst in the person of Mr. W. Cumming, Chief Constable for the Town, and because Mr. C. had the hardihood to express his honest opinion that the Review is a "filthy sheet" his sins as a public officer have increased manyfold in the editor's eyes.

Shakespeare's "Boss Dogberry," if our memory serves us aright, was a source of annoyance to a certain ear in the streets of Messina, which had a wicked propensity of snarling at and biting all objects of its hatred. In this particular the simile is well placed, for "our Boss Dogberry's" Market Block cur is a vicious and ill-behaved little brat, much needing correction.

PROVINCIAL INSURANCE COMPANY.—In connection with the card of thanks of Mr. Christopher Leary in our advertising columns, we have pleasure in copying the following from the Hamilton Spectator:

"On all hands, and from all quarters, we receive evidence of the handsome and liberal manner in which this Company treats its customers. As a Canadian Company we are justly proud of it, while at the same time the security it affords to the public will bear favorable comparison with any Company doing business in the Province."

ACCIDENT.—On Friday the 8th instant as Mr. Francis Burney of the township of Monaghan, was assisting his brother Mr. Thomas Burney in carrying a dead hog into the house, he stumbled over a rail or piece of wood,—fell, and broke the small bone of his leg. Dr. McKeon of Peterboro was immediately sent for, and was promptly in attendance; he dressed the wound and thinks that with judicious treatment and good care, the injury, although serious, will not be of long duration.

(Com.

☞ Our thanks are due to a friend for late numbers of the British Columbian, published at New Westminster, British Columbia. They contain a few interesting facts which we have made note of and will publish.

☞ St. Andrew's Anniversary will be celebrated by a dinner at Caisse's Hotel, on the evening of Friday, 29th instant.—It will we hope be as successful as the St. Andrew's Society Dinners of the past few years.

TOWN COUNCIL.

A communication from Mr. W. Sargent, Inspector of Weights and Measures, was read. Mr. S. recommended the Council to publish the names of parties having light weights in Town; he found a large number of such in his inspecting tour.

A petition from John Curtain, asking the Council to interfere in the case of his being fined for selling liquor without license, was referred to Committee on Finance and Assessment.

A petition from G. W. Robinson and others, asking the Council to remit the taxes on the property assessed to them which was burnt lately, was referred to the Court of Revision.

Several accounts were read and referred to Finance Committee.

A petition from John Thompson, who was fined recently for an infraction of the Building By-law, asking the Council to reduce the fine, and to exempt the building till next Spring from the operations of the By-law, was read. Also, a petition from several rate-payers praying the Council to accede to the prayer of Mr. Thompson's petition. Referred to Finance Committee.

A petition from W. Lundy and 88 others, asking the Council to amend the Building By-law so as to exempt sheds from its operation, was read and referred to special Committee.

Petitions from John Walsh and Captain Fraser, complaining of over assessment, were read.

A communication from Thos White, jr. tendering his resignation as Assessor, and requesting a check for his salary, was read, and received.

The resignation of Thomas White, jr., was accepted.

A report from the Finance Committee, recommending a check to issue for the appropriation of cutting down the hill near Mr. Dickson's, was read and received.

The Streets and Bridges Committee were authorised to spend a sum of money on Simcoe Street not exceeding twelve dollars.

A special Committee of three, viz., Messrs. Ormond, Dickson, and Ryan, were appointed to report at the next meeting of the Council, on the Fire By-law, and the Clerk instructed to write to the Clerk of the Town of Lindsay for a copy of their Fire By-law.

The Council then adjourned till Monday morning next, at 9 o'clock.

For the Examiner.

LIFE ASSURANCE.—No. 3.

That man who has an opportunity of assuring his life, and does not avail himself of it, neglects a very important duty. Life is uncertain. It is a well ascertained fact that out of a large number of human beings a certain proportion will die yearly. No man can predicate at what age he will die, and although it would be impossible to fix upon the particular person or persons who will die annually, it is certain that out of a given number a large proportion must die every year. We take an illustration of this remark from an authentic source:—Out of one hundred thousand persons one half will live to 45 years of age, six thousand one hundred and fifty-one will live to the age of 29, and out of the survivors one in a hundred will die the following year, thirty-seven thousand nine hundred and ninety-six will live to the age of 60; and one thousand one hundred and twenty-two will die in their 60th year. Death, however uncertain with reference to single individuals is quite sure in its operations upon a given number. No man can tell how or when he shall be torn from the friends he loves, whether in youth, middle age, or in old age.

"The good man leaveth an inheritance to his children," says Solomon. Life assurance offers a secure provision for a family in case of a husband, or brother, of son, on whose assistance the family is dependant being taken away. The celebrated Henry Lake makes the following remarks respecting life assurance:

"It not only enables the man of mere income to perpetuate its advantages to his survivors, it provides jointures for widows, and endowments for children; it enables borrowers to pay off mortgages, and landlords the incumbrances on their estates, it provides for reversions, and aids Executors in the payment of legacies and bequests; it secures the renewal of his lease to the farmer, or to his family the return of the capital he may have sunk in improvements; in partnerships it provides against the sudden withdrawal of capital on the death of a partner, it assists the needy man to borrow with safety, and the creditor to secure himself from loss; it strikes down the barrier between the younger sons and rich heirs; it softens the hearts of fathers and trustees, and enables them with perfect safety to make advances under marriage settlements; its improves the condition of the people, and would almost totally remove pauperism from the land."

Is there a husband, or an affectionate parent, who can coolly contemplate the hour of death, when his beloved ones may be deprived of the strength of his arm to save them from the cold charities of the world. These are considerations which ought to occupy the attention of every right-thinking man. It is true he may be engaged in a business which promises in a few years to secure his family from want, but we repeat that life is uncertain. Every where around us the busy and flourishing are cut down in the prime of life. Who would venture to leave his wife and children to the uncertain condition in which his affairs may be found at his death.

It is to be hoped that the great importance of Life Assurance will be more carefully considered by the public. Let men consider the claims of their families before any other.

Some men experience a difficulty in providing a small portion of their earnings, to be paid as a premium on a Life Assurance. Let us see how the difficulty bears scrutiny. A person at the age of 25 can insure his life for one hundred pounds at 15 cents a week, a sum which the poorest laboring man can afford by denying himself of any half a pound of tobacco a week. I would venture to say there is not a man in the Town of Peterboro who does not spend every year in some unnecessary luxuries or pleasures more than would insure for £100, thereby saving his family from the possibility even of being in destitution at his death.

ONE OF THE INSURED.

News of the Week.

....Another famine is anticipated in Ireland, the potato crop having proved almost a total failure.

....Lord Brougham has been prevented from presiding at the meeting of the United Kingdom Alliance by illness.

....Jenny Lind has again taken to concerting. It is said that Mr. Goldsmith has managed to let her sovereign fly, and that she is again compelled to have recourse to the stage for a livelihood.

....French shopkeepers are selling off large quantities of their old stock at reduced prices, tickering them as importations from England under the amended tariff.

....Madrid journals announce that Gen. Miramon, ex-President of the Republic of Mexico, has left that capital for Cadiz, to embark for his own country.

....The death of the Earl of Eglinton caused much grief in Ireland. Father Daly of Galway, proposed that every citizen should wear mourning for seven days.

Bonner, of the N. Y. Ledger, is said to have the fastest team in America. On the 28th, the Tribune says, this team made its mile in 2.27, and the last quarter in 34 seconds.

....We learn from the Kingston papers of Monday that Dr. James Samson, long a resident in that city, and widely known and esteemed, died on the Saturday afternoon previous.

....A cargo of sugar arrived at New York from St. Pierre, Martinique, lately being the first cargo of the kind ever brought from the French possessions to an American port. The vessel was British.

....The Norfolk Day-Book is printed on brown wrapping paper. It is the only paper published in Norfolk, and says, as bad as the paper is, it has not enough of it to print more than one fourth of its edition. It has hopes, however, of being able to get a supply of white paper in a few weeks.

....A resident of this city now in Boston recommends Canadians going by the Cunard steamers, to procure passports before leaving the Province, as the British Consul at Boston charges two dollars and a half for one. Americans are not charged anything for passports by their government.

....A woman, named Mrs. J. Donelly, while laboring under temporary insanity, drowned herself in the creek in the rear of Brockville, on

CONSEQUENCES OF THE ACCIDENT TO THE NORTH BRITON.

(From the Quebec Chronicle.)

The lamentable accident, coming as it does after so many others—the total losses of the Canadian on the Pillars, of the Indian at Marie Joseph, of the Hungarian off Cape Sable, and of the second Canadian near the Straits of Belleisle; the running ashore of the Norwegian on the north point of Anticosti, the loss of the North American's crew in the Straits, &c.,—will again destroy the reviving confidence of the public in the line, under its present directorate. Whether through mismanagement or misfortune, many valuable lives and a large amount of property have been lost from on board the vessels; a fact the more remarked upon because the steamers of the Cunard line offer so strange a contrast, and because the safe running of the Lady Head and the Arabian shows that there are few inevitable or at any rate insurmountable dangers incident to the navigation of the Gulf. The past thus offers no guarantee for the future. People will not travel and merchants will not send specie and other valuable freight by boats with such a singularly unenviable reputation.

Now, we cannot afford to pay £104,000 a year as a subsidy to a line whose badness prevents its doing us that credit and benefit which we desire, and to obtain which we gave the handsome consideration. But we are under a contract with the British, American, French, Prussian, and other continental governments to carry their mails, and we must honor our engagements. We must then maintain a weekly line to Europe. We even want two or three boats a week during the fine season. So we cannot break the contract with the Allan Company at once, but a modification of it will have to be made sooner or later. Either we shall have to place government officers on board the ships to make sure that the capidity of their owners will not cause them to be dangerously over-loaded, or we shall have to transfer the contract to some other company, such as the Cunard, the new Galway, the Peninsular and Oriental, or the West India Mail Line. Indeed Allan, Edmonstone & Co. will best consult their own interests by themselves making a sub-contract with some such responsible parties, before Parliament meets.

STATEMENT OF ONE OF THE PASSENGERS.

We (Quebec Chronicle) are indebted to Mr. Frederick Clarke, one of the passengers by the ill-fated steamer North Briton, who arrived in this city on Wednesday afternoon in the inward bound steamer, for the following statement in relation to the wreck of the former vessel. Mr. Clarke got on board the Nova Scotian at Father Point, where he had arrived in a steamer from Mingan, in company with the third officer:

"Immediately after the vessel struck the Captain gave orders for the boats to be lowered. There was great confusion in executing this order, owing to the fearful darkness of the night. When, however, it was done and the officers and part of the crew got into them, they drifted away from the vessel. The first that returned in the morning was boat No. 3, under the command of Mr. F. Brown, third officer. She then commenced to take off the passengers to the Island. No. 6 boat next made her appearance. She had left the vessel at 3 o'clock, a. m., with a number of ladies on board, who remained exposed to the weather from that hour until 8 a. m., when she returned. Mr. Lang was the officer in command of the latter boat. With some difficulty she also reached the Island. In about three hours from this time all the passengers were landed on the Island.

The Captain and Mr. Brown, the third officer, were the last to leave the wreck. After erecting a sort of awning with tarpaulin, and some canvass which remained on the Island from the wreck of the S. S. Clyde (lost on these rocks in 1857) for the purpose of sheltering the passengers, the Captain, 1st officer and purser then went back to the ship.

"Shortly after, when the sea somewhat abated, they came back, bringing some provisions, bedding and blankets, for the comfort of the passengers. Fires were then lighted and provisions cooked. The whole of the next day was spent in this manner, when the Captain despatched the 1st officer for the purpose of intercepting a schooner which hove in sight a little before dark.—Next morning the schooner Violet came to the Island; and Captain Grange at once engaged her for the purpose of bringing as many of the passengers as she could carry to Mingan Harbour. An ther schooner being discovered laying off, at anchor, the Captain at once sent for this schooner which took off the remainder of the passengers.

"After the passengers had been safely landed, the Captain chartered the schooner to put out to sea and keep a look-out for the Anglo Saxon. The other schooner, the Breeze, was despatched to Father Point, with the third officer on board, so that intelligence might at once be transmitted to Quebec. I came in this schooner to Father Point, and thence in the Nova Scotian to Quebec.

FIRES IN COBOURG.

We learn from the Cobourg Sentinel of Saturday last, that two fires occurred in that town during the previous week. One which occurred on Thursday night was very disastrous, resulting in the destruction of a new frame building, which was nearly completed for Messrs. Wallace & Co., at their extensive works know as the "Ontario Distillery." It appears that the night watch in going through the building to see that all was right, allowed a light which he carried to come in contact with the highwine which was then running from the still, when it immediately ignited, and in a few minutes the whole of the inside of the building was on fire. Nothing could stay the progress of the flames which burst furiously through the doors and windows and soon enveloped the building in one immense blaze. Some time elapsed before the alarm was given in town or the fire bells were rung, during which time the few who had gathered worked with a will to save as much as possible of the property in danger. After the fire engines had arrived and got into position, a steady and well directed stream from each of them confined the fire to the building in which it originated and finally extinguished the charred remains of the building. Carpenters had been working on the inside fittings; they lost a lot of valuable tools. There was a large lot of valuable material, machinery, liquors, spirits, &c., in the building, all of which was burned or destroyed. The amount of loss it is impossible to estimate previously, but it is supposed to exceed $30,000. It is but partially insured. Mr. Wallace has already made arrangements for having the building re-erected immediately.

The second fire broke out in the cabinet ware-rooms of Mr. George J. Stephens, Divining street, on Tuesday morning last, by which his large establishment was both almost entirely destroyed. The fire originated in a room in which a quantity of tow had been stored, and it is supposed that a spark from the chimney of the ware-rooms or the soap factory adjoining had entered the attic window which opened into the room, and which had been left opened at an early hour, and set fire to the tow thereto stored. The furniture was all got out with but little damage. The roof and upper story of the building was entirely destroyed. The estimated loss is over $1,000. No insurance upon anything except the pianos, which are but slightly damaged.—Mr. P. Colwell, tailor, was rather seriously injured by falling from a stairway of the building.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS AT OTTAWA.

The Kingston Daily News exhibits a degree of candor concerning the public works of Ottawa, that honorably distinguishes him from his brethren of the press. He pronounces that some official statement of the facts should be made instead of the unauthorised quasi contradictions that have appeared. As to the fact we have stated of a certain number of workmen being employed for other purposes than, as alleged by Ministerial journals, the sheltering of the walls from injury, their is no doubt; but this although according to Ministerial journalists themselves is an unconstitutional act, is by no means the most improper part of their conduct. It is the systematic deception that the Government have practised from the commencement, when they took a grant of $900,000 from Parliament, alleging that that sum would suffice to construct the buildings, and subsequently, without consent of Parliament altering the plans as to make the cost more than double the estimate; denying, when Parliament was in session last spring, the insufficiency of the original grant when they had the increased estimates before them; expending more than the money granted, and then stopping, leaving nothing more than a shell of the building, a portion of the bare walls, as the fruits of the grant. This is the position of the Government, and it is impossible that they can extricate themselves from it.

THE ST. LAWRENCE ROUTE TO EUROPE.

Some of the U. S. editors are trying to argue themselves into the belief that the repeated serious accidents sustained by the Montreal Ocean Steamship Line, settle the question of route both in summer and winter in favor of Portland and New York city. In reply to one of the dailies of the latter place, the Montreal Gazette properly says:—

"The New York Times kindly argues that we shall have to give up trying to maintain a steam line by the St. Lawrence competing with New York, by running a shorter distance in a higher latitude, on account of increased danger. It says we shall have to use Portland in summer as well as winter, or, what would be better still, to go at once to the absolutely safe port of New York. Let not our New York contemporary flatter itself too soon. The question of the competition of the St. Lawrence with New York for the trade of the great west is not settled. Events may move quickly in these days of secession and revolution; and il rira bien qui rit le dernier. In the mean time, we may reassure our contemporary by telling it, that the "North Britton" is the first steamship of this line lost as a consequence of the dangers of the St. Lawrence navigation. It is true that one other steamship, the old "Canadian," was lost in the St. Lawrence but that was owing to the criminal ignorance or stupidity of a pilot, who undertook to run a light-house down one fine night. The "Indian" and "Hungarian" were lost on the route to Portland, and after the point of its connection with the route between New York and Liverpool. The "Canadian," in June last, was lost on the Atlantic Ocean. These are facts which it may suit the New York Times, in its attempt to injure the character of the St. Lawrence route, by dwelling upon the misfortunes of the M. O. S. S. Company's line, to ignore."

☞ A new dodge for depleting the public purse has just been discovered by the Corruptionists. We called the attention a short time since to the disgraceful fact that the Inspector-General's paper—the Sherbrooke Leader—was two-thirds filled with official advertisements! Many of these have since been withdrawn, but a new dodge has been resorted to, and now whole columns are inserted in the French as well as the English language, which is another proof that the "double shuffle" is not yet played out. When Parliament meets, we hope some "independent member"—if any such curiosity shall then be found—will insist upon a return being made of all sums paid to newspapers since the Coalition came into possession of the public purse strings and then we shall see clearly "where the money goes." It must cost the country several thousands a-year to subsidise the little Sherbrooke Leader alone, to say nothing of the other Leader and the old lady on the corner! Who will do the State the service of putting an end to this wholesale robbery of the public purse!—Hamilton Times.

DEATH OF CAPT. HAYES.

The morning the death of another old and respected citizen occurred very suddenly. We refer to Capt. Hayes, our Chief Police, who, in the act of shaving himself, fell down, and, though medical assistance was almost immediately on the spot, nothing could be done to relieve him. His death was caused by disease of the heart. Whether as a merchant, or occupying the position of a public officer, which he did till the hour of his death, he was much respected and esteemed.—Montreal Pilot, Tuesday Evening.

....If our farmers would realise good prices for their stock, they must take steps to improve their breeds. Those who have tried the experiment have been amply repaid for the preliminary outlay. In the end good improved stock is found invariably the most profitable. At recent sales, while poor and unimproved stock was found almost unsaleable, superior oxen were sold for $120 to $160 per yoke, and cows at from $25 to $40. Such results are most encouraging, and should induce much greater attention to the raising of stock.—Stratford Examiner.

....A seaman, named John Speller was charged at Greenwich Police Court, on Saturday, with having on the previous evening murdered another seaman named William Dixon, on board the American ship Bosphorus laying in the Commercial Docks. The prisoner was in the forecastle and being ordered on deck refused to go. A seaman, named Porter, took hold of him to bring him out, and he drew a knife, and stabbed Porter in the arm. He ran out of the forecastle with the knife in his hand, and was met by Dixon, who seized him by the collar, upon which Speller deliberately plunged the knife into Dixon's breast. The latter fell upon the deck, and expired within five minutes. The accused then dropped the knife. He was remanded for a week.

Special Notices.

YOU HEED IT!—A cold is thought to be a too trifling matter to claim quick or serious attention, from some people; but, when 25 cents can go so far to cure a cold, cough, sore throat or hoarseness, hesitate not to invest that in a box of Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers. Sold by all druggists.

"MONEY MAKES THE MARE GO"—This is an old and true saying, and it is equally true that the 'Canadian Pain Destroyer' will make all pains go from the body, and cures Bowel complaints, Tooth Ache, Head Ache, Sprains, Bruises, &c., sooner than any thing else discovered. Price 25 cents a Bottle. See advertisement.

Birth.

At Blythe Mills, Peterborough, on 18th inst., MRS. ROBERT RESPESS, of a Daughter.

Married.

By the Rev. John Carroll, on the 14th inst., at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. JAS. T. STENSON, to MISS JANE ANN GALLY, eldest daughter of Mr. Thos. Gally, all of Peterboro'.

Died.

At North Monaghan, on Friday, 8th inst., of inflamation of the lungs, ISABELLA, infant daughter of Mr. David Kirkconnell, aged 11 months.

TORONTO MARKETS.

Tuesday, November 19, 1861.

Fall Wheat 95c a $1.
Spring Wheat 85c a 88c.
Barley 44c a 46c.
Oats 46c a 50c.

Peterboro' Markets.

Thursday, November 21, 1861.

	$	c.		$	c.
Flour ₱ brl	4	50	@	5	00
Wheat ₱ bush. fall	0	95	@	0	00
Spring Wheat ₱ bu	0	80	@	0	85
Barley ₱ bush	0	35	@	0	45
Oats "	0	20	@	0	21
Peas "	0	40	@	0	45
Potatoes (new)	0	22	@	0	25
Pork ₱ cwt	3	00	@	4	00
Beef ₱ cwt	3	50	@	4	25
Butter ₱ lb	0	10	@	0	10
Hay ₱ ton	7	00	@	80	00
Hides ₱ cwt	4	50	@	5	00
Wood ₱ per cord	3	00	@	2	00

WM. CUMMING,
Market Clerk.

New Advertisements.

ST. ANDREW'S DINNER.

THE ANNUAL DINNER of the St. Andrew's Society of the Town and County of Peterborough, will be held in

CAISSE'S HOTEL,

On Friday, 29th inst.

TICKETS,—$1.00; to be had at Massies' Book Store, and at the stores of Messrs. R. Johnston & Son, McKellar & Cameron, and at the Examiner Office, and from the members of the Dinner Committee.

D. SUTHERLAND, D. McDONALD, Jr.,
Chairman. Sec'y of Com.
Peterboro, Nov. 20, 1861. 47

NOTICE.

THE Court of Revision for the Township of North Monaghan will meet at the Town Hall, on SATURDAY, NOV. 30th, at 10 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of determining the relative assessment of the lots through which the drain now constructed in the Township passes. A statement of the amounts assessed by the engineer is now at the Town Hall, where it can be seen at any time until day of the sitting of the Court.

WM. WOOD,
Township Clerk.
N. Monaghan, Nov 16, 1861.

SLEIGHS!

ON hand a number of good substantial Sleighs, manufactured of the best Oak,
With Cast Iron as well as Wrought Shoeing.

☞ Sleigh-runners furnished to order.

Sugar Kettles, Bake Kettles, and Morit's Agricultural Furnace.

JAMES HAMILTON,
Opposite Perdon's old Flour Mill.
Peterboro, Nov. 20, 1861. 47

H. IRVINE,
CONVEYANCER.
OFFICE.—In Henshore's Block, Hunter St., a few next door to Ormond & Gilmour's Drug Store.
Peterboro, Nov. 21, 1861. 47

FISHER'S HOTEL.

FISHER'S OLD STAND.

Corner of George and Simcoe Sts., Peterboro

WILL be re-opened in a few weeks for the convenience and accomodation of the public. A large Yard with Sheds and Stables in the rear of the Hotel, will be open daily free of charge.

The subscriber most respectfully solicits a continuance of the liberal support he received from his friends and the public before the fire compelled him to suspend business.

☞ A careful Hostler always in attendance.

AMOS. J. FISHER,
Proprietor.
Nov. 18, 1861. 47

New Livery Stable.

IN connection with the above a Livery Stable has been opened, where the public may be accomodated with

HORSES
and
CONVEYANCES,
OF ALL KINDS, AT ALL SEASONS.

☞ Rates Moderate; positively no Credit.

THOS. J. FISHER.

Remember the place,—Corner of George and Hunter Streets, Fisher's old stand.
Peterboro, Nov. 18, 1861. 47

CARD OF THANKS.

To JOS. R. WALTON, ESQ., PETERBOROUGH.

SIR.—You will please accept my thanks, and this public acknowledgement, for the promptness with which the amount of my insurance ($1,000) in the Provincial Insurance Company—for which you are agent—was paid. I can, with confidence, recommend the Company to the patronage of the public, and I have much pleasure in adding testimony to your reputation as an active and painstaking agent.

CHRISTOPHER LEARY.
North Monaghan, Nov. 18, 1861.

SCHOOL TEACHER WANTED.

WANTED, for School Section No. 5, Otonabee—School House within three miles from Allandale—a First Class Teacher. Engagement to commence on 1st day of January, 1863. A married man preferred. There is a comfortable House attached to the School-house, which is rent-free to the teacher.

Apply to

DAVID HENDERSON,
Otonabee.
Nov. 16, 1861. 47

NOTICE.

TO SCHOOL TRUSTEES.

JAMES MEANY, School Teacher, First class certificate, is ready to engage for the year 1862. Any commands to himself, or left with his daughter, Miss Meany, Peterboro, will meet immediate attention.

Scully, S. S. No. 7, Nov. 18th, 1861.

PETERBOROUGH ROOM PAPER DEPOT.

SWEET AND CHOICEST PATTERNS.

ROBERT STEVENSON,

(Charbrooke Street,—nearly opposite the Hoffman House,) offers his large stock of

PAPER-HANGINGS,
DECORATIONS,
BORDERS,
WINDOW-BLINDS,
&c., &c., &c.,

COMPRISING

OVER 20,000 Pieces!

at a Great Reduction from the usual trade prices, for Cash.

ALSO STOCK OF

PAINT BRUSHES,

Varnish,
Oils,
Paints,
Window Glass,
Curtain Fixtures,
&c., &c., &c.

ALSO LARGE, GOOD AND CHEAP.

☞ Window Glass cut to order.

Peterboro, Nov. 19, 1861, 47

TEMPERANCE.

NOTICE is hereby given that the next meeting of the

TOTAL ABSTINENCE UNION ASSOCIATION for the County of Peterborough, will be held in the Temperance Hall, in the Town of Peterboro,

On Tuesday next, 26th inst.

D. PENTLAND, Sec'ry.
Nov 21, 1861.

Wanted Immediately.

AN INTELLIGENT LAD to learn the Printing Business. Apply at the "EXAMINER" Office, Peterborough.
Peterboro', Nov. 14, 1861. 46

PUBLIC NOTICE.

THE Corporation of the Township of Otonabee intend, on the 16th December next,

to pass a By-law to establish the following line of Road, viz:

A Road commencing on the Western limit of the allowance for Road, between the 12th and 13th Concessions of Otonabee, at the line between lots Nos. 12 and 13, and thence westerly following said line between lots 12 and 13, across the 13th, 14th, 15th and 16th Concessions; said Road to be 66 feet wide, and the described line the centre.

A Road commencing 25 feet south of the line between lots Nos. 30 and 31, on the Eastern limit of the allowance for Road, between the 1st and 2nd Concessions of Otonabee, and thence Easterly across the 1st Concession, following a line parallel with the line dividing lots numbers 30 and 31; said Road to be 40 feet wide, and the described line the centre.

GEO. READ,
Township Clerk.
Otonabee, 6th Nov., 1861. 46-4in

MACLEARS'
ALMANACS FOR 1862.

Diaries, Diaries for 1862.

THE subscriber begs leave to inform the public that he has received all his fall stock of

BOOKS,
STATIONERY and
ROOM PAPER,
AND WILL SELL

CHEAP FOR CASH!

as the times are hard.

THOMAS MENZIES.
Peterboro', 14th Nov., 1861. 46-3in.

TO THE INHABITANTS OF PETERBOROUGH & VICTORIA.

CASH STORE.

ROBERT JOHNSTON & SON

BEG to inform the inhabitants of Peterboro' and surrounding district, that they have bought out the stock of Mr. John Thomson, George Street, and intend opening in a few days in the stand heretofore occupied by him, a large and well selected stock of

NEW GOODS!

Consisting of a choice stock of

Dry Goods, Groceries &c.

which they intend to sell at

VERY LOW PRICES FOR CASH!

Parties who have not made their Fall purchases will do well to give them a call and inspect their stock.

R. J. & S. N hope that by paying strict attention to business, they may receive a share of public patronage.

Peterboro, Oct 28, 1861. 44

Change in Business!

WM. SMITH,

(LATE CUTTER TO JOHN THOMSON, GEORGE STREET.)

BEGS to inform the public that he has opened in the

TAILORING BUSINESS,

over the late stand occupied by Mr. John Thomson, (now R. Johnston & Son,) where he trusts to meet a continuance of the patronage hitherto bestowed on the establishment.

ALL KINDS OF WORK MADE TO ORDER.

AS THE

BEST WORKMEN

only will be employed parties may rely on all orders being filled to satisfaction. Prices reasonable.

☞ Entrance by hall between R. Johnston & Son's, and R. Walton's Stove and Tin-ware store.

Peterboro, Oct. 28th, 1861. 41

BUFFALO
CLOTHING STORE.

THE subscribers in returning their acknowledgements for the patronage bestowed upon them since they opened their establishment in this borough, would respectfully inform the public that they continue to receive constantly and keep on hand the largest and best assorted stock of

Mens' and Boys' Clothing,

AND GENTLEMENS

FURNISHING GOODS!

over shown in this neighborhood, consisting of Satinetts,

Tweeds,
Broad Cloth,
Cassimeres,
Pilots,
Unions,
Doeskins,
&c., &c., &c.

The Clothing is all made up at their own establishment, in the City of Buffalo, by first class workmen, and as they manufacture themselves, they are able to sell a good article at a lower price than any other establishment in the trade. Country Merchants, and Lumberers would do well to call and examine their stock before purchasing elsewhere, as they are able to offer superior advantages to wholesale purchasers.

☞ The Terms are strictly CASH.

S. HOFELLER & BROS.

Remember the place,—Next door to Mr. Jas. Best's, George Street.
Peterboro, Oct 17th, 1861. 44

TO MILLERS AND GRAIN SPECULATORS!

TO LET in Ashburnham, that large Grain Storehouse, lately occupied by T. Short, Esq. Apply to

S. WOOD, Otonabee.
Nov 7th, 1861. 45

Ferguson & Mitchell,

Beg to call the attention of the public to their well-assorted stock of

SADDLES, HARNESS, WHIPS,

TRUNKS, VALISES, BRUSHES, &c.,

which they will sell

☞ VERY CHEAP FOR CASH, ☜

or on approved credit.

All orders promptly attended to, and repairing done on the shortest notice. A call is respectfully solicited. Shop on Hunter Street, Peterborough.

ATTENTION!

THE subscriber will commence on MONDAY the 4th day NOVEMBER, and sell off his present STOCK OF

BOOTS & SHOES,

FOR CASH AND CASH ONLY!

☞ Positively no credit.

N. B.—Persons in the habit heretofore of sending in orders will please notice that I shall not accept any after this date, on account of the very LOW PRICES which I shall sell at.

J. T. STENSON.
Peterboro, Oct 29, 1861. 44

PURCHASERS OF CLOTHING
should remember the Buffalo Clothing Store
next door to Mr. Jas.
Best's, George Street, where they can get a superior article at a very low price!

S. HOFELLER & BRO'S.
Peterboro. Oct 17th, 1861, 44

BOARD.

A LADY RESIDING IN A CENTRAL PART of the Town will be happy to receive a few respectable Gentlemen, as Boarders. Every attention will be paid to make them comfortable. Terms moderate. For particulars apply at this office.

Peterborough, September, 1861

School Teacher Wanted.

FOR THE ASHBURNHAM SCHOOL, TERM to commence on the 2nd Wednesday in January, 1862, a Normal School Teacher, holding a 1st class certificate,

Apply to,

F. H. ARMSTRONG,
Secretary of Ashburnham E. of S. Trustees.
October 23, 1861. 43

ROYAL

HORSE INFIRMARY.

McDONALD STREET, PETERBORO'

W. KEITH, M. R. C. V. S.

HAVING rented Mr. Perry's Stables, (behind the Grain Store) and having fitted them with loose boxes and stalls, &c., with all the necessaries for an infirmary, for sick and lame Horses, all cases brought there will receive every attention. Horses from the country can have Hay, Oats, &c., and Medicines at so much per day or week. Firing and other operations performed without throwing the animal, thereby avoiding much risk. Horses and Cattle in the country attended to.

W. K. may be consulted any day either at Messrs. John Moffatt's, Blacksmith, John Douglass, Blacksmith, or at Mrs. Stewart's, George Street north, and at the Infirmary Stables from 9 to 10 a. m., and from 1 to 2 p. m.

Oct 28th, 1861. 44

✗ CAUTION.

I WILL be answerable for no debts contracted in my name from this date, unless by my written order.

ED. O'DONNELL.
Emmemore, Nov 7, 1861. 45

WOOD WANTED.

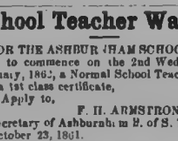
A FEW CORDS OF GOOD HARD-WOOD will be received by the subscriber in payment on subscriptions or account if delivered within one month from this date.

JAS. RENFREW.
Examiner Office, Oct. 3, 1861.

NOTICE.

I HEREBY give notice that from this date I will pay no debts contracted by my second son, JOHN.

GEORGE HOWDEN.
Peterboro, Nov. 9, 1861. 46



AXES! AXES!! AXES!!!

THE subscriber in returning thanks to the Lumbermen and others for their patronage and prompt and liberal payment, would give notice that he is hard at work making axes by hand which he will warrant to be better than can be made in Peterboro or elsewhere.

Please give him a call.

☞ Shop, east of the Bank of Montreal.

P. J. AYRES.
Peterboro, Nov 7, 1861 45

FARM FOR SALE.

THE subscriber offers for sale his Farm, being the East half of Lot No. 2, in the Township of Douro.

80 ACRES ARE CLEARED,

well fenced, and in a good state of cultivation.

THERE IS A

GOOD LOG HOUSE,

AND A

DOUBLE CEDAR BARN, [new,]

and a spring of good Water near the house. A never-failing Creek runs through the farm.

TERMS OF SALE.—One-third down; balance in three equal annual instalments.

Apply to N. Clapsaun, Baltimore, or to

CHRISTOPHER LEARY,
N. Monaghan.

Nov 7th, 1861.

N.B.—If not sold before the 1st of JANUARY, 1862, it will be leased for a term of years.

STRAYED.

FROM the premises of the subscriber, in Smith, about four or five years ago,

Six Head of Cattle.

1 three year old steer; dark red, a small piece of its horn broken off; 1 two year old Steer, red; 1 two year old Heifer, dark roan; three yearlings—1 Steer, and 2 Heifers—the Steer is white; one of the heifers is dark red, the other is red and white, mixed.

Any person leaving information of the whereabouts of the said cattle at McKellar & Cameron's, Peterboro, or with the subscriber, will be suitably rewarded.

WM. FITZGERALD.
Smith, Nov. 8th, 1861. 46

REDUCED RATES FOR ASSURANCE.

Scottish Provincial INSURANCE COMPANY.

THE FOLLOWING TABLE OF PREMIUMS has been framed, so as to reduce the cost of Life Assurance to the lowest point. It will be observed the Rates payable for the first Five Years are not much more than HALF the usual charge, while, for the remainder of life, they are still moderate.

To Assure £100 sterling, payable at Death, with profits after first five years:

Age.	First 5 Years.	Remainder of Life.
	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
20	0 12 11	2 0 11
25	1 1 9	2 7 2
30	1 5 2	2 14 7
35	1 9 2	3 3 1
40	1 14 5	3 13 10
45	2 0 6	4 4 3
50	2 9 8	5 1 4

Secretary for Canada:—A. Davidson Parker.

JOSEPH R. WALTON,
Agent, Peterboro.
October, 1861. 41

FIRE & LIFE ASSURANCE.

SCOTTISH PROVINCIAL ASSURANCE COMPANY,

ESTABLISHED 1825.

CAPITAL...£1,000,000 Stg. | INVESTED IN CANADA...$300,000.

SPECIAL NOTICE—BONUS YEAR.

PARTIES assuring their lives now will be entitled to share in the [5 years] profits to be divided on the 31st January, 1862. Losses settled in Canada without referring to Parent Office.

Peterborough Agency,—Corner of George and Simcoe Streets.

JOS. R. WALTON, Agent.
Peterborough, November 7th, 1861. 45

Canada West Farmers' Mutual and Stock

INSURANCE CO'.

HEAD OFFICE—HAMILTON, C. W.

President—H. J. Lawry, Barton.
Vice-President—T Stock, Waterdown.

HONORARY DIRECTORS.

Asa A. Burnham, Esq., Cobourg, County of Northumberland.
John Harrey, Esq., County of Peterborough.
John Gilb, Esq., County of Victoria.

RICHARD P. STREET,
Secretary & Treas.

JOSEPH R. WALTON,
Agent, Peterboro.
October, 1861. 41

PROVINCIAL

INSURANCE CO', OF CANADA.

FOR FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE.

ESTABLISHED 1849.

INCORPORATED BY ACT OF PARLIAMENT.

SUBSCRIBED CAPITAL, $1,986,080

Head Office - - - Toronto.

President:—Hon. John Hillyard Cameron.
Vice-President:—J. S. Howard, Esq.

DIRECTORS:

Hon. John Hillyard Cameron,
Hon. George Crawford,
Hon. Malcolm Cameron, M.P.P.,
John Cameron, Esq., M.P.P.,
A. M. Smith, Esq.,
George Duggan, Jr., Esq.,
J. S. Howard, Esq.,
Edward C. Jones, Esq.,
Angus Morrison, Esq., M.P.P.,
Lewis Moffatt, Esq.,
W. L. Perrin, Esq.,

Manager & Secretary:—James Sydney Crocker.
Assistant Secretary:—J. J. Woodhouse, Esq.,
Inspector of Agencies:—Wm. Elight, Esq.,
Solicitors:—Messrs Duggan & Dorse.
Bankers:—The Bank of Toronto.

J. R. WALTON, Agent.
Peterborough.

☞ Fire and Marine Insurance business transacted by this Company at its various Agencies as well as at the Head Office, Toronto, at fair and average terms.

October, 1861. 41

THE PHŒNIX

INSURANCE CO'Y,

OF HARTFORD, CONN.

Capital - - - - - - $500,000.

CHARTER PERPETUAL.

JOSEPH R. WALTON,
Agent.
Peterboro', Oct. 8, 1861. 41

MONTREAL

ASSURANCE COMPANY.

ESTABLISHED BY SPECIAL ORDINANCE IN 1840.

CAPITAL STOCK, $800,000

PAID UP.....$80,000.

Head Office, No. 9, Great St. James St.
MONTREAL.

Wm. MURRAY...Manager.

THE undersigned begs to intimate his appointment as Agent in Peterboro', for the above company, and is authorized to insure Buildings, Merchandize, Household Furniture, and Personal Property, against loss or damage by fire, at rates as low as those of any responsible office.

For further particulars, rates, &c., apply to

W. H. SCOTT,
Agent.

Office in Burnham's Block, opposite the Examiner Office.
Peterboro, Aug. 26, 1861. 35

BEEF! BEEF!!

250 BARRELS

MESS & PRIME MESS BEEF

For Sale Low by

ROBERT COCHRANE.
Butcher at the Market.
Peterborough, Oct. 8, 1861. 41

THE LARGEST, CHEAPEST AND THE BEST PLACE TO PURCHASE

READY-MADE CLOTHING

IS AT

HAFFEY'S,

All the Clothing is made on the premises, and warranted!!

Peterborough, Sept. 26, 1861, 39

TEA, SUGAR, TOBACCO, COFFEE, &C.

THE SUBSCRIBERS HAVE JUST RECEIVED AND OFFER FOR SALE

AT THE VERY LOWEST PRICES,

FOR CASH ONLY!

A WELL ASSORTED STOCK OF

TEAS, SUGARS,
TOBACCOES, COFFEE, &c.

Good mixed Tea at 3s. 6d. Per lb.

Coffee, Fresh Ground every morning at 1s. 3d.

A FEW KEGS LOCHFINE HERRING, FISH, FISH OILS, &c.

OGILVY & HOOD.
Peterborough, November 21st, 1861. 47-3in.

FURS! FURS!

W. LECH,

Corner Store, Market Block, Peterborough,

Has now on hand, and offers for sale, a very large stock of

FUR GOODS,

which will be sold at prices altogether lower than any person can sell Montreal made Furs. Besides, the stock is all made up under the personal superintendence of Mr. Lech, and will be found

MUCH BETTER MADE,

AND BETTER IN EVERY RESPECT.

The following list of prices will convince any person that they consult their own interest by buying home manufactured goods in preference to slop work made up in the cities, for the country trade:

Rock Martin Victorines	$2 00	and upwards.
do Mitts,	1 50	do
do Cuffs,	1 00	do
Fitch Victorines,	3 00	do
German Mink Victorines,	2 50	do
Real Mink Victorines,	9 00	do
Good serviceable Fur Caps for Men,	0 75	do
South Sea Seal,	3 00	do

And every other article in the line at corresponding prices.

Peterborough, Nov. 1st, 1861. 45

STRICKLAND & ROGERS'

FALL STOCK

IS NOW

COMPLETE IN EVERY DEPARTMENT

AND CANNOT BE UNDERSOLD.

Our customers and the public generally are requested to call and examine, and oblige

. & R.
Peterborough, October 30, 1861. 44-3in

FOR CASH OR Produce ONLY.

MONTREAL ONLY ONE Price

CASH STORE,

Hunter Street, Peterboro'

JOHN CAMPBELL

WOULD take this opportunity of thanking the inhabitants of Peterboro' and surrounding country for past favors, and would beg to intimate that he has received a large addition to his stock, on such favorable terms as enable him to offer goods at such as to convince every one who examines them ☞ That he cannot be beat in the Town.

LOW PRICES

The following comprise a few of the articles generally in stock:

West of England Broad Cloth, Cassimeres, Tweeds, Satinets, Drills, Denims, Stripped Cottons, Ginghams, Prints, Factory Cotton, Orleans, Coburgs, Red and White Flannels, Cotton Warp, &c.

READY-MADE CLOTHING,

Boots and Shoes, Silk and Felt Hats, &c.

TEAS, TOBACCOES, SUGARS,

Soap, Candles, Raisins Currants, Coffee, Rice, and other articles too numerous to mention.

☞ Remember the Spot: Next door to McKellar & Cameron's, Hunter Street.

Peterboro, Aug. 27, 1861. 34

REMOVAL.

R. D. BASKERVILLE,

HAIR-DRESSER AND PERFUMER, has fitted up with taste and convenience at considerable expense, a saloon on George St., 2 doors north of Lawson's Hotel, where he will be in attendance on the public, during all business hours. Having visited some of the largest American cities this summer, he is thoroughly acquainted with the

LATEST FASHIONABLE IMPROVEMENTS

in his profession, and flatters himself that he will not be found second to any in the Canadas.

☞ Positively no business on Sundays.

Peterboro, Sept 9, 1861. 37

CARD.

TOWNSHIP OF OTONABEE, Oct. 26, 1861.

To Joseph R. Walton, Esq., Agent of the Canada West Farmers' M. & S. Insurance Co.

Dear Sir,—Please express my thanks to the Directors of your Company, for the very liberal and prompt manner in which they have settled my claim against them for the one recently taken by me in the destruction of my Barn and contents by fire on the day last. I hope you will make this and every other public, as it is only three days since I received you of my loss, and only seven days from the occurrence to the fire! Such promptness on the part of the Company must convince all seeking insurance of the advantages to be derived by insuring their property in the C. W. F. M. & S. I. C. of Hamilton.

JOSHUA DAWSON.
Otonabee, Oct 26, 1861. 44

NOTICE.

NOTICE is hereby given that any party or parties trespassing on E. half of Lot No. 8, in the 6th Con., Township of Dummer, to cut timber thereon, or for any other illegal purpose after this date, will be punished according to law.

WM. WEBSTER.
Dummer, Nov. 6th, 1861. Proprietor. 45

HENRY BENARY

IMPORTER AND DEALER IN

PIANO-FORTES MELODIANS,

MUSIC AND MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS,

ROYAL BUILDINGS,

No. 81 KING STREET WEST,

TORONTO.

BEGS to inform the public of Peterborough, that he will open his Warerooms in Toronto, where he will keep constantly on hand a large stock of the best Piano-Fortes for sale and hire. The satisfaction expressed by those parties with whom he had the honor of dealing for the past years, with Messrs A. S. Nordheimer, leads him to hope that he will receive a large share of the public patronage in Peterborough. He will attend to the Pianos of his patrons with the same zeal as heretofore.

Toronto, October 14, 1861.

PORK! PORK!

TO LUMBERMEN AND OTHERS!

200 BARRELS OF CHOICE

MESS PORK!

For Sale Low for Cash.

ROBERT COCHRANE.
Butcher at the Market.
Peterboro', Oct. 8, 1861. 41

NOTICE.

THE Municipal Council of the United Townships of Dummer and Burleigh intend to pass the following roads in the Township of Dummer, viz:—

1st.—Running through part of Lots Twenty, Nineteen, and Eighteen, in the Third Concession.

2nd.—A Road running through part of Lots Twenty-nine and Thirty in the Fourth Concession, and part of Lot No. Thirty in the Fifth Concession.

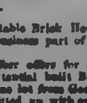
3rd.—A Road running through part of Lot No Thirty in the Seventh Concession, and part of Lots Twenty-nine and Thirty in the Eighth Concession.

Dummer, 18th Oct., 1861. 43-4in

VALUABLE

TOWN PROPERTY

FOR SALE.



THE comfortable Brick Houses near the business part of the Town.

THE Subscriber offers for sale those two neat and substantial built Brick Houses on Antrim street, one lot from George street. The houses are fitted up with every convenience; the per idence is all brick. There is a good soft water cistern and spring well, sheds, &c., on the premises.

TERMS.—One half cash, the balance in three yearly instalments.

For particulars apply to

DAVID CARLISLE.
On the premises.
Peter

THE OIL TRADE.

Why one and the millions of people in this and other States, says the Philadelphia Ledger, are perhaps serious to know whether the business of procuring coal oil in this way is profitable or otherwise. A recently published statement shows that the amount of this oil transported to a market over the Western Division of the Philadelphia and Erie Railroad during the past months of 1861 had greatly and progressively increased over the quantity transported over the same route during the corresponding period of last year. The editor, however, of the Rural Argus (a paper published in the western part of the State) has recently visited the oil regions, and gives the result of his observations in a late issue of his journal. Among other remarks, he says that the price of oil is so low that nothing short of a flowing well will pay. And even a flowing well may endanger the financial standing of its owner by compelling him to incur great expense in the purchase of barrels before any return can be had. He adds, moreover, that innumerable troubles attend the business at every stage of its progress. A few have made themselves rich by it, and a few more will do the same thing; while a vast majority of those who have invested in it, and who will yet do so, will it is thought, never realize one per cent on the investment. The rapid increase in the expenditure and consumption of this oil would seem to give a contradiction to this conclusion. If some can make fortunes at the business, others, under like circumstances, can do the same thing.

STORING POTATOES.

The following are a few very useful and timely hints on the subject from the Scottish Farmer:

Before the appearance of the disease in 1845, it was quite common to store potatoes in large masses in houses. The roots would often keep sound in this state for the greater part of the winter. No fermentation was induced, and any little heat generated had the effect of causing the roots to sprout. Since that time, however, things have been entirely changed. In 1845 the larger portion of the crop was taken up to all appearance quite sound, but whenever it was stored in large pits or in houses a destructive fermentation was induced, which speedily reduced the roots to a rotten mass. It has been observed that thunder-storms seem to stimulate the latent seeds of the disease, and promote first the destruction of the haulm and then that of the tubers.

It has been found that putting together potatoes in large quantities has often had the effect of spreading the taint through the whole. For this reason it is seldom that they are now stored in houses. The smaller the quantities that can be put together the better, as it will diminish the risk of their spoiling. The narrower, therefore, the pits are made so much the more chance is there of the roots keeping through the winter, and not sprouting prematurely in the spring.

It is far from advisable to begin to store before the weather becomes cool, as heat is very apt to spread the destructive taint.

HOW THE BRITISH DEBT IS HELD.

It is not generally known to what extent the British funds are held by the poorer classes in Great Britain. The following table, therefore, cannot but be interesting at this time. It is found in a note in the first volume of "Alison on Population," page 127, English edition:

Table of the holders of property in British funds in 1837, from "Porter's Parliamentary Tables for 1837":—

		Holders
Dividend not exceeding £	5....	87,212
" "	10....	43,020
" "	50....	98,759
" "	100....	23,888
" "	200....	14,810
" "	300....	4,893
" "	500....	2,762
" "	1000....	1,359
" "	2000....	402
Dividend exceeding	2000....	176

It appears from this table that of the holders of the British debt, 280,881, there are 256,879 who hold an amount drawing dividends not exceeding £100, and that 87,212 hold such small amounts as entitle them to draw less than £5.

AN ILLINOIS FARM.

The largest farm in Illinois is that of Isaac Funk, who resides near Bloomington, M'Lean county. The total number of acres occupied and owned by him is 9 000—one farm of 27,000 acres, said to be worth $30 per acre, and three pasture fields containing, respectively, 8,000, 3,000 and 1, 000 acres. His great crop is corn, all of which he consumes at home, and is thus able to market about $70,000 worth of cattle per year at New York. His stock on hand of horses, mules, hogs and fat cattle is said to be worth $1,000,000.

NAVIGATION OF THE ST. LAWRENCE.

The Marine Insurance Companies of London have transmitted to the Quebec Board of Trade, for presentation to the Provincial Parliament, a memorial praying for the repeal of the Pilot's Act, in which they urge that the equal distribution of the profits among the pilots is not calculated to promote that personal exertion on their part so essential to the safe navigation of the River St. Lawrence, and is otherwise detrimental by placing the intelligent and incompetent, the sober and intemperate, and the energetic and careless, pilots on the same footing; and that limiting the extent of pilot ground to Father Point makes it requisite for vessels bound up the St. Lawrence to go into the very face of danger to obtain a pilot, and thus one of the chief objects sought to be obtained by the Quebec Pilotage Act—the increased safety to life and property—is defeated at the very commencement of its operation by the great risk to both, in rendering masters of ships to take pilots at Father Point, as shown during the early part of the present season when several vessels were stranded and damaged in that vicinity. From which it would seem that our Provincial Legislature is as but for the use as much as it is for the landowners. It is evident that a wiser policy must be adopted before the dangers of this great route shall be overcome, but first of all we must look these dangers in the face.—Hamilton Times.

WHEAT! WHEAT!

THE HIGHEST CASH PRICE will be paid for any quantity of

FALL and SPRING WHEAT

at the Store,

At McGaugah's Store-house, Railway Depot, Ashburnham.

S. SUTHERLAND.

October 25, 1861. 43

WATSON'S NEURALGIA CURE.

A perfect Antidote, Specific and Cure for

RHEUMATISM & NEURALGIA

has long been wanted. After suspected and patent remedies had been tried, it was plainly discovered. It is called

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING!

Watson's Neuralgia King reaches the source of the trouble, and banishes the disease from the system. Unlike the untold number of Liniments and Embrocations which merely stimulates the surface, are but temporary in their effects, and are, at best, of doubtful virtue, it DESTROYS AT THE SEAT OF the ailment, ARRESTS IT, KILLS IT, ERADICATES IT, and leaves no trace behind.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING

has cured GOUT AND DYSPEPSIA in their worst forms. It is now giving relief to thousands who have been suffering from these diseases, and who know it, and all other remedies to vain.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING

has received the highest testimonials from the highest sources in regard to its wonderful efficacy. It operates with equal success in mild and chronic cases, never failing to work out a speedy and permanent cure.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING

costs but one dollar a bottle, and less than a bottle often effects the end desired.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING

is the only Specific and Cure for Rheumatism and Neuralgia that has ever been discovered.

Prepared by

A. L. MATHEWS,

Buffalo, N. Y., and Fort Erie, C. W.

Sept. 26, 1861. 39

Gutta-Percha Roofing.

No article ever before introduced to the public has equalled the LIQUID GUTTA-PERCHA for coating the roofs of houses, new or old. One gallon, costing $1 50, will thoroughly coat from 300 to 300 feet of roof, and this coating will render the roof perfectly waterproof, and will last three times as long as white lead or other paint. For covering roofs, either new or old we repea , it has no equal for durability and cheapness, and we offer it to the public fully confident of its intrinsic excellence, and with our warrantee that it will do all we claim for it. Sold in barrels of forty gallons each, at a liberal discount to dealers. Address all orders to

READY ROOFING CO.,

23 Cedar Street, New York.

October 3rd, 1861. 4-ly.

MATHEWS' VENETIAN LIQUID HAIR DYE.

THIS CELEBRATED DYE WAS FIRST prepared in 1845; since that time it has been used by thousands, and in no instance has it failed to give perfect satisfaction.

THE VENETIAN DYE

is the cheapest in the world. Its price is only 50 cents, and each bottle contains double the quantity of the contained in those usually sold for one dollar.

THE VENETIAN DYE

is the safest composition of its class. It is warranted not to injure the hair, or the scalp, in the slightest degree.

THE VENETIAN DYE

works with rapidity and certainty. It causes no annoyance or trouble to the operator.

THE VENETIAN DYE

produces any shade that may be desired—one that will not fade, crock, nor wash out, one that is as permanent as the hair itself.

THE VENETIAN DYE

does not, in any manner, interfere with the natural softness of the hair, it neither scorches nor dries it.

THE VENETIAN DYE

is the best, cheapest, safest, most convenient, most successful, and most perfect Dye ever used.

THE VENETIAN DYE

having gained an extended reputation, the public are cautioned against purchasing any prepared in the same style, under the same or different name, as they are mere imitations, and liable to do injury.

For sale by all agents. Prepared only by

A. L. MATHEWS,

Buffalo, N. Y., and Fort Erie, C. W.

Oct 3, 1861. 40

The Great French Remedy!

MADAM BOUVIN'S CELEBRATED SILVER COATED

FEMALE PILLS

THE ONLY CERTAIN AND SAFE REMEDY for all Uterine Obstructions, Monthly Difficulties, Irregularities, and diseases to which the woman, Wife and Mother is peculiarly liable. These Pills contain no deleterious ingredients, but are safe and certain in their action.—They will be found to exert the happiest effect in all cases of Prolapsus Uteri, in Leucorrhœa, or the Whites; they will be found the easiest and most certain cure that can be found. It is on account of this certainty they should not be taken by Married Ladies at certain periods, but at other times their use is perfectly safe.

N. B.—$1 enclosed to any authorised Agent will ensure a package of Pills by return mail.

Cropby, General Agent, Fort Erie, C. W.

Building, Young, Lyman, Elliot & Co, Wholesale Agents, Toronto.

Sept. 17, 1862. 39

NO YANKEE HUMBUG!

PROSPECTUS

OF A NEW AND ACCURATE, ILLUSTRATED TOPOGRAPHICAL AND STATISTICAL

Map of Upper Canada,

EMBRACING WITH A DESCRIPTIVE MAP AND DIRECTORY OF THE TOWNSHIP OF

N'H & S'H MONAGHAN & OTONABEE.

CONLIN, BONNEY & Co., of Toronto, propose to publish the above work, drawn on a large scale from the most recent and accurate surveys, exhibiting all Post Offices, Money Order Offices, and Telegraph Stations throughout the Province, corrected from the latest official authority, also, the various lines of Railway, Railway Stations, with the correct distances between each, Canals, Plank and Macadamized Roads, the Mail Travelled Roads, between Towns and Villages, the mountains and names of each Counties and Township, the great Lakes, Rivers, and principal Mill Streams. To this are added the Variations of Time in different parts of Canada, Upper Canada from the Aborigines Queen's Reign, Toronto, and Population of each City, Town, County and Township will also be given, with other historical and general information, carefully compiled from the Census Returns of the different years. The Map will be engraved with Views of the principal Public Buildings in the Province, executed in the best style.

There will likewise given with the above Map an alleged Poem in the most modern strain of the choicest Portraiture, among conventions, lots, and subdivisions, with the names of the proprietors neatly engraved in connection, Sunday School Houses, Churches, School Houses, Mills, Manufactories, Stores, &c., together with uncultivated gravel, plank and other Roads open to travel, the nearest routes of mail carrying post, colonized Places of Towns and Villages in the Township.

The names of all Subscribers, resident owners of farms, will be engraved, directing proprietors on their respective lots, and the residence of their friends also published; also, the names of Subscribers in the Towns and Villages will be published, with the title, professions, business, &c., of each, thus completing a complete Rural, Professional, and Mercantile Business Directory.

The Canvassing Agents entitled a small proportion of the above work, with our most improved Plan.

CAUTION.—This undertaking is not in any way connected with that projected by Messrs. Tennings of Jefferson County, State of New York.

WILL BE SOLD AT A SACRIFICE.

THE subscriber is instructed by his father-in-law to sell his House and Lot on Albert Street, on the Great Northern Road, adjoining the property of Mr. Wm. Bell, Peterboro. The above is one of the most delightful situations in Town, and will be sold for the one half to be paid down, and the remainder in two years from time of sale. Title Perfect.

LOW PRICE OF $800!

JOHN RITCHIE.

Peterboro.

Mathew's Chocolate Worm Drops

NEVER fail to destroy and exterminate all kinds of Intestinal Worms. Are perfectly reliable in all cases, and far superior to any and all of the Fancy Worm Confections, and numerous Vermifuges in use. They may be taken at all times with perfect safety, as they contain no Mercury, or other deleterious Drug. Mothers should always purchase them and give their children no other.

(No Cathartic whatever, is necessary to be given.)

Each box contains 24 Drops or Lozenges.—Price 25 cts. For Sale by all Druggist and Dealers in Medicines.

A. L. MATHEWS, General Agent, Buffalo, N. Y., and Fort Erie, C. W

F. G. CALLENDER,

RETURNS his grateful acknowledgments to the Inhabitants of Peterboro' and vicinity, for their liberal support during the past four or five years, and on account of his increase of business and with a view to the better accommodation of his patrons, will commence his visits to Peterboro' on the first and third MONDAYS, TUESDAYS and WEDNESDAYS in each month, remaining only three days at a time. Those formerly employed to procure him business will continue to do so, as usual, and on account of his extensive practice and qualities, AND AS REASONABLE AS ANY EXPERIENCED DENTIST. All his Teeth are his own selection, of the newest style, being made expressly for the Vulcanized base, now all gathered round, being free from taste, much cheaper than Gold, and equal in neatness and durability, and much more agreeable in the mouth, being less weighty.

Rooms in Scott's Building, Market Block, Peterboro', and over the Post Office, Cobourg.

THE LIVERPOOL LONDON FIRE AND LIFE

ASSURANCE COMPANY.

CAPITAL.....£2,000,000 STG.

Empowered by Act of the Imperial Parliament

Responsibility of Stockholders unlimited.

Head Office for Canada, Montreal.

THE UNDERSIGNED CONTINUES to accept Risks in the above

First Class Company,

on almost every description of property, at as LOW AS FAIR RATES as any other responsible office.

LOSSES PAID

without reference to the Old Country.

W. CLUXTON,

Agent for Peterboro'

Peterboro,' April 20th, 1859. 16.

THE CANADA LIFE

Assurance Company.

Captial, $ .000 000.

W. CLUXTON,

Agent.

THOS. HOLYWELL,

Medical Referee.

Peterborough, 1st August, 1859. 31

WESTERN

INSURANCE COMP'Y.

CAPITAL £500,000

Head Office, Toronto,

FOR EVERY DESCRIPTION OF

FIRE & MARINE ASSURANCE BUSINESS.

AGENT FOR PETERBORO',

W. CLUXTON.

Peterboro, Sept 11th, 1857.

GENERAL INSURANCE OFFICE.

W. CLUXTON, AGENT, PETERBORO'.

LIVERPOOL & LONDON

FIRE AND LIFE

Insurance Company.

CAPIT L.....£2,000,000 STG.

BRITISH AMERICA

ASSURANCE COMPY

CAPITAL, $4,000,000.

WESTERN

INSURANCE COMPANY

CAPITAL, $2,000,000.

BRITANNIA LIFE

Assurance Company.

CAPITAL, £1,000,000, STERLING.

Peterborough, April 20th, 1859. 16

RELIEF IN TEN MINUTES.

BRYAN'S

PULMONIC WAFERS.

THE most certain and speedy remedy ever discovered for the relief of all diseases of the Chest and Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Consumption, Bronchitis, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Whooping Cough, Sore Throat, &c.

These Wafers give the most instantaneous relief, and when persevered with according to directions, never fail to effect a rapid and lasting cure. Thousands have been restored to perfect health, who have tried other means in vain. To all classes and all constitutions they are unceasing and a cure—nonexcused despair, no matter how long the disease may have existed, or however severe it may be, provided the organic structure of the vital organ is not hopelessly diseased. Every one afflicted should give them an immediate trial.

TO VOCALISTS AND PUBLIC SPEAKERS these Wafers are peculiarly valuable; they will in one day remove the most severe obstruction of hoarseness; and their regular use for a few days will, still more increase the power and flexibility of the voice, greatly improving its tone, compass and clearness, for which purpose they are regularly used by many professional Vocalists.

JOHNSONS, Sole Proprietor, Rochester, N.Y.

Price 25 cents per box.

Vocalists and Public Speakers

Vocalists and Public Speakers

Will find Bryan's Wafers

Will find Bryan's Wafers

Will find Bryan's Wafers

Invaluable to remove

Invaluable to remove

Invaluable to remove

Hoarseness and Sore Throat,

Hoarseness and Sore Throat,

Hoarseness and Sore Throat,

And gives clearness to the Voice.

And gives clearness to the Voice.

And gives clearness to the Voice.

They relieve in ten minutes,

They relieve in ten minutes,

They relieve in ten minutes,

Coughs, Colds, and all diseases

Coughs, Colds, and all diseases

Coughs, Colds, and all diseases

Of the Chest and Lungs.

Of the Chest and Lungs.

Of the Chest and Lungs.

Sold by all Druggists

Sold by all Druggists

Sold by all Druggists

A 25 cents a box.

A 25 cents a box.

A 25 cents a box.

A STARTLING FACT.

THE subscriber has great pleasure in informing the public that he is manufacturing ever made in Canada, patented by J. Dennis. In order to prove the above, I am prepared to put them on trial, for cisterns or wells 100 feet deep and less, until the 1st of June 1861. If not then preferred before any other kind will take them back free of charge, if they suit, I will give them until the 1st of January, 1862 for payment, by giving a promissory note.

THE BEST PUMPS

These Pumps are

Warranted not to Freeze.

All orders addressed to the undersigned, stating depth of well, to Warkworth, Post Office, up to the 1st of April, 1861, and after that date to the Subscriber, in Ashburnham, will receive prompt attention. All letters must be post-paid.

JOHN DENNIS, Manufacturer.

Warkworth, Percy, Dec, 1860.

Patented rights to manufacture and sell the above Pumps for sale by John Dennis, patented and manufacturer. New Market, C. W. 50-1y.

New Establishment.

A choice assortment carefully selected by a gentleman of many years experience.

GROCERIES, WINES, &C.,

with a large variety of Family Goods,

at very low prices.

Port Wine, (Per Gallon) at 2s 6d, 15s, 17s, 20s 6d. Sherry, 5s, 7s 6d, 10s, 15s, 20s. Finest old Pale Brandy, Brown do., Fine Hollands Gin in Wood, do. in Red and Green Cases. Irish Scotch Whiskey (very old) do. in Cases. Canada Teas, Sugars, Oatmeal, Fruits, Spices, Pickles & Sauces, Fish, Oils, Fluted extracts, Starch, Soap, Candles, Tobaccos, Brushes, Brooms, Glass, Crockery, and Wooden-ware, &c.

JOHN McDONELL,

In the (now blue front)—premises, lately occupied by Jas. Stevenson, Esq.,

GEORGE ST., PETERBORO.

Jan. 1 1861.

Lightning! Lightning!

PROTECTION TO LIFE AND PROPERTY.

3,000 Feet

OF our NEW PATENT ENGLISH ELECTRO-GALVANIZED, ANNEALED AND CARBONIZED

LIGHTNING RODS

JUST ARRIVED FROM ENGLAND WITH SPRATT'S RENOWNED

PLATINA TIPPED POINT!!

AND ENLARGED

INSULATORS & ATTACHMENTS.

THIS Rod is recommended in England with certificates from the Royal Family, on its great conducting power; is highly approved and recommended by the best authorities. The white non-corroding coating prevents rust, and greatly increases its conducting power, completely obviating the great objections to the old rod. Professor Croft has a Spiral Copper Rod removed from the University Buildings, Toronto, and substituted this, on account of the perfect and unceasing power of the surface, and not being liable to rust. One real advantage gained by the fine conducting properties of this rod, with Spratt's point, is, first, from the first that it constantly receives and silently conducts to the earth, the positive electricity of the surrounding atmosphere generated by an approaching thunder cloud, and charged with its element of destruction and death, thereby drawing off, draining and lessening the fountain, easing the cloud of its constant accumulation, allowing it to pass over one's heads in safety, which might otherwise have burst upon us in all its fury. But if it fall in its descension of two great accumulations of electricity, and the discharge takes place to the ground, [illegible] and a cure in most cases. We have special them on the City of Palace, and Custom House, at Hamilton, as well as many of the best buildings in this city. By importing largely for cash, we are enabled to export them at a trifling advance upon the Copper Rod. Common Iron Rods, such as are being offered by parties from the States we do not expect, as we consider them nearly useless. Good Rods, properly erected, protect 35 feet from the point.

$1,000 CHALLENGE!

to the world to produce as good a Rod, for the same price, as the Galvanized Rod, which we are now prepared to offer to the public through our authorized agents; allow all man to protect your buildings who has not our certificate of agency, with caution on the back against impositions. Orders sent to our address from the principal cities of C. W. will be attended to by O. R. Kendall in person, without extra charge. We submit two of our numerous references.

PIPER & KINDALL,

83 Young Street.

Toronto, Sept. 15, 1860.

I HEREBY CERTIFY THAT I HAVE SUPerintended the erection of Galvanized Iron Rods on the University Buildings, at Toronto, preferring the Galvanized Iron to ordinary Iron Rods, on account of the perfect conducting power of the surface, and from their not being liable to rust.

The advantage resulting from these qualities is more than commensurate with the increased cost.

(Signed) HENRY CROFT, D.C.L.

Prof. of Chemistry.

Peterboro', July 20th, 1861.

The agents for the firm of Piper & Kendall, Toronto, have put up for me two of their Galvanized Lightning Rods so highly recommended by Professor Croft. I consider them preferable to all others. The improved Attachments and Insulators, with Spratt's Platina Tipped Point must give them great additional security.

J. BROWNE, M. D.

I entirely concur in Dr. Browne's observations,—Also have bought two of the same Rods for my two cottages on Brock Street.

A. NIBLOCK.

Toronto, June 29th, 1861. 34-3m

The Great English Remedy!

SIR JAMES CLARKE'S

Celebrated Female Pills

Prepared from a Prescription of Sir J. Clarke, M. D., Physician Extraordinary to the Queen.

THIS well known Medicine is no imposition, but a safe and safe remedy for Female Difficulties and Obstructions, from any cause whatever; and although a powerful remedy, contains nothing hurtful to the constitution. To married ladies it is peculiarly suited. It will, in a short time, bring on the monthly period with regularity.

In all cases of Nervous and Spinal Affections, pain in the back and limbs, Heaviness, Fatigue on Slight Exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Lowness of Spirits, Hysterics, Sick Headache, Whites, and all the painful diseases occasioned [illegible] these Pills will effect a cure where all other means have failed.

☞ These Pills have never been known fail where the directions on the 2nd page the pamphlet are well observed.

For full particulars, get a pamphlet free o the agent.

N. B.—$1 and six postage stamps enclosed to any authorised agent, will ensure a bottle containing over 50 pills, by return mail.

Sir James Clarke's Female Pills

Sir James Clarke's Female Pills

Sir James Clarke's Female Pills

Are a Scientific Preparation.

Are a Scientific Preparation.

Are a Scientific Preparation.

They are safe, and never fail

They are safe, and never fail

They are safe, and never fail

To remove all Obstructions,

To remove all Obstructions,

To remove all Obstructions,

And cure all Female Complaints,

And cure all Female Complaints,

And cure all Female Complaints,

When the directions are followed.

When the directions are followed,

When the directions are followed,

They are a blessing and a cure.

They are a blessing and a cure.

They are a blessing and a cure.

And can be sent by mail

And can be sent by mail

And can be sent by mail

For one dollar and six postage stamps.

For one dollar and six postage stamps.

For one dollar and six postage stamps.

JOB MOSES, Rochester, N. Y., sole proprietor. Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, C. W., General Agents. For sale by Ormond & Gilmour, Wm. Coulter, A. W. Kempt, Peterboro' and all dealers in medicines.

Lightning! Lightning!

PROTECTION TO LIFE AND PROPERTY.

3,000 Feet

OF our NEW PATENT ENGLISH ELECTRO-GALVANIZED, ANNEALED AND CARBONIZED

LIGHTNING RODS

JUST ARRIVED FROM ENGLAND WITH SPRATT'S RENOWNED

PLATINA TIPPED POINT!!

AND ENLARGED

INSULATORS & ATTACHMENTS.

THIS Rod is recommended in England with certificates from the Royal Family, on its great conducting power; is highly approved and recommended by the best authorities. The white non-corroding coating prevents rust, and greatly increases its conducting power, completely obviating the great objections to the old rod. Professor Croft has a Spiral Copper Rod removed from the University Buildings, Toronto, and substituted this, on account of the perfect and unceasing power of the surface, and not being liable to rust. One real advantage gained by the fine conducting properties of this rod, with Spratt's point, is, first from the first that it constantly receives and silently conducts to the earth, the positive electricity of the surrounding atmosphere generated by an approaching thunder cloud, and charged with its element of destruction and death, thereby drawing off, draining and lessening the fountain, easing the cloud of its constant accumulation, allowing it to pass over one's heads in safety, which might otherwise have burst upon us in all its fury. But if it fall in its descension of two great accumulations of electricity, and the discharge takes place to the ground, [illegible] and a cure in most cases. We have special them on the City of Palace, and Custom House, at Hamilton, as well as many of the best buildings in this city. By importing largely for cash, we are enabled to export them at a trifling advance upon the Copper Rod. Common Iron Rods, such as are being offered by parties from the States we do not expect, as we consider them nearly useless. Good Rods, properly erected, protect 35 feet from the point.

$1,000 CHALLENGE!

to the world to produce as good a Rod, for the same price, as the Galvanized Rod, which we are now prepared to offer to the public through our authorized agents; allow all man to protect your buildings who has not our certificate of agency, with caution on the back against impositions. Orders sent to our address from the principal cities of C. W. will be attended to by O. R. Kendall in person, without extra charge. We submit two of our numerous references.

PIPER & KINDALL,

83 Young Street.

Toronto, Sept. 15, 1860.

I HEREBY CERTIFY THAT I HAVE SUPerintended the erection of Galvanized Iron Rods on the University Buildings, at Toronto, preferring the Galvanized Iron to ordinary Iron Rods, on account of the perfect conducting power of the surface, and from their not being liable to rust.

The advantage resulting from these qualities is more than commensurate with the increased cost.

(Signed) HENRY CROFT, D.C.L.

Prof. of Chemistry.

Peterboro', July 20th, 1861.

The agents for the firm of Piper & Kendall, Toronto, have put up for me two of their Galvanized Lightning Rods so highly recommended by Professor Croft. I consider them preferable to all others. The improved Attachments and Insulators, with Spratt's Platina Tipped Point must give them great additional security.

J. BROWNE, M. D.

I entirely concur in Dr. Browne's observations,—Also have bought two of the same Rods for my two cottages on Brock Street.

A. NIBLOCK.

Toronto, June 29th, 1861. 34-3m

The Great English Remedy!

SIR JAMES CLARKE'S

Celebrated Female Pills

Prepared from a Prescription of Sir J. Clarke, M. D., Physician Extraordinary to the Queen.

THIS well known Medicine is no imposition, but a safe and safe remedy for Female Difficulties and Obstructions, from any cause whatever; and although a powerful remedy, contains nothing hurtful to the constitution. To married ladies it is peculiarly suited. It will, in a short time, bring on the monthly period with regularity.

In all cases of Nervous and Spinal Affections, pain in the back and limbs, Heaviness, Fatigue on Slight Exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Lowness of Spirits, Hysterics, Sick Headache, Whites, and all the painful diseases occasioned [illegible] these Pills will effect a cure where all other means have failed.

☞ These Pills have never been known fail where the directions on the 2nd page the pamphlet are well observed.

For full particulars, get a pamphlet free o the agent.

N. B.—$1 and six postage stamps enclosed to any authorised agent, will ensure a bottle containing over 50 pills, by return mail.

Sir James Clarke's Female Pills

Sir James Clarke's Female Pills

Sir James Clarke's Female Pills

Are a Scientific Preparation.

Are a Scientific Preparation.

Are a Scientific Preparation.

They are safe, and never fail

They are safe, and never fail

They are safe, and never fail

To remove all Obstructions,

To remove all Obstructions,

To remove all Obstructions,

And cure all Female Complaints,

And cure all Female Complaints,

And cure all Female Complaints,

When the directions are followed.

When the directions are followed,

When the directions are followed,

They are a blessing and a cure.

They are a blessing and a cure.

They are a blessing and a cure.

And can be sent by mail

And can be sent by mail

And can be sent by mail

For one dollar and six postage stamps.

For one dollar and six postage stamps.

For one dollar and six postage stamps.

JOB MOSES, Rochester, N. Y., sole proprietor. Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, C. W., General Agents. For sale by Ormond & Gilmour, Wm. Coulter, A. W. Kempt, Peterboro' and all dealers in medicines.

JUDSONS,

MOUNTAIN HERB

WORM TEA.

Herbs, Barks and Roots

VERSUS

Poisonous Minerals and Drugs.

MOTHERS TAKE HEED!

Do you when observing the uneasy actions of your children, consider that it may be more than a mere choke that ails them? In nine cases out of ten the cause of the little sufferer's anguish is WORMS, and should be at once looked to.

HEADS OF FAMILIES

Do not let your children suffer, when we present you in

JUDSON'S WORM TEA

A SAFE AND PLEASANT CURE FOR WORMS.

How much better and safer would it be to have it always in the house. A little delay when a child is taken ill may often be the cause of its death, while acting without delay, and by giving the MOUNTAIN HERB TEA immediately, you will not only save the child a long and tedious illness, and yourself much sorrow, but also feel happier in knowing that you have done your duty, and perchance saved its life.

This medicine is confined purely of

HERBS AND ROOTS

NOT A PARTICLE OF

Calomel or Mineral

IS USED IN IT.

No more filthy Vermifuges will be used by those who once use this Tea. The only active principle of all other Vermifuges and Worm Killers is MERCURY.

GIVE NO

POISON

TO

YOUR CHILDREN.

Use this Simple, Safe, Vegetable Medicine.

This Worm Tea was discovered in an unusual way among the Wilds of Northern Mexico—a full account of it you will find in our Almanac. Ask for the "Mexican Almanac" of the Agent, and when you have read it, send it to your neighbors, that they may also know of and be cured by the GREAT REMEDY!

JUDSON'S WORM TEA KILLS WORMS,

Never Harms—Is Pleasant to Take.

GET A PACKAGE—PRICE 25 CTS.

OBSERVE.—Always find the Name and Signature of B. L. Judson & Co. upon the portrait of Tecumseh, on each package of this Worm Tea.

B. L. JUDSON & CO.,

SOLE PROPRIETORS,

50 Leonard St., New York.

Judson's Worm Tea is sold by one Agent in every Village, and by all Druggists.

JUDSON'S

Mountain Herb Pills.

ABOVE we present you with a perfect likeness of TECUMSEH, a chief of a tribe of the strange Aztec nation, that once ruled Mexico. You will find a full account of him and his people in our Pamphlets and Almanacs—to be had gratis, from the Agents for these Pills.

The inventor and manufacturer of "Judson's Mountain Herb Pills," has spent the greater part of his life in traveling, having visited nearly every country in the world. He spent over six years among the Indians of the Rocky Mountains and of Mexico, and it was thus that the "MOUNTAIN HERB PILLS" were discovered. A very interesting account of his adventures there, you will find in our Almanac and Pamphlet.

It is an established fact, that all diseases arise from

IMPURE BLOOD!

The blood is the life! and when any foreign or unhealthy matter gets mixed with it, it at once circulates to every organ of the body. Every nerve feels the poison, and all the vital organs quickly complain. The stomach will not digest the food perfectly. The liver ceases to secrete a sufficiency of bile. The action of the heart is weakened, and so the circulation is feeble. The lungs become clogged with the poisonous matter, hence, a cough—and all from a slight impurity at the fountain-head of life—the Blood! As if you had thrown some earth, for instance, in a pure spring, from which ran a tiny rivulet, in a few minutes the white course of the stream becomes discolored and disordered. As quickly does impure blood, by its every part and here tracing behind. All the channels become obstructed, and so the obstruction is removed, the lamp of life soon dies out.

These pills actively purify the blood, but generate all the secretions of the body they act, therefore, unrivaled as a

CURE FOR BILIOUS DISEASES.

Liver Complaint, Sick Headache, &c. This Antibilious Medicine expels from the blood the hidden seeds of disease, and renders all the fluids and secretions pure and sweet, clearing and resuscitating the vital organs.

Peasant-indeed, is it to imagine we are able to place within your reach, a medicine like the "Mountain Herb Pills," that will pass directly to the afflicted parts, through the blood and fluids of the body, and cause the sufferer to brighten with the flush of beauty and health.

Judson's Pills are the Best Remedy in existence for the following Complaints:

Blood Complaints,	Debility,	Inward Weakness,
Colds,	Fever and Ague,	Liver Complaints,
Chest Indisposition,	Female Complaints,	Remote Complaints,
Costiveness,	Health lost,	Pains,
Dyspepsia,	Influenza,	Stone and Gravel,
Diarrhœa,	Inflammation,	Secondary Symptoms,
Dropsy,	Jaundice,	Worms.

GREAT FEMALE MEDICINE

Females who value health, should never be without these Pills. They purify the blood, remove obstructions of all kinds, clear the skin of all pimples and blotches, and bring the ruby tinge of health to the pale cheek.

☞ The Plants and Herbs of which these Pills are made, were discovered in a very perplexing way among the Females, a tribe of Aborigines in Mexico. Get the Almanac of our Agent, and you will read with delight, the very interesting account it contains of the "Great Montezuma" of the Aztecs.

Observe.—The Mountain Herb Pills are put up in a Beautiful Wrapper. Each box contains 40 pills, and Retail at 25 cents per box. All genuine have the Signature of B. L. JUDSON & CO., on each box.

B. L. JUDSON, & Co.

SOLE PROPRIETORS,

No. 50 Leonard Street,

NEW YORK

☞ FOR SALE BY ALL MEDICINE DEALERS. ☜

☞ The Canadian Pain Destroyer is a prompt and Safe Remedy for Cramp and pain in the Stomach, Painters' Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer Complaint, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, Scalds, Burns, Sprains, Bruises, Frost Bites, Chilblains, as well as the stings of Insects, Scorpions, Centipedes, and the bites of poisonous Lizards and venomous Reptiles.

JUDSONS,

MOUNTAIN HERB

WORM TEA.

Herbs, Barks and Roots

VERSUS

Poisonous Minerals and Drugs.

MOTHERS TAKE HEED!

Do you when observing the uneasy actions of your children, consider that it may be more than a mere choke that ails them? In nine cases out of ten the cause of the little sufferer's anguish is WORMS, and should be at once looked to.

HEADS OF FAMILIES

Do not let your children suffer, when we present you in

JUDSON'S WORM TEA

A SAFE AND PLEASANT CURE FOR WORMS.

How much better and safer would it be to have it always in the house. A little delay when a child is taken ill may often be the cause of its death, while acting without delay, and by giving the MOUNTAIN HERB TEA immediately, you will not only save the child a long and tedious illness, and yourself much sorrow, but also feel happier in knowing that you have done your duty, and perchance saved its life.

This medicine is confined purely of

HERBS AND ROOTS

NOT A PARTICLE OF

Calomel or Mineral

IS USED IN IT.

No more filthy Vermifuges will be used by those who once use this Tea. The only active principle of all other Vermifuges and Worm Killers is MERCURY.

GIVE NO

POISON

TO

YOUR CHILDREN.

Use this Simple, Safe, Vegetable Medicine.

This Worm Tea was discovered in an unusual way among the Wilds of Northern Mexico—a full account of it you will find in our Almanacs. Ask for the "Mexican Almanac" of the Agent, and when you have read it, send it to your neighbors, that they may also know of and be cured by the GREAT REMEDY!

JUDSON'S WORM TEA KILLS WORMS,

Never Harms—Is Pleasant to Take.

GET A PACKAGE—PRICE 25 CTS.

OBSERVE.—Always find the Name and Signature of B. L. Judson & Co. upon the portrait of Tecumseh, on each package of this Worm Tea.

B. L. JUDSON & CO.,

SOLE PROPRIETORS,

50 Leonard St., New York.

Judson's Worm Tea is sold by one Agent in every Village, and by all Druggists.

JUDSON'S

Mountain Herb Pills.

ABOVE we present you with a perfect likeness of TECUMSEH, a chief of a tribe of the strange Aztec nation, that once ruled Mexico. You will find a full account of him and his people in our Pamphlets and Almanacs—to be had gratis, from the Agents for these Pills.

The inventor and manufacturer of "Judson's Mountain Herb Pills," has spent the greater part of his life in traveling, having visited nearly every country in the world. He spent over six years among the Indians of the Rocky Mountains and of Mexico, and it was thus that the "MOUNTAIN HERB PILLS" were discovered. A very interesting account of his adventures there, you will find in our Almanac and Pamphlet.

It is an established fact, that all diseases arise from

IMPURE BLOOD!

The blood is the life! and when any foreign or unhealthy matter gets mixed with it, it at once circulates to every organ of the body. Every nerve feels the poison, and all the vital organs quickly complain. The stomach will not digest the food perfectly. The liver ceases to secrete a sufficiency of bile. The action of the heart is weakened, and so the circulation is feeble. The lungs become clogged with the poisonous matter, hence, a cough—and all from a slight impurity at the fountain-head of life—the Blood! As if you had thrown some earth, for instance, in a pure spring, from which ran a tiny rivulet, in a few minutes the white course of the stream becomes discolored and disordered. As quickly does impure blood, by its every part and here tracing behind. All the channels become obstructed, and so the obstruction is removed, the lamp of life soon dies out.

These pills actively purify the blood, but generate all the secretions of the body they act, therefore, unrivaled as a

CURE FOR BILIOUS DISEASES.

Liver Complaint, Sick Headache, &c. This Antibilious Medicine expels from the blood the hidden seeds of disease, and renders all the fluids and secretions pure and sweet, clearing and resuscitating the vital organs.

Peasant-indeed, is it to imagine we are able to place within your reach, a medicine like the "Mountain Herb Pills," that will pass directly to the afflicted parts, through the blood and fluids of the body, and cause the sufferer to brighten with the flush of beauty and health.

Judson's Pills are the Best Remedy in existence for the following Complaints:

Blood Complaints,	Debility,	Inward Weakness,
Colds,	Fever and Ague,	Liver Complaints,
Chest Indisposition,	Female Complaints,	Remote Complaints,
Costiveness,	Health lost,	Pains,
Dyspepsia,	Influenza,	St

BOOK AND JOB PRINTING ESTABLISHMENT.

EVERY description of Book and Job Printing executed at this Office, in superior style, at low rates.

Pamphlets, Circulars,
Handbills, Funeral Cards,
Invitations, Bill Headings,
Horse Bills, Show Bills,
Concert Bills, Programmes,
Posters, Stage Bills,
Business Cards, Blanks, &c.,

with every variety of Coloring and Bronzing.

☞ Lawyers Blanks of every description, kept constantly on hand.

All orders for Job Printing forwarded to this office will be punctually and strictly attended to

The Examiner.

PETERBOROUGH, CANADA WEST, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 28, 1861.

Volume VI.] "THE PEOPLE." [Number 48.

THE "EXAMINER"

Is published every Thursday morning at the office of the undersigned, in

BURNHAM'S BLOCK, GEORGE STREET

Terms of Subscription:—$1.50 per annum payable strictly in advance, $2 when not so paid.

Rates of Advertising.

Six Lines, and under, first insertion	$0 37
Each subsequent insertion	12
Six to ten lines, first insertion	65
Each subsequent insertion	15
Over ten lines, first insertion (per line)	7
Each subsequent insertion, "	3

Business Cards as per agreement.

☞ Advertisements without written instructions will be inserted until forbid. Orders to discontinue must be given in writing.

All communications to the Publisher must be post-paid; otherwise no notice will be taken of them.

JAMES RENTFREW,
Publisher and Proprietor.

Business Directory.

JAMES HALL,
SHERIFF. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

Mr. TOOLE,
MANUFACTURER of Sash Blinds, Doors and Mouldings. Every description of Joiner Work done to order. Next door to Martyn's Mills, Peterboro', C. W. 9

MESSRS. FITZGERALD & DRENNAN
PROVINCIAL LAND SURVEYORS, CIVIL ENGINEERS AND LAND AGENTS. Office in Scott's Chambers, corner of George and Simcoe Streets. Messrs. F. & D. having lately surveyed the outlines of eight new Townships now included in this County will be happy to give any information to intending settlers. 34

J. B. BISBEE,
DEALER in Boots, Shoes & Leather, George Street, Peterborough, C. W 16

W. CRAWFORD,
GOVERNMENT Land Agent. Office at his residence, Brock Street.

EDMUND S. VINDIN,
COMMISSION, Shipping, Forwarding, and General Agent, Lumber Merchant, &c.—OFFICE—Corner of Walton and Ontario Streets. 13

MR. DENISTOUN,
BARRISTER at Law Master Extraordinary in Chancery Note. Public, &c., Peterborough

Mr. A. T. HEATHFIELD.
PIANIST AND TEACHER OF MUSIC.
COMMUNICATION THROUGH THE POST OFFICE, Peterborough.

JOHNSON'S
FASHIONABLE Hair Dressing and Shaving Saloon in the Building formerly occupied by the Post Office, east of the bridge.
Port Hope, Sept. 20, 1857.

GEORGE MITCHELL,
DEALER in Groceries and Provisions, &c Cash paid for all kinds of country produce, George Street Peterborough. 15

T. G. HAZLITT,
DEALER in Provisions, Groceries, Crockery and Glassware, Hunter Street Peterboro.

W. SHERIDAN,
COUNTY Treasurer and Clerk. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

R. STEVENSON,
PAINTER, Paper hanger, &c., &c., Brock Street, Peterborough. 18

GEORGE H. HUGHES,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
SOLICITOR IN CHANCERY
Conveyancer, &c.
OFFICE in Harvey's Building, next door (north) to Thomson's Store, George St., Peterborough. 12

GENERAL FIRE AND LIFE INSURANCE OFFICE. W. CLUXTON, Agent.

W. COULTER, PETERBORO',
DEALER in Genuine Drugs, Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Hat, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Spices, Culinary Essences, Fancy Soaps, &c., &c. 16

THOMAS MENZIES,
BOOKSELLER, Stationer, &c., &c., &c. Dixon' Exchange Block, George Street, Peterborough. 20

A. HARVEY, M. D., CORONER.
RESIDENCE:—Aylmer Street, opposite the Railway Depot, Peterboro.
April 3rd. 1861.

W. H. SCOTT,
BARRISTER AT LAW, Solicitor in Chancery, Notary Public, Conveyancer, &c.
OFFICE:—In Burnham's Block, opposite the Review Office, Peterborough.
April 11, 1861. 18

A. M'CREA,
PROVINCIAL Licentiate. Physician, Surgeon, &c Keene.

GEORGE PRINGLE, M. D.
PHYSICIAN, Surgeon, &c., &c., graduate of McGill College, Montreal, having also studied in the hospitals of London and Dublin.
OFFICE AND RESIDENCE,—Brock Street, opposite McGregor's Livery Stable, Peterboro.
April 23, 1861. 17

ALEX. McNEIL,
AUCTIONEER, Valuator, &c., &c. Licensed for the United Counties of Peterborough and Victoria. George St., Peterboro'.

JAMES BEST,
DEALER in Dry Goods, Groceries, Crockery Boots and Shoes, &c., &c., Rowe's Block, George Street, Peterborough. 18

MR. DUNN,
PRINCIPAL of the Grammar and Union School, will devote a short time each day to private tuition.
Peterboro', Jan. 16th, 1861. 3

FOR SALE.
A FIRST-RATE TAVERN STAND situated on Elizabeth Street, Ashburnham, front of Mr. Rogers' Mill. The building is at present used for a dwelling house and furniture rooms. It would make a good stand for a Grocery and Bakery. The lease of the above has eleven years to run, and will be sold very reasonable for money. For particulars apply to
E. BURLEY,
On the premises.
Aug. 28, 1861. 35

JAMES W. FITZGERALD
(LATE FITZGERALD & DRENNAN.)
Provincial Land Surveyor.
OFFICE:—In Scott's Chambers, corner George and Simcoe Streets.
Oct. 3, 1861. 41

CABINET-MAKING.
E. POOLE, Cabinet-maker, Upholsterer & Undertaker, Ryan's Block, George Street Peterboro.

A. POWLIS & Co.
HARDWARE Merchants, George St., Peterboro.

THE CHEAPEST & BEST PLACE To get JOB PRINTING done, is at the EXAMINER Office.

D. PENTLAND.
Surgical & Mechanical Dentist,
OFFICE, OVER COULTERS' DRUG STORE, George Street, Peterboro'.

TEETH Extracted by the aid of Electricity, with the least possible pain. Teeth inserted upon fine Gold, Silver, or
VULCANIZED RUBBER.
Teeth and material warranted to be of the very best quality.
D. P. particularly wishes the public to understand that he
WARRANTS HIS WORK TO GIVE GOOD SATISFACTION,
and parties who are not perfectly satisfied with their plates have the privilege of returning them before paying for them.
Particular attention paid to the treatment of all diseases of the mouth, and also the regulating of children's teeth.
Peterboro', April 10th, 1861. 35

ALBION HOTEL,
MONTREAL.
L. W. BECKER, Proprietor.
IS pleasantly situated at the head of ST. PAUL STREET, amongst the largest wholesale houses in the city. It has (with business men generally, and especially with the best Merchants of both Provinces) become so great a favorite, that it is now acknowledged to be THE Business Hotel of Montreal. To meet the extensive increase, during the last year in the business of the house, the proprietor has built a large addition. The Dining Room has been extended and made more commodious; there have been completed in the new wing, a great number of well-ventilated sleeping rooms, and the House throughout has been refitted, and now contains many improvements and conveniences hitherto unknown to its guests. The whole of the beds have, at a great expence, been furnished with NEW SPRING MATTRASSES. The Proprietor expects that by continuing his personal management of the concern, THE ALBION to say the least of it, will continue to be, as it now is, the best Dollar and a half Hotel in Canada

VALUABLE FARM FOR SALE.
THE subscriber is desirous of disposing of his Farm, south west part of lot 23, in the 11th Con. Otonabee, only 3 miles from the town of Peterborough; and on the main road leading to Keene, comprising 100 Acres:
60 Acres are Cleared,
and in a good state of cultivation; 14 Acres of Fall Wheat are sown, and part of Fall ploughing is done. A good Frame Roughcast House, 26 x 30, a Barn, 45 x 26, and a good stable and other out-houses are on the premises.
A GOOD WELL
of spring water standing within a rod of the house, and is easy of access. A good
YOUNG ORCHARD OF 85 TREES,
in good condition, and of the choicest fruits, is on the property.
The Farm is one of the best in the Township, and the situation is very convenient, no better chance for the purchase of a good farm could be offered and it will be sold at a liberal price.
Title Indisputable.
Apply to the proprietor on the premises,
JAS. WEIR.
Otonabee, Nov 7 1860. 54

NOTICE.
THE next meeting of the Senior Board of Instruction for the County of Peterboro' will be held on the
First Tuesday of Dec. next,
IN THE COURT HOUSE, AT 10 A.M.
Teachers holding third class certificates issued a year or upwards ago, are required to have them renewed.
By order,
J. EDWARDS,
Secretary.
Peterboro' May 14, 1861. 20

THE LATEST IMPROVED
COAL OIL,
AND COAL OIL LAMPS;
AT REDUCED PRICES.
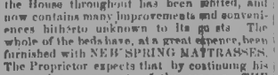
JOHN McDONELL,
GEORGE STREET.
Jan. 2, 1861. 1.

PORT HOPE & PETERBORO


RAILWAY.
ON and after the 6th of May, 1861, and until further notice, Trains will run as follows:—

GOING NORTH.

Leave Port Hope at	7.30 a. m.
" Millbrook "	9.05 a. m.
" Fraserville "	9.30 a. m.
Arrive at Peterboro' at	9.50 a. m.

GOING SOUTH.

Leave Peterboro' at	2.35 p. m.
" Fraserville "	2.55 p. m.
" Millbrook "	3.30 p. m.
Arrive at Port Hope at	4.55. p. m.

JOHN FOWLER,
Leave.
Peterboro' January, 18

INFORMATION WANTED.
A DAUGHTER wishes to learn the present whereabouts of her mother, whom she has not seen for the last thirty-five years. Her maiden name was Polly Cook; her first husband's name was Warren Stone. It is said she married in 1840, a person named De Long, who was at that time engaged in some way in the manufacture of silk, in some part of Upper Canada. Any information respecting her will be gratefully received by addressing the subscriber, at 53 Frank Street, the bearer, N. Y.—Canadian papers will confer a favour upon one who has long been deprived of a mother's affections, by giving the above an insertion, entire or in part.
MRS. SAMANTHA JENKINSON.
Rochester, N. Y., 24th May, 1861.

NEXT OF KIN WANTED!
Hundreds of Millions Pounds Sterling
IN CHANCERY, BANK OF ENGLAND, &c., waiting claimants. A Catalogue of the heirs and names of those to whom letters should be addressed in England, will be sent post free, on receipt of 60 cents in United States' stamps, or 2s 6d Sterling. Old claims must be presented at once. References:—A. E. Hill, Boston; J. Burnham, Chief of Police, Haverhill. Address
W. W. S. URRETON & Co.,
Box 250, Post Office, Boston, Mass.
Sept., 1861. 37

Poetry.

HOME.

There is a land—of every land the pride,
Beloved by Heaven, o'er all the world beside!
Where brighter suns dispense serener light,
And milder moons imparadise the night;
A land of virtue, valor, wisdom, truth,
Time tutor'd age, and love-exalted youth:
The wandering mariner, whose eye explores
The wealthiest isles—the most enchanting shores,
Views not a realm so beautiful and fair,
Nor breathes the spirit of a purer air;
In every clime the magnet of his soul,
Touch'd by remembrance, trembles to that pole
For in that land of Heaven's peculiar grace,
The heritage of Nature's noblest race,
There is a spot on earth supremely blest,
A dearer, sweeter spot than all the rest;
Where Man, creation's tyrant, casts aside
His sword and sceptre, pageantry and pride!
While hand in hand, and heart in heart entwined,
The lover and the friend repose reclined,
Where mother, daughter, sister, wife,
Strew, with fresh flowers, the narrow'd way of life;
In the clear heaven of her delighted eyes,
An angel gaze of loves and graces lies;
Around her knees domestic comforts meet,
And fire-side pleasures gambol at her feet!
Where shall that land—that spot of earth be found?
Art thou a man?—a patriot?—look around—
And thou shalt find howe'er thy foot-steps roam,
That land thy country; and that spot thy home!

The Husband's Secret.

"But," said Maria Prevost, unyieldingly, "a husband ought not to have any secrets from his wife."

"You are mistaken my child," returned her mother, "there may be things which a man ought to keep from his wife. In matters of business he should not bring all his troubles into his house, nor burden the mind of his companion with things which she could understand just enough to fret her and of which she could understand no more.—And then a man may have secrets confided to him by a friend, which, in honour he is bound to keep to himself."

But Maria Prevost could not think so; or, at least, she pretended that she could not. She had been married nearly three years, and yet this was the first that had come upon her. Her husband had received a letter on the previous evening—a man had brought it to the door of his dwelling—and when she had asked him what it was about, he told her it was only a business matter; but she saw that it was something which interested him very much, and she knew it must be something of importance; so she demanded to know what the letter contained. Finally her husband told her that he could not explain the matter to her then, but that at some future time she should know all about it.

He was not to be moved, she became very sullen and morose, and allowed herself to suffer all sorts of suspicious and evil imaginations. It so happened that her mother came to visit her on the following day; and of course the parent could not be long in discovering something was wrong; for her child was usually so happy and so bright that this cloud was quickly apparent. And when Mrs. Wilson had learned the cause of her daughter's trouble, she tried to show her how wrong it was for her to feel so. But Maria appeared unwilling to see the matter as her mother would present it.

"Tell me, my child," said Mrs. Wilson, "do you not know that your husband loves you dearly?"

"I think he does," replied Maria.

"And did you ever know him to deceive you?"

"No."

"Then why should you not trust him in this?"

"And why should he not trust me?" cried the young wife, quickly.

"He does trust you with everything proper. He may have the best of reasons for keeping the contents of that letter to himself. It may be the secret of some friend who is in trouble; it may be a confession of wrong from some repentant poor one, who had thrown himself upon your husband's forbearance. In short, there may be many things which he could not impart at once to you without sacrificing his honor. Remember my dear, that the very quality of heart and soul which leads him to be so true and faithful to his wife, will lead him to be true to others. But let me tell you a story of my own experience. I think I never told you about the secret my husband once kept from me."

"No mother,—I don't remember."

"Well, I'll tell it to you. When I married Charles Wilson I think I gained one of the best husbands that ever was. I thought so then, and I think so now."

"I know he is one of the best fathers," interposed Meria, with much feeling.

"Aye," responded her mother, "and one of the best of men. When we were first married he was just commencing in business, and I had the pleasure of knowing that he was not only succeeding very well, but he made me feel that I was a great help to him. We had been married about two years, and there had never been a cloud upon our home. One afternoon I heard my husband come into the front entry and go up stairs. He went very lightly but I knew it was his step; and, in a half playful mood, I ran up the back way to meet him. I found him in a little library, and he was just putting something into one of the private drawers of his secretary. I could see that it was a small package, very neatly done up in white paper, with writing upon it.—And I saw more, too, I saw that Charles was quite nervous, and that he was anxious to conceal the package from me, for he slipped it away very quickly, and then closed the drawer and locked it; and when I asked him what it was, he tried to smile, and told me that I mustn't know.

"But I was not to be put off thus. I told him that he must tell me what it was that he had concealed in that drawer. He kissed me, and bade me curb my curiosity, telling me that, perhaps, at some time I might know all about it. Still I would not be put off. I demanded to know there. I told him it was very strange that he should creep into the house in such a clandestine manner, and try to hide things away from his wife. If it was any present he had received from some of the females who had loved him before I married him; or, if it was only old love-letters, he needn't be afraid to show it. He would tell me nothing, and when I began to upbraid him he turned and left me.

"And now the cloud had come. I allowed myself to worry over the matter, and I cannot begin to tell half of the suspicions that found life in my bosom. My husband may have kept many secrets from me before, but this was the first instance I had detected, and it became a great matter to me.—When he came home in the evening I was silent and morose; and when I was forced to answer him. I was by no means pleasant. I did not stop to consider how kind and confiding he had always been; nor did I remember how noble and honorable he was. I only thought of the secret of that mysterious package which he had hidden away from me, and I was determined—perhaps I had not really made such a plan, but still was the fact—I had determined that I would be miserable, too, until he confessed to me what was in the hidden packet. Before we went to bed that night he asked me if I was still thinking of the scene in the library, and when I admitted that I was, he asked me if I could not have confidence enough in his truth and love to trust him. I answered, rather sullenly, that he had no right to keep a secret from his wife. As I showed some ill-feeling he became nervous, and wisely left me.

"On the following morning but little was said between us. I was determined that I would not yield until I had learned the secret, and as my husband could not make pleasantness all alone, the cloud still remained, and grew more black. He did not come to dinner; and during that long day I had some arguments with myself.—There was a spirit within me which whispered to me that I was acting very foolishly. It told me what a good kind man my husband was—it told me that I ought to trust him. But I would not be convinced. I had gone so far that I would not retract. To me passed another evening of pain and unpleasantness.

"On the morning of the next day, after we had eaten our breakfast, Charles came over to me, and kissed me on the forehead.

"Eliza," he said, in a soft kind tone, "what day is this."

"It is Saturday," I told him.

"But what day of the month?" he asked.

"I thought and I remembered that it was the 10th of June.

"Is it not your birthday?" he said.

I should have forgotten it, but such was the fact.

"And then he took a package from his bosom—it was the very one that I had seen him hide in the drawer—and he said to me.—

"Darling, I bought this for you when I was in the city, and I meant that it should have been a complete surprise for my little wife. However, if it doesn't wholly surprise her, I hope it may add something to her happiness as a token of her husband's fondness and continued love."

"And then he kissed me again, and laid the package in my lap, and went away.—When he was gone I took it up, and I read the writing upon the wrapper: "To MY WIFE ON HER TWENTY-THIRD BIRTH-DAY." I tore off the paper, and found a case of Turkey morocco. I opened the case, and I saw a gold watch and chain! . . . . I went up to my chamber and threw myself upon the bed; and I think I suffered enough during that forenoon to more than punish me. When my husband returned I laid my head upon his bosom, and he did not release me from his embrace until the cloud was all gone.

"I never allowed another such cloud to come over my hearthstone, Maria, though there have been many occasions when I might have called one up had I taken a notion to pry into all my husband's business affairs. The true man will, if possible, keep entirely from his wife those things which, for a season, he would reserve to himself; but if by accident she should fall upon one of them, she will be wise if she remembers her companion's love and goodness, and strive to forget his secret."

Maria Prevost was deeply affected by her mother's story, as was evident not only from the tears she shed, but from the fact that she had no reply to make. She remained wholly silent until the servant girl came in to inform her that the table was set, and then she arose and went out to prepare for tea.

In a little while Mr. Prevost came in and when Maria heard him she joined him in the sitting room.

"Why—where have you been?" she cried, when she saw how tired he looked, and how dusty his clothes were.

"Ah my dear," he answered, with a smile "I have had a hard ride; and I can now tell you about the contents of that letter which I received last evening."

Then he sat down and told me how a man in a distant town had sued him for one thousand pounds, threatening to push the suit to its extremity at once if the money was not paid; and the letter of the previous evening was from a lawyer informing him of the fact.

"I was startled and surprised," continued Mr. Prevost, "for I had not the least idea what it could all mean. Of course I would not tell you of it, for it could only have worried and tormented you, and that too without just cause. Could I have explained the matter, and shown you that there was no danger, I should have done so at once; but I could not explain it to myself; and I must own that I was a little worried. However, it's all right now. I have been over to-day to D. . . ., where I found a bill with my name upon the back of it. Of course it was a forgery, as I soon convinced the holders.

"And are you clear of it all?" asked Marie, eagerly, at the same time putting her arms about her husband's neck.

"Yes. It was John Clarkson, my old clerk, who did it; and they have now turned their attention towards his arrest, though I doubt if they will gain anything if they find him, for he is sadly fallen. And now my dear, confess to me that you were very much provoked because I would not show you the letter last evening."

"I was; but forgive me, and I will never do so again."

"Because," added the husband, as he pressed her to his bosom, and kissed her again, and forgave her, you don't know all the mysteries of the counting-room; and, were I to load your mind with one half the perplexities of my business, you would find your little head aching very often. But I love you darling, and I hope you will never have occasion [illegible]."

And Maria promised herself she never would.

A LOCK OF HAIR.

"Do you see this lock of hair?" said an old man to me.

"Yes; but what of it? It is, I suppose a curl from the head of a dear child long since gone to God.

"It is not. It is a lock of my own hair; and it is nearly seventy years since it was cut from my head."

"But why do you prize a lock of your hair so much?"

"It has a story belonging to it and a strange one too. I keep it thus with care because it speaks to me more of God, and of His special care, than anything possesses.

"I was a child of four years old, with long curly locks, which, in sun, or rain, or wind, hung down my cheeks uncovered.—One day my father went into the woods to cut up a log, and I went with him. I was standing a little way behind him, or rather at his side, watching with interest the strokes of the heavy axe, as it went up and came down on the wood, sending off splinters at every stroke in all directions. Some of the splinters fell at my feet and I stooped to pick them up. In doing so I stumbled forward, and in another moment my curly head lay upon the log. I had fallen just as the axe was coming down with all its force! It was too late to stop the blow! Down came the axe! I screamed and my father fell to the ground in terror. He could not stay the stroke, and in the blindness which the sudden terror caused, he thought he had killed his boy. We soon recovered—I from my fright and he from his terror. He caught me in his arms and looked at me from head to foot to find out the deadly wound which he was sure he had inflicted. Not a drop of blood or a scar was to be seen. He knelt down upon the grass and gave thanks to a gracious God. Having done so, he took his axe, turned to the log he had been splitting, and there was a single curl of his boy's hair, sharply cut through and laid upon the wood. How great the escape! It was as if an angel had turned aside the edge at that moment when it was descending upon my head. With renewed thanks upon his lips, he took up the curl and went home with me in his arms.

"That lock he kept all his days, as a memorial of God's care and love. The lock he left me on his death bed. It keep it with care. It tells me of father's God and mine. It rebukes unbelief and alarm. It bids me trust him forever. I have had many tokens of fatherly love in my three score years and ten, but somehow this speaks most to my heart. It is the oldest and perhaps the most striking. It used to speak to my father's heart; it now speaks to mine."

SPIDERS AS WEATHER PROPHETS.

BY DR. W. EGGERT.

It is a most interesting peculiarity of the spiders, particularly of the larger kinds, that they announce through their motions and labors almost every change of the weather. The fact that such a peculiarity exists is mentioned by Plinius, Chapter XXIV, in his history of nature, but it was not demonstrated for want of sufficient observations. It appears that the spider in form and substance has received the necessary qualifications to produce the phenomena in view.—The spider presents a corpulent, big and moist body, long and very tender extremities. The body will consequently be much irritated by cold and heat, hence will be made, so to speak, thermometrical; the extremeties will be easily affected by dryness and moisture, hence will be made barometrical. These are the outlines of our opinion. Space will not permit to explain them more exactly and scientifically. To make these meteorological observations we will find the larger spiders of the best service; we prefer the Cross and the Corner spider. The result will be the more satisfactory, as the insect is older and larger.—Care should be taken never to advance too near the places of their labor, for as soon as the spider sees that it is observed, it will change the place at once, and its instinct in this respect is most extraordinary. It is a great benefit to observe several at once, so as to make a comparis a. In consequence of having made those observations we may count the following six points as very nearly creditable:

1. If the Cross or Garden spiders appear in great numbers, and if their net works or webs have extremely large dimensions, it forbodes continuous bright and fine weather. The same can be said if the spider during the night has finished a new web; if it fails to strip off its skin, or if it is found in the forenoon at about 10 o'clock, in the centre of its net, shaking the same with the utmost efforts. Corner spiders in out-houses if they show their heads out of the webs, stretching out their legs to the largest extent; if it lays eggs, or if it enlarges its web at night, stretching its extremeties in the day time, it foretells the most beautiful weather.

2. If the Cross spider makes its appearance in small numbers apparently with intention to work but little, and only on a small scale, it indicates changeable weather.

3. The disappearance of the Cross spider, or the stoppage of its work altogether; the turn of the Corner spider with its head to the corner, forbodes rain, the latter even constant rain.

4. Thunder and lightning will be most strictly announced, sometimes days before their appearance, in the midst of the finest weather. Both kinds of spiders are engaged in the same work—in the destruction of their finest webbing. After this is done, they try to find a secret and dark place, always pushing their heads into the utmost corners.

5. The complete web of the Corner spider resembles a wheel, with a great number of spokes. If the spider commences the work only with forming the spokes around the centre, without finishing the circular [illegible] threads, we may expect [illegible] wind soon, but which will cease after ten or twelve hours' duration; but if we see it suddenly destroy the third or fourth part of its web, and afterwards disappear to a hiding place, we may rely on having a storm in a short time, but which will not last long, and will be followed by fine weather.

6. When the Corner spider makes its appearance in winter time, if we see it running fast in all directions, or engaged in a fight for the best web, or place in a web, it foretells cold; but if it commences a new web, and if it, particularly during the night, forms one web above another, it is a sure sign of an approaching severe and continual cold, which generally is experienced 9 or 10 days after this observation.

In conclusion, we have to say that these statements are now acknowledged by the best zoologians of Europe.

PADDY RYAN AND THE PRINCE OF WALES

The Nenagh Guardian, an Irish journal has the following amusing story:—

"Most of our readers know Paddy Ryan, formerly of Carrick-on-Suir, and more recently of Nenagh, manufacturer and hawker of Irish Tweeds. Paddy, who had at all times a great fancy for the Curragh of Kildare, was particularly desirous of seeing the plain once again while the Prince of Wales was staying there. He accordingly paid a visit to the camp during His Royal Highness's sojourn, and determined to offer the illustrious representative of the Sovereign his dutiful respects. By dint of stratagem he succeeded in getting into the the presence of the Prince in his quarters. Here Paddy paid homage to His Royal Highness, and has ogenjoyed this privilege the bright idea struck him that he might turn the occasion to a little personal advantage, and accordingly he displayed to the view of the Prince some specimens of his wares, which he chanced to bring with him (lightness, in his own peculiar brogue,) in a gratuitous dissertation on the modus operandi adopted by him in the manufacture of the Tweed, at his rural factory in Tipperary. The Prince was pleased with Paddy's power of speech, no less than the creditable result of his industry and toil, and to show his appreciation of both, ordered a coat of Paddy's own manipulation. Delighted Paddy inserted his pliant scissors, and with lightning speed severed the making of the coat from the favourite piece. The Prince of Wales then ordered liberal payment to be made to Paddy for the article, and here it was that Paddy showed he was not only a loyal subject, but a generous one to boot. Was it Paddy Ryan to take payment for a coat for his future king? To do so would be unworthy of the name he bore, the country he belonged to, or the country that claimed him as a son. The prince could not think of accepting of the poor man's ware on such terms, and insisted on remunerating him. Paddy was inxorable, too, in his refusal of any sum, great or small, for the article; but since His Royal Highness was so determined on recompensing him, he didn't like to oppose his illustrious will; and if he would only give the dutiful liege of his august mother his autograph, merely prefacing it by a short statement that he had bought a coat of Irish Tweed from Paddy Ryan, of Tipperary, of his own manufacture, it was all he would ask or accept of. The Prince at once complied, and presented Paddy with the desire testimonial under his own hand. Paddy made obeisance and salaams without number, offered prayers for the speedy and happy marriage of the Prince, and retired; and being averse to the principle of "hiding his talent under a bushel," he exhibited the Prince's certificate to all with whom he come in contact, or, rather—to bring the favoured number into a proper limit—to such of these he met as would likely be influenced by example, particularly the example of a Prince of Wales, in taking a coat of Paddy's Tweed. The result more than realised his expectations, as we are informed that "From the colonel down,

To the man with the crown" of every brigade, regiment, and depot at the camp invested in Paddy's merchandise.

WANTED A KNOT TIED.

A correspondent "Down East," in a "matterful" note to the editor relates the following incident. Perhaps he didn't desire to have it printed; but it's too good to keep.

He was taking a sleighride with a very pretty girl, when he encountered a Methodist minister, a favorite gospel itinerant in all the region round about. He stopped him, and asked hurriedly;

"Can you tie a knot for me?"

"Yes," said brother B., "I guess so; when do you want it done?"

"Well, right away," was the reply.

"Is it lawful, though, here in the highway?" asked the brother. "I never tho't of that."

"I don't know," was the response, made just as a young briefless lawyer drove up, to whom the case was submitted.

"It depends upon what kind of a knot he wants tied," was the decision.

"I want a knot tied in my horses tail to keep it out of the snow!" shouted the wicked wag, as he drove rapidly away, fearing lest the minister, in his profane wrath, should "fall from grace." At a safe distance he "slowed," and heard the lawyer demanding five dollars from the minister for "professional advice!" Rather "sharp practice," but it was his first case, and palpably a knotty one.

At a duel a second interfered, and proposed the combatants should shake hands. To this the other objected. "For," said he, "their hands have been shaking for this half hour."

For the Examiner.

ESSAYS AND EXTRACTS.

Mr. Editor,—I am glad to observe that notwithstanding the "hard times," and other disadvantages usually attending the conducting of a newspaper, you feel sufficiently above water not to join the corps of defunct periodicals but to go on; and as the period is approaching when you will be commencing a new volume I think it would be well to ask your readers to furnish you from time to time with original essays on different subjects, or with approved extracts from standard writers of Britain or America.

Now, while I by no means profess to be a ready writer, I have in my own opinion, at times read excellent thoughts and I now send you some of them. If some of the readers of the Examiner would form themselves into a corps of "volunteer contributors," whether ready writers or not, and make it their business to send in occasionally short pithy articles, and thus save you the trouble of preparing, and furnish you enough to do in editing judicious contributions and selections. That this thought may not remain wandering about in my section of cranology, I have mentioned it and now put it in a judicial form. And while I wait for it to be seconded I have another thought. It is this, in order to furnish variety and avoid the annoyance often felt by inexperienced writers in fixing on a subject, when we read, whatever it might be, book, pamphlet or newspaper, we shall do it pen in hand, and as we meet subjects, note them, and when we shall have placed them in suitable connexions, or appended such comments as may occur, send them to you.—For example in reading an old volume issued in Paisley, Scotland, in 1797, and edited by a Paisley weaver, I find the following extract on the disunion of the U. S. of America. How elevating and ennobling the weaver's sentiments when contrasted with those of the Canadian Ministerial journals.

"Let them never forget, rather let them (the Americans) remember with religious awe, that their union is indispensable to literature, as it is likewise to their national prosperity, happiness, and improvement—as indeed they desire to behold a literature like that which has sculptured with such energy of expression, which has painted so faithfully and vividly the crimes, the vices the follies of ancient and modern Europe. If they desire that their land should furnish for the orator and the novelist, for the painter and the poet, age after age, the wild and romantic scenery of war; the glittering march of armies, and all the horrors of the battle field; the desolation of the harvest, and the burning of the cottage; the storm, the rack, and the ruin of cities. If they desire that these should be the elements of their literature, then and then only, let them hurl from its proud pedestal the majestic statue of their union. But if they covet for their country the loveliest, purest literature the world has ever seen, such a literature as shall honor God and bless mankind, let them cling for ever to a Union of their states with a parent's love, a scholar's enthusiasm, and a Christian's hope, and resist every attempt of foreign enemies, or internal treason to subvert the same."

The foregoing from one whom Tories and Whigs in Britain ranked among the class misnamed the "swinish multitude," how truthfully does it present the condition of the American Union.

Such selections judiciously made will frequently be found as suitable to the times as I, perhaps as creditable to the contributor as any attempt of his own; besides it will be of rare benefit to him in fixing the subjects selected in his mind and prove quite as useful as to talk of or write on them.

The annexed piece is from a small volume of poetry, the production of an Ayrshire mechanic, John B. R. Willson, printed in 1846.

DEATH.

"Dust we are, and dust to be
Dust upon us, dust about us,
Dust on every thing we see,
Dust within us, dust without us,
Saith the preacher 'dust to dust,'
Let them mingle if they must.

"Like leaves on trees the race of man is found,
Now green in Youth, now withering on the ground,
Another race the following Spring supplies;
They fade successive, and successive rise;
So generations in their course decay;
So perish these when those are passed away.

"We of to-day! men of the common root!
Shall soon be clods; part of the unfeeling earth,
Which we now spurn with haughty foot without
A trace left of our birth
Or being! sharers of man's common lot,
Who is, and then is not."

Death destroys both actions and enjoyments, mocks at wisdom, strength and beauty, disarranges our plans, robs us of our treasure, desolates our bosoms, breaks our heart-strings, blasts our hopes. It extinguishes the glow of kindness, abolishes the most tender relations of man, severs him from all he knows and loves, subjects him to an ordeal which thousands of millions have passed but none can explain. No wonder that nature trembles before it.—Reason justifies the fear. Religion never makes light of it; and he who does, instead of ranking with heroes can hardly deserve to rank with a brute.

C. S. D.
Cavendish, 9th Nov., 1861.

For the Examiner.

WHAT A JEW CAN DO BESIDES MAKE MONEY.

Who composed "Il Barbiere"? Rossini, a Jew. Is there any one with a soul for music who does not admire the heart-stirring strains of the "Huguenots and the Prophete"? Who composed them?—Meyrbere, a Jew. Who has not been spell-bound by the sonnergy of "Die Judin" by Halvey a Jew?

Who that Munich, has stood before the weeping Rosegspeare, whose harp hangs silently by the waters of Babylon, but has confessed the hand of a master in all that matchless picture? The artist was Bardemaun, a Jew.

Who has not heard of the able and free-spoken apostle of liberty, Boerne, a Jew?

Who has not been enchanted with beautiful fictions of Lyric poetry, and charmed with the graceful melodies, so to speak, of one of Israel's sweetest singers, Heine, a Jew?

Who has not listened with breathless ecstacy to the melting music of the "Midsummer's Night Dream"? Who has not wept with "Elijah," prayed with "Paul," and triumphed with "Stephen"? Do you wonder who created these wonderful harmonies? Felix Mendelsohn Bortholday, who I am happy to state was also a Jew.

In conclusion, who was it that made the deaf to hear, gave sight to the blind, made the lame to walk, cleansed the leper, and brought the dead to life? Superlative is my pleasure in stating, Messiah! a "Hebrew of the Hebrews!"

J. I.
Peterboro, C. W., 1 of 11, 1861.

AN AQUATIC BLONDIN.

Considerable excitement was created on Saturday last in and about Hampton, on its being given out that John Snell, the celebrated waterman and boatbuilder there, was going to walk across the river on a tight rope, and consequently many hundreds of spectators flocked toward the place at the time announced—six o'clock. The spiritual supporter of aquatics, the Right Honorable Lord Kilmorcey, and a number of ladies and gentlemen being present. After the regatta, in which Snell had been engaged, he had the rope chalked, and commenced walking on it from the Middlesex side balancing himself with a large ballast pole.—ing barges, one inch in diameter, and having been broken in one of the trials, and the guys beside being in a very insecure state (as the whole of the expense of preparing the rope had been defrayed by Snell himself,) it swayed up and down in a very dangerous manner, and was, in effect, a slack rope. Notwithstanding the disadvantages under which Snell (a perfect amateur in the art) laboured, he walked the rope with the utmost coolness and courage, and accomplished his task amidst the cheers of those assembled. It had been Snell's intention to wheel a man over the rope in a handbarrow, but Lord Kilmorcy, who made him a handsome present, was decidedly against his attempting the feat and then only, let them hurl from its proud pedestal the majestic statue of their union. But if they covet for their country the loveliest, purest literature the world has ever seen, such a literature as shall honor God and bless mankind, let them cling for ever to a Union of their states with a parent's love, a scholar's enthusiasm, and a Christian's hope, and resist every attempt of foreign enemies, or internal treason to subvert the same."

The foregoing from one whom Tories and Whigs in Britain ranked among the class misnamed the "swinish multitude," how truthfully does it present the condition of the American Union.

Such selections judiciously made will frequently be found as suitable to the times as I, perhaps as creditable to the contributor as any attempt of his own; besides it will be of rare benefit to him in fixing the subjects selected in his mind and prove quite as useful as to talk of or write on them.

The annexed piece is from a small volume of poetry, the production of an Ayrshire mechanic, John B. R. Willson, printed in 1846.

DEATH.

"Dust we are, and dust to be
Dust upon us, dust about us,
Dust on every thing we see,
Dust within us, dust without us,
Saith the preacher 'dust to dust,'
Let them mingle if they must.

"Like leaves on trees the race of man is found,
Now green in Youth, now withering on the ground,
Another race the following Spring supplies;
They fade successive, and successive rise;
So generations in their course decay;
So perish these when those are passed away.

"We of to-day! men of the common root!
Shall soon be clods; part of the unfeeling earth,
Which we now spurn with haughty foot without
A trace left of our birth
Or being! sharers of man's common lot,
Who is, and then is not."

Death destroys both actions and enjoyments, mocks at wisdom, strength and beauty, disarranges our plans, robs us of our treasure, desolates our bosoms, breaks our heart-strings, blasts our hopes. It extinguishes the glow of kindness, abolishes the most tender relations of man, severs him from all he knows and loves, subjects him to an ordeal which thousands of millions have passed but none can explain. No wonder that nature trembles before it.—Reason justifies the fear. Religion never makes light of it; and he who does, instead of ranking with heroes can hardly deserve to rank with a brute.

C. S. D.
Cavendish, 9th Nov., 1861.

MUST HELP UNCLE SAM FIRST.

A farmer in Wisconsin had a son who joined the 8th Regiment of that State without his father's consent. Several letters were written by the father to the son, while the regiment were in quarters at Camp Randall, for the purpose of persuading him to return. At last he wrote to him that he must come—that he had a large amount of threshing to do—that he could not afford to hire help, if it were to be had, which was hardly possible, owing to the number of enlistments—and that he must return home and help him, even if he enlisted again afterwards. The young man replied:

"Dear Father:—I can't go home

THE LATE NEIL McINTOSH Esq. OF MONTREAL.

From the Strafford Examiner, Nov. 14.

Were the writer of this gifted, as he considers he is not, of a capableness of sufficiently describing the feelings which vibrate so instantly, in a feeling heart, on the tidings of the death of an esteemed and valued friend, or of a near and dear relation, she would in this brief notice concentrate the "tear drops of the heart" to the memory of one he loved with affection—the late Neil McIntosh, Esq., late merchant in Montreal. After a lingering illness of several months, he died at his residence of Grenville, on the 7th of November last, at the age of 61.

Now the eye is dimmed, and the heart full, we may be forgiven for not portraying the extent of life varied in business, often thrilled by the difficulties of a bustling life, and meeting hardships in a new country, which the present generation of Canada are only required to listen to their tale; they are not actors in the scenes, they only move on. The late Mr. McIntosh was a native of the Island of Bute, in the Southern Highlands of Scotland. Rothesay, the chief town of the county, was his birthplace. His father was one of the old "princes" of that place. There were the families of McIntosh, Muir, Starps, Bannatynes, Stewarts, Glass, Leitch, McFee, &c. The father was largely engaged in the herring-fishing trade, had several vessels, and sent the produce of the sea and bays to the ports of the kingdom. The deceased left his native place in 1818. From our boyhood we knew him—natives of the same pretty town. A better looking and handsomer young man, at that date, was not in [illegible]. For a short time before leaving, he was in the office of the late Alexander, Esq., Town and Sheriff Clerk of Bute. To that office we also went for a time, at the departure of Mr. McIntosh. We recollect well, in the office, that the deceased's ordinary handwriting was so admired for its beauty, that it was compared with what was then called "copperplate." He emigrated to Martintown, in Glengarry, C. W., where his late brother, who is still remembered, Peter McIntosh, carried on the business of a general merchant—which embraced all things wanted by settlers of a British origin, in the then wilderness, and received as products in return, lumber, black salts, grain, &c. They were extensively engaged in the potash trade. Peter was ill health, and returned to his native land.—He died shortly after his arrival. We were at his funeral. There were several other brothers—one for a time, and our schoolmate, William, was postmaster at Lancaster, Glengarry.

Mr. Macintosh removed from Martintown to Montreal, nigh, we believe, 40 years ago, and though since 1833 corresponding with him, it was not till the summer of 1847 that we saw him for the first time this side the Atlantic. What a change. The white hair, gentlemanly and portly look, effaced the image of our early youth. We again were, in 1849, many months near him. In both these years, and we wish here to record the fact, he was to us as the "Huron Delegate," of very great help in our getting introduced to several M. P.'s of both Houses when Parliament was asked to set us apart as the Clerk of the County of Perth. In the Upper House, the best friend of the measure was the late Hon. P. McGill, Mr. McIntosh's personal friend.

The "ups and downs" of life and business pressed on him. One circumstance will show this. He exhibited to us, and we handled the paper (one among several) a returned Bill of Exchange for £10,000 sterling, which he had to meet through the failure of parties in the old country.

[illegible] will miss its reminiscenses, for he had an excellent memory. Our souls were knit in them—of times so long past—scenes before 1820. He married the eldest daughter, Arabella, of the late Captain Gilchrist, of Rothesay. She survives her husband, with several daughters and a beloved son. Hospitality and affection, with true sympathy and charity, reigned in their household. The heart which is now cold was ever warm to every call upon his generousness. His hand was ever ready to give. His mellow words ever flowed on behalf of humanity. May He who rules all things, always temper the storms of life to the survivors. The deceased was an Elder of St. Andrew's Church (Scotland) of Montreal. In political life a true and genuine, yet withal a liberal conservative. No more loyal subject to his Queen and country could be desired. Few of the "old stock" of friends of the period referred to, now survive. The Rev. Dr. Leitch, principal of Queen's College is one. He was junior to Mr. McIntosh. The ashes of some of our "fellows" repose in Australia,—and New Zealand, among her emigrants, can show from "Rosa," a Sheriff and Speaker of the Assembly.—But—and we grieve to write it—"Macchillichattan" is away. In the words of a poet he loved to quote (Ossian): "Our life is like the sunbeam of winter, that flies, between the showers, over the heath of Lena. The hunter, lifting his head upon his hilt, beholds the beam, and hails the day of the sun. He hails it, but it is already gone. The dun-robed clouds have drawn their shade over its path, and who can trace its footsteps? The leafless woods lament its departure. * * * * The sun, O woods, shall again return; and your green leaves, in his warm beam, will flourish. The season of your youth will come back and all your bare boughs will rejoice." —(Gathula.)

PROGRESS IN ANTI-SLAVERY SENTIMENT.

(From N. Y. Times.)

We think we do not overstate the rapid march of public sentiment in this direction. Cautious and conservative men are going forward faster than they imagine. For example: it would be difficult to find a person, not at heart a Secessionist, who would not say: "If either Slavery or the Union must fall, then let Slavery instantly perish." And the number of those who believe that this alternative is close upon us is now multitudinous, and increases with every reverse of our arms, and with every day that postpones a decisive victory of our forces.

The act of Congress of August last discharges from "labor or service" every slave who has been used by the rebels, directly or indirectly, in carrying on the war. In other words it sets them free. When this act was passed it produced great trepidation in timid and conservative quarters. It was denounced as an "Abolition plot." The President even hesitated to sign it.—Weeks rolled on; our arms encountered reverses; the rebellion assumed gigantic proportions. At length Fremont's proclamation appeared. After a little spell, and when the President resolved to modify it so as to make it conform exactly to the act of Congress, these timid and conservative classes, who had stigmatized this law as an Abolition scheme, rallied to the defence of the President, and eulogized the act of Congress as a wise measure, precisely adapted to the exigency. This is progress! for this law has forever debarred from Slavery a full a [illegible] of a million of negroes, the very bone and sinew of the system, who are diffused all through the South, and hold as perfect a tenure to liberty as the Chief-Justice of the United States.

All will recollect how cautiously the people received and how gingerly the administration handled the "contraband" proposition which Gen. Butler let fly at public opinion from Fortress Monroe. The War Department, after much painful cogitation, and despite not a few misgivings in conservative circles, restricted the application of this novel doctrine exclusively to the slaves of rebels who voluntarily sought shelter within the walls of the fort, and who were then to be set to work only in pacific employments. But we find the Department applauded, in all quarters while instructing commanders invading the South not only to receive all slaves who come within our lines, but to lure them to our service, and arm them in companies, to aid in crushing the Rebellion—in a word to convert them into military auxiliaries. This rule is to be applied not to the slaves of rebels only, but to those of loyal citizens, giving assurance to the latter that Congress will pay them for their losses. The optics must be very nice to discern how far this falls short of an application of the doctrines of the Fremont proclamation to the case of rebel slaves, and they must be very dull not to perceive that it goes a long way beyond them in regard to the slaves of loyal citizens. And, by the bye, as in leading the march of public sentiment, we may add in passing, that while the Adjutant-General was groping together all possible reasons for the removal of Fremont from the command of the Western army, the issuing of this proclamation was studiously omitted.

What is to be the effect upon the institution of Slavery when the Government begins to employ it on a broad scale to crush this rebellion, the future only can determine. Doubtless philosophic observers, who have made this problem their special study, believe that, amid the terrible convulsions that are now shaking the continent it must either utterly perish or be so shivered and dilapidated as to ultimately crumble in ruins. Under the cloud of uncertainty that overhangs its destiny, it is gratifying to know that the sentiment which demands that it shall be employed as an auxiliary for preserving the existence of the nation is so nearly unanimous.

HEAVY BANK ROBBERY.

$58,000 STOLEN FROM A CONNECTICUT BANK.

Some time during Saturday night and yesterday morning the Winstead Bank, located at West Winstead, Conn., was burglariously entered and robbed of $58,000, with which the thieves made their escape. The robbery was first discovered by the cashier, who, upon opening the bank and entering the vault yesterday morning found the money non. est. The other officers were speedily summoned, but an hour or more elapsed before the discovery was made as to the manner in which the thieves gained access to the vault, which was built of heavy granite blocks, the top being covered by an immense granite slab. Access having been gained to a lawyer's office directly over the vault, the flooring had been taken up in small and perfect pieces, and the slab broken in two. By means of a railroad tie, the stone was pried up until space enough was afforded to admit one of the thieves into the vault. The money having been abstracted, the stone was nicely replaced, as also was the flooring, the pieces being screwed down, and the holes puttied up. A sledge-hammer, a ratchet-drill, and a broken railroad tie were found on the vault. The booty consisted of $50,000 in bills of the Winstead and Hurbert Bank, and $8,000 in specie. Besides this two Treasury notes of $100 each, and two of $50 each were taken. About $200 in cents was left by the burglars. A reward of $1,000 is offered for the arrest and conviction of the thieves.

SIGNIFICANT EVENTS.

It is reported by Washington correspondents of the New York press, that H. R. Helper, of North Carolina, author of the "Impending Crisis," has been appointed U. S. Consul to Buenos Ayres.

Reports are also given of a speech by Col. Cochrane, of the New York Chasseurs, in which he used the following language:—

"Suppose the enemy advances against you, would you from any squeamishness, from any false delicacy, refrain from levelling the hostile gun and prostrating them in death? No. It is your object, it is your purpose. Then, if you seize their property, if you open their ports, if you destroy their lives, I ask you whether you will not seize their slaves? I ask you whether you will not arm their slaves, and whether you will not carry them by battalions into war against their masters? What! you have no sympathy for white rebels, and yet you will spare the black slave whom they use! Let us have no more of this dallying with people's dilletante conservatism, this doubting in Cabinet, when our soldiers are perishing in the field. Soldiers you know no such reasoning as this. You have arms in your hands, and those arms are for exterminating the enemy until he submits to law, order and the constitution. Then explode whatever magazine of combustibles is in your way; set fire to and consume the cotton; take property when you can find it; confiscate property wherever you find it; take the slave and bestow him upon the non-slaveholders if you please; do unto them as they would do unto you; raise up in their midst a party interest against the present slaveholder; distract their councels."

Strong language this; and all the more significant that Secretary-of-war, Cameron, [who heard it uttered] endorsed it by saying:—"The doctrine which he [Colonel Cochrane] has laid down I approve as fully as if his words had been my own."

MORMONISM AND SLAVERY.

The United States declared war against Mormonism two years ago, as it did against slavery this year, but with like ill-success. The expedition came to nothing, and, therefore, we should give Governments the Gamaliel to refrain from suppressing fanaticism by force. It may be that both slavery and Mormonism will break up from internal division, if not from compulsion from without. It appears that a reign of terror now prevails in Utah. Brigham Young, the Mormon prophet, threatens that as soon as the United States troops are withdrawn [which they will soon be on account of the civil war] he will dock the neck of some of his dupes who are discontented with this new patriarchy of the West. Under threats like these it is not to be wondered if a rival has started up to dispute the leadership with Young Brigham. The name of this new prophet is Joseph Morris, and the followers of Joseph Smith and Brigham Young are flocking after the "new Joe." He has issued several books, which claim to be of heavenly origin; and proclaims his mission to be to deliver the Mormonite people from bondage. There is evidently, then, a split in the camp; whether this imposter succeeds in casting the old one out, the Mormon delusion will wear itself out by sheer exhaustion. When rival prophets take the field against each other, it is very likely to hap...n that their pretentions will neutralize each other. All people will see that they cannot both be right; and some, at least, will draw the sensible conclusion that both are imposters unworthy of credit. In the same way, slavery shut in itself will find competition with free-labor too strong for it. As all whites cannot be owners of slaves, the poorer ones will hire themselves out to service, and free labor will always beat slave labour out of the market. Thus competition will arise between free and slave labour. The black will be hired out on the same terms as the white, or allowed a partnership in the profits, like the Russian obrock, or rent of a serf, for the use of his own labor. This will prepare the way for emancipation, which will be all the better than abolition, as the freedom that is won is better than the freedom that is only bestowed.—Dublin University Magazine.

SCENES ON A BATTLE FIELD.

A correspondent of the St. Louis Democrat writes from Cairo, under date Nov. 12, giving a description of the shocking scenes presented by the battle-field at Belmont, the next day after the conflict. He says:

"After getting permission under the flag of truce to go and bury our dead, and relieve the wounded, who had lain upon the field for nearly twenty-four hours, the first thing we saw after our landing was two of our dead men lying beside an old house.—Three had been thrown into a corner crib near by, and four lay wounded in the house nearly dead. We went on through the woods until we came to a corn-field where sixteen of our dead were laying just as they had fallen, and here we also found three of our wounded, who immediately received the attentions of our surgeons. We also saw here large pools of blood from their dead, who had been removed from the fields in wagons. Going on half a mile further we came upon a large party of the enemy burying their dead, which they had collected from the different thickets; about fifty bodies were laying about awaiting burial—none of our killed was among them. Going on further through a clearing we came to the fallen timber where our boys charged and took the enemy's batteries, and where loss on both sides is represented as frightful. The enemy had buried and removed their own dead, and we found twelve of our men in the position they had fallen. On the river bank we found a number of our dead; and here it was that that one of the most hard-rending scenes of the whole battle was enacted.

"Captain Brooks, of Buford's regiment, came upon the dead body of his own brother, who was a surgeon in the rebel army; he knew he was a rebel surgeon, but did not know he was in the engagement until he stumbled over his corpse. The scene is described as affecting in the extreme, and it certainly forms one of the most thrilling and horrible instances in this unholy rebellion. Captain Brooks buried his brother, and put a slab at the head of his grave.

"At this point a great many of the enemy's dead had been thrown off the embankment to escape our notice; but we saw where they had been dragged and pitched off the bank. One of our party looked over, contrary to express orders, and saw, as he supposes, seventy-five or one hundred of bleeding and mangled corpses, heaped on heaps, among the dismantled rebel artillery.—Having buried our dead—some 85 in number—and bringing away about 20 of our wounded, we started for the boats.

"Our dead were mostly lying upon their backs, and everything taken from their bodies that could be of value to the enemy. The countenances of the dead were mostly expressive of rage. One or two features were expressive of fear. One poor fellow, after he was wounded, bethought himself to take a smoke: he was found in a sitting position against a tree, dead, with his pipe in one hand, knife in another and his tobacco on his breast.

"A young lad about sixteen, was found laying across a log, just as he fell, grasping his musket in both hands.

"A wounded man with both legs nearly shot off, was found in the woods singing the "Star Spangled Banner; but for this circumstance, the surgeons say, they would not have discovered him."

OUGHT ENGLAND TO BREAK THE BLOCKADE.

It would appear not only that there are certain parties among the manufacturers of Lancashire bent on urging our Government to break the blockade of the American cotton ports, but that there are others who hope and believe the French Emperor is about to do what our Ministers, very properly, recoil from doing. To both of these sections we have a few words to say. That England has far too great a respect for international law and morality, and far too much consideration for future and remote consequences, forcibly to interfere with or prohibit the blockade, we have, we trust, made clear in previous numbers. But those who, in their dread of a scarcity of cotton would have our Government take this perilous and unwarrantable step, would do well to consider whether they are not defeating their own end by making it. The Seceding States have based much of their action and many of their expectations upon the conviction that England cannot do without their cotton, and that if it be long enough withheld, she will interfere to break the blockade by force;—in other words, that she will embrace their cause and virtually declare war against their rival;—that is, that she will take precisely the line which these complainants are urging her to take. The South is deliberately planning and toiling to force us into a quarrel with the North; and Englishmen are found ready to fall into the trap, and help her sinister design! Is it not obvious that so long as the Confederates entertain any hope that England will thus interfere, they will obstinately retain their cotton on the plantations and effectually prevent our getting it in any mode? And is it not obvious that nothing will so foster and prolong these fallacious hopes as the language which, under the dread of coming pressure, these inconsiderate merchants and manufacturers are using? That the distress must be great and wide-spread in the industrial districts of Lancashire and Cheshire, if the American crop is really and permanently withheld, we entertain no doubt, and we are surprised that all concerned (and who is not concerned?) should view the prospect with alarm; but the sole practical question is, How can the threatened danger be most effectually and yet rightfully averted? Now, as we have repeatedly shown, the resources of the South, never very fast or ever very ready, are derived solely from the sale of their produce; for of accumulating funds they have no great store. The sale of their cotton crop will, therefore, soon become to them an object of absolute necessity: and when they feel this, and can be definitively satisfied that forcible intervention from Europe is an idle dream, they will hurry their cotton down to the ports, so as to have it ready for shipment by any vessels that arrive and are prepared for the risk of endeavoring to evade the blockading squadron. At present they feel at ease, for there is no cotton gathered and packed, and no ships ready to receive it: so they can safely indulge in a menace which they hope will bring terrified Europe to their aid. But as soon as the cotton is ready to come forward, we have no doubt it will be transmitted to the coast: provided they can be made to renounce their hopes of foreign interposition. Now, as far as England is concerned, we believe we may confidently assert that her interposition will be strictly-limited to insisting that the blockade of every port announced to be closed shall be bona fide, efficient, and continuous. If we are vigilant enough in this respect, we apprehend that the blockade in several quarters will be found inadequate and will have to be renounced. But this is a very different matter from interfering to "prohibit the blockade" altogether, on the ground that it is very mischievous to us. The one proceeding is strictly in accordance with international Law and justice. The other is a flagrant and manifest violation of both.—Economist.

MUTUAL BAD FEELING.

Extraordinary as is the anti-American feeling in Britain, which has hitherto borne so much and so patiently from its wayward neighbor, still more extraordinary is the ill will on the other side which first gave to that feeling, and which has, we believe, more than kept pace with it. We find Secretary Seward who was always bitter against Britain, day by day annoying British subjects, and showing his dislike of the British nation, with the evident view of making political capital for himself. The hope of such a result proves that great dislike of our country prevails on the part of a large section on the American people. That it is not participated in by the whole, or in fact by the more respectable and thoughtful class generally, is well known to all who have any acquaintance with that class of Americans. It seems, however, at present to be fostered by the "powers that be" on the other side of the line, precisely as it has been for many months in Canada, doubtless with a view to show the patriotism to the Government, and thus to make political capital out of it. It is a pity that men can be found on both sides so selfish as to overlook the immense harm their conduct has a tendency to bring upon their countries in the name of patriotism. This ill-felling between the two countries is not decreasing, as we had hoped, but constantly increasing with a steady progress which is deeply to be regretted. We warn those politicians, and still more those editors who have taken the course of willfully stirring up strife, that, should the result be as they seem to wish, and should Canada, as a natural consequence, be made the field of a war worse than that which they pretend so much to deprecate in Virginia, they will have much to answer for, even though they should deprecate strongly such an event while they busily sow the seed. We, however, only hint at this as a possible result of growing international enmity. It is, we are happy to believe, not at all probable; and it is to be hoped that those papers on both sides of the lines, which have so long occupied their space, in showing up the faults and the weak points of their neighbors, may, hereafter, find something better to do. They are at present like careless or wicked boys who play with matches in a barn, they may affect a mischief out of all proportion to their own importance.—Montreal Witness.

PASSPORTS IN THE UNITED STATES.

We learn that, early last month, the United States Consul here addressed his Government, with the view of obtaining some arrangement by which he might grant passports to British subjects desirous of embarking for Europe at the Atlantic ports of the United States; but that he has not as yet succeeded, the Government at Washington not being willing to depart from the general system adopted for the regulation of passports. So anxious, however, is the Consul to do his utmost to lessen the inconvenience to Canadians going to Europe via the United States, unavoidable incident to the war, that, we understand, he is now on his way to Washington with the view of, if possible, personally effecting an arrangement which will relieve all Canadian passengers by the steamers from Portland, Boston and New York from delay and annoyance attending their embarkation under the present system. At present, we believe, there is no British official specially charged with the issue of passports in this Province, and in the absence of this officer the highest municipal authority of the district, in which the applicant is resident, is the proper functionary to whom to apply. The municipal officer is supposed to be cognizant of the residence, and has evidence of the citizenship of all within his municipality. The Mayor of Montreal, as Mayors do in French towns in similar cases, has for some time issued passports, of which we give a copy:

PROVINCE OF CANADA, }
City of Montreal. }

John Smith, of the City of Montreal, in the Province of Canada, being about to leave this said Province of Canada, I, the undersigned Mayor of the said city of Montreal, do hereby certify that he, the said John Smith, is a natural born subject of Her Majesty Queen Victoria, and a respectable resident of Montreal aforesaid, and these presents are granted him, the said John Smith, in order to facilitate him in his object of leaving Canada, and if need be to obtain for him protection from the Consuls representing the British Crown, in any country he may visit.

Given at the said City of Montreal, under my hand and the Seal of the said City, this day of one thousand eight hundred and

C. S. RODIER,
Mayor.

This passport, till within a few days, has, we believe answered every purpose, though by the strict regulations issued on the 19th July, and generally made public, it required to be visa at the Secretary of State's Department in Washington, and these regulations are now enforced. Judicial authorities also can issue passports when legal evidence is presented of the citizenship of the applicant. These passports having been obtained should be certified by the American Consul previous to being forwarded for the visa of the Secretary of State.—Montreal Herald.

A MYSTERIOUS CASE.

Quite an excitement was occasioned in this town on Sunday evening last, by some parties discovering two females in the act of making a grave, in what is known as the Old Burial Ground, near the Georgina Bay Tannery. When the women found they were discovered they fled into the woods adjoining and hid themselves. On the matter being brought under the notice of the Coroner, he proceeded at once to the spot pointed out as the place where the women were seen digging, and had the ground dug up, when a coffin presented itself containing the body of an infant, neatly clad, and from the appearance of the body must have been dead six or seven months, and buried in some damp place, then raised and deposited by the women in the spot where they were discovered. The matter is involved in mystery; but as yet, we believe, no steps have been taken to trace up this rather strange affair.—Collingwood Enterprise.

☞ If your property is not Insured,

☞ call and have it it done by the un-

☞ dersigned who is agent for a number

☞ of the best British and Canadian

☞ Companies whose business cards will

☞ be found in another part of this

☞ paper.

J. R. WALTON,

Insurance Agent.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Arrival of Dr. La'Mert in Montreal.
Collector's Notice—J. A. Hartley.
Removal!—Hopkins & Donnelly.
Licensed Auctioneer—A. McNeil.
Employment—Conant & Drake.
Tavern Stand For [illegible]—E. Hurley.
Postponed—W. Wood.

The Examiner.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 28, 1861.

THE WAR.

We have little of importance to note in the movements of the contending armies during the past week. The arrest of the Confederate agents, Messrs. Slidell and Mason, on board the British packet Trent, is the principal topic of discussion. The American prints are nearly unanimous in justifying the act of Capt. Wilkes. The news from England with the views of the British Cabinet on the subject, is eagerly and impatiently looked for.

The main part of the U. S. Naval Expedition has sailed from Fort Royal, bound Southward. We expect to hear lively news in a few days. New Orleans is again thought to be the destination of the fleet.

A smart engagement is reported to have taken place at Hatteras Inlet on the 14th between the coast survey steamer Corwin and the rebel steamer Curlew. The latter apparently got the worst of the contest, and retreated after receiving a few minutes hot and telling fire from the former.

Depatches received from the Eastern shore of Virginia state that the Secessionists of Northampton county, to the number of 1,800, have laid down their arms, and the Federal troops have now full possession of that county, as well as Accomac.

It is now definitely ascertained in military circles at Washington that Brigadier-General Scott tendered his resignation as a General of the Confederate army, in consequence of his difference with Jeff. Davis as to the conduct of the war.

Violent parties have sprung up among the Confederates on this question. Beauregard representing the offensive war party, who believe in invading the North and wintering in Baltimore, Philadelphia, and New York, and Jeff. Davis representing the defensive party, who trust to time and the patient defence of their own soil to give them independence. The Beauregard party complain that the policy of Davis has led to the invasion of South Carolina, and will fill the Cotton States with the horrors of war, and in their destruction: and it is believed that Davis has succumbed to the war policy to prevent South Carolina and Georgia from seceding from the Confederate States. General Beauregard was induced to withdraw his resignation.

We have argued that the ultimate end of the war would be the overthrow of Slavery. We are still strengthened in our opinion by the tone of the American press. The New York Independent, closing an article on the subject says:

"Our belief is firm that God in his providence will bring forth, out of this revolutionary whirlwind, the abolition of slavery; and we wait for Him so to overrule the madness of our enemies, so to direct the councils of our civil and military leaders, and so to guide the moral, political, and economical forces of the crisis, as to hasten it in His time."

THE QUESTION OF VERACITY.

The editor of the Review is very busy just now in settling a "question of veracity" with the Globe, in which he appears to have the worst of it. After being driven from every source of evidence, he introduces himself, and says he was present in the House when the words in dispute were uttered; consequently, it was as he states, nem. con. Like all the rest of the rabid Ministerialists, the worst construction is put upon anything uttered by any member of the Opposition, while the other party may say and do as they please, and any notice taken of them is branded by every imaginable offensive epithet. To give a specimen: In the report to the Leader of the debate, Mr. McDougall is represented to have stated that "annexation to the United States was the 'paneca' for all the ills with which Canada is troubled;" and the "special" reporter in Quebec, to the same paper, says that "Mr. McDougall last night slandered the people of Upper Canada by boldly proclaiming that if the measures were not carried, Upper Canada would seek refuge in annexation to the United States." Mr. Cartier ten-fold more slandered the people of Upper Canada by off-setting against the 300,000 excess of population in Upper Canada by as many cod-fish in Lower Canada; and when rebuked by the Upper Canadian Opposition the Ministerialists fly into a rage and denounce the merited rebuke of the grossest insult ever offered in the House, as "ungentlemanly" and "unfair." The extracts above show that whatever was said by Mr. McDougall, a construction was put upon it, and an inference drawn, the most unfair and unjust. But we leave the matter to be settled by the parties more immediately concerned. We notice the affair chiefly to show the character of the accuser in this Town. He comes out and charges the lie direct upon the Globe—has not ceased since 1854 to traduce that paper and its proprietor in every possible way—for seven years his malevolence towards both has been equalled only by his intolerant impudence. The charges of incendacity and misrepresentation have been incessant, and he has always plumed himself in doing so with telling the truth and stating things fairly—thus parading his own truthfulness and fair play. His own rule being applied to his own case, you must needs take care when he boasts of his own truthfulness and fair-play. We know of no one who will misrepresent matters more than the same Review man; his study seems to be how most to exalt his friends and crush his foes. Poor man! he will meet his reward some day. He will, we know, sneer at our pity; but we cannot help feeling when we see a fellow-creature commencing a career so surely to end in grief and disappointment. In this connection, we may notice another feature in the character of the editor of the Review. We about Town know that he has allied himself with the Wesleyan Methodists. If not a member of the Church, he is a member of the congregation; is, if we mistake not, a teacher in the Sunday School; is the advocate of the Conference University spoliation scheme; heralds forth new Methodism works, and praises them vastly; attends all public religious meetings and makes a pious speech; yet laughs and jeers at religion, and only in his last issue states boldly that "superstition is in all Churches the key-stone of clerical influence." We call the particular attention of the Methodist body to the slander so gratuitously hurled at them, in common with the rest. Superstition in the Methodist Church the key-stone of clerical influence? Surely it will not advance the cause of any Church to have so questionable a friend.

THE ST. ANDREW'S DINNER.

We understand that a large number of tickets have been sold, and arrangements are being made to seat over one hundred Persons. The Rifle Band are expected to be present. The room where it will be held (Caisse's Assembly Room) is certainly the finest in Town, and we are assured nothing will be spared to make the present Dinner to equal, and surpass even, those of former years.

ANNIVERSARY SERMON.

The St. Andrew's Day Anniversary sermon will be preached by Rev. John Cameron, in the Baptist Chapel, on to-morrow (Friday) evening, commencing at 6 o'clock. A collection will be taken up in behalf of the funds of the St. Andrew's Society.

☞ Mr. George Blackwell, a resident of the township of Emily came to his death by an accident a few days ago. Deceased was lifting a beam, and stood on a couple of narrow [illegible] and as he fell the beam struck him on the head, killing him instantly. Mr. G. was aged 60 years.

☞ The Christian Guardian states that a terrible accident, resulting in the death of Mr. John Crozier, of Cartwright, C. W., occurred on Friday, November 1, in the township of Verulam. The deceased, in company with a young man, had started out to look at a lot of bush-land. As they passed along, Mr. Crozier taking the lead, a gun which the young man carried directly behind him accidentally went off, its contents passing through poor Crozier's heart. He fell a corpse in a moment; not a word escaped his lips. Mr. Crozier was about 45 years of age, and leaves a widow and eight children.

☞ We notice with pleasure the arrival in Montreal of Dr. La'Mert, of London, whose reputation in the treatment of certain special maladies has long preceded him in these parts. It is hardly necessary for us to point out that, to those whose cases call for personal medical supervision, a most eligible opportunity is now afforded, and one that may not soon occur again, of placing themselves under the immediate care of a gentleman who is regarded as an authority in the treatment of those maladies to which he has more particularly devoted his studies. The term and place of Dr. La'Mert's sojourn will be found in an advertisement to which we beg to call attention.

THE WRECK OF THE "NORTH BRITON."

LETTER FROM HON. MR. VANKOUGHNET.

PORT MINGAN, Nov. 11, 1861.

My Dear,—You will probably have heard of the fate of the North Briton, and I hope of ours, before this reaches you. We may be, and are I trust, thankful that our lives are saved. We struck off the outer of the Mingan Islands on a reef, about half-past one o'clock on Monday morning in very thick weather with a heavy sea rolling at the time. The ship struck heavily, when she immediately and rapidly made water.—In a few minutes it was up to the sleeping-cabins, and with her tremendous load she sank rapidly, but fortunately became fixed upon and between the rocks, so that she could go no further. Every wave, however, the tide rising at the time, lifted her up and then let her down again with fearful force upon the rocks, which as she touched them, seemed to struggle to throw off her weight, as she would then careen fearfully from side to side. Her masts threatened every moment to give way, and the topmast at length went overboard. The boats were incapable of being launched for nearly an hour and a half. The gearing was all out of order, and the ropes, staunchions, and everything necessary to let the boats drop were cut away with axes. The crew cut away two of the boats and made off with them, leaving us only four. I don't know what is become of them. We put the ladies into the other boats, of which, I myself disapproved, though many thought it would give them the best chance of safety. The rest of us stuck by the vessel, which grounded and strained fearfully, and until four o'clock no one expected to be saved. Poor Sir Allan was such a cripple that I stood by him holding him in his seat: the only request he made being that I would go down with him. The [illegible] were out eight hours up to their necks in the water, the boats having shipped several seas; they had little else on but their night clothes. I have lost all my luggage. Mrs V. and myself have just enough to cover us. I lost her watch and jewelry, and my own watch and about thirty sovereigns.

We got off the wreck in the morning and in a lonely place, where we remained for thirty-six hours, and then moved off in a steamer here, where we are comparatively comfortable.

The Anglo Saxon is just coming in, and I will go and by her.

Yours always,
P. M. VANKOUGHNET.

News of the Week.

—Bears have been more than usually numerous in the back Town-ships of the Counties of Lennox and Addington, during the past summer and autumn.

—The New York Herald has sent one of its correspondents on a tour of discovery throughout the Province to spy out our military weakness, and ridicule everything he can find to write about in Canada.

—The Czar has sent Count Lambert, the Governor of Poland, to travel in foreign countries "for the benefit of his health," and replaced him by a Crimean celebrity, General Luders.

—The Duke of Newcastle, says an English paper, is threatened with total blindness from amaurosis. His physicians have warned him that there is no hope of restoring the health of his optic nerves.

—Two reports from New Orleans vary very much. The Confederates are by some reported to have 50,000 troops there by others only 5,000.

—In he Douglas Brigade, now raising at Chicago, there are no less than eleven clergymen holding positions as privates and officers. Every evening religious services are held in many portions of the camps.

—The Queen of Spain recently placed the sick princess, Dona Concepcion, in the hands of a homeopathic doctor, when the principal physician of her Majesty, Dr. Carrol, at once resigned his office, and the second, Dr. Drument, left the palace.

—The Queen's youngest son, Prince Leopold, eight years old last April, having we regret to state, shown symptoms of delicate health, has been sent to winter in the south of France. Prince Arthur, who accompanied his younger brother to Folkestone, was effected to tears at parting.

—Wm B. Astor, of New York, is worth fifty millions of dollars, A. T. Stewart is worth twenty millions, George Law at least fifteen millions, and Com. Vanderbilt at least fifteen millions.

ADVERTISING.—Berret, the noted watchmaker, who gave 4,000 guineas for an advertisement on the last page of the catalogue of the Great Exhibition for 1862, has been offered a bonus of £1,000 for his bargain. It was Berret who secured the last page of the Exhibition catalogue ten years ago, for £1,000, and made a vast sum of money by the transaction.

—A jury in Hamilton have decided that mourning cannot legally be considered part of the funeral expenses. The defendant was connected with the Great Western Railway Company, and promised to pay the funeral expenses of the victim of an accident on the Road. In the bill presented was an item for mourning furnished the family, which the Jury disallowed.

—The Detroit Tribune says the seamen in port made a bold effort to obtain a raise of wages by deserting their vessels as they [illegible] destination. Their names not having been affixed to articles to any further than here, they of course had it in their power to do about as they pleased. The wages out of this port for a few days have been $1.50 per day. On Wednesday they demanded $2, which in one or two instances they succeeded in getting.

—The Quebec Canadien, of the 19th instant, states on the authority of a Paris letter, that Prince Napoleon has selected a number of very rare and interesting works, in all some thirty-four volumes, intended as a donation to the Parliamentary Library of Canada, and to be forwarded shortly. The collection is said to include a copy of the "Correspondence of Napoleon the First," published by order of the Emperor.

DR. TUMBLETY.—From an officer in the Potomac army, whom we met yesterday, we derive the astounding information that the notorious Dr. Tumblety, who cut so remarkable a figure in our City a few years ago, actually holds the position of senior surgeon on the staff of Gen. McClellan. Our informant asserts that he cannot be mistaken in the fact, that he has seen the "Doctor" several times parading in the staff retenue of the General-in-Chief, and that he held conversation with him. He describes him as the most magnificent personage on his staff. We do not know how to disbelieve this statement, incredible as it appears. If it is the fact that Tumblety has so imposed upon General McClelland and others as to obtain this position, his antecede nts and true character ought to be brought to the knowledge of those who have invested him with such a ridiculous honor.—Buffalo Express.

—The Quebec Chronicle says: The Hon. Mr. Galt has left this City, it is said, for Washington, where rumor assigns to him the duty of conferring with Lord Lyons on the subject of the international relations between Great Britain and the United States. We give the rumor for what it is worth.

—All sorts of stories have been in print touching the domestic disagreements of the Princess Royal of England and her husband, Prince Frederick William of Prussia. At a recent Freemason's dinner in Leicestershire, Earl Howe, who was in the Chair, contradicted all these rumors in the most authoritative manner.

—The Federal Government is about to resort to a new mode of blockade. A number of whaling vessels have been selected for the purpose of sinking at the entrance of some of the Southern harbors. They are heavily laden with stone, and are arranged that they can be sunk in a very few minutes, the stone acting as an anchor when they are once down. At what point they are to be used is unknown.

THE SLIDELL AND MASON CASE.—In defence of the seizure of Messrs. Slidell and Mason the American papers are quoting a case which occurred in 1779. In that year Great Britain and her American Colonies were at war, Holland occupied the position of a neutral power. Mr. Henry Laurens, ex-President of the Revolutionary Congress, sailed from America in a Dutch vessel as Commissioner from the United States to the States General of Holland.—The vessel was searched during her passage by Captain, afterwards Admiral Keppel; Mr. Laurence and his despatches were taken from her, and he was conveyed to England. The capture was held to be legal, and the ex-President was committed to the Tower on a charge of high treason.

LETTER FROM GARIBALDI.

Some French operatives, having sent an address to Garibaldi, received the following answer:—

"Thanks, noble children of labor and of production!—Thanks for your generous words of sympathy and of fraternity. We are well aware that your good wishes for Italy are sincere and disinterested now, as they were when you cheered your brave army marching to our assistance against the oppressor.

"We are all well aware that your hearts beat with joy at the victory of the people over the tyrant, and that if our ranks were not more increased by the multitude of your courageous countrymen, it was through the same fatality which presses upon the greater number of the nations of Europe, and which divides and separates them, while they endeavour by the natural course of progress to unite and to combine in one single family.

"Nevertheless, De Flotte-Laroche, and a crowd of your chivalrous brothers, sealed with their blood on the field of battle of liberty the imperishable bond which henceforth will bind the two peoples. Yes! nations wish to understand each other, and desire the fraternity of all. Despots do not wish it. The sacred, irrevocable law,—the divine emanation of Christ,—exists in every one; it is the most lofty among the aspirants of suffering nations. The hypocritical egotism of false worldly grandeur frowns at it from beneath its leaden hood, and raises, by falsehood, and corruption, every kind of obstacle to its accomplishment.

"We demand employment, bread, and mutual love. We are answered with rifles, bombshells, and iron-cased ships,—as if destruction were the only means of coming to a good understanding. Courage, nevertheless my brave friends!—It is a fact that Europe never prevented the sublime spectacle of association which she does now present. A cry of distress in any corner of this old mistress of the world resounds in the heart of the masses, and their all-powerful voice of reprobation causes the barbarous autocrats to become pale.

"The Haynaus of despotism will not appear with impunity in the presence of the operatives of Europe, and the stain of the crimes is more ineffaceable than the mark of a red-hot iron. The day is not far off when the accomplice of tyrants, the priest of Rome, shall be forced to seek a refuge far from the land which he rendered desolate during so many years. The blood of the innocent Locatelli, and of the thousand victims of whom he is the murderer, will pursue throughout the circuit of the globe, like the avenging sword of Cherubin, and and peoples emancipated from his infectious contact will much more easily, by taking each other's hands, march towards the humanitary object.

I am, gratefully for life your devoted
"G. GARIBALDI."

PROSPECTS OF BRITISH CROPS AND PRICES.

The Mark Lane Express of October 28 remarks:—"We have had another week of extraordinary mild weather with very little rain. The sowing of wheat has continued at a rapid rate where the lands were well ploughed and cleaned; but the first sown lands show a great inequality in the plant for want of more moisture, and the ponds and wells in many places continue very low.

LATEST FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE "ASIA."

New York, Nov. 21.

The Asia arrived at 7 o'clock this morning.

At a meeting of the shareholders of the Great Eastern Directors, a report was adopted and a resolution passed to raise £225,000 in ten per cent debentures to equip her for sea. She is expected to leave Liverpool in February.

The British man-of-war Cooqueror and Sanspariel would embark marines the day the Asia sailed, and forthwith depart for Mexico.

The Times thinks the operations of the expedition will be very easy, but difficulties may arise from different political sympathies of the three Powers.

It is reported that the Federal steamer James Adger, now at Southampton, goes to the Mediterranean to look after privateers.

The Grand Duke Constantine and the Duchess of Russia are on a visit to Queen Victoria.

There was a strike among the cotton spinners at Preston owing to the threatened reduction of wages.

France has given reassurance to Switzerland relative to the valley of Dappes. The affair will probably be adjusted without unpleasantness.

The French financial accounts show rather less uneasiness. The Bourse is firm at 68f 87c.

It is reported that Garibaldi has announced to the Central Italian committee, through Gen. Turr, his firm intention not to provoke any movement in favor of Rome or Venice, but wished the Italian armaments and popular sympathy for Italy encouraged to the utmost.

There is rumored preparations at Genoa for a revolutionary expedition, embracing Montenegro and the slave population.

Turkey, also Hungary, Galacia, and Belgium had appointed ambassadors to Italy, but it is remarked they are accredited to the Court of Turin and not to the King of Italy.

Recently announced measures towards Hungary are set forth in an autograph letter from the Emperor of Austria. It evinces a determination to carry out the government policy in Hungary.

The Calcutta and Australian mails were telegraphed via Alexandria. No mail from China.

Calcutta, October 8.—Exchange 2s 1d, freight advancing.

Melbourne, Sept. 26.—Gold shipment since last mail was 187,360 oz.

The Arabia arrived at Liverpool on the 10th.

London, 10th September.—At the Lord Mayor's Banquet the Mayor proposed the Foreign Ambassadors, coupled with the name of Mr. Adams, the American minister, who replied that his mission in England was to promote and perpetuate the friendly relations of the two countries.

Lord Palmerston said, although circumstances may for a time threaten to interfere with the supply of cotton, the temporary evil will be productive of permanent good. We shall find in various quarters of the globe a sure and ample supply, which shall render us no more dependent. We witness with affliction the lamentable differences among our American cousins, but it is not for us to pass judgment in this dispute.—Lord Palmerston, in conclusion, expressed the hope of a speedy restoration of harmony and peace. (Cheers.)

LONDON MONEY MARKET.

Consols on the 8th closed at 93¾ to 93¾ for money, and 93¾ to 93¾ for account on ex dividend. Weekly returns of the Bank of England show a decrease of £7,828.

Richardson, Spence & Co. report flour firm for good which is scarce; sales at 28s to 32s 6d. Wheat quiet but steady; red Western 11s 9d to 12s 6d; Southern 12s 8d to 12s 9d; white Western 13s. Corn in large supply and 6d lower; mixed 32s to 32s 9d, yellow 33s; white 36s to 37s per quarter. Pork dull. Lard firm at 49s to 53s. Ashes, pots 35s down to 32s 6d; pearls 36s 6d to 37s per barrel. Sugar quiet.

LONDON MARKET.

Baring Brothers report wheat 1s 0d per quarter higher, but a quiet market; white American 32s to 37s; red 55s to 63s.—Flour 30s to 34s. Tea very firm and in good demand; common Congou buyers at 1s 1d.

LATEST.

Liverpool, Saturday.—Breadstuff market steady with small sales. Provisions dull.

ARRIVAL OF THE "ETNA."

New York, Nov. 24.

The steamer Etna arrived at Halifax at half-past six o'clock this evening, with Liverpool dates to the 13th instant.

The U. S. steamer James Adger, left Southampton on the 12th inst.—destination unknown.

Three British vessels of war were ready to sail for Mexico, but had been detained owing to stormy weather.

The French ships are to sail immediately.

It is reported that it was at the instigation of England that the United States are to be invited by the Mexican expedition.

The Spanish journals talk of a probable Spanish protectorate as the result of the expedition.

The King of Portugal died of the typhoid fever on the 12th.

The Duke of Oporto has succeeded to the throne.

GREAT BRITAIN.

The speech of Mr. Adams, the American minister, at the Lord Mayor's banquet, has attracted considerable attention. He was silent as to the war, but very pacific towards England.

The Daily News says it was frank, manly, sensible and reasonable, and must be cordially welcomed by England at large, especially as a small but active faction is doing its utmost to misrepresent American diplomacy and create bad feeling.

The Morning Post says the speech was marked by the most friendly statements respecting the good feelings of the American Government and people towards England, and hopes that no occurrence will happen to belie these sentiments.

The Times is characteristically sarcastic, but at the same time complimentary to Mr. Adams.

Dudley Mann and Yancey were guests at the great banquet of the fishmongers' company in London. The latter spoke to the toast for the restoration of Peace in America. He spoke strongly in defence of the Confederate cause, eulogized England for her recognition of belligerent rights, and said the Confederates did not deserve intervention, being able to maintain their independence, but they did deserve a recognition by the powers. He asserted that there can be no basis for negociations so long a the Confederates are treated as rebels.—When they are treated as a belligerent power then the morning of peace will dawn as the Confederates will be inflexible, only on points of independence and honor.

The Times seeks to calm the dismay at the short supply of cotton, and says there is no ground for national alarm.

The final obsequies at the interment of the remains of McManus, took place at Dublin on the 10th. It was an imposing demonstration.

FRANCE.

An important Cabinet Council was held at Paris on the 12th. It was almost certain that Fould had accepted the ministry of finance, his programme being retrenchment in every branch.

Europe will be assured of the pacific intentions of France.

The Senate is called to assemble on the 10th of December.

Geoffuey St. Hillyear, the celebrated naturalist, is dead.

The Paris Bourse was firm and higher. Rentes 69f 30c.

BELGIUM.

The Belgian Chambers had been opened. The King's speech was silent on the Italian question, but the Minister of Francis II. has been notified that they will no longer entertain official relations with him.

SPAIN.

The Spanish Cortes has been opened by the Queen. Her speech was unimportant.

HOLLAND.

The Minister of Foreign Affairs in the Cabinet had resigned.

AUSTRIA.

The Minister of Justice in the Vienna Cabinet has resigned.

RUSSIA.

Numerous arrests have taken place among the Jewish Rabbis at Warsaw.

LATEST VIA QUEENSTOWN.

Londonderry, Nov. 14.—The Times in alluding to the Croatian Diet, says that the Emperor of Austria is hurrying on to try the great experiment whether six millions of Germans can hold in subjection thirty millions of Germans.

The Paris Constitutionel argues that American ingratitude enables France to witness the disruption of the Union with the utmost indifference.

Lord Palmerston, at the Lord Mayor's banquet made the following reference to America:

Although circumstances beyond our control may threaten for a time to interfere with the full supplies of that article so necessary for the productive industry of the country, yet there is no doubt that temporary evil will be productive of permanent good,—(cheers)—and we shall find in various quarters of the globe, sure and certain and ample supplies which will render us no longer dependent on one source of production for that which is so necessary for our industry and the welfare of the country. (Cheers.) When we look without we see no doubt in many parts of Europe circumstances, which if not dealt with by prudence and discretion, would lead to local disturbances, which I trust will not at least extend themselves to bring us within their range. (Cheers.) On the other side of the Atlantic we witness with the deepest affliction (cheers) with an affliction which no words can express—(cheers) differences of the most lamentable kind among those we call cousins and our relations. (Cheers.) It is not for us to pass judgment upon their disputes—it is enough for us to offer a fervent prayer that such differences may not be of long continuance, and that they may speedily succeeded by the restoration of harmony and peace. (Cheers.)

COMMERCIAL.

Liverpool, Nov. 12th.—Breadstuffs are quiet and steady. Flour firm at 28s to 32s. Wheat steady at 11s 9d to 12s 5d for red western; 11s 6d to 12s 10d for red southern; 13s to 14s for white.

Provisions steady. Beef quiet and steady. Pork quiet. Bacon firm. Lard has a downward tendency; sales at 50s to 51s.

Ashes steady; pots 35s 6d; pearls 34s; rosin inactive; common 145 to 146. Spirits of turpentine firm at 73s.

THE GRAIN TRADE.

Messrs. Sturges's circular says:—We have had another month of the most favourable weather, dry and warm, with just sufficient rain to supply moisture for the green crops, and enable the farmers to prepare their land, and on stiff soils, also to sow the wheat. We never remember so large a crop of all varieties of turnips, or such luxuriant grass, on the 1st of November. The outstanding corn and pulse, under these favourable conditions, have of course been secured in first-rate order. The reports of the yield do not improve, and although the farmers' deliveries have been fully as large as usual at this season of the year, yet new wheat is so much wanted for mixing with old English, as well as stale and inferior foreign, that a rise of 4s. 5s. per quarter during the month has taken place on the new, whilst other descriptions have only risen 2s. to 3s. per quarter, and are difficult of sale at the advance. The demand for France has not only entirely ceased, but we hear that re-shipments have begun from some of the ports to this country. It is true the French prices are not yet much lower than ours; but they gradually recede, almost every market being reported each week rather lower than the last. This has been particularly the case with flour. The accounts of the produce of the harvest in the United States and Canada continue favourable, both as regards quantity and quality. The shipments from the opening of the navigation to the present time have been double those of the year 1860, and though the means of conveyances from the interior have greatly increased, the rate of carriage to the seaboard is in many cases double that of former years, indicating that stocks are accumulating in the interior.

Died.

On Thur day, 21st inst., MARGARET, second daughter of Samuel Dickson, Esq., aged 24 yrs.

At Ashburnham, on the 25th inst., of Diptheria, ELIZA, infant daughter of Mr. J. Cook, aged 11 months.

In Peterboro, on 28th inst., JAMES JACKSON, son of Mr. Thomas Menzies, Stationer, aged one year and seven months.

TORONTO MARKETS.

Tuesday, November 26, 1861.

Fall Wheat 95c a $1 05.
Spring Wheat 83c a 85c.
Barley 43c a 45c.
Oats 46c a 50c.

Peterboro' Markets.

Thursday, November 28, 1861.

	$ c.		$ c.
Flour ₱ bel	4 50	@	5 00
Wheat ₱ bush. fall	0 90	@	0 95
Spring Wheat ₱ bush	0 80	@	0 85
Barley ₱ bush	0 35	@	0 45
Oats "	0 10	@	0 11
Peas "	0 35	@	0 40
Potatoes	0 20	@	0 25
Pork ₱ cwt	3 00	@	4 00
Beef ₱ cwt	3 00	@	4 00
Butter ₱ lb	0 10	@	0 12
Hay ₱ ton	7 00	@	8 00
Hides ₱ cwt	4 00	@	5 00
Wood ₱ per cord	2 00	@	2 50

WM. CUMMING,
Market Clerk.

New Advertisements.

REMOVAL!

HOPKINS & DONNELLY

WILL,

On or about December 5th,

REMOVE TO THEIR

NEW BUILDING,

☞ Opposite Messrs. Nicholl's & Hall's store, Simcoe Street, where they will continue the

SADDLERY and HARNESS BUSINESS

AS AT PRESENT.

Peterborough, Nov. 27th, 1861. 48

COLLECTOR'S NOTICE.

RATE-PAYERS whose taxes have not yet been paid, will please take notice that the Collector may be found at the office of J. T. Henthorn, Esq., over Hamilton's Hardware Store, Hunter Street, every day (Sunday excepted) between the hours of 10 a. m., and 4 p. m.

☞ Notice is also hereby given, that unless taxes are paid forthwith to the Collector, seizure will be made in every case.

J. A. HARTLEY,
Collector.

Peterboro, Nov. 28, 1861. 18

NOTICE.

PERSONS ordering Oatmeal from the subscriber will please to leave the money for the same, and sacks to contain the meal, otherwise the orders will not be filled.

OATMEAL WILL BE DELIVERED IN TOWN PUNCTUALLY,

On Tuesdays and Fridays,

BUT ON NO OTHER DAYS.

PETER DOLPHIN.

Peterboro, Nov. 27, 1861. 48

NOTICE.

THE Court of Revision for the Township of North Monaghan, will meet at the Town Hall, on SATURDAY, NOV. 30th, at 10 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of determining the relative assessment of the lots through which the drain now constructed in the Township passes. A statement of the amounts as fixed by the engineer is now at the Town Hall, where it can be seen at any time until day of the sitting of the Court.

WM. WOOD,
Township Clerk.

N. Monaghan, Nov 16, 1861.

The above meeting is hereby POSTPONED till further notice.

W. WOOD,
Township Clerk.

N. Monaghan, Nov. 27, 1861. 48

ALEX. McNEIL,

LICENSED AUCTIONEER for the Counties of Peterborough and Victoria, and Townships of Cavan and South Monaghan.

OFFICE AND STORE on Water Street, opposite the Custom House, Peterboro.

Nov. 27, 1861. 48

EMPLOYMENT.

THE undersigned are desirous of securing the services of a few Young Men to engage in a Travelling Agency, upon a salary of

FORTY DOLLARS PER MONTH,

AND ALL EXPENSES PAID.

This is an opportunity seldom offered, and to those who merit the approbation of the Subscribers, by strict attention to business, can rely upon constant employment for a term of years. For further particulars address, (post-paid),

CONANT & DRAKE,
31 Main St., Atkinson Depot,
New Hampshire, U.S.

Nov. 28, 1861. 48

FOR SALE.

A TAVERN STAND,

SITUATED on Elizabeth St., Ashburnham, in front of Mr. Rogers' Mill. The building is at present used for a dwelling house and furniture rooms. It would make a good stand for a Grocery and Bakery. The lease of the above has eleven years to run, and will be sold very reasonable for money. For particulars apply to

E. BURLEY,
On the premises.

Aug. 28, 1861. 33

ARRIVAL OF

DR. LA'MERT
IN MONTREAL.

DR. LA'MERT of Bedford Square, London, Member of the Royal College of Surgeons of England; Licentiate of the Royal College of Physicians of Edinburgh, &c; author of "Self-preservation," a Treatise on Nervous and Physical Debility; the "Science of Life, or how to Live;" "Second Life, or Electrical and Nervous Force;" begs to intimate to his Patients and the Public that he has arrived in Quebec, on a Professional Visit, and that he may be personally consulted (or by letter) until the 18th of December, daily, from 10 till 2, and 6 till 8, at 47 St Gabriel Street, fronting Little St. James Street, Montreal.

Patients in Western Canada are recommended to place themselves in early communication with Mr. La'Mert, as numerous pressing engagements in England compel him to bring his professional tour in America to a termination in Montreal.

Dr. La'Mert is the only legally-qualified Practitioner on the Medical Register, published by authority, who has been exclusively engaged in the treatment of the Functional Disorders of the Nervous System, and on those various forms of Local and Constitutional Debility which mitigate against the happiness of married life, and prevent the contraction of engagements that constitute the most cherished objects of existence.

Dr. La'Mert has had considerable experience in the use of the Microscope—an instrument of great value, not only on account of the secret wonders it reveals, but likewise for its utility in affording to those experienced in its use, the means of immediately detecting the hidden causes of human suffering, with a view to their speedy removal. Patients residing at a distance can have their cases diagnosed, and a mode of treatment suggested, by forwarding the consultation fee of £1.

☞ In making this intimation, Dr. La'Mert wishes to point out to patients the advantages that invariably result from a personal interview, and the mutual facilities that will be afforded to those who are desirous of bringing their cases under his immediate supervision. Dr. La'Mert, moreover cannot too strongly urge on those who have already been under his care, or who may now be in correspondence with him, the eligibility of the occasion that will present itself of clearing up any doubts that may have existed in regard to their cases, and would particularly impress upon them the importance of putting themselves as quickly as possible into personal communication with him during his necessarily limited stay, which under no circumstances can be prolonged beyond the date announced.

Those who contemplate availing themselves of Dr. La'Mert's services are recommended, in the interim, to procure from one of the undermentioned local agents his work on contains a vast amount of information on the subject in question. Its object is not to maintain any particular hypothesis, but to enable every one to understand for himself the structure and functions of various organs; to acquaint him with the consequences arising from excesses; to prevent unnecessary misapprehension from unfounded fears, and to indicate, when those fears are well founded, the means of speedy relief. The work is not crowded with the technicalities of ordinary professional books, nor does it present the crudeness which characterises the so-called "popular works" on the subject.

SELF-PRESERVATION; WHICH

"Self-Preservation" may be had [in French or English] in a sealed envelope, price One Shilling sterling, of Messrs. E. G. Fuller, Express agent, Halifax, N.S.; Messrs. Chubb & Co., St John, N. B. at the Mercury Office, Fabrique Street, Quebec; of Mr Hugh Walker, Stationer, Belleville, C. W.; of Mr. John Langford, Bookseller, 48 Great St. James St., Montreal, and of T. & R. White, Stationers, Peterboro.

Nov. 26, 1861. 48

TO MILLERS
AND GRAIN SPECULATORS!

TO LET in Ashburnham, that large Grain Storehouse, lately occupied by T. Short, Esq. Apply to

S. WOOD, Otonabee.

Nov 7th, 1861. 45

ST. ANDREW'S DINNER.

THE ANNUAL DINNER of the St. Andrew's Society of the Town and County of Peterborough, will be held in

CAISSE'S HOTEL,

On Friday, 29th inst.

TICKETS,—$1.00; to be had at Menzies' Book Store, and at the stores of Messrs. R. Johnston & Son, McKellar & Cameron, and at the Examiner Office, and from the members of the Dinner Committee.

D. SUTHERLAND, D. McDONALD, Jr.,
Chairman. Secy of Com.

Peterboro, Nov. 20, 1861. 47

NOTICE.

TO SCHOOL TRUSTEES.

JAMES MEANY, School Teacher, First class certificate, is ready to engage for the year 1862. Any commands to himself, or left with his daughter, Mrs. Meany, Peterboro, will meet immediate attention.

Emily, S. S. No. 7, Nov. 19th, 1861.

Ferguson & Mitchell,

Beg to call the attention of the public to their well-assorted stock of

SADDLES, HARNESS, WHIPS,

TRUNKS, VALISES, BRUSHES, &c.,

which they will sell

☞ VERY CHEAP FOR CASH.

All orders promptly attended to, and repairing done on the shortest notice. A call is respectfully solicited. Shop on Hunter Street, Peterborough.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

THE Corporation of the Township of Otonabee intend, on the 16th December next,

to pass a By-law to establish the following line of Road, viz:

A Road commencing on the Western limit of the allowance for Road, between the 12th and 13th Concessions of Otonabee, at the line between lots Nos. 12 and 13, and thence westerly following said line between lots 12 and 13, across the 13th, 14th, 15th and 16th Concessions; said Road to be 66 feet wide, and the described line the centre.

A Road commencing 25 feet south of the line between lots Nos. 30 and 31, on the Eastern limit of the allowance for Road, between the 1st and 2nd Concessions of Otonabee, and thence Easterly across the 1st Concession, following a line parallel with the line dividing lots numbers 30 and 31; said Road to be 40 feet wide, and the described line the centre.

GEO. READ,
Township Clerk.

Otonabee, 6th Nov., 1861. 46-4in

MACLEARS'
ALMANACS FOR 1862.

THE subscriber begs leave to inform the public that he has received all his fall stock of

BOOKS, STATIONERY and ROOM PAPER,

AND WILL SELL

CHEAP FOR CASH!

as the times are hard.

THOMAS MENZIES.

Peterboro', 14th Nov., 1861. 46-3in.

TO THE INHABITANTS OF

PETERBOROUGH & VICTORIA.

CASH STORE.

ROBERT JOHNSTON & SON

BEG to inform the inhabitants of Peterboro' and surrounding district, that they have bought out the stock of Mr. John Thomson, George Street, and intend opening in a few days in the stand heretofore occupied by him, a large and well selected stock of

NEW GOODS!

Consisting of a choice stock of

Dry Goods, Groceries &c.

which they intend to sell at

VERY LOW PRICES FOR CASH!

Parties who have not made their Fall purchases will do well to give them a call and inspect their stock.

R. J. & SON hope that by paying strict attention to business, they may receive a share of public patronage.

Peterboro, Oct 28, 1861. 44

☞ Change in Business!

WM. SMITH,

(LATE CUTTER TO JOHN THOMSON, GEORGE STREET.)

BEGS to inform the public that he has opened in the

TAILORING BUSINESS,

over the late stand occupied by Mr. John Thomson, (now R. Johnston & Son,) where he trusts to merit a continuance of the patronage hitherto bestowed on the establishment.

ALL KINDS OF WORK MADE TO ORDER,

AS THE

BEST WORKMEN

only will be employed parties may rely on all orders being filled to satisfaction. Prices reasonable.

☞ Entrance by hall between R. Johnston & Son's, and R. Walton's Stove and Tin-ware store.

Peterboro, Oct. 28th, 1861. 41

H. IRVINE,
CONVEYANCER,

OFFICE,—In Henthorn's Block, Hunter Street 2 doors above Ormond & Gilmour's Drug Store.

Peterboro, Nov. 21, 1861. 47

SLEIGHS!

ON hand a number of good substantial Sleighs, manufactured of the best Oak With Cast Iron as well as Wrought Shoeing.

☞ Sleigh-runners furnished to order.

Sugar Kettles, Bake Kettles, and Mott's Agricultural Furnace.

JAMES HAMILTON,
Opposite Peplow's old Flour Mill.

Peterboro, Nov. 20, 1861. 47

FISHER'S HOTEL.

FISHER'S OLD STAND.

Corner of George and Simcoe Sts., Peterboro.

WILL be re-opened in a few weeks for the convenience and accomodation of the public. A large Yard with Sheds and Stables in the rear of the Hotel, will be open daily free of charge.

The subscriber most respectfully solicits a continuance of the liberal support he received from his friends and the public before the fire compelled him to suspend business.

☞ A careful Hostler always in attendance.

AMOS J. FISHER,
Proprietor.

Nov. 18, 1861. 47

PETERBOROUGH

ROOM PAPER DEPOT.

NEWEST AND CHOICEST PATTERNS.

ROBERT STEVENSON,

(Sherbrooke Street,—nearly opposite the Huffman House,) offers his large stock of

PAPER-HANGINGS,
DECORATIONS,
BORDERS,
WINDOW-BLINDS,
&c., &c., &c.,

COMPRISING

OVER 20,000 Pieces!

at a Great Reduction from the usual trade prices, for Cash.

HIS STOCK OF

PAINT BRUSHES,

Varnishes,
Oils,
Paints,
Window Glass,
Curtain Fixtures,
&c., &c., &c.

IS ALSO LARGE, GOOD AND CHEAP.

☞ Window Glass cut to order.

Peterboro, Nov. 19, 1861. 47

FARM FOR SALE.

THE subscriber offers for sale his Farm, being East half of Lot No. 2, in the Township of Douro.

80 ACRES ARE CLEARED,

well fenced, and in a good state of cultivation.

THERE IS A

GOOD LOG HOUSE,

AND A

DOUBLE CEDAR BARN, [new,]

and a spring of good Water near the house. A never-failing Creek runs through the farm.

TERMS OF SALE,—One-third down; balance in three equal annual instalments.

Apply to N. Chapman, Baltimore, or to CHRISTOPHER LEARY, N. Monaghan.

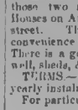
Nov 7th, 1861.

N.B.—If not sold before the 1st of JANUARY, 1862, it will be leased for a term of years.

VALUABLE

TOWN PROPERTY
FOR SALE.



THE comfortable Brick Houses near the business part of the Town.

THE Subscriber offers for sale those two neat and substantial built Brick Houses on Antrim street, one lot from George street. The houses are fitted up with every convenience; the partition was laid all brick. There is a good soft water cistern and spring well, sheds, &c., on the premises.

TERMS—One half cash, the balance in three yearly instalments.

For particulars apply to

DAVID CARLISLE.
On the premises.

Peterboro, Oct 23rd, 1861. 44-3in.

New Livery Stable.

IN connection with the above a Livery Stable has been opened, where the public may be accomodated with

HORSES and CONVEYANCES,

OF ALL KINDS, AT ALL SEASONS.

☞ Rates Moderate; positively no Credit.

THOS. J FISHER.

Remember the place,—Corner of George and Hunter Streets, Fisher's old stand.

Peterboro, Nov. 18, 1861. 47

PURCHASERS OF CLOTHING

should remember the Buffalo Clothing Store next door to Mr. Jas. Best's, George Street, where they can get a superior article at a very low price!

S. HOFELLER & BRO'S.

Peterboro Oct 17th, 1861. 44

School Teacher Wanted.

FOR THE ASHBURNHAM SCHOOL, TERM to commence on the 2nd Wednesday in January, 1862, a Normal School Teacher, holding a 1st class certificate,

Apply to,

F. H. ARMSTRONG,
Secretary of Ashburnham P. of S. Trustees.

October 23, 1861. 43

ROYAL

HORSE INFIRMARY.

McDONALD STREET, PETERBORO'

W. KEITH, M. R. C. V. S.

HAVING rented Mr. Perry's Stables, (behind the Grain Store) and having fitted them with loose boxes and stalls, &c., with all the necessaries for an infirmary, for sick and lame Horses, all cases brought there will receive every attention. Horses from the country can have Hay, Oats, &c., and Medicines at so much per day or week. Firing and other operations performed without throwing the animal, thereby avoiding much risk. Horses and Cattle in the country attended to.

W. K. may be consulted any day either at Messrs. John Moffat's, Blacksmith, John Douglass, Blacksmith, or at Mrs Stewart's, George Street north, and at the Infirmary Stables from 7 to 10 a. m., and from 1 to 2 p. m.

Oct 28th, 1861. 44

AXES! AXES!! AXES!!!

THE subscriber in returning thanks to the Lumbermen and others for their patronage and prompt and liberal payment, would give notice that he is hard at work making axes by hand which he will warrant to be better than can be made in Peterboro or elsewhere.

Please give him a call.

☞ Shop, east of the Bank of Montreal.

P. J. AYRES.

Peterboro, Nov 7, 1861 45

THE LARGEST, CHEAPEST AND THE BEST PLACE TO PURCHASE

READY-MADE CLOTHING
IS AT
HAFFEY'S,

All the Clothing is made on the premises, and warranted!!

Peterborough, Sept. 26, 1861. 39

SCHOOL TEACHER WANTED.

WANTED, for School Section, No. 5, Otonabee—School House within three miles from Allandale—a First Class Teacher. Engagement to commence on 1st day of January, 1862. A married man preferred. There is a comfortable House attached to the School-house, which is rent-free to the teacher.

Apply to

DAVID BENDERSON,
Otonabee.

Nov. 18, 1861. 47

CARD OF THANKS.

To Jos. R. WALTON, Esq., PETERBOROUGH

SIR.—You will please accept my thanks, and this public acknowledgement, for the promptness with which the amount of my insurance [$1,000] in the Provincial Insurance Company—for which you are agent—was paid. I can, with confidence, recommend the Company to the support of the public, and I have much pleasure in adding testimony to your reputation as an active and painstaking agent.

CHRISTOPHER LEARY.

North Monaghan, Nov. 16, 1861.

REDUCED RATES

FOR

ASSURANCE.

Scottish Provincial

INSURANCE COMPANY.

THE FOLLOWING TABLE OF PREMIUMS has been framed, so as to reduce the cost of Life Assurance to the lowest point. It will be observed the Rates payable for the first Five Years are not much more than HALF the usual charge, while, for the remainder of life, they are still moderate.

To Assure £100 sterling, payable at Death, with profits after first five years:

Age.	First 5 Years.			Remainder of Life.
	£	s.	d.	£	s.	d.
20	0	18	11	1	0	11
25	1	1	9	2	7	2
30	1	5	2	2	14	7
35	1	9	2	3	3	1
40	1	14	4	3	13	10
45	2	0	6	4	4	3
50	2	9	8	5	1	4

Secretary for Canada:—A. Davidson Parker.

JOSEPH R. WALTON,
Agent, Peterboro.

October, 1861. 41

PROVINCIAL
INSURANCE CO',
OF CANADA.
FOR FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE.

ESTABLISHED 1819.

INCORPORATED BY ACT OF PARLIAMENT.

SUBSCRIBED CAPITAL, $1,986,080

Head Office - - - Toronto.

President:—Hon. John Hillyard Cameron.
Vice-President:—J. S. Howard, Esq.

DIRECTORS:

Hon. John Hillyard Cameron,
Hon. George Crawford,
Hon. Malcolm Cameron, M.P.P.,
John Cameron, Esq., M.P.P.,
A. M. Smith, Esq.,
George Duggan, Jr., Esq.,
J. S. Howard, Esq.,
Edward C. Jones, Esq.,
Angus Morrison, Esq., M.P.P.,
Lewis Moffatt, Esq.,
H. L. Perrin, Esq.,

Manager & Secretary:—James Sydney Crocker.
Assistant Secretary:—J. J. Woodhouse, Esq.,
Inspector of Agencies:—Wm. Blight, Esq.,
Solicitors:—Messrs Duggan & Burns.
Bankers:—The Bank of Toronto.

J. R. WALTON, Agent.
Peterborough.

☞ Fire and Marine Insurance business transacted by this Company at its various Agencies as well as at the Head Office, Toronto, at fair and average terms.

October, 1861. 41

THE PHOENIX
INSURANCE CO'Y,
OF HARTFORD, CONN.

Capital - - - - - - $100,000.

CHARTER PERPETUAL.

JOSEPH R. WALTON,
Agent.

Peterboro', Oct. 8, 1861. 41

BUFFALO

CLOTHING STORE.

THE subscribers in returning their acknowledgements for the patronage bestowed upon them since they opened their establishment in Peterborough, would respectfully inform the public that they continue to receive constantly and keep on hand the largest and best assorted stock of

Mens' and Boys' Clothing,

AND GENTLEMEN'S

FURNISHING GOODS!

ever shown in this neighborhood, consisting of Satinette,

Tweeds,
Broad Cloth,
Cassemeres,
Pilots,
Unions,
Doeskins,
&c., &c., &c.

The Clothing is all made up at their own establishment, in the City of Buffalo, by first class workmen, and as they manufacture themselves, they are able to sell a good article at a lower price than any other establishment in the trade.

Country Merchants, and Lumbermen would do well to call and examine their stock before purchasing elsewhere, as they are able to offer superior advantages to wholesale purchasers

☞ The Terms are strictly CASH.

S. HOFELLER & BROS.

Remember the place,—Next door to Mr. Jas. Best's, George Street.

Peterboro, Oct 17th, 1861. 44

WANTED.

A GOOD STEADY PLOUGHMAN AND general Farm hand may find permanent employment on application to

GEO. REBON,
Lot 21, 4th Con., Otonabee.

Sept. 12, 1861. 37

NOTICE.

I HEREBY give notice that from this date I will pay no debts contracted by my son named, JOHN.

GEORGE ROWDEN

Peterboro, Nov. 9, 1861. 44

TEA, SUGAR, TOBACCO, COFFEE, &C.

THE SUBSCRIBERS HAVE JUST RECEIVED AND OFFER FOR SALE AT

AT THE VERY LOWEST PRICES,

FOR CASH ONLY!

A WELL ASSORTED STOCK OF

TEAS, SUGARS, TOBACCOES, COFFEE, &c.

Good mixed Tea at 3s. 6d. Per lb.

Coffee, Fresh Ground every morning at 1s. 3d.

A FEW KEGS LOCHFINE HERRING, FISH, FISH OILS, &c.

OGILVY & HOOD,

Peterborough, November 21st, 1861. 47-3in.

FURS! FURS!

W. LECH,

Corner Store, Market Block, Peterborough,

Has now on hand, and offers for sale, a very large stock of

FUR GOODS,

which will be sold at prices altogether lower than any person can sell Montreal made Furs. Besides, the stock is all made up under the personal superintendence of Mr. Lech, and will be found

MUCH BETTER MADE,

AND BETTER IN EVERY RESPECT.

The following list of prices will convince any person that they consult their own interest by buying home manufactured goods in preference to slop work made up in the cities, for the country trade:

Rock Martin Victorines	$2 00	and upwards.
do Mitts	1 50	do
do Cuffs	1 00	do
Fitch Victorines	3 00	do
German Mink Victorines	2 50	do
Real Mink Victorines	9 00	do
Good serviceable Fur Caps for Men	0 75	do
South Sea Seal	3 00	do

And every other article in the line at corresponding prices.

Peterborough, Nov. 1st, 1861. 45

STRICKLAND & ROGERS'

FALL STOCK

IS NOW

COMPLETE IN EVERY DEPARTMENT

AND CANNOT BE UNDERSOLD.

Our customers and the public generally are requsted to call and examine, and oblige

S. & R.

Peterborough, October 30, 1861. 44-3in

FOR CASH OR Produce ONLY. MONTREAL ONLY ONE Price

CASH STORE,

Hunter Street, Peterboro'

JOHN CAMPBELL

WOULD take this opportunity of thanking the inhabitants of Peterboro' and surrounding country for past favors, and would beg to intimate that he has received a large addition to his stock, on such favorable terms as enable him to offer goods at such as to convince every one who examines them ☞ That he cannot be beat in the Town.

LOW PRICES

The following comprise a few of the articles generally in stock:

West of England Broad Cloth, Cassimeres, Tweeds, Sattinets, Drills, Denims, Stripped Cottons, Ginghams, Prints, Factory Cotton leans, Osbourg, Red and White Flannel, Cotton Warp, &c.

READY-MADE CLOTHING,

Boots and Shoes, Silk and Felt Hats, &c.

TEAS, TOBACCOES, SUGARS, Soap, Candles, Raisins Currants, Coffee, Rice, and other articles too numerous to mention.

☞ Remember the Spot: Next door to McKellar & Cameron's, Hunter Street.

Peterboro, Aug. 21, 1861. 34

REMOVAL.

R. D. BASKERVILLE,

HAIR-DRESSER AND PERFUMER, HAS fitted up with taste and convenience at considerable expense, a Saloon on George St., 2 doors south of Lawson's Hotel, where he will be in attendance on the public, during all business hours. Having visited some of the largest American cities this summer, he is thoroughly acquainted with the

LATEST FASHIONABLE IMPROVEMENTS

in his profession, and flatters himself that he will not be found second to any in the Canadas.

☞ Positively no business on Sundays.

Peterboro, Sept 9, 1861. 37

CARD.

TOWNSHIP OF OTONABEE, Oct. 26, 1861.

To Joseph R. Walton, Esq., Agent of the Canada West Farmers' M. & S. Insurance Co.

Dear Sir,—Please express my thanks to the Directors of your Company, for the very liberal and prompt manner in which they have settled my claim against them for the loss sustained by me in the destruction of my Barn and its contents by fire on Monday last. I hope you will make this acknowledgment public, as it is only three days since I notified you of my loss, and only seven days since the occurrence of the fire! Such promptness on the part of the Coms may must convince all seeking insurance of the advantages to be derived by insuring their property in the C. W. F. M. & S. I. C. of Hamilton.

JOSHUA DAWSON.

Otonabee, Oct 28, 1861. 44

STRAYED,

FROM the premises of the subscriber, in Smith, about four or five months ago,

Six Head of Cattle.

1 three year old steer; dark red, a small piece of its horn broken off; 1 two year old steer, red; 1 two year old Heifer, dark roan; three yearlings—1 Steer, and 2 Heifers—the Steer is white; one of the heifers is dark roan, the other is red and white, mixed.

Any person leaving information of the whereabouts of the said cattle at McKellar & Cameron's, Peterboro, or with the subscriber, will be suitably rewarded.

Wm. FITZGERALD.

Smith, Nov. 5th, 1861. 45

HENRY BENARY

IMPORTER AND DEALER IN

PIANO-FORTES
MELODIANS,
MUSIC AND MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS,

ROMAIN BUILDINGS,

No. 81, KING STREET WEST,

TORONTO,

BEGS to inform the public of Peterborough, that he will open his Warerooms in Toronto, where he will keep constantly on hand a large stock of the best Piano-Fortes for sale and hire. The satisfaction expressed by those parties with whom he had the honor of dealing for the past 6 years, with Messrs A. S. Nordheimer, leads him to hope that he will receive a large share of the public patronage in Peterborough. He will attend to the Pianos of his patrons with the same zeal as heretofore.

Toronto, October 14, 1861.

PORK! PORK!

TO LUMBERMEN AND OTHERS!

200 BARRELS OF CHOICE

MESS PORK!

For Sale Low for Cash.

ROBERT COCHRANE.
Butcher at the Market.

Peterboro', Oct. 8, 1861. 41

NOTICE.

THE Municipal Council of the United Townships of Dummer and Burleigh intend to pass the following roads in the Township of Dummer, viz:—

1st.—Running through part of Lots Twenty, Nineteen, and Eighteen, in the Third Concession.

2nd.—A Road running through part of Lots Twenty-nine and Thirty in the Fourth Concession, and part of Lot No. Thirty in the Fifth Concession.

3rd.—A Road running through part of Lot No Thirty in the Seventh Concession, and part of Lots Twenty-nine and Thirty in the Eighth Concession.

Dummer, 18th

PROSPECTS OF THE WHEAT MARKET.

[From the St. Catharines Post]

In a late number of the Post we alluded to the scantiness of the harvest in France, and the effects it was likely to produce on the commercial and foreign policy of that country. We again resert to it to show its probable effect on the wheat market in this Province and in the United States. In order to estimate this correctly, we must enquire what the harvest deficiency in France is. The Mark Lane Express, which is decidedly the best authority that can be quoted, puts it down at sixty-four millions of bushels. There is no old stock on hand to fall back upon, and it is expected therefore, that the importations of grain in France this year will at least equal the above estimate. It is true that the financial drain and stagnation of trade, as well as the relatively higher prices of breadstuffs —the unavoidable results of a failure of the crops— will to some extent lessen the ordinary consumption; but not so far as to affect materially the demand in foreign markets, particularly as France will have to compete with other countries that must be purchasers on a large scale. The deficiency in Great Britain alone this year is estimated at twenty-four millions bushels, which added to her average imports, makes her foreign demand equal to what it will be in France. Spain, Belgium, and Holland will also be importers of grain this year.

There is thus every prospect that the demand upon the markets of the United States and of Canada will be unusually heavy for six or eight months to come, and that our farmers may look for the prevailance of good prices for all the surplus grain they can dispose of. They should not, however, depend too much on the likelihood that prices will be equal to the demand.— Not only will the increase draw out from the wheat-growing countries of the old world greater supplies than usual to compete in prices with those sent from this continent but much will depend on the state of the money market, and the facilities that will be afforded to our grain merchants to enable them to extend their usual transactions to advantage. The following statement from the American Agriculturist will give a pretty fair idea of the margin left them for operations in breadstuffs for the European markets until next harvest:

"Before the opening of navigation the present year, the utter prostration of Western money secured by Southern State Stocks, so deranged the Western currency and so violently distributed the exchanges, that it was next to impossible to carry on extensive operations in Breadstuffs. The total receipts at N.Y., from the opening of navigation, May 1, 1861, to Aug. 15, amounted to 9,500,000 bushels of Wheat, and 1,401,400 barrels of Flour, making the total of Flour and Wheat brought forward from the harvest of 1860, up to the beginning of the new crop receipts, equivalent to about 46,000,000 bushels of Wheat. It is safe to guess that this was scarcely half of the surplus of the harvest of 1860. The harvest of 1861 was good—fully an average for Winter Wheat, though, from all accounts, below the average for Spring varities, especially in the States west and northwest of Indiana. After allowing liberally for home consumption, it is probable that the surplus of the 1861 harvest was equal to all the shipments eastward since the threshing of the new crop commenced, leaving an amount equivalent to the unsold surplus of last year's crop still stored in the barns, granaries and stacks of the Western and Middle States, and the Canadas. Indeed, from the want of means to move it, there has been comparatively little grain exported direct from Canada, for several months. Looking over all the ground, we conclude that should the foreign demand be such for the next nine months, as to produce high prices enough at our seaboard to draw out the last surplus bushels from the remoter portions of this country, including those parts of Canada from which supplies are brought to or through the United States, the amount would aggregate anywhere from 60,0 0 000 to 80,000,000 bushels. Wheat and Flour included—probably nearer to the latter than the former figures. The only limits to the present transactions are the capacity of the canals and railroads to bring Wheat and Flour, and the lack of oceag vessels at moderate freight rates. When the inland water navagation closes, the supplies for the New York market will be limited to the capacity of the railroads.— The stock at the seaboard will run low, ships will compete for loading at low rates, the foreign demand will be large, and as a consequence, prices here will undoubtedly rule high during the winter. The railroads being without competition during the winter months, and having all the business they can do, will probably charge high rates, which will make considerable difference between prices at the West and the seaboard. Still the high rates here will react favorably upon the interior, and with the continued active foreign demand, and the abundance of money in the country, we shall look for the prevalence of fair prices throughout the country, for at least six or eight months to come."

A COLORED MAN KILLED IN HAMILTON.

On Sunday, the 1st of September last, an altercation took place between two colored men, named Walter Harris and Henry Banks, in the house of the former, on King William street. After a short time they came outside, and while standing by the gate, Banks took up a large stone, weighing about four pounds, and threw it with violence at Harris, striking him on the upper part of the forehead, and inflicting a wound, from which he died this morning. A warrant was issued for the arrest of Banks at the time, but up to the present he had succeeded in eluding the officers.— Information was received last night that Banks had been seen in the neighborhood of Ontario, and this morning, Sergant McGlogan went in pursuit of him. The probability is that he is now in the custody of that officer. Coroner Bull will hold an inquest on the body of the unfortunate deceased to-morrow.

A Irishman who was giving his testimony in the Boston Municipal Court lately, confused the bar, tickled the jury, and raised a smile on the bench, by the following statement:—"Ye see, may it please yees, that this man got a stroke and fell down. Everybody around called out, "oh, he's kilt! he's kilt!" Then I steps up, and I hollersed out to the crowd, "If the man is kile, why don't yees stand back and give him a little air."

The following remark was made by a swell inspecting through his eye-glass a very small infant exhibited to him, at the instance of its father, by its nurse:—"Welcome little stranger! Baby, singalow queerlaw! Of course, A was once a baby myself. Ought to make a fello tumble—the idea of having ever been so much like a puppy!

Go to the "Examiner" Office for cheap Printing.

THIS FOUND WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING

A perfect Antidote, Specific and Cure for

RHEUMATISM & NEURALGIA

has long been needed. After earnest and patient research, this has been triumphantly discovered. It is called

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING!

Watson's Neuralgia King reaches the source of the trouble, and banishes the disease from the system. Unlike the untold number of Liniments and Embrocations, which merely stimulates the surface, are but temporary in their effects, and are, at best, of doubtful virtue, it REMOVES AT ONCE the cause of the ailment, ASSUAGES IT, ALLEVIATES IT, and ERADICATES IT, and leaves no trace behind.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING

also cures GOUT AND DYSPEPSIA, in all their forms. It is now giving relief to thousands who have been suffering from these diseases, and who have tried all other remedies in vain.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING

has received the highest testimonials from the highest sources in regard to its wonderful efficacy. It operates with equal success in mild and chronic cases, never failing to work out a speedy and permanent cure.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING

costs but one dollar a bottle, and less than a bottle often effects the end desired.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING

is the only Specific and cure for Rheumatism and Neuralgia that has ever been discovered.

Prepared by

A. L. MATHEWS,

Buffalo, N. Y., and Fort Erie, C. W.

Sep'. 26, 1861, 39

Gutta-Percha Roofing.

No article ever before introduced to the public has equalled the LIQUID GUTTA-PERCHA for coating tin or other roofs, new or old. One gallon, costing $1 50, will thoroughly coat from 200 to 300 feet of roof, and this coating will render the roof perfectly waterproof, and will last three times as long as white lead or other paint. For covering roofs, either new or old we repeat, it has no equal for durability and cheapness, and we offer it to the public fully confident of its intrinsic excellence, and with our warrantee that it will do all we claim for it. Sold in barrels of forty gallons each, at a liberal discount to dealers. Address all orders to

READY ROOFING CO.,

23 Cedar Street, New York.

October 3rd, 1861. 40-1y.

MATHEWS' VENETIAN LIQUID HAIR DYE.

THIS CELEBRATED DYE WAS FIRST prepared in 1845; since that time it has been used by thousands, and in no instance has it failed to give perfect satisfaction.

THE VENETIAN DYE

is the cheapest in the world. Its price is only 50 cents, and each little cruet as double the quantity of dye contained in those usually sold for one dollar.

THE VENETIAN DYE

is the safest composition of its class. It is warranted not to injure the hair, or the scalp, in the slightest degree.

THE VENETIAN DYE

works with rapidity and certainty. It causes no annoyance or trouble to those who use it.

THE VENETIAN DYE

produces any shade that may be desired—one that will not fade, crock, nor wash out; one that is as permanent as the hair itself.

THE VENETIAN DYE

does not, in any manner, interfere with the natural softness of the hair; it neither scorches nor dries it.

THE VENETIAN DYE

is the best, cheapest, safest, most convenient, most successful, and most permanent Dye ever used.

THE VENETIAN DYE

having gained an extended reputation, the public are cautioned against purchasing any prepared in the same style, under the same or different name, as they are mere imitations, and liable to do injury.

For sale by all agents. Principal Depot by

A. L. MATHEWS,

Buffalo, N. Y., and Fort Erie, C W

Oct 3, 1861. 40

The Great French Remedy!

MADAM BOUVIN'S CELEBRATED SILVER COATED

FEMALE PILLS

THE ONLY CERTAIN AND SAFE REMEDY for all Uterine Obstructions, (Monthly) Difficulties, Irregularities and diseases to which the Woman, Wife and Mother is peculiarly liable. The 60 Pills contain no deleterious ingredients, but are safe and certain in their action.— They will be found to exert the happiest effect in all cases of Prolapsus Uteri, in Leucorrhea, or the Whites; they will be found the easiest and most certain cure that can be found. It is on account of this certainty they should not be taken by Married Ladies at certain periods, but at other times their use is perfectly safe.

N. B.—$1 enclosed to any authorised Agent will ensure a package of Pills by return mail.

C. Crosby, General Agent, Fort Erie, C. W. Buffalo, N. Y; Lyman, Elliot & Co, Wholesale Agents, Toronto.

Sept. 17, 1861. 39

NO YANKEE HUMBUG!

PROSPECTUS

OF A NEW AND ACCURATE, ILLUSTRATED TOPOGRAPHICAL AND STATISTICAL

Map of Upper Canada,

TOGETHER WITH A

DESCRIPTIVE MAP AND DIRECTORY

OF THE TOWNSHIPS OF

MIN & S'H MONAGHAN & OTONABEE.

CONLIN, BONNEY & Co., of Toronto, propose to publish the above work, drawn on a large scale from the most recent and accurate surveys, exhibiting all Post Offices, Money Order Offices, and Telegraph Stations throughout the Province, corrected from the latest official authority; also, the various lines of Railway, Railway Stations, with the correct distance between each, Canals, Plank and Macadamized Roads, the Main Travelled Roads between Towns and Villages, the Supposition and names of each County and Township, the Great Lakes, Rivers, and principal Mill Streams. Tables showing the Variation of Time between each County Seat in Upper Canada from the Magnetic Observatory, Toronto; the Population of each City, Town, County and Township will also be given, with other interesting and useful information, carefully compiled from the Census Returns of the present year. The Map will be illustrated with Views of the principal Public Buildings in the Province, executed in the best style of the art.

There will also be given on the above Map an enlarged Plan, in the most minute detail, of the above Townships, showing concessions, lots, and subdivisions, with the names of the proprietors neatly engraved thereon; also, School Sections, Churches, School-houses, Mills, Manufactories, Stores, Inns, &c., together with an undermined gravel, public and other Roads open to travel, the tree means of rivers and small streams; also, enlarged Plans of Towns and Villages in the Townships.

The names of all Subscribers residing upon or forming will be engraved upon the premises of their respective lots, and the residence of their residence indicated; also, the names of Subscribers in the Towns and Villages will be published, with the title, profession, business, &c., of each, thus constituting a complete Rural, Professional and Mercantile Business Directory.

☞ Our Agents exhibit a REAL SPECIMEN of the above work, with our name engraved thereon.

CAUTION.—This enterprise is in no way connected with that projected by Messrs. Tremaine, of Jefferson County, State of New York.

WILL BE SOLD AT

A SACRIFICE.

THE subscriber is compelled by circumstances to sell his Houses and Lot on Albert Street, on the Court House Hill, adjoining the property of Mr. Wm. Dumble. The above is one of the most delightful situations in Town, and will be sold for the one half to be paid down; and the remainder in two years from time of sale. Title Perfect.

LOW PRICE OF $800!

JOHN RITCHIE.

Peterboro.

Mathew's Chocolate Worm Drops

NEVER fail to destroy and exterminate all kinds of Intestinal Worms. Are perfectly suitable in all cases, and far superior to any and all of the Fancy Worm Confections, and nauseous Vermifuge in use. They may be taken at all times with perfect safety, as they contain no Mercury, or other bad or noxious Drug. Mothers should always purchase them and give their children no other.

(No Cathartic whatever, is necessary to be given.)

Each box contains 24 Drops or Lozenges.— Price 25 cts. For sale by all Druggist and Dealers in Medicines.

A. L. MATHEWS, General Agent, Buffalo, N. Y., and Fort Erie, C. W

F. G. CALLEADER,

RETURNS his grateful acknowledgments to the inhabitants of Peterboro and vicinity, for their liberal support during the past fourteen years, and on account of his increase of business, and with a view to the better accommodation of his patrons, will continue his visits the FIRST and THIRD MONDAYS, TUESDAYS & WEDNESDAYS in each month, INSTEAD OF ONLY THE FIRST MONDAYS, as formerly, prepared to perform all operations of a professional with superior neatness and dexterity, AND AS REASONABLE AS ANY EXPERIENCED DENTIST. His Teeth are his own selection, of the newest style, being made expressly for the Vulcanized RUBBER, now altogether used, being free from taste, much cheaper than Gold, and equal in neatness and durability, and much more agreeable in the mouth, being less weighty.

Rooms in Scott's Building, Market Block, Peterboro', and over the Post Office, Cobourg.

THE LIVERPOOL LONDON FIRE AND LIFE

ASSURANCE COMPANY.

CAPITAL.....£2,000,000 STG.

Empowered by Act of the Imperial Parliament

Responsibility of Stockholders unlimited.

Head Office for Canada, Montreal.

THE UNDERSIGNED CONTINUES to accept Risks in the above

First Class Company,

on almost every description of property, at as REASONABLE RATES as any other responsible office.

LOSSES PAID

without reference to the Old Country.

W. CLUXTON,

Agent for Peterboro'

Peterboro,' April 20th, 1859. 16

THE CANADA LIFE

Assurance Company.

Capital, 1,000 000.

W. CLUXTON,

Agent.

HON. HOLYWELL,

Medical Referee.

Peterborough 1st August, 1859. 31

WESTERN

INSURANCE COMP'Y.

CAPITAL £500,000

Head Office, Toronto,

FOR EVERY DESCIPTION OF

FIRE & MARINE ASSURANCE

BUSINESS.

AGENT FOR PETERBORO',

W. CLUXTON.

Peterboro, Sept. 14th, 1857.

GENERAL INSURANCE OFFICE.

W. CLUXTON, AGENT, PETERBORO'.

LIVERPOOL & LONDON

FIRE AND LIFE

Insurance Company.

CAPITAL.....£2,000,000STG.

BRITISH AMERICA

ASSURANCE COMPY

CAPITAL, $2,000,000.

WESTERN

INSURANCE COMPANY

CAPITAL, $2,000'000.

BRITANNIA LIFE

Assurance Company.

CAPITAL, £1,000 000, STERLING.

Peterborough, April 20th, 1859. 16

CURE IN TEN MINUTES.

BRYANS

PULMONIC WAFERS.

THE most certain and speedy remedy ever discovered for the relief of all diseases of the Chest and Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Consumption, Bronchitis, Influenza, Hoarseness, Difficult Breathing, Sore Throat, &c.

These Wafers give one most instantaneous and perfect relief, and when persevered with according to directions, never fail to effect a rapid and lasting cure. Thousands have been restored to perfect health, who have tried other means in vain. To all classes and all constitutions they are a blessing and a cure—none need despair, no matter how long the disease may have existed, or how severe it may be, provided the organic structure of the vital organ is not hopelessly decayed. Every one afflicted should give them an impartial trial.

TO VOCALISTS AND PUBLIC SPEAKERS these Wafers are peculiarly valuable; they will in one day remove the most severe occasional hoarseness; and their regular use for a few days will, at all times increase the power and flexibility of the voice, greatly improving its tone, compass and clearness, for which purpose they are regularly used by many professional Vocalists.

JOB MOSES, Sole Proprietor, Rochester, N.Y.

Price 25 cents per box.

Vocalists and Public Speakers

Vocalists and Public Speakers

Vocalists and Public Speakers

Will find Bryan's Wafers

Will find Bryan's Wafers

Will find Bryan's Wafers

Invaluable to remove Hoarseness and Sore Throat,

Invaluable to remove Hoarseness and Sore Throat.

Invaluable to remove Hoarseness and Sore Throat,

And gives clearness to the Voice.

And gives clearness to the Voice.

And gives clearness to the Voice.

They relieve in ten minutes.

They relieve in ten minutes.

They relieve in ten minutes.

Coughs, Colds, and all diseases

Coughs, Colds, and all diseases

Coughs, Colds, and all diseases

Of the Chest and Lungs.

Of the Chest and Lungs.

Of the Chest and Lungs.

Sold by all Druggists

Sold by all Druggists

Sold by all Druggists

At 25 cents a box.

At 25 cents a box.

At 25 cents a box.

A STARTLING FACT.

THE subscriber has great pleasure in informing the public that he is manufacturing THE BEST PUMPS ever made in Canada, patented by J. Dennis, in order to meet the desire I am prepared to put them on trial, for sixteen or more, 500 feet deep and less, on the 1st of June, 1862. Any one desiring to have any other kind will take them back free of charge, if they do not suit, I will give them on the 1st of January, 1863; for payment, by giving a promissory note.

These Pumps are

Warranted not to Freeze.

All orders addressed to the undersigned, leaving their address well in Warkworth, Percy, up to the 1st of April, 1861, and in the district to the Subscriber in Ashburnham will receive prompt attention. All letters must be post-paid.

HENRY DENNIS.

Manufacturer.

Warkworth, Percy, Dec. 1860.

Patented rights to manufacture and sell the above Pumps for sale or John Dennis, as owner and manufacturer, New Market, C. W. 50-1y.

New Establishment.

A choice assortment carefully selected by a gentleman of many years experience.

GROCERIES, WINES, &C.,

with a large variety of

Fancy Goods.

at very low prices.

Port Wine, (Per Gallon) at 7s 6d, 10s, 15s, 22s 9d. Sherry, 5s, 7s 6d, 10s, 15 s, 20s. Fine Cold Pale Brandy, Brown, do., Fine Hollands Gin in Wood, do. in Red and Green Cases, fine Scotch Whiskey (very old) do. in 1 doz. Cases. Teas, Sugars, Coffees, Fruits, Spices, Pickles & Sauces, Fish, Oils, Flavoring extracts, Starch, Soap, Candles, Tobaccos, Brushes, Brooms, Glass, Crockery, and Wooden-ware, &c.

JOHN McDONELL,

In the (new blue front) premises, lately occupied by Jas. Stevenson, Esq.,

GEORGE ST., PETERBORO.

Jan. 2 1861.

Lightning! Lightning!

PROTECTION TO LIFE AND PROPERTY.

300,000 Feet

OF THE NEW PATENT ENGLISH ELECTRO-GALVANIZED, ANNEALED AND CARBONIZED

LIGHTNING RODS

JUST ARRIVED FROM ENGLAND, WITH

SPRATTS RENOWNED

PLATINA TIPPED POINT!!

AND ENLARGED

INSULATORS & ATTACHMENTS.

THIS ROD is prepared in England with especial reference to its great conducting powers; is highly approved and recommended by the best authorities. The white non-corroding as also presents rust, and is easily incleaned by the rocking power, completely obviating the great objections to the old rod. Professor Cox's last a Spiral Copper Rod removed on the Custom House Buildings, Toronto, and admired this, on account of the perfect conducting power of the surface, and not being liable to rust. One real advantage gained on the hire conducting qualities of this rod, with Spratts point, arises from the fact that it especially recommend silently conducts to the earth, with positive electricity of the surrounding atmosphere generated by an approaching thunder cloud, negatively charged with this element of destruction and death, thereby drawing off, disabling and lessening the fountain, ere on the cloud of its constant accumulation, allowing it to rescue our heads in safety, which might otherwise have burst upon us in all its fury. Let it fall in this by reason of too great accumulation of electricity, and the discharge takes place, it conducts all safely to the ground, being a preventive in most cases and a cure in another generally. We have erected them on the Crystal Palaces and Crescent Houses as Pendulum, as well as many of the best buildings in this city. In purchasing largely for cash, we are enabled to erect them at a trifling advance upon the Carbonized Rod. Common Iron Rods, such as are no longer offered by parties from the States we do not recommend, as we consider them nearly useless. Good Rods, properly erected, protect 25 feet from the point.

$1,000 CHALLENGE!

to the world to produce as good a Rod, for the same price, as the Galvanized Rod, which we are now respectfully offering to the public through our authorized agents, allow no one to neglect your buildings when has not our recommendance of agency, with caution on the back against Impositions. Orders sent to our address from the principal cities of U. W. will be attended to by O. R. Kendall in person, without extra charge. We submit two of our numerous references.

PIPER & KINDALL.

83 Young Street.

Toronto, Sept 15, 1860.

I HEREBY CERTIFY THAT I HAVE SUPERintended the erection of Galvanized Iron Rods on the Union Life Building, at Toronto, preferring the Galvanized Iron to ordinary Iron Rods, on account of the perfect conducting power of the surface, and from their not being liable to rust.

The advantage resulting from these qualities is more than commensurate with the increased cost.

(Signed) HENRY CROFT, D.C.L.

Prof. of Chemistry.

PETERBORO', July 29th, 1861.

The agents for the firm of Piper & Kendall, Toronto, have put up for me two of their Galvanized Lightning Rods so highly recommended by Professor Croft. I consider them preferable to all others. The improved Attachments and Insulators, with Spratts Platina Tipped Point must give them great additional security.

J. BROWNE, M. D.

I entirely concur in Dr. Browne's observations,—Also have bought two of the same Rods for my two cottages on Brock Street.

A. SHELOCK.

Toronto, June 20th, 1861. 31-3m

The Great English Remedy!

SIR JAMES CLARKE'S

Celebrated Female Pills

Prepared from a Prescription of Sir J. Clarke, M. D., Physician Extraordinary to the Queen.

THIS well known Medicine is no imposition, but a sure and safe remedy for Female Difficulties and Obstructions, from any cause whatever; and although a powerful remedy, it contains nothing hurtful to the constitution. To married ladies it is peculiarly suited. It will, in a short time, bring on the monthly period with regularity.

In all cases of Nervous and Spinal Affections, pain in the back and limbs, Heaviness, Fatigue on Slight Exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Lowness of Spirits, Hysteries, Sick Headache, Whites, and all the painful diseases occasioned by a disordered system, these Pills will effect a cure where all other means have failed.

☞ These Pills have never been known fail where the directions on the 2nd page the pamphlet are well observed.

For full particulars, get a pamphlet free of the agent.

N. B.—$1 and six postage stamps enclosed to any authorized agent, will ensure a bottle containing over 50 pills, by return mail.

Sir James Clarke's Female Pills

Sir James Clarke's Female Pills

Sir James Clarke's Female Pills

Are a Scientific Preparation.

Are a Scientific Preparation.

Are a Scientific Preparation.

They are safe, and never fail

They are safe, and never fail

They are safe, and never fail

To remove all Obstructions,

To remove all Obstructions,

To remove all Obstructions,

And cure all Female Complaints,

And cure all Female Complaints,

And cure all Female Complaints,

When the directions are followed,

When the directions are followed,

When the directions are followed

They are a blessing and a cure.

They are a blessing and a cure.

They are a blessing and a cure.

And can be sent by mail

And can be sent by mail

And can be sent by mail

For one dollar and six postage stamps.

For one dollar and six postage stamps.

For one dollar and six postage stamps.

JOB MOSES, Rochester, N.Y., sole proprietor. Noxon & Lyman, Newcastle, C W General Agents. For sale by Ormond & Gilmour, Wm. Conlter, A. W. Kemp., Peterboro and all dealers in medicines.

JUDSONS,

MOUNTAIN HERB

WORM TEA.

Herbs, Barks and Roots

VERSUS

Poisonous Minerals and Drugs.

MOTHERS TAKE HEED!

Do you when observing the uneasy actions of your children consider that it may be more than a mere chair that affects them? In nine cases out of ten the cause of the little sufferer's anguish is WORMS, and should be at once looked to

HEADS OF FAMILIES

Do not let your children suffer, when we present you with

JUDSON'S WORM TEA

A SAFE AND PLEASANT CURE FOR WORMS

How much better and safer would it be to have it always in the house. A little delay upon a child is taken ill may often be the cause of its death, why be acting without delay, and by giving the MOUNTAIN HERB TEA immediately, you will not only save the child a long and tedious illness, and yourself much expense, but also feel happier in knowing that you have done your duty and purchased sound its life

This medicine is combined purely of

HERBS AND ROOTS

NOT A PARTICLE OF

Calomel or Mineral

IS USED IN IT.

No more filthy Vermifuge will be used by those who once use this Tea. The only active principle of all other Vermifuges and Worm killers is MERCURY.

GIVE NO

POISON

TO

YOUR CHILDREN.

Use this Simple Safe, Vegetable Medicine.

This Worm Tea was discovered in an unusual way among the Wilds of Northern Mexico—a full account of it now will find in our Almanacs. Ask for the "Review of This Almanac" of the Agent, and when you have read it, send it to your neighbors that they may also know of and be cured by the GREAT REMEDY.

JUDSON'S WORM TEA

KILLS WORMS,

Never Harms—Is Pleasant to Take.

GET A PACKAGE—PRICE 25 CTS.

OBSERVE.—Always find the Name and Signature of B. L. JUDSON & CO., and the portrait of Tecumseh on each package of this Worm Tea.

B. L. JUDSON & CO.

SOLE PROPRIETORS,

50 Leonard St. New York.

Judson's Worm Tea is sold by one Agent in every Village, and by all Druggists.

CANADA

Permanent Building and Savings Society.

CAPITAL.....$500,000

INVESTED IN REAL ESTATE.... 250,000

ANNUAL INCOME.....250,000

THIS Institution advances money on favorable terms on the security of Real Estate, situate in Western Canada, repayable by instalments spread over any period the Borrower may desire not exceeding 10 years.

Properties mortgaged may be sold or exchanged for other property, or the mortgage debt may be paid off before it is due if desired by the borrower.

Circulars containing further information may be obtained from the office.

W. CLUXTON,

Agent.

Peterboro', Jan. 20, 1861. 5

JUDSON'S

Mountain Herb Pills.

ABOVE, we present you with a perfect likeness of Tecumseh, a chief of a tribe of the strange Aztec Nation, that once ruled Mexico. You will find a full account of him and his people in our Pamphlets and Almanacs—to be had gratis, from the Agents for these Pills.

The inventor and manufacturer of "Judson's Mountain Herb Pills," has spent the greater part of his life in traveling, having visited nearly every country in the world. He spent over six years among the Indians of the Rocky Mountains and of Mexico, and it was thus that the "MOUNTAIN HERB PILLS" were discovered. A very interesting account of his adventures there, you will find in our Almanac and Pamphlet.

It is an established fact, that all diseases arise from

IMPURE BLOOD!

The blood is the life! and when any foreign or unhealthy matter gets mixed with it, it is at once distributed to every part of the body, and sooner or later finds the system, and all the vital organs quickly complain. The stomach will not digest the food perfectly. The liver ceases to secrete a sufficient bile. The action of the heart is weakened, and so the circulation is feeble. The lungs become clogged with the poisonous matter; hence, a cough—and all from a slight impurity of the fountain-head of life—the Blood! As if you had thrown some earth, for instance, in a pure spring from which ran a tiny rivulet, in a few minutes the whole course of the stream becomes disturbed and discolored. As quickly does impure blood fly to every part, and leave its sting behind. All the passages become obstructed, and unless the obstruction is removed, the lamp of life soon dies out.

These pills not only purify the blood, but regenerate all the secretions of the body; they are, therefore, unrivalled as a

CURE FOR BILIOUS DISEASES,

Liver Complaint, Sick Headache, &c. This Anti Bilious Medicine expels from the blood the hidden seeds of disease, and renders all the fluids and secretions pure and fluent, clearing and cementating the vital organs.

Pleasant indeed, is it to us, that we are able to place within your reach a medicine like the "MOUNTAIN HERB PILLS," that will pass directly to the afflicted parts, through the blood and fluids of the body, and cause the sufferer to brighten with the flush of beauty and health.

Judson's Pills are the Best Remedy in existence for the following Complaints:

Blood Complaints,	Debility,	Inward Weakness,
Cramps,	Fever and Ague,	Liver Complaints,
Colds,	Female Complaints,	Loss of Appetite,
Chest Diseases	Headaches,	Piles,
Costiveness,	Indigestion,	Stone and Gravel,
Dyspepsia,	Influenza,	Secondary Symptoms
Diarrhœa,	Inflammations,	from
Dropsy,		Ulcers.

GREAT FEMALE MEDICINE

Females who value health, should never be without these Pills. They purify the blood, remove obstructions of all kinds, cleanse the skin of all pimples and blotches, and bring the rich color of health to the pale cheek.

☞ The Plants and Herbs of which these Pills are made, were discovered in a very surprising way among the Tarascas, a tribe of Aborigines in Mexico. Get the Almanac of our Agent, and you will read with delight, the very interesting account it contains of the "GREAT REMEDY" of the Aztecs.

Observe.—The Mountain Herb Pills are put up in a Beautiful Wrapper. Each box contains 40 pills, and Retail at 25 cents per box. All genuine, have the signature of B. L. JUDSON & CO., on each label.

B. L. JUDSON, & Co.,

SOLE PROPRIETORS,

No. 50 Leonard Street,

NEW YORK

☞ FOR SALE BY ALL MEDICINE DEALERS. ☜

☞ The Canadian Pain Destroyer is a prompt and sure remedy for Cramp and pain in the Stomach, Painters' Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer Complaint, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, Scalds, Burns, Sprains, Bruises, Frost Bites, Chilblains, as well as the stings of Insects, Scorpions, Centipedes, and the bites of poisonous Insects and venomous Reptiles.

FOR SALE.

SOUTH half of Lot No 9, in the 2nd Con of Smith, containing 100 acres. This Farm is beautifully situated about three miles from Peterborough: there are eighty acres cleared, and on the premises there are a good Stone House, three Barns and other Outhouses.

The north half of Lot No. 15, in the 7th Con. Smith. This Farm has eighty acres cleared, and is situated about seven miles from Peterborough.

For particulars apply to

JOSEPH KELSO,

or

Bobcay, con.

WM. TULLY, Jr.,

Monaghan.

September 19 1861. 38

L. M. SQUAIR.

Agent for Steamers "Maple Leaf" and Jacques, Tracy & Cie's Line of Boats, the Alps, Ottawa, Colonist, Huron, & Bruce ville.

CONTRACTS for freight or passage to and from Montreal, Rochester, Boston, New York and Quebec.

Office in Gillies' Block above Irvine's Store, Port Hope.

Port Hope, Dec. 10, 1860.

MARBLE WORKS.

H. T. EVANS,

RESPECTFULLY invites attention to the fact that he is prepared to execute on short notice

TOMB-STONES,

MONUMENTS,

TABLE-TOPS,

MANTLE-PIECES,

&c. &c. &c.

of as good workmanship as can be done in any part of Canada. Terms very low for Cash.

☞ House and Workshop, corner of London and Bethune Streets, foot of Smithtown Hill.

H. T. EVANS.

Peterboro, Nov. 9, 1860. 43

SADDLERY & HARNESS WARE-HOUSE.

Opposite A. McKay's Auction Rooms, George Street, Peterboro'.

HOPKINS & DONNELLY

WILL keep constantly on hand and make to order all sorts of

SADDLES, HARNESS, WHIPS, Valises, &c.,

which they intend to sell CHEAP FOR CASH, or on approved credit.

☞ All work warranted, as it is made by superior workmen.

Peterboro', Sept. 5, 1859. 36

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

A compound remedy, in which we have labored to produce the most effectual alterative that can be made. It is a concentrated extract of Para Sarsaparilla, so combined with other substances of still greater alterative power as to afford an effective antidote for the diseases Sarsaparilla is reputed to cure. It is believed that such a remedy is wanted by those who suffer from Strumous complaints, and that one which will accomplish their cure must prove of immense service to the large class of our afflicted fellow-citizens. How completely this compound will do it has been proven by experiment on many of the worst cases to be found of the following complaints:—

SCROFULA AND SCROFULOUS COMPLAINTS, ERUPTIONS AND ERUPTIVE DISEASES, ULCERS, PIMPLES, BLOTCHES, TUMORS, SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, SYPHILIS AND SYPHILITIC AFFECTIONS, MERCURIAL DISEASE, DROPSY, NEURALGIA OR TIC DOULOUREUX, DEBILITY, DYSPEPSIA AND INDIGESTION, STOMACH'AL ILLS ON SICK, ANTHONY'S FIRE, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD.

This compound will be found a great promoter of health, when taken in the spring, to expel the foul humors which fester in the blood at that season of the year. By the timely expulsion of them many rankling disorders are nipped in the bud. Multitudes can, by the aid of this remedy, spare themselves from the endurance of foul eruptions and ulcerous sores, through which the system will strive to rid itself of corruptions if not assisted to do this through the natural channels of the body by an alterative medicine. Cleanse out the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, eruptions, or sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it whenever it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Even where no particular disorder is felt, people enjoy better health, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. Keep the blood healthy, and all is well; but with this pabulum of life discased, there can be no lasting health. Sooner or later something must go wrong, and the great machinery of life is disordered or overthrown.

Sarsaparilla has, and deserves much, the reputation, of accomplishing these ends. But the world has been egregiously deceived by preparations of it, partly because the drug alone has not all the virtue that is claimed for it, but more because many preparations, pretending to be concentrated extracts of it, contain but little of the virtue of Sarsaparilla, or any thing else.

During late years the public have been misled by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one dollar. Most of these have been frauds upon the sick, for they not only contain little, if any, Sarsaparilla, but often no curative properties whatever. Hence, bitter and painful disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market, until the name itself is justly despised, and has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound Sarsaparilla, and intend to supply such a remedy as shall rescue the name from the load of obloquy which rests upon it. And we think we have ground for believing it has virtues which are irresistible by the ordinary run of the diseases it is intended to cure. In order to secure their complete eradication from the system, the remedy should be judiciously taken according to directions on the bottle.

PREPARED BY

DR. J. C. AYER & CO.

LOWELL, MASS.

Price, $1 per Bottle; Six Bottles for $5.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

has won for itself such a renown for the cure of every variety of Throat and Lung Complaint, that it is entirely unnecessary for us to recount the evidence of its virtues, wherever it has been employed. As it has long been in constant use throughout this section, we need only to assure them assure the people its quality is kept up to the best it ever has been, and that it may be relied on to do for their relief all it has ever been found to do.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

FOR THE CURE OF

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and for Purifying the Blood.

They are sugar-coated, so that the most sensitive can take them pleasantly, and they are the best aperient in the world for all the purposes of a family physic.

Price 25 cents per Box; Five boxes for $1.00.

Great numbers of Clergymen, Physicians, Statesmen, and eminent personages, have lent their names to certify the unparalleled usefulness of these remedies, but our space here will not permit the insertion of them. The Agents below named furnish gratis our AMERICAN ALMANAC in which they are given; with also full descriptions of the above complaints, and the treatment that should be followed for their cure.

Do not be put off by unprincipled dealers with other preparations they make more profit on. Demand AYER'S, and take no others. The sick want the best and there is for them, and they should have it.

All our Remedies are for sale by Ormond & Gilmour, Wm. Conlter, and W. A. Kemp, Peterboro'. C. Britton, Lindsay; E. Gregory, Millbrook; A. Goodfellow, Bowmanville, and all medicine dealers. Northrop & Lyman, General Agents for the Canadas.

THE TRAVELLER'S REST.

THE above named House has been enlarged re-fitted and refurnished, and has every convenience for the accomodation of the travelling public. It is directly opposite the Post Office, on Main Street, and within sight of the steamboat landing.

HIS TABLE

is always supplied with the best the market affords, and

THE BAR

always supplied with the choicest of Liquors Old friends and customers, as well as the travelling public are respectfully requested to give him a call.

☞ A careful ostler on hand at all times.

WILLIAM CRESWELL,

Proprietor.

Bobcaygeon, April 4, 1861. 14-6m.

PETERBORO'

Soap and Candle Works.

A large stock of very superior

CANDLES AND SOAP

now on hand and for sale at the lowest wholesale prices.

☞ Orders respectfully solicited.

Cash for Lard, Tallow and Soap Grease.

OLIVER & FOOD.

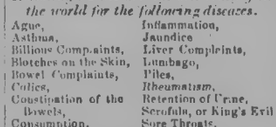
Peterboro, Dec 20 th, 1858. 51

Health and its Pleasures,

OR

DISEASE WITH ITS AGONIES:

CHOOSE BETWEEN THEM.



HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.

NERVOUS DISORDERS.

What is more fearful than the breaking down of the nervous system? To be irritable or nervous in a small degree is unpleasant, but for whose pain it is needful to be found? There is one—drink and trouble arise, fear, or sadness or far heavy noise make us tremble,—work, too being preferable; guard the needs as you can; take three or four Pills every

DECEMBER

1861

The Examiner.

PETERBOROUGH, CANADA WEST, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1861.

Volume VI.] "THE PEOPLE." [Number 49.

BOOK AND JOB PRINTING ESTABLISHMENT.

EVERY description of Book and Job Printing executed at this Office, in superior style, at low rates.

Pamphlets, Circulars, Handbills, Funeral Cards, Invitations, Bill Headings, Horse Bills, Show Bills, Concert Bills, Programmes, Posters, Stage Bills, Business Cards, Blanks, &c.,

with every variety of Coloring and Bronzing.

☞ Law yers' Blanks of every description, kept constantly on hand.

All orders for Job Printing forwarded to this office will be punctually and strictly attended to

—THE "EXAMINER"—

Is published every Thursday morning at the office of the undersigned, in

BURNHAM'S BLOCK, GEORGE STREET.

Terms of Subscription:—$1 50 per annum payable strictly in advance, $2 when not so paid.

Rates of Advertising.

Six lines, and under, first insertion	$0 37
Each subsequent insertion	12
Six to ten lines, first insertion	75
Each subsequent insertion	25
Over ten lines, first insertion (per line)	7
Each subsequent insertion, "	2
Business Cards as per agreement.

☞ Advertisements without written instructions will be inserted until forbid. Orders to discontinue must be given in writing.

All communications to the Publisher must be post-paid; otherwise no notice will be taken of them.

JAMES RENFREW,
Publisher and Proprietor.

Business Directory.

JAMES HALL,
SHERIFF. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

Mr. TOOLE,
MANUFACTURER of Sash Blinds, Doors and Mouldings. Every description of Joiner Work done to order. Next door to Martyn's Mills, Peterboro', C. W. 9

J. B. BISBEE,
DEALER in Boots, Shoes & Leather, George Street, Peterborough, C. W. 16

W. CRAWFORD,
GOVERNMENT Land Agent. Office at his residence, Brock Street.

EDMUND S. VINDIN,
COMMISSION, Shipping, Forwarding, and General Agent, Lumber Merchant, &c.—OFFICE—Corner of Walton and Ontario Streets. 13

MR. DENNISTOUN,
BARRISTER at Law Master Extraordinary in Chancery Notary Public, &c., Peterborough
Mr. A. T. HEATHFIELD.
PIANIST AND TEACHER OF MUSIC.
COMMUNICATION THROUGH THE POST OFFICE, Peterborough.

JOHNSON'S
FASHIONABLE Hair Dressing and Shaving Saloon in the Building formerly occupied by the Post Office, east of the bridge. Port Hope, Sept. 29, 1857.

GEORGE MITCHELL,
DEALER in Groceries and Provisions, &c. Cash paid for all kinds of country produce. George Street Peterborough. 15

T. G. HAZLITT,
DEALER in Paints, Groceries, Crockery and Glass ware, Hunter Street Peterboro.

W. SHERIDAN,
COUNTY Treasurer and Clerk. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

R. STEVENSON,
PAINTER, Paper hanger, &c., &c., Brock Street, Peterborough. 15

GEORGE H. HUGHES,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
SOLICITOR IN CHANCERY,
Conveyancer, &c.
OFFICE in Harvey's Building, next door (north) to Thomson's Store, George St., Peterborough. 12

GENERAL FIRE AND LIFE INSURANCE OFFICE.
W. CLUXTON, Agent.

W. COULTER, PETERBORO',
DEALER in Genuine Drugs, Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Spices, Culinary Essences, Fancy Soaps, &c., &c. 16

THOMAS MENZIES,
BOOKSELLER, Stationer, &c., &c., &c., &c Dixon' Exchange Block, George Street, Peterborough. 20

A. HARVEY, M. D., CORONER.
RESIDENCE:—Aylmer Street, opposite the Railway Depot, Peterboro.
April 3rd, 1861.

W. H. SCOTT,
BARRISTER AT LAW, Solicitor in Chancery, Notary Public, Conveyancer, &c.
OFFICE:—In Burnham's Block, opposite the Review Office, Peterborough.
April 11, 1861. 13

A. M'CREA,
PROVINCIAL Licentiate. Physician, Surgeon, &c Keene.

GEORGE PRINGLE, M. D.
PHYSICIAN, Surgeon, &c., &c., graduate of McGill College, Montreal, having also studied in the hospitals of London and Dublin. OFFICE AND RESIDENCE.—Brock Street, opposite McGregor's Livery Stable, Peterboro.
April 23, 1861. 17

JAMES BEST,
DEALER in Dry Goods, Groceries, Crockery Boots and Shoes, &c., &c., Rowe's Block, George Street, Peterborough. 18

MR. DUNN,
PRINCIPAL of the Grammar and Union School, will devote a short time each day to private tuition.
Peterboro', Jan. 16th, 1861. 3

JAMES W. FITZGERALD
(LATE FITZGERALD & DRENNAN.)
Provincial Land Surveyor.
Office:—In Scott's Chambers, corner George and Simcoe Streets.
Oct. 3, 1861. 41

CABINET-MAKING.
E. POOLE, Cabinet-maker, Upholsterer & Undertaker, Ryan's Block, George Street Peterboro.

ALEX. McNEIL,
LICENSED AUCTIONEER for the Counties of Peterborough and Victoria, and Townships of Cavan and South Monaghan.
OFFICE AND STORE on Water Street, opposite the Custom House, Peterboro.
Nov. 27, 1861. 48

A. FOWELS & CO.,
HARDWARE MERCHANTS, George street, Peterboro

H. IRVINE,
CONVEYANCER, &c.
Office—in Heathorn's Block, Hunter Street 3 doors above Ormond & Gilmour's Drug Store. Peterboro, Nov. 21, 1861. 47

EMPLOYMENT.
THE undersigned are desirous of securing the services of a few Young Men to engage in a Travelling Agency, upon a salary of
FORTY DOLLARS PER MONTH,
AND ALL EXPENSES PAID.
This is an opportunity seldom offered, and to those who merit the approbation of the Subscribers, by strict attention to business, can only prove constant employment for a term of years. For further particulars address, (Postage Paid)
CONANT & DRAKE,
24 Main St., Atkinson Depot,
New Haven, Conn.
Nov. 24, 1861. 48

THE CHEAPEST & BEST PLACE
TO GET JOB PRINTING done, is at the EXAMINER Office.

D. PENTLAND.
Surgical & Mechanical Dentist,
OFFICE, OVER COULTERS' DRUG STORE, George Street, Peterboro'.

TEETH Extracted by the aid of Electricity, with the least possible pain. Teeth inserted upon fine Gold, Silver, or
VULCANIZED RUBBER.
Teeth and material warranted to be of the very best quality.
D. P. particularly wishes the public to understand
WARRANTS HIS WORK TO GIVE GOOD SATISFACTION,
and parties who are not perfectly satisfied with their plates have the privilege of returning them before paying for them.
Particular attention paid to the treatment of all diseases of the mouth, and also the regulating of children's teeth.
Peterboro', April 10th, 1861. 15

ALBION HOTEL,
MONTREAL.
L. W. DECKER, Proprietor.
IS pleasantly situated at the head of ST. PAUL STREET, amongst the largest wholesale houses in the city. It has (with business men generally, and especially with the best Merchants of both Provinces) become so great a favorite, that it is now acknowledged to be THE Business Hotel of Montreal. To meet the extensive increase, during the last year in the business of the house, the proprietor has built a large addition. The Dining Room has been extended and made more commodious; there have been completed in the new wing, a great number of well-ventilated sleeping rooms, and the House throughout has been refitted, and now contains many improvements and conveniences hitherto unknown to its guests. The whole of the beds have, at a great expence, been furnished with NEW SPRING MATTRASSES. The Proprietor expects that by continuing his personal management of the concern, THE ALBION to say the least of it, will continue to be, as it now is, the best Dollar and a half Hotel in Canada.

VALUABLE FARM FOR SALE.
THE subscriber is desirous of disposing of his Farm, south west part of Lot 23, in the 11th Con. Otonabee, only 3 miles from the town of Peterborough, and on the main road leading to Keene, comprising 100 Acres.
60 Acres are Cleared,
and in a good state of cultivation: 14 Acres of Fall Wheat are sown, and part of Fall ploughing is done. A good Frame Rough-cast House, 46 x 30, a barn, 45 x 26, and a good stable and other out-houses are on the premises.
A GOOD WELL
of spring water stands within a rod of the house, and is easy of access.
YOUNG ORCHARD OF GRAFTED FRUITS, in good condition, and of the choicest kinds, is on the property.
The Farm is one of the best in the Township, and the situation is very convenient, no better chance for the purchase of a good farm could be offered, and it will be sold at a liberal price.
Title Indisputable.
Apply to the proprietor on the premises,
JAS WEIR.
Otonabee, Nov. 7 1860. 54

NOTICE.
THE next meeting of the Senior Board of Instruction for the County of Peterboro' will be held on the
First Tuesday of Dec. next,
IN THE COURT HOUSE, AT 10 A.M.
Teachers holding third class certificates issued a year or upwards ago, are required to have them renewed.
By order,
J. EDWARDS,
Secretary.
Peterboro' May 14, 1861. 20

THE LATEST IMPROVED
COAL OIL,
AND COAL OIL LAMPS,
AT REDUCED PRICES.
JOHN McDONELL,
GEORGE STREET.
Jan. 2, 1861. 1.

PORT HOPE & PETERBORO

RAILWAY.
ON and after the 6th of Mar, 1861, and until further notice, Trains will run as follows:—
GOING NORTH.
Leave Port Hope at..... 7.30 a. m.
" Millbrook " ..... 9.05 a. m.
" Fraserville " ..... 9.30 a. m.
Arrive at Peterboro' at..... 9.50 a. m.
GOING SOUTH.
Leave Peterboro' at..... 3.35 p. m.
" Fraserville " ..... 3.55 p. m.
" Millbrook " ..... 3.30 p. m.
Arrive at Port Hope at..... 4.55. p. m.
JOHN POWLER,
Leave.
Peterboro' January, 18

INFORMATION WANTED.
A DAUGHTER wishes to learn the present whereabouts of her mother, whom she has not seen for the last thirty-five years. Her maiden name was Polly Cook; her first husband's name was Warren Stone. It is said she married in 1840, a person named De Long, who was at that time engaged in some way in the manufacture of silk, in some part of Upper Canada. Any information respecting her will be gratefully received by addressing the subscriber, at 63 Frank Street, Rochester, N. Y.—Canadian papers will confer a favour upon one who has long been deprived of a mother's affections, by giving the above an insertion, entire or in part.
MRS. SAMANTHA JENKINSON.
Rochester, N. Y., 24th May, 1861.

NEXT OF KIN WANTED!
Hundreds of Millions Pounds Sterling
IN CHANCERY, BANK OF ENGLAND, &c., awaiting claimants. A Catalogue of the heirs and names of those to whom letters should be addressed in England, will be sent gratuitous, on receipt of 40 cents in United States' stamps, or one for $. Old claims must be prosecuted at References:—A. E. HILL, Editor "Journal," Chicago, Ill. Publishers, Auditors & Solicitors, W. W. H. GREENE & Co., Box 248, Post Office, Boston, Mass.

Poetry.

AN OLD BALLAD.

[A Subscriber writes:—Having noticed the article in your paper referring to the Ballad written concerning the woman who perished in the snow storm, (*) and having read the ballad some dozen times in half as many years, with feelings which can be more easily conceived than described, and thinking there might be many of your readers who have never had the opportunity of seeing it, I take the liberty of sending you a copy of the Ballad, which if you should think fit to insert in the Examiner, many of your readers would be much interested by its perusal.]

The cold winds swept the mountain's height,
And pitiless was the dreary wild,
And 'mid the cheerless hours of night,
A mother wandered with her child;
As through the drifted snows she pressed
The babe was sleeping on her breast.

And colder still the winds did blow,
And darker hours of night came on,
And deeper grew the drifts of snow,
Her limbs were chilled, her strength was gone.
"O God!" she cried in accents wild,
"If I must perish save my child."

She stripp'd her mantle from her breast
And bared her bosom to the storm,
And round the child she wrapped the vest,
And smiled to think her child was warm;
With one cold kiss one tear she shed,
And sank upon a snowy bed.

At dawn a traveller passed by,
Silent beneath a snowy veil;
The frost of death was in her eye,
Her cheek was cold, and wan, and pale.
He moved the robe from off the child,
The babe looked up and sweetly smiled.

(*) In the month of December, 1821, a Mr. Blake, with his wife and an infant, were passing over the Green Mountain, near the Town of Arlington, Vermont, in a sleigh with one horse. The drifting snow rendered it impossible for the horse to proceed. Mr. Blake set off on foot in search of assistance, and perished in the storm before he could reach a human dwelling. The mother alarmed (as is supposed) at his long absence went in quest of him with the child in her arms. She was found dead in the morning, a short distance from the sleigh; the child was wrapped in her cloak, having survived the perils of the cold and storm.

A HIGHLAND LEGEND.

Once upon a time, in Barr Glen, on a wild winter's night, a farmer and his family and servants were all comfortably seated around a peat-fire; the wind was howling terribly around the house and the drifting snow was clogging up the door ways. The farmer knew that his son and servant-maid were much attached to each other, but he would not consent to their marriage. When they were all sitting around the fire on that winter's night, he thought of a plan by which the servant-maid should be got rid of; so he said that if, before the next day, she would bring him a skull that was in Saddel Church, she should have his son. The girl's love was so strong for the young man that she joyfully agreed to the proposal, although it was quite seven miles to Saddel, and the road lay over Beinn-an-Turic. She knew the road well, and all its dangers and difficulties even by daylight, which would now be immensely increased by the darkness of the night, the fierce wind, the driving snow, the slippery rocks, and the swollen torrents. But she did not shrink from the danger, and at once made ready and went on her way. The farmer took good care that she went alone and that his son did not follow her. The brave girl went over the hill and glen, battling with the snow-storm, and tracking her path with the greatest difficulty. She passed safely over the southern side of Beinn-an-Turic, and by midnight reached Saddel Church. She knew the place the skull was kept, and she grouped toward it in the dark. As she did so, she heard a great and peculiar noise, made up as it seemed of loud moans. There was a trampling of light feet over the pavement, and she heard forms rush past her; then a moment's silence, succeeded by more mysterious moans and sounds. Terrified, but not disheartened, the brave girl kept her purpose steadily in view; and groping toward the skull, seized it in both hands, and made for the church door. The trampling of feet and the moans continued, and the forms pursued her.—Grasping the skull she gained the door, and pulled it to after her. As she did so she heard a rush against it; but she turned and fled. By daylight she had regained her lover's home, and half dead with fatigue and excitement, placed the skull in the farmer's hands and claimed the fulfilment of his promise. The farmer was taken aback by seeing the girl, having hoped that she would have perished amid the snow and wilds. He would not believe that she had really been to Saddel, and taken the skull from the Church on such a night; so he at once set out for Saddel with some of his men, expecting to be able to disprove the girl's story by finding the skull in its place in the church. When they got there, and had opened the door, they found within the building—not the skull—but a number of wild deer, who, having found the door open, had sought shelter from the violence of the storm. The girl had told him of the sounds she had heard within the Church. Here was their cause; and much as he wished it otherwise, yet it was impossible for him to disbelieve her tale. There was nothing for him to do but to yield with the best grace he could. He gave his consent to the match, and to make assurance doubly sure, the lover took his brave girl to Saddel church the very next day, where she placed the skull in its old position, and they were married off-hand. And as some of the deer that had frightened her had been killed and cooked, they had a hearty wedding and plenty of good venison at the feast that followed.

——A Yankee has invented a new pad cheap plan for hoarding. One of his boards are mountains the rest, and then eats a hearty meal—the monument being satisfied, time sympathy.

"MARRYING IN HASTE TO REPENT AT LEISURE."

Mrs. Josephine Hasmiller was a well known German lady of Rochester, where she resided for many years. She was a widow lady having one child. On the 7th inst. she made the acquaintance of a man named Henery Reigert also a German. He has been a resident of Rochester some time. He is a baker and formerly worked in this city for Brimhill. The above pair had only been acquainted a day or two when a proposition of marriage was made on the part of Reigert. Mrs. H. at first refused, but on the earnest solicitation of her friends and those of Reigert, who represented him as a good man, she consented. Monday, the 11th inst, was the day set for the marriage ceremony to take place, the pair only having indulged in four days' courtship. Mrs. Hasmiller had some money. Reigert and his friends knew this. As he appeared pretty "seedy" the friends of R. prevailed on Mrs. R. to furnish him with sufficient money to purchase him a new suit of clothes. This caused her to draw a long breath and dwell upon suspicion. She was talked out of her suspicions, however, and finally consented. She attired the man who was about to become her liege lord in a new broadcloth suit of clothes, in which he appeared at the hymenial altar. Accordingly, on Monday last, they were married. The widow was made a bride, but under difficult circumstances. For some reason or other, Reigert wanted to get out of Rochester for a while. He proposed a trip to Albany. At this time, Mrs. H. had a comfortable home at Rochester, well furnished, but she again gave way to the solicitations of Reigert, and breaking up her little home, came here on Thursday last, bringing all her furniture along. On arriving here, they took up board and lodging at Snyder's hotel, on South Broadway. Things jogged along here until yesterday morning when Mrs. Hasmiller was surprised upon going to her room, to see her satchel broken open, and $175 in gold which she possessed, also two fine gold rings (presents from her former husband), breastpins, and other valuable articles, gone. Upon further inquiry she learned that her renegade husband had also "vamoosed the ranche." She fled to the Second District Station House, and made known her loss to officer Scott who accompanied the poor woman to the police office. She stated her case, but could get no aid. According to law he took only his own property. He could of course be arrested as a disorderly person but no one knew where he was. She was therefore obliged to go off without receiving any redress whatever. This is truly a sad case, one wherein a respectable female has been made to occupy the position of widow, bride and grass widow, in the short period of one week.—Albany Knickerbocker.

A STRANGE BUT TRUE STORY.

A circumstance which fully illustrates the saying that "truth is stranger than fiction," recently came before Judge Sherwood, in the District Court. Some time since there was a couple residing in this city, who were surrounded with many blessings. The husband possessed a comfortable share of worldly goods, his wife and himself were fondly attached to each other, and together they doted upon an only child.—The first blow to their happiness was the loss of their little one, who sickened and died, leaving its parents broken-hearted. The death of the child fell like a shadow upon the household; the parents became unhappy, moodiness came in the train of their melancholy, and absolute aversion for the society of each other soon followed.—The soured and discontented pair finally determined on a separation, and a divorce was procured.

After a time both married again, and they became utter strangers to each other as far as social intercourse was concerned. It so happened that it became necessary to remove the remains of the dead child from the grave where it had been interred, and the father was notified of the fact. A handsome lot was procured by the latter in one of the cemeteries north of the city and a day was fixed for the re-interment. The father notified the former wife, and the mother of the child, of the circumstances, and informed her by note that if she thought proper she could attend the burial of the remains. The mother accepted the invitation, and with her second husband repaired to the cemetery. The father, with his second wife, was already there. The little coffin was placed near the open grave, and the parents of its occupant advanced to it while the second wife and husband stood in the background. The couple who had been so long estranged and who had again met strangely over their dead hopes, gazed earnestly at each other; the solemnity of the hour revived their own tenderness, and falling into each other's arms, both burst into tears. The re-interment took place, and the parties returned to their proper homes.

With the consent of all who were interested, the father of the dead child visited on terms of friendship, his former wife, and they were in the habit of riding out together.

Not long after this singular reconciliation the father of the child took sick and died. Before his death he placed in the hands of a friend two city bonds, of a thousand dollars each, to be handed over to his first wife, in the event of his death. In his will he appointed, as his executors, the friend who was the custodian of the bonds, and his first and second wives. The friend in his capacity of trustee was uncertain as to the legality of the gift under the circumstances, and he made application to the Court for a decision in the matter, so as to secure himself from loss. The legal heirs of the deceased offered no opposition to the antemortem bequest and the Court decided in favour of its legality.

The famous scene of the reconciliation of Mrs Haller with her husband, in the play of the "Stranger," which generally melts tender hearted spectators to tears, is inferior in respect to genuine effect, to this drama in real life, which culminated beside the coffin of the dead child.

AN EXTRAORDINARY CASE OF ROBBERY.

Since the days when "gentlemen of the road" used to scamper across the country on dark nights and stop carriages by shooting the postillions, robbery has degenerated to a very matter of fact, unromantic kind of business. The pick and the crow bar have taken the place of the sword and pistol and when more than usual daring and address are displayed, it generally arises from some unexpected circumstance having forced the enterprising adventurer on the other. Blood shedding, without which robbery in olden times used to be the exception rarely intrudes itself; indeed the art of taking another man's property has lost all its romantic traits and it is only now and then that cases occur which excite interest on this account. However, a robbery, accompanied by some extraordinary novel features, has just been committed, and deserves to be recorded as showing a clever scheme to avoid capture well carried out, and only failing to be successful by neglecting a precaution that would have struck any one. It appears that a family residing at Vauxhall agreed to accompany some friends to the theatre one evening lately, only leaving the master, a Mr. Barker, and the servant girl, Mary Newhall, at home. Some time after their departure, Mr. Barker went out, saying he should soon return.—On arriving home, about 9 o'clock in the evening, he could get no attention paid to his repeated assaults on the door knocker, although the gas was alight in several of the rooms, which were apparently occupied.—Thinking this strange he applied to his neighbor, and, with the latter's assistance, succeeded in entering his own house by means of an open window. Once inside an extraordinary scene presented itself. In the passage a poker broken in two, with a quantity of blood and human hair adhering to the thick end was found on the floor, and near it some more hair and a pail full of what appeared to be blood. The whole house was in a most disordered state, property being strewn about in all directions. Mr. Barker, whose surprise at the tragic appearance of his house can be imagined, sought for the servant, but fruitlessly—she was not to be found. He then called in a policeman, and the search was resumed, with no further result than the discovery of the girl's two bonnets, which proved that she had either been taken or had departed out of the house without one. All over the house property was either packed up ready for removal or actually removed, and the servants' boxes were open and the clothes thrown about the floor like the rest. Two trunks and a carpet bag were missing, and it was evident that the thief or thieves had taken the stolen property out of the house by these means. Among other a box made up into the shape of a settee, belonging to a Mr. Heath, a gentleman residing in the house, was taken, and by the peculiarity of the form of this box was the thief eventually traced. Suspicion first alighted on the servant, but on inquiry among the cabmen it appeared that one of them had driven a young gentleman from that street in which Mr. Barker's house is situated, to the Eastern Counties' Railway, who had luggage exactly corresponding to the trunks stolen. Inquiry at the station elicited the further facts that after walking about the platform for an hour smoking cigars, this individual had taken the train for Brentwood. Here he had slept all night in an apartment to himself, having declined to share a double-bedded room with a person he had picked up an acquaintance with whilst en route. In the morning it was found that the curiously shaped box and its owner had departed for Great Yarmouth, where he was afterwards traced by a detective, living in furnished lodgings under the name of Mr. Heath. He had made himself very agreeable and had smoked continually, dressed himself out in handsome clothes, and got so much into the good graces of the landlady as to take her to the theatre on the night of his arrival. The detective arrived on the following Sunday morning at Yarmouth, and soon discovered where this mysterious gentleman lodged.—He found him out, having escorted his landlady to church—but quietly taking up his quarters in the new lodger's apartment he awaited his return—previously satisfying himself that he was on the right scent, by discovering the setter-shaped box among the luggage. On Mr. Heath's return he found himself arrested, and a very cursory examination enabled the practised eye of the detective to discover that his prisoner was not a he at all, but a member of the softer sex, and no less a person than Mary Newhall, the servant, herself. She was brought to London and examined before a Magistrate in her male attire. It was clearly proved that she alone had carried out the robbery, everything stolen being found in her possession. On the application of the detective she was remanded until next week, when the chain of evidence will be completed. How she learned to smoke cigars with impunity, and accustom herself to trousers and coats, in such a short time, is a mystery. But for taking that unfortunate box possibly she might have made good her escape. However, in these times such a well devised and novel mode of robbery, rarely occurs—and Mary Newhall deserves some credit for her ingenuity.—The idea of breaking a poker, covering it with hair and blood, to throw suspicion off herself, and to lead people to suppose she had been murdered, was something quite out of the common. Possibly some poor cat had to provide these tragic accessories.

THE END OF A DRINKING CLUB.

A celebrated drinking club, in a large town in the west of Scotland, which had formerly great influence at the latest elections, is broken up. Two of its members were sent to a lunatic asylum, one jumped from a window and killed himself, one walked or fell into the water at night and was drowned; one was found dead in a public house, one died of delirium tremens, upwards of ten became bankrupt, four died ere they had lived half their days. One who was a bailie when connected with this club, is at present keeping a low public house. Such are a few facts well known to those living in the locality.—Liverpool Albion.

DR. CUMMING ON THE MILLENIUM.

On Tuesday, October 15th the Rev. Dr. Cumming delivered the first of two lectures on "The Millenial Rest, or the Sabbath of the Earth," in the assembly room of the Free Church, Manchester, the subject being "Prophecy." The room was densely crowded, and many persons were unable to obtain admission. A considerable proportion of the audience were ladies, some of whom occupied seats on the platform. Dr. Carpenter opened the meeting with prayer. The Rev. Cannon McGrath, who presided, bespoke a hearty welcome for the reverend lecturer, believing that he had laid not only Manchester, but the whole country, under a deep obligation by his enlightened expositions of prophecy. He also spoke of the objects of the Protestant Reformation Society, whose claims Dr. Cumming was there that day to support, and stated that the society expended £200 a-year in laboring amongst the poor enslaved Roman Catholics of Manchester, and in many instances its operations had been largely beneficial.

Dr. Cumming was received with warm applause. He said that in his first lecture in Manchester, delivered in 1859, he endeavored to explain what he might term chronology of prophecy. He showed that, according to the estimates of dates made by eminent interpreters of prophecy, there were three great epochs, the first of which terminated in 1793, the second in 1822, and the third would expire in 1867. He did not say that the year 1867 terminated the economy but he did say that it closed the Gentile epoch, and that, if the foundations upon which he based his calculations were correct it closed the chronological periods, and another and unchronological epoch, whatever might be its length, necessarily followed. Last year he tried to show them that the glorious future of this country was indicated in the inspired writings; and his conviction of the truth of the conclusion he had then arrived at, was now, if possible, more firmly grounded. He took a bright view, not only of the future of this country, but of the future of the world at large, though we might have to pass through times of great tribulation, which were strongly indicated by the warlike preparations on all hands. There were two schools in interpretation of the 20th chapter of the Apocalypse—one that the language employed was purely figurative; the other that the millenial dispensation was a totally distinct economy, not to be effected by any ordinary means but in the midst of great storms, fearful visitations and judgments, not only upon the heathen nations, but upon all those who knew not Christ—in the midst of which Christ was to appear in His glory, "and they should see Him and be like Him, for they should see Him as He is." It was a great mistake of the present day to be always looking out for a perfect church. There was no such thing as a perfect Church, but a perfect Church was to be. There were two resurrections mentioned in the Apocalypse. He believed that when Christ came to the world in his glory all those in the dust should be instantly raised to life, and all those Christians living should not die, but be changed in a moment. There might be some in that room who should never die. This was the first resurrection. Of the second resurrection he had often wondered to hear ministers speak in the language of vociferation. The thought that poor mortal man must suffer eternally was to him so awful that it seemed it ought only to be spoken of in a whisper; and if the authors of "Essays and Reviews," instead of endeavoring to show that hell was only a kind of purgatory, had shown that the way to heaven was so easy that none who chose could fail to find it, they would have acted more in accordance with their professions. That the resurrection must be a bodily one he thought all scripture showed. It was man that died, and it was man therefore who must be raised. It was the body which entered into the grave, and it was the body therefore which must be raised again. The very nerves which on earth had wrung with agony should vibrate with everlasting joy; that very voice which once sounded so musical on their threshold should be heard again; that very smile which made their fireside so dear to them should be seen once more; and that infant which God took away with the flowers on its bosom, and spared it in the thorns in its heart, should rise again. It was to him a glorious thought that in that resurrection of which he had spoken the infants should form a very large majority. Perhaps the old chairman would not agree with him in this, but he believed it could be proved; and that as infants shared the effects of sin and died, so they also would be made partakers in everlasting grace. When they remembered that one-half of the human race died before attaining years of maturity, it was a bright thought that the vast majority of mankind would be saved. Such, he believed would be the first resurrection. He deferred until the morrow the sequel, when he should enter upon some of the leading characteristics of the millenial blessedness of which he had tried to shadow from the preliminaries.

On the following day Dr. Cumming delivered his second lecture, when he reviewed at some length the points of his previous discourse, and reiterated more fully his opinion that on the coming of Christ the great conflagration would take place, but that the world would not be destroyed, but would be reconstituted and regenerated.—He could take them, he said, to glens in his native Highlands from which he had just come, where the heather bloomed so beautifully and cataracts sang so sweetly day and night; where the sky was so blue and the air so soft and balmy, that—let them not accept this of the "gratuities of materialism," as Chalmers called it, if he told that—take away sin, with death and disease, and all its other consequences, and he could live there for ever. He could not believe that so beautiful a world as this was finally destroyed. A difficulty which had suggested itself to many thinking minds was this, that death was said to be the result of sin. Now, it was a geological fact which no man conversant with the elements of that science could deny, that they had traces of death in the pre-Adamite world. The philosophical mind at once asked: "How do you reconcile this with the Bible?" Just in this way. The Scripture absolutely said that the result of sin was death. The Scripture also, by its predictions of the future, led them to infer that before Adam fell all the animal creation lived in harmony and peace. But the Scriptures also taught them that there was sin before Adam was engrossed. The angels which kept not their first estate sinned; and there was death before Adam, because we read it in the stony page. He did not assert the connection between these two facts. All he said was that it was just possible that between angels sinning and pre-Adamite death there was some connection, though unrevealed. It had sometimes occurred to him that this earth was the scene of dynasties before our own. He did not wish to form a crude idea upon them, but he asked them to read for themselves the book of Genesis, keeping this possibility in view. In the 20th chapter of the Apocalypse, upon which his last discourse was founded, there was a difficulty which he at once admitted. It was stated that Satan should be loosened for a little period at the end of a thousand years. But who were they that were to join with him in one last desperate attempt upon the camp of the saints? He confessed he did not know. One explanation he had read was, that during the millenial period life would be extended to a thousand years, without disease, and that the fiery deluge would not entirely destroy the wicked, but that a remnant would be left to join with Satan in his last attempt. He could not see his way clear to adopt this suggestion. Another explanation was, that the auxiliaries of Satan would be the wicked who were raised from the dead. He did not assert that this was so; he dared not dogmatize on such a subject; but was it altogether improbable that this might be the truth? Accepting for the most part literally the vision contained in the 21st chapter of Revelations, Dr. Cumming eloquently expatiated on the glories of the new heaven and new earth, and of the holy city, the new Jerusalem, whose foundations were garnished with all manner of precious stones, whose gates were of pearl, and the streets of pure gold. By the term "new heaven," he understood all that was associated with our present mundane economy. Whether the orbs we saw in our present planetary system were tainted by man's transgression he knew not. It was a marvellous thing that the telescope of Lord Rosse, which discovered an object in the moon that was 100 feet high, disclosed that planet to be, as far as could be judged, a complete wreck; and he thought it not improbable that primeval sin had struck far deeper and wider than some men believed. One passage he could not account for in its literality. "There shall be," said John, "no more sea." He could not account for this, because in the same chapter he read of the river of life, and the sea was equally God's work. It might be wrong in him to say so, but he thought that the drying-up of the sea would leave a great blank and gap in the regenerated world. Could it be—he was only striving now to do away with a difficulty—could it be that the passage meant simply that the barriers which now separated nation from nation should no more exist, but form, as it once did in obedience to the Saviour's command, a great and glorious highway, uniting all people and all climes? Were they to expect literally such a city as the one described? The specifications and dimensions were given with the greatest exactness, and why might there not be such a city upon this earth? If they did not accept this view, could they explain how it was that from the time of Abraham, the father of this economy, to the latest period of the inspired writings, a city was constantly set forth as the hope of the people of God?—There were two things on earth which he pre-eminently admired—flowers and precious stones. Flowers were the evanescent gems—precious stones the permanent flowers. The fancy had often occurred to him that precious stones were the exploded fragments of a magnificence which once existed; and God would re-collect them into a magnificent world, thus showing that His great purpose never had been frustrated, but had been fully and perfectly realised. The reverend lecturer closed his address by an earnest practical appeal; and before sitting down he urged the claims of the Protestant Reformation Society on the support of the public of Manchester.

In one of the more recent lectures, Dr. Cumming said he had consulted Sir Roderick Murchison as to the truth of the statement he [Dr. Cumming] had made at his last lecture in Manchester—namely, that the interior of the earth was a burning cauldron. Sir Roderick replied that "no one but an ignoramus would dare to deny it." And when he [Dr. Cumming] quoted the words of Peter in support of his statement, Sir Roderick replied that not only was Peter scientifically correct, but that Job was [Sir Roderick] the finest idea of the gold mines in Australia, and that Job was the best geologist he ever knew. Sir Roderick Murchison has since published a letter stating that, although the writer did say the existence of a central heat was clearly proven by various phenomena, yet the phrase "burning cauldron" was never used by him; Sir Roderick admits that he did say that the Scriptures indicate that Job was a good mining geologist; but he denies that he used the word "best." In reference to the first idea of the gold mines of Australia having been given by the patriarch, Sir Roderick thus concludes: "I need hardly add that my hypothesis respecting the probable auriferous geology of Australia first dawned upon me in 1844, and that I was one in the extreme degree edified by the words of Job." Sir Roderick's remarks were heard upon the occasion of the visit of Australia, brought in this country in 1854 by Queen Pomaretare, entering gold bearing rocks of the United States, [illegible] which I was well acquainted."

The Spectator has an article severely condemnatory of Dr. Cumming's lecture. Here is an extract:

"The new heaven is to be an old place. It is to have an unsetting sun, but the moon is to be made new, for it and some of the planetary bodies ruined in the Fall. We really are not inventing absurdities, these are the actual words of the report: "That heaven that was to be made new included all that was made sinful, and might, perhaps, include some of the orbs of our planetary system; at this rate the moon had been discovered to be a gigantic wreck, and—she probably lives shared in the ruin of our earth. It might, perhaps, be that the primeval sin had struck further, and deeper, and wider, than we sometimes believed." How anything without a soul can sin, or how the existence of a sinful astronomical body can possibly be made to consist with the teaching of Christianity, the theologian does not deign to explain.

"The heavens disposed of Dr. Cumming returns to earth. Earth is to be a paradise, not for the soul, but for the body. The air is to be fresh as that of the mountain tops, water will cease to produce malaria, battle fields are to blossom "even as the rose," a physical Jerusalem is to descend upon the world. Dr. Cumming is not staggered by any amount of literalness, not even by the mountain fifteen hundred miles high, and the pearl which makes a whole gate; but there is one point at which he stops. He also thinks the Seer is mistaken in saying there shall be no more sea. He likes the sea: 'it was said there shall be no more sea, and here he had a difficulty in accepting the literally. Might it not be that as Jesus walked upon the sea, so we in resurrection body shall be armed with the same high prerogative, and then the sea would be a bright band clasping together in a shining silvery bond of fellowship, America an England, and France even [though hopeless at present] in one joyous brotherhood? Mr. Holmes, years ago, remarked that 'good Americans when they die go to Paris' and Dr. Cumming evidently accepts the truth, and kindly provides them a means of getting there. And this is theology, and men who believe that the soul has a higher destiny than a wretched Mahommedan paradise of pearls and gems, and sweet sarcasm easy travelling, will be called infidels by Dr. Cumming for pronouncing this doctrine vulgar trash, as far from the spirit of Apocalypse as he is from that of St. John. A fortnight since we thought it impossible to discuss the Apocalypse more irreverent than the Westminster Review, but we were mistaken. The reviewer only denies the inspiration. Dr. Cumming first pronounces it inspired and then proves it to be absurd.

"It is not difficult to understand why the sort of stuff should be acceptable. A creed which is at once orthodox and maternal is sure to be popular. The men who cannot even understand the magnitude of the blessing contained in the promise of eternal life can understand very well that they should like to live on in the world under exceedingly comfortable circumstances; they cannot imagine holiness, but they can comprehend rude health; they cannot conceive of spiritual content as a source of happiness, but they can enjoy the notion of going to Paris without being sea-sick; and these are the men who applaud pictures of Paradise which differ from those of Dante only in the absence of vivifying genius. That Christianity can survive such teaching as this we hearts is the best evidence we know that it is in itself divine."

ORGINAL MODE OF WARFARE.

A writer who was present at one of the recent skirmishes in Missouri describes an old Texan border fighter: "I saw one case that shows the Confederate style of fighting. An old Texan dressed in buckskin and armed with a long rifle, used to go up to the works every morning about 7 o'clock, carrying his dinner in a tin pail. Taking a good position, he hanged away at the Federals till noon, then rested an hour, ate his dinner, after which he resumed operations till 6 P. M., when he returned home to supper and a night's rest. The next day, a little before 7, saw him dinner and rifle in hand, trudging up street to begin his regular day's work—and in this style he continued till the surrender."

THE GOLDEN RULE.

It is said of an Indian, that whenever he got into a bad place in the swamp, where the ground was too soft for safety, he put up a stake to mark the place. Thus he not only avoided the danger himself, but kept others from falling into the same snare. Might not every Christian learn a lesson from this rude son of the forest, put aside to guard against his own false steps, but as he prays, "Lead us not into temptation," to be careful to remove temptation out of his brother's path?

CURE FOR SICK HEAD ACHE.

Two spoonfuls of finely pulverized charcoal, drank in half a glass of water, will in less than fifteen minutes give relief to the sick head ache, when caused, as in most cases it is, by super-abundance of acid on the stomach.

——From rising glasses on the new York see in object sings; from using it

STATE OF EUROPE.

WAR AND DISTURBANCE EVERYWHERE AT HAND.

From Tribune Correspondence.

Turin, Nov. 5, 1861.—Europe is troubled in many quarters; but the agitation is nowhere more violent and nearer to an outbreak than in Hungary. The Diet has been dissolved for its unanimous opposition to the Government. The highest administrative Board, the Lieutenancy, which answers to the Home Department of other countries, composed of course of nominees of Crown, has solemnly pronounced against the illegalities of the Vienna Government; the Primate, according to rank the highest dignitary of the realm, declares that he cannot, with all his loyalty towards the person of the sovereign, give his moral assistance to the levy of conscripts, because it has not been voted by the Diet, and is therefore illegal; the county and city municipalities which, after the dissolution of the Diet, indorsed the protestations of the assembled Representatives of the country, have been dissolved, and all others have been forbidden to hold public meetings; the taxes, refused by the population, are levied by military execution; the officers of the army have liberated by force prisoners detained by the municipalities, and, seeking quarrels with civilians, bully and ill-treat all who by chance displease them; the Town Clerk of Pesth is tried for treason on account of an address sent by the town to the Emperor, and as the ordinary courts of justice would acquit those who on paltry pretences are indicted for treason, the political cases are transferred to court-martials. Under such circumstances, all the most loyal subjects of Francis Joseph who held office earlier him are tendering their resignations. Baron Vay, the Chancellor, Messrs. Szogyenyi and Zsedenyi, Mr. Majlath, Count Apponyi, Count Karoly, have already retired into private life; a score of Lord Lieutenants are about to follow their example, and the Vienna Ministers have no chance of finding any man who has still a reputation to loose, to accept any office from their hands. For the moment the Administration is at a complete stand-still, nothing but the common sense of the people prevents anarchy; in a few weeks the country will fall into the hands of adventurous and loafing foreigners of the same kind as those officials of Baron Bach, who just a twelvemonth ago were expelled from Hungary by the indignation of the people.

In Transylvania things look still gloomier. The Chancellor Baron Kemeney has resigned, on refusing to countersign an order in Council by which the electoral law of the country was altered by the absolute will of the sovereign without the concurrence of the electors; the Gubernium or Home Office protested against the same order, and refused to publish it, and was accordingly dissolved. The Vienna Ministers encourage the animosity evinced by the illiterate Rouman peasants against the educated classes, both Saxon and Hungarian; agrarian outrages are winked at and even encouraged by the military authorities; the country is deeply convulsed by the agitation on both sides; and Prince Couza of Moldo-Wallachia, seizing the opportunity, is fanning the discontent by secret emissaries, in the hope of an eventual annexation.

Croatia too, for twelve years past the most loyal of all the Provinces of the Lorraine dynasty, is highly excited. The Diet of Agram has sent an address to Francis Joseph still more forcible than the Hungarian one, insisting upon the maintenance of the old Constitution, and refusing to elect members for the Vienna Council of the Empire. Unanimous upon that point, it split into parties about the Question of the closer union with Hungary; and the Minister Schmerling, upon the false supposition that all those who were opposed to the union with Hungary might turn round and support him in his campaign against the institutions of Hungary, refraining as yet from dissolving the Diet of Agram, and wishes to try once more to induce them to elect nine Councillors of the Empire. He will soon be undeceived, and find that the Croatians are as tough as the Hungarians when their political rights are at stake.

The Military Frontier is likewise deeply disaffected. The population of 1,200,000 men who furnish an army of 60,000 to the Emperor, and the most oppressed and most wretched people of Europe, are tired of the immense sacrifices they have to bear. They claim an administration of civilians and annexation to Croatia, together with constitutional guarantees. In fact they are tired of being soldiers, they want to become citizens.

If we add to this gloomy picture the discontent of the Galatians and Bohemians, and the financial distress of the Empire, we may realize the difficulties of the centralizing Cabinet, which still insists upon forcing Schmerling's Constitution down the throats of the dissent provinces by the butt end of the musket. Still M. Schmerling does not despair. Difficulties increase his energy. He is deeply convinced that he is right and all the world wrong and speaks of Constitutional Government while he introduces de facto the state of seige, and rules in the same absolutist way as Baron Bach. It may be that in his heart he is as much an enemy of the Austrian Dynasty and Empire as Kossuth himself, and that he is planning the downfall of the Austrian monarchy, for his system cannot have any other result. The last measure accepted in principle by the Cabinet, to levy in February 26,000 conscripts in Hungary, and a proportionate number in Croatia and Transylvania, while all the national authorities refuse to carry it out, will, if insisted upon, produce an insurrection. It is impossible so to disperse the army over the country as to catch the conscripts at once from Presburg to the Iron Gate, and if the military proceeds from village to village, from country to country, the young men will flee before them to the forest, mountains and swamps, and organize a brigandage more formidable than that of Naples.

But while Hungary is on the verge of insurrection, France refuses to pacify and strengthen Italy by the evacuation of Rome. Napoleon says he has given 250,000 stand of arms, 100 batteries of rifled cannon, and all sorts of ammunition to Italy, and it is now her turn to get up an army sufficient to crush the Austrians. Victor Emmanuel, on his part, is personally always ready to go to war, but his Cabinet lacks talent for organization. They refuse to call volunteers under arms, and rely exclusively on the regular army, though the levy in the new provinces, where conscription was hitherto unknown, yields very scanty results. Thus the required 300,000 men are not to be found, though an appeal by Garibaldi would at once gather at least fifty thousand men around the great chief. Kossuth's endeavors to persuade or bully the Ministry into a war with Austria cannot succeed; his only chance is to make common cause with Garibaldi and so risk an expedition. Then the Government would be dragged into a war and compelled to court that energy which alone can save Italy, and overcome the prejudices which until now have paralyzed the forces of the nation, and have [illegible] Cavour, in his eccentricity past, but both impeded her onward movement. A nation of twenty-two millions need not fear a war with Austria.

THE AMERICAN WAR.

We have seen, in a previous article, that inasmuch as the States did not make the Union, it is not correct to say that any of them have a right to break away from it.

Again, the American government is not founded on the right of a people to govern themselves; but on the right of a people to liberty. It was because their liberties were systematically trampled on, that the colonists rebelled; not because of their devotion to abstract theories. And until the Seceding States can show that they had not, and could not have liberty under the Union, they have no right to break it up.

The colonists revolted from Britain.—True. But it was the dernier ressort;—the very last resource of a people, after unavailing remonstrance and entreaty.—They rose, as their fathers did against the first Charles and the second James, because of unendurable tyranny. But of what tyranny can the South complain? Their party has been in power for many years, and if they have been tyrannized over by tariffs or otherwise, it is very odd, for they themselves have ruled.

As to the pretext that they fear tyranny, now that the majority is against them, it is too shallow altogether; while as a pretext for revolution it is monstrous.

Again. The interests of the South are not opposed to those of the North. The two are mutually dependent, and are interlaced throughout their whole extent. But the South has slavery, and the North has not. True, but this does not give them opposing interests. The free laborer of the North keeps for the most part in the North and does not interfere with labor in the South; and all sound reasoning shows that slavery is not the interest, even of the South.

But if the South want to go, why should not the North allow it?

Let us answer this question by another. If Scotland wanted to separate from Britain, why should she not be allowed? She has a separate nationality; many separate laws, many peculiar customs, a separate national church; and differs as much from England as the South does from the North. But if a revolt were to break out in Scotland, would not war be declared and carried to an issue? And if foreign nations exclaimed against it as mad and fratricidal, would they not be told to mind their own business? Undoubtedly they would. Now the cases are parallel. The President is at the head of the United States, that is, of the nation as a whole. He is, beyond doubt, the representative of an established government; and what can be possibly do when revolt breaks out, but put forth all the strength of that government to subdue it?

Mr. Russell, of the Times, has said if he were a Northern man, he would do as the North has done.

But—and perhaps this weighs more with some than any other argument—it is said if the South were independent, the North would be free from slavery, and the institution being hemmed in on all sides, would soon die out.

It must be remembered, however, that the South has always been aggressive.—She it was that moved the expedition against Central America. It was in Southern interest that Cuba was desired. It is a settled Southern determination to subdue or annex Mexico, Central America and Cuba. It is also a settled Southern policy to re-open the slave trade. She would, if her independence were established, be a military oligarchy,—proud, domineering, and aggressive. Slavery would be her foundation, as the Vice-President of the Confederacy has declared. Her policy would be its perpetuation and extension.—By it she would stand or fall, for she would never part with it as long as she was a Government. It is to keep slavery intact that she has rebelled, and if she succeeds in repelling the North, she will make it a vital question in dealing with foreign Governments. If they respect her slavery, well—they are friends; if, not, she will set them at defiance.

Can any amelioration of the condition of the slave be seen in such a state of things as this. With a powerful nation ready to fight for it to the death, is it probable, humanly speaking, that slavery will fall?

But, on the other hand, let the South be subdued, and the back of the slave power will be broken. Slavery may even then exist, and be protected by guarantees, but it can never become a vital point for the States as a Union. The United States, we may be sure, will never grasp at Cuba and Central America in the slave-owning interest; she would never embroil herself, though the Southern Confederacy would, for the sake of the slave-trade.

In these circumstances slavery would be left to the operation of moral causes, and these, as they have acquired great strength of late years in opposition to slavery, would go on becoming increasingly powerful till public opinion was ripe for abolition.—Montreal Witness.

WAR AND POPULATION.

(From the Quebec Chronicle)

Canada—once the favorite battle ground of Indian tribes, then the scene of a fierce struggle for empire between the two chief powers of Europe—has long been exempt from the evils, the horrors of war. There are some still living who recount with pride and pleasure their campaigns against American invaders. But they are grey-haired men, and they tell these tales to their grandchildren, for the events of which they speak took place just half a century ago. There are more who talk of the rebellion as an insignificant affair compared with the wars of history, compared even with the American civil war of to-day. It follows that not one in a thousand of our people rightly estimates the blessings of peace or the calamities of war. Indeed, we never shall be adequately thankful for peace until we have to measure swords with an enemy, until each one of us has had relatives or friends exposed to danger and death, or property devoted to destruction. But by looking at the condition of the States, we may form some idea of minerica, private and national, which a state of war involves, and which inspire the prayer of the Anglican litany—"Give us peace in our own time, O Lord."

We design at present not to treat this subject in all its breadth, but simply to show how wonderfully the war is affecting immigration into the States, which we are enabled to do by the return of the British Registrar General, one of the most valuable officials there is, who in his quiet office prepares the figures for political economists to calculate with, and collects the facts for them to reason upon.

From his statement we learn that the British contribution to the population of the United States has fallen nearly per cent. from what it was ten years ago! That, however, is not all. The stagnation of business of all kinds, the consequent bank of employment, the apprehension that the war will last a long one, the dread of an enormous national debt and heavy taxation, have driven many new-comers to the States away. They have gone back to the shores of Great Britain by hundreds, and our own emigration agent to Ireland, Mr Donaldson, says he has seen ship-loads of emigrants returning from America to that country. We have not suffered much from the war yet. Even our Customs revenue has not fallen off to any great extent. And if some branches of industry have been injuriously affected, that has been more than compensated for by the stimulus given to others. Our population has been largely increased. The number of emigrants arrived at Quebec up to 18th ult., was 19,461 this year as against 9,654 last—an increase of more than a hundred per cent. This is by ship. The number of those who have come into the Province from the States by rail is probably even larger, judging from the reports of the emigrant agents in the various cities. And many must have arrived of whom the agents have seen nothing, for all the newspapers teem with accounts of the establishment here of small manufactories started by enterprising Americans. Probably at least 50,000 souls have been added to our population this year by immigration. If the war in the States continues and we are mercifully preserved from being involved in it, there is no telling the effect it may have on the relative position of the States and the Provinces. And even though it should cease, its effects will last for years. To paraphrase a famous sentence—"the United States' calamity is our opportunity." The tide of emigration is not one which can be bid to flow at will. The Times said, in a recent article, that "it would be years before emigrants would believe in the pacification of the Union even if peace were proclaimed to-morrow."

THE AMERICAN GOVERNMENT AND CANADA.

We are glad to find that whatever attempts may be made to stir up ill will on one side of the lines or the other, the men who really represent the American people as the Government at Washington, are showing their desire—a desire which it would be the highest imprudence not to entertain—to live at peace with their Northern neighbors. On three several occasions lately the Government at Washington has been appealed to from Canada, once officially and twice unofficiously; and on all three occasions they have promptly acceded to the demand for reparation for the affront offered to our territory by the blackguards who crossed from Detroit to arrest deserters at Sandwich. That act, it is said has been properly represented to the President by Lord Lyons, and has been disavowed and apologized for. Again, many minors, the children of Canadian parents, having been enlisted in the American army, Lord Lyons, upon the suggestion of Sir Allan MacNab, addressed the proper authorities upon the subject, and an order was promptly made for the discharge of such youths. The passport system—in our opinion a very foolish one, inconveniencing no one but harmless travellers, but yet perfectly within the right of any Government—was found to be inconvenient, and upon the representations of Mr. Giddings, who, though in no respect charged with the duty of forwarding the interests of British subjects a consul's services being intended only for persons of his own nationality, an immediate remedy was applied. Passports may now be countersigned at either New York, Boston, or Portland, by the following gentlemen:—At New York, by Oscar Irving; at Boston, by Jonathan Amory; and at Portland by E. L. O. Adams. In obtaining this arrangement Mr. Giddings has, we believe only acted in accordance with his constantly manifested wish to do everything in his power to facilitate the friendly intercourse between the inhabitants of the two countries and has given the best possible reply to the absurd statements that he had behaved discourteously to persons who had to transact business with him.—Montreal Herald.

PROPOSED RAILWAY ACROSS THE BRITISH CHANNEL.

The appearance of the shores of England and France, opposite one another at Dover Straits, has led geologists to conclude that they were at one period connected. The bottom of the British Channel at that point also favours this conclusion, as it forms a submarine ledge, and no one can tell how long the waves have rolled over it. The great traffic between France and England has stimulated ambitious projectors to set up opposition to Neptune, by proposing a highway under or over the sea, for the purpose of rendering the channel between Old Gaul and Old Albion as safe and free for travel as the tunnel under the Thames. There have been no less than 12 projects of marine road ways in the two countries; the first being that of a tunnel by Matthieu, a French engineer, about sixty years ago.—He laid his plans before Napoleon I., but of course they were considered to be impracticable, and were set aside.

Since the era of railroads, the above subject forced itself in a more persistent manner upon the attention of engineers and capitalists; and the last plan for accomplishing the object has just been published in a pamphlet written by Mr. J. Chalmers, formerly a resident of Montreal and (we believe) a Scotchman by birth, but now residing in London. His design consists of a huge iron tube, which is to be sunk to within forty feet of the bottom, where it is to be sustained by its own buoyance, and held down by heavy anchors and weights until it is banked in. He enters into details to prove how this can be done without serious difficulty. The distance is twenty miles.

On each side he runs the tube through an artificial pier a mile long. At the sea-board end of each of those piers will be a ventilating shaft, which will also serve as a lighthouse; and another large ventilating shaft is to be constructed in the middle. In this way, a train will never be more than four miles and a half from one of the ventilating shafts, and for that purpose, it is believed, proper currents can be established to keep the air pure. It is estimated that by this means the time of crossing will be reduced to thirty-three minutes!

The total cost of this gigantic undertaking is calculated at £12,000,000; and if it can be executed for that sum, it will be cheap indeed. We believe that such a project can be carried out in the present day, with the vast skill and experience which have been acquired in tunnelling and tubular bridge building; but the question arises: Will it pay as compared with the system of steamboat traffic? A very high authority on such subjects—the London Mechanics' Magazine—says:—"No one can doubt that such a scheme, if carried out, would be remunerative to shareholders and highly advantageous to the countries on both sides of the Channel. The plan of submerged tubes has met with great favor from engineers; it is most undoubtedly the cheapest, and presents the fewest engineering difficulties. Of the system Mr. Chalmers is the ablest advocate. The project of tunnelling the Straits of Dover cannot be considered chimerical at the present day; and such a clear business-like proposal as that of Mr. Chalmers should command the attention of engineers, as well as all persons interested in English and continental railways, or desirous of promoting peace and good will among men.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Albums, &c.—Thomas Menzies.
Music Books—Thomas Menzies.
Canadian Arithmetic—Thomas Menzies.
Cheap Goods—R. A. McNabb.
Dentistry—Callendar & Pentland.
Money Wanted—R. B. McDougall.
Cash System—W. Clinton
Pale India Ale—Ogilvy & Hood.
Notice—Dr. Pentland.
Notice—Dr. Callendar.
Notice—John McRea.
Timber for Sale—James Grieves.
Dentistry—John O'Donnell.
Shoe-closing—Wm. Dumble.
For Sale W. Clinton.

The Examiner.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1861.

OUR CLUB TERMS.

As quite a number of our friends have kindly intimated to us their intentions to canvas in their respective neighborhoods, ... will state our terms, which will leave excuse for no friend of Reform and good Government for not subscribing for a good Local paper:

Clubs of 10, (each subscriber) per annum, ... $1.00
Clubs of 5, do. 1.25
Single copies (as at present), ... 1.50

For Clubs the cash must be sent with the subscribers' names, in every case.

If our friends will only exert themselves a little the circulation of the EXAMINER can be made double that of any paper published in these United Counties.

THE PRODUCE OF OUR FORESTS.

Until last year the largest item of our exports has been that derived from our forests. Fifty or sixty years ago Upper Canada was a dense forest. For ages that forest had existed, and the settler found timber all around him for every purpose he required. The chief difficulty the first settlers experienced, and one which had to be overcome, was this very timber he had to chop down and burn up ere he could raise his bread from the ground on which it stood. Until a recent period the chief work of the farmer and his assistants was that of clearing the soil of its superincumbent timber. Trees of all sorts were felled and rolled in heaps and burned. A man seeking employment then was employed and paid in proportion to his ability to chop and log, and a man in those days was "counted famous according as he had put his axe upon the thick trees." If the settler had within himself or could command the force requisite to clear his acres, he soon rose from a state of struggling to one of comparative independence. On the other hand the settler who had not boys of his own, and had not the means to hire, was subjected to a state of trial which it is difficult to describe. Hence it was but natural for the settler to look upon the forests around him as the greatest drawback to his prosperity, and any method to facilitate the annihilation of the timber then covering the country, was hailed as a boon to the settler. To tell such an one that in a few years the timber he was then destroying would become valuable would be regarded by him as an idle tale. Many now find that timber is more easily destroyed than raised, and regret the wanton destruction of valuable timber in by-gone days. The most important and valuable of Canada Timber is the white pine, on account of its prevalence and its general usefulness, forming as it does an article not easily dispensed with, or supplanted by a substitute. It forms by far the largest item of timber exported, and is the chief source of the income from the forest. The chief region supplying this valuable article is the Valley of the Ottawa, although the best qualities are said to come from the Otonabee.

This may be accounted for from the fact that the Ottawa has been the chief source of supply for some forty or fifty years, and large portions of the pineries have been cut over three, four or more times. Whereas it is within fifteen years since white pine has been exported from these parts either in the shape of square timber or sawn lumber, consequently the area accessible to the water has not yet been cut over for the first time. During those fifteen years however, the pine has disappeared very rapidly from this vicinity, and in a few years more it will be indeed a scarce commodity if the present state of manufacture continues. It has been long admitted that our white pine is an article for which there is an extensive foreign demand, and nothing prevents it from commanding a remunerative price at all events to those who manufacture it but the foolish system continually pursued by these very manufacturers of over-stocking the market. The past year has witnessed from Peterborough the largest quantity of square timber ever floated down the Otonabee in any one season, and never in the history of the lumber business around here has such losses been sustained by every one engaged. Not one lumber merchant here we heard of but who has lost more or less on last year's business. We have heard of one party who has lost upwards of $10,000. And such is the extraordinary nature of the business, that quite a number have gone in this year, with these facts before them—yes, and many of these have suffered from last year's operations. It appears that the business resembles gambling, and is really lured for the risk that attends it of making or losing. It is a great pity when the lumberman is not successful in his business. If any one is deserving of remuneration for his toil he it surely is. A deal of care, anxiety, and risk attends him; he encase quite a stir in the neighborhood, gives employment to the farmers, tradesmen and merchants, and any revenue enjoyed by the lumberman is felt more or less by the whole community. Thus, in a bad year, such as the last, we have to endure a contraction of the ordinary stir of business attendant upon lumbering. The loss of so much of our forest wealth, which has disappeared without the corresponding benefit having been derived, the reckless conduct of lumber makers, and the fearful strides made upon the forests, has long since led the lumbermen of the Ottawa to form an association for the regulating and better conducting the Lumber business. And although sensible men saw the evil plainly, and the remedy as well, and put on record their settled convictions, as well as rules and regulations for their future conduct, these very men have gone on as before, each one desirous of cutting and getting to market as much as he possibly could, but also desirous that his neighbor should be kept within the rules and regulations of the association. Lumbermen will never observe rules respecting the limit of manufacturing timber. Their conduct in this respect is always dependent on the means of supply and the chance of paying prices. Their curtailing speculations depend much upon their resources. Unless the Government interfere, if interfere it can, we have no hope that our precious pine forests will be spared.

In sitting down to write we had intended to have given some statistics on lumber, and extracts from a Report of the Superintendent of Colliers at Quebec, who has been in Europe last summer, wherein some useful items of information is contained necessary to be known by all concerned in the advancement and prosperity of the country. Our limits this week will not permit of going into these, we shall however revert to this subject again.

OUR SCHOOLS.

We have before us the annual report of the Chief Superintendent of Education, for 1860. In looking over its pages we find that only five reports from Towns have been returned, one of which is from the Local Superintendent of Schools for Peterborough, Rev. J. S. Douglas, A. M.—We think it will be interesting to our readers, and we transcribe it in full:—

"I have still the pleasure of reporting very favourably, upon the whole, of the state of the Union School under its respective heads. The plan of instruction introduced by the masters during the year 1860 worked well. The school is now under the supervision of one Principal, responsible for the working of the whole school. I regret the necessity for such frequent changes, and the hasty manner in which the teachers are appointed, which is the prime cause of them. The attendance at school has very considerably increased, and the improvement in some studies have been very marked. The new school buildings have been well kept, and the order preserved among the pupils is excellent. Singing and drawing and other means are employed with advantage to refine the taste and the affections. The principals and teachers worked harmoniously, but unity of study has not been attended to as it ought, and as I trust it will be for the future. Owing to the short stay of teachers, I am unwilling to enter into particulars. The County Board of Examiners have resolved to meet only twice in the year; and to hold their meetings, with the consent of the trustees, in the Union school, where better accomodation can be had for the candidates. Printed questions, unless sent down by the Board of Education in Toronto, would probably cost more than the small number (say 10 on the average) presented themselves might justify. Might I respectfully suggest the adoption of the British practice of providing printed forms, and forwarding them privately to the Local Superintendent to the seat of the board—say Peterborough for this county. I would suggest that the papers be not distributed until the day of examination, thus giving each candidate an equal chance, and if deemed necessary to be returned again to Toronto for final decision, thus equalizing the value of certificates all over the Province. As the matter now stands, it is very much a matter of feeling on the part of the Board. I have to acknowledge, with pleasure, the friendly manner in which my visits have been received by the teachers, and particularly those of the separate school, which I have been specially asked to visit."

We are glad to see the Local Superintendent notice the crying evil of the frequent change of teachers in our schools. The hasty manner of appointing and discharging teachers has tended greatly to lessen the interest of teachers in their work, and as was remarked in the farewell address of the late Principal of the Union School, "teaches the pupils to regard the school not as a palace, but as a caravansera of learning."

"HOW SHALL WE SPEND OUR WINTER EVENINGS."

The answer to this query is given by the Review in its last issue. In many of its remarks, both in respect to early closing and the manner of spending the long winter evenings, we heartily concur. The attendance on lectures on profitable and pleasing subjects, is both a rational and useful way of spending one's time. To unite with a debating club, where properly conducted, affords a fine opportunity for young men to draw out their latent abilities, and is connected with many advantages which may be of incalculable value in after life. Reading clubs are also very useful associations, and either or all of the different ways pointed out of spending the winter evenings are infinitely superior to the common way of killing time in the bar-rooms and saloons where evil and expensive habits are too often founded, to the present and eternal injury of the individual.

As to Young Men's Christian associations, which the editor of the Review classes amongst the foremost of the replies to the question he propounds, we can hardly bring ourselves to believe that the writer means what he says, or else we must suppose that his puff of the travelling Theatre which exhibited in the Town Hall last week was a mere "trick of the trade." We are really at a loss to know when then praising two such opposite institutions as the Young Men's Christian association and the Theatre of which he speaks, what he means. With all his strenuous but futile attempts to screw up the world to look like religion, or to screw down religion to tally with the world, he can never make it appear or cause it to be believed that institutions so utterly at variance with each other are congenial. We are not now finding fault with his approval of the Theatre, or his own appreciation of the ability of the actors, or of his being an admirer of, or an apologist for the histrionic art, nor yet for the recommendation of Young Men's Christian associations, but it is as we have noticed before, his inconsistency, in blowing hot and cold, in lauding and in caricaturing religion almost in the same breath. He may rest assured he is decrying far if any beside himself—the veil is too thin to screen the cheat. The short extract we gave last week shows more of his views on religion, than a long essay from us. It displays both an utter contempt for religion and its teachers, and shows that religion with him is profession; as a mere matter of convenience or secular benefit. We should like to see him embrace the Religion of the New Testament, learn and practice its doctrines, and then we should see a marked change upon himself and his writings. At all events we desire to see him act more as he is than in an assumed character.

THE HON. SIDNEY SMITH AND Mr. H. J. RUTTAN.

The last Review contains three letters; the first from the member for this County, Col Haultain; the second from J. Walton, Esq., and the third from Billa Flint, Esq., in which these gentlemen exonerate Mr. H. J. Ruttan from the charge preferred against him by Mr. Smith, at his Cobourg Demonstration, when he asserted that Mr. Ruttan had charged him publicly with lying drunk in the ditches and streets of Cobourg. The Review, finding himself fairly caught, now endeavors to wriggle out of the scrape by shifting his ground. He now states that Mr. Ruttan made the charge privately, and not publicly. Mr. Ruttan at once met the new issue, by demanding the author and the time and place when the charge was alleged to have been made.

As the Review has volunteered to come to the rescue of the Postmaster General, by stating that he heard Mr. Ruttan make gross personal attacks upon Mr. Smith, Mr. Ruttan also demands from him a statement of the words used by him, or at least the general tenor of his remarks, in order that he may have an opportunity of nailing that lie to the wall also.

We give below the last letter of Mr. Ruttan addressed to the editor of the Review:

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR.—The Hon. Sidney Smith asserted, in the hearing of dozens of persons, that I had stated in my public addresses, in the Township of Smith, County of Peterboro', that "he was an habitual drunkard, lying in the ditches and streets of Cobourg."

When I denied this, in the Globe, you came out with a declaration intended by implication to support the assertion of Mr. Smith. But, now that I have proved Mr. Smith to have stated the thing which was not true, you endeavor to save him by a quibble in the last degree contemptible.—You now say that the charge was not made in public, but in private!

Well, sir, I now call upon you, for your author, and for the time and place when the charge was made by me. I also demand from you and Mr. Dennistoun, as you have volunteered your services in the matter, a distinct statement of the words used by me; or, at all events, the general tenor of my speech, (with time and place), when, as you say, I attacked the Hon. Sid.'s private character.

Yours, &c.,
H. J. RUTTAN.

Cobourg, Dec. 2, 1861.

DEATH OF COL. McDONELL.

Col. A. McDonnell died at Caisse's Hotel on Thursday night last. He had not enjoyed good health for some time but was not considered dangerously ill. On Friday morning he was found in his room, a corpse.

Deceased for many years held the position of Colonel in the militia, and we understand was in active service in the troubles of 1812 and 1837. He represented the old Newcastle District in Parliament two full terms, prior to 1840, and when in the vigor of life was an active and useful public man.

He was by birth a Scotchman, a Roman Catholic in religious faith, and was aged 75 years.

The funeral took place on Sunday, and was attended by a large number of our oldest and most respected townsmen. The Rifle Company and Band also paid the last tribute of honor to the remains by following in the procession, the band playing the Dead March. Deceased was a Freemason, and a number of the fraternity were present at the funeral.

A painful circumstance took place when the procession reached the Catholic Cemetery. A grave had been dug for the reception of the body, outside of the burying ground, the church rules forbidden his being buried in consecrated ground, because of his not living to their requirements. The friends of deceased promptly objected to his being buried there, and the coffin was again placed in the hearse, and the procession moved to Little Lake Cemetery, where the remains were interred.

THE ST. ANDREW'S DINNER.

Seventy-five gentlemen sat down to dinner on Friday night, and under the circumstances everything passed off well. The sudden and unexpected demise of the late Col. McDonnell on that day kept a great number away, who would have otherwise been present. The fire on Brock street occurring before all the toasts were drank disturbed the proceedings greatly, and it was found impossible to rally the meeting again.

The members of the Rifle Band deserve thanks for their kindness in attending gratuitously.

The dinner was served in good style by Mr. Caisse, and everything was done by him for the comfort and enjoyment of his guests.

FIRE.

On Friday night the large stone building on Brock street, used as a brewery by Mr. J. Ritchie, was burned down, together with the adjoining building formerly used as a distillery, but unoccupied at the time of the fire. Mr. Ritchie had only a partial insurance. Mr. Wm. Leady owned the buildings, and had 700 bushels of grain stored in one of them. Nearly everything was burned.

There was an insurance on the buildings of £300, loss £700. Mr. Leady informs us that he has no doubt but that the place was set fire to.

BRUTAL AFFAIR.

We understand that an altercation took place between a man named Vanalstine and another named Patrick O'Neil, in the boarding-house of Mrs. Roache, Hunter street, on Wednesday night, in which the latter bit the nose completely off Vanalstine's face. The brutal fellow was arrested, and after examination before a magistrate, was committed to gaol to await his trial.

TOWN COUNCIL.

December 3, 1861.

The Council met at 9 o'clock, a. m.

A communication form Wilson & Hector to the Mayor in reference to the costs due Mr. Doyle, in the suit of Peterborough vs. Conger, was read and received.

A communication form the Clerk of the Township of Monaghan, stating the proportion due by certain property of the Town, as the share of the expense of the drain lately made by that Township, was read.

A Communication from Mr. Wm. Elliot, asking for his salary as Inspector of Buildings in 1860, was read.

A communication from Mr. N. Drennan, Provincial Land Surveyor, asking the Council to assist him in publishing a new and correct Map of the Town, was read and referred to a special Committee.

Several accounts were presented and referred to Finance Committee.

Moved by Mr. Bradfield, seconded by Mr. McDonald,—That Messrs. Stevenson, Chamberlen, and the mover, be a Committee to settle the difference between the Town and Mr. W. A. Scott, and to take the necessary proceedings regarding the replevin bond now in existence.—Carried.

The Finance Committee reported recommending the payment of certain accounts. The report was adopted.

Moved by Mr. Bradfield, seconded by Mr. Ormond, That the special Committee appointed at the last meeting to report on the fire By-law, be instructed to report upon the Building By-law, as this was the intention of the resolution appointing the Committee.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. McDonald, seconded by Mr. Ormond,—That a cheque for $68.50 be passed in favor of S. Dickson, for extra labor done on London Street; which amount includes the grant of $25 not expended on Murray Street.—Carried.

On motion of Mr. Chamberlen, the taxes of Widow Knight were ordered to be refunded—amount $1.32.

Moved by Mr. Stevenson, seconded by Mr. Toole,—That a grant not exceeding $1.25 per month be paid by the Mayor to assist in paying the rent of a house for the widow of the late Mr. Ryan, to commence from this date.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Stevenson, seconded by Mr. Ormond,—That a cheque do issue in favor of A. S. Fraser, for the sum of $4.40, as it appears from the Assessors that an error exists in his assessment.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Ormond, seconded by Mr. Stevenson, — That the Mayor be directed to settle with J. Doyle, in the case of the Town vs. Conger, the amount claimed.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Kennedy, seconded by Mr. Stevenson,—That the sum of $40 be placed in the hands of the Mayor for the purpose of assisting the Committee on Charities in meeting the payments of the poor of the Town, and that the Committee be authorized to purchase 8 or 10 cords of wood for distribution.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Ormond, seconded by Mr. Chamberlen, — That the Mayor be instructed to write to the Hon. Sidney Smith, during the present week, to urge him to press upon the Government to sanction the extension of the Town limits, during the present year.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Chamberlen, seconded by Mr. Dickson,—That the taxes of Mr. Braithorn be reduced $5.50, which is the amount of $50 reduction on his store.—Carried.

The Council then adjourned till Monday [illegible] next at 9 o'clock.

TEMPERANCE MEETING.

A meeting will be held in the Temperance Hall, Lundy's Block, this (Thursday) evening, at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of organizing a Total Abstinence Society.—There are many persons who have expressed objections against the Good Templars and Sons of Temperance, and it is to meet the views of such that the Society will be organized, in order that the services of no Temperance man in the community may be lost to the good work, merely because he does not chose to become a Templar or Son of Temperance.

☞ We are requested to notice that the religious service conducted in the Town Hall on Sundays from 3 to 5 p. m., by Rev. Mr. Gilmour and others will be discontinued at present. When the use of the Hall was requested and so kindly granted by the unanimous vote of the Council, the hope was entertained that it would be but for a short time, and for retaining it so long they can only offer an apology. Should they find a suitable place of worship the services will be resumed, and due notice will be given.

☞ We have received a copy of a neat little Arithmetic, in Decimal Currency, published by James Campbell, Toronto. It seems a very excellent little book. It has copious explanations of the modus operandi thus assisting the scholar to proceed. It is the first Canadian edition that we know of in dollars and cents, and is thereby deserving of being adopted in our schools. The sooner it is to be adopted the better. It is to be had at Messrs T. & R. White's, and Thomas Menzies, price fifteen cents.

WHY IS IT?

Why is it that the Government papers continue to talk so confidently of the completion of the new House, when in truth it is a matter upon which they have just as little reason to be confident as have their opponents? It is true that Messrs Ryerson, J. H. Cameron, Jackson, and some other managed, by sailing under false colors, to oust Reform members. It is well enough, however, for the Leader and papers of that stamp to remember that there were gains on the other side, too. The Leader himself only pretended, at election time, to count up a Western majority of one, and to do that he had to count in Mr. Hooper, who is an out and out oppositionist, Mr. Dunsford, who refused also to attend the Cobourg demonstration of the Opposition and the Peterboro demonstration of the Government party, and one or two others to whom his friends have not the slightest claim. Correcting these errors, the majority of Upper Canada will be found against the Administration. In Lower Canada no one pretends to deny that Cartier lost heavily in the elections, something like fifteen or sixteen constituencies having passed out of his hands, while the Opposition lost but four or five. Well-informed Lower Canada politicians make no doubt about that section giving a small anti-ministerial majority. Put the two majorities together, and what becomes of the confidence professed by the Government organs? Would it not be wise to wait till they see whether Cartier & Co. are able to overcome this majority by an unscrupulous use of the patronage at their command, before they sing so confidently.—Economist.

ENGLAND AND AMERICA.

From the Scottish American Journal.

If the Governments of Great Britain and the United States cannot maintain peace and amity between each other, then mankind may as well at once give up all hope of ever arriving at the millenial reign of universal peace. No two nations can ever exist in the world in which the elements of mutual friendship can be stronger or more abundant, or in which it can be more deeply to the interest of both parties to live on terms of concord. There can be no two peoples all whose international difficulties are capable of easier settlement by arguments of reason, justice and conscience without the necessity of appeal to the devilish argument of blood.

With political institutions in both countries alike free and constitutional, but adapted to the differing circumstances of each—they cannot be brought into collision through the quarrels of tyrants or the antagonisms which spring from opposite ideas of government, nor, in the case of the present intersectional war, from the episodes of any local and anomalous social institution like slavery.

With not only the same Christian religion controlling both Governments and universally accepted by both peoples, but with even the same form of faith [the Protestant] prevalent among all classes—the hates and the bloody wars arising from mutually intolerant religions with which the history of mankind is lurid, can have no existence between these two children of Christ and Luther. On the portals of both nations is inscribed the golden rule of the Prince of Peace; and that alone, if its display be not atrocious hypocrisy, should forever remove the possibility of mutual slaughter.

With a unity of race and a fundamental similarity of character of both peoples, those deep-rooted ethnic amnities and differences which have been the source of quarrels between nations for thousands of years, cannot exist between England and America. The strong clear old Teutonic blood, with a slight dash of the Celtic mingled with it, courses through the veins of both, and is itself is capable of solving many problems which otherwise might be insoluble but by the sword.

We have often enough been told too, how the histories of the two peoples run into one, only a few generations back—how the ancestors of the Englishmen and American of the present day stood together at Runnymede and fought side by side under Cromwell, and on a hundred fields before and after his day—how Shakspeare belonged as much to Americans as Englishmen—how the nations interchange now almost daily their thoughts and their newspapers (these often, alas! however, but an interchange of poisoned daggers,) and, on so many points, their sympathies—how they both speak the same honest speech, a fact which is itself calculated to be one of the very greatest of peacemakers—how their law books as well as their sacred books are the same—how the commercial interests of each are calculated to work for the benefit of both—how, indeed, through all the lines of thought, manners and public activity, England and America follow other so nearly in the same direction, and profess to be aiming to achieve the same beneficent results.

And if, after all this, the thoughtless, the reckless and the passionate portions of the community can override all these things, and plunge these two great nations into war on some trivial pretext, or on any pretext, what, we ask, are the conditions of national existence which will insure permanent peace between any two sections of the human family? Or will war and slaughter be found to be really as permanent as the human race and the glorious dreams of universal peace and fraternity, indulged in by poets and prophets, be seen to be, after all, only dreams?

....The population of New Brunswick is stated to have reached 250,000 an increase in the last ten years of 30 per cent.

....O. S. Gildersleave, Esq., has consented to run again for the Mayoralty of Kingston; there is

LATEST FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE CITY OF BALTIMORE.

Cape Race, Nov. 29.

The steamship City of Baltimore left Liverpool on the afternoon of Wednesday the 20th, and Queenstown 21st, and passed this port at 5.30 this evening. She was boarded by the news yacht of the Associated Press, and the usual dispatches obtained.

It is reported that a large steamer left London with a full cargo of munitions of war for the Southern States.

The Southern steamer Nashville arrived at Southampton on the 21st instant. On the 19th she fell in with and boarded the American ship Harvey Birch, bound from Havre to New York in ballast. The Confederates took off Capt. Nelson and her crew, and then set fire to the ship and burned her to the water's edge. The Nashville landed Capt. Nelson and crew at Southampton and remained there herself with the Confederate flag flying. Captain Nelson says that Commander Pegram, of the Nashville denies being a privateer, and yet he says that he has a commission as a war steamer.

Thirty thousand guineas had been demanded for insurance on the North Briton.

The supposed privateer which had been seen in the Mediterranean proves to have been a Swiss New York merchantman, and had arrived at Constantinople.

Mr. Russell, in his last letter to the Times, asserts that the President and Cabinet were not indisposed to a peaceful arbitration, and were probably considering the proposition of accepting or asking for the intervention of the great European potentates.

It is reported that several steamers have been insured in London for a run from England to New Orleans and back for 20 guineas.

It was reported that a considerable reduction would be made in the money estimates and of the number of troops in France.

It was also asserted by the Paris Constitutionnel that Count Persigny had submitted to Napoleon a project for the disarmament of the French portion.

The Mexican expedition comprises 15 vessels, 300 guns, 5,000 sailors and 3,000 troops.

The French Senate would be convened on the 22nd of December.

The belief in the necessity for a French loan continued, the financial wants of the government being urgent.

The Bourse was firm.

The advices from Manchester were more favorable, the market for goods and yarns being firm with small sales.

LIVERPOOL BREADSTUFFS MARKET.

The market was generally quiet and steady. Wakefield, Nash & Co. report flour firm and quiet at 28s to 31s 6d.—Wheat quiet but firm; red western and southern 10s to 12s 8d; white 12s to 13s 6d. Corn steady; mixed 32s to 32s 6d; white 34s to 36s 6d.

LIVERPOOL PROVISION MARKET.

The provision market is generally quiet. Various circulars report beef steady; pork dull; bacon firm; lard downward with light transaction; tallow steady and quoted 50s to 51s.

FURTHER BY THE CITY OF BALTIMORE.

The Emperor Napoleon will visit Queen Victoria during the Great Exhibition next year.

It is asserted that the proposed confederacy is by no means abandoned.

A modification of the Italian ministry is rumored—but nothing has been accomplished.

Austria has quietly got together quite a powerful squadron in the Adriatic, 50 vessels in all.

The Madrid Espana says that a project was discussed of forming in America a colony of all Republics of Spanish origin, with Spain at the head of it.

The address of the Cortes in response to the Queen's speech had been read. It approves of all the points of the speech.

The administrator of the Arab-bubopric of Warsaw was arrested by an order from St. Petersburgh.

The Calcutta and China mail's had reached Alexandria, and would be due in London on the 27th.

DISASTROUS STORM ON THE ENGLISH COASTS.

The north-west and eastern coasts have been visited with a storm of great severity. The barometer indicated the coming of the destroyer, and the chief of the Meteorological Board, as early as Friday evening, notified to the outposts the coming change.—On Friday afternoon storm clouds arose across the sea; the night set in dark and wet, and sheet lightning flashed in all directions. On Saturday the storm burst on all sides, in the Irish Sea, in the British Channel, and on the Scotch coast. On the western shores the gale blew from the south-west, and then changing to the north-east, committed great havoc on the coasts of Yorkshire, Durham, and Northumberland. The wind brought up blinding showers of rain and sleet; the sea rose with a sudden vehemence; enormous waves dashed over the sandbanks, broke against the rocks, swept over sea walls and piers, broke into docks and carried off small craft bodily, tore vessels from their moorings and hurried them out to the wild ocean. Ships caught in the tempest, after vainly striving to keep at sea, ran for shelter toward the few harbors on our eastern coast, and foiling soon wrecked. Fishermen were surprised tending their nets, and compelled to run for any point which promised safety.—It is under these circumstances that the life-boats and the rocket-lines come into play. In the official reports there are records of the saving of nineteen lives in this one dreadful day by four life-boats, at Lowestoft, Bridlington, Boulé, and Seaton Carew. In one case a life-boat, launched through a tremendous surf, aboard with a schooner in distress, and putting hands on board saved both craft and crew. In another the boat was hurried two miles overland on her carriage, launched, and driven by a high cutter, the crew were taken off, and the boat, after her first trip, carried back to her station. These noble exertions were rewarded in every instance of success. They show how much the nation owes to the National Life-Boat Institution and its generous friends.

Southampton was the scene of a painful tragedy. About Friday last a telegram to Southampton, as well as to the other ports, announced the loading of the storm signals. The morning came on Friday signals were not hoisted until about 10 o'clock on Saturday morning. Owing to the circumstances, "Unfortunately, many vessels of the Mediterranean, Adriatic, and other trades came in on the Friday, and were driven out at once. In the afternoon, the outside vessels, on the shore dragged, veered, with some sails, looking for the harbor. There was the Italian brig Adelaide, Italian Captain Chaberge, in tremendous pain, but help and during, some with only a crew. The ship caught on the boat got afloat to rush to their succor. One sail had remained entire in the doomed ship, and on that sail her safety depended. At the critical moment the sail was rent, and the vessel was driven helplessly before the blast. The life-boat rushed on; but before she could reach the ship the latter struck only five yards from the seawall. Here the crew were safe, for they could be drawn on shore, and it is held that the life-boat should have stopped.—Unfortunately, Thomas Clayburn, her coxswain, was washed overboard, and the life-boat, bounding forward, "was drawn into a vortex of broken water between the stranded vessel and the sea wall." The spectators in crowds looked on in helpless agony. Some were active among them; but they had no head. The life-boat, hurled hither and thither by the roaring waves, was dashed against the wall with such force that two more of her crew were thrown into the boiling surf. Three or four of the crew, including Clayburn, were rescued by ropes, and then the boat swept round to a point where a roadway leads to the sands, whither a number of people rushed to aid her. Foremost among them was Lord Charles Beauclerk and Mr. Tindall, son of a Scarborough baker. "A cry was raised for their safety as a gigantic wave was seen coming in with the rapidity of a racer. It struck the sea wall with a terrific noise. Its foaming crest leaped high above the parapet; onwards and upwards it reared its huge crest, poising in mid-air the life-boat with its crew, and then hurled them against the sea wall. Those who had rushed to their aid were either enclosed in its fatal embrace and carried out to sea, or else crushed between the boat and the wall. Lord Charles Beauclerk perished in this gallant endeavor to save life.

A number of vessels were wrecked, and many lives lost, by the storm.

MELANCHOLY DEATH OF A MAN WHO SAVED THE QUEEN'S LIFE.

On Saturday night, Mr. Bedford, the Westminster coroner, held an inquest at St. George's Workhouse, Mount Street, Grosvenor Square, on view of the body of John Turner, aged fifty-four years, an imbecile inmate of the above Workhouse, who about three weeks since, accidentally fell down some steps and sustained injuries which caused death on Tuesday last. The evidence elicited from the son of the deceased was of a somewhat extraordinary character and excited considerable interest. James Turner, the witness alluded to, deposed that his father was formerly a licensed victualler and landlord of the Fox, at Highgate Hill. He was the man who saved Her Majesty's life in 1837 under following circumstances: On the 6th of July of that year, the four horses of the Queen's carriage, containing Her Majesty and the Prince Leiningen, took fright on the top of Highgate Hill, and dashed down the steep. His father, at the risk of his life, got the wheel horses by the head just in time to enable Her Majesty to jump out. On the following day deceased attended Buckingham Palace, in answer to a summons from Sir H. Wheatly, who gave him £10 and requested him to put up the Royal Arms to commemorate the circumstance, which he did at a cost of £20. Witness said that he was also informed that Her Majesty would always be his friend. He had since made constant applications to the Prince Consort, but he had had no further recognition of his services. That so preyed upon his mind that at last he became imbecile, and an inmate of the workhouse. The Coroner was of opinion that Her Majesty could not be aware of this, and the jury returned a verdict of "Accidental death."—Daily News.

NEW TELEGRAPH LINE.

The Montreal Telegraph Company, which now enjoys a monopoly in Canada, has at length the prospect of a competitor.—Advertisements in the Quebec papers make it known that an application will be made to Parliament at the next session for an act to incorporate a company to construct and work a telegraph line from Father Point in Canada East to Sarnia in Canada West, with branches at different points. A Telegraph of this extent would embrace the whole of Canada. The prospects for such an undertaking are undoubtedly good. The Montreal Company is overburdened with work, its receipts are heavy, and the shareholders receive fat dividends. Canada is growing rapidly, and the wants of her people cannot long be satisfied by one telegraph line. Competition is the life of trade, and when these two Companies are striving for the favors of the public we may be sure that the public business will be well attended to. —Kingston News.

....Papers by the Asia state that three millions rounds of rifle ball cartridges had been ordered to be got ready for transport by the mail steamers to Canada. The order for the dispatch of the 12 pounder Armstrong guns to Quebec had been countermanded in consequence of the advanced state of the winter season.

Special Notices.

"HE REMEMBERED THE FORGOTTEN," was beautifully said of Howard the Philanthrophist. It also applies to every man who brings the ameliorations, comforts and enjoyments of life within the reach of persons and classes who are otherwise deprived of their advantages. Especially may it be said of him who laboriously seeks and finds new means of preserving health, "the poor man's capital and the rich man's power." We think this eulogium properly applied to J. C. Ayers of Lowell, the renowned chemist of New England, who sparing the trodden paths to fame, devotes his entire abilities and acquirements to the discovery of Nature's most effectual remedies for disease. When the hidden blessing has been revealed, he proceeds to supply it to all mankind alike, through our druggists at such low prices that poor and rich may alike enjoy its benefits. Journal & Enquirer, Portland, Maine.

HORSES AND THE "TIMES' DESPOTISM.—Russell of the 'Times' does not appear to have given satisfaction either to the Northerners or Southerners, but you do not hear of any one being dissatisfied with the 'Canadian Pain Destroyer,' which is sufficient proof that it is all it is represented to be. Price only 25 cents per Bottle. See Advertisement.

A MECHANICAL OR ARTISTIC FACT.—A bank note engraver, on the fine vignette work over-worked his sight to that extent, but how injures his eyes that he works but little. The human vision by constant use is injured. Singers, lawyers and ministers, try Hyam's Pulmonic wafers—25 cents a box. Sold by all Druggists.

Births.

At Peterboro, on Sunday, 30th ult., Mrs. James Lambyer of a Son.

At North Monaghan, on Friday, 29th ult., the wife of Mr. John Fowler of a Son.

Died.

At Peterboro, on last Sabbath, 24th January, Patsy Mooney, infant son of the late Patrick Mooney, aged 1 year and 3 months.

☞ Advices published in the Victoria papers from the British Columbia mines state that the news from those mines was never more exciting, and will probably cause another stampede equal to the Fraser River excitement of 1859.

TORONTO MARKETS.

Tuesday, December 3, 1861.

Fall Wheat 95c a $1 00.
Spring Wheat 88c a 90c.
Barley 44c a 46c.
Oats 28c a 30c.

Peterboro' Markets.

Thursday, December 5, 1861.

	$ c.		$ c.
Flour ₱ bbl	4 50	@	5 00
Wheat ₱ bush. fall	0 95	@	1 00
Spring Wheat ₱ bush	0 80	@	0 85
Barley ₱ bush	0 35	@	0 45
Oats "	0 20	@	0 23
Peas "	0 35	@	0 40
Potatoes	0 20	@	0 25
Pork ₱ cwt	3 50	@	4 00
Beef ₱ cwt	3 00	@	4 00
Butter ₱ lb	0 10	@	0 12
Hay ₱ ton	7 00	@	80 00
Hides ₱ cwt	4 00	@	5 00
Wood ₱ per cord	2 00	@	2 50

WM. CUMMING,
Market Clerk.

New Advertisements.

NOTICE.

DR. D. PENTLAND.

BEGS to tender his sincere thanks to his friends and the public for the support extended to him during the last 3 years, and begs to intimate that he has formed a co-partnership with Dr. F. G. Callender, and will ever be happy to meet his customers and the public at our rooms, over the Fur Store, Scott's Buildings, Corners of George and Simcoe Streets

Peterboro, Dec. 3, 1861. 49

NOTICE.

Dr. F. G. CALLENDER,

WITH great pleasure returns his sincere thanks to his numerous patrons in Peterboro' and vicinity for the liberal support he has received during the last 15 years, and would also state that he has entered into Partnership with Dr. D. Pentland, and trusts that by strict attention to business will merit a continuance of the favor.

Rooms in Scott's Block,—at his old stand.

Peterboro, Dec. 4, 1861. 49

DENTAL SURGERY.

Drs. Callender & Pentland,
DENTISTS,

HAVING many years experience, feel confident in their ability to merit the approbation of all who may favor them with their patronage.

Having by their united efforts increased their facilities in the Mechanical Department, are prepared to furnish

ARTIFICIAL TEETH
IN THE MOST PERFECT STYLE,
AT VERY LOW PRICES!

☞ TEETH FILLED in a most careful and effectual manner, and WARRANTED.

TEETH EXTRACTED

with the least possible pain. ☞ Particular attention paid to the irregularities of Children's Teeth.

SATISFACTION GIVEN IN ALL CASES!

OFFICE over the Fur Store, Scott's Building Corner of George and Simcoe Streets, Market Block.

N. B.—Also, agents for the most popular makers of Piano-Fortes and Melodeons. Please call and see our instruments before purchasing elsewhere.

Peterboro, Dec. 4, 1861: 49

CAMPBELLS'
CANADIAN ARITHMETIC,
FOR SALE BY
THOS. MENZIES, Bookseller.

FOR SALE.—Choice Teas and Sugars at Reduced Prices. W. CLUXTON.

NOW IS THE TIME
TO BUY
CHEAP GOODS!!

The subscriber has bought a large stock of

Fancy & Staple Dry Goods

at auction in Montreal at about one half their real value, and now offers them for sale at prices that will defy competition.

The Goods saved from the late Fire will be sold at 25 per cent less than first cost!

NOW IS THE TIME TO GET

BARGAINS!

A LARGE STOCK OF
Mens' and Boys' Clothing,

suitable for the winter season on hand. This Clothing is made up on the premises, not imported, Cheap for Cash.

☞ Garments made to order.

An experienced Cutter is employed in connection with the establishment.

The way to secure all these advantages is to buy your Dry Goods and Clothing at

R. A. McNABB'S,

Next door North of Alex. Stewart's Tin store, GEORGE STREET, PETERBORO'.

Dec. 4th, 1861. 49-3m.

ALBUMS! GIFT BOOKS,
&c., &c., &c.,
FOR THE HOLIDAYS!

A Choice Assortment.

THE subscriber would call the attention of the public to his large assortment of

STATIONERY, BOOKS, &C.,
SUITABLE FOR
CHRISTMAS and NEW-YEAR'S PRESENTS.

THOS. MENZIES, Bookseller.

Peterboro', Dec 3rd, 1861. 49

DENTISTRY!

John O'Donnell, Dentist,

WILL be at Drummond's Hotel, Keene, on Tuesday, December 10th, 1861, for a few days only.

SHOE-CLOSING!

THE subscriber is prepared to receive work in Shoe-Closing of all descriptions.

WM. DUMBLE.

Queen Hotel Mill, one door above the Union School Room.

Peterboro, Dec 4, 1861. 49

DOWN CELEBRATED

PALE INDIA ALE,

IN WOOD AND BOTTLE.

COOLEY & HOOD.

Peterboro, Dec. 4, 1861. 49

NOTICE.

I HEREBY forbid any persons entrusting a harbour or credit my wife, Cecilia McRae, on my account, as I will not be responsible for any debt incurred by her after this date.

JOHN MCRAE.

Dated, Nov. 25, 1861. 49-3m.

CASH SYSTEM!

MONEY SAVED! GOOD VALUE GIVEN!

☞ Nothing added to the price of Goods to make up for bad debts, and only one price!

W. CLUXTON,

KEEPS constantly on hand a very large and complete stock of

DRY GOODS,

in all the departments. Also

TEAS, SUGARS,

and other articles in the Grocery line, with the exception of Liquors, very CHEAP. Persons requiring Winter supplies of

CLOTHS,
BLANKETS,
CLOTHING,
COTTON GOODS,
Ladies' MANTLES,

Ladies' Bonnets and Dress Caps,

RICH ARTICLES IN

MILLINERY & FANCY GOODS!

will do well to make their purchases from the subscriber.

☞ First-rate Milliners, Cloak and Mantle-makers in attendance.

Also, a first-class Cutter and Tailors on the premises.

Orders in these departments executed with despatch and in the newest and most fashionable styles.

A heavy supply of Cloths, Trowserings and Tweeds of European and Canadian manufacture

AT VERY LOW PRICES!

W. CLUXTON.

Peterboro, Nov. 28th, 1861. 49

MUSIC BOOKS.

ON hand, a large stock of the new "Lute of Zion," Browns Robertson's Sacred Harmony, Music Books, &c., for sale at Reduced Prices to Singing Schools and Teachers.

THOS. MENZIES, Bookseller.

TIMBER FOR SALE.

LOT No. 4, in the 15th Concession, and east quarter of Lot No. 4, in the 16th Concession of the Township of Harvey. Apply to

JAMES GRIEVES, Commercial Hotel, Bridgenorth.

Any person cutting Timber on the above lots without my leave will be punished according to law.

JAMES GRIEVES, Bridgenorth.

Dec. 3, 1861. 49

SLEIGHS!

ON hand a number of good substantial Sleighs, manufactured of the best Oak With Cast Iron as well as Wrought Shoeing.

☞ Sleigh-runners furnished to order. Sugar Kettles, Bake Kettles, and Mott's Agricultural Furnace.

JAMES HAMILTON,
Opposite Peplow's old Flour Mill.

Peterboro, Nov. 20, 1861. 47

Ferguson & Mitchell,

Beg to call the attention of the public to their well-assorted stock of

SADDLES, HARNESS, WHIPS,
TRUNKS, VALISES, BRUSHES, &c.,
which they will sell
☞ VERY CHEAP FOR CASH.

All orders promptly attended to, and repairing done on the shortest notice. A call is respectfully solicited. Shop on Hunter Street, Peterborough.

FOR SALE.

A TAVERN STAND,

SITUATED on Elizabeth St., Ashburnham, front of Mr. Rogers' Mill. The building is at present used for a dwelling house and furniture rooms. It would make a good stand for a Grocery and Bakery. The lease of the above has eleven years to run, and will be sold very reasonable for money. For particulars apply to

E. BURLEY,
On the premises.

Aug. 28, 1861. 35

NOTICE.

THE Court of Revision for the Township of North Monaghan, will meet at the Town Hall, on TUESDAY, DEC. 10th, at 10 o'clock, a. m., for the purpose of determining the value three assessment of the lots through which the drain now constructed in the Township passes. A statement of the amounts as fixed by the engineer is now at the Town Hall, where it can be seen at any time until day of the sitting of the Court.

WM. WOOD,
Township Clerk.

N. Monaghan, Nov 16, 1861.

REMOVAL!

HOPKINS & DONNELLY
WILL,
On or about December 5th,
REMOVE TO THEIR
NEW BUILDING,
☞ Opposite Messrs. Nisbett's & Hall's store, Simcoe Street, where they will continue the SADDLERY and HARNESS BUSINESS
AS AT PRESENT.

Peterborough, Nov. 27th, 1861. 48

NOTICE.

TO SCHOOL TRUSTEES.

JAMES MEANY, School Teacher, First class certificate, is ready to engage for the year 1862. Any communication to himself, or left with his daughter, Miss Meany, Peterboro, will meet immediate attention.

Emily, S. S. No. 7, Nov. 19th, 1861.

NOTICE.

PERSONS ordering Oatmeal from the subscriber will please to have the money for the same, and packs to contain the meal, otherwise the orders will not be filled.

OATMEAL WILL BE DELIVERED IN TOWN PUNCTUALLY,

On Tuesdays and Fridays,

BUT ON NO OTHER DAYS.

PETER DOLPHIN.

Peterboro, Nov. 27, 1861. 48

COLLECTOR'S NOTICE.

RATE-PAYERS whose taxes have not yet been paid, will please take notice that the Collector may be found at the office of J. T. Hawthorn, Esq., over Hamilton's Hardware Store, Hunter Street, every day (Sunday excepted) between the hours of 10 a. m., and 4 p. m.

☞ Notice is also hereby given, that unless taxes are paid forthwith to the Collector, suits will be issued in every case.

J. A. HARTLEY,
Collector.

PETERBOROUGH
BOOM PAPER DEPOT.

NEWEST AND CHOICEST PATTERNS.

ROBERT STEVENSON,
(Sherbrooke Street,—nearly opposite the Huffman House,) offers his large stock of

PAPER-HANGINGS,
DECORATIONS,
BORDERS,
WINDOW-BLINDS,
&c, &c., &c.,

COMPRISING

OVER 20,000 Pieces!

at a Great Reduction from the usual trade prices, for Cash.

HIS STOCK OF

PAINT BRUSHES,

Varnishes,
Oils,
Paints,
Window Glass,
Curtain Fixtures,
&c., &c., &c.

IS ALSO LARGE, GOOD AND CHEAP.

☞ Window Glass cut to order.

Peterboro, Nov. 19, 1861. 47

VALUABLE
TOWN PROPERTY
FOR SALE.

THE comfortable Brick Houses near the business part of the Town.

THE Subscriber offers for sale those two neat and substantial built Brick Houses on Antrim street, one lot from George street. The houses are fitted up with every convenience; the partition walls are all brick. There is a good soft water cistern and spring well, sheds, &c., on the premises.

TERMS—One half cash, the balance in three yearly instalments.

For particulars apply to

DAVID CARLISLE.
On the premises.

Peterboro, Oct 23rd, 1861. 44-3m.

THE LARGEST, CHEAPEST AND THE BEST PLACE TO PURCHASE
READY-MADE CLOTHING
IS AT
HAFFEY'S,
All the Clothing is made on the premises, and warranted!!

Peterborough, Sept. 26, 1861 39

MACLEARS'
ALMANACS FOR 1862.

THE subscriber begs leave to inform the public that he has received all his fall stock of

BOOKS,
STATIONERY and ROOM PAPER,
AND WILL SELL
CHEAP FOR CASH!
as the times are hard.

THOMAS MENZIES.

Peterboro', 14th Nov., 1861. 46-3in.

☞ Change in Business!

WM. SMITH,
(LATE CUTTER TO JOHN THOMSON, GEORGE STREET.)

BEGS to inform the public that he has opened in the

TAILORING BUSINESS,

over the late stand occupied by Mr. John Thomson, (now R. Johnston & Son,) who has the trusts to meet a continuance of the patronage hitherto bestowed on the establishment.

ALL KINDS OF WORK MADE TO ORDER.

AS THE
BEST WORKMEN

only will be employed parties may rely on all orders being filled to satisfaction. Prices reasonable.

☞ Entrance by hall between R. Johnston & Son's, and R. Walton's Stove and Tin-ware store.

Peterboro, Oct. 28th, 1861. 41

FISHER'S HOTEL.

FISHER'S OLD STAND.

Corner of George and Simcoe Sts., Peterboro.

WILL be re-opened in a few weeks for the convenience and accomodation of the public. A large Yard with Sheds and Stables in the rear of the Hotel, will be open daily free of charge.

The subscriber most respectfully solicits a continuance of the liberal support he received from his friends and the public before the fire compelled him to suspend business.

☞ A careful Hostler always in attendance.

AMOS. J. FISHER,
Proprietor.

Nov. 18, 1861. 47

ARRIVAL OF
DR. LA'MERT
IN MONTREAL.

DR. LA'MERT of Bedford Square, London, Member of the Royal College of Surgeons of England; Licentiate of the Royal College of Physicians of Edinburgh, &c.; author of "Self-preservation," a Treatise on Nervous and Physical Debility; the "Science of Life, or how to Live;" "Second Life, or Electrical and Nervous Force," begs to intimate to his Patients and the Public that he has arrived in Quebec, on a Professional Visit, and that he may be personally consulted [or by letter] until the 10th of December daily, from 10 till 2, and 5 till 8, at 478, Gabriel Street, fronting Little St. James Street, Montreal.

Patients in Western Canada are recommended to place themselves in early communication with Mr. La'Mert, as numerous pressing engagements in England compel him to bring his professional tour in America to a termination in Montreal.

Dr. La'Mert is the only legally-qualified Practitioner on the Medical Register, published by authority, who has been exclusively engaged in the treatment of the Functional Disorders of the Nervous System, and on those various forms of Local and Constitutional Debility which mitigate against the happiness of married life, and prevent the contraction of engagements that constitute the most cherished objects of existence.

Dr. La'Mert has had considerable experience in the use of the Microscope—an instrument of great value, not only on account of the secret wonders it reveals, but likewise for its utility in affording to those experienced in its use, the means of immediately detecting the hidden causes of human suffering, with a view to their speedy removal. Patients residing at a distance can have their cases diagnosed, and a mode of treatment suggested, by forwarding the consultation fee of £1.

☞ In making this announcement, Dr. La'Mert wishes to guard not to patients the advantages that invariably result from a personal interview, and the unusual facilities that will be afforded to those who are desirous of bringing their cases under his immediate supervision. Dr. La'Mert, moreover cannot too strongly urge on those who have already been under his care, or who may come to in correspondence with him, the eligibility of the occasion that will present itself of clearing up any doubts that may have existed in regard to their cases, and would particularly request upon those the importance of putting themselves as speedily as possible into personal communication with him during his necessarily limited sojourn, which under no circumstances can be prolonged beyond the date announced.

Those who have already availed themselves of Dr. La'Mert's services are recommended, in the interim, to procure from one of the Medicine-vendors of local agents his work on contains if well authenticated testimonials of the highest character in corroboration of the statements made in reference to the Doctor's skill and success in the treatment of Nervous and Constitutional Debility, and the various diseases arising from excesses; to prevent unnecessary consultations from unmarried females, and to indicate when consultation is desirable, and when it is unnecessary. Sixteen duodecimo editions have already been published. The work is now corrected with the understanding of an early issue of the twenty-fifth edition, and contains many valuable additions, but does it possess the qualities that constitute the unrivalled popular character of the subject.

SELF-PRESERVATION; WHICH

"Self-Preservation" may be had [in French or English] by a remitted new letter, price One Shilling sterling, of Messrs. R. S. Foster, Bayeux square, Montreal, N.E.; Messrs. Otaske & Co., St. John, N. B. or the Messrs. Otter, Pemberton Street, Quebec; of Mr. Hinde, office, Pemberton Buildings, Q. W.; of Mr. John Langdale, Bookseller, 46 Great St. James St., Montreal, and of T. & R. White, Booksellers, Peterboro.

REDUCED RATES
FOR ASSURANCE.

Scottish Provincial
INSURANCE COMPANY.

THE FOLLOWING TABLE OF PREMIUMS has been framed, so as to reduce the cost of Life Assurance to the lowest point. It will be observed the Rates payable for the first Five Years are not much more than half the usual charge, while, for the remainder of life, they are still moderate.

To Assure £100 sterling, payable at Death, with profits after first five years:

Age.	First 5 Years.	Remainder of Life.
	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
20	0 18 11	1 0 17
25	1 1 9	1 7 2
30	1 5 3	1 14 7
35	1 9 3	2 3 1
40	1 14 5	2 13 10
45	2 0 6	3 4 3
50	2 9 8	4 1 4

Secretary for Canada:—A. Davidson Parker.

JOSEPH B. WALTON,
Agent, Peterboro.

October, 1861. 41

Peterborough, November 7th, 1861.

PARTIES sending their lives now will be entitled to share in the [5 years] profits to be divided on the 31st January, 1862. Loans settled in Canada without referring to Parent Office.

Peterboro' Agency—Corner of George and Simcoe Streets.

JOS. R. WALTON, Agent. 45

FIRE & LIFE ASSURANCE.

SCOTTISH PROVINCIAL ASSURANCE COMPANY,
ESTABLISHED 1825.

CAPITAL...£1,000,000 Stg. | INVESTED IN CANADA...$300,000.

SPECIAL NOTICE—BONUS YEAR.

Canada West Farmers' Mutual and Stock
INSURANCE CO'.

HEAD OFFICE—HAMILTON, C. W.

President—H. J. Lawry, Barton.
Vice-President—T Stock, Waterdown.

HONORARY DIRECTORS.

Asa A. Burnham, Esq., Cobourg, County of Northumberland.
John Harvey, Esq., County of Peterborough.
John Gibb, Esq., County of Victoria.

RICHARD P. STREET,
Secretary & Treas.

JOSEPH R. WALTON,
Agent, Peterboro.

October, 1861. 41

PROVINCIAL
INSURANCE CO',
OF CANADA.
FOR FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE.

ESTABLISHED 1849.

INCORPORATED BY ACT OF PARLIAMENT.

SUBSCRIBED CAPITAL, $1,996,080

Head Office - - - Toronto.

President:—Hon. John Hillyard Cameron.
Vice-President:—J. S. Howard, Esq.

DIRECTORS:

Hon. John Hillyard Cameron,
Hon. George Crawford,
Hon. Malc'm Cameron, M.P.P.,
John Cameron, Esq., M.P.P.,
A. M. Smith, Esq.,
George Duggan, Jr., Esq.,
J. S. Howard, Esq.,
Edward C. Jones, Esq.,
Angus Morrison, Esq., M.P.P.,
Lewis Moffatt, Esq.,
W. L. Perrin, Esq.,

Manager & Secretary:—James Sydney Crocker.
Assistant Secretary:—J. Woodhouse, Esq.,
Inspector of Agencies:—Wm. Blight, Esq.,
Solicitors:—Messrs Duggan & Burns.
Bankers:—The Bank of Toronto.

J. R. WALTON, Agent.
Peterborough.

☞ Fire and Marine Insurance business transacted by this Company at its various Agencies as well as at the Head Office, Toronto, at fair and average terms.

October, 1861. 41

THE PHŒNIX
INSURANCE CO'Y,
OF HARTFORD, CONN.

Capital - - - - - - $500,000.

CHARTER PERPETUAL.

JOSEPH R. WALTON,
Agent.

Peterboro', Oct. 8, 1861. 41

BUFFALO
CLOTHING STORE.

THE subscribers is returning their acknowledgements for the patronage bestowed upon them since they opened their establishment in Peterborough, would respectfully inform the public that they continue to receive constantly and keep on hand the largest and best assorted stock of

Mens' and Boys' Clothing
AND GENTLEMEN'S
FURNISHING GOODS!

ever shown in this neighborhood, consisting of Satinets,

Tweeds,
Broad Cloth,
Cassimeres,
Pilots,
Unions,
Doeskins,
&c., &c., &c.

The Clothing is all made up at their own establishment, in the City of Dublin, by first class workmen, and as they manufacture themselves, they are able to sell a good article at a lower price than any other establishment in the trade.

Country Merchants, and Lumbermen would do well to call and examine their stock before purchasing elsewhere, as they are able to offer superior advantages as wholesale purchasers

☞ The Terms are strictly Cash.

S. HOFELLER & BROS.

Remember the place,—Next door to Mr. Jas. Bent's, George Street.

Peterboro, Oct 17th, 1861: 44

WANTED.

A GOOD STEADY PLOUGHMAN AND General Farm hand may find permanent employment on application to

GEO. HIXON,
Lot 24, 4th Con., Otonabee.

Sept. 12, 1861. 37

NOTICE.

I HEREBY give notice that from this date I will pay no debts contracted by my colored son, Joseph.

CASH WANTED.

R. B. McDOUGALL

Begs to announce that he has just received a nice stock of Staple and Fancy

DRY GOODS,

SUITABLE FOR FALL AND WINTER TRADE.

A very large stock of

OVER AND UNDER COATS,

PANTS, VESTS, HATS, CAPS, &c., &c.,

Which will be sold very cheap for Cash.

THE MILLINERY SHOW ROOM

Is well supplied with the newest styles of Ladies' Mantles and Capes, every style and price of Ladies' Hats and Bonnets.

VELVET BONNETS FOR $1.25 AND UPWARDS.

Millinery made to order.

N. B.—All persons indebted either by Note or Book account are requested to call and settle immediately, otherwise their accounts will be handed over for collection.

R. B. McDOUGALL.

Peterborough, Dec. 4, 1861. 49

STRICKLAND & ROGERS'

FALL STOCK

IS NOW

COMPLETE IN EVERY DEPARTMENT

AND CANNOT BE UNDERSOLD.

Our customers and the public generally are requsted to call and examine, and oblige

S. & R.

Peterborough, October 30, 1861. 44-3in

TEA, SUGAR TOBACCO COFFEE &C.

THE SUBSCRIBERS HAVE JUST RECEIVED A LARGE OFFER FOR SALE

AT THE VERY LOWEST PRICES,

FOR CASH ONLY!

A WELL ASSORTED STOCK OF

TEAS, SUGARS,
TOBACCOES, COFFEE, &c.

Good mixed Tea at 3s. 6d. Per lb.

Coffee, Fresh Ground every morning at 1s. 8d.

A FEW KEGS LOCHFINE HERRING, FISH, FISH OILS, &c.

OGILVY & HOOD.

Peterborough, November 21st, 1861. 47-3in

FOR MONTREAL,
CASH ONLY
CASH STORE,
ONE Price ONLY.
Produce
Hunter Street, Peterboro'.

JOHN CAMPBELL

WOULD take this opportunity of thanking the inhabitants of Peterboro' and surrounding country for past favors, and would beg to intimate that he has received a large addition to his stock, on such favorable terms as enable him to offer goods at such

LOW PRICES

As to convince every one who examines them ☞ That he cannot be beat in the Town.

The following comprise a few of the articles generally in stock:

West of England Broad Cloth, Cassimeres, Tweeds, Satinets, Drills, Denims, Stripped Cottons, Ginghams, Prints, Factory Cotton Jeans, Cobourgs, Red and White Flannel, Cotton Warp, &c.

READY-MADE CLOTHING,

Boots and Shoes, Silk and Felt Hats, &c.

TEAS, TOBACCOES, SUGARS, Soap, Candles, Raisins Currants, Coffee, Rice, and other articles too numerous to mention.

☞ Remember the Spot: Next door to McKellar & Cameron's, Hunter Street.

Peterboro, Aug. 21, 1861. 34

ROYAL

HORSE INFIRMARY.

McDONALD STREET, PETERBORO'

W. KEITH, M. R. C. V. S.

HAVING rented Mr. Perry's Stables, (behind the Grain Store) and having fitted them with loose boxes and stalls, &c., with all the necessaries for an infirmary, for sick and lame Horses, all cases brought there will receive every attention. Horses from the country can have Hay, Oats, &c., and Medicines at so much per day or week. Firing and other operations performed without throwing the animal, thereby avoiding much risk. Horses and Cattle in the country attended to.

W. K. may be consulted any day either at Messrs. John Moffat's, Blacksmith, John Donoghue, Blacksmith, or at Mrs. Stewart's, George Street north, and at the infirmary from 8 to 9 a. m., and 10 to 4 p. m., and from 1 to 7 p. m.

Oct 30th, 1861. 44

CARD OF THANKS.

To Jos. R. Walton, Esq., Peterborough.

Sir,—You will please accept my thanks, and this public acknowledgment, for the promptness with which the amount of my Insurance ($1,000) in the Provincial Insurance Company—for which you are agent—was paid. I can, with confidence, recommend the Company to the support of the public, and I have much pleasure in adding testimony to your reputation as an active and painstaking agent.

CHRISTOPHER LEARY.

North Monaghan, Nov. 12, 1861.

FARM FOR SALE.

THE subscriber offers for sale his Farm, being the half of Lot No. 9, in the Township of Dummer.

60 ACRES ARE CLEARED,

well fenced, and in a good state of cultivation.

THERE IS A

GOOD LOG HOUSE;
AND A
DOUBLE CEDAR BARN, (new,)

and a spring of good Water near the house. A never-failing Creek runs through the farm.

Terms easy.—One-third down; balance in three equal annual instalments.

Apply to E. Chesnutt, Belmont, or to

CHRISTOPHER LEARY,
N. Monaghan.

CAUTION.

I WILL be answerable for no debts contracted in my name from this date, unless by my written order.

ED. O'DONNELL.

Emsmore, Nov 7, 1861. 45

CARD.

TOWNSHIP OF OTONABEE, Oct. 29, 1861.

To Joseph R. Walton, Esq., Agent of the Canada West Farmers' M. & S. Insurance Co.

Dear Sir,—Please express my thanks to the Directors of your Company, for the very liberal and prompt manner in which they have settled my claim against them for the loss sustained by me in the destruction of my Barn and its contents by fire on Monday last. I hope you will make this acknowledgement public, as it is only three days since I notified you of my loss, and only seven days since the occurrence of the fire! Such promptness on the part of the Coy. any must convince all seeking insurance of the advantages to be derived by insuring their property in the C. W. F. M. & S. I. C. of Hamilton.

JOSHUA DAWSON.

Otonabee, Oct 29, 1861. 44

REMOVAL.

R. D. BASKERVILLE,

HAIR-DRESSER AND PERFUMER, Has fitted up with taste and convenience as considerable expense, a Saloon on George St., 2 doors south of Lawson's Hot

HOW TO WASH A WAGON.

There is a way to do everything. Among other things, there is a way to wash a wagon.

There are at least two things desirable in washing a wagon. One is to avoid injuring the paint by scratching or scouring it; the other is to do the work expeditiously.

To succeed in these two points, it is necessary that the wheels be thoroughly soaked. Unfasten the tire and have it ready, while it will of it be thoroughly saturated with water, and will be less likely to injure the paint in the operation.

There is a way to do this. If we were a rag for the purpose, it will take some time to apply water to the whole surface of a waged, while a broom in a bucketful of water to use about a fine wagon. With suitable vessel, syringe, or sponge, apply the water, and in some places dash it on lightly. Pour it on the top of a wheel, and you can soon apply it to the whole of it, and the mud is thoroughly soft now. Then with a sponge or rag, wash the mud off. In washing the wheel, stand first behind it, and wash the right side, turning the wheel as you wash, drawing up and washing the upper side of the spokes. Wash in this way till the whole right side is washed; then stand in front and wash in the same way the right side and upper part of the spokes, and then the whole wheel will be washed. Wagons can be washed in this way expeditiously.

RECORD OF THE REBELLION.

The New York Tribune publishes a record of the engagements and skirmishes in which the Federal troops have participated since the commencement of the rebellion. Running up the losses in each side so far as can be ascertained, and gives the following as the aggregate:—Federals, killed, 1,225; wounded, 2,052; prisoners, 3,789. Rebels, killed, 4,726; wounded, 1,755; prisoners, 3,399. These figures, however, do not include the killed, and wounded of scouring parties, of which there is no official record. The report of the Federal losses is derived from official sources. The losses of the Confederates are derived either from rebel sources or from approximate estimates by the federal officers engaged. Though the above statement cannot therefore be regarded as an entirely reliable one, it is sufficient to show that the loss of life has already been very great.

TEACHING HOGS TO DESTROY THISTLES.

A writer in the Southern Homestead says:—"I will give a method for exterminating thistles which I have tested and found effectual, and which costs nothing. It consists in teaching hogs to eat the roots of the plant. Train on the fruits of a goodly number of the largest plants in the spring, and put on each bud a teaspoonful of salt; then turn your hogs on them. They will eat the roots of the salted plants first, and will thus acquire a fondness for roots, and will continue to eat them daily as long as they can be found. If but one hog be educated in this way, he will lead the whole herd to eat them, and they will exterminate all on the farm."

HOW TO OBTAIN THE GENUINE FLAVOR OF COFFEE.

Knighton's "Foreign Life in Ceylon" furnishes the following hints, derived from long experience, for preparing coffee:—The aroma which resides in the essential oil of the coffee berry is gradually dissipated after roasting, and of course still more so after being ground. In order to enjoy the full flavor in perfection, the berry should pass at once from the roasting-pan to the mill, and thence to the coffee-pot; and again, after having been made, should be mixed, when almost a boiling heat, with the hot milk. It must be very bad coffee, indeed, which, the precautions being followed, will not afford an agreeable and exhilarating drink.

SALT TO SAVE MANURE.

A recent issue of the Gardner's Chronicle gives the following as a preservative of the retaining elements of manure:—

"Dissolve common salt in water, sprinkle the same over your manure heap, and the volatile parts of the ammonia will become fixed salts, from their having united with the muriatic acid of the common salt; and the soda thus liberated from the salt will quickly absorb carbonic acid, forming carbonate of soda; thus you will retain with your manure the ammonia that would otherwise fly away, and you have a new and most important agent introduced, viz., the carbonate of soda, which is a powerful solvent of all vegetable fibre.

OAT STRAW AS FOOD FOR SICK ANIMALS.

"I have often noticed," says Dr. Dodd, "that sick horses will eat oat straw in preference to any other kind of fodder; it is a matter of course, however, some will refuse to eat it. Oat straw contains a large proportion of nutritious matter and some phosphates, and when converted into a sort of bran by means of millstones, is a very nourishing diet. This sort of aliment is useful when combined with ground oats, for animals whose systems lack the requisite amount of phosphates. A milch cow, for example, the subject of prostrating disease, is very much benefitted by food of this kind,

TO PREVENT TOOLS FROM RUSTING.

Thousands of dollars are lost each year by the rusting of plows, hoes, spades, etc. Some of the difficulty prevented by the application of lard and rosin to all steel and iron implements. Take these items as much lard as rosin, and melt them together. This can be applied with a brush or a cloth to all surfaces in danger of rusting, and they can be easily kept bright. If tools are to be laid away for the winter, give them a coating of this, and you will be well repaid. It can be kept for a long time and should always be on hand and ready for use.

A GREAT LESSON.

We are learning at the price of many valuable and cherished lives, by many hundred hearth-stones, by the expenditure of many hundreds of millions of dollars, by the creation of a debt of many years, by the striking of the possibility of many years, that Slavery at least, must be held in check, and that of its ministers and those whom it employs are incapable of again wresting us with calamity, unless we render them altogether powerless of such mischief.—New York Tribune.

THE FOUND!

A Perfect, Absolute, Specific and Cure for

RHEUMATISM & NEURALGIA

has long been desired. After earnest and patient research, this has been triumphantly discovered and is found in

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING!

Watson's Neuralgia King reaches the source of the trouble, and banishes the disease from the system. Unlike the untold number of Liniments and Embrocations which merely stimulate the surface, absorb temporary relief, and leave no trace behind.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING

effectually CURES RHEUMATISM, in all their forms. It is now giving relief to thousands who have been suffering from these diseases, and who have tried all other remedies in vain.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING

has received the highest testimonials from the highest sources in regard to its wonderful efficacy. It operates with equal success in mild and chronic cases, never failing to work out a speedy and permanent cure.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING

costs but one dollar a bottle, and less than a bottle often effects the end desired.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING

is the only Specific and cure for Rheumatism and Neuralgia that has ever been discovered.

Prepared by

A. I. MATHEWS,

Buffalo, N. Y., and Port Erie, C. W.

Sept. 26, 1861, 39

Gutta-Percha Roofing.

No article ever before introduced to the public has equalled the LIQUID GUTTA-PERCHA for coating tin or other roofs, new or old. One gallon, costing $1 50, will thoroughly coat from 200 to 300 feet of roof, and this coating will render the roof perfectly waterproof, and will last three times as long as white lead or other paint. For covering roofs, either new or old we repeat, it has no equal for durability and cheapness, and we offer it to the public fully confident of its intrinsic excellence, and with our warrantee that it will do all we claim for it. Sold in barrels of forty gallons each, at a liberal discount to dealers. Address all orders to

READY ROOFING CO.,

23 Cedar Street, New York.

October 3rd, 1861. 40-1y.

MATHEWS'

VENETIAN LIQUID

HAIR DYE.

THIS DELEBRATED DYE WAS FIRST prepared in 1845; since that time it has been used by thousands, and in no instance has it failed to give perfect satisfaction.

THE VENETIAN DYE

is the cheapest in the world. Its price is only 50 cents, and each bottle contains double the quantity of dye contained in those usually sold for one dollar.

THE VENETIAN DYE

is the safest preparation of the kind. It is warranted not to injure the hair, or the scalp, in the slightest degree.

THE VENETIAN DYE

works with rapidity and certainty. It causes no annoyance or trouble to those who use it.

THE VENETIAN DYE

produces any shade that may be desired—one that will not fade, scorch, nor wash out; one that is as permanent as the hair itself.

THE VENETIAN DYE

does not, in any manner, interfere with the natural softness of the hair; it neither scorches nor dries it.

THE VENETIAN DYE

is the best, cheapest safest, most convenient, most successful, and most permanent Dye ever used.

THE VENETIAN DYE

having gained an extended reputation, the public are cautioned against purchasing any prepared in the same style, under the same or different name, as they are mere imitations, and liable to do injury.

For sale by all agents. Prepared only by

A. I. MATHEWS,

Buffalo, N. Y., and Port Erie, C. W.

Oct 3, 1861. 40

The Great French Remedy!

MADAM BOUTIN'S CELEBRATED SILVER COATED

FEMALE PILLS.

THE ONLY CERTAIN AND SAFE REMEDY for all Uterine Obstructions, Monthly Difficulties, Irregularities, and diseases to which the Woman, Wife and Widow is peculiarly liable. These Pills contain no deleterious ingredients, but are safe and certain in their action.—They will be found to effect the happiest effect in all cases of Nervous Debility in Females, and the most certain cure that can be found. It is on account of this certainty they should not be taken by Married Ladies at certain periods, but at other times their use is perfectly safe.

N. B.—$1 enclosed to any authorized Agent will ensure a package of Pills by return mail.

C. Crosby, General Agent, Fort Erie, C. W.

Buffalo, N. Y.; Lyman, Elliot & Co, Wholesale Agents, Toronto.

Sept. 17, 1862. 39

NO YANKEE HUMBUG!

PROSPECTUS

OF A NEW AND ACCURATE, ILLUSTRATED TOPOGRAPHICAL AND STATISTICAL

Map of Upper Canada,

TOGETHER WITH A

DESCRIPTIVE MAP AND DIRECTORY

Of the Inhabitants of

NIPISSING, MONAGHAN & OTONABEE.

COWLIN, PUSSEY & Co., of Toronto, propose to publish the above work, drawn on a large scale from the most correct and accurate surveys, exhibiting all Post Offices, Money Order Offices, and Telegraph Stations throughout the Province, corrected from the latest Official information also, the various lines of Railway, their way Stations, with the correct distances between each, Canals, Plank and Macadamized Roads, the Steam Navigated Roads, Steamboat Routes, the Lakes, Rivers and Islands of Canada and Toronto, the great Lakes, Rivers, and Steamboat Routes of the United States, showing the Connections with Canada, Railroads, Canals, Plank and Macadamized Roads, and Steamboat Routes, with the Counties, Townships, Cities, Towns, Villages, Rivers, Lakes, Creeks, Islands, Capes, Bays, Harbours, Rapids, Falls, Portages, Mountains, Valleys, Roads, Concessions, Lots, Boundaries, Settlements, Mines, Minerals, Quarries, Forests, Timber, Soil, Surface, Water Power, Mills, Manufactories, Churches, Schools, Hotels, Taverns, Public Buildings, Ferries, Bridges, Light Houses, Harbours, Piers, Docks, Wharves, Steamboat Landings, Depots, Stations

BOOK AND JOB PRINTING ESTABLISHMENT.

EVERY description of Book and Job Printing executed at this Office, in superior style, at low rates.

Pamphlets, Circulars,
Handbills, Funeral Cards,
Invitations, Bill Headings,
Horse Bills, Show Bills,
Concert Bills, Programmes,
Posters, Stage Bills,
Business Cards, Blanks, &c.,

with a great variety of Ornating and Crossing.

☞ Lawyers' Books of every description, Kept constantly on hand.

All orders for Job Printing forwarded to this Office will be punctually and strictly attended to.

The Examiner.

PETERBOROUGH, CANADA WEST, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 12, 1861.

Volume VI.] "THE PEOPLE." [Number 50.

THE "EXAMINER"

Is published every Thursday morning at the office of the undersigned, in

BURNHAM'S BLOCK, GEORGE STREET.

Terms of Subscription—$1.50 per annum payable strictly in advance, $2 when not so paid.

Rates of Advertising.

Six Lines, and under, first insertion	$0 37
Each subsequent insertion	12
Six to ten lines, first insertion	65
Each subsequent insertion	15
Over ten lines, first insertion (per line)	7
Each subsequent insertion, "	2
Business Cards as per agreement.

☞ Advertisements without written instructions will be inserted until forbid. Orders to discontinue must be given in writing.

All communications to the Publisher must be post-paid; otherwise no notice will be taken of them.

JAMES FRENCH,
Publisher and Proprietor.

Business Directory.

JAMES HALL,
SHERIFF. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

Mr. TOOLE,
MANUFACTURER of Sash Blinds, Doors and Mouldings. Every description of Joiner Work done to order. Next door to Martyn's Mills, Peterboro', C. W. 9

J. B. BISBEE,
DEALER in Boots, Shoes & Leather, George Street, Peterborough, C. W. 16

W. CRAWFORD,
GOVERNMENT Land Agent. Office at his residence, Brock Street.

EDMUND S. VINDIN,
COMMISSION, Shipping, Forwarding, and General Agent, Lumber Merchant, &c.—OFFICE—Corner of Walton and Ontario Streets. 13

MR. DENNISTOUN,
BARRISTER at Law, Master Extraordinary in Chancery, Notary Public, &c., Peterborough

Mr. A. T. HEATHFIELD,
PIANIST AND TEACHER OF MUSIC.
COMMUNICATION THROUGH THE POST OFFICE, Peterborough.

JOHNSON'S
FASHIONABLE Hair Dressing and Shaving Saloon in the Building formerly occupied by the Post Office, east of the bridge.
Port Hope, Sept. 20, 1857.

GEORGE MITCHELL,
DEALER in Groceries and Provisions, &c. Cash paid for all kinds of country produce, George Street Peterborough. 15

T. G. HAZLITT,
DEALER in Provisions, Groceries, Crockery and Glass ware, Hunter Street Peterboro.

W. SHERIDAN,
COUNTY Treasurer and Clerk. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

R. STEVENSON,
PAINTER, Paper hanger, &c., &c., Brock Street, Peterborough. 15

GEORGE H. HUGHES,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
SOLICITOR IN CHANCERY,
Conveyancer, &c.
OFFICE in Harvey's Building, next door (north) to Thomson's Store, George St. Peterborough. 12,

GENERAL FIRE AND LIFE INSURANCE COS.
W. OLEXTON, Agent.

W. COULTER, PETERBORO',
DEALER in Genuine Drugs, Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Brushes, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Spices, Cutlery & Sauces, Fancy Soaps, &c., &c. 18

THOMAS MENZIES,
BOOKSELLER, Stationer, &c., &c., &c., &c. Dixon's Exchange Block, George street, Peterborough. 20

A. HARVEY, M. D., CORONER.
RESIDENCE:—Palmer Street, opposite the Railway Depot, Peterboro.
April 1st 1861.

W. H. SCOTT,
BARRISTER AT LAW, Solicitor in Chancery, Notary Public, Conveyancer, &c.
OFFICE:—In Burnham's Block, opposite the Revere Office, Peterborough.
April 11, 1861. 15

A. M'CREA,
PROVINCIAL Licentiate. Physician, Surgeon, &c. Keene.

GEORGE PRINGLE, M. D.
PHYSICIAN, Surgeon, &c., &c., graduate of McGill College, Montreal, having also studied in the hospitals of London and Dublin.
OFFICE AND RESIDENCE.—Brock Street, opposite McGregor's Livery Stable, Peterboro.
April 23, 1861 17

JAMES BEST,
DEALER in Dry Goods, Groceries, Crockery Boots and Shoes, &c., &c., Rowe's Block George Street Peterborough. 18

MR. DUNN,
PRINCIPAL of the Grammar and Union School, will devote a short time each day to private tuition
Peterboro', Jan. 16th, 1861. 3

JAMES W. FITZGERALD
(LATE FITZGERALD & DENNEAU.)
Provincial Land Surveyor.
OFFICE:—In Scott's Chambers, corner George and Simcoe Streets.
Oct. 1, 1861. 41

CABINET-MAKING.
E. POOLE, Cabinet-maker, Upholsterer & Undertaker, Ryan's Block, George Street, Peterboro.

ALEX. McNEIL,
LICENSED AUCTIONEER for the Counties of Peterborough and Victoria, and Township of Cavan and South Monaghan.
OFFICE AND STORE on Water Street, opposite the Custom House, Peterboro.
Nov. 27, 1861. 48

H. IRVINE,
CONVEYANCER.
Office:—In Hall's Block, Hunter Street 2 doors above Ont. & Gilmour's Drug Store.
Peterboro, Nov. 1861. 47

ALBION HOTEL,
MONTREAL,
L. W. BECKER, Proprietor.
IS pleasantly situated at the head of ST. PAUL STREET, amongst the largest wholesale houses in the city. It has (with business men generally, and especially with the best Horsemen of both Provinces) become so great a favorite, that it is now acknowledged to be THE Business Hotel of Montreal. To meet the extensive increase, during the last year in the business of the house, the proprietor has built a large addition. The Dining Room has been extended and made one commodious; there have been completed the new wings a great number of well-ventilated sleeping rooms, and the House throughout has been refitted, and now contains many improvements and conveniences hitherto unknown to the go up. The whole of the hole house, at a great expense, been furnished with NEW SPRING MATTRASSES. The Proprietor expects that by continuing his personal management to the concern, THE ALBION may maintain the least of its, will continue to be, and now is the best finding and best Hotel in Canada.

VALUABLE FARM FOR SALE.

THE subscriber is desirous of disposing of his Farm, south west part of Lot 23, in the 11th Con. Otonabee, only 3 miles from the town of Peterborough, and on the main road leading to Keene, comprising 100 Acres.

60 Acres are Cleared,

and in a good state of cultivation; 14 Acres of Fall Wheat are sown, and part of Fall ploughing is done. A good Frame Rough-cast House, 26 x 30, a Barn, 45 x 26, and a good stable and other out-houses are on the premises.

A GOOD WELL

of spring water stands within a rod of the house, and is easy of access. A good

YOUNG ORCHARD OF 85 TREES,

in good condition, and of the choicest fruits, is on the property.

The Farm is one of the best in the Township, and the situation is very convenient, no better chance for the purchase of a good farm could be offered, and it will be sold at a liberal price.

Title Indisputable.

Apply to the proprietor on the premises,
JAS. WEIR.
Otonabee, Nov. 7 1860. 54

THE LATEST IMPROVED
COAL OIL,
AND COAL OIL LAMPS;
AT REDUCED PRICES.
JOHN McDONELL,
GEORGE STREET.
Jan. 2, 1861. 1.

PORT HOPE & PETERBORO

RAILWAY.

ON and after the 6th of May, 1861, and until further notice, Trains will run as follows:—

GOING NORTH.

Leave Port Hope at	7.20 a. m.
" Millbrook "	9.05 a. m.
" Fraserville "	8.30 a. m.
Arrive at Peterboro' at	9.50 a. m.
GOING SOUTH.
Leave Peterboro' at	2.35 p. m.
" Fraserville "	2.55 p. m.
" Millbrook "	3.30 p. m.
Arrive at Port Hope at	4.65. p. m.

JOHN FOWLER,
Lessee.
Peterboro' January, 18

PORK! PORK!

TO LUMBERMEN AND OTHERS!

200 BARRELS OF CHOICE
MESS PORK!
For Sale Low for Cash.
ROBERT COCHRANE
Butcher at the Market.
Peterboro', Oct. 8, 1861. 4.

THE LARGEST, CHEAPEST AND THE BEST
PLACE TO PURCHASE
READY-MADE CLOTHING
IS AT
HAFFEY'S,
All the Clothing is made on the premises, and warranted!!
Peterborough, Sept. 26, 1861 39

MACLEARS'
ALMANACS FOR 1862.
THE subscriber begs leave to inform the public that he has received all his fall stock of BOOKS,
STATIONERY and
ROOM PAPER,
AND WILL SELL
CHEAP FOR CASH!
as the times are hard.
THOMAS MENZIES.
Peterboro', 14th Nov., 1861. 46-3in.

INFORMATION WANTED.

A DAUGHTER wishes to learn the present whereabouts of her mother, whom she has not seen for the last thirty-five years. Her maiden name was Polly Cook; her first husband's name was Warren Stone. It is said she married in 1840, a person named De Long, who was at that time engaged in some way in the manufacture of silk, in some part of Upper Canada. Any information respecting her will be gratefully received by addressing the subscriber, at 55 Frank Street, Rochester, N. Y.—Canadian papers will confer a favour upon one who has long been deprived of a mother's affections, by giving the above an insertion, entire or in part.

MRS. SEMANTHA JENKINSON.
Rochester, N. Y., 24th May, 1861.

NEXT OF KIN WANTED!

Hundreds of Millions Pounds Sterling
IN CHANCERY, BANK OF ENGLAND, &c., awaiting claimants. A Catalogue of the heirs and names of those to whom letters should be addressed in England, will be sent post free, on receipt of 60 cents in United States' stamps, or two for $1. Old claims must be presented at once. References:—A. K. Hill, Boston; J. Wadsworth, Chief of Police, Haverhille. Address W. W. S. ORBETON & Co., Box 250, Post Office, Boston, Mass. 3

VALUABLE
TOWN PROPERTY
FOR SALE.

THE comfortable Brick Houses near the business part of the Town.

THE Subscriber offers for sale those two neat and substantial built Brick Houses on Antrim street, one lot from George street. The houses are fitted up with every convenience; the partition walls are all brick. There is a good soft water cistern and spring well, sheds, &c., on the premises.

TERMS.—One half cash, the balance in three yearly instalments.

For particulars apply to
DAVID CARLISLE.
On the premises.
Peterboro, Oct 3rd, 1861. 44-3in.

THE CHEAPEST & BEST PLACE TO GET JOB PRINTING done, is at the EXAMINER Office.

Poetry.

THE HAND OF TOIL.

"All labor is noble and holy."

Give the big brown hands of honest men
Hardened and roughened by their toil,
To clasp in mine: men who are not afraid
To lift the heavy sledge—to till the soil,
And drive the fore-plane; true men, who are made
Of stern and solid stuff that will not spoil.

I want no lily fingers, white and fair,
To touch mine with aristocratic grace;
Life is too earnest—these belong to drones,
Who dare not meet their troubles face to face
But leave poor men to pick up all the stones,
And clear the path: such men are out of place

Labor is noble! Bring me working men,
And I will show you hearts as true as steel:
Men, on whose heads the good God loves to shower
His blessings and His peace; hearts that can feel,
And throb with generous instincts hour by hour;
Minds, from whose judgment there is no appeal.

Labor is holy! Christ, the man divine,
Had His allotted work on earth to do;
The Son of God spurned not the callous hand
Of men whose lives were lives of toil: He knew
That each disciple in His chosen band,
From obscure homes, brought noble hearts and true.

Hark! from the workshop and th' embowered mine,
Come cheery songs that vibrate through the skies;
The ringing anvil echoes the glad sound,
The world shouts forth the chorus: "Life's best prize
Is won where humble, honest men have found,
That toil debases not—but glorifies."

All honor to the hard brown Hand of Toil!—
Blessings be on the hairy bosoms of those Whose brawny breasts bear all the storm of life
Yet beat in sympathy for other's woes;
Whose hearts grow purer in the constant strife,
Whose lives are blessed triumphs at their close.

BLACKSTONE, MASS, 1861.

A Strange Narrative.

RESTORATION OF LIFE AFTER EXECUTION.

Some years ago two highwaymen were condemned to death, by hanging. One of them after undergoing the sentence and being carried away apparently inanimate, was afterwards brought to life. The process undertaken for his recovery he afterwards communicated in a letter to a friend, from which we make the following extract:—

"You remember that you, among other friends, had great hopes of my being pardoned on account of my youth; but when their honours sat, I found I soon must be made an example of, as they were determined never to pardon highwaymen. I then began to prepare for death, but must needs say, though I had many affecting conferences with the reverend persons who visited me in gaol, I never, even after my condemnation, realized that I was to die in so awful a manner, until a gentleman, who I afterwards found was a doctor, came and talked privately with the late unhappy sufferer, and my fellow convict, Archibald Taylor, who, when the gentleman was gone, came to me with money in his hand, and so smiling a countenance, that I thought he had received it in charity. But he soon undeceived me, telling me with an air of gaiety, that it was the price of his body, and then added a shocking speech, which I sincerely hope is blotted out of the book of God's remembrance against his poor soul.

"This was the first time since my condemnation that I thought what it was to die. The shock was terrible, and Taylor increased it, saying that the doctor had desired him to bargain with me for my body also. The thought of my bones not being permitted to remain in the grave in peace, and my body, which my poor mother had so often caressed and dandled on her knee, and which had been so pampered by my friends in my better days, being slashed and mangled by the doctors, was too much for me. I had been deaf to the pious exhortations of the priests, but now my concience was awakened, and hell seemed indeed to yawn for me.

"What a night of horror was the next night! When the doctor came in the morning to bargain for my body, I was in a cold sweat; my knees smote together, and my tongue seemed to cleave to the roof of my mouth. He perceived the agony of my soul, and asked me some questions of the state of my mind. I found utterance, and poured out my heart to him. He seemed affected at my distress, especially as my conduct was so different from that of Taylor; and after pausing, he left me without mentioning the sale of my body, and said he would call again the next day. He came and asked me whether I had two or three friends I could depend upon to assist in anything for my benefit. He communicated his design of attempting to recover me to life if my body could be carried, immediately after I was cut down, to some convenient place, out of the reach of the people, assuring me by all that was sacred, that if he failed in his attempt he would give my body a Christian burial. I closed with it without hesitation. The doctor then left me, and soon after Tector and O'Donnell came to see me, to whom I communicated the plan in confidence. The doctor came back to charge me not to trust more persons than were sufficient to carry my body from the gallows to the place provided. I told him who the persons were; and upon O'Donnell's engaging to procure a number of his countrymen to remove my body to a private place, who were not to be let into the secret but suppose it was to secure my body from the doctors, he seemed pleased with the plan, and made us promise to admit no more persons into the secret, upon pain of his not having to do the affair so soon as it should be discovered. He gave them money to hire a small boat to be in readiness at the wharf, nearest to the place of execution, which boat I think was hired of one Mr. Skinner or Skilling, near Oliver's dock. The doctor undertook to find the place of execution, which was then reported to be in several places, and to prepare a two-mast boat, with a good cuddy, which was to be moored off the wharf at a convenient distance, all which was accordingly done. The two-mast boat in which was the doctor, his friend and apprentice, with their doctor's instruments, was moored up the bay, near the gallows, the morning of the execution day, but fell down with the tide, about two hours before the execution, towards Dorchester Point, for fear of being grounded.

"The state of my mind, after the conversation with the doctor until the day of execution, it is impossible for me to describe. This glimpse of hope—this mere chance of escaping the jaws of death, and of avoiding the eyes of an offended Judge, at whose bar I was nowayes prepared to appear, seemed but to render my mind more distracted. I sometimes indulged myself with the thoughts of being recovered to life; and as I had fortunately concealed my real name, that I might return like the Prodigal to my parents, and live a life devoted to God and their comfort. But I oftener feared the means might fail to bring me to life, and then I wished that this scheme had never been mentioned, as the hopes of life seemed to prevent my conversion, and then, to be surprised into another world, totally unprepared, how terrible! Thus distracted, the time flew, and the awful day arrived. In the morning the reverend persons visited me. I was much softened by their conversation, and really, at that time, I wished I had never seen the doctor, but by the near and certain approach of death, had been prepared to live in those blissful mansions which are prepared in the world of glory for the truly penitent.

Soon after they left us, the doctor's young man came (under the pretence of a message from Mrs. Ranger, who had shown me much kindness in gaol, the Lord reward her for it) to renew the doctor's directions how to conduct my body so as not to suffer the least shock. He left me the following paper.

Thursday Morning, May 8th 1789.

"Taylor, everything depends on your presence of mind. Remember that the human machine may be put in tune again if you preserve the spinal muscle from injury and do not dislocate the vertebræ of the neck; as the colli spanis is deduced from the transverse processes of the vertebræ of the throat, and is latterly inserted into the vertebræ of the neck, its connection with the whole human frame is material; so that you must endeavour to work the knot behind your neck, and press your throat upon the halter, which will prevent the neck's breaking, and likewise the compressions of the jugular, and preserve the circulation in some degree. Keep up your spirits."

My hopes were now raised, and my former horror did not return upon me; which I doubt not was observed by the reverend parson who attended me, by the officers of justice, and by the multitude, who doubtless compared my behavior with that of my fellow-sufferer. It is true, when I mounted the stage, I dreaded the pain of hanging as I should any other bodily pain, equally severe; but the far greater distress of meeting an offended, inexorable Judge, and being consigned to endless misery, was done away. For the nearer the time of execution approached, the more my reliance on the doctor increased.

"You were present at the solemn parting with, and warning which was given to the people—at the excellent prayer of the Rev. Mr. Stillman and the dropping of the traps, which to all appearance launched me and my poor, unhappy fellow-prisoner, Arcnibald Taylor, into a boundless eternity.

But to return to my particular feelings—I preserved my presence of mind; and when the halter was fastened, remembered the doctor's directions, and while the prayer was making I kept gently turning my head so as to bring the knot on the back of the neck, nearly as O'Donnell afterwards informed, and as you and others observed.—When the trap fell I had all my senses about me; and though I have no remembrance of hearing any sounds among the people, yet I believe I did not lose my senses till some minutes after. My first feelings after the shock of falling was a violent strangling and oppression for want of breath; this soon gave way to a pain in my eyes, which seemed to be burned by two balls of fire, which seemed to dart on and off like lightning; settling ever and anon upon my shoulders as though they weighed ten hundred tons; and after one terrible flash, in which the two balls seemed to join in one, I sunk away without pain, like one falling to sleep.

What followed after I was turned off you know, as I was informed you kindly assisted my other friends in taking the body down as soon as you were permitted, and conveying it across the salt works to the small boat; I was from thence carried on board the two-mast boat to the doctor, to all appearance dead; for O'Donnell, who was directed by the doctor to cut and loosen my clothes, and rub me, throwing water on me, could perceive no life in me, but told the doctor it was too late. But the doctor was not discouraged, and in an hour and twenty two minutes after I was brought on board the boat, making two hours and forty-three minutes after I was turned off, he perceived signs of life in me, by a small motion and warmth in my bosom. In twenty minutes after I gave a violent deep groan. Here description fails! I cannot describe the intolerable agony of that moment. Ten thousand stranglings are trifling to it! The first confused thoughts that I had were, that it was the moment of my dissolution; for I had no knowledge of my removal from the gallows, but was quite insensible from the time I first lost myself to that in which I recovered except some faint glimmerings of a scene which faint and confused as they were, I shall never forget, but which I feel impressed in my heart I ought to communicate to no mean Being. I was soon after this violent anguish made sensible where I was; the doctor's stuff, and sight of my friends, restored me in a great measure to my senses. The doctor would not allow me to talk much; but feeling fatigued, he permitted me to lie down, having two persons by me to rub me with a brush while I slept. When I awoke it was dark. I felt somewhat light-headed and confused from the dreadful scene I had passed through, All hands were now called, and a solemn oath was taken by all present, not to tell anything which had happened until they should know that I was safe out of the country; and then not to discover the doctor, his friend, or apprentice. I was then put on shore and went from thence on board the vessel which brought me here.

A TIGER STORY.

The following, from the pen of an ensign in the 72d Regiment, appears in the Field:

"I had just arrived at Khandalla, and I met there an old school-fellow, who was going out to shoot pigs, and he asked me to come with him. He lent me a single-barrelled rifle, and we went out about a mile and a half from camp, to a place which was notorious for pigs. It was a deep ravine, with a very high mountain on one side, and a low one on the other, and filled up with dense jungle. My companion placed himself about the middle of the ravine, and I took up my position near to the end, where the ravine narrowed. We had below about forty beaters or coolies, who began at the open end, and beat up toward me. They had passed Hyland without anything being seen, but as they neared the spot where I was stationed, I heard a rushing and breaking among the bushes, and naturally expected to see some pigs come out, so I cocked my rifle and brought it up to my shoulder ready, when to my utter amasement, out bounded a tiger; I then did what I have since been told was a very foolish thing. I fired at him with a single barrelled rifle. Luckily the shot struck him through both his fore legs; had I hit him anywhere else he would have charged, and I should have had no chance of escape; as it was, however, he rushed on as well as he could into the small part of the jungle beyond me, and we got him to show himself by making the beaters roll down large stones at him; but he always disappeared again before we had time to fire. At last I watched the exact spot where he went after one of these short appearances, and making a lucky shot, sent a ball through his stomach. Upon this he got up, and with a frightful roar that made my flesh creep, he rushed back to his old haunt, receiving two or three balls in his body as he bounded through the open space between the two jungles. It appeared, however, that he was in no hurry to give up the ghost, for he got back all right to his old lair. We now found, upon calling for our ammunition, that the natives who were carrying it had, through excess of fear, thrown away every bullet we had. We had now no alternative but to ride home for fresh supplies, which we did, after giving the culprits a well-deserved thrashing; and we took advantage of the opportunity of making a late breakfast; having done this, we again started for the scene of action—this time each carrying two rifles and a large hunting knife. Screwing up our pluck we entered the thick of the jungle on foot, and tracked him by his blood.—A native pointed him out to Heyland, who fired at and wounded him; the tiger came after us with a terrific roar, and considering discretion the better part of valour we hastily mounted a tree; this operation was repeated three times, and at last we found him lying on his side, apparently dead. We went up within five yards of him to have a look at him, Heyland firing both barrels at him, about 15 yards off, previously, to make certain of him; but I suppose in his excitement he missed him, as the tiger never moved. When we were about five yards of him, I proposed to give him a shot and make doubly sure; but Heyland said "No, no, you will spoil the skin," and laid hold of my rifle, which I, like a fool, let go, thinking the brute must be dead; but as we were taking another step forward he rose with an awful roar, and sprang after me.—Heyland ran down hill and got off all right; but I ran up hill as hard as I could, and the tiger after me. I had just got up to some coolies who had followed us in our advance, and were now running away as fast as they could, and I heard the beast breathing at my back. What an awful moment was that! I never expected to get out of the scrape alive, so I drew my knife and turned round in desperation to make a useless effort to save myself, when the tiger, changing his mind, leaped upon the back of a native who was running alongside of me, and mauled him most frightfully; but it was his dying effort, and the coolie got off with a mauling which would have killed any European, but did not kill him. I can assure you that I shall in future be a little more cautious about going up to one again before I am quite certain of his being dead."

GENERALS McDOWELL AND BLENCKER.

General McDowell was in front of his tent at Arlington, for he prefers the canvas to the mansion, philosophising, too, under the shade of the fine old tree, while his wife, who had come out from the city to spend the day with her husband, sat knitting inside. Perhaps the world will not care much about either, but the name of the General who commanded at Bull's Run, and who deserved a better fate than to have it associated with defeat, is historical forever, and at all times the steadfast endurance of misfortune has been considered worthy of the respect of higher beings than men. The zeal and warmth with which McDowell assists the young friend and former comrade who has been placed over his head, mark the generous nature of the officer who, rising above a justifiable military jealousy, has achieved a rare conquest over a soldier's nature, and over the innate prejudices of his profession. I have the fullest confidence that the General will justify every expectation which may have been formed of him by his friends when the next battle is to be fought. Here he is now with 12 regiments under him. A few weeks ago he commanded "the Grand Army of the Potomac"; his name was on every one's lips; columns of admiration and praise went up all over the land in his honor. Much is the steady appreciation of the President and the disregard for the petty which mark the Republican mind. But let him get a corps, as it is said he will, and will tap that ready fountain which flows beside the waters of Lethe, and will be covered with its pleasant but frothy showers. As the General is talking there appears through the trees a group of officers more like the military men of Europe in dress and mien than the bulk of volunteers. There is the French kepi, gold lace band, cocked up as to the peak, the neat tight tunic buttoned up, the short hair, trimmed moustache, the long riding boots, bits and spurs, and housings clean and bright. The visitors are General Blencker and Prince Salm Salm, and others of his staff—all Germans to themselves, for Blencker's corps, though it is a sort of Legion Etrangere, is composed principally of people from Dutchland, of whom some 60,000 have taken up arms for the United States.—Russell.

EXTRAORDINARY CAREER OF A YOUNG WOMAN.

At the general quarter sessions for the Lindsey division of the county of Lincoln, held on Friday last, at Kirton-in-Lindsay a young woman, 24 or 25 years of age, was charged with obtaining nine bottles of Medicine and nine packages of powders from Dr Mackinder, of Gainsborough, by means of false pretences. About a fortnight ago, the young woman, whose parents (poor labouring people) live at Dunholme, near Lincoln, went over to Gainsborough on a visit to a poor woman, said to be her aunt, and there she remained a day or two, and then took up her quarters at a low part of the town. Very soon after her arrival, it appears, she commenced a system of hoaxing, and carried it on with great perseverance and much success for several days. Her orders were given on every hand with the most reckless profusion, the articles ordered embracing everything necessary for the complete furnishing of a large house. The tale she told the tradespeople was to the effect that she had taken a house of very large dimensions, and was having it fitted up in first-rate style, preparatory to her entering into the married state with a gentleman of great wealth, named Richardson. The "happy event," it was represented, was to come off at an early day. Of a cabinet maker, named Hind, she ordered articles to the value of £24 18s 3d. To another cabinet maker, named Benson she gave an even still more extensive orders his bill amounting to £34 15s 6d. This account was made out to "Mr George Richardson." She patronised the drapers to a large extent, goods being ordered of Mr Platt to the amount of £12; of Messrs Emerson, Cook, and Co. to the value of £20; and others in the same proportion. The articles embraced silk and satin dresses, and other costly goods. The boot and shoemakers came in for a share of the good fortune, boots of peculiar shapes being ordered of Mr Dowell, Mr Hands, Mr Hardy, Mr Hindmarch, &c. An earthenware dealer, named Chatterton, received a large order. Of a fruiterer, named Fish she ordered a couple of bridecakes. She went to a registry office and represented that she wanted a servant of modest and engaging demeanour, irreproachable character, and good abilities; and, after some difficulty, a girl was got who satisfied her. Of an ironmonger, named Parker, she obtained on one day goods to the amount of £.19 8s 1d, and on another day £.1 11s 6d worth. The latter articles, which she took away with her without paying for, were two brooches, an eye-glass, a silver thimble, two watch keys, a set of studs, two rings, and a purse. In each of the above instances she stated that the goods were to be sent down to her new house on a certain day. The day before the period fixed, however, Parker took the precaution to make sundry inquiries, and the result was the detection of a gigantic imposition. She was then taken into custody, and till the money she was found to possess was a penny. On Thursday last she was charged before the Magistrates at Gainsborough, with obtaining the goods from Parker, the ironmonger, but the case failed, and she was then indicted for obtaining the medicine and powders from Dr Mackinder, on which charge she was committed for trial. She had represented to the doctor that she had lived six years with a Mr Tatam of Harpswell, and was now sent by them for advice and medicine. She was to be cured, she said, if it were possible, and Mrs Tatam did not care about the expense. Mr Tatam swore that he had never seen the young woman before that day, and had never given her nor had his wife, any authority to obtain the medicines in question. It further appeared that she had, on the same false pretences, four teeth extracted! She had likewise gone to Mr Fairchild, surgeon, and got other medicine. It was shown that she was an entire stranger in the town although she had lived a servant to some farmers in the neighbourhood. She was found guilty. A question was raised as to her sanity, but no direct evidence was given on the matter, and she was sentenced to two months' hard labour. We have been informed that the young woman has been carrying on a similar career, although not quite to the same extent, in several other towns in Lincolnshire.

A GENEROUS DOG.

In the exhibition at the Crystal Palace at Paris, there is a portrait of a dog called Mustapha, and this is his story:—Mustapha was the property of a boatman of St. Cloud, known on the river by the nick-name of "Robert the Strong." Times being hard with Robert, he found the lately imposed dog-tax so serious a charge upon his budget that he made up his mind to sell Mustapha. Not the dog, who at the best was of but a small value and at this time a drug upon him, and no bidder could be found, so it was resolved that Mustapha should be drowned. Early one morning Robert set out with him to execute the sentence, and passed into the middle of the Seine. An hour after he had a good passport the man took the precaution to tie a great stone round his neck, and then turning his head away pushed him into the water. But the stone was, after all, not heavy enough to prevent Mustapha from swimming and with painful efforts he attempted to regain the boat. Thereupon Robert pushed at the animal to keep him off, but in the movement lost his balance and fell into the river himself. He speedily disappeared; but Mustapha, breaking with his paws the string which attached the stone to his neck, caught his master by the collar and brought him safely to shore. A gentleman who was riding by while Mustapha was shaking his wet coat, inquired of the spectators of the scene what had happened, and on hearing the story, at once offered ten napoleons for the animal—a proposal which was joyfully accepted. Mustapha was taken to a certain hospital, and speedily cured of his malady; and he now lives in luxury with his master, who is an intimate friend of the painter to whose art the public are indebted for the lineaments of the generous dog.

BE DECIDED.

Two gay and careless young men were walking together one Sabbath evening, and passing a church, they thought they would go in. On entering they found it so much crowded they were compelled to stand by the door. The preacher took for his text, "Mine iniquities have gone over my head as a heavy burden; they are too heavy for me." One of the young men was struck to the heart and felt himself to be a vile sinner in the sight of a holy God, and he resolved by the help of God he would seek the salvation of his soul. His companion observed that he was serious and determined to dissipate his impressions; so, on leaving the church he spoke in a careless, indifferent manner and ridiculed his seriousness. The young man paused, this was the time to make a decision which to choose—heaven or hell, life or death. Turning to the tempter, he said, "We must now understand our position, in regard to each other. I feel myself to be a great sinner, and I am resolved to try to be a Christian and you must let me alone." They parted. One of these young men is now a merchant in the west, prosperous in his worldly affairs, but an infidel, and living without God in the world. The other, who so bravely decided to seek the Lord, is now one of the most useful ministers of the Gospel. Be decided, young men and women; when the Spirit calls, look those in the face who would ridicule you, and bravely say, "You must let me alone, for I will try to be a Christian."—American Messenger.

$80,000 SAVED BY A SHREWD MANŒUVRE.

Before martial law was established in St. Joseph, Mo., a gang of secession outlaws had their eyes upon $80,000 in gold which was in the express office, and were preparing to pounce upon it when the agent in charge of the money adopted a plan to deceive them. It was as follows:—

From the cellar an old trunk, without a lock, and covered with mold, cobwebs and dust was brought forth. From its old clothes inside one of the messengers quickly selected an outfit more compatible with the appearance of the trunk than the one he usually wore. The treasure was then packed snugly inside and an old piece of rope tied carelessly arround it supplied the place of the lock and held the lid securely down. Hurrying down street as fast as he could our messenger, disguised effectually as an anxious clodhopper, secured a drayman and telling him that times were getting rather hot in St. Joseph, he had concluded to go to Elwood, and that he had some baggage at the Express office he would like to have taken over. The drayman went with him, and after a little parleying and begging the Express agent let the trunk go without the payment of a small charge alleged to be upon it, and while the back of the owner was turned made fun to the drayman of his appearance and of his trunk and finally helped the owner to load in, putting off the draymen, who was anxious to help, with —"Never mind, it's no trouble." Walking down the middle of the street, behind the dray, our disguised messenger soon reached the river and in a few minutes more was safely in Elwood. And thus $80,000 in gold, hard gold, passed under the very eyes of the rebels at St. Joseph. Joined by another messenger, equally rough in appearance, a team was hired to bring them to Nebraska City, and from thence they went by stage to Omaha, bringing the same old trunk, with its load of treasure, strapped on behind as if it contained nothing but old clothes."

A MEDICAL COMPLICATION.

Not long since, the Doctor was "called in" to prescribe for my grandmother.—Taking the old lady's wrist between his fingers and requesting her to run out her tongue, he "opened out."

"Ma'am," said he; "the diaphram of your occipital flamingo has united with the diagnosis of your metacarpal lumen nature, which has brought about a multiculous of your opthalmia, thus producing an inflamation of a secondary slogan, and a total collapse of the elementary peribelion belonging to the os-kaso-pan."

"Sakes and mercy on me how did I ketch it so bad?"

"And, Ma'am," continued the doctor, spreading out grandly, "I discover by the superincumbent flatulence of the pulsation in the left lobe of your wrist, a slight fracture of antimony, which must be checked."

"Sak's! will it swell."

"And further, ma'am—there is a large abscess gathering in the lacteal region of your sponsorial carriculum, which has been accumulating in the liquor flange of your ocular system, and spreadin' generally.

"What on 'arth 'll cure me?"

"Well, you must bathe your perineum in hot water, soak your ears in cotton-batting, on which will depend your constitutional weakness and reduce your specific to its natural equivalents. Then take three of these pills every time morning for two days, or until perspiration ensues. It'll scour, or later burst out like an eruption of Mount Vesuvius."

"Corruption of Count Pegasus! What's that?"

"After which rub yourself with the compound carbonate of old gin; take a dose inwardly and then go to bed—ahem."

The doctor coughed again but the old lady never raised her head. She was asleep, and her blackeard pipe lay broken at her feet. The doctor gave one more hem! 'ahem!' buttoned up his coat, pulled on his gloves, and so departed.

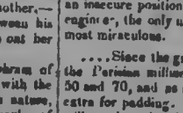
He had talked the old lady into the land of dreams.

A seaman who had escaped one of the recent shipwrecks was asked by a lady how he felt when the waves dashed over him.—He replied: "Wet madam, quite wet."

ASPIRANTS FOR GENTILITY.

Mrs. Plantagenet went into her shell that night with the comfortable feeling that for once in her life she had made a mistake.—She was fagged out, over-worked, and in debt. Oh! the sorrows of gentility! No galley-slave is harder worked than the unfortunate aspirant for gentility! Oh! the sorrows of those miserable people who cannot be content with that station in which it has pleased God to place them; who are always longing to be something else, struggling with the frantic efforts of a drowning man to reach the next round of the ladder; giving their health, their strength, their peace of mind—we had almost said their hope of Heaven—for what? To obtain "standing-room" in a place where they are not wanted, and where they may depend upon it, they will never be allowed to "sit down."—Great Catches, or Grand Matches.

An ingenious cobbler out West, managed to study out a plan for a sign to his shop, to save the expense of painting several letters. It is as follows:—



The sign is characteristic of the proprietor, who is known as a man of very few words, and whose conversation rarely extends beyond monosyllables.

THE SCHOOLMASTER ABROAD.

At the Donegal Assizes the following humorous cross-examination of a witness occasioned much merriment in court:

Mr. Doherty.—What business do you follow?

I am a Schoolmaster.

Did you turn off your scholars, or did they turn you off?

I do not wish to answer irrevelant questions.

Are you a great favorite with your scholars?

Aye, truth am I, a much greater favorite than you are with the public.

Where were you, sir, the night?

This night! said the witness—there is a learned man for you—this night is not come yet; I suppose you mean that night, (here the witness looked at the judge, and winked as if in triumph)

I presume the schoolmaster was abroad that night, doing nothing?

Define nothing, said witness.

Mr. Doherty did not comply; well, said the learned schoolmaster, I will define it,—it is a footless stocking without a leg. (Roars of laughter, in which his lordship joined.)

You may go down, sir.

Faith, I believe you're tired enough of me; but it's my profession to enlighten the public, and if you have any more questions to ask, I will answer them.

A FOUNDRY SWALLOWED UP BY A COAL MINE.

An extraordinary occurrence took place recently at West Bromwich, England.—The engineer at the West Bromwich foundry had scarcely entered the works in the morning when he perceived a peculiar movement in the earth under his feet, and almost instantly ascertained that the land on which the engine and works were placed were about to fall into an abyss created by some old workings in an adjoining coal pit. The man's first impulse was to save himself from impending danger and he had no sooner ran out of the engine house than the earth gave way with a fearful sound, swallowing up in its downward course the steam engine and machinery. A large boiler attached to the engine was left behind among the debris, where it remained for some time in an insecure position. The escape of the engineer, the only man on the premises, was most miraculous.

....Since the great scarcity of cotton, the Parisian milliners have been allowing 50 and 70, and as much as 80 per cent. extra for padding. If the scarcity should still continue, it will be frightful to contemplate upon the thousands and thousands of French beauties that will be pinched by the want of it during the coming winter.—Punch.

....We (Canadian News) learn that the "Anchor" Line of Steamers Co. now running between Glasgow and Quebec and Portland, intend increasing their fleet forthwith so as to run steamers fortnightly in addition, between Liverpool and the two ports on the other side of the Atlantic just named. The prospects of traffic are such as to fully warrant the experiment.

☞ A child of Mr. Allan Lockart, of Bowmanville, three years old, came to his death under most

THE MASON AND SLIDELL CASE.

(From the N. Y. Albion, Nov. 23.)

There can be no greater mistake than for a Briton to fret and fume on this occasion, and swear that his flag has been outraged, simply because the neutral ship of his country has been stopped on the high seas by an American frigate. It must not be forgotten that the rights of war are universally acknowledged, however frequent and long and foolish may have been the squibbling over certain maritime rights in peace.

A belligerent may stop and search any merchant vessel anywhere at sea, on suspicion that the latter may be in whole or in part employed in the enemy's service. The offence lies here in the fact that the Trent is a neutral and bound from any one port to another, having never been on the enemy's coast at all; it consists in the peculiar occupation and character of the ship, which should have exempted her from search and the consequences thereof, so soon as visitation had established what she was and how engaged. For it is to be remarked that this steamer Trent was a mere letter carrier between three or four ports. The omission is of no small importance to the great band of commerce. France, Spain, Denmark, Holland, and all the powers among which the West India Islands are distributed, Mexico, Central America, and the several Continental States that lie facing the South Pacific Ocean—all these are in some degree aggrieved when delay is imposed on their communications. It would perhaps be stretching a point too far to say that this line of steamers is virtually in the service of all these nationalities; yet few will deny that on land and at sea the carriers of mails have been always invested with privileges, greater or less, according to the greater or less advance in the civilization of the people who granted or guaranteed them.

Has every one forgotten how, about thirteen years ago, commerce and "progress" were linked together in peace and congratulations, when it was proclaimed to the world that the two undoubted leaders in commercial enterprise, as in love of liberty, had taken a new step in the right direction? Are we rambling from our subject? You shall see. On the 15th of December, 1848 there was signed in London by Mr. Bancroft, as United States Minister, and Lord Palmerston, as Foreign Secretary, a certain Postal Convention, whereof, Article XX. was expressed in these words:

"In the case of war between the two nations, the mail packets of the two offices shall continue their navigation without impediment until six weeks after a notification shall have been made on the part of either of the two Governments, and delivered to the other, that service is to be discontinued—in which case they shall be permitted to return freely, and under special protection to their respective ports."

Nearly all the American writers who have favored the public with their opinions during the past week having adopted what may be termed the a fortiori view of the case, we commend the above extract to their calm consideration, and beg them to apply it after that fashion. For, if in war time it was deemed desirable that no let or hindrance should be thrown in the way of these quasi-public messengers—if possible enemies that is, bound themselves in the interest of the commercial world at large, to sacrifice the commonest hostile rights—what may be, what ought to be expected in time of peace between friendly people, still standing mutually in the position of allies, though as regards third parties one was a belligerent and the other a neutral?

Singular pains seem to have been taken, in the above clause, to hedge round mail steamers with peculiar jealousy. Up to the moment of their compulsory return to port they were still to be under "special protection." What constitutes, we would ask, special protection and freedom from impediment or molestation? At least these privileges were denied to the British royal mail steamer Trent—her comings and goings being regulated, moreover, by a lieutenant in her Majesty's navy, whose presence on board might be an additional plea for respect. We may told, and there is no denying it, that the postal convention just named was designed for a specific object—lines of steamers running between Great Britain and the United States.

That is true; but the principal remains, and we will not readily believe that the American nation is going to sink itself to the level of Washington politicians, by limiting the application of an agreement voluntarily made for the benefit of commerce at large. A naval officer might also perchance have recollected something of the claims of this class of vessels, for a century has not elapsed since they were permitted to enter and depart from the port of Vera Cruz, then blockaded or invested by an American fleet.

They were "visited," we know, on arrival and on sailing; but they were not considered liable to subsequent "impediment or molestation." It remained for Captain Wilkes to violate a tacit understanding; one that he might have traced back to the absolute agreement cited above, if the temptation of popular applause had not induced him to make a bold stroke for it, and run the risk of being cashiered if his government did not chose to approve.

We have said enough, we think, to justify us in holding Captain Wilkes guilty of a very serious branch of international comity. Whether he has also violated international law jurists must decide. The case is untouched by precedent. We believe ourselves that the Trent is to all intents and purposes a public vessel; but attorneys general, we say, and judges, must decide.

We deny point blank that Messrs Slidell and Mason had any ambassadorial character whatever.

A Confederacy that has no recognized national existence cannot send forth an official representative, whose very status presupposes recognition. To the captain of the Trent these persons could have been no more than ordinary passengers, whatever he may have heard of their errand by common report—for, thank Heaven, we have not retrograded to a passport system—and they were therefore entitled to such protection as an asylum on board his ship as her special character should have secured.

"Oh, but they were bearers of despatches," say the volunteer legists, arguing again on their a fortiori principle. "If the carrying of despatches, according to all authorities, subjects a vessel to forfeiture, of course the bearers must be liable to seizure." The argument is weak; law and practice run the other way. Breakers of blockades and carriers of contraband incur risks—but no personal risks, save the inconvenience of temporary imprisonment. But were these gentlemen bearers of despatches? We know not, and certainly the captain of the Trent had no means of knowing, since it is not the custom on board our ships to search passengers' persons or luggage on embarkation, or to pry into the contents of the mail-bags.

Indeed, so far as the latter is concerned, Messrs Slidell and Mason had no control whatever. Observe, we do not pretend that Messrs Slidell and Mason were not enemies and most flagrant enemies of their captors; but we do pretend that international law does not warrant the seizure, after this fashion, of individuals not designated by public law; and further, that no single word in the Queen's oft-quoted proclamation prohibited the captain of the Trent from taking these individuals on board, all rumor as to their mission or commission to the contrary notwithstanding.

And now, if there be any force in the position we have assumed, the cloud of so-called precedents set forth by our American contemporaries dissolves into thinnest air. We admit the unquestioned rights of belligerents to visit and search neutral merchant ships; the Trent is a public vessel. An enemy's ambassador may unquestionably be stopped upon the sea; Messrs Slidell and Mason are not ambassadors.

Private ships fraudulently carrying despatches (says Sir W. Scott, the word italicised being conveniently omitted just now by all the American commentators) are subject to confiscation; the Trent was not fraudulently carrying despatches, nor was any attempt made to seize her. In addition to this, any right whatever in this case is a war right. When did the United States proclaim war against the south?

They proclaimed a blockade of their own ports, not of an enemy's. They have done nothing whatever officially to convert the Southern Confederates from rebels into foes. Nor can it be pleaded that our government has acknowledged both parties as belligerents. The United States must have done so itself, ere it could lawfully exercise one belligerent's right toward another belligerent, in presence and to the detriment of a neutral.

NEGRO EMANCIPATION IN THE UNITED STATES.

The following memorial is now circulating in the Free States of the American Union:

MEMORIAL OF THE PEOPLE TO CONGRESS.

"Proclaim liberty throughout the land to all the inhabitants thereof."

To the Congress of the United States.

The undersigned citizens of ——— State of ——— respectfully submit,—That as the present formidable rebellion against the general government manifestly finds its root and nourishment in the system of chattel slavery at the South; as the leading conspirators are slaveholders, who constitute an oligarchy avowedly hostile to all free institutions; and as, in the nature of things, no solid peace can be maintained while the cause of this treasonable revolt is permitted to exist, your honorable body is urgently implored to lose no time in enacting, under the war power the total abolition of slavery throughout the country, liberating unconditionally the slaves of all who are rebels, and, while not recognising the right of property in man, allowing for the emancipated slaves of such as are loyal to the government a fair pecuniary award, as a conciliatory measure, and to facilitate an amicable adjustment of difficulties, and thus to bring the war to a speedy and beneficent termination, and indissolubly to unite all sections and all interests of the country upon the enduring basis of universal freedom.

THE "TIMES" TAKEN TO TASK.

From the first the Times allowed itself to become the mouth-piece of the worst passions and prejudices of a narrow section of English society, and this has naturally brought it continually into collision with the public opinion of the country. The English people have no sympathy with rowdyism in any form, English or American, aristocratic or republican. But they have least sympathy of all for that most snobbish, most vulgar, and most criminal rowdyism, which systematically defames and misrepresents a whole nation, in the interests of an aristocratic clique, which exults over the calamity and mocks at the sufferings of a kindred and friendly people, simply because their constitution differs from our own. There is a party in this country who welcomed with sinister delight the prospect of a disruption of the Union, and hailed with open triumph what they called the bursting of the republican bubble. For the North to succeed in the present struggle would of course be fatal to the hopes and predictions of this party. Their sympathies are accordingly with the South, and they support the Southern Confederation as openly as they dare. Our contemporary is unhappily the organ of these views. It declared the Constitution destroyed and the Union hopelessly broken up before the war began. It cannot forgive the North for continuing the contest in defiance of such a prediction. In estimating the conduct of the two parties it invariably reserves its scorn, its vituperation, and its wilful misrepresentations for the North. It has at different times stigmatized the conduct of the North as "groundless," "ruinous," "revolting," "dishonorable," "disgusting," "miserable," "wicked," and the like. Its reverses are magnified, its success made light of, and its prospects painted in the darkest possible colors. The words of the Federal Government are laboriously strained to the most offensive meanings, while both are systematically ascribed to the worst possible motives. But even this is not enough to satisfy the deep and resentful antipathy of our contemporary. The present government and the Northern States which it represents, are made responsible for all the wrongs that have ever been committed in the name of the American people. In an apologetic article yesterday the Times tries to justify its hostility to the North and its avowed hatred of the Federal Government, on the ground of a chronic aversion on the part of the American people toward ourselves. In proof of this hostility it enumerates a series of public acts of a violent or unfriendly nature which have been adopted by successive governments against ourselves. "The hearty sympathy and assistance," says the Times "lent by American citizens to the rebellion of the French Canadians in Lower Canada, the violent language held with regard to the disputed boundary of Oregon, the refusal to allow the right of search, which has almost defeated our well meant efforts to repress the slave trade, and the seizure of the Island of San Juan by an armed force while the dispute as to its ownership was pending between the two governments, have long convinced us that peace between England and the United States is only to be maintained by submission to many violations of the comity and many of the rights of nations. These are, no doubt, instances of a violent, unjust, and aggressive policy. But why they should be triumphantly quoted for the confusion and condemnation of the Northern States, and the existing Federal Government, it is rather difficult to see. Our contemporary knows perfectly well that, with one exception, intelligible without supposing hostility to England all these turbulent and unfriendly measures were forced on when Southern statesmen were in power, and carried into effect by Southern officers. They belong to a time when the offices and emoluments of the State were monopolized by the South, and when the policy of the government naturally reflected the character of its leading representatives. The policy of the modern school of Southern statesmen has always been the same—aggressive, overbearing, filibustering—just what may be expected from a luxurious slaveholding oligarchy. For the last 30 years they have had the government of the United States almost wholly in their hands, and their bullying tone, often insolent, and unscrupulous policy naturally excite[d] alarm against the government, and helped to bring republican institutions into general discredit. All the acts enumerated by our contemporary are the result of this aggressive, filibustering faction. No doubt the American people are responsible for having permitted the acts of the Government. But the whole filibustering policy was at the time strongly disapproved of by the better and more reflecting portion of the Northern States. This strong disapprobation of the Southern policy gradually increased, until at length it was finally condemned in a constitutional way by the vote of the nation at the last Presidental election. The South, however, was true to itself. At the first constitutional check interposed by its monopoly and abuse of the governing power it openly revolted, flew to arms, and has recklessly involved the whole country in a sanguinary war. Yet it is this very policy which the North first condemned by its unanimous vote, and has now taken arms to resist, which the Times quotes in justification of its enmity to the North, and sympathy with the South.—Surely it is impossible for flagrant contradiction and suicidal inconsistency to go much further than this.—Daily News, Nov. 8.

BRITISH AND FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

Precisely how much trouble and distress may be caused in the United Kingdom by stoppage of mills in the eastern island and short crops in the western island cannot yet be estimated; but all authorities agree that though there must be much individual suffering, there can be no danger to the national tranquility. Some American writers seem desirous of spreading the notion that there is to be famine in Ireland, which is to renew the desolation of former years. This cannot be true. The potato crop has failed nowhere more than two-thirds and on the whole not more than a half. This, to be sure, is bad enough, but half a potato crop does not mean starving. The Irish Government is alive to the probable demand upon its energies to meet this new trouble, and will take time by the forelock. Sir Robert Peel, the chief secretary, has no lack of industry or activity, and his worst enemy does not accuse him of want of heart. What man can do, then, with all the resources of a rich Government at his back, we may expect Sir Robert Peel to do. He is already engaged in seeing for himself the nature and condition of the districts most affected by the partial failure of the potato crop; he has an army of officials reporting to him; and when he makes known the result of his investigations, there will be no backwardness on the part of the well-to-do in Ireland and Britain in meeting the emergency. Nor is there anything to prevent foreigners from alleviating Irish distresses, if they think the coming winter will leave them with less calls upon their assistance at their own doors than they can readily meet. Still, it would be in good taste not to be too forward, or men may mistake the motive.

The condition of France is rather less a subject of anxiety than it was a month ago. The deficiency of the harvest is ascertained and in a great measure supplied; the whole thought of Louis Napoleon and his Government may be bent on the actual difficulties of Government—the ways and means. If nations will have great armies, great fleets and magnificent cities, nations must provide the means. And if they spend before they collect their income it is probable they will out-run their means. Individuals and corporations do this so commonly that there is no wonder that Napoleon's Government has depleted the national purse and even fallen rather extravagantly into debt. But the Emperor has the manliness to face his difficulties. He has called to his council an able financer; he is understood to have given him full charge of the revenues and the expenditure of the country, and there is no reason to doubt that such a nation as France can, in a moderate time, relieve herself of the embarrassments in which she now finds herself. We hope that France will find in Great Britain under the treaty of commerce, a customer for much of the fine goods heretofore sent hither; for the loss of the American trade is a great blow to the French manufacturers, which they can only recover by increasing their European trade. Coming as this blow does at a time when the peasantry are distressed with a short harvest, the effect must be severe. The combined evils do not, we rejoice to believe, amount to calamity, and in the end will be found to have answered a useful purpose in fashioning the destinies of the French empire.

LOUIS NAPOLEON AND FRENCH FINANCE.

From the Montreal Herald.

The telegraph to-day brings us an extraordinary announcement from France—one of those unexpected, remarkable, and wise announcements which, from time to time, come from the able man who is at the head of the French nation. Louis Napoleon has run a very wild financial career. He has been very emphatically burning his candle at both ends, and besides has kept a hot fire going to waste the tallow between the extremities. Even the accumulations of modern industry and skill—even the resources of modern finance—even the juggling by which modern accountants make everything pleasant in Railway, Provincial or Imperial balance sheets—could not suffice for the constant drain which has been established on the Imperial exchequer. A continuity of flow equal to that of the widow's cruise of oil could alone keep pace with the demand; but then, that miracle, however steady in its operation, was conducted on a very small scale as to the quantity of the supply.—Louis Napoleon has not only required something always to be in the Treasury, but has required that something to have most magnificent dimensions. He has not only the largest army ever maintained in time of peace by any Prince; but he has it equipped on a scale of such perfection as to render it out of all proportion more costly than any body of armed men ever previously kept on foot. Then his fleet has not only been constantly augmented, but plans have been devised for making the fleet ten times as expensive as ever was fleet before. At present a first-class ship such as the "Warrior" will cost as much as a squadron at the commencement of the century. But both of these expensive armaments of potentates have been insufficient to satisfy the craving for the magnificent and costly pleasures, which have distinguished his reign. Two wars with all their waste of means, have gone on at the same time with an incredible lavishness of expenditure on works usually undertaken only in times when peace gives leisure and affords means for embellishment. Paris has been almost re-built; several of the provincial cities have undergone, or are undergoing, similar improvements; dockyards and other great public works have been either established where there were none before, or rendered much more efficient; all the palaces of the Bourbon Kings have been renovated; and ancient cathedrals and churches everywhere throughout the Empire have been restored to more than original splendour.—But the end has now been reached. The Imperial Treasury acknowledges a deficit of £40,000,000 sterling, or about one year's revenue. New loans have been talked of; but it is probable that the Emperor did not find the money lender too ready to grant fresh advances to so prodigal a borrower. The Emperor seems to have behaved with the boldness which belongs to his character, when he sees that an important step must be taken. He openly admits his past error, and, having concerted with a new Finance Minister a scheme which, it is to be hoped, will be more in accordance with the idea of necessary balance between Dr. and Cr. than some of the previous French Budgets, and less alarming for Europe, he gives up for the future the dangerous power, whose exercise he has found so enticing, and acknowledges that to the Chambers alone should belong the control of the purse.—We hope some of our own financiers will take a lesson from this reform effected by the Emperor. If Mr. Galt will, for the future, spend no money without the previous approbation of Parliament, he will show that a good example is not thrown away upon him.

GOVERNMENT PAP.

Three or four years ago, a number of Catholic gentlemen of the Reform party, feeling the want of an organ to represent the sentiments of themselves and others of their co-religionists who were in opposition to the present Ministry, assisted in establishing the Canadian Freeman in this city. For a lengthened period the Freeman consistently advocated their views, and was faithful in its exposure of corruption in high places. But suddenly, on the very eve of the late general election, its tone underwent a remarkable change. Its editor went over body and bones to the Ministry, and commenced, through the Freeman to attack the policy and the party which he had previously supported, and to vindicate the Government abuses and corruptions which he had been wont unsparingly to denounce. The event caused considerable sensation among those who had admired the stand which the Freeman had taken in public matters; many of his readers threw up the paper in disgust. Had the matter ended here, it might have been supposed that a change, which thus entailed upon the Editor pecuniary loss, must have been the result of a conscientious following of some new light which had dawned upon him. But it soon became apparent that he was no pecuniary loser; his treachery to his party, if it lost him the support of a number of his subscribers, was richly rewarded by his being permitted to receive a fat share of the public plunder. Those to whom he carried over his pen, took care that the loss from a diminished subscription list should be more than made up by his having assigned to him a good place on the roll of departmental stipendiaries. A few weeks after the Freeman deserted its colours, the lion and the unicorn began to appear in his advertising columns. For a time, to save appearances, and that the connection between cause and effect—between Government lucre and political treachery—might not be too conspicuous, the amount of Government patronage was limited; but week by week it has increased, until in the Freeman of Thursday last, out of a little over twelve columns of advertising, we count no fewer than five which are filled with Government advertisements, no doubt ordered to be inserted by the several Departments, and paid for from the people's taxes. And what is the information which the Government pay the Freeman at the rate of 7 cents a line, to make known to its dwindling list of readers? One whole column is taken up with three proclamations, in which, with all the verbiage usual in such documents, it is announced, 1st, that Lord Monck, by Her Majesty's appointment, has assumed the Governor Generalship of British North America; 2nd that the Government have erected a part of the township of Buckingham, in the District of Ottawa, in Lower Canada, into a Roman Catholic parish, under the name of L'Angle Gardien, or the Guardian Angel; and 3rd, that a reward of $200 is offered for the discovery of the person or persons who set fire to a Grist Mill, belonging to Thomas Savage, Esq., in the township of Perce, in the County of Gaspe, Lower Canada! For making these three announcements—the first of a fact, which every one knows, the second of a fact the knowledge of which can benefit no one outside the limits protected by "the Guardian Angel," and the third of a reward for discovering circumstances which no one in Western Canada can know anything about—for making these three announcements, the country will have to pay the Freeman some $20 for the first insertion and a handsome additional sum for each subsequent insertion, as long as it is permitted to form the farce of publishing them. To discover the cause of a fire which occurred in Gaspe, at the extreme east of the Province, the Government might as well offer a reward in the Freeman of Dublin, as in its namesake of Toronto; and for any practical purpose that can be served, they might as well pay the Freeman for announcing in a multitude of words, spread over a quarter of a column, that Victoria is Queen of England, as that Lord Monck is Governor of Canada. But the object being to reward treason, not to communicate information, the Government seem to think that any advertisement takes at random will sufficiently answer the purpose. In the next column the lion and unicorn head three Crown Land advertisements, made to extend over as much space as leading and large type can carry them. The first is an announcement of the new regulations as to the price of lands in Bruce Huron, and other western counties.—The second announces a sale of timber on Indian Reserves, "in the beginning of the month of December, but the places and dates of sale are not given. If the sale takes place in the beginning of December, it will be before the appearance of the next Freeman and the announcement that the sale was to be held, when and where not stated, is only so much information thrown away. The third threatens a re-assumption by the Department of unimproved lots in Proton. In the next column Provincial Secretary Alleyn advertises, at the expense of the Province, the formation of "the Niagara Petroleum Oil Company," and this is followed by an announcement of the Crown Lands offices in certain counties, a fact which has been known to the public for months. In the next column there is an advertisement prohibiting the cutting of timber on Indian Reserves, and in the column which follows that, we find another advertisement about the closing of Crown Land offices. Turning to the fourth page, we are confronted with an official advertisement of the most formidable dimensions, extending through nearly two columns and a half, announcing the decisions of Her Majesty's Imperial Commissioners on points relating to the International Exhibition of 1862. To pay Messrs Derbishire and Desbarats for publishing this wordy document in the Official Gazette was bad enough, but that the country should pay Mr Moylan for publishing it week after week in the Toronto Freeman is an infliction which we certainly ought to be spared. On the same page there are other two long Government advertisements, one from the Receiver General's and the other from the Provincial Secretary's Department. One thing is plain that the Freeman has got its price, and that a handsome one, and has no reason to complain of the Government however its old subscribers and the public may. But surely the people who pay the taxes have good cause to complain that their money should be squandered after so demoralizing a fashion. The public money is spent recklessly in many ways, but never with a more debasing effect, than when it is applied to bribing Opposition journals to swerve from political principle and to gloss over the corruptions of the men in power. It speaks well for the press of Canada, that, in spite of the strong pecuniary temptations held out as a reward for political apostacy, there are so many independent journals throughout the country, which unwaveringly, through good and through evil report, are constant in their unpaid advocacy of the people's rights and the cause of good government.—Globe.

☞ If your property is not Insured,

☞ call and have it it done by the un-

☞ designed who is agent for a number

☞ of the best British and Canadian

☞ Companies, whose business cards will

☞ be found in another part of this

☞ paper.

J. R. WALTON,

Insurance Agent.

OUR CLUB TERMS.

As quite a number of our friends have kindly intimated to us their intentions to canvas in their respective neighborhoods we will state our terms, which will leave excuse for no friend of Reform and good Government for not subscribing for a good Local paper:

Clubs of 10, (each subscriber) per annum,	$1.00
Clubs of 5, do.	1.25
Single copies (as at present),	1.50

For Clubs the cash must be sent with the subscribers' names, in every case.

If our friends will only exert themselves a little the circulation of the EXAMINER can be made double that of any paper published in these United Counties.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Stoves—A. Stewart.
Oats—D. Sutherland.
New Store—Hopkins & Donnelly.
Strayed—Jas. Heal.
Strayed—Stephen Wood.
Notice—Wm. Wood.
Canadian Pain Destroyer.

The Examiner.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 12, 1861.

THE LUMBER TRADE.

In a country like Canada, abounding with wood of all kinds, the lumberman has been used to consider the article be manufactured as inexhaustible. If one region failed another was easy of access, and no particular dread has been anticipated of a scarcity of timber, hence the prodigality and recklessness so often witnessed by lumberers. On the Ottawa some forty years ago it was the practice of the deal manufacturers to cut down only the very choice trees and take away only two or three logs, leaving as many of good serviceable timber to rot. A great many square miles of valuable timber were thus needlessly destroyed. Those early pioneers imagined they would never see a scarcity, and as timber cost them nothing they were certainly very prodigal. No government dues were then exacted, and no law was known to exist but "Shanty law," the definition of which, as expounded by the late Judge Hamilton of the Ottawa District was, that the strongest party kept the timber and the grove. If a crew of lumberers began operations in a place where it suited the views of a stronger party to operate the latter went in, took possession of their timber and drove them out. One had as good a right as another; they were all trespassers alike, but no one sought or dare to bring them to a reckoning. We believe the first stumpage that was paid was in 1825 to private individuals.

In 1824 or '27 Government appointed an agent to collect dues on Crown and Clergy lands, and a year or two later a Government agency was opened in Bytown to collect dues on the timber coming down the Chaudiere. Mr. Russell, the agent by the direction of the Department, made a tour of the Upper Ottawa timber country, and so captivated was he by seeing the immense territory over which was spread timber, that in his report he had this extraordinary passage, "Such is the extent of country over which the red pine is scattered that I have no doubt that the growth of the timber will keep pace with the cutting." Whereas the complaint there is, as everywhere else, that the valuable timber is fast disappearing from our forests.

Let us look for a moment at that part of the Continent of Europe noted for its almost inexhaustible supplies of timber, as described by Mr. Quin in his report to the Commissioners of Crown Lands, to which we referred last week: "From the best information I can obtain, the timber in this country—I refer to Russian Poland—is fast becoming exhausted, and that the value of standing timber is greatly enhanced of late years." In speaking of Memel and another great timber port on the Baltic, he says, "The great timber producing districts are comprised within an area of 27,000 English square miles; a great portion of which has been cut over time after time again. Besides, there is a population within this circuit of from 1,600,000 to 2,000,000, and it is considered one of the best agricultural provinces in the Russian Empire. From these facts I infer that there is a limit to the timber even in this province. The standing timber is gradually becoming scarce and dear." The result of his tour, and of the information received from most reliable sources on the spot, is that the supplies of timber from the heretofore great timber producing countries of Europe are fast becoming less,—that at present from 12 to 15 miles is considered but a short distance to draw timber to the river, while 30 to 40 miles is by no means unusual; besides, having to drive it hundreds of miles by a circuitous route to the market must necessarily tend to increase the price of timber in the British market,—that by a wise and judicious management of our great staple we may at all times realize a handsome return for our valuable forest products.—Mr. Quin—than whom no man living, after his tour through the chief lumber parts in Europe, can give better information relative to our lumbering operations—thus expresses himself:—"I am decidedly of opinion that the only reason which can be given why our timber did not increase in value in the United Kingdom in the same proportion as the Baltic timber has done is mainly due to over-production, as none of the Baltic timber that I have seen can supply the place of our best white pine.—We are, therefore, merely denuding the country of our best timber without benefiting any one. And as the Government is doing all in its power to put the trade in a proper footing, if it succeeds in preventing or curtailing the wholesale destruction of our forests it will have deserved well of its country, as any person seeing the consumption of timber now going on all over Europe, and which is rapidly increasing every year, must come to the conclusion that the day is not far distant when the prices of lumber of all kinds in this Province must be double what they are at present" We sincerely hope that such an opinion and such a conclusion will have their weight with our lumber merchants and lead them to act accordingly.

The information obtained by Mr. Quin is invaluable, and should be universally diffused. Not only does Great Britain and France require imports of timber, but parts heretofore famous for exporting are beginning to import, such as Hamburg and others. The certain prospect of a rise in the value of our pine lumber at no distant date ought to induce our lumber merchants to exercise prudence in their operations. Good prices and a ready sale are as certain to be realised in a few years for Canadian lumber as that those years will roll round. We would say to all, do little and do that little well. Our square pine, oak and elm ought to command the highest and a remunerating price for they are of the best quality, and as for manufacture we can challenge competition.—Our sawed lumber is, even in the middle of a civil war in demand at fair prices, and it is surely no stretch of the imagination to suppose that on the return of peace we may reasonably look for an increased demand at correspondingly increased prices.

It is true we have a large back country but at the rate of the few past years cutting, the timber from large tracts will disappear. We say to all who can, take care of your timber. Every year it is spared adds to its value, and no money out at interest is so profitable as a good grove of timber kept over for a few years. And viewing it in this light we cannot but regard the reverses sustained in the trade though trying to endure in the meantime as likely to result in benefit to all concerned in the lumber business.

Not only will there be a good market and demand for our present mercantile qualities of lumber, but much that we now deem of little utility except for fire wood will be sought after and find its way to the market. There is therefore every inducement to all having timber lands to be careful of them, and not allow the wanton destruction of the mine of wealth thereon.

THE MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.

Monday, 23rd instant, is the day appointed by statute for the nomination of candidates for the office of Mayor. It is only a few days till that time, and we hear of no opposition to the present incumbent, Mr. Perry, who is again understood to be a candidate. He will probably be elected by acclamation

On the whole Mr. Perry's conduct in the Executive seat during the year has been satisfactory, but there are one or two incidents which have occurred in that time that call for attention at the present. We will state them, rather as friendly advice than public censure.

While no man should be trammeled in his political views, as an individual, when assuming an office at the hands of the ratepayers, there is a point beyond which personal interference in party politics loses its personal character and becomes the act of a public officer. We think men of all shades of opinions will join with us in denouncing the mixing up of party politics with the Municipal elections. At the contest when Mr. Perry was elected, party and party feeling were not thought of. The question was merely one of fitness for the office.—We supported Mr. Perry to the extent of our humble ability at that time. We thought he was infinitely superior to either of the other two candidates;—time has only strengthened our conviction.

Having, then, had something to do with his elevation to the office we feel a certain right to speak of his conduct in that office,

Much ill-feeling was occasioned amongst a large class of the rate-payers,—many of them the best supporters of Mr. Perry—at his partizan movements in the County election. In that case the influence of the individual as well as the office (for they are inseparable) went very decidedly upon one side; and at the election held soon afterward, when a party victory was won, and our Mayor was on the side of the victors, his conduct was not commendable. A flag provokingly raised over the public property of the Town, in honor of a defeat to many of those who had large interest in that property, was construed to be an insult. We do not believe it was intended as such.—Mr. Perry may have been, like many others, carried away by his feelings on the occasion, but that does not palliate the offence much; the Chief Magistrate of a Town should ever be at his post, prepared to deal out, even-handedly, justice to all parties.

Having mentioned those circumstances, and presented them in a light perhaps not seen in before by his Worship, we trust his good sense will lead him to avoid such disagreeable affairs in future.

Aside from those things we have pointed out we cannot but admire and praise Mr. Perry's conduct in the Civic chair. As an efficient magistrate, an impartial public officer, and a chairman and councillor, he excels. And he probably owes the fact of his being unopposed at this time, to the public appreciation of his services in the latter respects.

But now that the Mayoralty question may be said to be settled, no time should be lost in selecting a Council fit to manage the Town affairs as they should be. There is an unaccountable apathy among the rate-payers about this matter.—It is even said by some that whoever like to offer for the Council will have no opposition,—the road will be smooth before them. This is not at all as it should be. There never was a time when more care was needed in the management of the Town Finances. The present Council have indeed done much to put things on a straight footing, but if a lot of incapables, or designing intriguers, are elected in their places, what hope can we have of getting out of the meshes former Councils have brought us into.

The Railway question alone should be enough to call for a good Council, pledged to demand a settlement with the Lessees of their liability to us. We do not recommend rash and unreasonable action against Messrs. Covert and Fowler, but surely we have waited long enough, and suffered long enough,—have forborne in fact till forbearance has ceased to be a virtue,—and some determined move should be made to get what is justly our own.

These two facts should be before the eyes of the Ratepayers, viz: Could we get from Fowler and Covert what they owe us by their contract, our taxes should not be more than 1d in the £ next year, and that the lessees are making arrangements (so we are informed) to run two trains a day next summer, so great is the business they expect to do. We say again these facts should be remembered and acted upon by the Rate-payers at once.—Let Ward meetings be called, and Councillors nominated, pledged to accomplish a settlement of the Railroad difficulty.

PETERBOROUGH TEMPERANCE REFORMATION SOCIETY.

According to announcement the Temperance Meeting called for Thursday evening last was held in the Temperance Hall, Lundy's Block. The Society was formally organized by the appointment of the following Officers: President, Rev. J. Gilmour; First Vice President, Rev. John Rogers; Second Vice President, Rev. John Carrol; Secretary, Mr. James Renfrew; Treasurer, Mr. J. M. Dunn. Standing Committee—Messrs. Thomas White, jr., J. Lynch, J. B. Babee, J. Edwards, and D. Pentland. A Committee was appointed to draft the Constitution and By-laws for the governing of the Society.

Thirty-five names were signed to the Total Abstinence Pledge.

The Society adjourned to meet again on Thursday (this) evening, at 7 o'clock, in same place, when a large attendance is expected.

SCHOOL EXAMINATION.

We understand that the semi-annual examination of the pupils of the Union School will take place during the coming week, commencing on Monday. The first four days the examinations will be written; on Friday oral. The public are expected to attend.

ERR.—In advertisement of Township of Monaghan Court of Revision meeting, in our last issue, an error occurred. The day of meeting should have been printed Monday the 16th inst., instead of Tuesday the 10th. The copy from the Township Clerk to us was correct, but in our proof-reading the error was overlooked.

☞ Our respected contributor, C. S. D., sends us a poem in blank verse entitled, "The Tempest." It is, we think, the best yet from his pen. "The Tempest" will appear next week.

THE DEAF, DUMB AND BLIND.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

SIR,—Would you kindly insert a short notice relative to the proceedings and present position of the committee appointed during last winter to further the interests of the Toronto Institution for the Deaf, Dumb and Blind.

The claims of this afflicted class in the midst of us are very great, and yet hitherto have been much neglected.

The committee sent a son and daughter (both deaf mutes) of Widow Baptie to the Institution in April last.

In June, a deputation appointed by the committee waited upon the County Council and solicited aid. The latter kindly placed $150 at the disposal of the committee, which sum has been expended in defraying in part of the expenses of the two Bapties, and also one quarter's charge for a blind boy from Otonabee.

As the annual charge for each pupil is $140, the above grant afforded but a limited assistance.

A collection of $86 was made at the time of Dr. Morris' visit to Peterboro' in March last.

The committee are now indebted to the Institution in the sum of $28.

A deputation has been again appointed to wait upon the County Council at their next meeting to tender the acknowledgements of the committee for the grant of $150.

During the last Session a petition was forwarded to the Legislature, praying for their consideration and aid in this matter.

It is the opinion of many that each County should look after its own cases of Deaf, Dumb and Blind, and levy a special tax for their education. This would be but lightly felt by the whole community, and it is to be hoped that effectual measures may soon be taken to meet claims that all are ready to admit.

I am,
your ob't servant,
F. W. HAULTAIN,
Secretary.

Peterboro, Dec. 4th, 1861.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

SIR,—Could you or any of your readers inform me who are the publishers of the following works on Baptism, where the works may be had, and the prices of the same; Jones' Historical Works, Robinson's Ecclesiastical Researches, lastest edition of Carson on Baptism, and his work on Church Government?

ENQUIRER.

☞ During the storm of Sabbath last the heavy rain that fell in London shocked a quantity of lime, and set some new houses on fire.

TOWN COUNCIL.

Monday, December 9, 1861.

The Council met.

A communication from the Rev. Mr. Gilmour, tendering his thanks to the Council for the use of the Town Hall, and expressing an apology for using it so long, was read and received.

A communication from T. & R. White, in reference to a work they are publishing on the resources, &c., of the County, was read and referred to committee on Finance and Assessment.

A communication from J. E. Baber, in reference to his assessment, was read and received.

A petition from John Burton and others, asking for a side-walk on McDonald Street, was read and received.

An account from F. Armstrong for pails used at a fire, amounting to $6.30, was referred to Committee on Finance and assessment.

The Committee on Finance and Assessment reported recommending the payment of several accounts.

The Mayor mentioned to the Council that his attention had been called to the fact that there are 16 coupons of Railroad Debentures outstanding, which are the property of the Town, payable on the 1st of November, 1858, and the Hon. John Hillyard Cameron, who held the Debentures, promised to return them to the Clerk, that although written to frequently, he has never yet sent them down. The Clerk was instructed to write to Mr. Cameron at once.

An account from Mr. John English was referred to the Fire Committee.

The Council then adjourned till Monday morning next, at 9 o'clock.

DEATH FROM HYDROPHOBIA.

It is with deep regret that we this week record the death of Mr. Samuel Watt, who resided on Lot No. 8, 7th Concession of the Township of Hamilton, from that fearful malady, hydrophobia. Some few weeks ago Mr. Watt observed a small dog caught between the rails of a fence, and unable to extricate itself. Prompted by humane kindness he went to the dog's assistance, and relieved him from his painful situation; but the animal no sooner found himself at liberty than he turned round and bit the hand which relieved him, inflicting a wound a little below the space between the finger and thumb. The wound healed up, and nothing further was thought of it until early on Thursday morning, the 28th ult., when the usual symptoms of hydrophobia manifested themselves. Dr. Goldstone, of this town, was sent for, and did much to relieve the dreadful sufferings of his patient. During the intervals of his convulsions and delirium, his intellect was perfectly rational, and he made and signed his will with perfect knowledge of what he was doing. His illness continued for about forty-eight hours, when death put an end to his dreadful sufferings. Mr. Watt was well known in this town and vicinity, having kept a toll-gate on the Cobourg and Rice Lake Road for a number of years. He leaves a wife and one child.—Cobourg Sentinel.

....The Messrs. Barber Bros. have lately introduced into their establishment at Georgetown, says the Brampton Times, machines for the stamping of room paper by steam. They have no less than 1,400 blocks, of various patterns, for that purpose and are enabled to turn out paper patterns suitable for drawing rooms in a superior style. Hitherto, we understand, they could not be supplied in this country, but that want is supplied, and the Messrs. Barber Bros. are in a position to supply the Canadian public with an article of room paper quite as good, and at a much lower cost than they could be purchased in Paris.

☞ Garibaldi has been elected Grand Master of the Italian Free Masons.

☞ A woman has been committed for trial in London for throwing vitrol in a boy's face.

☞ The effective force of the Spanish army is 271,000 infantry, 23,000 cavalry, and 14,000 artillery.

☞ Lord Palmerstoo recently completed his 77th year. His lordship was born on the 20th of October, 1784.

☞ It is proposed to turn the "Great Eastern" steamship into a bath-house or floating hospital. She is considered too unlucky and unserviceable for the sea.

☞ The Richmond papers acknowledge that the small-pox, typhoid fever, and black measles are making frightful havoc among the rebel troops in Kentucky.

☞ William Morrison, blacksmith, Georgetown, died on Tuesday last, in consequence of injuries received from violently running against a stump the previous evening.

☞ SLAVERY.—A bill has been introduced into Congress to abolish slavery in the District of Columbia

LATEST FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE "NORTH AMERICAN."

Portland, Dec. 6.

The steamship North American from Liverpool on the afternoon of the 21st, and Londonderry on the afternoon of the 22nd ult., arrived here at 8.30 this evening.

The case of the Nashville and of the Harvey Birch attracts great attention.—The Nashville remained at Southampton for repairs. The captain of the Harvey Birch has gone to London to consult with the American Minister.

The crew of the Harvey Birch were vowing vengeance against the crew of the Nashville, as they were placed in irons for refusing to take the oath of allegiance to the Confederate government.

The officers of the Harvey Birch declare she was on soundings when the Nashville bore down on her.

Col. Peyton was on board the Nashville on his mission from North Carolina, and with commander Pegram had gone to London.

Pegram wants the Nashville made into a ship of war at Southampton, but legal difficulties are raised. The question also is raised whether the neutrality proclamation has not been infracted by the landing of the prisoners of war.

It is reported that the Nashville has on board spare officers for the Confederate ships preparing in England.

The Times in alluding to the case points to the recent visit of the James Adger, and says it would be in the interest of England to keep them both out of the harbour, but if this cannot be done, they must both be let in alike.

The Star, although wishing the commander of the Nashville to be punished, says that he can produce a commission from the Confederate States, and the Government must let him go, as they recognized belligerent rights.

The Galway steamer Atlratic is reported to be sold, and is fitting out for the West Indies, but there is a strong impression that she is destined for the Confederate States.

Commissioners Mason and Slidell were expected at Southampton in the steamer La Plata, due on the 29th ult.

It is reported that the James Adger is cruising to intercept the British steamer and capture her, as having contrabands of war on board.

Underwriters were raising war risks on American vessels.

There are no tidings of the North Briton. The Anglo-Saxon is also over due.

Telegrams from Hong Kong, Oct. 13, report tea firm; imported dull. Exchange four to five and a half pence. Shanghai six shillings. Canton was evacuated by the British.

The Italian Parliament has opened.

Ricasoli presented a project for arrangements on the Roman question.

Insurance on the North Briton advanced to thirty guineas; and on the Anglo-Saxon fifty shillings is demanded.

FRANCE.

There is a reduction of from eighty to one hundred thousand men spoken of. The men to return home on furlough for one year.

It is reported that the Minister of Marine declares that he cannot agree to a single centime reduction in his department.

M. Fould will not raise the loan at present.

General Cialdini had arrived at Paris.

The preliminary elections in Prussia were in favor of the liberals.

The utmost activity prevails in the naval department.

The Queen of Spain is again enciente.

TURKEY.

Heavy snows compelled Omar Pasha to go into winter quarters.

SOUTH AMERICA.

The arrival of the French mails confirm the report that the town of Rosario had surrendered to General Mitre without any attempt at defence.

The American Minister had presented his credentials to the government.

Constantinople, Dec. 20.

At the suggestion of Sir Henry Bulwer the Prote informed the foreign representatives of his consent to the union of the principalities during the life of the Prince Consea. There is a general disposition to accept this offer as a final solution of the question. Risa Pacha to accept the government.

Koniah will be exiled to Cyprus. Negotiations were opened between Omar Pasha and the Prince of Montenegro.

There were good prospects of the settlement of the differences between Turkey and Montenegro.

LIVERPOOL MARKETS.

Liverpool, Nov. 21—The weather has been unsettled but milder; yesterday and to-day flour in tolerable good demand: Western Canal at 30s to 31s; Philadelphia and Baltimore 32s to 32s 6d. Wheat met a fair inquiry at steady prices; white mixed per 100 lbs 13s to 14s 6d; red 11s to 13s. Corn.—business was of no great magnitude; white per 480 lbs 36s 6d to 39s; yellow 34s to 34s 6d; mixed 32s 6d to 33s.—Ashes unchanged. Sugar remains quiet. Molasses nothing to report. Consols 92¾ to 92¾.

ARRIVAL OF THE "AFRICA."

New York, Dec. 8.

The steamship Africa arrived at 8 o'clock this p. m., from Queenstown on the afternoon of the 24th. The Europa arrived at Liverpool on the 24th ult.

The Anglo-Saxon arrived at Liverpool on the night of the 22nd, with news of the North Briton.

The affair of the Nashville continued to excite great attention.

The Nashville was still at Southampton, but nothing was done towards repairing her or furnishing supplies.

An important ministerial conference was held at the Admiralty, and it was supposed to be in reference to the Nashville.

The Daily News says it would be monstrous if belligerents, while in a neutral port, were permitted to obtain the means of continuing the war.

The Star points out that there is some distinction in law as well as in feeling, between friendly powers and powers that are acknowledged as belligerents.

The Herald says:—If the Nashville is permitted to receive anything like a warlike armament, England will be departing from her former neutrality. Any aid beyond what is necessary to render the Nashville seaworthy, may well rouse the jealousy of the American Government.

Lord Stanley, in a speech to his constituents, argued that the Federal Government could not act otherwise than they had done, and it is not surprising that Americans took offence at the way in which Englishmen settled their quarrels for them. He thought however, that there would be two Governments sooner or later.

Mr. Layard, in a speech, defended the policy of the British Government, and said he regretted that it was misunderstood in America. He deemed that there was no proof of the breaking down of Democratic institutions.

The bank of France had reduced its rate of discount from 6 to 5 per cent.

Ragusa, Nov. 24.

An official despatch states that Omar Pasha, with eight battalions, defeated 8,000 insurgents near Piria after a four hours' fight.

The Turkish loss was 1,000 killed and wounded. A numerous body of insurgent Montenegrins who intended to invade Kalobaire were repulsed after a bloody fight.

Liverpool, Nov. 24.

Breadstuffs quiet and firm. Provisions inactive.

London, Nov. 24.

Consols closed last evening 94 to 94¼.

ODPYKE ELECTED MAYOR OF NEW YORK.

The New York World says:—

"After a spirited but fairly conducted canvass, Mr. George Opdyke has been elected Mayor of New York for the 2 years ensuing the first of January next. The following is the vote:—

"Opdyke.....25,259
"Gunther.....24,395
"Wood.....23,882

"This result will be a matter of hearty congratulation to-day among all who have the fair fame of this great metropolis at heart. It is as good in its way as a victory over the rebels, for the re-election of Wood, after the sentiments he has recently expressed, would have been discouraging to the friends of the Administration in every part of the country. Fortunately he has been defeated, not only by Mr. Opdyke, but also by his Tammany opponent Mr. Gunther, who has made a surprisingly good run, and who is indebted to his friends for a most energetic and stirring canvass, in the face of sore discouragement, and what was supposed to be certain defeat.—As for Fernando Wood, his course as a politician is ended. He can never recover from this defeat. Every circumstance and accident of the canvass seemed to conspire in his favor, yet he comes out third in the race. His career furnishes a moral that should be heeded by all who aim to be public men. With splendid executive and administrative abilities, inventive, energetic and daring, he has utterly failed as a politician from his utter want of common honesty. His very associates in political intrigues could not trust him, and for some time past he has not had a single person of influence or character to sustain him."

LORD MONCK'S LEVEE.—CARTIER AND JUN A. LOOK "SMALL."

We copy the following from the Cornwall Freeholder's Quebec correspondence of last week:—I reached Quebec in time to be present as a spectator at Lord Monck's Levee. It was held in the Legislative Assembly Hall. His Excellency apparelled in the georgeous gold-bedizened Windsor uniform, and formed the centre of a circle composed of his staff, the members of the Administration in the Civil Service uniform, the Mayor and city councillors, the representatives of the military, and of the Anglecian and Roman Churches, and of the Bench and Bar. His figure was an eminently striking one. Nearest to him, after his A. D. C., Mr Brand, and the fussy Provincial A. D. C., who called out the names of the gentlemen presented to him were Monsieur Cartier and John A. Both of them seemed ill at ease. Cartier in his uniform buttoned up tight round his throat, looked particularly savage. His short-cropped hair appeared more than usually stiff and perpendicular, and his eyes, peering through his spectacles, emitted that glaring, fierce, and terrier-like look which characterizes him so distinctly. John A. stood at his right hand, looking not only very "hard" (for what reason you may guess) but the very picture of discomfort and misery. I have no doubt he would give a good deal to be out of the "fix" in which his position as a minister had placed him on that occasion. Both gentlemen looked exceedingly "small," in the vice regal presence, and I shall be very much out of my reckoning if they have not discovered a master in Lord M. Be this as it may, it is certain that His Lordship keeps his advisers at a very ominous distance; as well as those who may be regarded as their toadies.

HORRIBLE ASSASSINATION ON THE GRAND TRUNK.

An outrageous occurrence took place on the cars between Detroit and Ridgeway (Michigan) on the 24th ult. A gentleman named McDonald, came up to another in the cars, and without saying a word, drew a revolver and fired it three times, killing the man instantly. A Mr. McLeod, of St. Clair, who was present, took hold of the dying man to support him. The murderer then asked Mr. McLeod if he was a friend of the dead man; to which he replied, he was "the friend of any dying man." The stranger threatened to shoot Mr. McLeod also; but on the conductor coming up, and asking why he had shot the other, he laid down the revolver, saying there were three more balls in it; but they could take it and do what they liked with it, as he was satisfied now; adding, that if they took the dead man and him to Canada, they would find out all about it. The murderer seemed quite unconcerned at what he had done; and immediately after took out a cigar and began to smoke as if nothing had occurred. He was committed to the St. Clair county jail.

☞ A correspondent of the Boston Transcript says that when Lieut. Fairfax went on board the Trent to make the arrest of Messrs. Slidell and Mason that a young lady member of Mr. Slidell's family was so disturbed that she lost the sweetness of her temper and flew into a violent rage. She was particularly severe on Lieut. Fairfax. Not content with ralting at him, in good set terms, she actually went so far as to deal him a severe blow in the face.

SLAVERY IN MISSOURI.—It is not only true that divine Providence accomplishes several ends by the same means, but that different means are made by Providence to conspire to the same end. For example, aside from the policy of Freemont and Hunter, notice the following from Missouri.—The St Louis Evening News says:—

"Slavery is vanishing from Missouri more rapidly even than its enemies predicted. Secession has made the state too hot for the institution, and Secessionists are daily leaving the state for the South, with their slaves, to escape the very dangers they themselves madly invited and provoked.

"We argued some months ago that secession or attempted secession in Missouri would overthrow slavery in the state and hurry the institution to its doom. But the Secessionists would not listen to us. They are now verifying our predictions by fleeing with their slaves from the consequences of their own folly."

Special Notices.

Franklin Not Found.—No tidings from the frozen North give hopes of Sir John Franklin's existence. Persons inhabiting a cold climate, or one so changeable as ours, should use Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers—only 25 cents a box—sold by all Druggists, and are good for sore throats, hoarseness and colds.

"The Reciprocity Treaty."—Again rumors reach us that the Reciprocity Treaty is in danger, and we have reason to fear there is some foundation for these statements, but we have every faith in the 'Canadian Pain Destroyer', in cases of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Burns Bruises, &c. Can be had in every City, Town, or Village at 25 cents per bottle.

Died.

In the Township of Smith, on the 1st instant, J. H. A. Lindsor, late Captain H. E. I. C. S., aged 43 years.

He leaves a wife and three children to mourn the loss of an affectionate husband and father.

TORONTO MARKETS.

Monday, December 9, 1861.

Fall Wheat 98c a $1 02.
Spring Wheat 87c a 90c.
Barley 86c a 89c.
Oats 28c a 30c.

MONTREAL MARKETS.

Montreal, Dec. 9.

Flour—firm; sales of No. 1 superfine at $5 10 to $5 15.
Wheat—Upper Canada spring at $1 08, ex cars.
Peas—70 to 72½c per 66 lbs.
Ashes—pots, $6 25 to $6 30; pearls, $6 30 to $6 35.
Dressed Hogs—$4 50 to $5 25.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

New York, Dec. 9.

Flour—without material change; sales 8,000 brls at $5 40 to $5 55 for superfine State; $5 65 to $5 75 for extra State; $5 40 to $5 50 for superfine Western; $5 65 to $5 90 for common to medium extra Western; $5 90 to $5 95 for shipping brands extra Ohio.

Canadian Flour—unchanged; sales 500 brls at $5 45 to $5 50 for Superfine; $5 65 to $7 70, for common to choice.

Rye Flour—steady at $3 50.

Rye—steady at 85 to 86c for State.

Barley—quiet at 70 to 80c for Canadian and Western.

Corn—quiet and very firm; sales 20,000 bushels at 64 to 66c for new mixed Western.

Oats—dull at 44 to 45c for Western, Canadian and State.

Pork—quiet; sales 100 brls at $12 50 to $13 for mess; $8 50 to $9 for prime.

Beef—quiet.

Lard—quiet; sales 100 brls at 8¼ to 9¾.

Butter—selling at 11 to 16c for Ohio; 16 to 23c for State.

Peterboro' Markets.

Thursday, December 12, 1861.

	$	c.		$	c.
Flour ₩ brl	4	50	@	5	00
Wheat ₩ bush. fall	0	85	@	0	95
Spring Wheat ₩ bush	0	80	@	0	85
Barley ₩ bush	0	35	@	0	45
Oats "	0	20	@	0	25
Peas "	0	40	@	0	45
Potatoes	0	20	@	0	25
Pork ₩ cwt	3	50	@	4	00
Beef ₩ cwt	3	00	@	4	00
Butter ₩ lb	0	10	@	0	12
Hay ₩ ton	0	00	@	0	00
Hides ₩ cwt	4	00	@	5	00
Wood ₩ per cord	2	00	@	0	25

WM. CUMMING,
Market Clerk.

New Advertisements.

NOTICE.

THE Court of Revision for the Township of North Monaghan, will meet at the Town Hall, on Monday, December 16th,

AT TEN O'CLOCK, A. M.,

for the purpose of determining the relative assessment of the lots through which the drain now constructed in the Township passes. A statement of the amounts as fixed by the engineer is now at the Town Hall, where it can be seen at any time until day of the sitting of the Court.

WM. WOOD,
Township Clerk.

N. Monaghan, Nov 16, 1861.

OATS!

WANTED at the Cobourg and Peterboro' Railway Station, in Ashburnham,

20,000 BUSHELS OF OATS,

for which the subscriber will pay

The Highest Cash Price!

D. SUTHERLAND.

Ashburnham, Dec. 11, 1861. 50

STRAYED.

A RED 1 YEAR OLD HEIFER,

MARKED on the tip and under side of off ear, and a white mark on outside of each thigh. Any person will be suitably rewarded by returning her to the owner.

STEPHEN WOOD,
Otonabee.

Dec. 10, 1861. 50

AMONG the most important of modern Medical discoveries stands the Canadian Pain Destroyer. As a Family Medicine it is well and favorably known, relieving thousands from pains from Side, Back and Head, Coughs, Colds Sore Throats, Sprains, Bruises, Cramps in the Stomach, Cholera Morbis, Dysentery, Bowel Complaints, Burns, Scalds, Frost bites, &c.—The Canadian Pain Destroyer has now been before the public for a length of time, and wherever used is well liked, never failing in a single instance to give permanent relief when timely used, and we have never known a single instance of dissatisfaction, where the directions have been properly followed, but on the contrary all are delighted with its operations, and speak in the highest terms of its virtues and magical effects.

We speak from experience in this matter, having tested it thoroughly, and therefore those who are suffering from any of the complaints for which it is recommended may depend upon it being a sovereign remedy.

The astonishing efficacy of the Canadian Pain Destroyer, incuring the diseases for which it is recommended, and its wonderful success in subduing the torturing pains of Rheumatism, and in relieving Nervous Affections, entitle it to a high rank in the list of remedies for these complaints. Orders are coming in from Medicine Dealers, in all parts of the Country for further supplies, and each testifying as to the universal satisfaction it gives.

The Canadian Pain Destroyer never fails to give immediate relief. All Medicine dealers keep it. Physicians order and use it; and no family will be without it after once trying it.—Price only 25 cents per bottle All orders should be addressed to Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, C. W.

Sold in Peterboro by Ormond & Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, Wm. Coulter; in Millbrook by Dr. Turner; in Lindsay by C. Britton; and by all Dealers in Medicines. 50

STRAYED.

INTO my premises, 2nd lot, 4th Concession Otonabee, about three weeks ago, a

1 YEAR OLD COLT.

The owner may have the Colt by proving property, and paying expenses.

JAS. HEAL.

Dec. 10, 1861. 50-6w.

New Store! New Stock!

HOPKINS & DONNELLY

HAVING Removed to their New Store on Simcoe Street, opposite Messrs. Nicholls & Hall's Grocery Store and having lately made considerable

ADDITION TO THEIR STOCK

OF

Harness and Saddlery!

will be happy to meet their former customers and the public at their new stand.

☞ Prices MODERATE, and Goods of the best material.

Peterboro, Dec. 12, 1861. 50

FOR SALE.—Choice Teas and Sugars at Reduced Prices. W. CLUXTON.

NOW IS THE TIME

TO BUY

CHEAP GOODS!!

The subscriber has bought a large stock of

Fancy & Staple Dry Goods

at auction in Montreal at about one half their real value, and now offers them for sale at prices that will DEFY COMPETITION.

The Goods saved from the late Fire will be sold at 25 per cent less than first cost!

NOW IS THE TIME TO GET

BARGAINS!

A LARGE STOCK OF

Mens' and Boys' Clothing,

suitable for the winter season on hand. This Clothing is made up on the premises, not imported, Cheap for Cash.

☞ Garments made to order.

An experienced Cutter is employed in connection with the establisment.

The way to secure all these advantages is to buy your Dry Goods and Clothing at

R. A. McNABB'S,

Next door North of Alex. Stewart's Tin store,

GEORGE STREET, PETERBORO'.

Dec. 4th, 1861. 49-3m.

NOTICE.

DR. D. PENTLAND,

BEGS to tender his sincere thanks to his friends and the public for the support extended to him during the last 3 years, and begs to intimate that he has formed a co-partnership with Dr. F. G. Callender, and will ever be happy to meet his customers and the public at our rooms, over the Fur Store, Scott's Buildings, Corners of George and Simcoe Streets

Peterboro, Dec. 3, 1861. 49

NOTICE.

Dr. F. G. CALLENDER,

WITH great pleasure returns his sincere thanks to his numerous patrons in Peterboro' and vicinity for the liberal support he has received during the last 15 years, and would also state that he has entered into Partnership with Dr. D. Pentland, and trusts that by strict attention to business will merit a continuance of the favor.

Rooms in Scott's Block,—at his old stand.

Peterboro, Dec. 4, 1861. 49

DENTAL SURGERY.

Drs. Callender & Pentland,

DENTISTS,

HAVING many years experience, feel confident in their ability to merit the approbation of all who may favor them with their patronage.

Having by their united efforts increased their facilities in the Mechanical Department, are prepared to furnish

ARTIFICIAL TEETH

IN THE MOST PERFECT STYLE,

AT VERY LOW PRICES!

☞ TEETH FILLED in a most careful and effectual manner, and WARRANTED.

TEETH EXTRACTED

with the least possible pain. ☞ Particular attention paid to the irregularities of Children's Teeth.

SATISFACTION GIVEN IN ALL CASES!

OFFICE over the Fur Store, Scott's Building Corner of George and Simcoe Streets, Market Block.

N. B.—Also, agents for the most popular makers of Piano-Fortes and Melodeons. Please call and see our instruments before purchasing elsewhere.

Peterboro, Dec. 4, 1861: 49

ALBUMS! GIFT BOOKS,

&c., &c., &c.,

FOR THE HOLIDAYS!

A Choice Assortment.

THE subscriber would call the attention of the public to his large assortment of

STATIONERY, BOOKS, &C.,

SUITABLE FOR

CHRISTMAS and NEW-YEAR'S PRESENTS.

THOS. MENZIES, Bookseller.

Peterboro', Dec 3rd, 1861. 49

SHOE-CLOSING!

THE subscriber is prepared to receive work in Shoe-Closing of all descriptions.

WM. DUMBLE,

Court House hill, one door above the Union School House.

Peterboro, Dec 4, 1861. 45

DOW'S CELEBRATED

PALE INDIA ALE,

IN WOOD AND BOTTLE.

OGILVY & HOOD.

Peterboro, Dec. 4, 1861. 49

NOTICE.

I HEREBY forbid any person or persons to harbour or credit my wife, Cecilia McRae, on my account, as I will not be responsible for any debt incurred by her after this date.

JOHN McRAE.

Douro, Nov. 30, 1861. 48-3in.

NOTICE.

TO SCHOOL TRUSTEES.

JAMES MEANY, School Teacher, First class of certificate, is ready to engage for the year 1862. Any communds to himself, or left with his daughter, Miss Meany, Peterboro, will meet immediate attention.

Emily, S. S. No. 1, Nov. 16th, 1861.

NOTICE.

PERSONS ordering Oatmeal from the subscriber will please to leave the money for the same, and seeks to contain the meal, otherwise the orders will not be filled.

OATMEAL WILL BE DELIVERED IN TOWN

PUNCTUALLY,

On Tuesdays and Fridays,

NOT ON NO OTHER DAYS.

PETER DOLPHIN.

Peterboro, Nov. 27, 1861. 49

PETERBOROUGH ROOM PAPER DEPOT.

NEWEST AND CHOICEST PATTERNS.

ROBERT STEVENSON,

(Sherbrooke Street,—nearly opposite the Waterman House,) offers his large stock of

PAPER-HANGINGS,
DECORATIONS,
BORDERS,
WINDOW-BLINDS,
&c., &c., &c.,

COMPRISING

OVER 20,000 Pieces!

at a Great Reduction from the usual trade prices, for Cash.

HIS STOCK OF

PAINT BRUSHES,

Varnishes,
Oils,
Paints,
Window Glass,
Curtain Fixtures,
&c., &c., &c.

IS ALSO LARGE, GOOD AND CHEAP.

☞ Window Glass cut to order.

Peterboro, Nov. 19, 1861. 47

CASH SYSTEM!

MONEY SAVED! GOOD VALUE GIVEN!

☞ Nothing added to the price of Goods to make up for bad debts, and only one price!

W. CLUXTON,

KEEPS constantly on hand a very large and complete stock of

DRY GOODS,

in all the departments. Also

TEAS, SUGARS,

and other articles in the Grocery line, with the exception of Liquors, very CHEAP. Persons requiring Winter supplies of

CLOTHS,
BLANKETS,
CLOTHING,
COTTON GOODS,
Ladies' MANTLES,

Ladies' Bonnets and Dress Caps,

RICH ARTICLES IN

MILLINERY & FANCY GOODS!

will do well to make their purchases from the subscriber.

☞ First-rate Milliners, Cloak and Mantlemakers in attendance.

Also, a first-class Cutter and Tailors on the premises.

Orders in these departments executed with despatch and in the newest and most fashionable styles.

A heavy supply of Clothe, Trowsering and Tweeds of European and Canadian manufacture

AT VERY LOW PRICES!

W. CLUXTON.

Peterboro, Nov. 28th, 1861. 49

FARM FOR SALE.

THE subscriber offers for sale his Farm, being East half of Lot No. 2, in the Township of Douro.

80 ACRES ARE CLEARED,

well fenced, and in a good state of cultivation.

THERE IS A

GOOD LOG HOUSE,

AND A

DOUBLE CEDAR BARN, [new,]

and a spring of good Water near the house. A never-failing Creek runs through the farm.

TERMS OF SALE,—One-third down; balance in three equal annual instalments.

Apply to N. Chapman, Baltimore, or to

CHRISTOPHER LEARY,
N. Monaghan.

Nov 7th, 1861.

Ferguson & Mitchell,

Beg to call the attention of the public to their well-assorted stock of

SADDLES, HARNESS, WHIPS,

TRUNKS, VALISES, BRUSHES, &c.,

which they will sell

☞ VERY CHEAP FOR CASH, ☜

or on approved credit.

All orders promptly attended to, and repairing done on the shortest notice. A call is respectfully solicited. Shop on Hunter Street, Peterborough.

TIMBER FOR SALE.

LOT No. 4, in the 15th Concession, and east quarter of Lot No. 4, in the 16th Concession of the Township of Harvey. Apply to

JAMES GRIEVES, Commercial Hotel, Bridgenorth.

Any person cutting Timber on the above lots without my leave will be punished according to law.

JAMES GRIEVES, Bridgenorth.

Dec. 3, 1861. 49

SLEIGHS!

ON hand a number of good substantial Sleighs, manufactured of the best Oak

With Cast Iron as well as Wrought Shoeing.

☞ Sleigh-runners furnished to order.

Sugar Kettles, Bake Kettles, and Mott's Agricultural Furnace.

JAMES HAMILTON,

Opposite Peplow's old Flour Mill.

Peterboro, Nov. 20 1861. 47

FISHER'S HOTEL.

FISHER'S OLD STAND.

Corner of George and Simcoe Sts., Peterboro.

WILL be re-opened in a few weeks for the convenience and accomodation of the public. A large Yard with Sheds and Stables in the rear of the Hotel, will be open daily free of charge.

The subscriber most respectfully solicits a continuance of the liberal support he received from his friends and the public before the fire compelled him to suspend business.

☞ A careful Hostler always in attendance.

AMOS. J. FISHER,
Proprietor.

Nov. 16, 1861. 47

☞ Change in Business!

WM. SMITH,

(LATE CUTTER TO JOHN THOMSON, GEORGE STREET.)

BEGS to inform the public that he has opened in the

TAILORING BUSINESS,

over the late stand occupied by Mr. John Thompson, (now R. Johnston & Son,) where he trusts to meet a continuance of the patronage bitherto bestowed on the establishment.

ALL KINDS OF WORK MADE TO ORDER.

AS THE

BEST WORKMEN

only will be employed parties may rely on all orders being filled to satisfaction. Prices reasonable.

☞ Entrance by hall between R. Johnston & Son's, and R. Walton's Store and Tin-ware store.

Peterboro, Oct. 28th, 1861. 41

REDUCED RATE FOR ASSURANCE.

Scottish Provincial INSURANCE COMPANY.

THE FOLLOWING TABLE OF PREMIUMS has been framed, so as to reduce the cost of Life Assurance to the lowest point. It will be observed the Rates payable for the first Five Years are not much more than HALF the usual charge, while, for the remainder of life, they are still moderate.

To Assure £100 sterling, payable at Death, with profits after first five years:

Age. First 5 Years.	Remainder of Life.
	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
20	0 18 11	1 0 11
25	1 1 9	1 7 2
30	1 5 2	1 14 7
35	1 9 2	2 3 1
40	1 14 5	2 13 10
45	2 0 6	3 4 3
50	2 9 8	3 15 4

Secretary for Canada:—A. Davidson Parker.

JOSEPH R. WALTON,
Agent, Peterboro.

October, 1861. 41

FIRE & LIFE ASSURANCE.

SCOTTISH PROVINCIAL ASSURANCE COMPANY,

ESTABLISHED 1825.

CAPITAL.....£1,000,000 Stg.—INVESTED IN CANADA.....$300,000.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—BONUS YEAR.

PARTIES assuring their lives now will be entitled to share in the profits to be divided on the 31st January, 1862. Losses settled in Canada without reference to Parent Office.

Peterborough Agency.—Corner of George and Simcoe Streets.

JOS. R. WALTON, Agent.

Peterborough, November 7th, 1861. 45

Canada West Farmers' Mutual and Stock INSURANCE CO'.

HEAD OFFICE—HAMILTON, C. W.

President—H. J. Lawry, Barton.
Vice-President—T. Stock, Waterdown.

HONORARY DIRECTORS.

Asa A. Burnham, Esq, Cobourg, County of Northumberland.
John Harvey, Esq., County of Peterborough.
John Gibb, Esq, County of Victoria.

RICHARD P. STREET,
Secretary & Treas.

JOSEPH R. WALTON,
Agent, Peterboro.

October, 1861. 41

PROVINCIAL INSURANCE CO', OF CANADA.

FOR FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE.

ESTABLISHED 1849.

INCORPORATED BY ACT OF PARLIAMENT.

SUBSCRIBED CAPITAL, $1,986,080

Head Office - - - Toronto.

President:—Hon. John Hillyard Cameron.
Vice-President:—J. S. Howard, Esq.

DIRECTORS:

Hon. John Hillyard Cameron,
Hon. George Crawford,
Hon. Malcolm Cameron, M.P.P.,
John Cameron, Esq., M.P.P.,
A. M. Smith, Esq.,
George Duggan, Jr., Esq.,
J. S. Howard, Esq.,
Edward C. Jones, Esq.,
Angus Morrison, Esq., M.P.P.,
Lewis Moffatt, Esq.,
W. L. Perrin, Esq.,

Manager & Secretary:—James Sydney Crocker.
Assistant Secretary:—J. J. Woodhouse, Esq.,
Inspector of Agencies:—Wm. Blight, Esq.,
Solicitors:—Messrs Duggan & Burns.
Bankers:—The Bank of Toronto.

J. R. WALTON, Agent.
Peterborough.

☞ Fire and Marine Insurance business transacted by this Company at its various Agencies as well as at the Head Office, Toronto, at fair and average terms.

October, 1861. 41

BUFFALO CLOTHING STORE.

THE subscribers in returning their acknowledgements for the patronage bestowed upon them since they opened their establishment in Peterborough, would respectfully inform the public that they continue to receive constantly and keep on hand the largest and best assorted stock of

Mens' and Boys' Clothing,

AND GENTLEMEN'S

FURNISHING GOODS!

ever shown in this neighborhood, consisting of

Satinetts,
Tweeds,
Broad Cloth,
Cassimeres,
Pilots,
Unions,
Doeskins,
&c., &c., &c.

The Clothing is all made up at their own establishment, in the City of Buffalo, by first class workmen, and as they manufacture themselves, they are able to sell a good article at a lower price than any other establishment in the trade.

Country Merchants, and Lumberers would do well to call and examine their stock before purchasing elsewhere, as they are able to offer superior advantages to wholesale purchasers

☞ The Terms are strictly CASH.

S. HOFELLER & BROS.

Remember the place,—Next door to Mr. Jas. Best's, George Street.

Peterboro, Oct 17th, 1861. 44

NOTICE.

I HEREBY give notice that from this date I will pay no debts contracted by my second son, JOHN.

GEORGE HOWDEN.

Peterboro, Nov 9, 1861. 46

CARD OF THANKS.

To Jos. R. WALTON, Esq., PETERBOROUGH

SIR,—You will please accept my thanks, and this public acknowledgment, for the promptness with which the amount of my insurance ($1,000) in the Provincial Insurance Company—for which you are agent—was paid. I can, with confidence, recommend the Company to the support of the public, and I have much pleasure in adding testimony to your reputation as an active and painstaking agent.

CHRISTOPHER LEARY.

North Monaghan, Nov. 19, 1861.

MUSIC BOOKS.

ON hand, a large stock of the new "Lute of Eden," Browne Betjemann's Sacred Harmony, Music Books, &c., for sale at Reduced Prices to Singing Schools and Teachers.

THOS. MENZIES, Bookseller.

STOVES! STOVES!

A. STEWART,

In the Stand lately occupied by Mr. H. Morrow, George Street,

HAS RECEIVED A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF

COOKING, BOX & PARLOR STOVES,

OF THE LATEST AND MOST APPROVED PATTERNS!

which will be sold at very Low Prices, for Cash or approved credit. Also,—a very LARGE STOCK OF

TIN, COPPER AND JAPANNED WARES

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL,

At Prices as Low as any house in Canada!

☞ REMEMBER THE PLACE,—George Street, North of Hunter Street.

Peterboro', Dec. 11th, 1861. 50-4in.

CASH WANTED.

R. B. McDOUGALL

Begs to announce that he has just received a nice stock of Staple and Fancy

DRY GOODS,

SUITABLE FOR FALL AND WINTER TRADE.

A very large stock of

OVER AND UNDER COATS,

PANTS, VESTS, HATS, CAPS, &c., &c.,

Which will be sold very cheap for Cash.

THE MILLINERY SHOW ROOM

Is well supplied with the newest styles of Ladies' Mantles and Capes, every style and price of Ladies' Hats and Bonnets.

VELVET BONNETS FOR $1.25 AND UPWARDS.

Millinery made to order.

N. B.—All persons indebted either by Note or Book account are requested to call and settle immediately, otherwise their account will be handed over for collection.

R. B. McDOUGALL.

Peterborough, Dec. 4, 1861. 49

TEA, SUGAR TOBACCO COFFEE &C.

THE SUBSCRIBERS HAVE JUST RECEIVED AND OFFER FOR SALE

AT THE VERY LOWEST PRICES,

FOR CASH ONLY!

A WELL ASSORTED STOCK OF

TEAS, SUGARS,

TOBACCOES, COFFEE, &c.

Good mixed Tea at 3s. 6d. Per lb.

Coffee, Fresh Ground every morning at 1s. 3d.

A FEW KEGS LOCHFINE HERRING, FISH, FISH OILS, &c.

OGILVY & HOOD.

Peterborough, November 21st, 1861. 47-3in.

FOR MONTREAL ONLY

CASH or Produce ONLY:

CASH STORE, ONE Price

Hunter Street, Peterboro'

JOHN CAMPBELL

WOULD take this opportunity of thanking the inhabitants of Peterboro' and surrounding country for past favors, and would beg to intimate that he has received a large addition to his stock, on such favorable terms as enable him to offer goods at such

LOW PRICES,

as to convince every one who examines them

☞ That he cannot be beat in the Town.

The following comprise a few of the articles generally in stock:

West of England Broad Cloth, Cassimeres, Tweeds, Sattinets, Drills, Denims, Stripped Cottons, Ginghams, Prints, Factory Cotton leans, Cobourgs, Red and White Flannel Cotton Warp, &c.

READY-MADE CLOTHING,

Boots and Shoes, Silk and Felt Hats, &c.

TEAS, TOBACCOES, SUGARS,

Soap, Candles, Raisins Currants, Coffee, Rice, and other articles too numerous to mention.

☞ Remember the Spot: Next door to McKellar & Cameron's, Hunter Street.

Peterboro, Aug. 21, 1861. 34

ROYAL

HORSE INFIRMARY.

McDONALD STREET, PETERBORO'

W. KEITH, M. R. C. V. S.

HAVING rented Mr. Perry's Stables, (behind the Grain Store) and having fitted them with loose boxes and stalls, &c., with all the necessaries for an Infirmary, for sick and lame Horses, all cases brought there will receive every attention. Horses from the country can have Hay, Oats, &c., and Medicines at so much per day or week. Firing and other operations performed without throwing the animal, thereby avoiding much risk. Horses and Cattle in the country attended to.

W. K. may be consulted any day either at Messrs. John Moffat's, Blacksmith, John Douglass, Blacksmith, or at Mrs. Stewart's, George Street north, and at the Infirmary Stables from 9 to 10 a. m., and from 1 to 2 p. m.

Oct 29th, 1861. 44

COLLECTOR'S NOTICE.

RATE-PAYERS whose taxes have not yet been paid, will please take notice that the Collector may be found at the office of J. T. Heathers, Esq., over Hamilton's Hardware Store, Hunter Street, every day (Sunday excepted) between the hours of 10 a. m., and 4 p. m.

☞ Notice is also hereby given, that unless taxes are paid forthwith to the Collector, seizure will be made in every case.

J. A. HARTLEY,
Collector.

Peterboro, Nov. 26, 1861. 18

GAMPBELL'S

CANADIAN ARITHMETIC,

FOR SALE BY

THOS. MENZIES, Bookseller.

REMOVAL.

R. D. BASKERVILLE,

HAIR-DRESSER AND PERFUMER, HAS fitted up with taste and convenience at considerable expense, a Saloon on George St., 2 doors south of Lawson's Hotel, where he will be in attendance on the public, during all business hours. Having visited some of the largest American cities this summer, he is thoroughly acquainted with the

LATEST FASHIONABLE IMPROVEMENTS

in his profession, and flatters himself that he will not be found second to any in the Canadas.

☞ Positively no business on Sundays.

Peterboro, Sept 9, 1861. 37

PURCHASERS OF CLOTHING

should remember the Buffalo Clothing Store next door to Mr. Jas. Best's, George Street, where they can get a superior article at a very low price!

S. HOFELLER & BROS.

Peterboro. Oct 17th, 1861, 44

PUBLIC NOTICE.

THE Corporation of the Township of Otonabee intend, on the 16th December next,

to pass a By-law to establish the following line of Road, viz:

A Road commencing on the Western limit of the allowance for Road, between the 12th and 13th Concessions of Otonabee, at the line between lots Nos. 12 and 13, and thence westerly following said line between lots 12 and 14, across the 13th, 14th, 15th and 16th Concessions; said Road to be 66 feet wide, and the described line the centre.

A Road commencing 25 feet south of the line between lots Nos 30 and 31, on the Eastern limit of the allowance for Road, between the 1st and 2nd Concessions of Otonabee, and thence Easterly across the 1st Concession, following a line parallel with the line dividing lots numbers 30 and 31; said Road to be 40 feet wide, and the described line the centre.

GEO. READ,
Township Clerk.

Otonabee, 6th Nov., 1861.

THE COTTON QUESTION.

STOPPAGE OF 1700 LOOMS IN BLACKBURN.

(From the Manchester Guardian.)

The weavers of Mr. R. M. Jackson's mill, Blackburn, turned out yesterday, Nov. 15, at noon. The reason assigned for the stop was bad material. Mr. Jackson's mill is one of the largest in the town, and employs some 2,000 work-people, who have been on full time.

(From the London News, Nov. 15.)

It seems almost incredible that any cotton spinners in Lancashire can be meditating a strike against the reduction of wages rendered necessary by the state and prospects of our cotton supply. It is too true that in the neighborhood of Bury some of the operatives have actually struck against the reduction of ten per cent. proposed by the masters; and at Preston there is a threat of turning out against a reduction of 7½ per cent. Such a course, adopted under the circumstances of the time, seems to show that even yet, after the very great advance the Lancashire operatives have made in knowledge and in insight into their own interests, there is still much misunderstanding among them of the source of wages, and the causes of the rise and fall of the payment of labor. The Bury men on strike are reported to have declared they will consent to a reduction equal to the advance made in 1859—that is five per cent; but they have struck against more. The Preston men refuse all reduction.

Where do they suppose their wages come from? They are, for the most part, newspaper readers; they must have seen by the journals of their country that employers are failing in larger numbers than were almost ever known before. The Manchester Examiner says that seventy-nine firms in the district of the manufacturers have failed since the 1st of January. There have been fifteen failures at Manchester, and the same number at Burnley and Bury; and no less than 30 at Bolton, Blackburn Clitheroe, &c. When manufacturers of small capital and precarious standing fail in numbers in this way, the larger and safer capitalists are under a great strain. They can stand losses for a longer time than the weaker firms, but they have to stand losses. Not only does their business yield them no profit, but they have to pay wages out of their capital. Of course this can only be a temporary state of affairs. It is a question of time. Unless trade improves the day must come when the concern must stop, either by the employer's failure or by his retiring from business before his property is all gone. It is very clear that it depends partly on the operatives how long this payment of wages may go on at all.

There is nothing in the state of affairs, American or English, which can excuse any body connected with the cotton manufacture. Rash speculators in the commodity will suffer loss, sooner or later, and they deserve the punishment; but what shall we say to the rashness of men who refuse the means of subsistence at a moment when the continuance of that subsistence is becoming a grave question at best?

PICKLED FISH.

Salmon or trout are best. Dress the fish, cut it into pieces suitable for bringing to the table—as large as one's hand, about. Parboil them in water enough to cover them, well salted, and when fairly struck through, and before they are boiled enough to be fit for the table, take them out carefully, so that they will preserve their shape, and lay them separately on platters or plates to cool. They must not touch each other or they will adhere. In this state the larger bones may be slipped out; the fins will pull out, bringing with them the bones to which they were attached. It is well to do this if it can be done, without the fish falling to pieces. Take now one-third of the water in which the fish was boiled, and twice as much good vinegar; cloves, allspice and mace, in such proportion that the flavor of neither will predominate, and that the whole will not be so spicy that it might as well be cod or suckers as salmon or trout—in other words spice to taste; bring it to a boil and let it cool; when cold lay the pieces of fish in a stone pot, pour the pickle over them, and lay a plate over them to keep them under the pickle. In a few days this will be found a delicious relish—fit for the Vice-Regent of the Ladies Mount Vernon Association.

A HEALTHFUL PIE-CRUST.

Good crusts for plain pies are made by wetting up the crust with rich milk turned sour, and sweetened with saleratus. Still better crusts are made of sour cream sweetened with saleratus. Mealy potatoes boiled in salted water, and mixed with the same quantity of flour, and wet with sour milk sweetened with saleratus, make a good crust. Good light bread rolled thin makes a good crust for pandowdy, or pan-pie, and also for the upper crust of fruit pies, to be made without bottom crusts.

MINCE PIES.

Of corned beef, boiled very tender and chopped fine, two pounds; four pounds of suet, picked and chopped; to these add six pounds of currants, nicely cleaned and perfectly dry; three pound of chopped apples, the juice of two sour oranges and the peel of one, boiled tender and chopped fine; a pint of white wine, a nutmeg, a quarter of an ounce of cloves, mace, and allspice, in finest powder, press the whole into a deep pan when well mixed, and keep it covered in a dry cool place. Have citron and stewed raisins ready, and put some of them and a little hot water in each of the pies when made.

HOW TO CUT GLASS WITH A PIECE OF IRON.

Draw with a pencil on paper any pattern to which you wish the glass to conform; place the pattern under the glass, holding both together with your left hand, for the glass must not rest on any plane surface; then take a spike or piece of iron, heated, and pass it slowly forward, and the edge will immediately crack; continue moving the iron slowly over the glass, tracing the pattern, and the cling in the glass will follow at the distance of about half an inch in every direction, according to the motion of the iron. It may sometimes be found requisite, however, especially in forming corners, to apply a wet finger to the opposite side of the glass. Tumblers, or other glass, may be cut or divided very fancifully by similar means. The iron must be reheated as often as the crevice in the glass ceases to flow.—Scientific American.

WANTED.

A GOOD STEADY PLOUGHMAN AND general Farm hand may had permanent employment on application to

GEO. TESSON,

Lot 21, 4th Con., Otonabee.

Sept. 12, 1861. 37

THE FOUR WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING.

A perfect Antidote, Specific and Cure for

RHEUMATISM & NEURALGIA

has long been needed. After earnest and patient research, this has been triumphantly discovered. It is called

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING!

Watson's Neuralgia King reaches the source of the trouble, and banishes the disease from the system. Unlike the untold number of Liniments and Embrocations which merely stimulate the surface, are but temporary in their effects, and are, at best, of doubtful virtue, it cramps at the sac of the stimulant, ARMARTS IT, KILLS IT, BANISHARTS IT, and leaves no trace behind.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING

also cures GOUT AND DYSPEPSIA, in all their forms. It is now giving relief to thousands who have been suffering form these diseases, and who have tried all other remedies in vain.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING

has received the highest testimonials from the highest sources in regard to its wonderful efficacy. It operates with equal success in mild and chronic cases, never failing to work out a speedy and permanent cure.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING

costs but one dollar a bottle, and less than a bottle often effects the end desired.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING

is the only Specific and cure for Rheumatism and Neuralgia that has ever been discovered.

Prepared by

A. I. MATHEWS,

Buffalo, N. Y., and Fort Erie, C. W.

Sep. 26, 1861. 39

Gutta-Percha Roofing.

No article ever before introduced to the public has equalled the LIQUID GUTTA-PERCHA for coating tin or other roofs, new or old. One gallon, costing $1 50, will thoroughly coat from 200 to 300 feet of roof, and this coating will render the roof perfectly waterproof, and will last three times as long as white lead or other paint. For covering roofs, either new or old we repair, it has no equal for durability and cheapness, and we offer it to the public fully confident of its intrinsic excellence, and with our warrantee that it will do all we claim for it. Sold in barrels of forty gallons each, at a liberal discount to dealers. Address all orders to

READY ROOFING CO.,

23 Cedar Street, New York.

October 3rd, 1861. 40-1y.

MATHEWS' VENETIAN LIQUID HAIR DYE.

THIS CELEBRATED DYE WAS FIRST prepared in 1845; since that time it has been used by upwards, and in no instance has it failed to give perfect satisfaction.

THE VENETIAN DYE

is the cheapest in the world. Its price is only 50 cents, and each bottle contains double the quantity of dye contained in those usually sold for one dollar.

THE VENETIAN DYE

is the safest composition of its class. It is warranted not to injure the hair, or the scalp, in the slightest degree.

THE VENETIAN DYE

works with rapidity and certainty. It causes no annoyance or trouble to those who use it.

THE VENETIAN DYE

produces any shade that may be desired—one that will not fade, crock, nor wash out; one that is as permanent as the hair itself.

THE VENETIAN DYE

does not, in any manner, interfere with the natural softness of the hair; it neither scorches nor dries it.

THE VENETIAN DYE

is the best, cheapest, safest, most convenient, most successful, and most permanent Dye ever used.

THE VENETIAN DYE

having gained an extended reputation, the public are cautioned against purchasing any prepared in the same style, under the same or different name, as they are mere imitations, and liable to do injury.

For sale by all agents. Prepared only by

A. I. MATHEWS,

Buffalo, N. Y., and Fort Erie, C.W

Oct 8, 1861. 40

The Great French Remedy!

MADAM BOIVIN'S CELEBRATED SILVER COATED

FEMALE PILLS

THE ONLY CERTAIN AND SAFE REMEDY for all Uterine Obstructions, Monthly Difficulties, Irregularities, and diseases to which the Woman, Wife and Mother is peculiarly liable. These Pills contain no deleterious ingredients, but are safe and certain in their action.—They will be found to exert the happiest effect in all cases of Prolapsus Uteri, in Leucorrhea, or the Whites; they will be found the easiest and most certain cure that can be found. It is on account of this certainty they should not be taken by Married Ladies at certain periods, but at other times their use is perfectly safe.

N. B.—$5 enclosed to any authorized Agent will ensure a package of Pills by return mail.

C. Crosby, General Agent, Fort Erie, C. W, Buffalo, N. Y; Lymas, Elliot & Co, Wholesale Agents, Toronto.

Sept. 17, 1862. 39

NO YANKEE HUMBUG!

PROSPECTUS

OF A NEW AND ACCURATE, ILLUSTRATED TOPOGRAPHICAL AND STATISTICAL

Map of Upper Canada,

TOGETHER WITH A DESCRIPTIVE MAP AND DIRECTORY OF THE TOWNSHIPS OF

N'H & S'H MONAGHAN & OTONABEE.

CONLIN, BONNEY & Co., of Toronto, propose to publish the above work, drawn on a large scale from the most recent and accurate surveys, exhibiting all Post Offices, Money Order Offices, and Telegraph Stations throughout the Province, corrected from the latest official authority; also, the various lines of Railway, Railway Stations, with the correct distance between each, Canals, Plank and Macadamized Roads, the Main Travelled Roads between Towns and Villages, the boundaries and names of each County and Township, the great Lakes, Rivers, and principal Mill Streams. Tables showing the Variation of Time between each County Seat in Upper Canada from the Magnetic Observatory, Toronto, the Population of each City, Town, County and Township will also be given, with other important and useful information, carefully compiled from the Census Returns of the present year. The Map will be Illustrated with Views of the principal Public Buildings in the Province, executed in the best style of the art.

There will also be given on the above Map an enlarged Plan, in the most minute detail, of the Shire Township, showing concessions, lots, and subdivisions, with the names of the proprietors neatly engraved thereon; also, School Sections, Churches, Saw and Grist Mills, Villages, Hamlets, Taverns, Toll Gates, &c., together with considerable general detail and other matters open to travel, the quantities of timber and cleared and occupied land, enlarged Plans of Towns and Villages in the Township.

The names of all Subscribers, resident owners of farms, will be engraved separately and printed on their respective lots, upon the application of the residents thereof, and the names of Subscribers in the Towns and Villages, will be published, with the trade, profession, business, &c., of each, thereby forming a complete Rural, Professional, and Mercantile Business Directory.

☞ Our Agents exhibit a SMALL specimen of the above work, with our name engraved thereon.

CAUTION.—This enterprise is in no way connected with [illegible] Township Map of [illegible] Co., published by [illegible] of New York.

WILL BE SOLD AT

A SACRIFICE.

THE subscriber is compelled by circumstances to sell his House and Lot on Albert Street on the Court House Hall, adjoining the property of Mr. Wm. Dumble. The above is one of the most delightful situations in Town, and will be sold for the

LOW PRICE OF $800!

one half to be paid down, and the remainder in two years from time of sale. Title Perfect.

JOHN RITCHIE.

Peterboro.

Mathew's Chocolate Worm Drops

NEVER fail to destroy and exterminate all kinds of Intestinal Worms. Are perfectly reliable in all cases, and far superior to any and all of the Fancy Worm Confections, and nauseous Vermifuge Pastes. They may be taken at all times with perfect safety, as they contain no Mercury, or other deleterious Drug. Mothers should always purchase them and give their children no other.

(No Cathartic whatever, is necessary to be given.)

Each box contains 24 Drops or Lozenges.—Price 25 cts. For sale by all Druggist and Dealers in Medicines.

A. I. MATHEWS, General Agent, Buffalo, N. Y., and Fort Erie, C. W.

F. G. CALLENDER,

RETURNS his grateful acknowledgments to the inhabitants of Peterboro' and vicinity, for their liberal supports during the past fourteen years, and on account of his increase of business, and with a view to the better accommodation of his patrons, will continue his visits the FIRST and THIRD MONDAYS, TUESDAYS & WEDNESDAYS in each month, INSTEAD OF ONLY THE FIRST MONDAYS, as formerly, prepared to perform all operations of the profession, with superior neatness and durability, AND AS REASONABLE AS ANY EXPERIENCED DENTIST. His Teeth are his own selection, of the newest style, being made expressly for the Vulcanized base, now altogether used, being free from taste, much cheaper than Gold, and equal in neatness and durability, and much more agreeable in the mouth, being less weighty.

Rooms in Scott's Building, Market Block, Peterboro', and over the Post Office, Cobourg.

THE LIVERPOOL LONDON FIRE AND LIFE

ASSURANCE COMPANY.

CAPITAL.....£2,000,000 STG.

Empowered by Act of the Imperial Parliament

Responsibility of Stockholders unlimited.

Head Office for Canada, Montreal.

THE UNDERSIGNED CONTINUES to accept Risks in the above

First Class Company,

on almost every description of property, at as REASONABLE RATES as any other responsible office.

LOSSES PAID

with reference to the Old Country.

W. CLUXTON,

Agent for Peterboro'

Peterboro.' April 20th, 1859. 16.

THE CANADA LIFE

Assurance Company.

Capital, 1.000 000.

W. CLUXTON,

Agent.

THOS. HOLYWELL,

Medical Referee.

Peterborough, 1st August, 1859. 31

WESTERN

INSURANCE COMP'Y.

CAPITAL £500,000

Head Office, Toronto,

FOR EVERY DESCIPTION OF

FIRE & MARINE ASSURANCE

BUSINESS.

AGENT FOR PETERBORO',

W. CLUXTON.

Peterboro, Sept. 14th, 1857.

GENERAL INSURANCE OFFICE.

W. CLUXTON, AGENT, PETERBORO'.

LIVERPOOL & LONDON FIRE AND LIFE

Insurance Company.

CAPITAL.....£2,000,000 STG.

BRITISH AMERICA

ASSURANCE COMP'Y

CAPITAL, $4,000,000.

WESTERN

INSURANCE COMPANY

CAPITAL, $2,000'000.

BRITANNIA LIFE

Assurance Company.

CAPITAL, £1,000,000, STERLING.

Peterborough, April 20th, 1859. 16

ACT OF LIFE IN TEN MINUTES.

BRYAN'S

PULMONIC WAFERS.

THE most certain and speedy remedy ever discovered for the relief of all diseases of the Chest and Lungs. Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Consumption, Bronchitis, Influenza, Hoarseness, Difficult Breathing, Sore Throat, &c.

These Wafers give the most instantaneous and perfect relief and when persevered with according to directions, never fail to effect a rapid and lasting cure. Thousands have been restored to perfect health, who have tried other means in vain. To all classes and all constitutions they are a blessing and a cure—pronounced despair, no matter how long the disease may have existed, or however severe it may be, provided the organic structure of the vital organ is not hopelessly decayed. Every one afflicted should give them an impartial trial.

TO VOCALISTS AND PUBLIC SPEAKERS these Wafers are peculiarly valuable; they will in one day remove the most severe occasional hoarseness; and their regular use for a few days will, still more, increase the power and flexibility of the voice, greatly improving its tone, compass and clearness, for which purpose they are regularly used by many professional Vocalists.

JOB MOSES, Sole Proprietor, Rochester, N.Y.

Price 25 cents per box.

Vocalists and Public Speakers

Vocalists and Public Speakers

Vocalists and Public Speakers

Will find Bryan's Wafers

Will find Bryan's Wafers

Will find Bryan's Wafers

Invaluable to remove

Invaluable to remove

Invaluable to remove

Hoarseness and Sore Throat,

Hoarseness and Sore Throat,

Hoarseness and Sore Throat,

And gives clearness to the Voice.

And gives clearness to the Voice.

And gives clearness to the Voice.

They relieve in ten minutes,

They relieve in ten minutes,

They relieve in ten minutes,

Coughs, Colds, and all diseases

Coughs, Colds, and all diseases

Coughs, Colds, and all diseases

Of the Chest and Lungs.

Of the Chest and Lungs.

Of the Chest and Lungs.

Sold by all Druggists

Sold by all Druggists

Sold by all Druggists

At 25 cents a box.

At 25 cents a box.

At 25 cents a box.

Lightning! Lightning!

PROTECTION TO LIFE AND PROPERTY.

300,000 Feet

OF THE NEW PATENT ENGLISH ELECTRO-GALVANIZED, ANNEALED AND CARBONIZED

LIGHTNING RODS

JUST ARRIVED FROM ENGLAND, WITH SPRATTS' RENOWNED PLATINA TIPPED POINTS!!

AND ENLARGED INSULATORS & ATTACHMENTS.

THIS ROD is pronounced in England with especial reference to its great conducting powers; is highly approved and recommended by the Scientific. The above non-corroding surface prevents rust, and greatly increases its conducting power, completely obviating the great objections to the old rod. Professor Croft has a Spiral Copper Rod removed from the University Buildings, Toronto, and subjected to this, on account of the perfect conducting power of the surface, and no being liable to rust. One real advantage gained by the fine conducting qualities of this rod, with Spratt's point, arises from the fact that it constantly receives and silently conducts to the earth, the positive electricity of the surrounding atmosphere generated by an approaching thunder cloud surcharged with this element of destruction and death, thereby drawing off, dissipating and so securing the fountain, easing the cloud of its consequent accumulation allowing it to pass over our heads in safety, which might otherwise have burst upon us in all its fury. Should it fall in this by reason of too great accumulation of electricity, and the discharge takes place, it conducts all safely to the ground being a preventive in most cases and a cure in an emergency. We have erected them on the Central Palace, and Custom House, at Hamilton, as well as many of the best buildings in this city. By importing largely for cash, we are enabled to erect them at a trifling advance upon the Carbonized Rod. Common Iron Rods, such as are being offered by parties from the States we do not erect, as we consider them nearly useless. Good Rods, properly erected, protect 25 feet from the point.

$1.000 CHALLENGE!

to the world to produce as good a Rod, for the same price, as the Galvanized Rod, which we are now prepared to offer to the public through our authorized agents; allow no man to protect your buildings who has not our certificate of agency, with caution on the back against impositions. Orders sent to our address from the principal cities of C. W., will be attended to by O. R. Kendall in person, without extra charge. We submit two of our numerous references.

PIPER & KENDALL,

83 Young Street.

Toronto, Sept. 15, 1860.

I HEREBY CERTIFY THAT I HAVE SUPERintended the erection of Galvanized Iron Rods on the University Buildings, at Toronto, preferring the Galvanized Iron to ordinary Iron Rods, on account of the perfect conducting power of the surface, and from their not being liable to rust.

The advantage resulting from these qualities is more than commensurate with the increased cost.

(Signed) HENRY CROFT, D.C.L.,

Prof. of Chemistry.

Peterboro', July 25th, 1861.

The agents for the firm of Piper & Kendall, Toronto, have put up for me two of their Galvanized Lightning Rods so highly recommended by Professor Croft. I consider them preferable to all others. The improved Attachments and Insulators, with Spratts Platina Tipped Point must give them great additional security.

J. BROWNE, M. D.

I entirely concur in Dr. Browne's observations.—Also have bought two of the same Rods for my two cottages on Brock Street.

A. NIELOCK.

Toronto June 29th, 1861. 31-3m

The Great English Remedy!

SIR JAMES CLARKE'S

Celebrated Female Pills

Extract from a Prescription of Sir J. Clarke, M.D., Physician Extraordinary to the Queen.

THIS well known Medicine is no imposition, but a sure and safe remedy for Female Difficulties and Obstructions, from any cause whatever; and although a powerful remedy, it contains nothing hurtful to the constitution. To married ladies it is peculiarly suited. It will in a short time bring on the monthly period with regularity.

In all cases of Nervous and Spinal Affections, pain in the back and limbs, Heaviness, Fatigue on Slight Exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Lowness of Spirits, Hysterics, Sick Headache, and in the painful diseases occasioned by a disordered system, these Pills will effect a cure where all other means have failed.

☞ These Pills have never been known to fail when the directions on the 2nd page of the pamphlet are well observed.

For all packages, see a pamphlet free of the agents.

N. B.—Two and six postage stamps enclosed to any author ized agent will ensure a bottle containing over 50 pills by return mail.

Sir James Clarke's Female Pills

Sir James Clarke's Female Pills

Sir James Clarke's Female Pills

Are a Scientific Preparation.

Are a Scientific Preparation.

Are a Scientific Preparation.

They are safe, and never fail

They are safe, and never fail

They are safe, and never fail

To remove all Obstructions,

To remove all Obstructions,

To remove all Obstructions,

And cure all Female Complaints.

And cure all Female Complaints,

And cure all Female Complaints,

When the directions are followed.

When the directions are followed,

When the directions are followed

They are a blessing and a cure.

They are a blessing and a cure.

They are a blessing and a cure.

And can be sent by mail

And can be sent by mail

And can be sent by mail

For one dollar and six postage stamps.

For one dollar and six postage stamps.

For one dollar and six postage stamps.

JOB MOSES, Rochester N.Y. sole proprietor. Norman & Lyman, Newcastle, C. W., General Agents. For sale by Ormond & Gilmour Wm. Conner, A. W Kempt, Peterboro and all dealers in medicines.

A STARTLING FACT.

THE subscriber has great pleasure in informing the public that he is manufacturing ever made in Canada, patented by J. Dennis. In order to prove the above, I am prepared to put them on trial, for observe or wells 100 feet deep and less, until the 1st of June, 1861. If not then preferred before any other kind will take them back free of charge; if they suit, I will give them until the 1st of January, 1862; for payment, by giving a promissory note.

THE BEST PUMPS

These Pumps are

Warranted not to Freeze.

All orders addressed to the undersigned, stating depth of well, to Warkworth, Percy, up to the 1st of April, 1861, and after that date to the Subscriber, in Ashburnham, will receive prompt attention. All letters must be post-paid.

HENRY DENNIS,

Manufacturer.

Warkworth, Percy, Dec. 1860.

Patented rights to manufacture and sell the above Pumps for sale by John Dennis, patentee and manufacturer, New Market, C. W 50-1y.

New Establishment.

A choice assortment carefully selected by a gentleman of many years experience.

GROCERIES, WINES, &C.,

with a large variety of

Fancy Goods.

at very low prices.

Port Wine, (Per Gallon) at 7s 6d, 10s, 15s, 22s 6d. Sherry, 5s, 7s 6d, 10s, 15s, 20s. Finest old Pale Brandy, Brown, &c. Fine Hollands Gin in Wood, &c. in Red and Green Cases. Islay Scotch Whiskey (very old) &c. in 1 doz. Cases. Teas, Sugars, Coffees, Fruits, Spices, Pickles & Sauces, Fish, Oils, Flavoring extracts, Starch, Soap, Candles, Tobaccos, Brushes, Brooms, Glass, Crockery, and Wooden-ware, &c.

JOHN McDONELL,

In the (new blue front) premises, lately occupied by Jos. Stevens, Esq.,

GEORGE ST., PETERBORO.

Jan. 2 1861.

JUDSONS,

MOUNTAIN HERB

WORM TEA.

Herbs, Barks and Roots

VERSUS

Poisonous Minerals and Drugs.

MOTHERS TAKE HEED!

Do you when observing the uneasy actions of your children, remember that it may be more than a mere babe that affects them? In nine cases out of ten, the cause of the little sufferer's anguish is WORMS, and should be at once looked to.

HEADS OF FAMILIES

Do not let your children suffer, when we present you in

JUDSON'S WORM TEA

A SAFE AND PLEASANT CURE FOR WORMS.

How much better and safer would it be to have it always in the house. A little delay when a child is taken ill may often be the cause of its death, while acting without delay, and by giving the MOUNTAIN HERB TEA immediately, you will not only save the child a long and tedious illness, and yourself much expense, but also feel happier in knowing that you have done your duty, and perchance saved its life.

This medicine is combined purely of

HERBS AND ROOTS

NOT A PARTICLE OF

Calomel or Mineral

IS USED IN IT.

No more filthy Vermifuge will be used by those who once use this Tea. The only active principle of all other Vermifuges and Worm mixtures is MERCURY.

GIVE NO

POISON

TO

YOUR CHILDREN.

Use this Simple, Safe, Vegetable Medicine.

This Worm Tea was discovered in an unusual way among the Wilds of Northern Mexico—a full account of it you will find in our Almanacs. Ask for the "Almanac of Twin Almanacs." of the Agent, and when you have read it, send it to your neighbors, that they may also know of and be cured by the GREAT REMEDY!

JUDSON'S WORM TEA

KILLS WORMS,

Never Harms—is Pleasant to Take.

GET A PACKAGE—PRICE 25 CTS.

OBSERVE.—Always find the Name and Signature of B. L. JUDSON & CO., and the portrait of Tecuco, on each package of this Worm Tea.

B. L. JUDSON & CO.

SOLE PROPRIETORS,

50 Leonard St., New York.

Judson's Worm Tea is sold by one Agent in every Village, and by all Druggists.

CANADA

Permanent Building and Saving's Society.

CAPITAL.....£500,000

INVESTED ON REAL ESTATE.... 250,000

ANNUAL INCOME..... 250,000

THIS Institution advances money on favorable terms on the security of Real Estate, situate in West Canada, repayable by instalments spread over any period the borrower chooses from 1 to 10 years.

Properties mortgaged may be sold or changed for other property, or the mortgage debt may be paid off before it is due if desired by the borrower.

Circulars and rules, together with any further information may be obtained from the office.

W. CLUXTON,

Agent.

Peterboro', Jan. 30, 1861. 5

JUDSON'S

Mountain Herb Pills.

ABOVE, we present you with a perfect likeness of Tecuco, a chief of a tribe of the strange Aztec Nation, that once ruled Mexico. You will find a full account of him and his people in our Pamphlets and Almanacs—to be had gratis, from the Agents for these Pills.

This inventor and manufacturer of "Judson's Mountain Herb Pills," has spent the greater part of his life in traveling, having visited nearly every country in the world. He spent over six years among the Indians of the Rocky Mountains and of Mexico, and it was thus that the "Mountain Herb Pills" were discovered. A very interesting account of his adventures there, you will find in our Almanac and Pamphlet.

It is an established fact, that all diseases arise from

IMPURE BLOOD!

The blood is the life! and when any foreign or unhealthy matter gets mixed with it, it is at once distributed to every organ of the body. Every nerve feels the poison, and all the vital organs quickly complain. The stomach will not digest the food perfectly. The liver ceases to secrete a sufficiency of bile. The action of the heart is weakened, and so the circulation is feeble. The lungs become clogged with the poisonous matter; hence, a cough—and all from a slight impurity at the fountain-head of life—the Blood! As if you had thrown some earth, for instance, in a pure spring, from which run a tiny stream, in a few minutes the whole course of the stream becomes disturbed and discolored. As quickly does impure blood fly to every part, and leave its sting behind. All the passages become obstructed, and where the obstruction is removed, the lamp of life soon dies out.

These pills not only purify the blood, but regenerate all the secretions of the body; they are, therefore, admirable as a

CURE FOR BILIOUS DISEASES,

Liver Complaint, Sick Headache, &c. This Anti-Bilious Medicine expels from the blood the hidden seeds of disease, and renders all the fluids and secretions pure and fluent, clearing and resuscitating the vital organs.

Planned indeed, is it to us, that we are able to place within your reach, a medicine like the "Mountain Herb Pills," that will pass directly to the afflicted parts, through the blood and fluids of the body, and cause the sufferer to brighten with the flush of beauty and health.

Judson's Pills are the Best Remedy in existence for the following Complaints:

Blood Complaints,	Debility,
Coughs,	Fever and Ague,
Colds,	Female Complaints.
Chest Diseases	Headaches,
Costiveness,	Indigestion,
Dyspepsia,	Influenza,
Diarrhœa,	Inflammation,
Dropsy,
Inward Weakness,
Liver Complaints,
Lowness of Spirits,
Piles,
Stone and Gravel,
Secondary Symptoms,
Worms.

GREAT FEMALE MEDICINE

Females who value health, should never be without these Pills. They purify the blood, remove obstructions of all kinds, cleanse the skin of all pimples and blotches, and bring the rich color of health to the pale cheek.

☞ The Plants and Herbs of which these Pills are made, were discovered in a very surprising way among the Tecucas, a tribe of Aborigines in Mexico. Get the Almanac of our Agent, and you will read with delight, the very interesting account it contains of the "GREAT MEMORIES" of the Aztecs.

Observe.—The Mountain Herb Pills are put up in a Beautiful Wrapper. Each box contains 40 pills, and Retail at 25 cents per box. All genuine, have the signature of B. L. JUDSON & CO., on each box.

B. L. JUDSON, & Co,

SOLE PROPRIETORS,

No. 50 Leonard Street,

NEW YORK

☞ FOR SALE BY ALL MEDICINE DEALERS. ☜

☞ The Canadian Pain Destroyer is a prompt and sure remedy for Cramp and pain in the Stomach, Painters' Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer Complaint, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, Scalds, Burns, Sprains, Bruises, Frost Bite, Chilblains, as well as the stings of Insects, Scorpions, Centipedes, and the bites of Poisonous Insects and venomous Reptiles.

FOR SALE.

SOUTH half of Lot No. 9, in the 2nd Con of Smith, containing 100 acres. This Farm is [illegible] about three miles from Petersburgh. [illegible] are eighty acres cleared, and on the premises there are a good Stone House, three Barns and other Outhouses.

The north half of Lot No. 15, in the 7th Con. Smith. This Farm has eighty acres cleared, and is situated about seven miles from Petersburgh

For particulars apply to

JOSEPH KELSO,

or Bobcaygeon.

WM. TULLY, Jr.,

Monaghan.

September 13, 1861. 38

L. M. SQUAIR.

Agent for Steamer "Maple Leaf," and Jacques, Tracy & Co's Line of Boats, the Alps, Ottawa, Colonist, Huron, & Bonnaventure.

CONTRACTS for freight or passage to and from Montreal, Rochester, Boston, New York and Oswego.

Office in Gillett's Block, above Irvine's Store, Port Hope.

Port Hope, Oct. 10 1860.

MARBLE WORKS.

H. T. EVANS,

RESPECTFULLY invites attention to the fact that he is prepared to execute on short notice

TOMB-STONES, MONUMENTS, TABLE-TOPS, MANTLE-PIECES,

&c., &c., &c.

of as good workmanship as can be done in any part of Canada. Terms very low for Cash.

☞ House and Workshop, corner of London and Bethune Streets, foot of Smithtown Hill.

H. T. EVANS.

Peterboro, Nov. 8, 1860 45

SADDLERY & HARNESS

WARE-HOUSE.

Opposite A. McNeil's Auction Rooms, George Street, Peterboro'.

HOPKINS & DONNELY

WILL keep constantly on hand, and make to order all sorts of

SADDLES, HARNESS, WHIPS, Valises, &c.,

which they intend to sell CHEAP FOR CASH, of an improved style.

☞ All work warranted, as it is made by superior workmen.

Peterborough, Sept 5, 1860. 39

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

A compound remedy, in which we have labored to produce the most effectual alterative that can be made. It is a concentrated extract of Para Sarsaparilla, so combined with other substances of still greater alterative power as to afford an effective antidote for the diseases Sarsaparilla is reputed to cure. It is believed that such a remedy is wanted by those who suffer from Strumous complaints, and that one which will accomplish their cure must prove of immense service to this large class of our afflicted fellow-citizens. How completely this compound will do this has been proved by experiment on many of the worst cases to be found of the following complaints:—

SCROFULA AND SCROFULOUS COMPLAINTS, ERUPTIONS AND ERUPTIVE DISEASES, ULCERS, PIMPLES, BLOTCHES, TUMORS, SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, SYPHILIS AND SYPHILITIC AFFECTIONS, MERCURIAL DISEASE, DROPSY, NEURALGIA OR TIC DOULOUREUX, DEBILITY, DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, HEADACHE, LOSS OF ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, AND indeed the whole class of complaints arising from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD.

This compound will be found a great promoter of health, when taken in the spring, to expel the foul humors which fester in the blood at that season of the year. By the timely expulsion of them many rankling disorders are nipped in the bud. Multitudes can, by the aid of this remedy, spare themselves from the endurance of foul eruptions and ulcerous sores, through which the system will strive to rid itself of corruptions if not assisted to do this through the natural channels of the body by an alterative medicine. Cleanse out the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, eruptions, or sores; cleanse it when you find it is obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it whenever it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Even where no particular disorder is felt, people enjoy better health, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. Keep the blood healthy, and all is well; but with this pabulum of life disordered, there can be no lasting health. Sooner or later something must go wrong, and the great machinery of life is disordered or overthrown.

Sarsaparilla has, and deserves much, the reputation, of accomplishing these ends. But the world has been egregiously deceived by preparations of it, partly because the drug alone has not all the virtue that is claimed for it, but more because many preparations, pretending to be concentrated extracts of it, contain but little of the virtue of Sarsaparilla, or any thing else.

During late years the public have been misled by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one dollar. How can this be done? Sarsaparilla from the sick, for they not only contain little, if any, Sarsaparilla, but often no curative properties whatever. Hence, bitter and painful disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market, until the name itself is justly despised, and has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound Sarsaparilla, and intend to supply such a remedy as shall rescue the name from the load of obloquy which rests upon it. And we think we have ground for believing it has virtues which are irresistible by the ordinary run of the diseases it is intended to cure. In order to secure their complete eradication from the system, the remedy should be judiciously taken according to directions on the bottle.

PREPARED BY

DR. J. C. AYER & CO.

LOWELL, MASS.

Price, $1 per Bottle; Six Bottles for $5.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

has won for itself such a renown for the cure of every variety of Throat and Lung Complaint, that it is entirely unnecessary for us to recount the evidence of its virtues, wherever it has been employed. As it has long been in constant use throughout this section, we need not do more than assure the people its quality is kept up to the best it ever has been, and that it may be relied on to do for their relief all it has ever been found to do.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

FOR THE CURE OF

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and for Purifying the Blood.

They are sugar-coated, so that the most sensitive can take them pleasantly, and they are the best aperient in the world for all the purposes of a family physic.

Price 25 cents per Box; Five boxes for $1.00.

Great numbers of Clergymen, Physicians, Statesmen, and eminent personages, have lent their names to certify the unparalleled usefulness of these remedies, but our space here will not permit the insertion of them. The Agents below named furnish gratis our AMERICAN ALMANAC in which they are given; with also full descriptions of the above complaints, and the treatment that should be followed for their cure.

Do not be put off by unprincipled dealers with other preparations they make more profit on. Demand AYER'S, and take no others. The sick want the best aid there is for them, and they should have it.

All our Remedies are for sale by Orsbom & Gilmour; Wm. Coulter, and W. A. Kempt, Peterboro'; O.

BOOK AND JOB PRINTING ESTABLISHMENT.

EVERY description of Book and Job Printing executed at this Office, in superior style, at low rates.

Pamphlets, Circulars,
Handbills, Funeral Cards,
Invitations, Bill Headings,
Horse Bills, Show Bills,
Concert Bills, Programmes,
Posters, Stage Bills,
Business Cards, Blanks, &c.,

with every variety of Coloring and Bronzing.

☞ Lawyers Blanks of every description, kept constantly on hand.

All orders for Job Printing forwarded to the office will be punctually and strictly attended to.

The Examiner.

PETERBOROUGH, CANADA WEST, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 19, 1861.

Volume VI.] "THE PEOPLE." [Number 51.

THE "EXAMINER"

Is published every Thursday morning at the office of the undersigned, on

BURNHAM'S BLOCK, GEORGE STREET.

Terms of Subscription:—$1.50 per annum payable strictly in advance, $2 whenever so paid.

Rates of Advertising.

Six Lines, and under, first insertion....$0 37
Each subsequent insertion.....
Six to ten lines, first insertion.....
Each subsequent insertion.....
Over ten lines, first insertion (per line).....
Each subsequent insertion, " "
Business Cards as per agreement.

☞ Advertisements without written directions will be inserted until forbid. Orders to discontinue must be given in writing.

All communications to the Publisher must be post-paid; otherwise no notice will be taken of them.

JAMES BENGOUGH,
Publisher and Proprietor.

Business Directory.

JAMES HALL,
SHERIFF. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

Mr. TOOLE,
MANUFACTURER of Sash Blinds, Doors and Mouldings. Every description of Joiner Work done to order. Next door to Martyn's Mills, Peterboro', C. W. 9

J. B. DISBEE,
DEALER in Boots, Shoes & Leather, George Street, Peterborough, C. W 16

W. CRAWFORD,
GOVERNMENT Land Agent. Office at his residence, Brock Street.

EDMUND S. VINDIN,
COMMISSION, Shipping, Forwarding, and General Agent, Lumber Merchant, &c.—OFFICE—Corner of Walton and Ontario Streets. 13

MR. DENNISTOUN,
BARRISTER at Law. Master Extraordinary in Chancery Notary Public, &c., Peterborough

Mr. A. T. HEATHFIELD.
PIANIST AND TEACHER OF MUSIC.
COMMUNICATION THROUGH THE POST OFFICE, Peterborough.

JOHNSON'S
FASHIONABLE Hair Dressing and Shaving Saloon in the Building formerly occupied by the Post Office, east of the bridge.
Port Hope, Sept. 29, 1857.

GEORGE MITCHELL,
DEALER in Groceries and Provisions, &c. Cash paid for all kinds of country produce, George Street Peterborough. 15

T. G. HAZLITT,
DEALER in Provisions, Groceries, Crockery and Glass ware, Hunter Street Peterboro.

W. SHERIDAN,
COUNTY Treasurer and Clerk. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

R. STEVENSON,
PAINTER, Paper hanger, &c., &c., Brock Street, Peterborough. 15

GEORGE H. HUGHES,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
SOLICITOR IN CHANCERY,
Conveyancer, &c.

OFFICE in Harvey's Building, next door (south) to Thomson's Store, George St. Peterborough. 12,

GENERAL FIRE AND LIFE INSURANCE OFFICE
W. CLUXTON, Agent.

W. COULTER, PETERBORO',
DEALER in Genuine Drugs, Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Spices, Culinary Essences, Fancy Soaps, &c., &c. 16

THOMAS MENZIES,
BOOKSELLER, Stationer, &c., &c., &c., &c Dixon' Exchange Block, George Street, Peterboro' h. 20

A. HARVEY, M. D., CORONER.
RESIDENCE:—Aylmer Street, opposite the Railway Depot, Peterboro.
April 3d, 1861.

W. H. SCOTT,
BARRISTER AT LAW, Solicitor in Chancery, Notary Public, Conveyancer, &c.
OFFICE:—In Burnham's Block, opposite the Review Office, Peterborough.
April 11, 1861. 15

A. M'CREA,
PROVINCIAL Licentiate. Physician, Surgeon, &c Keene.

GEORGE PRINGLE, M. D.
PHYSICIAN, Surgeon, &c., &c., graduate of McGill College, Montreal, having also studied in the hospitals of London and Dublin.
OFFICE AND RESIDENCE.—Brock Street, opposite McGrego's Livery Stable, Peterboro.
April 23, 1861 17

JAMES BEST,
DEALER in Dry Goods, Groceries, Crockery Boots and Shoes, &c., &c., Rowe's Block, George Street, Peterborough. 18

MR. DUNN,
PRINCIPAL of the Grammar and Union School, will devote a short time each day to private tuition
Peterboro', Jan. 16th, 1861. 3

JAMES W. FITZGERALD
(LATE OF MCDONALD & FITZGERALD.)
Provincial Land Surveyor.
OFFICE:—In Scott's Chambers, corner George and Simcoe Streets.
Oct. 3, 1861. 41

CABINET-MAKING.

E. POOLE, Cabinet-maker, Upholsterer & Undertaker, Ryan's Block, George Street, Peterboro.

ALEX. McNEIL,
LICENSED AUCTIONEER for the Counties of Peterborough and Victoria, and Townships of Cavan and South Monaghan.
OFFICE AND STORE on Water Street, opposite the Custom House, Peterboro.
Nov. 7th, 1861. 48

H. IRVINE,
CONVEYANCER.
OFFICE.—In Heathorn's Block, Hunter Street, a few doors above Ormond's Steamboat Dining Rooms.
Peterboro' Nov. 1861. 47

ALBION HOTEL,
MONTREAL.

L. W. BECKER, Proprietor.

Pleasantly situated at the head of ST. PAUL STREET, contains the largest wholesale Hostlie in the city. Its bar (with business generally, and especially with the best Merchants of both Provinces) becomes a great favorite, that it is now acknowledged to be THE Business Hotel of Montreal. To meet the extensive increase, during the last year in the business of the house, the proprietor has built a large addition. The Dining Room has been extended and made one of the finest; there have been added to the new wing, a great number of well-ventilated sleeping rooms, and the Rooms throughout has been refitted, and now contains MANY improvements and conveniences hitherto unknown in hotels. The whole of the beds have, at a great expence, been furnished with NEW SPRING MATTRASSES. The Proprietor intends this by continuing his personal management and the assistance of the ALBION, to say the least of it, (if quotations to be, as it now is, the best Dollar hotel in Canada.

VALUABLE FARM FOR SALE.

THE subscriber is desirous of disposing of his Farm, south west part of Lot 23, in the 11th Con. Otonabee, only 3 miles from the town of Peterborough, and on the main road leading to Keene, comprising 100 Acres.

60 Acres are Cleared,

and in a good state of cultivation; 14 Acres of Fall Wheat are sown, and a part of Fall ploughing is done. A good Frame Rough-cast House, 26 x 30, a Barn, 45 x 26, and a good stable and other out-houses are on the premises.

A GOOD WELL

of spring water stands within a rod of the house, and is easy of access. A good YOUNG ORCHARD OF 85 TREES, in good condition, and of the choicest fruits, is on the property.

The Farm is one of the best in the Township, and the situation is very convenient, no better chance for the purchase of a good farm could be offered, and it will be sold at a liberal price.

Title Indisputable.

Apply to the proprietor on the premises,
JAS. WEIR.
Otonabee, Nov. 7 1860. 54

THE LATEST IMPROVED
COAL OIL,
AND COAL OIL LAMPS;
AT REDUCED PRICES.
JOHN McDONELL,
GEORGE STREET.
Jan. 2, 1861. 1.

PORT HOPE & PETERBORO

RAILWAY.

ON and after the 6th of May, 1861, and until further notice, Trains will run as follows:—

GOING NORTH.

Leave Port Hope at	7.30 a. m.
" Millbrook "	9.05 a. m.
" Fraserville "	9.30 a. m.
Arrive at Peterboro' at	9.50 a. m.
GOING SOUTH.
Leave Peterboro' at	2.35 p. m.
" Fraserville "	3.55 p. m.
" Millbrook "	3.30 p. m.
Arrive at Port Hope at	4.55. p. m.

JOHN FOWLER,
Lessee.
Peterboro' January, 18

PORK! PORK!

TO LUMBERMEN AND OTHERS!

200 BARRELS OF CHOICE
MESS PORK!
For Sale Low for Cash.
ROBERT COCHRANE.
Butcher at the Market.
Peterboro', Oct. 8, 1861. 41

THE LARGEST, CHEAPEST AND THE BEST
PLACE TO PURCHASE
READY-MADE CLOTHING
IS AT
HAFFEY'S,
All the Clothing is made on the premises, and warranted!!
Peterborough, Sept. 26, 1861 39

MACLEARS'
ALMANACS FOR 1862.

THE subscriber begs leave to inform the public that he has received all his fall stock of BOOKS,
STATIONERY and
ROOM PAPER,
AND WILL SELL
CHEAP FOR CASH!
as the times are hard.
THOMAS MENZIES.
Peterboro', 14th Nov., 1861. 44-3in.

INFORMATION WANTED.

A DAUGHTER wishes to learn the present whereabouts of her mother, whom she has not seen for the last thirty-five years. Her maiden name was Polly Cook; her first husband's name was Warren Stone. It is said she married in 1849, a person named De Long, who was at that time engaged in some way in the manufacture of silk, in some part of Upper Canada. Any information respecting her will be gratefully received by addressing the subscriber, at 55 Frank Street, Rochester, N. Y.—Canadian papers will confer a favour upon one who has long been deprived of a mother's affections, by giving the above an insertion, entire or in part.
MRS. SEMANTHA JENNINSON.
Rochester, N. Y., 24th May, 1861.

NEXT OF KIN WANTED!

Hundreds of Millions Pounds Sterling
IN CHANCERY, BANK OF ENGLAND, &c., awaiting claimants. A Catalogue of the heirs and names of those to whom letters should be addressed in England, will be sent post free, on receipt of 50 cents in United States' stamps, or we for $1. Old claims must be presented at once. References:—A. K. Hill, Boston; J. Graham, Chief of Police, Haverhill. Address
W. W. S. ORESTON & Co.,
Box 250, Post Office, Boston, Mass.
3

VALUABLE
TOWN PROPERTY
FOR SALE.

THE comfortable Brick Houses near the business part of the Town.

THE Subscriber offers for sale these two neat and substantial built Brick Houses on Antrim street, one lot from George street. The houses are fitted up with every convenience; the partition walls are all brick. There is a good soft water cistern and spring well, sheds, &c., on the premises.

TERMS.—One half cash, the balance in three yearly instalments.

For particulars apply to
DAVID CARLISLE.
On the premises.
Peterboro, Oct. 23rd, 1861. 44-3in.

THE CHEAPEST & BEST PLACE
TO GET JOB PRINTING done, is at the EXAMINER Office.

NOTICE.

DR. D. PENTLAND,

BEGS to tender his sincere thanks to his friends and the public for the support extended to him during the last 3 years, and begs to intimate that he has formed a co-partnership with Dr. F. G. Callender, and will ever be happy to meet his customers and the public at our rooms, over the Fur Store, Scott's Buildings, Corners of George and Simcoe Streets
Peterboro, Dec. 3, 1861. 49

NOTICE.

Dr. F. G. CALLENDER,

WITH great pleasure returns his sincere thanks to his numerous patrons in Peterboro' and vicinity for the liberal support he has received during the last 15 years, and would also state that he has entered into Partnership with Dr. D. Pentland, and trusts that by strict attention to business will merit a continuance of the favor.
Rooms in Scott's Block,—at his old stand.
Peterboro, Dec. 4, 1861. 49

DENTAL SURGERY.

Drs. Callender & Pentland,
DENTISTS,

HAVING many years experience, feel confident in their ability to merit the approbation of all who may favor them with their patronage.
Having by their united efforts increased their facilities in the Mechanical Department, are prepared to furnish

ARTIFICIAL TEETH
IN THE MOST PERFECT STYLE,
AT VERY LOW PRICES!

☞ TEETH FILLED in a most careful and effectual manner, and WARRANTED.

TEETH EXTRACTED
with the least possible pain. ☞ Particular attention paid to the irregularities of Children's Teeth.

SATISFACTION GIVEN IN ALL CASES!

OFFICE over the Fur Store, Scott's Building Corner of George and Simcoe Streets, Market Block.
N. B.—Also, agents for the most popular makers of Piano-Fortes and Melodeons. Please call and see our instruments before purchasing elsewhere.
Peterboro, Dec. 4, 1861: 49

ALBUMS! GIFT BOOKS,
&c., &c., &c.,
FOR THE HOLIDAYS!

A Choice Assortment.

THE subscriber would call the attention of the public to his large assortment of STATIONERY, BOOKS, &C.,
SUITABLE FOR CHRISTMAS and
NEW-YEAR'S PRESENTS.
THOS. MENZIES, Bookseller.
Peterboro', Dec 3rd, 1861. 49

PETERBOROUGH
ROOM PAPER DEPOT.

NEWEST AND CHOICEST PATTERNS.

ROBERT STEVENSON,
(Sherbrooke Street,—nearly opposite the Huffman House,) offers his large stock of
PAPER-HANGINGS,
DECORATIONS,
BORDERS,
WINDOW-BLINDS,
&c., &c., &c.,
COMPRISING
OVER 20,000 Pieces!
at a Great Reduction from the usual trade prices, for Cash.

HIS STOCK OF PAINT BRUSHES,
Varnishes,
Oils,
Paints,
Window Glass,
Curtain Fixtures,
&c., &c., &c.
IS ALSO LARGE, GOOD AND CHEAP.
☞ Window Glass cut to order.
Peterboro, Nov. 19, 1861. 47

New Store! New Stock!

HOPKINS & DONNELLY

HAVING Removed to their New Store on Simcoe Street, opposite Messrs. Nicholls & Hall's Grocery Store, and having lately made considerable

ADDITION TO THEIR STOCK
OF Harness
and Saddlery!

will be happy to meet their former customers and the public at their new stand.
☞ Fresh MOCCASINS, and Goods of the best material.
Peterboro, Dec. 12, 1861. 50

SHOE-CLOSING!

THE subscriber is prepared to receive work in Shoe-Closing of all descriptions.
WM. DUMBLE,
Court House hill, one door above the Union School House.
Peterboro, Dec 4, 1861. 45

DOW'S CELEBRATED
PALE INDIA ALE,
IN WOOD AND BOTTLE.
OGILVY & HOOD.
Peterboro, Dec. 4, 1861. 49

NOTICE.

I HEREBY forbid any person or persons to harbour or credit my wife, Cecilia Mullen, on my account, as I will not be responsible for any debt incurred by her after this date.
JOHN MORAN.
Dumo, Nov. 20, 1861. 49tdn

FOR SALE.—Choice Teas and Sugars at the Sign of the Golden Fleece. W. CLUXTON.

Poetry.

For the Examiner.

THE TEMPEST.

"The Tempest and the Storm are God's Ministers."—Halleck.

The Spirit of the Tempest stalks abroad,
And with its stormy music wakes the world,
Peopling the night with its impassioned minstrels,—
The wild, unfettered, warring elements,—
That shake their fiendish locks amid the gloom,
And sweep along the starless canopy.
Far on the desert, where the primal curse,
Seems ripening with the stately march of time,
They swell their notes sublimely, but unheard
Save by the lone and dying traveller.
But soon they change their ruffian notes and wail
In plaintive tones, amid the lordless halls,
All windowless and broken,—and o'er their Mouldering fragments sing the strains of ruin;
Then fast careering through the gloom, they pluck
The billows from their ooze bed, and toss
Them to the skies: and, sitting on their bosoms,
Chant furiously their song of desolation.
The reeling sailor hears the revelry
Of winds that woo him o'the roaring deep,
And reels his bark the play-thing of the waves,
Casts back a hurried thought on home—his wife
And little ones, cast on the sympathy
Of a rude world, remorseless as the element,
Ambitious to devour him,—breathes a wish,
All eloquent, that Heaven in love would shield
Their helplessness, and snatch them from their fate.
The waves, in all the majesty of death,
Come like his ministers to wrap the pall
Of everlasting night around him,
Without the fragment of a wreck to tell
Succeeding voyagers 'twas here he perished!
The heedless winds sweep onward still, and o'er
His tomb chant their unmeasured elegies.
What though the lightning fierce your torches are,— Though thunder is the music of your revels—
Though in your wild career of desolation
You laugh at all the noble attributes
Of man;—still,—still you hold the charter
Of your wild freedom from the Mighty One,
The Governor of Universal Nature.
His mandate calls you from your prison house,
The ministers of wrath to do His pleasure;
Leaving whole countries like a wilderness;
Blighting the pride and fairest hopes of man;
And teaching fearful lessons of dependence
On Him alone from whom all blessings flow.
Anon—His look, all radiant with Omnipotence,
Surveys the storm on Nature's troubled brow,
And all is hushed into a summer calm.
C. S. D.
Otonabee, 1861.

The little White Angel.

A GERMAN STORY.

Some children stood in a group before the door of the village school-house one lovely summer evening.

They were all talking pleasantly together, from Kline, the son of the rich and proud Hofmeister, to little blue-eyed Carl, the only child of the poor baker.

It is very true that Kline wore a velvet jacket, richly embroidered, while Carl's coat was old, and his wooden shoes were rough enough in all conscience. But what of that? If they were good friends, what difference did that make, I should like to know? Wait till children become grown people, for pity's sake, before you expect them to measure each other's worth by what they possess or wear.

"The new school-master, Meinheer Friedrich, comes to-morrow, said Otto. "I am so glad; I am so weary of old Master Hoffman, with his crooked problems and hard lessons."

"So was I, truly," said Kline, who, although a good, merry boy, hated his books as he did medicine.

"Ah, thou didst always play better than work, my Kline," said Max, "and so did I. Meinheer Friedrich will be wise if he keeps me and thee apart during school hours. But come—see which can get home first—one, two, three!" and away they scampered, laughing and shouting as only school-boys can.

The following days the boys were standing around the school-house, when the door opened, and Master Friedrich himself appeared, and cried, in a cheery, hearty voice:

"Welcome, my children!"

"Welcome, master!" they cried.

And now they entered and took their seats and were quite still while the good master read a chapter in the Book of books, and then reverently prayed that the dear Saviour would guide him in his teachings, and bless them, and send His holy Spirit to watch over them all.

School began; the thumb-worn books were brought out; the lazy boys began to sigh and frown, and wish impatiently for the recess, and wonder why Latin dictionaries were ever invented; when, as if by magic, they found themselves listening to the pleasant voice of Master Friedrich, and actually understanding their lessons—so clear and simple were his explanations; and the time for recess came, to their great astonishment, long before they had expected.

When the studies were over, the master drew from his desk a box, and whilst the children gathered around, he opened it, and drew out charming little white and pink sea shells, pretty pictures, and many other beautiful things, which he gave to the children with loving words.

The most lovely thing of all was a little porcelain statute of an angel. She stood,—so fair, so pure,—with her small white hands folded over her breast, and with her eyes uplifted, and the children gazed enchanted.

"Oh, the dear angel! the beautiful angel!" cried they all. "Will thou not give it to me, Master Friedrich?"

But the good master smiled and said:

"The little angel is too lovely to be given to any boy who is not good and true of heart. We shall presently see who deserves her. He who brings me to-morrow the brightest thing on earth, shall have the angel."

At this the children looked at each other, as if wondering what the good master might mean. But he said no more, and they went home thoughtfully.

The next day, after the lessons (which had now become so pleasant) were finished, the children clustered around the master to claim him what they had brought.

Some of the smaller ones had picked up sparkling stones on the road, and as they held them in the sun-light were sure they must be something bright and precious.

Some had polished up a shilling till it shone like a little crown; one brought a watch-crystal which his father had given him, and which he considered a wonder of transparent brightness; and Kline, the rich Hofmeister's son, had brought a paste buckle, made to imitate diamonds, than which, in his opinion nothing could be brighter.

All these things were placed on the master's desk, side by side. The shilling shone away famously; the pebble and watch-crystal did their best; but Kline's buckle was the bravest of all.

"Ah, mine's the brightest!" shouted Kline, clapping his hands.

"But where is little Carl?" said Master Friedrich. "He ran out just now."

All eyes were turned to the door, when presently in rushed Carl, breathless. In his hands, held up lovingly against his neck, was a poor little snow-white dove. Some crimson drops upon the downy breast showed that it was wounded.

"Oh, master," cried Carl, "I was looking for something bright when I came upon this poor little white dove. Some cruel boys were tormenting it, and I caught it quickly and ran here. Oh, I fear it will die."

Even as he spoke the dove's soft eyes grew filmy, it nestled closer to Carl's neck, then gave a faint cry, drooped its little head and died.

Carl sank on his knees beside the master's desk, and from his eyes there fell upon the white dove's poor broken wing two tears, large and bright.

The master took the dead dove from his hands, and laid it tenderly down on the desk with the bright things, then raising Carl, he softly said, "my children, there is no brighter thing on earth than a tender, pitying heart."

The boys were silent for a moment, for they felt that the master had decided that Carl had rightly won the Angel. Then Kline cried out:

"My master, thou didst not fairly explain to us. I pray you give us another trial."

"Yes, dear master," said Max, "give us one more trial."

"What sayest thou, Carl?" said Master Friedrich.

"Yes, dear master," said the generous boy.

The good master smiled thoughtfully, and his eyes rested for a moment lovingly upon Carl; then glancing around, he said:

"He who brings me the loveliest thing on earth to-morrow shall have the angel."

The children clapped their hands and departed satisfied

After school the next day, Kline was the first to run up to Master Friedrich and lay upon his desk what he considered the loveliest thing in the whole world—his new soldier cap, with a long scarlet feather and bright gold tassel.

Max came next, and placed beside the cap a small silver watch, his last birth-day gift, with a bright steel watch-chain attached. Otto brought a great picture-book, just sent him by his god-mother. Rudolph a tiny marble vase, richly sculptured; and so on, until a more motley collection never before lay upon Master Friedrich's desk.

Then poor little Carl stepped modestly up and placed in the master's hand a pure lily.

The rich perfume filled the room, and bending over the flower, inhaling the delicious fragrance, the master softly said, "my children, the blessed Word of God says, 'Behold the lillies of the valley; they toil not, neither do they spin, yet Solomon, in all his glory, was not arrayed like one of these.' Carl has rightly chosen."

But murmurs arose; the children were not satisfied, and again they asked for another trial.

And, as before, good Master Friedrich inquired:

"What sayest thou, Carl?" And he answered as before, with generous haste, "Yes, dear Master."

"Now, this is the last time," said the master, "and he who brings me the best thing on earth shall have the angel."

"The very best thing on earth is plum-cake," cried Kline, on the third day, as he walked up to the desk, bearing a large cake, richly frosted with a wreath of sugar roses around the edge. This he placed triumphantly before the master, sure of the prize.

"Nay, thou art wrong this time, Kline," said Max. "I asked my father what was the very best thing on earth, and he gave me this golden guilder. The prize is mine."

"Ah, but my father said that the very best thing was a good glass of Rhenish wine," cried Otto, "and I have brought a bottle of it, thirty years old. The prize is surely mine."

So they went on, till all had placed their offerings before the master.

"And thou, Carl," said he, "what hast thou brought which thou thinkest the best on earth?"

A crimson flush rose to the little boy's forehead, and coming softly forward he took from his breast a small worn Testament, pressed it to his lips, and then reverently laid it down with the rest, as he said, in a low sweet voice, "My Mother, dear master, says that God's precious Testament is far beyond all earthly possessions."

"'Tis thine, my Carl," cried the master, snatching the boy to his breast. "The white angel is thine; for there is nothing in the wide world half so precious as the words of Christ." And he placed the angel in the hands of the trembling boy.

Kline knit his brows, and gazed with anger and disappointment at little Carl; and the rest, seeing him do this, felt themselves aggrieved; but suddenly the cloud cleared from Kline's face, and rushing forward, he caught Carl in his arms, crying, "Forgive me, dear Carl; now I am right glad that just won the prize."

Ah, the blessed effect of a bright example! Quickly joining hands, the children danced joyfully around little Carl, who stood in the midst, the white angel pressed to his heart—his hair falling in curls on the shoulders of his poor clothes—his eyes full of tears, but his face full of smiles.

The good master Friedrich also wept for joy, and prayed from the depth of his pure and simple heart that the Saviour would bless this lesson to the children's everlasting good. He had turned away that none might perceive his tears.

But one in Heaven saw them, Master Friedrich.

NOT BEYOND THE POWER OF LOVE.

Mr. Gough, in one of his recent lectures, proceeded to confute the idea that drunkards are so far brutes as to be beyond the power of Christian love, saying: "No, they are not brutes. I have labored for eighteen years among them, and I have never found a brute. I have had men to swear at me; I have had a man dance around me as if possessed of a devil and spit his foam in my face, but I never found a man that I would give up. It may take a long time to reach his manhood, but he is not a brute. I think it is Charles Dickens who says, "Away up a great many pairs of stairs, in a very remote corner, easily passed by, there is a door, and on that door is written "Woman." And so in the heart of the vilest outcast, away up a great many pairs of stairs, in a very remote corner, easily passed by, there is a door upon which is written "Man."

Here is our business—to find that door. It may take a long time, but begin and knock. Don't get tired, but remember God's long suffering for us and keep knocking a long time if need be. Don't get weary if there is no answer; remember him whose locks were wet with the dew.—Knock on—just try it—you try it, and just so sure, by the by, will the quivering lip and starting tear tell that you have been knocking at the heart of a man, and not of a brute. It is because these poor wretches are men, and not brutes, that we have hopes of them.

I once picked up a man in the market-place. They said, "He is a brute—let him alone." I took him home with me and kept the brute 14 days and nights through his delirium, and he nearly frightened my wife out of her wits one night, chasing her all about the house with a boot in his hand. But she recovered her wits and he recovered his.

He said to me, "You wouldn't think I had a wife and child, would you?"

"Well, I shouldn't."

"I have, and—God bless her little heart—my little Mary is as pretty a little thing as ever stepped," said the "brute."

I asked, "Where do you live?"

"Two miles from here."

"When did you see them last?"

"Two years ago."

Then he told me his sad story. I said, "You must go back again."

"I can't go back. My wife is better without me. I have struck her and abused her and kicked her. Can I go back again?"

I went with him to his house. I knocked at the door, and his wife opened it.

"Is this Mrs. Richardson?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, that is Mr. Richardson, and Mr. Richardson, this is Mrs. Richardson. Now come into the house."

They went in. The wife sat on one corner of the room, and the "brute" on the other. I waited to see who would speak first, and it was the woman. But before she spoke she fidgetted a good deal. She pulled up her apron till she got hold of a hem and then she pulled it down again.—Then she folded it up close and jerked it out through her fingers an inch at a time; then she spread it all down again, and then looked all about the room and said, "Well, William."

The brute said, "Well, Mary."

He had a large handkerchief around his neck, and his wife said:

"You had better take the handkerchief off, William, you'll need it when you go out."

He began to fumble about it; the knot was large enough; he could have untied it if he liked, but he said "will you untie it, Mary?"

She worked away at it, but her fingers were too clumsy, too, and she could not get it off.

While thus occupied their eyes met.—The lovelight was not all quenched. She opened her arms gently and he fell into them.

If you had seen those white arms clasped about his neck and he sobbing on her breast and the child looking in wonder first at one and then at the other, you would have said: "It is not a brute, but a MAN, with a great big, warm heart in his bosom."

.....Most ministers furnish the raw material for their own art, and commit every fault which they blame.

.....The passport to heaven is written nowhere else than upon the leaves of a pure heart.

.....It has been said that life is an epigram, of which death is the point. Alas for human nature! good points are very rare.

.....Why do people talk about feeling doubts in their own minds? Where else could they be expected to feel them?

....."Do you like the game of drafts, Madam?" "No, I don't like any game where I can't take a man without having first to jump over him."

.....Swinging is said by the doctors to be a good exercise for the health; but we have known many a poor wretch come to his death by it.

.....It has been said that spirits-vapors should not be admitted into the family circle because they might turn the parlor into a tap-room.

.....It is a general remark that all classes of persons are ever ready to give their opinions. We think the lawyers must be excepted; they sell theirs.

.....Some men spend the whole prime of their lives in telling down empty bottles, their empty casks, and to let every thing else go to ruin in trying to draw them up again.

EXPERIMENTING.

I have often noticed that parents commence with a theory, for the education and training of their children. To gain implicit obedience, they treat all dispositions alike, and bend and break them at will.

I have been travelling among my old friends this summer, and have been much interested in seeing them surrounded by their little ones, fresh and rosy, from the hand of the Creator. I have noticed also how different were modes of training, which I will illustrate by truthful instances which occurred while I was resident in their families.

My first visit was to Mary, who has one little boy, a gentle, pleasant child. One afternoon Charley had wandered away to the canal, and getting into a small boat that lay temptingly near the bank, had been rowing about with some boys. Now this was a forbidden treat, and my friend soon discovered the fault that Charley had committed when he returned about tea time with his feet wet and clothes soiled with wet and mud. There was to supper for him that night, and his mother led him up to his little room. She spoke very composedly to him, and with more than usual sternness in her manner. "My son, you may take off your jacket and hang it on that peg. Now, my son, remove the rest of your clothes, and get into your bed." Charley trembled, but he did not say a word; he laid his head on his pillow. "Now my son, say your prayers." So Charley said the formula he had been taught, but with a shrinking voice. I fear his little heart was not much in it. Then his mother descended to drink her tea, and as Charley heard the clatter of the dishes, he fervently wished he had not gone down to the dear, tempting canal.

After mamma was refreshed, she came up stairs, and proceeded to the closet, procured a rattan, and approached the trundle-bed, in the same cold, icy manner, finding the little victim far under the clothes.

"Now, my son, I am intending to punish you effectively. If you make the least noise, it will be twice as long and as severe. Therefore let there be no crying or any disturbance." So she gave him the modicum of stripes, and the child restrained, as far as possible, any of the anguish he felt.

While I sat in the adjoining room, a silent witness of this scene, I was filled with indignation. I felt as if she played with that child's sensibilities just as a cruising cat holds a mouse in its velvet claws and gently pats the shivering creature before devouring it. I thought of an exclamation Peter once made to me, "It is of no use to tell me not to punish a child in a passion, I never should do it at all if I waited to get cool." However objectionable such a mode of government may be, it is far preferable to this cold, unsympathizing manner. In a word, my friend was experimenting.

My cousin in B. had a number of children, and thither I went after a few weeks. Discipline in this family was of a different sort. The rod was never used, but I noticed that the children were seldom happy.—Their parents seemed on the watch for occasion for reproof. For the smallest offence they were condemned to bed at noon-day to lie for the rest of the day in duresse. Banishment from the table also was resorted to constantly. When I arrived, I looked around for my favorite Sammy, but found he was in bed, in consequence of some misdemeanor. Just down by the line which separated the garden from the neighbor's ground was a little pond with a boat in it where children were accustomed to play. My cousin's children were often invited to join them, but were constantly forbidden the ammusement, and the consequence was a violation of the rule; and often the little boys would creep through the gate and run to the shore for just one minute. Then the never-failing resort to a supperless bed, made me feel that too much watchfulness is perhaps as detrimental as too little care.

I was reminded of my own youth. My father forbade his children that delightful employment of swinging. All the youth of our acquaintance had swings in their attics, and we were deprived. Our father thought it would injure our brains to swing. There was a lady who lived near us who always wished us to have a delightful time when we visited her. She would open the door and say, "Go right up stairs, run as hard as you please. There is a nice swing with a cushioned seat, which is as easy as a cradle." "Oh!" but we replied, "our father never allows us to swing." "Oh, nonsense," she would say. "Go and enjoy yourselves, I'll make it all right with your father. Come, I'll give you the first swing," and she would seat one of us in the comfortable place and give us a push, away we flew through the air. Of course this dereliction would be followed by great vexations of guilt about the transgression, and not unfrequent pleasure was spoil for by bitter tears and confessions at home.

But little do parents know, when suddenly or hastily forbidding children little enjoyments that they have longed for, the struggle which goes on in their hearts. It is an hecessary to be judicious in the nature and extent of punishments in a family, as it is in the case of our army or navy. I have heard a distinguished man say that his father never had to raise a hand in punishment; "A look was sufficient, a finger pointed was enough. The very manner of lifting the spectacles and surveying me from head to foot almost withered me; I never dared disobey. Like the gentle nerve I was held in firm check by a superior hand."

Mrs. Meander was the last friend I visited on my route. I felt, while staying beneath her hospitable roof that she thoroughly studied the characters of her children, and sought a healthy mode of treatment for each. Among them there was one of quick intellect and indomitable play-fancy, which last trait had been a great trial to her gentle mother. I once saw an illustration of this. While in a shed, playing baby to be dressed in all his little carriage about the village corner, pleasantly engaging and flattering to me. Her countenance was, as usual, pleasant, and she was engaged in doing a thousand little things for others.

However, saw a steep place in the path, and fearing a sudden pitch might upset the baby, came forward, and taking hold of the carriage, said, "I will draw it down the hill." "No, mother, you said I might go, I must draw it myself." "After it is safe you shall," replied her mother. But it was all spoiled now; Miss Bell declared she did not want to go at all if her mother might not draw in the least. Now I looked with interest to see how my friend would manage this little will. She only quietly said, "Very well, you may go into the house.—A few of the children will do, they will help to draw sister. Bell turned and came slowly back, took her doll, and seated herself on the step. She did not cry nor pout. Her whole difficulty seemed to be that determined obstinacy. My friend remarked afterwards, "It is no use to try to break her will, but only to restrain it. Collisions are very bad in such cases, and we must study the different character presented."—Ah! how necessary it is that parents should first govern themselves, and looking up in these little ones with all the fondness of maternal love, wisely temper moderation with firmness, indulgence with wisdom.—Advocate and Guardian.

A NIGHTINGALE'S SONG.

One of the returned soldiers who was in Virginia tells the following story:—

"Shortly after the arrival of the regiment, the squad messing in a certain tent near a dwelling were listeners to most beautiful music. The unknown vocalist sang in tones so soft, so tremulous and so melodious, that the volunteers strained their ears to drink in every note of the air. "In the day time they went by the dwelling but saw no soul. Once they pursued a sylph-like figure to the very gate, but alas! she was not the lady sought for. And so they lived on each night hearing the music repeated, and when it ceased ambition and worldly interest went out with them and so their dreams were filled with fancies of the unseen face. One night, when gathered together the voice struck up again.

"By Jove!" said one "this is agonizing. I can't stand it. She must be discovered."

A dozen eager voices took up the remark and a certain nervous youth was delegated to reconnoitre the place. He crept on tip-toe toward the dwelling, leaped the garden poles, and finally, undiscovered, but very pallid and remorseful, he gained the casement.

Softly raising his head he peeped within. The room was full of music—he seemed to grow blind for a moment.

Lo! upon the kitchen floor, sat the mysterious songster—an ebony faced negress, scouring tin kettles!

The soldier's limbs sank down beneath him, and the discovered, looking up, shouted,—

"Go way dar, you sofer man, or I'll fly de frying pan at yer head. Don't stan' dar, peekin' at dis chile!"

The soldier left, his romantic visions dispelled.

IMPERFECT IN HIS FRENCH.

Not long after the general peace, in 1815 when all classes of English travellers, armed and unarmed, polished and unpolished, flocked to the continent in search of the classical and picturesque, one of the pilgrims met a companion sitting in a state of most woeful despair, and apparently near the last agonies, by the side of one of the mountain lakes of Switzerland. With great anxiety he inquired the cause of his suffering.

"Oh," said the latter, "I was very hot, thirsty, and took a large draught of the clear water of the lake, and then sat down on this stone to consult my guide-book.—To my astonishment I found there that the water of this lake is very poisonous! Oh, I am a gone man!—I feel it running all over me! I have only a few minutes to live! Remember me to——." "Let me see the guide book," said his friend. Turning to the passage he found—"L'eau du lac est bien poissonneuse."—"the water of the lake abounds in fish." "Is that the mean-ng of it?" "Certainly." "I never was better," said the dying man, leaping up with his countenance shining as radiant as the sun of the first May morning. Then extending his arm in the true long bow style—"there's muscle!" he exclaimed, and not a series of capers over the grass that would have done honor to a Vestris. "Who but would have become of you," said his friend, "if I had not met you?" "I should have died of imperfect knowledge of the French language."

SHREWD.

Secretary Cameron being overrun with applications from ladies for the places of nurses in the army hospitals, thought to get rid of their importunities by doing a deed that all who accepted the post should not wear hoops. Finding this readily agreed to by his tormentors, the next dodge was to issue an order that no one should be accepted who was under thirty years of age.—Thus did this business. The ward he was of that age in the country.

POLITE.—An old lady talking at a party about heads of hair exclaimed:

"If there is anything I hate, it is red hair!" Then seeing a young man standing by who had red hair, she made her former speech worse by saying, "But not such a pretty red hair as yours, Mr. W."

.....Where people speak of their grievances being so great that they cannot drown the noises of others, it is a sign that it won't sink.

.....Beautiful was the reply of a reverend saint to the question whether he was still in the land of the living? "No, but I am almost there."

.....A covenant with an unprincipled man is like a loose cartridge about one's person, which he can put on and off at pleasure.

.....We naturally hate pleasant thoughts as we grow older; we do not mark it, but unfortunately there is the character of it and our time runs out.

THE NEWS OF THE MASON AND SLIDELL CASE.

From the London News, Nov. 28.

THE American Government is surely the most unfortunate of governments, or else the most magnanimous. An officer of the Federal navy has struck a better blow for the rebels than their Generals Beauregard or Johnston have yet been able to do.

There is rejoicing on board the Nashville, and if Messrs. Yancy and Dudley Mann did not fete their friends last night, they missed a fine opportunity.

The news of the La Plata which we publish to-day will raise the spirits of the whole South.

The United States Government—for until the act is disowned and atoned for it must feel the responsibility—has struck its best friend in the face—a friend that never yet, when smitten on the left cheek, turned the right for a second blow. The remote consequences of the act we shall not attempt to predict. Enough for the present that it is one which will make it the duty of the Government to insist on ample, complete, and immediate satisfaction. Its wanton folly bids us hope that Lieut. Fairfax was acting without instructions, and that the Washington Cabinet will no sooner learn what has taken place in the Bahama Channel than it will disavow the act, restore Messrs Mason and Slidell, and tender the fullest apology. Nothing short of this reparation can be accepted. Until there has been time to receive news from Washington we feel bound to believe that the seizure of passengers on board the Trent was an act as much in excess of duty as it was in violation of public law. No Government should know better than that of the United States the lines which separate rights of belligerants and neutrals respectively. While this war lasts we must submit to have our mercantile vessels stopped on the high seas by both parties in search of contraband. Had Lieut. Fairfax confined himself to demanding Mr. Slidell's despatches, and taken them off we must have acquiesced in his visit as one of the disagreeable occurrences incident to a voyage in the neighbourhood of contending forces. But the seizure of persons stands on a different footing. In the eyes of Mr. Seward, Messrs. Slidell and Mason are rebels. In our eyes they are simply passengers, and the Washington Government may rest assured we shall no more permit it to take its rebels out of our vessels than we should concede a similar right to Austria or Russia. The circumstances of this event still more strongly compel us to disbelieve in the absence of direct evidence, that this aggression was ordered by the United States Government. The Cabinet at Washington knows perfectly well that it cannot act in this fashion with impunity.—In fact at this moment its cause lies at our mercy. We could with ease remove the severe pressure which it exerts on the South by means of its blockade, and on which more than on the sword it relies for success. We could open all the Southern ports at once to receive gold and commodities and munitions of war in return for cotton; and, if need were, we could at small cost find abundant occupation for all the San Jacintos they could muster, and for half the army of the Potomac into the bargain.—We have given no provocation for this outrage. The course of our Government has been uniformly bearing and considerate.—Lord Palmerston's high spirit has manifested itself only in magnanimity. No Minister could have avoided more anxiously all that could fairly give offence, or when occasions for remonstrance have arisen, as in the recent imprisonment of British subjects, have armed himself with more patience; and for what object should the United States Government risk a rupture with this country for the miserable gratification of getting the persons of two of its adversaries into its power. The Washington Cabinet has shown itself sufficiently imbecile, but to authorize the forcible arrest of gentlemen under the protection of the British flag would be nothing less than madness. Incidents like these are irritating, but the British people have the satisfaction of knowing that their affairs are under firm guidance. With the irascible Earl of Derby, or the fussy Lord Malmesbury in power, we might well be concerned for the interests of peace at a time like this. But from the present Government, we may expect energy without precipitation, and prudence without weakness. The course is tolerably clear, and it will be for the Government of the United States to determine what shall be the future relations of the two countries.

THE COTTON SUPPLY.

(From the Times, City Article.)

The hope increases that there will be little occasion for national alarm in connexion with the cotton question. Of course, there must be painful individual privations, but strange as it may seem, it would not be difficult to prove that up to this moment the country at large has been, both directly and indirectly, greatly benefited in a pecuniary and commercial sense by the consequences of the American struggle. But for that event a most severe crisis must, at about this period, have fallen upon the trade of Lancashire. Eighteen months back an attempt was made to warn the public that the shipments of cotton manufactures to the East and elsewhere, and the extension of mill-power in Manchester, were taking place upon a perilous scale, which threatened to be followed by a ruinous revulsion. Our annual exportations of Manchester manufactures amount to £35,000,000, and the loss to which we are liable when the shipments of a year or two prove to have been made to glutted markets may easily be conceived. That the evil on the present occasion would have been beyond all ordinary experience is demonstrated by the fact that, although the tidings of the American war have now for months past penetrated to all parts of the world, and our shippers during the same period have had every inducement to restrict their operations, there has scarcely yet, in the leading markets, been sufficient recovery to yield any satisfactory profits even on the articles shipped when the staple was only at half its present value. Of course there is confidence now that each future mail will bring higher prices from all quarters, and that the end will consequently be that our over-trading will be found to have brought large gains in the place of losses that appeared at one time inevitable. A condition has thus been averted which would, perhaps, have caused a suspension of a large majority of the weaker and more speculative firms. Perhaps it is not too much to estimate the saving from the turn on this prospect at eight or ten millions sterling. Again, our stock of cotton on the 1st of January was 643,670 bales, and the gain from the realization of this, at gradually advancing rates, may be estimated at two or three millions additional. An immense advantage must also be still only realized from the further gains in the prosperity of India, the productiveness of her revenues and the stability of her securities, which these, in turn, like the home investments, are improved by the value of our stocks of other materials, such as wool, jute, &c., which has been consequent upon the destruction in the supplies of the cheap rival article. At the same time it is to be observed that England will relatively be far less injured by the rise of price in the staple than America or other countries, since this is most heavily felt on the coarser fabrics, such as the American mills, even under high prospective tariff, can only create; while, as has been pointed out, the difference which it occasions on those articles that employ the greatest degree of operative skill is slight. Finally, it is certain that up to the present moment we have not, to the extent of a single piece of goods, had the slightest difficulty in meeting every legitimate demand of our foreign customers, and that the world will not sustain even any great temporary inconvenience before the productions of other regions will enable us to replenish their stocks. On the whole, therefore, we may, as a people, look upon the winter on which we have now entered not merely without dismay, but with a consciousness that one crisis has preserved us from another which would have been worse. Although it is out of the question that any individual nation can in the long run gain by the misfortunes of any other nation, it is so ordered, that sooner or later, the main portion of the evils brought upon the world falls upon those who are primarily responsible for them. Mankind would have been better off if America had still pursued commerce and civilization; but if we adhere to an honest and inoffensive course, our share in the common misfortune may be so small as to cause our progress to appear uninterrupted, and lead shallow observers to assume that the doctrine that the true interests of one country are inseparably bound up with those of every other has at length been shown to be fallacious.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Return of Convictions—C. A. Keller.
Christmas and New Year—Ogilvy & Hood.
Finnan Haddies—James Campbell.
Herrings—James Campbell.
Coffee—James Campbell.
Wines and Liquors—James Campbell.
Pale India Ale—Ogilvy & Hood.
Notice—Jas. Edwards.
Notice—Peter Pearce.
Strayed—Geo. Firman.
Lost—Bridget McCormick.
For Sale.

The Examiner.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 19, 1861.

TELEGRAPHIC REPORTS.

Knowing the great anxiety felt in the community at the present time for news of the chances of war with the United States, we have made an arrangement with the Agent of the Montreal Telegraph Company here to have all important despatches transmitted over the wires, so that we will be able to place the news before the Peterboro public before, or as soon as, it is published in Toronto. An "Extra" will be issued from this Office every time the news is of interest enough to warrant its publication.

PROSPECTS OF WAR.

The recent news from England seems to favor the opinion that war between the Northern States and England is imminent; indeed some imagine and declare certain and sure. The cause of this pervading opinion, as most of our readers are aware, is the insult offered to the British flag by a Federal man-of-war boarding a British Mail Steamer off the West Indies, bound for England, and taking four of her passengers prisoners, who had gone aboard at Havana. It was reported that two of these were ambassadors from the Confederate States and were on their way to England and France with despatches. The Captain of the British steamer refused at first to deliver up the persons claimed, and he yielded only when force was threatened and he saw that further resistance was to endanger the safety of his vessel and all on board. He yielded however, under a protest. Captain Williams, R. N., who was on board, in charge of the mails, came before the United States officer and in an emphatic and forcible manner denounced the illegal and piratical act. Having arrested the two Commissioners and their Secretaries they took them on board the San Jacinto from whence they have been transferred to a military prison of the Federal States. The steamer proceeded on her voyage to England where she has arrived, and the news so very warlike in its character which has just reached us may be put down as the first feeling of the people of England on the supposed illegal proceedings of the American ship of war—a feeling very easily aroused in the breast of a brave people when an insult is offered to their flag by another nation.

The conduct of Capt. Wilkes, the Capt. of the San Jacinto, has been approved of by the American Government. The Secretary of the Navy speaks very approvingly of the Captain's procedure, advises that a public acknowledgment should be made to him for his services in seizing Mason and Slidell, regretting however that he had not taken the steamer as well as the Commissioners. Congress has also passed resolutions endorsing the proceedings of Captain Wilkes, so that the boarding and seizure are approved of by the American Government. And should the English Government decide, as many suppose it will, that the procedure of the American Captain is a breach of international law, and demand the release of the persons so illegaly captured, the Federal Government will find themselves in a very awkward position. It is very generally supposed that as a people they have not grace enough to make the concession demanded, and consequently war will be inevitable. The London Times in going into the question admits that the right of search and a control only by a belligerent ship of war exists as an established international law. That citizens of a belligerent state, and all contrabands of war, may be seized from on board neutral ships in time of war. But, notwithstanding the plain renderings of the law on this point, there is a lack-grace applied to the case in hand—the Federal States are at war with whom? The States, however, will not admit that they are at war, in the sense that war is usually interpreted; they maintain they are engaged in putting down rebellion amongst their own people. Then if they are not at war with another State the passage from international law is not applicable to them, and the seizure in question is illegal.

But it is said that England has acknowledged both South and North as belligerents, and the law as interpreted by England is much more favorable to the Northerners than they will admit themselves.

If they stand upon the legality of the capture of Messrs Sliddell and Mason, they will have to acknowledge the fact which all the world acknowledges but themselves, that there is a Southern Confederacy of independent States, with a Government, Army and Navy, in fact with all the paraphernalia of a Nation. This unfortunate occurrence has very much complicated the already entangled state of affairs in the hands of the Washington Government.—And it will require all the wisdom of the Cabinet to arrest the fearful end of a refusal of the British demand for satisfaction for an unjustifiable detention and seizure.

We have been extremely sorry to observe the determination of a portion of the American press, and of its public men to pick a quarrel with England,—and amongst the latter we may mention Mr. Seward, the Prime Minister of the Federal nation. And for what pray? At one time she lacks sympathy with the Northern cause,—at another she acknowledged the Southerners as a belligerent power,—then she shows sympathy with the South,—her neutrality is a sham, &c.—Such silly and false charges will only be preferred by those who are determined to quarrel, and judging from what we know of them already, a charge as foul as that of the wolf to the lamb, though refuted as successfully will not prevent these fire-eaters from quarrelling with us.

Thank Heaven if they succeed in drawing the Nation into a war we have little to fear from them just now, whilst they in such a case will have good grounds to fear almost National annihilation.

Our belief and our hope are, however, that the good sense of the Nation will prevail over the counsels of political adventurers. The intelligence and wealth of the Northern States we believe are on the side of peace with Britain,—that interest and inclination are alike on the side, to cement the ties which bind them to the Fatherland.

With all the bluster and smoke made by demagogues, braggarts and penny-a-liners, who cater to the depraved appetites of a deprared crew, we have no fear of a war just now with the American people.

We cannot bring ourselves to believe that they are so mad, with so huge a job in their hands, to undertake a heavier one, until at least the former is disposed of, especially as no good hope of a speedy termination lightens up the enormous preparations made to accomplish the object intended thereby. The Northern people will yet see by and by if they persist in justifying the act of the seizure, and especially if England's law officers, as they may do, justify it too, the Cunard and Canadian lines of steamers overhauled by Southern ships of war for Northern ships and contraband of war.

Had such a case occurred, instead of the one that has taken place how loud would have been the Northern press and people for Britain to visit the insult to her flag with condign punishment. They have already been taught in the Harvey Birch and Nashville case that the Southerners can play a game at reprisals, and will continue to do so when they can.

Let us Canadians, however, seek to do all in our power to secure peace. Let us not mock the Almighty to His face when we pray "O Lord, give peace in our day. Scatter the Nations that delight in war."

And should war unfortunately come upon us, let it not be charged against us that we have said or done anything to provoke it.

THE POST-MASTER GENERAL ABROAD.

Several weeks ago we directed attention to the fact that notwithstanding the magnificent promises made by Mr. Sidney Smith, when canvassing the County, he had not yet given the slightest attention to even the most important postal defects, by which the people of Peterborough are sufferers.

We innocently supposed that we had only to call the attention of the Post-master General,—who, according to his own account, gave so important mail facilities in the Western World to the governments of Europe,—to the fact that so glaring and easily-remedied a defect existed at home, in order to get the necessary change effected. But although several weeks have since elapsed there is yet no change for the better.

At the present time when the latest intelligence is so anxiously looked for, it is monstrous that through what seems the sheer incapacity, in his own department too, of the man from whom his deluded followers expected so much, the inhabitants should not receive the latest news by mail until thirty hours after it is published in the Toronto daily papers.

With proper mail arrangements the Toronto dailies should arrive here by noon on the day they are published.

Had Mr. Smith kept his word and remained one of our "domestic institutions" there might have been a chance that for his own convenience he would have altered the present arrangement, but now that he has again taken wing, and goose to parts unknown, we suspect there is as little prospect of relief as there is of payment of his election expenses.

We never believed in Mr. Smith's vaunted administrative ability; and are not altogether sorry that those who anticipated such great things from the boaster should now have an opportunity of acknowledging that we estimated him correctly, when we declared him a humbug and an incapable.

His former admirers are as anxious as we are, in these stirring times, to get the latest news with as little delay as possible, and we are surprised if even they will now consider they have chosen fit and able to represent their interests, when he shows so little regard to the wants of his own department.

We say safely often that there is not another Town of equal the same size or importance in the Province so neglected by the Post Office department as Peterboro, and when we recall the fact that it is by the vote of this County that Mr. Smith holds his place and draws his salary, we leave his supporters here to form their own estimate of his gratitude.

Unless the improvement desired is speedily effected we shall have more to say on the subject.

☞ Patrick O'Neil, who bit the nose off Vanhuben's face, a few days ago, was sentenced by Judge Dreyer, to six months to the fullest extent the law will allow:—five years in the Provincial Penitentiary.

☞ There is a correspondence going on between the Globe and the Leader, in which some very hard things are said by both writers. We intend reviewing the correspondence, it being one out of the ordinary line of newspaper warfare. We regret to find that both parties have invaded the acknowledged etiquette of the Editorial sanctum.

TOWN COUNCIL.

At the meeting on Monday the Mayor stated that during the past week he had been served with a summons from the Executors of the late Mr. Zimmermann for a judgment they had obtained from the Port Hope, Lindsay and Beaverton R. R.

The time for the Collector to make his returns was extended to 31st inst.

On motion, His Worship the Mayor and Mr. W. Clarke were authorized to proceed to Toronto, and secure the services of the best counsel that could be obtained to enter an appearance and defend the suit now brought against the Town by the Zimmermann estate.

The Mayor brought before the Council, as a question of privilege, the statement made in the EXAMINER of last week that a flag had been raised by his orders, over the Town property, on the occasion of the late election. His Worship denied having authorized the raising of the flag; the flag was not the one belonging to the Town.—Some boys gained access to the Town building and put up a flag, without his knowledge.

[We made the statement on what we considered reliable authority, but we accept the explanation and denial, and hasten to withdraw the charge. The correct version is that a flag was raised, but not at the instance of the Mayor.—Editor Examiner.]

LIFE ASSURANCE.

No. IV.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

MR. EDITOR,—In my last I endeavored to show that the advantages to be derived from Life Assurance were within the reach of all, it is however to be regretted that so few avail themselves of its benefits. Life Assurance when effected for a praiseworthy object is of the soundest philanthropy, illustrating the truth that difficulties foreseen are more than half overcome.

Man in his strength and confidence calculates he shall live many years—at least three score and ten; but who is not liable to the accidents of which we daily read?—What truly attached husband or affectionate parent would, whilst in health, omit the obvious duty of insuring his life?

We ask the young man of business, whether married or not, to put this alternative to himself: I can lay out, say five shillings or one dollar a week in personal comfort or luxuries, which will enlarge themselves as my life advances and will leave no profit to me in the end, or I can apply the same amount of weekly saving to an insurance on my life of over $2,400, and which will make me a happier, more contented, and therefore a healthier man, and, if persisted in through life, a better one.

Reader, pause and reflect. Have you never felt it to be a duty you owe to those whom you may have been the means of bringing into existence to provide for them in the event of your decease. Let us hope that the time is not far distant when Life Assurance shall be generally adopted, and the memory of the man who neglects so important a duty be held up to scornful reprobation for leaving his offspring a legacy to society, while its adoption would certainly be the means of conferring inestimable benefits on his dependents. Besides, its neglect will surely cause a large amount of unavailing anguish on his dying pillow, and be the means of consigning those who are nearest and dearest to him to penury and want.

Reader, insure your life, because the sacred and affectionate, as well as legal ties, which should exist in all families under it make it absolutely incumbent that the husband and father should pursue all the moral and legitimate means within his reach to confer benefit upon his wife and children—benefits that will live in the memories of his surviving family after he dies, and which will cause him to be gratefully remembered by the beloved ones he has left behind, who, but for the advantages of Life Assurance, would probably have to struggle in a world replete with religious theories, but very hollow and deficient in genuine religious practice.

ONE OF THE INSURED.

Dec., 1861.

INFORMATION TO SCHOOL TRUSTEES.

MR. EDITOR,—If you can afford space for the following remarks, they might perhaps be useful at this season to some of your readers:

1st, I suppose every School Section has taken due care to appoint the auditors required by the late Amendment Act of 1860, the one by the Trustees before the 1st December, and the other by the School Electors, not later than the 22d December. See Journal of Education for Nov. 1861.

2d, I trust that School Electors will bear in mind the Notices by the Chief Superintendent of Education, that no one having any contract with the Trustees, except for a School site, or as Collector of School-rates, can be a Trustee. And consequently no Trustee can receive a salary from the Board as Secretary or Treasurer, &c. without forfeiting his seat as a Trustee.—See Journal of Education for March 1861.

3d, Teachers moving from one county to another must have their county certificates renewed by the Board of the County to which they remove, or, if no Board in then sitting, by the Local Superintendent, until its meeting: as a county certificate does not extend beyond the county granting it.

4th, That Teachers having Third Class County Certificates, not renewed by the Board within the year, cannot legally draw their salary: the Certificate cannot be renewed by the Local Superintendent.

These hints may be useful at this season to prevent parties getting themselves into difficulties in the course of next year. The knowledge of this will fall lightly now; and therefore, Mr. Editor, your insertion of them will much oblige, yours, &c.

L. S.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

SIR,—By your permission, I shall be happy to give an "Inquirer," in your last issue, any information I can in possession of respecting the works he referred to. Jones' Ecclesiastical History was published in 3 vols. by G. Wightman, Paternoster-row, London. If I remember well, the same work is published by the American Baptist Publication Society, 530 Arch Street, Philadelphia. Some of Robinson's Works, if not his Ecclesiastical Researches, are published by the same Society. Carson on Baptism is sold by P. R. Randall, 95 King St. East, Toronto: price probably about $1.25; who also, I have no doubt, could easily get the other works referred to.—Carson on Church Government is published by Houlston & Stoneman, London, at five shillings sterling. There is another work recently published by the A. B. U. which I would take the liberty of recommending to an "Inquirer," entitled "Baptizein," being an Appendix to Matthew, revised by Dr. Conant, one of the first scholars of the age. Published by W. H. Wyckoff, 350 Broome St. New York. It has every known instance of the occurrence of Baptizo in Classic Greek, and very valuable information respecting its use among the "Church Fathers." It proves that immersion is its one only true meaning. It is exhaustative.

Dec. 18, 1861. ANTIGRAPHE

PETITION TO PARLIAMENT.

The friends of the Temperance cause in the Eastern Townships are moving onward vigorously. They propose that Abstainers throughout the Province should bring the question of a Prohibitory Liquor Law again before Parliament, and as a preliminary step advise the adoption of the following form of petition:—

To the Honourable the Legislative Assembly of the Province of Canada, in Parliament assembled:

HUMBLY SHEWETH:

THAT, in the opinion of your petitioners, the sale of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, is productive of unmixed evil in any community: and that it would be conducive to the public good, and would contribute to social comfort, and to public and private economy, and enhance the interests of morality and religion, to prohibit and prevent by law, the sale, for a beverage, of spirituous, vinous, fermented and malt liquors, within this Province. Therefore, your petitioners humbly pray that an Act may be passed to prohibit the sale of all intoxicating liquors, to be used as a beverage, within the Province of Canada, and your petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—A lamentable accident took place at St. Joachim, county of Montmorency, on Monday afternoon last, by which a young man named Bouchard, son of Mr. Joseph Bouchard, of St. Roch's, lost his life. It appears that the deceased, accompanied by a brother a few years older than himself, was returning from a shooting excursion on the North Shore. When crossing Cape Tourment, an axe, which the deceased had in his hand, slipped from his grasp, and fell some distance down the face of the cliff. He immediately began to descend for the purpose of recovering it.—His brother urged him to take a safer but more circuitous path; but he persisted.—The former went round by the path, and on arriving on the spot where the deceased had gone down, was astonished to see that his brother was not there. A closer examination, however, disclosed the horrible fact that he had fallen to the bottom of the cliff, where his mangled and lifeless remains lay, so much disfigured as to be almost unrecognizable.—Quebec Chronicle, Dec. 11.

PECULIAR PEOPLE.—General Fremont attended Henry Ward Beecher's Church on Sunday before last. After the service the people made a rush for the General's pew, and detained him half an hour with handshaking; and when he was seated in his carriage, at the church door, they crowded the street, and gave him three cheers.

SINGULAR CASE OF COMMITMENT.

On Wednesday a man from the Township of Potton, named Horace Allan was committed to the Montreal Jail, under a warrant dated 2nd Dec., and signed by J. S. Pike and G. C. Robertson, Justices of the Peace for the Township aforesaid.—We learn from the statement of the warrant, that the prisoner having been heard to utter threats to the effect that he would burn the barn of a farmer, named James Hylands, was required to enter into his recognizance in the sum of $200, and produce two sureties in $100 each, binding him to keep the peace for one year towards all persons in general, and Hayland in particular; and that the prisoner was "sentenced to 90 days' imprisonment in the common jail of this district, unless he found sureties to keep the peace as aforesaid, and pay costs of his committal to said jail." The fact, therefore, of Allan being committed to jail as above related, shows that he failed to comply with the conditions prescribed by the Magistrates. Yesterday, our worthy jailor, Mr. McGinn, having noticed that there were several important omissions in the commitment, such as that of the items comprising the costs and charges of the prisoner's committal, and which he was condemned to pay; and further, that Messrs. Pike and Robertson had neglected to sign themselves Justices of the Peace,—took the document to the Crown Office, where it was seen that it was totally worthless as a legal commitment. The prisoner will doubtless be discharged immediately. He stated that he was innocent of the charge which Hyland had trumped up against him on his suing him for $100 which has been owing upwards of a year. Had not Mr. McGinn fortunately discovered the imperfect nature of the document, the prisoner would no doubt have been subjected to the hardship of a three months' separation from his family, and imprisonment in the common jail, when probably innocent of the offence laid to his charge by Hyland.—Commercial Advertiser.

STIR AMONG THE COLOURED PEOPLE.

William Wells Brown, of Boston, the well-known colored author is now on a tour through the Canadas, encouraging and stimulating the colored people to self-elevation, sobriety and emigration from the cities and towns to the West Indies. The Prototype says he gave a very interesting lecture to the colored citizens in London, on Monday evening, on which occasion a large number turned out to hear him. He urged his brethren to become tillers of the soil and said that, to those who were unable to purchase land in Canada, the republic of Hayti offers a free homestead, equal citizenship with the native, and all the privileges enjoyed by those born on the island. With regard to self-elevation, he urged his brethren to throw aside all intoxicating drinks, give up the pipe and tobacco and to devote their leisure moments to the cultivation of their minds. The audience appeared to appreciate very highly the remarks of the speaker, and said that such lectures were calculated to accomplish much good among the colored population.

....An American paper says that a man employed in unloading a vessel at Thom's Dock, had his foot crushed by a heavy piece of lagwood rolling on him. This seems to be an entirely new mode of amputation, but science is progressive.

LATEST FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE "EUROPA."

WARLIKE NEWS!

LAW OFFICERS DECLARE THE SEIZURE OF MASON AND SLIDELL ILLEGAL.

REPARATION DEMANDED!

Halifax, Dec. 15.

The Royal Mail steamship Europa, Captain Anderson, from Liverpool at 8.30 p. m., November 30, arrived at 11 p. m. today.

LATEST PER EUROPA, VIA QUEENSTOWN.

Liverpool, Nov 10—8 a m.—The speculations of the American press on the San Jacinto affair are eagerly canvassed here, and the general deduction is that there is less cause to fear a rupture between the two countries.

It is rumoured that the Cabinet is modifying the instructions to Lord Lyons, under the influence of the Persia's advices, and hence the detention of the Europa at Queenstown.

A Privy Council was held at Windsor on Saturday.

The Observer states that a special messenger by the Europa carries the demand of the British Government to Lord Lyons, insisting upon an apology and restoration to the British flag of the rebel Commissioners.

The same paper states that large reinforcements are to be immediately sent to Canada.

A large ship is loading with guns and ammunition of all kinds for the same destination.

The Observer states that there is no reason why the Commissioners should not be restored to the quarter deck of the British Admiral, in the face of ten or twelve British men-of-war on the Potomac.

Nearly all the weekly papers treat the question of the San Jacinto in the same energetic spirit as the daily papers.

Agitation increases.

Queenstown, 2nd.—The Times city article of the 30th November, shows that the fall of 2 per cent in consols, and 4 to 5 per cent in shares, while the question of actual war is altogether indicated is not justified by the nature of the case. Between January and March, 1854, when a war was declared against Russia, and consols went from 93¼ to 80⅞; and within two months they had recovered to 91¾, yet the rate of discount at the time of the outbreak was nearly twice as high as at present, and the stock of bullion at the Bank was considerably lower. Throughout the entire struggle the value of money was unaltered beyond the extent of one per cent. The position of the Federal States of America is almost identical in every commercial point with that which was occupied towards us by Russia. Russia had a hostile tariff while we looked to her for a general supply of breadstuffs; but there is this peculiarity in our present case that the commencement would be by breaking up the blockade of the Southern ports, and at once set free our industry from the anxiety of a cotton famine, and sure prosperity to Lancashire through the winter, at the same time we shall open our trade to 8,000,000 in the Confederate States who desire nothing better than to be our customers with respect to necessary considerations. Also, the contract between the two periods is all in our favour.

The Privy Council held by Her Majesty on Saturday last, was for the purpose of issuing an order prohibiting the export from the United Kingdom or carrying coastwise of all gunpowder, saltpetre, nitrate of soda, and brimstone.

The Queen's proclamation is published in the London Gazette extraordinary.

On Friday the Cabinet directed Lord Russell to prepare a despatch for Lord Lyons. On Saturday the Ministers met again to revise and finally settle its terms, and it was sent off the same evening. The Times understood that this communication, though couched in the firmest language, presumes that the Federal Government will not refuse to make honorable reparation for an illegal act. The Times has but small hope of such disavowal.

At the date of the last despatches the act of the captain of the San Jacinto had been accepted by the Northern public. The N. Y. journals were urging his promotion, that a naval officer had the spirit to board a British vessel and carry off rebels is enough to ensure a storm of popularity.

By the time Earl Russell's despatches arrives the multitude may have already declared to the Government the treatment which Capt. Wilkes is to receive. It becomes us to be prepared for an unfortunate issue in Canada in case of war with the Northern States. The TIMES adverts to Mr. Seward's recent instructions to the people near the Canadian frontiers. The only inference was that he was about to force a quarrel with England.

The TIMES says the wisest course for Canada will be to prepare; to let her at once discipline her militia and emulate the mother country by drilling a volunteer army. Montreal only wants stout hearts and zealous hands to be safe until the spring returns when we can make it secure. The danger to Montreal or any other point on the frontier is lest Canada should rely too much on us, or too little upon herself.

In regard to the navy the TIMES says that three classes of vessels comprise eight line-of-battle ships, six frigates, four corvettes and 12 sloops, mounting to a grand total of 1,861 guns. The steam gun-boats attached are not included, which are 21 in number, with 52 guns. This, however, does not include the gunboats and mortar vessels laid up. The rest is entirely confined to effective vessels at present or these which could be rendered so with little delay. The ships in commission for service at Portsmouth mount 342 guns. The total number of guns in the ships enumerated above is 225, while Admiral Milne's fleet on the North American station amounts to 837 guns.

The Times says the depositions of the officers of the Trent have been submitted to the law officers of the Crown, and their opinion has been given that the proceedings of the American frigate are not justifiable by the law of nations. It is, we understand the opinion of these jurists that the right of the Federal Government, acting by its officers, was confined to visiting and searching the said packet. That if any men or things belonging to the confederate states were found on board of her the other course was to take her into port and submit the case to the Prize Courts, which would hear evidence and arguments on both sides and, here decided the case according to to precedent and authorities. The Times observes that this proposition seems so clear that it requires only to be stated to obtain universal assent. The Cabinet meets on Friday to consider what action shall be taken. We do not wish to speculate as to what steps they may consider necessary. If Mason and Slidell were wrongly taken, they must be restored with sufficient apology.

The News says:—"Beneath everything there exists an undercurrent of apprehension lest the American Government finally contemplate the desperate policy of seeking to fasten a quarrel on Great Britain, in order to gain a standing ground for abandoning the design of subjugating herself."

The Times of the 30th ult. makes the important announcement that the Cabinet has come to the conclusion that the act of the captain of the San Jacinto, of seizing passengers on a British vessel and carrying them forcibly away is a clear violation of the law of nations, and one for which reparation must be at once demanded. In all probability the first steamer will carry out instructions to Lord Lyons to demand reparation for the ill advised act of the seizure of Mason and Slidell while under the protection of the British flag. Should this just demand not be complied with, we cannot doubt that Lord Lyons will under the instructions of his government withdraw with the British delegation from Washington.

The Times expresses the belief that the Cabinet has taken a view of the matter which will be satisfactory alike to the patriotism and reason of the country. The Times says the principle on which the government rests its demand is that a British ship must until her violation of neutral rights is fully proved be held to be British ground as much as if she were an actual piece of British soil, and the right of protection to all persons on board is as valid as on British territory. Now no such violation has been proved or sought to be proved against the Trent, consequently the seizure of four persons dragged from her decks was entirely illegal.

Referring to the report that the seizure was the act of the American commander not expressly directed by the government the Times says it learns the Federals had deliberately determined to seize the Southern Commissioners, and it is understood that General Scott had declared since his arrival at Paris that the seizure had been the subject of the Cabinet discussion at Washington long before he left.

The export of saltpetre and warlike stores were formally prohibited. It was stated that one ship, with a large cargo of saltpetre, for America, had been stopped, and the reloading of warlike stores already shipped, had been required. The naval volunteers were offering to come forward to protect the honour of the British flag. There is no confirmation of this report.

Ten Thousand Troops were to be sent to Canada.

Consols on the 29th opened at a further fall of ⅛ under the opinion of the law officers, and the business increased and transactions took place at 1 per cent decline, and 2 per cent below the quotations before the news of the Trent affair. At the close there was a rally of about ahalf per cent. United States 5's, which were quoted before the news at 76 a 78, are nominally 70 a 75.

In the discount market the general rate continues at 2½ per cent.

FRANCE.

The French journals generally look upon the Trent affair in the interest of England. Letters from France state that the news of the American difficulties caused immense sensation in Paris, and the first general impression was that ample reparation must be made to prevent a collision. Communications have taken place between the English and French Governments, and a good understanding on the subject was believed to exist. The Paris Patrie maintains that the American Government had no right to arrest the Southern Commissioners while on a British mail steamer, and asserts that the British Government should immediately prepare to send reinforcements to Canada.—The same journal also gives a report that Admiral Milne, commander of the British West India squadron, on hearing of the San Jacinto affair, forthwith detailed three war vessels to escort the steamer between Havanna and St. Thomas, for the protection of Southerners travelling by that route.

Liverpool Produce Market.—The brokers' circular reports rosin fine at 13s. 3d. a 14s. Ashes firm. Sugar firm. Linseed oil firm at 36s.

London Markets.—Breadstuffs quiet but steady.

Consols closed on Friday at 92¼ a 92⅜ for money.

The weekly returns of the Bank of England shows an increase of £231,000 in bullion.

VERY LATEST.

THE AMERICAN GOVERNMENT DISPOSED TO HOLD THEIR FIRST GROUND.

Washington, Dec. 15.

The despatches relative to the action of the British Government, which will appear in the New York journals of Monday next, were received by the Government this afternoon.

Notwithstanding the belligerent attitude assumed there is no disposition on the part of any member of the Cabinet to alter the plans or policy of the Government, assumed in the arrest of Slidell and Mason.

The report of the demand of the English Government for the surrender of Mason and Slidell causes great excitement, as it extends through Washington, and is discoursed on the streets and in hotels.

MORE TROOPS FOR CANADA.

The London Times of the 25th ult. says a rumor was prevalent at the head quarters of the Royal Marines, Chatham, the day previous, that in addition to the expeditionary force of Royal Marines which had just proceeded to Mexico, the government had decided on despatching a battalion of marines to Canada.

☞ An alarming increase of insanity in England is noted in the English journals. The county of Surrey has at present one large lunatic asylum at Tooting, in which there are now nearly one thousand inmates; and although the establishment is much crowded it is still found inadequate to receive the requisite number of patients, a great many of whom are in private asylums and other places.

☞ A pickpocket was caught in a very singular way on Thursday, in London. He snatched a watch from a gentleman's pocket and made off with it, and had got as far as Twining's bank, when a cabman, in fostering his whip, caught the man around the throat with it, and it fastened on him so tightly that it not only pulled him up, but almost strangled him. He was captured and the watch found on him.

☞ The Weekly Times, a London paper, of enormous circulation, has the following, as part of a general survey:—"When we cast our thoughts across the Atlantic we may fear that the cause of reform and progress is there in abeyance; but this is by no means the case. The war between the North and the South is a war involving great principles, although they may not be avowed by either party. Liberty and freedom and justice and progress are deeply involved in the struggle, and it would seem that only by such a contest could liberal doctrines prevail. All must regret that a nation should be divided; but it is better that the friends of reason and of democracy should know who are with them and who are against them. The cause of mankind will not, in the long run, lose by the contest."

NARROW ESCAPE OF BLONDIN.

On Thursday Blondin, in his after dark performance at the Crystal Palace met with an accident by which he nearly lost his life. His performance on the rope had been going on for some time, when, says one account, the lights became exhausted, and all was total darkness, and the whereabouts of the daring adventurer was entirely lost to the gaze of the anxious crowds below. This state of things continued for some considerable time, perhaps a quarter of an hour, and people began to look grave, and to ask themselves the question as to whether the "poor fellow" had met with some mishap. All eyes were bent on the south most when suddenly a blue light was kindled, and Blondin, amidst tremendous clapping of hands and shouting of "Bravo!" appeared wheeling a barrow, discharging fire-works of a most magnificent description. This he continued to wheel with as much steadiness and self-assurance as though he had been on terra firma, till he reached within a few feet of the centre mast, and here it was that he nearly lost his life. He was standing with the handles of the barrow in his hands, and his balance-pole resting, as it were, on the handles; a man was stationed on the platform of the mast to render what assistance might be necessary; and this assistant, while in the act of raising the wheel of the barrow from the rope, to enable Blondin to wheel it on to the platform, by some means or other overbalanced his master, and in an instant the pole came sudden upon the ground, and Blondin fell head downwards, most miraculously saving himself by clasping the rope with his feet; and in this position he remained some minutes before he could regain his hold, when he seated himself astride the rope, and was loudly greeted by the thousands who a minute before were horror struck at his perilous position. He then stepped on to the platform, whence he was drawn on his hobby-horse amidst a grand display of fire-works and tumultuous cheers of congratulation. His wife, who witnessed the narrow escape of her husband was carried from the gallery in hysterics. Blondin himself displayed the greatest coolness, and not a nerve appeared shaken.

A MYSTERIOUS RING.

The London correspondent of the Belfast News Letter tells this story:—On Tuesday, a well known auctioneer of Bond Street submitted for sale by auction, a quantity of miscellaneous property 'received from the country.' The sale also included a library of books, some costly furniture, a quantity of plate, and several articles of personal jewellery. The effects were evidently of a very superior description, and must have belonged to persons of some social position. Among the lot was a ring, described in the catalogue as 'an ancient gold ring, set with diamonds.' The upper part of the ring was oblong in form, and the diamonds were set in a hard enamelled substance, made to represent emerald. The intrinsic value was said to be about £10 or £13. Several persons present bid for the ring until the price went up to £15 when two gentlemen were observed to bid against each other with great pertinacity. It soon became evident from their manner that they were influenced by something more than a desire to possess a curious article of Jewellery.—The dealers, finding the bidding already in excess of the intrinsic value, left the matter in the hands of the two competitors, who bid until one hundred guineas was announced by the auctioneer. At this time the hammer was suspended for some moments, until at length one of the gentlemen nodded and the auctioneer announced that one hundred and five guineas was the bid. "One hundred and ten guineas," exclaimed the other gentleman, and the bidding went on alternately, until it reached one hundred and seventy guineas, at which price it was finally knocked down to the gentleman who had first advanced upon a hundred guineas. The crowd in the room gave a murmur of applause as the auctioneer declared the purchaser. The gentleman in question pulled out his pocket-book and counted out the cash in clean, crisp Bank of England notes, while a flush of triumph lighted up his countenance. A person standing beside him said, 'Well, Sir, you were determined to have it,' to which he replied with a

RETURN OF CONVICTIONS,

Made by Her Majesty's Justices of the Peace within the United Counties of Peterborough and Victoria, from the September Sessions to the December Sessions, 1861.

PROSECUTOR.	DEFENDANT.	NATURE OF CHARGE.	DATE OF CONVICTION.	CONVICTING JUSTICE.	AMOUNT.	TIME WHEN TO BE PAID.	TO WHOM PAID OVER.	REMARKS.
John Jordon,	Charles Logie,	Non-payment of Wages	June 12	William Thornhill,	4 95	July 19th,	Treasurer Lindsay
John Jacobs,	C S Jewitt,	" "	June 17	Robert Lang	7 50			Distress warrant issued.
Simon McCabe,	Patrick Connors,	Petty trespass	June 17	" "	20	Forthwith	Treasurer Lindsay
Town of Lindsay,	J Collins,	Drunk and disorderly	June 17	" "	1 00	Forthwith	Treasurer Lindsay
Thomas Hatton,	Hugh McCabe and Samuel Budd,	Assault	June 24	" "	1 00	Forthwith		Distress warrant issued.
Thomas Johnston,	William Beamish,	"	June 24	" "	2 00	Forthwith	Treasurer Lindsay
Michael Farrell,	Patrick Kinealy,	"	June 29	" "	2 00			Distress warrant issued.
Margaret Kennefick,	John Maclan,	"	June 29	" "	50			Distress warrant issued.
Thomas Nugent,	John C Rodder,	Abusive language	June 29	" "	2 00
Town of Lindsay,	Edward Farrell,	Peddling without License	July 18	" "	4 00	Forthwith	Treasurer Lindsay
" "	Robert White,	Drunk and disorderly	July 23	" "	1 00
" "	Alexander Smith,	" "	July 23	" "	1 00
" "	William Fisher,	" "	July 23	" "	1 00	Forthwith	Treasurer Lindsay
Mary Hennessay,	Margaret Stevenson,	Assault	July 22	" "	20
William Shanly,	John Sigh,	"	July 29	R Lang and A. Macaulay	5 00	Aug 26th	½ to T. Treas'er ½ for medical f'n
Wesley Richardson,	George Taylor,	"	July 29	" "	2 00
Town of Lindsay,	Thomas Gara,	Disorderly conduct	July 30	" "	2 00
" "	Joseph Hall,	" "	July 31	William Thornhill	2 00	Forthwith	Treasurer Lindsay
Francis Brady,	John Conno,	Assault	August 6	Robert Lang	4 00
Archibald McLester,	" "	"	August 6	" "	20
Thomas Earl,	Nicholas Burk,	Non-performance of S. Labor	August 6	" "	2 00
" "	John Conner,	" " "	August 6	" "	2 00
" "	J. [illegible]	" " "	August 6	" "	20
Elizabeth Gray,	Angus McLaren,	Abusive language	August 10	" "	Keep the peace,
Angus McLaren,	Elizabeth Gray,	Threatening	August 10	" "	Keep the peace,
Elizabeth Gray,	Angus McLaren,	"	August 10	" "	50	Forthwith	Treasurer Lindsay
Hersea Blatchley,	William Henry,	Abusive language	August 12	" "	20
John Knowlson,	Daniel Buckley,	Injuring trees	August 12	" "	20
" "	Jeremiah Buckley,	" "	August 12	" "
Town of Lindsay,	Joseph Corbishley,	Drunk and disorderly	August 14	William Thornhill	4 00	Forthwith	or 6 d's in Lock-up	Undergone penalty.
" "	" "	"	August 20	Robert Lang	1 00
" "	James Walker,	"	August 22	Alexander McAulay	1 00	Forthwith	Treasurer Lindsay
" "	John McDonald,	"	August 20	Robert Lang	1 00	Forthwith	Treasurer Lindsay
" "	Philip Caffrey,	"	August 22	Alexander Macaulay	50
John Duck,	Widow Sullivan,	Disorderly conduct	August 26	Robert Lang	1 00
" "	James Long,	"	August 26	" "	2 00
Mary Connolly,	Thomas Fortune,	Non-payment of Wages	August 26	" "	32 50
Harriet Marshall,	Timothy Sullivan	Threatening	August 27	" "	20 00	or 1 month	in County Gaol.	Undergoing penalty.
John Barraguay,	John McKee,	Drunk and disorderly	August 27	" "	4 00
Town of Lindsay,	John McDonald,	Abusive language	Sept'r 2	William Thornhill	10 00
James Reily,	Anu Shannon,	Assault	Sept'r 2	" "	20
The Queen,	Thomas Symes,	Larceny	Sept'r 2	" "	Sent for trial,
Town of Lindsay,	George Fisher,	Disturbing a meeting	Sept'r 4	" "	1 00	Forthwith
" "	Joseph Hall,	Drunk and disorderly	Sept'r 5	" "	1 00	Forthwith	Treasurer Lindsay
John Douglass,	George Taylor,	" "	Sept'r 5	W. Thornhill & A Macaulay	5 00	Forthwith	Treasurer Lindsay
Catherine Quill,	Jeremiah Murphy,	" "	Sept'r 6	William Thornhill	12 00		Treasurer Lindsay
Thomas Millis,	Maurice Desmford,	Offence against By-law	Sept'r 9	" "	50	Forthwith
Town of Lindsay,	John Harding,	Drunk	Sept'r 11	Robert Lang	1 00		Treasurer Lindsay
" "	Michael Tracy,	" and disorderly	Sept'r 16	William Thornhill	2 00	Forthwith	Treasurer Lindsay
" "	Thomas Meehan,	Drunk and disorderly	Sept'r 15	" "	5 00	within a w
David Armstrong,	Andrew Harrington,	Non-payment of wages	Sept'r 16	" "	13 75	Oct. 19th	Complainant.
John M Armstrong,	" "	"	Sept'r 16	" "	13 00	Oct. 19th	Complainant.
William M Hudson,	James Mitchell,	Petty trespass	Sept'r 16	" "	5 00
Samuel English,	Alex McBurney,	Non-payment of Wages	Sept'r 16	" "	14 35	Oct. 12th	Complainant.
Catharine Hickie,	James Hickie,	Drunk and disorderly	Sept'r 19	Robert Lang	2 00	Sept 19th	Treasurer Lindsay
Town of Lindsay,	Thomas Harlan,	" "	Sept'r 23	" "	1 00	or 4 days	lock-up
" "	Michael Buckley,	" "	Sept'r 23	" "	1 00	or 4 days	lock-up
Mary Hennefrey,	Patrick White,	Assault	Sept'r 23	" "	1 00
Town of Lindsay,	John Lynch,	Drunk and disorderly	Sept'r 25	" "	1 00
" "	William Hall,	" "	Sept'r 10	" "	50
" "	John McLaughlin,	" "	Octob'r 2	Robert Lang	1 00
George Hargrove,	James Earls,	Assault	Octob'r 2	" "	1 00
Robert Tomkins	John Fountain,	Refusal to work	Octob'r 2	" "	19 25
George Hargrove,	James Earls,	Threatening and assault	Octob'r 2	" "	3 00
James McCabe,	McAllister & Murry,	Indecent exposure	Octob'r 12	William Thornhill	1 00	Oct. 12th
William Hall,	James Mitchell,	Non-payment of Wages	Octob'r 12	" "	8 00	Nov. 27th	Complainant.
Town of Lindsay,	Gessell & Reynolds,	Drunk and disorderly	Octob'r 17	Robert Lang	1 00
" "	J O'Brian & J Gibson,	Drunk and riotous	Octob'r 17	" "	2 00
Gordon D. Brock,	Jacob Moyan,	Non-performance of Work	Octob'r 21	" "	8 00
Ellen Connell,	Johanna Meekin,	Assault	Octob'r 21	" "	1 00
Town of Lindsay,	Daniel McCaffrey,	Drunk and disorderly	Octob'r 24	William Thornhill	1 00
John Maloney,	William Stevens,	Trespass	Octob'r 25	" "	20 00	Oct. 29th	½ to com. ½ to T.
David Walker,	Jeremiah Scully,	Non-payment of Wages	Octob'r 28	Robert Lang	21 00	Dec. 1st,
Charles Logie,	John Fletcher,	Trespass	Nove'r 1	" "	10 00
Town of Lindsay,	Donald McCarter,	Drunk	Nove'r 6	" "	2 00
Hugh Workman,	" "	Assault	Nove'r 6	" "	8 00
Town of Lindsay,	Noble Kies,	Drunk	Nove'r 6	" "	50
" "	H Bellagh & A Bellagh	Fighting	Nove'r 16	" "	2 00
" "	John Keasley,	Drunk	Nove'r 16	" "	1 00
" "	James McMahon,	Drunk and fighting	Nove'r 16	" "	2 00
" "	Ross McMahon,	Drunk	Nove'r 16	" "	1 00
" "	Charles McMahon,	"	Nove'r 16	" "	1 00
John Burk,	Catharine Daly,	Trespass	Nove'r 16	Robert Lang & S. M. Roche	1 00
Peter Marshall,	Hugh G Clarke,	Assault	Nove'r 16	" " "	1 00
Christian Hoffman,	Philip Kies,	Non-payment of Wages	Nove'r 23	Robert Lang	4 00
Thomas Gourley,	John Keans,	" "	Nove'r 23	" "	8 12
John Leary,	Michael Cleary,	Assault	Nove'r 25	" "	1 00	Nov. 25th	Treasurer Lindsay
Town of Lindsay,	James Brogan,	Selling liquor at retail	Dece'r 2	" "	4 00
George McDowell,	George Percy,	Creating nuisances	Dece'r 9	" "	50	Forthwith
Mary Ann McElwain	Alden Marey,	Assault	Sept'r 17	A. S. Fraser	10
James Doherty,	John Tompson,	"	Sept'r 18	" "	2 00		County Treasurer.
John E Clow,	John Craig,	"	Sept'r 26	" "	50		County Treasurer.
" "	Dennis Hobbins,	"	Sept'r 26	" "	50		County Treasurer.
Joseph Ryon,	Michael Delaney,	"	Octob'r 5	" "	1 00		County Treasurer.
John Breakey,	Hugh Nesbet,	"	Octob'r15	" "	4 00		County Treasurer.
" "	Thomas Sheerer,	"	Octob'r15	" "	10		County Treasurer.
John Tate,	W. B. Ward,	Refusing one-half of the road	Octob'r17	" "	1 00		County Treasurer.
John Fitzgibbon,	Albert Sargent,	Trespass	Nove'r 11	" "	1 00		County Treasurer.
" "	George Sargent,	"	Nove'r 11	" "	1 00		County Treasurer.
John Ray,	Charles Montgomery,	Injure to property	Nove'r 23	" "	10		County Treasurer.
Tauopho Baurne,	William Reaus,	Assault	Nove'r 26	" "	1 00		County Treasurer.
Mattoon Close,	Thomas Brown,	"	Nove'r 30	" "	1 00		Sent to Goal.
Sarah Roswell,	Robert Wright,	"	Dece'r 4	" "	1 00		Sent to Goal.
" "	David McMahon,	"	Dece'r 4	" "	2 00
John Connor,	John Shanahan,	Trespass	July 1	M. S. Dean	5 00	15 days,
" "	John Costello,	"	July 1	"	4 00	15 days,
John Scollard,	John Shanahan,	Assault and battery	July 1	"	5 00	15 days;		Sent to Gaol.
Cornelius B Sullivan,	Edward Costello,	"	July 1	"	4 00	15 days,		Sent to Gaol.
Smith and Harvey,	Murdoch McGregor,	Selling liquor without license,	Nov 5	M. S. Dean & Lewis Davies	20 00	14 days,		Not yet paid.
Town of Peterboro'	John Kennedy	Infraction of Building By-law,	Sept'r 17	Charles Perry, Esq.,	10 00			Was committed.
Moses Jackson,	Joseph Lavay	Injury to property,	Sept'r 25	do do	5 00		Town Treasurer
The Town	Michael Hyde	Disorderly,	Oct'r 12	do do	1 00		do
"	John Darling	Infraction of Market By-law,	Oct'r 12	do do	50		do
"	John Tigh	" " "	Oct'r 12	do do	50		do
"	George Campbell	" " "	Oct'r 12	do do	50		do
"	Gilbert Defoe	Drunk and disorderly,	Oct'r 14	do do	2 00		do
"	Leon Caisse	Infraction of By-law,	Oct'r 17	do do	50		do
"	George Harkness	Infraction of Market By-law,	Oct'r 17	do do	50		Inspector W & M
William Sergeant,	James Campbell	Refusal of fees to Ins. W & M	Oct'r 17	do do	1 75			Not paid yet.
The Town	John Thompson	Infraction of Building By-law	Nov'r 9	do do	28 00			Was committed.
Henry Williams	Gilbert Defoe	Injury to property,	Nov'r 11	do do	2 00			Not paid yet.
John Rowden,	John Lane, Jun.	Assault,	Nov'r 12	do do	1 00			"
The Town	Jas T Hesticora	Infraction of Building By-law	Nov'r 12	do do	5 00			"
"	William Lundy	" " "	Nov'r 13	do do	1 00			"
"	Parley J Ayres	" " "	Nov'r 14	do do	2 00			was committed.
Thomas Beavis	John Walker	Trespass on property,	Nov'r 22	do do	5 00			"
" "	John Milledge	" "	Nov'r 23	do do	2 00			was committed.
The Town	Patrick O'Reilley	Disorderly on streets,	Nov'r 27	do do	10			"
"	Duncan Vanabtine	" "	Nov'r 27	do do	10		Town Treasurer
"	George Cross	" "	Nov'r 27	do do	10			Was committed.
"	George Stevenson	" "	Nov'r 27	do do	10		Town Treasurer
"	John Daig	Drunk on streets,	Nov'r 30	do do	2 00			Was committed.
"	John Holden	Drunk and disorderly,	Dec'r 5	do do	1 00			Not paid yet.
"	John Donohan	" "	Dec'r 5	do do	1 00			do
"	Edward Carr	" "	Dec'r 5	do do	1 00		Town Treasurer
"	Christopher Shannon	" "	Dec'r 6	do do	1 00		do
"	John Cannion, Jr	" "	Dec'r 7	do do	2 00			Not paid yet.
Charles Stephens,	Francis Forsythe	Assaulting Bailiff on duty,	Dec'r 7	do do	8 00			do
Alex Nisbett	Martin McDonell	Using abusive language,	Dec'r 9	do do	2 00
Township of Emily	A. Elsworth	Obstructing Queen's highway,	July 25	W. Gottingham,	00 20	Forthwith	Treasurer of Emily
Thos. Dixon	H McKay	Leaving employment	Aug 23	do	Fined in costs—		returned to work.
Township of Emily	John McCarrell	Non-performance of S. Labor	Aug 23	do	1 80	to be paid	to Tp Treasurer
Richard Redfor	Thos. Peterson	Leaving his employment,	Sept 11	do	10 00	to be paid	to Complainant
Wm. English, Jun.	John H Cassidy	Trespass by defend ut's cattle	Sept 12	do	Fined costs
Patrick Gurey	Thos Beaery	Assault,	Sept 19	do	00 20		Treasurer of Emily
Patrick Burk	John Callahan	Assault on Mrs. Burk,	Sept 19	do	00 10		do
Mary Henry	David Gury	comp. fined for assulting def.	Sept 27	do
Township of Emily	John Coulter	Non-performance of S. Labor	Oct'r 5	do	2 00	Forthwith	to be paid to Tr
" "	James McCall	" "	Oct'r 5	do	2 00	Forthwith	Part of fine paid to Justice
" "	Arthur Mullen	" "	Oct'r 7	do	2 00	10 days		Not yet paid
" "	John Dargan	" "	Sept 30	do	2 00	do	Fine in work on Rd
" "	John Larey	" "	Sept 30	do	2 00	do	Fine remitted by the Council
" "	Hugh Nichell	" "	Sept 30	do		Dismissed	with costs
" "	Garret Gilroy	" "	Sept 30	do	2 00	Fine paid	ing work on Roads
" "	Michael Corbet	" "	Sept 30	do		Fine in	ding for neglect of duty
" "	Terrance Fitzpatrick	" "	Sept 30	do	2 00	Paid in la	bour on the roads
Thomas Fee	Thomas Germain	Assault	Oct'r 4	do	25	Paid to	for Grenada
" "	Elizabeth Gidmain	"	Oct'r 4	do	25	do	do
Township of Emily	James Fleming	Non-performance of S. Labor	Oct'r 5	do	Fines costs	Payment of fine
James Rea	Geo Hind & Co	Non-payment of Wages,	Oct'r 8	do	13 25	Paid to	complainant

RETURN of CONVICTIONS, (Continued).

PROSECUTOR.	DEFENDANT.	NATURE OF CHARGE.	DATE OF CONVICTION.	CONVICTING JUSTICE	AMOUNT.	TIME WHEN TO BE PAID.	TO WHOM PAID OVER.	REMARKS.
" "	John Hind	Assault,	Oct'r 17	do	25			Not yet paid.
Robert Henderson	Wm Shea	Leaving his employment	Nov 18	do		def. return	to employment or
" "	W Montgomery	" "	Nov 18	do		def. return	to employment or
Carlton Carr	Daniel Coryell	Trespass	Aug 21	A Campbell and John Willey	2 20	31 days
Bridget McNamara	Moses Jackson	Non-payment of Wages,	Aug 13	J T Henthorn	12 46	31 days
Joseph Richer	Adam King	do do	Nov 5	do	40 00	Nov 5
Convicting Justice	John James Irwin	Quarreling	Dec 7	Robert Irwine,	1 00	1 week
" "	John Crilley	do	Dec 7	do	1 00
Richard Rowden	James Thorndike	Non-payment of Wages	July 4	Jonathon Hodgins,	3 15	Forthwith	Paid to prosecutor.
Robert D. Shaver	Samuel Ouer	do do	July 20	do	28 00	21 days	Not paid.
William Allison, Jr.	Wm Allison, Sr.	Assault	July 19	do	4 00	Forthwith	Treas. Mariposa.
Convicting Justice	Wm Russell	Profane swearing	July 2	Wm. Foster,	20	do	to be accounted for
James Scott	John Sheehen	Assault	Aug 29	Foster, Irvine and Hodgins,	2 00	do	do
"	Alex Casey	do	Aug 29	do do do	20	do	do
John Conner	John Costello	Trespass	July 1	M S Dean,	5 00	15 days	do
Cornelius B Sullivan	Edward Costello	Assault	July 1	do	3 00	do
John Scollard	John Shanahan	do	July 1	do	5 00	do
John Conner	John Shanahan	do	July 1	do	5 00	do
Martha M Warren	Wm Clark	do	June 13	Knowlson and Matchett	50	do	Treas'r. of Emily.
James Rea, Jun.	Peter Fisher	do	June 28	Knowlson Cottham, McNeely	1 00	do	do
Michael Cleary	Andrew Leary	do	Nov 22	" " "	5 00	do	do
" "	Wm Powers	do	Nov 22	do do	5 00	do	do
John C Howson	Daniel Campbell	Damaging a house	Sept 27	Coughlan and Fowlds,	4 00	20 days
Alex. Wilson	James W Goun	Assault	Oct'r 28	do do	2 00	Forthwith
W L Potts	G Balfour	do	Nov 16	Matchett and others,	50	10 days	Treas'r. of Emily.
Robert Strickland	Thomas Hatton	Travelling wrong side of road	Nov 16	R Casement,	1 00	14 days	Treas'r. of Smith.
H J Pearson	James Thorndike	Assault and battery,	Nov 2	J Hodgson	1 00	Forthwith	Treas of Mariposa
" "	do	do do	Nov 2	do	1 00	do	do
" "	do	Using threatning language,	Nov 2	do			Bound to keep the	peace for 1 year.
W Taylor	M Huston	Assault	Nov 2	Peter Pearce,	25
James Highlaw	[illegible]	Non-payment of Wages	Sept 9	J Thurston and others	1 00	14 days	Treas. of Verulam
James Bell	Hugh Kelly	Nuisance	Sept 2	do	2 00	Forthwith	do
Municipality Verulam	—— Murray	Refusing to do Statute Labor	Sept 2	do	4 00		do
" "	Robert Hunter	do do	Sept 16	do	2 00	4 days	do
" "	Michael Power	do do	Sept 16	do	2 00	do	do
" "	Thomas Fick	do do	Sept 16	do	2 00	do	do
Patrick Gordon	Chauncy Tottingham	Assault	Sept 17	P M Grover	1 00	Oct 10		Not yet paid.
Chauncy Tottingham	Patrick Gordon	Non-payment of Wages	Sept 21	do	3 35	Forthwith	paid pl.
Thos Dougherty	John Brooks	do do	Sept 7	do	6 00	21 days	Distress issued
Municipality Asphodel	Patrick Foley	Non-performance of S. Labor	Nov 16	do	2 00	do		Not yet paid.
Wm Banks	Wm Bowler	Disorderly	Oct'r 8	S Irwin	5 00	Forthwith		do
"	John Porter	do	Oct'r 8	do	2 00	do	Treas. of Mariposa
"	Chas Loyd	do	Oct'r 8	do	2 00	do	do
"	Jos McMaster	do	Oct'r 8	do	2 00	do		Not yet paid.
James Thorndike	H J Pearson	Assault	Nov 8	do	1 00	do		do
John Morrison	Duncan Campbell	Injury to property	Sept 18	Irish and Smith	5 00
Thomas Grogan	Mrs Patrick Carey	Misdemeanor	Sept 3	Hunter and Probert	20	1 month
Convicting Justice	Joseph Cyrell	Desecration of Sabbath	Oct'r27	do do	10 00	Forthwith		Not yet paid.
John Pogue	J. Henderson & Bro.	Non-payment of Wages	Nov 9	do do	5 54	21 days
John Hughes	J Hunter	Desecration of Sabbath	Nov 9	do do	1 00	Forthwith		Not yet paid.
John Henderson	P Hunter	Profane swearing	Nov 15	do do	40	do		do

I hereby certify that the foregoing is a correct statement of the Returns made by Her Majesty's Justices of the Peace for the United Counties of Peterborough & Victoria, between the September Sessions and the December Sessions, 1861.

C. A. WELLER,
Clerk of the Peace, U. C. of P. & V.

Peterborough, December 16, 1861.

CHRISTMAS AND NEW-YEAR.

TEAS, Sugars, Port and Sherry Wines, Brandy, Gin, Rum, Scotch, Old Rye, Proof and Common Whiskey.

Figs, Raisins, Currants, Candied Peels,

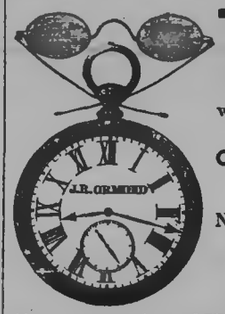
Soda, Arrow-root, Abernethy, & Pic-nic Biscuits, Crackers, &c.,

Beside a General Assortment of other Christmas and New Year's Goods, at the LOWEST POSSIBLE PRICES.

OGILVY & HOOD.

Peterborough, December 19, 1861. 51-3in.

Christmas Presents!



THE undersigned calls attention to his present stock of which is complete and well assorted, consisting of

FANCY GOODS,

CLOCKS, WATCHES,
GUARD AND VEST CHAINS,
Neck Laces, Lockets, Watch-Keys, Broaches, Ear-rings, Finger-rings, Breast-Pins, Studs, Bracelets,
AND
BEADS FOR COLLARS AND HAIR NETTS.

Also a great variety of SPECTACLES, Spoons, Butter Knives, Cutlery and Fancy Pipes. People can find a variety of other fancy articles suitable for Christmas Presents.

☞A call is respectfully solicited.☜

J. R. ORMOND.

Peterboro, Dec. 18, 1861.

STOVES! STOVES!

A. STEWART,

In the Stand lately occupied by Mr. H. Morrow, George Street

HAS RECEIVED A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF

COOKING, BOX & PARLOR STOVES,

OF THE LATEST AND MOST APPROVED PATTERNS!

which will be sold at very Low Prices, for Cash or approved credit. ALSO,—a very LARGE STOCK OF

TIN, COPPER AND JAPANNED WARES

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL,

At Prices as Low as any house in Canada!

☞ REMEMBER THE PLACE,—George Street, North of Hunter Street.

Peterboro', Dec. 11th, 1861. 50-4in.

TIMBER FOR SALE.

LOT No. 4, in the 16th Concession, and east quarter of Lot No. 4, in the 16th Concession of the Township of Harvey. Apply to JAMES GREIVES, Commercial Street, Bridgenorth.

Any person cutting Timber on the above lots without my leave will be punished according to law. JAMES GREIVES, Bridgenorth.

Dec. 3, 1861. 49

OATS!

WANTED at the Cobourg and Peterboro' Railway Station, in Asphodel,

20,000 BUSHELS OF OATS,

for which the subscriber will pay

The Highest Cash Price!

D. SUTHERLAND.

Asphodel, Dec. 11, 1861. 50

FINNAN HADDIES.

McEWAN'S celebrated Finnan Haddies for sale by JAMES CAMPBELL, Henthorn's Building, Hunter Street.

HERRINGS.

100 BARRELS No. 1 Herrings, $4 per barrel. Also, Fine table Cod fish, for sale by JAMES CAMPBELL.

COFFEE! COFFEE!

FINEST Jamaica Coffee 1s. per pound, finest Old Java 1s. 3d. JAMES CAMPBELL.

WINES AND LIQUORS.

A LARGE variety of excellent Port & Sherry Wines, Champagne, Pale & Dark Brandies, Hollands Gin, Booth's Old Tom, Jamaica Rum, Irish and Scotch, Toddy, Old Rye and plain Whiskies, at the lowest possible prices. JAMES CAMPBELL.

Peterboro', Dec. 18, 1861. 51

DOW'S CELEBRATED

PALE INDIA ALE

IN WOOD AND BOTTLE.

☞ Decidedly the best ever made in Canada!!

OGILVY & HOOD.

Peterboro, Dec. 17, 1861. 51

NOTICE.

THE next meeting of the Senior Board of Instruction for the County of Peterboro' will be held on the

First Tuesday of May, 1862,

IN THE COURT HOUSE, AT 10 A.M.

Teachers holding third class certificates issued a year or upwards ago, are required to have them renewed.

By order, J. EDWARDS, Secretary.

Peterboro' Dec, 18, 1861. 51

NOTICE.

THE Municipal Corporation of the united Townships of Belmont and Methune intend ☞ After one month from this date to pass a By-law to close the following Road in the Township of Belmont, viz.:—

Through the West half of Lot No. 15, in the 9th Concession.

PETER PEARCE, Township Clerk.

Belmont, 16th Dec. 1861. 51

LOST.

SOMEWHERE on the Road between the township of Douro and the Town of Peterboro, a Note of Hand made by John Welsh, in favor of Bridget McCormick, for $24. If any person has found the said Note and will return it to Mr. John Fye, Ashburnham, or at the "Examiner" Office, will be rewarded.

BRIDGET McCORMICK.

Douro, December 16, 1861 4

STRAYED.

INTO my premises, upon Mr Shaw's lower mill, about six weeks ago, a

TWO YEAR OLD STEER.

The owner may have it by proving property and paying expenses. GEO. FIRMAN.

Dummer Dec. 18, 1861. 51

FOR SALE.

A SECOND-HAND WEAVING LOOM.

A GOOD second-hand Weaving Loom for sale. There are four reeds, and 11 pair of heddles in the loom. Apply at this Office.

Peterboro', Dec. 14, 1861. 51

SLEIGHS!

ON hand a number of good substantial Sleighs, manufactured of the best Oak

With Cast Iron as well as Wrought Shoeing.

☞ Sleigh-runners furnished to order. Sugar Kettles, Bake Kettles, and Mott's Agricultural Implements.

Opposite Peterboro' old Flour Mill.

Peterboro, Nov. 20 1861. 47

NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY

CHEAP GOODS!!

The subscriber has bought a large stock of

Fancy & Staple Dry Goods

at auction in Montreal at about one half their real value, and now offers them for sale at prices that will defy competition.

The Goods saved from the late Fire will be sold at 25 per cent less than first cost!

NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY

BARGAINS!

A LARGE STOCK OF

Mens' and Boys' Clothing,

suitable for the winter season on hand. This Clothing is made up on the premises, not imported, Cheap for Cash.

☞ Garments made to order.

An experienced Cutter is employed in connection with the establishment.

The way to secure all these advantages buy your Dry Goods and Clothing at

R. A. McNABB'S,

Next door North of Alex. Stewart's Tin store, GEORGE STREET, PETERBORO'.

Dec. 4th, 1861. 49-3m.

CASH SYSTEM!

MONEY SAVED! GOOD VALUE GIVEN!

☞ Nothing added to the price of Goods to make up for bad debts, and only one price!

W. CLUXTON,

KEEPS constantly on hand a very large and complete stock of

DRY GOODS,

in all the departments. Also

TEAS, SUGARS,

and other articles in the Grocery line, with the exception of Liquors, very Cheap. Persons requiring Winter supplies of

CLOTHS,
BLANKETS,
CLOTHING,
COTTON GOODS,
Ladies' MANTLES

Ladies' Bonnets and Dress Caps,

NEW ARTICLES IN

MILLINERY & FANCY GOODS!

will do well to make their purchases from the subscriber,

☞ First-rate Milliners, Cloak and Mantlemakers in attendance.

Also, a first-class Cutter and Tailoress on the premises.

Orders in these departments executed with despatch and in the newest and most fashionable styles.

A heavy supply of Cloths, Trowserings and Tweeds of European and Canadian manufacture

AT VERY LOW PRICES!

W. CLUXTON.

Peterboro, Nov. 20th, 1861. 49

STRAYED.

A BEAR 3 YEAR OLD HEIFER.

MARKED on the rip and under side of off ear, and a white mark on outside of each thigh. Any person will be suitably rewarded by informing her to the owner.

STEPHEN WOOD, Otonabee.

Dec. 18, 1861. 49

STRAYED.

INTO my premises, 22nd lot, 6th Concession of Otonabee, about three weeks ago, a

1 YEAR OLD COLT.

The owner may have the Colt by proving property, and paying expenses.

JAS. HEAL.

Dec. 18, 1861. 50-6p.

NOTICE.

PERSONS ordering Oatmeal from the subscriber will please to have the money for the same, and make to contain the meal, other wise delivered will not be attended.

OATMEAL WILL BE DELIVERED IN TOWN

Punctually,

On Tuesdays and Fridays,

AT 10 O'CLOCK A.M.

PETER DOLPHIN.

Peterboro', Nov. 27, 1861. 49

FOR SALE.—Timber Town and Village Lots at Reduced Prices. W. CLARKSON.

CARE OF HENS IN WINTER.

The following plain rules for the wint[er] care of poultry, should receive attention from all our readers:—Keep the hens in a warm, clean place, where they can have access to the sun, whenever it shines. Feed them regularly with a variety of food, such as corn, which may always be before them; [boiled] potatoes, mashed and mixed with cold meat—that is, corn and cob [ground] and give them screen[ings] to plenty of gravel, old plaster, or broken oyster shells. The barley and wheat may be fed to them occasionally, if convenient. Add to these plenty of clear water, and pork or beef scraps, or bits of fresh meat, two or three times each week, and you will not fail to find your fowls profitable.—Exchange Paper.

POULTRY.

The Poultry Trade of Canada is growing annually; and it is of importance both to the producer and the consumer, not only that the birds be well fattened, but that the killing, preparing, and sending them to Market should be carefully and skilfully conducted.

Fattening.—The first point is fattening. On no account kill a bird out of condition, or if you do, eat it at home. Unless tolerably fat, poultry will not bring the cost of packing and freight. The best time for fattening is when the weather begins to grow cold, and the best food is Indian Corn or other grain, together with a liberal supply of charcoal. This last is considered indispensable by professional poultry-keepers, but choose if possible cold, clear weather—never cut off the head, nor twist the neck but hang the birds by the legs, stick them effectually in the neck with a small sharp knife, and let them bleed thoroughly. Do not kill birds when the crop is full.

Dressing.—Pick dry, if you do not tear the skin—leave the wing and tail feathers—dip the plucked fowl suddenly into boiling water, draw up it out instantly, then plunge in the same rapid way into cold water. This gives the birds a fine plump, clean appearance, provided they be really in good condition. Never draw a bird. It is not worth while to pay freight on the intestines because the meat cannot be kept sweet long after they are drawn and the air admitted inside the body.

Packing and Directing.—Lay the birds upon clean boards in a cold room till perfectly cool, or frozen; especially when there is a probability of damp, close weather great care must be taken that the animal heat is out of them. Pack in boxes with clean rye or oat straw, so that they do not touch each other, putting about three or four hundred pounds in a box, filled full. Mark the contents on a paper inside and on the lid outside and direct it to your commission merchant plainly, and send it by express or rail, and the invoice by mail.

Your boxes must look clean or your poultry will not sell at the highest prices. In packing press the wings close, and pack the bird down hard on the breast, the legs extending back, and fill each course of birds. Pack tight,—but don't let a nail project inward to tear the bird.

Give your name and residence in full on the bill enclosed in the box and on the invoice by mail.

Never pack in barrels if you can get good boxes, as the rolling of barrels injures the poultry. Boxes of birds well prepared and packed will keep sweet a long time in cool weather, and may be transported by express or by rail, and arriving in good order can be sold readily at fair prices.—Montreal Witness.

DOES KEEPING POULTRY PAY?

Raising Poultry for the table, and for the sake of eggs, is a branch of farming which, like every other branch, always depends on circumstances, or the manner in which the business is conducted, in order to make it a profitable or paying business. If fowls are managed properly, their eggs will sell for much more than the food which they consume; and, if a farmer has adopted a judicious system of management with fowls, it will require but a small expense to raise two or three hundred nice fat chickens. But it would be folly to attempt to keep a hundred hens where only fifteen or twenty ought to be kept, and to feed their poultry as many farmers are in the habit of feeding them, so that some get twice as much as their stomachs can digest, while others can only get a few kernels of the coarsest meal, it cannot be expected that they will flourish so as to return to their proprietor a good compensation for his grain and labour. I have seen people attempt to keep their hens on oats and on buckwheat, by feeding fifteen or twenty of them about one quart of grain, twice a day. One of my neighbors, a year or two ago, invited me to look at his hens, as he feared he should lose them all. He said he had been trying to keep them on oats, but did not believe oats were good for them. He had about twenty hens, sickly things, which looked like starved crows. He said he could get only now and then an egg, and he could never have any success with poultry. To be brief, he fed them a pint cupful of oats, three times a day, which, when apportioned to them all would be about enough to satisfy the least cravings of hunger. We raise more or less poultry every year, and sometimes we have several hundred fowls, and have always managed with them according to the preceding directions; and we sell every season more than eggs enough to pay for all the grain which they consume at a fair price making no account of the chickens and hundreds of eggs which we eat. Poultry will pay well when they are properly managed.—Farmer.

A SMALL BEGINNING.

A soldier of the Duke of Bedford, who died lately at Canterbury, exhibited as an instance of accumulation of wealth from small beginnings, in fact from nothing. He died at the age of a little more than sixty, possessed of one million one hundred thousand pounds. He was originally a poor boy, employed to tend other cows. He afterwards carried "the hod" as a bricklayer's labourer, and at length, by dint of industry and parsimony, with some assistance, he amassed money enough to build two barracks at Canterbury, which he lent to the Government at sixpence a day for each soldier's quarters which proved so profitable to him, that in the course of a few years the whole building became his own, all at the time of his death, if ascertained by the enormous sum before stated.—Bungay Paper.

At Alnwick, the 9 inst., by the Rev. [illegible] Mr. Thomas Lowes, aged 104 years, being within a few days of completing the century. He retained the use of his faculties to the last, and was able to walk to the church door on the day of his marriage. His new partner is 84 years of age.

A SURE CURE

A final discovery stands the Canadian Pain Destroyer. As a Family Medicine it is well and favorably known, relieving thousands from pains from Bile, Back and Head, Coughs, Colds Sore Throats, Sprains, Bruises, Cramps in the Stomach, Cholera Morbus, Dysentery, Bowel Complaints, Burns, Scalds, Frost bites, &c.—The Canadian Pain Destroyer has now been before the public for a length of time, and wherever used is well liked, never failing in a single instance to give permanent relief when timely used, and we have never known a single instance of dissatisfaction, where the directions have been properly followed, but on the contrary all are delighted with its operations, and speak in the highest terms of its virtues and magical effects.

We speak from experience in this matter, having tested it thoroughly, and therefore those who are suffering from any of the complaints for which it is recommended may depend upon it being a sovereign remedy.

The astonishing efficacy of the Canadian Pain Destroyer, incuring the disease for which it is recommended, and its wonderful success in subduing the torturing pains of Rheumatism, and in relieving Nervous Affections, entitle it to a high rank in the list of remedies for these complaints. Orders are coming in from Medicine Dealers, in all parts of the Country for further supplies, and each testifying as to the universal satisfaction it gives.

The Canadian Pain Destroyer never fails to give immediate relief. All Medicine dealers keep it. Physicians order and use it; and no family will be without it after once trying it.—Price, only 25 cents per bottle All orders should be addressed to Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle C. W.

Sold in Peterboro by Ormond & Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, Wm. Coulter; in Millbrook by Dr. Turner; in Lindsay by C. Britton; and by all Dealers in Medicines. 30

THE FOUND WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING

A perfect Antidote, Specific and Cure for

RHEUMATISM & NEURALGIA

Has long been needed. After earnest and patient research, this has been triumphantly discovered. It is called

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING!

Watson's Neuralgia King reaches the source of the trouble, and banishes the disease from the system. Unlike the untold number of Liniments and Embrocations which merely stimulates the surface, are but temporary in their effects, and are, at best, of doubtful virtue, it STRIKES AT THE HEART OF the ailment, ARRESTS IT, KILLS IT, ERADICATES IT, and leaves no trace behind.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING

also cures GOUT AND DYSPEPSIA, in all their forms. It is now giving relief to thousands who have been suffering form these diseases, and who have tried all other remedies in vain.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING

has received the highest testimonials from the highest sources in regard to its wonderful efficacy. It operates with equal success in mild and chronic cases, never failing to work out a speedy and permanent cure.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING

can be had for one Dollar a bottle, and less than a bottle often effects the end desired.

WATSON'S NEURALGIA KING

is the only Specific and cure for Rheumatism and Neuralgia that has ever been discovered.

Prepared by

A. I. MATHEWS,

Buffalo, N. Y., and Port Hope, C. W.

Sept. 26, 1861, 39

Gutta-Percha Roofing.

No article ever before introduced to the public has equalled the LIQUID GUTTA-PERCHA for coating tin or other roofs, new or old. One gallon, costing $1.50, will thoroughly coat from 200 to 300 feet of roof, and this coating will render the roof perfectly waterproof, and will last three times as long as white lead or other paint. For covering roofs, either new or old we repeat, it has no equal for durability and cheapness, and we offer it to the public fully confident of its intrinsic excellence, and with our warrantee that it will do all we claim for it. Sold in barrels of forty gallons each, at a liberal discount to dealers. Address all orders to

READY ROOFING CO.,

23 Cedar Street, New York.

October 3rd, 1861. 40-1y.

MATHEWS' VENETIAN LIQUID HAIR DYE.

THIS CELEBRATED DYE WAS FIRST prepared in 1845; since that time it has been used by thousands, and in no instance has it failed to give perfect satisfaction.

THE VENETIAN DYE

is the cheapest in the world. Its price is only 50 cents, and each bottle contains double the quantity of dye contained in those usually sold for one dollar.

THE VENETIAN DYE

is the safest composition of its class. It is warranted not to injure the hair, or the scalp, in the slightest degree.

THE VENETIAN DYE

works with rapidity and certainty. It causes no annoyance or trouble to those who use it.

THE VENETIAN DYE

produces any shade that may be desired—one that will not fade, crock, nor wash out; one that is as permanent as the hair itself.

THE VENETIAN DYE

does not, in any manner, interfere with the natural softness of the hair; it neither scorches nor dries it.

THE VENETIAN DYE

is the best, cheapest, most convenient, most successful, and most permanent Dye ever used.

THE VENETIAN DYE

having gained an extended reputation, the public are cautioned against purchasing any preparation in the same style, under the name or different name, as they are mere imitations, and liable to do injury.

For sale by all druggists. Prepared only by

A. I. MATHEWS,

Buffalo, N. Y., and Port Hope, C. W.

Oct 3, 1861.

The Great French Remedy!

MADAME DEVIN'S CELEBRATED SILVER COATED

FEMALE PILLS.

THE ONLY CERTAIN AND SAFE REMEDY for the Suppression, Obstructions, Monthly Difficulties, Irregularities, and diseases to which the female constitution is subject. These Pills are not to be trifled with, but are safe and certain in their action. They will be found to arrest the progress of Consumption, Fever, Inflammation, or the Whites; they will be found the quickest and most certain cure ever made be found. It is an assurance of this certainty they should not be taken by married ladies at certain periods, but at other times they will be perfectly safe.

N. B.—$1 enclosed to any authorized Agent will ensure a package of Pills by return mail. Sold by Agents, Port Hope, C. W.; Ormond & Gilmour, Bryan & Co, Wholesale Agents, Toronto.

Sept. 12, 1861. 37

CANADIAN ARITHMETIC,

WILL BE SOLD AT

A SACRIFICE.

THE subscribing is compelled by circumstances to sell his Houses and Lot on Albert Street, on the Court House Hall, adjoining the property of Mr. Wm. Dumble. The above is one of the most delightful situations in Town, and will be sold for the one half to be paid down, and the remainder in two years from time of sale. This Perfect.

LOW PRICE OF $800!

JOHN RITCHIE.

Peterboro.

Mathew's Chocolate Worm Drops

NEVER fail to destroy and exterminate all kinds of intestinal Worms. Are perfectly reliable in all cases, and far superior to any and all of the Fancy Worm Confections, and nauseous Vermifuge in use. They may be taken at all times with perfect safety, as they contain no Mercury, or other deleterious Drug. Mothers should always purchase them and give their children no other.

(No Cathartic whatever, is necessary to be given.)

Each box contains 24 Drops or Lozenges.—Price 25 cts. For sale by all Druggist and Dealers in Medicines.

A. I. MATHEWS, General Agent, Buffalo, N. Y., and Port Erie, C. W

F. G. CALLENDER,

RETURNS his grateful acknowledgments to the inhabitants of Peterboro' and vicinity, for their liberal support during the past fourteen years, and on account of his increase of business, and with a view to the better accommodation of hispatrons, will continue his visits the FIRST AND THIRD MONDAYS, TUESDAYS & WEDNESDAYS in each month, INSTEAD OF ONLY the FIRST MONDAYS, as formerly, prepared to perform all operations of the profession, with superior ABLE AS ANY EXPERIENCED DENTIST. His Teeth are his own selection, of the newest style, being made expressly for the Vulcanized base, now altogether used, being free from taste, much cheaper than Gold, and equal in neatness and durability, and much more agreeable in the mouth, being less weighty.

Rooms in Scott's Building, Market Block, Peterboro', and over the Post Office, Cobourg.

THE LIVERPOOL LONDON FIRE AND LIFE

ASSURANCE COMPANY.

CAPITAL.....£2,000,000 STG.

Empowered by Act of the Imperial Parliament

Responsibility of Stockholders unlimited.

Head Office for Canada, Montreal.

THE UNDERSIGNED CONTINUES to accept Risks in the above

First Class Company,

on almost every description of property, at as REASONABLE RATES as any other responsible office.

LOSSES PAID

without reference to the Old Country.

W. CLUXTON,

Agent for Peterboro'

Peterboro,' April 20th, 1859. 16.

THE CANADA LIFE

Assurance Company.

Capital, 1,000 000.

W. CLUXTON,

Agent.

THOS. HOLYWELL,

Medical Referee.

Peterborough, 1st August, 1858. 31

WESTERN

INSURANCE COMP'Y.

CAPITAL £500,000

Head Office, Toronto,

FOR EVERY DESCIPTION OF

FIRE & MARINE ASSURANCE

BUSINESS.

AGENT FOR PETERBORO',

W. CLUXTON.

Peterboro, Sept. 14th, 1857.

GENERAL INSURANCE OFFICE.

W. CLUXTON, AGENT. PETERBORO'.

LIVERPOOL & LONDON FIRE AND LIFE

Insurance Company.

CAPITAL.....£5,000,000 STG.

BRITISH AMERICA

ASSURANCE COMP'Y.

CAPITAL, $4,000,000.

WESTERN

INSURANCE COMPANY

CAPITAL, $2,000 000.

BRITANNIA LIFE

Assurance Company.

CAPITAL, £1,000,000, STERLING.

Peterborough, April 20th, 1859. 16

CURE OF DEAFNESS IN TEN MINUTES.

BRYANT'S

PULMONIC WAFERS.

THE most certain and speedy remedy ever discovered for the relief of all diseases of the Chest and Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Consumption, Bronchitis, Influenza, Hoarseness, Difficult Breathing, Sore Throat, &c.

These Wafers are the most instantaneous and perfect relief, and when persevered with according to directions, never fail to effect a rapid and lasting cure. Thousands have been restored to perfect health, who have tried other means in vain. To all singers and all public speakers they are a blessing and a friend, not only one pair, no matter how long the disease may have existed, or however severe it may be, provided the organic structure of the vital organs is not hopelessly decayed. Every one afflicted should give these an impartial trial.

TO VOCALISTS AND PUBLIC SPEAKERS

they are invaluable, as they will in a few days clear the voice, greatly improving its tone, compass and clearness, for which purpose they are regularly used by many professional Vocalists.

JOHN MOSES, Sole Proprietor, Rochester, N.Y.

Price 25 cents per box.

Vocalists and Public Speakers

Vocalists and Public Speakers

Vocalists and Public Speakers

Will find Bryan's Wafers

Will find Bryan's Wafers

Will find Bryan's Wafers

Invaluable to remove

Invaluable to remove

Hoarseness

Hoarseness and Sore Throat,

Hoarseness and Sore Throat,

Hoarseness and Sore Throat,

And gives clearness to the Voice.

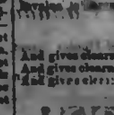
And gives clearness to the Voice.

And gives clearness to the Voice.

They relieve in ten minutes,

They relieve in ten minutes,

They relieve in ten minutes,



Coughs, Colds, and all diseases

Coughs, Colds, and all diseases

Coughs, Colds, and all diseases

Of the Chest and Lungs.

Of the Chest and Lungs.

Of the Chest and Lungs.

A full supply of

A full supply of

A full supply of

Always on hand.

Always on hand.

Always on hand.

At 25 cents a box.

At 25 cents a box.

At 25 cents a box.

Caution.

Caution.

Caution.

JOHN McDONELL,

In the (new brick) premises lately occupied by Jos. Barron esq. Hall,

GEORGE ST., PETERBORO.

Jan. 2 1861.

Lightning! Lightning!

PROTECTION TO LIFE AND PROPERTY.

200,000 Feet

OF THE NEW PATENT ENGLISH ELECTRIC GALVANIZED, ANNEALED AND CARBONIZED

LIGHTNING RODS

JUST ARRIVED FROM ENGLAND, WITH

SPRATTS RENOWNED

PLATINA TIPPED POINT!!

AND ENLARGED

INSULATORS & ATTACHMENTS.

THIS ROD is prepared in England with especial reference to its great conducting powers; is highly approved and recommended by the best authorities. The white non-corroding surface prevents rust, and greatly increases its conducting power, completely obviating the great objections to the old rod. Professor Croft has a Spiral Copper Rod removed from the University Buildings, Toronto, and substituted this, on account of the perfect conducting power of the surface, and not being liable to rust. One real advantage gained by the fine conducting qualities of this rod, with Spratt's point, arises from the fact that it constantly receives and silently conducts to the earth, the positive electricity of the surrounding atmosphere generated by an approaching thunder cloud not charged with this element of destruction and death, thereby drawing off, draining and lessening the fountain, causing the cloud of its constant accumulation, allowing it to pass over our heads in safety, which might otherwise have burst upon us in all its fury. But it fall in this by reason of too great accumulation of electricity, and the discharge takes place, it conducts all safely to the ground, being a preventative in most cases and a cure in an emergency. We have erected them on the Crystal Palace, many of the best buildings in this city. By importing largely for cash, we are enabled to erect them at a trifling advance upon the Corbonized Rod. Common iron Rods, such as are being offered by parties from the States we do not erect, as we consider them nearly useless. Good Rods, properly erected, protect 25 feet from the point.

$1.000 CHALLENGE!

to the world to produce as good a Rod, for the same price, as the Galvanized Rod, which we are now prepared to offer to the public through our authorized agents; allow no man to protect your buildings who has not our certificate of agency, with caution on the back against impositions. Orders sent to our address from the principal cities of C. W., will be attended to by O. R. Kendall in person, without extra charge. We submit two of our numerous references.

PIPER & KINDALL,

83 Young Street.

Toronto, Sept. 25, 1860.

I HEREBY CERTIFY THAT I HAVE SUPerintended the erection of Galvanized Iron Rods on the University Buildings, at Toronto, preferring the Galvanized Iron to ordinary Iron Rods, on account of the perfect conducting power of the surface, and from their not being liable to rust.

The advantage resulting from these qualities is more than commensurate with the increased cost.

(Signed) HENRY CROFT, D.C.L.

Prof. of Chemistry.

PETERBORO', July 29th, 1861.

The agents for the firm of Piper & Kendall, Toronto, have put up for me two of their Galvanized Lightning Rods so highly recommended by Professor Croft. I consider them preferable to all others. The improved Attachments and Insulators, with Spratt's Platina Tipped Point must give them great additional security.

J. BROWNE, M. D.

I entirely concur in Dr. Browne's observations,—Also have bought two of the same Rods for my two cottages on Brock Street.

A. NIBLOCK.

Toronto, June 29th, 1861. 31-3m

The Great English Remedy!

SIR JAMES CLARKE'S

Celebrated Female Pills

Prepared from a Prescription of Sir J. Clarke, M. D., Physician Extraordinary to the Queen.

THIS well known Medicine is no imposition, but a sure and safe remedy for Female Difficulties and Obstructions, from any cause whatever; and although a powerful remedy, it contains nothing hurtful to the constitution. To married ladies it is peculiarly suited. It will, in a short time, bring on the monthly period with regularity.

In all cases of Nervous and Spinal Affections, pain in the back and limbs, Heaviness, Fatigue on Slight Exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Lowness of Spirits, Hysterics, Sick Headache, Whites, and all the painful diseases occasioned by a disordered system, these Pills will effect a cure where all other means have failed.

☞ These Pills have never been known to fail when the directions on the 2nd page the pamphlet are well observed.

For full particulars, get a pamphlet free of the agent.

N. B.—$1 and six postage stamps enclosed to any authorised agent, will ensure a bottle containing over 50 pills, by return mail.

Sir James Clarke's Female Pills

Sir James Clarke's Female Pills

Sir James Clarke's Female Pills

Are a Scientific Preparation.

Are a Scientific Preparation.

Are a Scientific Preparation.

They are safe, and never fail

They are safe, and never fail

They are safe, and never fail

To remove all Obstructions,

To remove all Obstructions,

To remove all Obstructions,

And cure all Female Complaints,

And cure all Female Complaints,

And cure all Female Complaints,

When the directions are followed.

When the directions are followed.

When the directions are followed

They are a blessing and a cure.

They are a blessing and a cure.

They are a blessing and a cure.

And can be sent by mail

And can be sent by mail

And can be sent by mail

For one dollar and six postage stamps.

For one dollar and six postage stamps.

For one dollar and six postage stamps.

JOB MOSES, Rochester, N. Y., sole proprietor. Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, C. W., General Agents. For sale by Ormond & Gilmour, Wm. Coulter, A. W Kempt, Peterboro' and all dealers in medicines.

A STARTLING FACT.

THE subscriber has great pleasure in informing the public that he is manufacturing ever made in Canada, patented by J. Dennis, in order to prove the above, I am prepared to put them on trial for Cisterns or wells 100 feet deep and less, until the 1st of June, 1861. If not then preferred before any other kind will take them back free of charge; if they suit, I will give them until the 1st of January, 1863; for payment, by giving a promissory note.

THE BEST PUMPS

These Pumps are

Warranted not to Freeze.

All Orders addressed to the Subscriber, stating length of well, &c., left with or sent by the 1st of April, 1861 post paid after that date to the Subscriber, in Ashburnham, will receive prompt attention. All letters must be post-paid.

HENRY DENNIS,

Manufacturer.

Warkworth, Percy, Dec. 1860.

Patented rights to manufacture and sell the above Pumps for sale by John Dennis, patentee and manufacturer, Kent Market, C. W. 50-1y.

New Establishment.

A choice assortment carefully selected by a gentleman of many years experience.

GROCERIES, WINES, &c.,

with a large variety of

Fancy Goods.

at very low prices.

Port Wine, (Per Gallon) at 4s 6d, 10s, 15s, 22s 6d, Sherry, 4s, 5s6d, 6s, 10s, 12s; Finest old Pale Brandy, Brown, do. Fine Hollands Gin in Wood, do. in Red and Green Cases. Irish Scotch Whiskey (very old) do. St Croix Cheese, Teas, Sugars, Cured, Pickles, Sauces, Fish, Oils, Vinegar, Matches, Starch, Soaps, Candles, Currants, Raisins, Bottles, Glass, Crockery, and Wooden-ware, &c.

JOHN McDONELL,

In the (new brick) premises lately occupied by Jos. Barron esq. Hall,

GEORGE ST., PETERBORO.

Jan. 2 1861.

JUDSON'S MOUNTAIN HERB WORM TEA.

Herbs, Barks and Roots

VERSUS

Poisonous Minerals and Drugs.

MOTHERS TAKE HEED!

Do you when observing the uneasy actions of your children, consider that it may be more than a mere bottle that ails them? In nine cases out of ten, the cause of the little sufferer's anguish is WORMS, and should be at once looked to.

HEADS OF FAMILIES

Do not let your children suffer, when we present you in

JUDSON'S WORM TEA

A SAFE AND PLEASANT CURE FOR WORMS.

How much better and safer would it be to have it always in the house. A little delay when a child is taken ill may often be the cause of its death, while acting without delay, and by giving the MOUNTAIN HERB TEA immediately, you will not only save the child a long and tedious illness, and yourself much expense, but also feel happier in knowing that you have done your duty, and perchance saved its life.

This medicine is combined purely of

HERBS AND ROOTS

NOT A PARTICLE OF

Calomel or Mineral

IS USED IN IT.

No more filthy Vermifuge will be used by those who once use this. The only active principle of all other Vermifuges and Worm Powders is MERCURY.

GIVE NO

POISON

TO

YOUR CHILDREN.

Use this Simple, Safe, Vegetable Medicine.

This Worm Tea was discovered in an unusual way among the Wilds of Northern Mexico—a full account of it you will find in our Almanacs. Ask for the "Secret of Pain Almanac," of the Agent, and when you have read it, send it to your neighbors, that they may also know of and be cured by this GREAT REMEDY!

JUDSON'S WORM TEA

KILLS WORMS,

Never Harms—is Pleasant to Take.

GET A PACKAGE—PRICE 25 CTS.

OBSERVE.—Always find the Name and Signatures of R. L. JUDSON & CO. and the portrait of Tecuco, on each package of this Worm Tea.

R. L. JUDSON & CO.

SOLE PROPRIETORS,

50 Leonard St. New York.

Judson's Worm Tea is sold by one Agent in every Village, and by all Druggists.

CANADA

Permanent Building and Saving's Society.

CAPITAL	$500,000
INVESTED ON REAL ESTATE	350,000
ANNUAL INCOME	250,000

THIS Institution advances money on favorable terms on the security of Real Estate, situate in Weste n Canada, repayable by instalments spread over any period the borrower chooses from 1 to 10 years.

Properties mortgaged may be sold or changed for other property, or the mortgage debt may be paid off before it is due if desired by the borrower.

Circulars and rules, together with any further information may be obtained from the office.

W. CLUXTON,

Agent.

Peterboro', Jan. 30, 1861. 5

JUDSON'S

Mountain Herb Pills.

ABOVE, we present you with a perfect likeness of Tecuco, a chief of a tribe of the strange Aztec Nation, that once ruled Mexico. You will find a full account of him and his people in our Pamphlets and Almanacs—to be had gratis, from the Agents for these Pills.

The inventor and manufacturer of "Judson's Mountain Herb Pills," has spent the greater part of his life in traveling, having visited nearly every country in the world. He spent over six years among the Indians of the Rocky Mountains and of Mexico, and it was thus that the "Mervtus Herb Pills" were discovered. A very interesting account of his adventures there, you will find in our Almanac and Pamphlet.

It is an established fact, that all diseases arise from

IMPURE BLOOD!

The blood is the life! and when any foreign or unhealthy matter gets mixed with it, it is at once distributed to every organ of the body. Every nerve feels the poison, and all the vital organs quickly complain. The stomach will not digest the food perfectly. The liver ceases to secrete a sufficiency of bile. The action of the heart is weakened, and so the circulation is feeble. The lungs become clogged with the poisonous matter; hence, a cough—and all from a slight impurity in the fountain-head of life—the Blood! As if you had thrown some earth, for instance, in a pure spring, from which ran a tiny rivulet, in a few minutes the whole course of the stream becomes disturbed and discolored. So quickly does impure blood fly to every part, and leave its sting behind. All the passages become obstructed, and unless the obstruction is removed, the lamp of life soon dies out.

These pills not only purify the blood, but regenerate all the secretions of the body; they are, therefore, unrivalled as a

CURE FOR BILIOUS DISEASES,

Liver Complaint, Sick Headache, &c. This Anti Bilious Medicine expels from the blood the bilious seeds of disease, and resolves all the fluids and secretions pure and fresh, clearing and renovating the vital organs.

Pleasant indeed, is it to us, that we are able to place within your reach, a medicine like the "Mervtus Herb Pills," that will pass directly to the affected parts, through the blood and fluids of the body, and cause the sufferer to brighten with the flush of beauty and health.

Judson's Pills are the Best Remedy in existence for the following Complaints:

Blood Complaints,	Debility,	Diseased Membranes,
Coughs,	Fever and Ague,	Blood Complaints,
Colds,	Painful Complaints,	Low state of Spirits,
Chest Diseases	Headache,	Piles,
Costiveness,	Indigestion,	Diseased Blood,
Dyspepsia,	Jaundice,	Secondary Symptoms,
Diarrhœa,	Inflammation,	Ague,
Dropsy,	Liver Complaint,

GREAT FEMALE MEDICINE.

Females who value health, should never be without these Pills. They purify the blood, remove obstructions of all kinds, banish the pains of all complaints and maladies, and bring the rich color of health to the pale cheek.

☞ The Plants and Herbs of which these Pills are made, were discovered in a very recent way among the Tecuscos, a tribe of Aboriginal Indians, see the Almanac of our Agent, and you will read with delight, the very interesting account of a certain "Mervtus of Montezuma" of the Aztecs.

Observe.—The Mountain Herb Pills are put up in a Beautiful Wrapper. Each box contains 50 pills, and fifty of a very low price. All genuine have the signature of R. L. JUDSON & CO., on each box.

R. L. JUDSON & Co.

SOLE PROPRIETORS,

No. 50 Leonard Street,

NEW YORK.

FOR SALE BY ALL MEDICINE DEALERS.

☞ The Canadian Pain Destroyer, is a prompt and sure remedy for Cramp and pain in the Stomach, Pleurisy, Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer Complaint, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, Scalds, Burns, Sprains, Bruises, Frost Bites, Chilblains, as well as the stings of Insects, Scorpions, Centipedes, and the bites of poisonous insects and reptiles. Directions

FOR SALE.

SOUTH half of Lot No. 9, in the 2nd Con. of Percie, containing 100 acres. This Farm is beautifully situated about three miles from Peterborough; there are thirty acres cleared, and the remainder is heavy timber. There is a good Frame House, three Barns and other Outhouses.

The north half of Lot No. 15, in the 7th Con. South. This North has eighty acres cleared, and is situated about seven miles from Peterborough.

For particulars apply to

JOSEPH KELSO,

or Roberts on.

WM. TULLY, Jr.

Monaghan.

September 18, 1861. 38

L. M. SQUAIR,

Agent for Steamers "Maple Leaf," and Jacques, Tracy & Co.'s Line of Boats, the Alps, Ottawa, Colonist, Huron, & Bowmanville.

CONTRACTS for freight or passage to and from Montreal, Rochester, Boston, New York, and Oswego.

Offices in Gillet's Block, above Irvine's Store, Port Hope.

Port Hope, Oct. 10, 1860.

MARBLE WORKS.

H. T. EVANS,

IS fact that he is prepared to execute the short notice

TOMB-STONES,

MONUMENTS,

TABLE-TOPS,

MANTLE-PIECES,

&c., &c., &c.

of as good workmanship as can be done in any part of Canada. Terms very low for Cash.

☞ House and Workshop, corner of London and Bethune Streets, foot of Smithtown Hill.

H. T. EVANS.

Peterboro, Nov. 8, 1860 6m

SADDLERY & HARNESS WARE-HOUSE.

Opposite A. McNeil's Auction Rooms, George Street, Peterboro'.

HOPKINS & DONNELY

WILL keep constantly on hand, and make to order all sorts of

SADDLES, HARNESS, WHIPS, Valises, &c.,

which they intend to sell CHEAP FOR CASH, or on approved credit.

☞ All work warranted, as it is made by superior workmen.

Peterborough, Sept. 5, 1860. 36

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

A compound remedy, in which we have labored to produce the most effectual alterative that can be made. It is a concentrated extract of Para Sarsaparilla, so combined with other substances of still greater alterative power as to afford an effective antidote for the diseases Sarsaparilla is reputed to cure. It is believed that such a remedy is wanted by those who suffer from Strumous complaints, and that one which will accomplish their cure must prove of immense service to this large class of our afflicted fellow-citizens. How completely this compound will do it has been proven by experiment on many of the worst cases to be found of the following complaints:—

SCROFULA AND SCROFULOUS COMPLAINTS, ERUPTIONS AND ERUPTIVE DISEASES, ULCERS, PIMPLES, BLOTCHES, TUMORS, SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, SYPHILIS AND SYPHILITIC AFFECTIONS, MERCURIAL DISEASE, DROPSY, NEURALGIA OR TIC DOULOUREUX, DEBILITY, DYSPEPSIA AND INDIGESTION, ERYSIPELAS, ROSE OR ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD.

This compound will we found a great promoter of health, when taken in the spring, to expel the foul humors which fester in the blood at that season of the year. By the timely expulsion of them many rankling disorders are nipped in the bud. Multitudes can, by the aid of this remedy, spare themselves from the endurance of foul eruptions and ulcerous sores, through which the system will strive to rid itself of corruptions, if not assisted to do this through the natural channels of the body by an alterative medicine. Cleanse out the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, eruptions, or sores; cleanse it when you find it is obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it whenever it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Even where no particular disorder is felt, people enjoy better health, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. Keep the blood healthy, and all is well; but with this pabulum of life disordered, there can be no lasting health. Sooner or later something must go wrong, and the great machinery of life is disordered or overthrown.

Sarsaparilla has, and deserves much, the reputation, of accomplishing these ends. But the world has been egregiously deceived by preparations of it, partly because the drug alone has not all the virtue that is claimed for it, but more because many preparations, pretending to be concentrated extracts of it, contain but little of the virtue of Sarsaparilla, or any thing else.

During late years the public have been misled by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one dollar. Most of these have been frauds upon the sick, for they not only contain little, if any, Sarsaparilla, but often no curative properties whatever. Hence, bitter and painful disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market, until the name itself is justly despised, and has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound Sarsaparilla, and intend to supply such a remedy as shall rescue the name from the load of obloquy which rests upon it. And we think we have ground for believing it has virtues which are irresistible by the ordinary run of the diseases it is intended to cure. In order to secure their complete eradication from the system, the remedy should be judiciously taken according to directions on the bottle.

PREPARED BY

DR. J. C. AYER & CO.

LOWELL, MASS.

Price, $1 per Bottle; Six Bottles for $5.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

has won for itself such a renown for the cure of every variety of Throat and Lung Complaint, that it is entirely unnecessary for us to recount the evidences of its virtues, wherever it has been employed. As it has long been in constant use throughout this section, we need not do more than assure the people its quality is kept up to the best it ever has been, and that it may be relied on to do for their relief all it has ever been found to do.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

FOR THE CURE OF

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and for Purifying the Blood.

They are sugar-coated, so that the most sensitive can take them pleasantly, and they are the best aperient in the world for all the purposes of a family physic.

Price 25 cents per box; Five boxes for $1.00.

Great numbers of Clergymen, Physicians, Statesmen, and eminent personages, have lent their names to signify the unparalleled excellence of these remedies, but our space here will not permit the insertion of them. The Agents below named furnish gratis our AMERICAN ALMANAC in which they are given; with also full descriptions of the above complaints and the treatment that should be substituted for their cure.

The pill to put off by unprincipled dealers with doubtful preparations they make most profit on. Demand Ayer's, and take no others. The sick want the best and there is for them, and they should have it.

All our Remedies are for sale by Ormond & Gilmour, Wm. Coulter, and W. A Kempt, Peterboro'. C. Britton, Lindsay; E. Gregory, Millbrook; A. Goodfellow, Springville, and all medicine dealers. Northrop & Lyman, General Agents for the Canadas.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

THE TRAVELLERS REST.

THE above named House has been enlarged re-fitted and refurnished, and is in every convenience for the accommodation of the travelling public. It is directly opposite the Post Office, on Main Street, and within sight of the steamboat landing.

HIS TABLE

is always supplied with the best the market affords, and

THE BAR

always supplied with, the choicest of Liquors. Old friends and customers, as well as the travelling public are respectfully requested to give him a call

☞ A careful Hostler always in attendance.

WILLIAM CRESWELL,

Proprietor.

Bobcaygeon, April 4, 1861. 14-6m.

PETERBORO' Soap and Candle Works.

A large stock of very superior

CANDLES AND SOAP

now on hand and for sale at the lowest wholesale prices.

☞ Dealers are respectfully solicited.

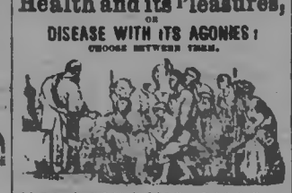
Cash for Lard, Tallow and Soap Grease.

OGILVY & BOOD.

Peterboro, Dec 30th, 1858. 51

Health and its Pleasures, OR DISEASE WITH ITS AGONIES!

CHOOSE BETWEEN THEM.



HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.

NERVOUS DISORDERS.

What is more fearful than the breaking down of the nervous system? To be excitable or nervous in a small degree is most distressing, for where can a remedy be found? There is one:—drink but little wine, beer, or spirits, or better none; take no coffee,—weak t

KNOCKS PATENT.

BOOK AND JOB PRINTING ESTABLISHMENT.

EVERY description of Book and Job Printing executed at this Office in superior style, at low rates.

Pamphlets, Circulars,
Handbills, Funeral Cards,
Invitations, Bill Headings,
Horse Bills, Show Bills,
Concert Bills, Programmes,
Posters, Stage Bills,
Business Cards, Blanks, &c.,

with every variety of Coloring and Bronzing.

☞ Lawyers' Blanks of every description, kept constantly on hand.

All orders for Job Printing forwarded to the Office will be punctually and strictly attended to.

The Examiner.

PETERBOROUGH, CANADA WEST, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 26, 1861.

Volume VI.] "THE PEOPLE." [Number 52.

THE "EXAMINER"

Is published every Thursday morning at the office of the undersigned, in

BURNHAM'S BLOCK, GEORGE STREET.

Terms of Subscription:—$1.50 per annum payable strictly in advance, $2 when not so paid.

Rates of Advertising.

Six Lines, and under, first insertion	$0 37
Each subsequent insertion	12
Six to ten lines, first insertion	63
Each subsequent insertion	15
Over ten lines, first insertion (per line)	7
Each subsequent insertion, "	2
Business Cards as per agreement.

☞ Advertisements without written instructions will be inserted until forbid. Orders to discontinue must be given in writing.

All communications to the Publisher must be post-paid; otherwise no notice will be taken of them.

JAMES RENFREW,
Publisher and Proprietor.

Business Directory.

JAMES HALL,
SHERIFF. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

Mr. TOOLE,
MANUFACTURER of Sash Blinds, Doors and Mouldings. Every description of Joiner Work done to order. Next door to Martin's Mills, Peterboro', C. W. 9

J. B. BISBEE,
DEALER in Boots, Shoes & Leather, George Street, Peterborough, C. W. 16

W. CRAWFORD,
GOVERNMENT Land Agent. Office at his residence, Brock Street.

EDMUND S. VINDIN,
COMMISSION, Shipping, Forwarding, and General Agent, Lumber Merchant, &c.—Jersica—Corner of Walton and Ontario Streets. 13

MR. DENNISTOUN,
BARRISTER at Law Master Extraordinary in Chancery Notary Public, &c., Peterborough

Mr. A. T. HEATHFIELD,
PIANIST AND TEACHER OF MUSIC.
COMMUNICATION THROUGH THE POST OFFICE, Peterborough.

JOHNSON'S
FASHIONABLE Hair Dressing and Shaving Saloon in the Building formerly occupied by the Post Office, east of the bridge.
Port Hope, Sept. 29, 1857.

GEORGE MITCHELL,
DEALER in Groceries and Provisions, &c. Cash paid for all kinds of country produce. George Street Peterborough. 15

T. G. HAZLITT,
DEALER in Provisions, Groceries, Crockery and Glass ware, Hunter Street Peterboro.

W. SHERIDAN,
COUNTY Treasurer and Clerk. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

R. STEVENSON,
PAINTER, Paper hanger, &c., &c., Brock Street, Peterborough. 15

GEORGE H. HUGHES,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
SOLICITOR IN CHANCERY,
Conveyancer, &c.
OFFICE in Harvey's Building, next door (north) to Thomson's Store, George St. Peterborough. 12,

GENERAL FIRE AND LIFE INSURANCE OFFICE
W. CLUXTON, Agent.

W. COULTER, PETERBORO',
DEALER in Genuine Drugs, Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Spices, Culinary Essences, Fancy Soaps, &c., &c. 16

THOMAS MENZIES,
BOOKSELLER, Stationer, &c., &c., &c., &c. Dixon' Exchange Block, George Street, Peterboro'. 20

A. HARVEY, M. D., CORONER.
RESIDENCE:—Aylmer Street, opposite the Railway Depot, Peterboro.
April 3d, 1861.

W. H. SCOTT,
BARRISTER AT LAW, Solicitor in Chancery, Notary Public, Conveyancer, &c. OFFICE:—In Burnham's Block, opposite the Review Office, Peterborough.
April 11, 1861. 15

A. M'CREA,
PROVINCIAL Licentiate. Physician, Surgeon, &c Keene.

GEORGE PRINGLE, M. D.
PHYSICIAN, Surgeon, &c., &c., graduate of McGill College, Montreal, having also studied in the hospitals of London and Dublin. OFFICE AND RESIDENCE.—Brock Street, opposite McGregor's Livery Stable, Peterboro.
April 8, 1861. 17

JAMES BEST,
DEALER in Dry Goods, Groceries, Crockery Boots and Shoes, &c., &c., Rowe's Block, George Street, Peterborough. 16

MR. DUNN,
PRINCIPAL of the Grammar and Union School, will devote a short time each day to private tuition
Peterboro', Jan. 16th, 1861. 3

JAMES W. FITZGERALD
(LATE FITZGERALD & DENNAN.)
Provincial Land Surveyor.
OFFICE:—In Scott's Chambers, corner George and Simcoe Streets.
Oct. 3, 1861. 41

CABINET-MAKING.
